place Salve Regina, and Regina caeli latere, calling the virgin Mary Queen of heaven, and so of the blessed virgin and mother of our Savior Christ, made an idol: for here the Prophet condemneth their idolatry.

² Hebrew, we were satiated with bread.

44:18 ¹ Or, want.

44:19 ¹ Or, to appease her.

² This teacheth us how great danger it is for the husbands to permit their wives anything whereof they be not assured by God's word: for thereby they take an occasion to justify their doings, and their husbands shall give an account thereof before God, read Isa. 3:25.

44:21 ¹ Hebrew, is it not come up into his heart?

44:25 ¹ You have committed double evil in making wicked vows, and in performing the same.

your vows, and do the things that ye have vowed.

26 Therefore hear the word of the Lord, all Judah that dwell in the land of Egypt, Behold, I have sworn by my great Name, saith the Lord, that my Name ¹shall no more be called upon by the mouth of any man of Judah, in all the land of Egypt, saying, The Lord God liveth.

27 Behold, I will watch over them for evil, and not for good, and all men of Judah that are in the land of Egypt, shall be consumed by the sword, and by the famine, until they be utterly destroyed.

28 Yet a small number that escape the sword, ¹shall return out of the land of Egypt into the land of Judah: and all the remnant of Judah that are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, shall know whose words shall stand, mine or theirs.

29 And this shall be a sign unto you, saith the Lord, when I visit you in this place, that ye may know that my words shall surely stand against you for evil.

30 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will ¹give Pharaoh Hophra King of Egypt into the hand of his enemies, and into the hand of them that seek his life: as I gave Zedekiah king of Judah into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel his enemy, who also sought his life.

45 2 Jeremiah comforteth Baruch, assuring him that he should not perish in the destruction of Jerusalem.

1 The word that Jeremiah the Prophet spake unto ¹Baruch the son of Neriah, when he had written these ²words in a book at the mouth of Jeremiah, in the fourth year of Jehoiakim, the son of Josiah king of Judah, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel unto thee, O Baruch,

3 Thou didst say, Woe is me now: for the Lord hath laid sorrow unto my sorrow: I ¹fainted in my mourning, and I can find no rest.

4 Thus shalt thou say unto him, The Lord saith thus, Behold, that which I have built, will I ¹destroy, and that which I have planted, will I pluck up, even this whole land.

5 And seekest ¹thou great things for thyself? seek them not: for behold, I will bring a plague upon all flesh, saith the Lord: but thy life will I give thee for ²a prey in all places, whither thou goest.

46 He prophesieth the destruction of Egypt. 27 Deliverance is promised to Israel.

1 The words of the Lord, which came to Jeremiah the Prophet against the ¹Gentiles,

2 As against Egypt, against the army of ¹Pharaoh Necho king of Egypt, which was by the river Perath in Carchemish, which Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel smote in the fourth year of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah king of Judah.

3 ¹Make ready buckler and shield, and go forth to battle.

4 Make ready the horses, and let the horsemen get up, and stand up with your sallets, furbish the spears, and put on the brigandines.

5 ¹Wherefore have I seen them afraid, and driven back? for their mighty men are smitten, and are fled away, and look not back: for fear was round about, saith the Lord.

6 The swift shall not flee away, nor the strong man escape: they shall stumble, and ¹fall toward the North by the river Perath.

7 Who is this that cometh up as ¹a flood, whose waters are moved like the rivers?

8 Egypt riseth up like the flood, and his waters are moved like the rivers, and he saith, I will go up, and will cover the earth: I will destroy the city with them that dwell therein.

9 Come up ye horses, and rage ye chariots, and let the valiant men come forth, ¹the black Moors, and the Libyans that bear the shield, and the Lydians that handle and bend the bow.

44:26 ¹ This declareth an horrible plague toward idolaters, seeing that God will not vouchsafe to have his Name mentioned by such as have polluted it.

44:28 ¹ We see therefore that God hath a perpetual care over his, wheresoever they are scattered: for though they be but two or three, yet he will deliver them when he destroyeth his enemies.

44:30 ¹ He sheweth the means whereby they should be destroyed to assure them of the certainty of the plague, and yet they remain still in their obstinacy till they perish: for Josephus, lib. 10, de Antiq., cap. 11, writeth that five years after the taking of Jerusalem, Nebuchadnezzar the younger having overcome the Moabites and the Ammonites, went against Egypt, and slew the king, and so brought these Jews and others into Babylon.

45:1 ¹ Which was Jeremiah's disciple, and wrote his prophecies under him.

² Whereof read Jer. 36:9, 10.

45:3 ¹ Baruch moved with an inconsiderate zeal of Jeremiah's imprisonment, but chiefly for the destruction of the people, and the Temple, maketh this lamentation, as Ps. 6:6.

45:4 ¹ Meaning, that God might destroy this people, because he had planted them.

45:5 ¹ Thinkest thou to have honor and credit? wherein he sheweth his infirmity.

46:1 ¹ That is, nine nations, which are round about the land of Egypt.

46:2 ¹ Read 2 Kings 23:29 and 24:7; 2 Chron. 35:20.

46:3 ¹ He warneth the Egyptians to prepare themselves to war.

46:5 ¹ The Prophet had this vision of the Egyptians, which should be put to flight by the Babylonians at Carchemish.

46:6 ¹ The Babylonians shall discomfit them at the river Euphrates.

46:7 ¹ He derideth the boastings of the Egyptians, who thought by their riches and power to have overcome all the world, alluding to the river Nilus, which at certain times overfloweth the country of Egypt.

46:9 ¹ For these nations took part with the Egyptians.

10 ¶ For this is the day of the Lord God of hosts, and a day of vengeance, that he may avenge him of his enemies: for the sword shall devour, and it shall be satiate, and made drunk with their blood: for the Lord God of hosts hath ¹a sacrifice in the North country ²by the river Perath.

11 Go up unto Gilead, ¹and take balm, ²O virgin, the daughter of Egypt: in vain shalt thou use many ³medicines: for thou shalt have no health.

12 The nations have heard of thy shame, and thy cry hath filled the land: for the strong hath stumbled against the strong, and they are fallen both together.

13 ¶ The word that the Lord spake to Jeremiah the Prophet, how Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel should come and smite the land of Egypt.

14 Publish in Egypt and declare in Migdol, and proclaim in Noph, and in Tahpanhes, and say, Stand still and prepare thee, for the sword shall devour round about thee.

15 Why are thy valiant men put back? they could not stand, because the Lord did drive them.

16 He made many to fall, and one fell upon another: and they said, Arise, let us go again to our ¹own people, and to the land of our nativity from the sword of the violent.

17 They did cry there, Pharaoh king of Egypt, and of a great multitude, ¹hath passed the time appointed.

18 As I live, saith the King, whose Name is the Lord of hosts, surely as Tabor is in the mountains, and as Carmel is in the sea: so shall ¹it come.

19 O thou daughter dwelling in Egypt, make thee gear to go into captivity: for Noph shall be waste and desolate, without an inhabitant.

20 Egypt is like a ¹fair calf, but destruction cometh: out of the North it cometh.

21 Also her hired men ¹are in the midst of her like fat calves: they are also turned back and fled away together: they could not stand, because the day of their destruction was come upon them, and the time of their visitation.

22 The voice thereof shall go forth like a ¹serpent: for they shall march with an army, and come against ²her with axes, as hewers of wood.

23 They shall cut down ¹her forest, saith the Lord: for they cannot be counted, because they are more than the ²grasshoppers, and are innumerable.

24 The daughter of Egypt shall be confounded: she shall be delivered into the hands of the people of the North.

25 ¶ Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will visit thy ¹common people of No and Pharaoh, and Egypt, with their gods and their kings, even Pharaoh, and all them that trust in him,

26 And I will deliver them into the hands of those that seek their lives, and into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel, and into the hands of his servants, and afterward she shall dwell as ¹in the old time, saith the Lord.

27 ¶ ¹But fear not thou, O my servant Jacob, and be not thou afraid, O Israel: for behold, I will deliver thee from a far country, and thy seed from the land of their captivity, and Jacob shall return and be in rest, and prosperity, and none shall make him afraid.

28 Fear thou not, O Jacob my servant, saith the Lord, for I am with thee, and I will utterly destroy all the nations, whither I have driven thee: but I will not utterly destroy thee, but correct ¹thee by judgment, and not utterly cut thee off.

47 The word of the Lord against the Philistines.

1 The words of the Lord that came to Jeremiah the Prophet, against the Philistines, before that Pharaoh smote ¹Gaza.

2 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, waters rise up out of the ¹North, and shall be as a swelling flood, and shall overflow the land, and all that is therein, and the cities with them that dwell therein: then the men shall cry, and all the inhabitants of the land shall howl, 46:10 ¹ He calleth the slaughter of God's enemies a sacrifice, because it is a thing that doth please him, Isa. 34:6.

46:11 ¹ For at Gilead did grow most sovereign balm for wounds.

² So called, because Egypt had not yet been overcome by the enemy.

46:16 ¹ As they that should repent that they helped the Egyptians.

46:17 ¹ He derideth them which shall impute their overthrow to lack of counsel and policy, or to fortune, and not observing of time: not considering that it is God's just judgment.

46:18 ¹ To wit, that the Egyptians shall be destroyed.

46:20 ¹ They have abundance of all things, and therefore are disobedient and proud.

46:21 ¹ As verse 9.

46:22 ¹ They shall be scarce able to speak for fear of the Chaldeans.

² Meaning, Egypt.

46:23 ¹ That is, they shall slay the great and mighty men of power.

² To wit, Nebuchadnezzar's army.

46:25 ¹ Some take the Hebrew word Amon for the King's name of No, that is, of Alexandria.

46:26 ¹ Meaning, that after the space of forty years Egypt should be restored, Isa. 19:23; Ezek. 29:13.

46:27 ¹ God comforteth all his that were in captivity, but specially the small Church of the Jews, whereof were Jeremiah and Baruch, which remained among the Egyptians: for the Lord never forsaketh his, Isa. 44:2; Jer. 30:10.

46:28 ¹ Read Jer. 10:14.

47:1 ¹ Which was also called Gaza, a city of the Philistines.

47:2 ¹ He meaneth the army of the Chaldeans, Isa. 8:7, 8.

3 At the noise and stamping of the hoofs of his strong horses, at the noise of his chariots, and at the rumbling of his wheels: ¹the fathers shall not look back to their children, for feebleness of ²hands,

4 Because of the day that cometh to destroy all the Philistines, and to destroy Tyre, and Sidon, and all the rest that take their part: for the Lord will destroy the Philistines, the remnant of the isle of ¹Caphtor.

5 ¹Baldness is come upon Gaza: Ashkelon is cut up with the rest of their valleys. How long wilt ²thou cut thyself?

6 O thou sword of the Lord, how long will it be or thou cease! turn again into thy scabbard, rest and be still.

7 How can it ¹cease, seeing the Lord hath given it a charge against Ashkelon, and against the sea bank? even there hath he appointed it.

48 The word of the Lord against the Moabites. 26 Because of their pride and cruelty.

1 Concerning Moab, thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Woe unto ¹Nebo: for it is wasted: Kirjathaim is confounded and taken: Misgab is confounded and afraid.

2 Moab shall boast no more of Heshbon: for they have devised evil against it. ¹Come, and let us destroy it, that it be no more a nation: also thou shalt be destroyed, ²O Madmen, and the sword shall pursue thee.

3 A voice of crying shall be from Horonaim with desolation and great destruction.

4 Moab is destroyed: her little ones have caused their cry to be heard.

5 For at the going up of ¹Luhith, the mourner shall go up with weeping: for in the going down of Horonaim, the enemies have heard a cry of destruction.

6 Flee and save your lives, and be like unto the ¹heath in the wilderness.

7 For because thou hast trusted in thy ¹works and in thy treasures, thou shalt also be taken, and ²Chemosh shall go forth into captivity with his Priests and his Princes together.

8 And the destroyer shall come upon all cities, and no city shall escape: the valley also shall perish and the plain shall be destroyed as the Lord hath spoken.

9 Give wings unto Moab, that it may flee and get away: for the cities thereof shall be desolate, without any to dwell therein.

10 ¹Cursed be he that doeth the work of the Lord ²negligently, and cursed be he that keepeth back his sword from blood.

11 Moab hath been at rest from his youth, and he hath settled on his lees, and hath not been ¹poured from vessel to vessel, neither hath he gone into captivity: therefore his taste remained in him, and his scent is not changed.

12 ¶ Therefore behold, the days come, saith the Lord, that I will send unto him such as shall carry him away, and shall empty his vessels, and break their bottles.

13 And Moab shall be ashamed of Chemosh, as the house of Israel was ashamed of ¹Bethel their confidence.

14 How think you thus, We are mighty and strong men of war?

15 Moab is destroyed, and his cities ¹burnt up, and his chosen young men are gone down to slaughter, saith the King, whose name is, The Lord of hosts.

16 The destruction of Moab is ready to come, and his plague hasteth fast.

17 All ye that are about him, mourn for him, and all ye that know his name, say, ¹How is the strong staff broken, and the beautiful rod!

18 Thou daughter that dost inhabit Dibon, come

² Their heart shall so fail them.

47:4 ¹ For the Caphtorims, which are also called Cappadocians, had destroyed in old time the Philistines, and dwelt in their land even to Gaza, Deut. 2:23.

47:5 ¹ They that pill'd off their hair for sorrow and heaviness.

² As the heathen used in their mourning, which the Lord forbade his people to do, Deut. 14:1.

47:7 ¹ Meaning, that it is not possible that the wicked should by any means escape or stay the Lord, when he will take vengeance.

48:1 ¹ These were cities of the Moabites, which Nebuchadnezzar took before he went to fight against Necho king of Egypt.

48:2 ¹ Thus shall the Babylonians encourage one another.

² Read Isa. 25:10.

48:5 ¹ Horonaim and Luhith were two places whereby the Moabites should flee, Isa. 15:5.

48:6 ¹ Hide yourselves in barren places, where the enemy will not pursue after you, Jer. 17:6.

48:7 ¹ That is, the idols which are the works of thine hands. Some read, in thy possessions, for so the word may signify, as 1 Sam. 25:2.

² Both thy great idol and his maintainers shall be led away captives, so that they shall then know that it is in vain to look for help at idols, Isa. 15:2.

48:10 ¹ He sheweth that God would punish the Chaldeans, if they did not destroy the Egyptians, and that with a courage, and call eth this executing of his vengeance against his enemies, his work: though the Chaldeans sought another end, Isa. 10:11.

² Or, deceitfully.

48:11 ¹ Hath not been removed as the Jews have, but have lived at ease, and as a wine that feedeth itself on his lees.

48:13 ¹ As the calf of Bethel was not able to deliver the Israelites: no more shall Chemosh deliver the Moabites.

48:15 ¹ Hebrew, gone up, or destroyed.

48:17 ¹ How are they destroyed that put their trust in their strength and riches?

down from thy glory, and sit in thirst: for the destroyer of Moab shall come upon thee, and he shall destroy thy strongholds.

19 Thou that dwellest in Aroer, stand by the way, and behold ask him that fleeth and that escapeth, and say, What is done?

20 ¹Moab is confounded: for it is destroyed, howl and cry, tell ye it in Arnon, that Moab is made waste,

21 And judgment is come upon the plain country, upon Holon and upon Jahzah, and upon Me-phaath,

22 And upon Dibon, and upon Nebo, and upon the house of Diblathaim,

23 And upon Kirjathaim, and upon Beth Gamul, and upon Beth Meon,

24 And upon Kerioth, and upon Bozrah, and upon all the cities of the land of Moab far or near.

25 The ¹horn of Moab is cut off, and his arm is broken, saith the Lord.

26 Make ye him ¹drunken: for he magnified himself against the Lord: Moab shall ²wallow in his vomit, and he also shall be in derision.

27 For didst not thou deride Israel, as though he had been found among thieves? for when thou speakest of him, thou art ¹moved.

28 O ye that dwell in Moab, leave the cities, and dwell in the rocks, and be like the dove that maketh her nest in the sides of the hole's mouth.

29 ^aWe have heard the pride of Moab (he is exceeding proud) his stoutness, and his arrogance, and his pride, and the haughtiness of his heart.

30 I know his wrath, saith the Lord, ¹but it shall not be so: and his dissimulations, for they do not right.

31 ¹Therefore will I howl for Moab, and I will cry out for all Moab: mine heart shall mourn for the men of Kir Heres.

32 O vine of Sibmah, I will weep for thee, as I wept for Jazer: thy plants are gone over the sea, they are come to the sea ¹of Jazer: the destroyer is fallen upon thy summer fruits, and upon thy vintage,

33 And joy, and gladness is taken from the plentiful field, and from the land of Moab: and I have caused wine to fail from the winepress: none shall tread with shouting: their shouting shall be no shouting.

34 From the cry of Heshbon unto Elealeh and unto Jahaz have they made their noise: from Zoar unto Horonaim, the ¹heifer of three years old shall go lowing: for the waters also of Nimrim shall be wasted.

35 Moreover, I will cause to cease in Moab, saith the Lord, him that offereth in the high places, and him that burneth incense to his gods.

36 Therefore mine heart shall sound for Moab like a ¹shawm, and mine heart shall sound like a shawm for the men of Kir Heres, because the riches that he hath gotten is perished.

37 ¹For every head shall be ¹bald, and every beard plucked: upon all the hands shall be cuttings, and upon the loins sackcloth.

38 And mourning shall be upon all the house tops of Moab, and in all the streets thereof: for I have broken Moab like a vessel wherein is no pleasure, saith the Lord.

39 They shall howl, saying, How is he destroyed? how hath Moab turned the back with shame? so shall Moab be a derision, and a fear to all them about him.

40 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, ¹he shall flee as an eagle, and shall spread his wings over Moab.

41 The cities are taken, and the strongholds are won, and the mighty men's hearts in Moab at that day shall be as the heart of a woman in travail.

42 And Moab shall be destroyed from being a people, because he hath set up himself against the Lord:

43 ¹Fear, and pit, and snare shall be upon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, saith the Lord.

44 He that escapeth from the fear, shall fall in the pit, and he that getteth up out of the pit, shall be taken [in] the snare: for I will bring upon it, even upon Moab the year of their visitation, saith the Lord.

45 They that fled, stood under the shadow ¹of Heshbon, because of the force: for ²the fire came out of Heshbon, and a flame from Sihon, and devoured the corner of Moab, and the top of the seditious children.

46 Woe be unto thee, O Moab: the people of 48:20 ¹ Thus they that flee, shall answer.

48:25 ¹ That is, his power and strength.

48:26 ¹ He willed the Chaldeans to lay afflictions enough upon them, till they be like drunken men that fall down to their shame and are derided of all.

² Or, shall be full, or clap his hands.

48:27 ¹ Thou rejoicest to hear of his misery.

48:30 ¹ He shall not execute his malice against his neighbors.

48:31 ¹ Read Isa. 16:7.

48:32 ¹ Which city was in the utmost border of Moab: and hereby he signifieth that the whole land should be destroyed, and the people

48:34 ¹ Read Isa. 15:5.

48:36 ¹ Their custom was to play on flutes or instruments, heavy and grave tunes at burials and in the time of mourning, as Matt. 9:23.

48:37 ¹ Or, shaven.

48:40 ¹ That is, Nebuchadnezzar, as Jer. 49:22.

48:43 ¹ He that escapeth one danger shall be taken of another, Isa. 24:17.

48:45 ¹ They fled thither, thinking to have succor of the Amorites.

² The Amorites had destroyed the Moabites in times past, and now because of their power, the Moabites shall seek to them for help.

¹Chemosh perisheth: for thy sons are taken captives, and thy daughters led into captivity.

47 Yet will I bring again the captivity of Moab in the ¹latter days, saith the Lord. Thus far of the judgment of Moab.

49 ¹ The word of the Lord against the Ammonites, ⁷ Edom, ²³ Damascus, ²⁸ Kedar, ³⁴ and Elam.

1 Unto the children of ¹Ammon thus saith the Lord, Hath Israel no sons? or hath he none heir? Why then hath their king ²possessed Gad? and his people dwelt in ³his cities?

2 Therefore behold, the days come, saith the Lord, that I will cause a noise of war to be heard in ¹Rabbah of the Ammonites, and it shall be a desolate heap, and her daughters shall be burnt with fire: then shall Israel possess those that possessed him, saith the Lord.

3 Howl, O Heshbon, for Ai is wasted: cry ye daughters of Rabbah: gird you with sackcloth: mourn and run to and fro by the hedges: for their king shall go into captivity; and his Priests, and his Princes likewise.

4 Wherefore gloriest thou in the ¹valleys? thy valley floweth away, O rebellious daughter: she trusted in her treasures, saying, Who shall come unto me?

5 Behold, I will bring ¹a fear upon thee, saith the Lord God of hosts, of all those that be about thee, and ye shall be scattered every man ²right forth, and none shall gather him that fleeth.

6 And ¹afterward I will bring again the captivity of the children of Ammon.

7 ¶ To Edom thus saith the Lord of hosts, Is wisdom no more in ¹Teman? is counsel perished from their children? is their wisdom vanished?

8 Flee, ye inhabitants of Dedan (¹they are turned back, and have consulted to dwell) for I have brought the destruction of Esau upon him, and the time of his visitation.

9 If the ¹grape gatherers come to thee, would they not leave some grapes? if thieves come by night, they will destroy till they have enough.

10 For I have discovered Esau: I have uncovered his secrets, and he shall not be able to hide himself: his seed is wasted, and his brethren and his neighbors, and there shall be none to say,

11 Leave thy ¹fatherless children, and I will preserve them alive, and let thy widows trust in me.

12 For thus saith the Lord, ¹Behold, they whose judgment was not to drink of the cup, have assuredly drunken, and art thou he that shall escape free? thou shalt not go free, but thou shalt surely drink of it.

13 For I have sworn by myself, saith the Lord, that ¹Bozrah shall be waste, and for a reproach, and a desolation, and a curse, and all the cities thereof shall be perpetual desolations.

14 I have heard a rumor from the Lord, and an ambassador is sent unto the heathen, saying, Gather you together, and come against ¹her, and rise up to the battle.

15 For lo, I will make thee but small among the heathen, and despised among men.

16 Thy ¹fear, and the pride of thine heart hath deceived thee, thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rock, and keepest the height of the hill: though thou shouldest make thy nest as high as the eagle, I will bring thee down from thence, saith the Lord.

17 Also Edom shall be desolate: everyone that goeth by it, shall be astonished, and shall hiss at all the plagues thereof,

18 As in the overthrow of Sodom and of Gomorrah, and the places thereof near about, saith the Lord: no man shall dwell there, neither shall the sons of men remain in it.

19 Behold, ¹he shall come up like a lion from the swelling of Jordan unto the strong dwelling place: for I will make Israel to rest, even I will make ²him to haste away from her, and who is a chosen man

48:46 ¹ Which vaunted themselves of their idol, as though he could have defended them.

48:47 ¹ That is, they shall be restored by the Messiah.

49:1 ¹ They were separated from the Moabites by the river Arnon, and after that the ten tribes were carried away into captivity, they invaded the country of Gad.

² To wit, of the Ammonites.

³ Meaning, of the Israelites.

49:2 ¹ Which was one of the chief cities of the Ammonites, as were Heshbon and Ai: there was also a city called Heshbon among the Moabites.

49:4 ¹ In thy plentiful country.

49:5 ¹ Signifying, that power and riches cannot prevail, when as God will execute his judgments.

² That is, without looking back, and as everyone can find a way to escape.

49:6 ¹ In the time of Christ, when the Gentiles shall be called.

49:7 ¹ Which was a city of Edom, called by the name of Teman. Eli-phaz'son, who came of Esau.

49:8 ¹ The enemies that shall dissemble as though they fled away, shall turn back and invade your land, and possess it.

49:9 ¹ Meaning, that God would utterly destroy them, and not spare one, though the grape gatherers leave some grapes, and thieves seek but till they have enough, Obad. 1:5.

49:11 ¹ The destruction shall be so great, that there shall be none left to take care over the widows and the fatherless.

49:12 ¹ I have not spared mine own people, and how should I pity thee?

49:13 ¹ Which was a chief city of Edom.

49:16 ¹ Or, idol.

49:19 ¹ To wit, Nebuchadnezzar after he hath overcome Judah, which is meant by the swelling of Jordan, shall come against mount Seir and Edom.

² That is, the Israelites, whom the Edomites kept as prisoners, to haste away from thence.

that I may appoint against her? for who is like me? and who will appoint me the time? and who is the ³shepherd that will stand before me?

20 Therefore hear the counsel of the Lord that he hath devised against Edom, and his purpose that he hath conceived, against the inhabitants of Teman: surely the least ¹of the flock shall draw them out: surely ²he shall make their habitations desolate with them.

21 The earth is moved at the noise of their fall: the cry of their voice is heard in the red sea.

22 Behold, he shall come up, and fly as the eagle, ¹and spread his wings over Bozrah, and at that day shall the heart of the strong men of Edom be as the heart of a woman in travail.

23 ¶ Unto ¹Damascus he saith, Hamath is confounded and Arpad, for they have heard evil tidings, and they are faint hearted as one on the fearful sea that can not rest:

24 Damascus is discouraged, and turneth herself to flight, ¹and fear hath seized her: anguish and sorrows have taken her as a woman in travail.

25 How is the glorious ¹city not reserved, the city of my joy?

26 Therefore her young men shall fall in her streets, and all her men of war shall be cut off in that day, saith the Lord of hosts.

27 And I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus, which shall consume the palaces of ¹Ben-Hadad.

28 Unto ¹Kedar, and to the kingdoms of Hazor, which Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel shall smite, thus saith the Lord, Arise, and go up unto Kedar, and destroy the men of the East.

29 Their tents and their flocks shall they take away: yea, they shall take to themselves their ¹curtains and all their vessels, and their camels, and they shall cry unto them, Fear is on every side.

30 Flee, get you far off (¹they have consulted to dwell) O ye inhabitants of Hazor, saith the Lord: for Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel hath taken counsel against you, and hath devised a purpose against you.

31 ¹Arise, and get you up unto the wealthy nation that dwelleth without care, saith the Lord, which have neither gates nor bars, but dwell alone.

32 And their camels shall be a bootie, and the multitude of their cattle a spoil, and I will scatter them into all winds, and to the utmost corners, and I will bring their destruction from all the sides thereof, saith the Lord.

33 And Hazor shall be a dwelling for dragons, and desolation forever: there shall no man dwell there, nor the sons of men remain in it.

34 ¶ The words of the Lord that came to Jeremiah the Prophet, concerning ¹Elam, in the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah, saying, 35 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Behold, I will break the ¹bow of Elam, even the chief of their strength.

36 And upon Elam I will bring the four winds from the four quarters of heaven, and will scatter them towards all these winds, and there shall be no nation, whither the fugitives of Elam shall not come.

37 For I will cause Elam to be afraid before their enemies, and before them that seek their lives, and will bring upon them a plague, even the indignation of my wrath, saith the Lord, and I will send the sword after them, till I have consumed them.

38 And I will set my ¹throne in Elam, and I will destroy both the king and the princes from thence, saith the Lord: but ²in the latter days I will bring again the captivity of Elam, saith the Lord.

50 He prophesieth the destruction of Babylon, and the deliverance of Israel which was in captivity.

1 The word that the Lord spake concerning Babel, and concerning the land of the Chaldeans by the ¹ministry of Jeremiah the Prophet.

2 Declare among the nations, and publish it, and set up a standard, proclaim it and conceal it not: say, ¹Babel is taken, Bel is confounded, ²Merodach is broken down: her idols are confounded, and their images are burst in pieces.

49:20 ¹ They shall not be able to resist his petty captains.

² To visit, the enemy.

49:22 ¹ As Jer. 48:40, was said of Moab.

49:23 ¹ Which was the chief city of Syria, whereby he meaneth the whole country.

49:24 ¹ When she heard the sudden coming of the enemy.

49:25 ¹ He speaketh this in the person of the king and of them of the country, who shall wonder to see Damascus the chief city destroyed.

49:27 ¹ Who was king of Syria, 1 Kings 20:26, and had built these palaces, which were still called the palaces of Ben-Hadad.

49:28 ¹ Meaning, the Arabians, and their borderers.

49:29 ¹ Because they used to dwell in tents, he nameth the things that pertain thereunto.

49:30 ¹ The enemies will dwell in your places.

49:31 ¹ He sheweth that they of Hazor will flee to the Arabians for succor, but that shall not avail them.

49:34 ¹ That is, Persia, so called of Elam the son of Shem.

49:35 ¹ Because the Persians were good archers, he sheweth that the thing wherein they put their trust, should not profit them.

49:38 ¹ I will place Nebuchadnezzar there, and in these prophecies Jeremiah speaketh of those countries, which should be subdued under the first of those four monarchies whereof Daniel maketh mention.

² This may be referred to the Empire of Persians and Medes after the Chaldeans, or unto the time of Christ, as Jer. 48:47.

50:1 ¹ Hebrew, hands.

50:2 ¹ After that God had used the Babylonians' service to punish other nations, he sheweth that their turn shall come to be punished.

² These were two of their chief idols.

3 For out of the North ¹there cometh up a nation against her, which shall make her land waste, and none shall dwell therein: they shall flee, and depart, both man and beast.

4 In those days, and at that time, saith the Lord, the children of Israel shall ¹come, they, and the children of Judah together, going, and ²weeping shall they go, and seek the Lord their God.

5 They shall ask the way to Zion, with their faces thitherward, saying, Come, and let us cleave to the Lord in a perpetual covenant that shall not be forgotten.

6 ¶ My people hath been as lost sheep: their ¹shepherds have caused them to go astray, and have turned them away to the mountains: they have gone from ²mountain to hill, and forgotten their resting place.

7 All that found them have devoured them, and their enemies said, We offend not, because they have sinned against the Lord, ¹the habitation of justice, even the Lord the hope of their fathers.

8 ¹Flee from the midst of Babel, and depart out of the land of the Chaldeans, and be ye as the he goats ²before the flock.

9 For lo, I will raise and cause to come up against Babel a multitude of mighty nations from the North country, and they shall set themselves in array against her, whereby she shall be taken: their arrows shall be as of a strong man, which is expert, for none shall return in vain.

10 And Chaldea shall be a spoil: all that spoil her, ¹shall be satisfied, saith the Lord.

11 Because you were glad and rejoiced in destroying mine heritage, and because ye are grown fat, as the calves in the grass, ¹and neighed like strong horses,

12 Therefore your mother shall be sore confounded, and she that bare you shall be ashamed, behold, the uttermost of the nations shall be a desert, a dry land, and a wilderness.

13 Because of the wrath of the Lord it shall not be inhabited, but shall be wholly desolate: everyone that goeth by Babel, shall be astonished, ¹and hiss at all her plagues.

^aEzek. 23:13

14 ¹Put yourselves in array against Babel round about: all ye that bend the bow, shoot at her, spare no arrows: for she hath ²sinned against the Lord.

15 Cry against her round about: she hath ¹given her hand: her foundations are fallen, and her walls are destroyed: for it is the vengeance of the Lord: take vengeance upon her: as she hath done, do unto her.

16 Destroy the ¹sower from Babel, and him that handleth the scythe in the time of harvest: because of the sword of the oppressor they shall turn everyone to his people, and they shall flee everyone to his own land.

17 Israel is like scattered sheep: the lions have dispersed them: first the king of ¹Assyria hath devoured him, and last this Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel hath broken his ²bones.

18 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Behold, I will visit the king of Babel, and his land, as I have visited the King of Assyria.

19 And I will bring Israel again to his habitation: he shall feed on Carmel and Bashan, and his soul shall be satisfied upon the mount Ephraim and Gilead.

20 In those days, and at that time, saith the Lord, the iniquity of Israel shall be sought for, and there shall be none: and the sins of Judah, and they shall not be found: for I will be merciful unto them whom I reserve.

21 Go up against the land of the ¹rebels, even against it and against the inhabitants ^aof ²Pekod: destroy, and lay it waste after them, saith the Lord, and do according to all that I have commanded thee.

22 A cry of battle is in the land, and of great destruction.

23 How is the ¹hammer of the whole world destroyed, and broken! how is Babel become desolate among the nations!

24 I have snared thee, and thou art taken, O Babel, and thou wast not aware: thou art found, and also caught, because thou hast striven against the Lord.

25 The Lord hath opened his treasure, and hath brought forth the weapons of his wrath: for this is the work of the Lord God of hosts in the land of the Chaldeans.

50:3 ¹ To wit, the Medes and the Persians.

50:4 ¹ When Cyrus shall take Babel.

² Read Jer. 31:9.

50:6 ¹ Their governors and ministers by their examples have provoked them to idolatry.

² They have committed idolatry in every place.

50:7 ¹ For the Lord dwelt among them in his Temple, and would have maintained them by his justice against their enemies.

50:8 ¹ When God shall deliver you by Cyrus.

² That is, most forward and without fear.

50:10 ¹ Shall be made rich thereby.

50:11 ¹ For joy of the victory, that ye had against my people.

50:13 ¹ In sign of contempt and disdain.

50:14 ¹ He speaketh to the enemies the Medes and Persians.

² Though the Lord called the Babylonians his servants, and their work his work in punishing his people, yet because they did it not to glorify God, but for their own malice, and to profit themselves, it is here called sin.

50:15 ¹ Or, yielded, or made peace.

50:16 ¹ Destroy her so that none be left to labor the ground, or to take the fruit thereof.

50:17 ¹ Meaning, Tiglath-Pileser, who carried away the ten tribes.

² He carried away the rest, to wit, Judah, and Benjamin.

50:21 ¹ That is, Babylon: thus the Lord raised up Cyrus.

² Or, of them that should be visited.

50:23 ¹ Nebuchadnezzar, who had smitten down all the princes and people of the world.

26 Come against her ¹from the utmost border: open her storehouses, tread on her as on sheaves, and destroy her utterly: let nothing of her be left.

27 Destroy all her ¹bullocks: let them go down to the slaughter. Woe unto them, for their day is come, and the time of their visitation.

28 The voice of them that ¹flee, and escape out of the land of Babel to declare in Zion, the vengeance of the Lord our God, and the vengeance of his Temple.

29 Call up the archers against Babel: all ye that bend the bow, besiege it round about: let none thereof escape: ¹recompense her according to her work, and according to all that she hath done, do unto her: for she hath been proud against the Lord, even against the holy One of Israel.

30 Therefore shall her young men fall in the streets, and all her men of war shall be destroyed in that day, saith the Lord.

31 Behold, I come unto thee, O proud man, saith the Lord God of hosts: for thy day is come, even the time that I will visit thee.

32 And the proud shall stumble and fall, and none shall raise him up: and I will kindle a fire in his cities, and it shall devour all round about him.

33 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, The children of Israel, and the children of Judah were oppressed together: and all that took them captives, held them, and would not let them go.

34 But their strong redeemer, whose Name is the Lord of hosts, he shall maintain their cause, that he may give rest to the land, ¹and disquiet the inhabitants of Babel.

35 A sword is upon the Chaldeans, saith the Lord, and upon the inhabitants of Babel, and upon her princes, and upon her wise men.

36 A sword is upon the ¹soothsayers, and they shall dote: a sword is upon her strong men, and they shall be afraid.

37 A sword is upon their horses, and upon their chariots, and upon all the multitude that are in the midst of her, and they shall be like women: a sword is upon her treasures, and they shall be spoiled.

38 A ¹drought is upon her waters, and they shall be dried up: for it is the land of graven images, and they dote upon their idols.

39 Therefore the ¹Ziims with the Iims shall dwell there, and ²the ostriches shall dwell therein: for it shall be no more inhabited, neither shall it be inhabited from generation unto generation.

40 As God destroyed 'Sodom and Gomorrah with the places thereof near about, saith the Lord: so shall no man dwell there, neither shall the son of man remain therein.

41 ¶ Behold, a people shall come from the North, and a great nation, and many kings shall be raised up from ¹the coasts of the earth.

42 They shall hold the bow and the buckler: they are cruel and unmerciful: their voice shall roar like the sea, and they shall ride upon horses, and be put in array like men to the battle against thee, O daughter of Babel.

43 The king of Babel hath heard the report of them, and his hands ¹waxed feeble: sorrow came upon him, even sorrow as of a woman in travail.

44 Behold, he ^dshall come up like a lion from the swelling of Jordan unto the strong habitation: for I will make Israel to rest, and I will make them to haste away from her: and who is a chosen man that I may appoint against her? for who is like me, and who will appoint me the time? and who is the ¹shepherd that will stand before me?

45 Therefore hear the counsel of the Lord, that he hath devised against Babel, and his purpose that he hath conceived against the land of the Chaldeans: surely the least of the flock shall draw them out: surely he shall make their habitation desolate with them.

46 At the noise of the winning of Babel the earth is moved, and the cry is heard among the nations.

51 ⁶ Why Babylon is destroyed. ⁴¹ The vain confidence of the Babylonians. ⁴³ The vanity of idolaters. ⁵⁹ Jeremiah giveth his book to Seraiah.

1 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will raise up against Babel, and against the inhabitants ¹that lift up their heart against me, a destroying ²wind,

2 And will send unto Babel fanners that shall fan her, and shall empty her land, for in the day of trouble they shall be against her on every side.

3 Also to the bender that bendeth his bow, and to him that lifteth himself up in his brigandine, will I say, Spare not her young men, but destroy all her host.

50:26 ¹ Hebrew, from the end.

50:27 ¹ Her princes and mighty men.

50:28 ¹ Of the Jews which should be delivered by Cyrus.

50:34 ¹ He sheweth that when God executeth his judgments against his enemies, that his Church shall then have rest.

50:36 ¹ Hebrew, liars.

50:38 ¹ For Cyrus did cut the river Euphrates, and divided the course thereof into many streams, so that it might be passed over as though there had been no water: which thing he did by the counsel of two of Belshazzar's captains, who conspired against their king, because he had gelded the one of them in despite, and slain the son of the other.

50:39 ¹ Read Isa. 13:21.

² Hebrew, sons of the ostriches, or young.

50:41 ¹ Meaning, that the Persians should gather their army of many nations.

50:43 ¹ Which is meant of Belshazzar, Dan. 5:6.

51:1 ¹ Or, of the land that riseth up.

² The Medes and Persians that shall destroy them as the wind doth the chaff.

4 Thus the slain shall fall in the land of the Chaldeans, and they that are thrust through in her streets.

5 For Israel hath been no ¹widow, nor Judah from his God, from the Lord of hosts, though their land was filled with sin against the holy one of Israel.

6 ¶ ¹Flee out of the midst of Babel, and deliver every man his soul: be not destroyed in her iniquity: for this is the time of the Lord's vengeance: he will render unto her a recompense.

7 Babel hath been as a golden cup in the ¹Lord's hand, that made all the earth drunken, the nations have drunken of her wine, therefore do the nations ²rage.

8 'Babel is suddenly fallen, and destroyed: howl for her, bring balm for her sore, if she may be healed.

9 We would have cured Babel, but she could not be healed: forsake her, and let ¹us go everyone into his own country: for her judgment is come up into heaven, and is lifted up to the clouds.

10 The Lord hath brought forth our ¹righteousness: come and let us declare in Zion the work of the Lord our God.

11 Make bright the arrows: ¹gather the shields: the Lord hath raised up the spirit of the King of the Medes: for his purpose is against Babel to destroy it, because it is the ²vengeance of the Lord, and the vengeance of his Temple.

12 Set up the standard upon the walls of Babel, make the watch strong: set up the watchmen: prepare the scouts: for the Lord hath both devised, and done that which he spake against the inhabitants of Babel.

13 O thou that dwellest upon many ¹waters, abundant in treasures, thine end is come, even the ²end of thy covetousness.

14 The Lord of hosts hath sworn by ^{1, b}himself, saying, Surely I will fill thee with men, as with caterpillars, and they shall cry and shout against thee.

15 'He hath made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heaven by his discretion.

^b Amos 6:8^c Jer. 10:12

16 He giveth by his voice the multitude of waters in the heaven, and he causeth the clouds to ascend from the ends of the earth, he turneth lightnings to rain, and bringeth forth the wind out of his treasures.

17 Every man is a beast by his own ¹knowledge: every founder is confounded by the graven image: for his melting is but falsehood, and there is no breath therein.

18 They are vanity, and the work of errors: in the time of their ¹visitation they shall perish.

19 The ¹portion of Jacob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Israel is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hosts is his Name.

20 Thou art mine ¹hammer, and weapons of war: for with thee will I break the nations, and with thee will I destroy kingdoms, 21 And by thee will I break horse and horseman, and by thee will I break the chariot and him that rideth therein.

22 By thee also will I break man and woman, and by thee will I break old and young, and by thee will I break the young man and the maid.

23 I will also break by thee the shepherd and his flock, and by thee will I break the husbandman and his yoke of oxen, and by thee will I break the dukes and princes.

24 And I will render unto Babel, and to all the inhabitants of the Chaldeans all their evil, that they have done in Zion, even in your sight, saith the Lord.

25 Behold, I come unto thee, O destroying ¹mountain, saith the Lord, which destroyest all the earth: and I will stretch out mine hand upon thee, and roll thee down from the ²rocks, and will make thee a burnt mountain.

26 They shall not take of thee a stone for a corner, nor a stone for foundations: but thou shalt be destroyed forever, saith the Lord.

27 Set up a standard in the land: blow the trumpets among the nations: prepare the nations against her: call up the kingdoms of ¹Ararat, Minni, and Ashkenaz against her, appoint the prince against her, cause

51:5 ¹ Though they were forsaken for a time, yet they were not utterly cast off as though their husbands were dead.

51:6 ¹ He sheweth that there remaineth nothing for them that abide in Babylon, but destruction, Jer. 17:6 and 48:6.

51:7 ¹ By whom the Lord poured out the drink of his vengeance, to whom it pleased him.

² For the great afflictions that they have felt by the Babylonians.

51:9 ¹ Thus the people of God exhort one another to go to Zion and praise God.

51:10 ¹ In approving our cause and punishing our enemies.

51:11 ¹ Or, fill, or multiply.

² For the wrong done to his people and to his Temple, Jer. 50:28.

51:13 ¹ For the land of Chaldea was full of rivers, which ran into Euphrates.

² Or, measures.

51:14 ¹ Hebrew, his soul.

51:17 ¹ Read Jer. 10:14.

51:18 ¹ When God shall execute his vengeance.

51:19 ¹ That is, the true God of Israel is not like to these idols: for he can help when all things are desperate.

51:20 ¹ He meaneth the Medes and Persians, as he did before call the Babylonians his hammer, Jer. 50:23.

51:25 ¹ Not that Babylon stood on a mountain, but because it was strong and seemed invincible.

² From thy strongholds and fortresses.

51:27 ¹ By these three nations he meaneth Armenia the higher, Armenia the lower, and Scythia: for Cyrus had gathered an army of divers nations.

horses to come up as the rough caterpillars.

28 Prepare against her the nations with the kings of the Medes, the dukes thereof, and the princes thereof, and all the land of his dominion.

29 And the land shall tremble and sorrow: for the device of the Lord shall be performed against Babel, to make the land of Babel waste without an inhabitant.

30 The strong men of Babel have ceased to fight: they have remained in their holds: their strength hath failed, and they were like women: they have burnt her dwelling places, and her bars are broken.

31 A post shall run to meet the post, and a messenger to meet the messenger, to show the King of Babel, that his city is taken on a ¹side thereof, 32 And that the passages are stopped, and the reeds burnt with fire, and the men of war troubled.

33 For thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, The daughter of Babel is like a threshingfloor: the time of her threshing is come: yet a little while, and the time of her harvest ¹shall come.

34 Nebuchadnezzar the King of Babel hath ¹devoured me, and destroyed me: he hath made me an empty vessel: he swallowed me up like a dragon: and filled his belly with my delicates, and hath cast me out.

35 The spoil of me, and that which was left of me, is brought unto Babel, shall the inhabitant of Zion say: and my blood unto the inhabitants of Chaldea, shall Jerusalem say.

36 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will maintain thy ¹cause, and take vengeance for thee, and I will dry up the sea, and dry up her springs.

37 And Babel shall be as heaps, a dwelling place for dragons, an astonishment, and an hissing, without an inhabitant.

38 They shall roar together like lions, and yell as the lion's whelps.

39 In their ¹heat I will make them feasts, and I will make them drunken that they may rejoice, and sleep a perpetual sleep, and not wake, saith the Lord.

40 I will bring them down like lambs to the slaughter, and like rams and goats.

41 How is ¹Sheshach taken! and how is the glory of the whole earth taken! how is Babel become an astonishment among the nations!

42 The ¹sea is come up upon Babel: she is covered with the multitude of the waves thereof.

43 Her cities are desolate: the land is dry and a wilderness, a land wherein no man dwelleth, neither doth the son of man pass thereby.

44 I will also visit Bel in Babel, and I will bring out of his mouth, that which ¹he hath swallowed up, and the nations shall run no more unto him, and the wall of Babel shall fall.

45 My people, go out of the midst of her, and deliver ye every man his soul from the fierce wrath of the Lord, 46 Lest your heart even faint, and ye fear the rumor that shall be heard in the land: the rumor shall come this year, and after that in the other ¹year shall come a rumor, and cruelty in the land, and ruler against ruler.

47 Therefore behold, the days come, that I will visit the images of Babel, and the whole land shall be confounded, and all her slain shall fall in the midst of her.

48 Then the heaven and ¹the earth, and all that is therein, shall rejoice for Babel: for the destroyers shall come unto her from the North, saith the Lord.

49 As Babel caused the ¹slain of Israel to fall, so by Babel the slain of all the earth did fall.

50 Ye that ¹have escaped the sword, go away, stand not still: remember the Lord afar off, and let Jerusalem come into your mind.

51 We are ¹confounded because we have heard reproach: shame hath covered our faces, for strangers are come into the Sanctuaries of the Lord's house.

52 Wherefore behold, the days come, saith the Lord, that I will visit her graven images, and through all her land the wounded shall groan.

53 Though Babel should mount up to ¹heaven, and 51:31 ¹ By turning the course of the river one side was made open and the reeds that did grow in the water were destroyed, which Cyrus did by the counsel of Gobria and Gabatha Belshazzar's captains.

51:33 ¹ When she shall be cut up and threshed.

51:34 ¹ This is spoken in the person of the Jews bewailing their state and the cruelty of the Babylonians.

51:36 ¹ Thus the Lord esteemed the injury done to his Church, as done to himself, because their cause is his.

51:39 ¹ When they are inflamed with surfeiting and drinking, I will feast with them, alluding to Belshazzar's banquet, Dan. 5:2.

51:42 ¹ The great army of the Medes and Persians.

51:44 ¹ That is, his gifts and presents which he had received as part of the spoil of other nations, and which the idolaters brought unto him from all countries.

51:46 ¹ Meaning, that Babylon should not be destroyed all at once, but little by little should be brought to nothing: for the first year came the tidings, the next year the siege, and in the third year it was taken: yet this is not that horrible destruction which the prophets threatened in many places: for that was after this when they rebelled and Darius overcame them by the policy of Zopyrus, and hanged three thousand gentlemen besides the common people.

51:48 ¹ All creatures in heaven and earth shall rejoice, and praise God for the destruction of Babylon the great enemy of his Church.

51:49 ¹ Babylon did not only destroy Israel, but many other nations.

51:50 ¹ Ye that are now captives in Babylon.

51:51 ¹ He sheweth how they should remember Jerusalem by lamenting the miserable affliction thereof.

51:53 ¹ For the walls were two hundred foot high.

though she should defend her strength on high, yet from me shall her destroyers come, saith the Lord.

54 A sound of a cry cometh from Babel, and great destruction from the land of the Chaldeans,

55 Because the Lord hath laid Babel waste, and destroyed from her the great voice, and her waves shall roar like great waters, and a sound was made by their noise:

56 Because the destroyer is come upon her, even upon Babel, and her strong men are taken, their bows are broken: for the Lord God that recompenseth, shall surely recompense.

57 And I will ¹make drunk her princes, and her wise men, her dukes, and her nobles, and her strong men: and they shall sleep a perpetual sleep, and not wake, saith the King, whose Name is the Lord of hosts.

58 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, The ¹thick wall of Babel shall be broken, and her high gates shall be burnt with fire, and the people shall labor in vain, and the folk in the fire, for they shall be weary.

59 The word which Jeremiah the Prophet commanded Seraiah the son of Neriah, the son of Mahseiah, when he went with Zedekiah the king of Judah into Babel, in the ¹fourth year of his reign, and this Seraiah was a peaceable Prince.

60 So Jeremiah wrote in a book all the evil that should come upon Babel, even all these things that are written against Babel.

61 And Jeremiah said to Seraiah, When thou comest unto Babel, and shalt see and shalt read all these words, 62 Then shalt thou say, O Lord, thou hast spoken against this place, to destroy it, that none should remain in it, neither man nor beast, but that it should be desolate forever.

63 And when thou hast made an end of reading this book, thou shalt bind a ¹stone to it, and cast it in the midst of Euphrates, 64 And shalt say, Thus shall Babel be drowned and shall not rise from the evil, that I will bring upon her: and they shall ¹be weary. Thus far are the words of Jeremiah.

1 Zedekiah ^a*was* one and twenty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem, and his mother's name was Hamutal, the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah.

2 And he did evil in the eyes of the Lord, according to all that Jehoiakim had done.

3 ¹Doubtless because the wrath of the Lord was against Jerusalem and Judah, till he had cast them out from his presence, therefore Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babel.

4 ¹But in the ninth year of his reign, in the tenth month the tenth day of the month came Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel, he and all his host against Jerusalem, and pitched against it, and built forts against it round about.

5 So the city was besieged unto the eleventh year of the king Zedekiah.

6 Now in the fourth month, the ninth day of the month, the famine was sore in the city, so that there was no more bread for the people of the land.

7 Then the city was broken up, and all the men of war fled, and went out of the city by night, by the ¹way of the gate between the two walls, which was by the King's garden: (now the Chaldeans were by the city round about) and they went by the way of the wilderness.

8 But the army of the Chaldeans pursued after the king, and took Zedekiah in the desert of Jericho, and all the host was scattered from him.

9 Then they took the King and carried him up unto the king of Babel to Riblah in the land of Hamath, ¹where he gave judgment upon him.

10 And the king of Babel slew the sons of Zedekiah before his eyes: he slew also all the princes of Judah in Riblah.

11 Then he put out the eyes of Zedekiah, and the king of Babel bound him in chains, and carried him to Babel, and put him in prison till the day of his death.

12 Now in the fifth month in the ¹tenth day of the month (which was the nineteenth year of the king Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel) came Nebuzaradan chief steward which ²stood before the king of Babel in Jerusalem,

13 And burnt the House of the Lord, and the 51:57 ¹ I will so astonish them by afflictions that they shall not know which way to turn them.

51:63 ¹ St. John in his Revelation alludeth to this place, when he saith that the Angel took a millstone and cast it into the sea: signifying thereby the destruction of Babylon, Rev. 18:21.

51:64 ¹ They shall not be able to resist, but shall labor in vain.

52:3 ¹ So the Lord punished sin by sin, and gave him up to his rebellious heart, till he had brought the enemy upon him to lead him away and his people.

52:7 ¹ Read Jer. 39:4.

52:9 ¹ Read 2 Kings 25:6; Jer. 39:5.

52:12 ¹ In 2 Kings 25:8, it is called the seventh day, because the fire began then, and so continued to the tenth.

² That is, which was his servant, as 2 Kings 25:8.

King's house, and all the houses of Jerusalem, and all the great houses burnt he with fire.

14 And all the army of the Chaldeans that were with the chief steward, brake down all the walls of Jerusalem round about.

15 Then Nebuzaradan the chief steward carried away captive certain of the poor of the people, and the residue of the people that remained in the city, and those that were fled, and fallen to the King of Babel, with the rest of the multitude.

16 But Nebuzaradan the chief steward left certain of the poor of the land, to dress the vines, and to till the land.

17 Also the ¹pillars of brass that were in the House of the Lord, and the bases, and the brazen Sea, that was in the House of the Lord, the Chaldeans brake, and carried all the brass of them to Babel.

18 The pots also and the ¹besoms, and the instruments of music, and the basins, and the incense dishes, and all the vessels of brass wherewith they ministered, took they away.

19 And the bowls, and the ashpans, and the basins, and the pots, and the candlesticks, and the incense dishes, and the cups, and all that was of gold, and that was of silver, took the chief steward away,

20 With the two pillars, one Sea, and twelve brazen bulls, that were under the bases, which King Solomon had made in the House of the Lord: the brass of all these vessels was without ¹weight.

21 And concerning the pillars, the height of one pillar was eighteen cubits, and a thread of twelve cubits did compass it, and the thickness thereof was four fingers: it was hollow.

22 And a chapter of brass was upon it, and the height of one chapter was five cubits with network, and pomegranates upon the chapters round about, all of brass: the second pillar also, and the pomegranates were like unto these.

23 And there were ninety and six pomegranates on a side: and all the pomegranates upon the network were an ¹hundred round about.

24 And the chief steward took Seraiah the chief Priest, and Zephaniah ¹the second Priest, and the three keepers of the door.

25 He took also out of the city an Eunuch, which had the oversight of the men of war, and ¹seven men that were in the King's presence, which were found in the city, and Sopher captain of the host, who mustered the people of the land, and threescore men of the people of the land, that were found in the midst of the city.

26 Nebuzaradan the chief steward took them, and brought them to the King of Babel to Riblah.

27 And the king of Babel smote them, and slew them in Riblah, in the land of Hamath: thus Judah was carried away captive out of his own land.

28 ¶ This is the people, whom Nebuchadnezzar carried away captive, in the ¹seventh year, even three thousand Jews, and three and twenty.

29 In the ¹eighteenth year of Nebuchadnezzar, he carried away captive from Jerusalem eight hundred thirty and two ²persons.

30 In the three and twentieth year of Nebuchadnezzar, Nebuzaradan the chief steward carried away captive of the Jews seven hundred forty and five persons: all the persons were four thousand and six hundred.

31 And in the seven and thirtieth year of the captivity of Jehoiachin King of Judah, in the twelfth month, in the five and twentieth day of the month, Evil-Merodach king of Babel, in the first year of his reign, ¹lifted up the head of Jehoiachin king of Judah, and brought him out of prison,

32 And spake kindly unto him, and set his throne above the throne of the Kings, that were with him in Babel, 33 And changed his prison ¹garments, and he did continually eat bread before him all the days of his life.

34 His portion was a ¹continual portion given him of the king of Babel, every day a certain, all the days of his life until he died.

52:17 ¹ Of these pillars, read 1 Kings 7:15.

52:18 ¹ Which were also made of brass, as 1 Kings 7:45.

52:20 ¹ It was so much in quantity.

52:23 ¹ But because of the roundness, no more could be seen but ninety and six.

52:24 ¹ Which served in the high Priest's stead, if he had any necessary impediment.

52:25 ¹ In 2 Kings 25:19, is read but of five: those were the most excellent, and the other two, which were not so noble, are not there mentioned with them.

52:28 ¹ Which was the latter end of the seventh year of his reign, and the beginning of the eighth.

52:29 ¹ In the latter end also of that year, and the beginning of the nineteenth.

52:33 ¹ And gave him princely apparel.

52:34 ¹ That is he had allowance in the court, and thus at length he had rest and quietness because he obeyed Jeremiah the Prophet, whereas the others were cruelly ordered, that would not obey him.

LAMENTATIONS

1 The Prophet bewaileth the miserable estate of Jerusalem. 5 And sheweth that they are plagued because of their sins. The first and second Chapter begin every verse according to the letters of the Hebrew Alphabet. The third hath three verses for every letter, and the fourth is as the first.

1 How doth ¹the city remain solitary that was full of people? she is as a widow: she that was great among the nations, ²and princess among the provinces, is made tributary.

2 She weepeth continually in the ¹night, and her tears run down by her cheeks: among all her ²lovers, she hath none to comfort her: all her friends have dealt unfaithfully with her, and are her enemies.

3 Judah is carried away captive, because ¹of affliction, and because of great servitude, she dwelleth among the heathen, and findeth no rest: all her persecutors took her in the straits.

4 The ways of Zion lament, because no man cometh ¹to the solemn feasts, all her gates are desolate: her Priests sigh: her virgins are discomfited, and she is in ²heaviness.

5 Her adversaries ¹are the chief, and her enemies prosper: for the Lord hath afflicted her, for the multitude of her transgressions, and her children are gone into captivity before the enemy.

6 And from the daughter of Zion all her beauty is departed: her princes are become ¹like harts that find no pasture, and they are gone without strength before the pursuer.

7 Jerusalem remembered the days of her affliction, and of her rebellion, and all her pleasant things that she had in times past, when her people ¹fell into the hand of the enemy, and none did help her: the adversary saw her, and did mock at her ²Sabbaths.

8 Jerusalem hath grievously sinned, therefore

Lam. 2:18

she is ¹in derision: all that honored her, despise her, because they have seen her filthiness: yea, she sigheth, and turneth backward.

9 ¹Her filthiness is in her skirts: she remembered not her last end, therefore she came down wonderfully: she had no comforter: O Lord, behold mine affliction: for the enemy ²is proud.

10 The enemy hath stretched out his hand upon all her pleasant things: for she hath seen the heathen enter into her Sanctuary, whom ¹thou didst command, that they should not enter into thy Church.

11 All her people sigh and seek their bread: they have given their pleasant things for meat to refresh the soul: see, O Lord, and consider: for I am become vile.

12 Have ye no regard, all ye that pass by this way? behold and see, if there be any ¹sorrow like unto my sorrow, which is done unto me wherewith the Lord hath afflicted me in the day of his fierce wrath.

13 From above hath ¹he sent fire into my bones, which prevail against them: he hath spread a net for my feet, and turned me back: he hath made me desolate, and daily in heaviness.

14 The ¹yoke of my transgressions is bound upon his hand: they are wrapped, and come up upon my neck: he hath made my strength to fall: the Lord hath delivered me into their hands, neither am I able to rise up.

15 The Lord hath trodden under foot all my valiant men in the midst of me: he hath called an assembly against me to destroy my young men: the Lord hath trodden ¹the winepress upon the virgin the daughter of Judah.

16 ^aFor these things I weep: mine eye, even mine eye casteth out water, because the comforter that

1:1 ¹ The Prophet wondereth at the great judgment of God, seeing Jerusalem, which was so strong and so full of people, to be now destroyed and desolate.

² Which had chief rule over many provinces and countries.

1:2 ¹ So that she taketh no rest.

² Meaning, the Egyptians and Assyrians, which promised help.

1:3 ¹ For her cruelty toward the poor and oppression of servants, Jer. 34:11.

1:4 ¹ As they used to come up with mirth and joy, Ps. 42:4.

1:5 ¹ That is, have rule over her, Deut. 28:41.

1:6 ¹ As men pined away with sorrow and that have no courage.

1:7 ¹ In her misery she considered the great benefits and commodities that she had lost.

² At her religion and serving of God, which was the greatest grief

1:8 ¹ Or, driven away.

1:9 ¹ She is not ashamed of her sin, although it be manifest.

² Hebrew, hath magnified himself.

1:10 ¹ God forbiddeth that the Ammonites and Moabites should enter into the Congregation of the Lord, and under them he comprehendeth all enemies, Deut. 23:3.

1:12 ¹ Thus Jerusalem lamenteth moving others to pity her and to learn by her example.

1:13 ¹ This declareth that we should acknowledge God to be the author of all our afflictions to the intent that we might seek unto him for remedy.

1:14 ¹ Mine heavy sins are continually before his eyes, as he that tieth a thing to his hand for a remembrance.

1:15 ¹ He hath trodden them underfoot as they tread grapes in the winepress.

should refresh my soul, is far from me: my children are desolate, because the enemy prevailed.

17 Zion stretcheth out her hands, and there is none to comfort her: the Lord hath appointed the enemies of Jacob round about him: Jerusalem is ¹as a menstruous woman in the midst of them.

18 The Lord is righteous: for I have rebelled against his ¹commandment: hear, I pray you, all people, and behold my sorrow: my virgins and my young men are gone into captivity.

19 I called for my lovers, but they deceived me: my Priests and mine Elders perished in the city, while they ¹sought their meat to refresh their souls.

20 Behold, O Lord, how I am troubled: my bowels swell: mine heart is turned within me, for I am full of heaviness: the sword spoileth abroad, as death doeth at home.

21 They have heard that I mourn, but there is none to comfort me: all mine enemies have heard of my trouble, and are glad, that thou hast done it: thou wilt bring the day, that thou hast pronounced, and they shall be like unto me.

22 ¹Let all their wickedness come before thee: ²do unto them, as thou hast done unto me, for all my transgressions: for my sighs are many, and mine heart is heavy.

2 ¹How hath the Lord ¹darkened the daughter of Zion in his wrath! and hath cast down from ²heaven unto the earth the beauty of Israel, and remembered not his ³footstool in the day of his wrath!

2 The Lord hath destroyed all the habitations of Jacob, and not spared: he hath thrown down in his wrath the strongholds of the daughter of Judah: he hath cast them down to the ground: he hath polluted the kingdom and the princes thereof.

3 He hath cut off in his fierce wrath all the ¹horn of Israel: he hath drawn back his ²right hand from before the enemy, and there was kindled in Jacob like a flame of fire, which devoured round about.

4 He ¹hath bent his bow like an enemy: his right hand was stretched up as an adversary, and slew all that was pleasant to the eye in the Tabernacle of the daughter of Zion: he poured out his wrath like fire.

5 The Lord was as an enemy: he hath devoured Israel and consumed all his palaces: he hath destroyed his strongholds, and hath increased in the daughter of Judah lamentation and mourning.

6 For he hath destroyed his Tabernacle, as a garden he hath destroyed his Congregation: the Lord hath caused the feasts and Sabbaths to be forgotten in Zion, and hath despised in the indignation of his wrath, the King and the Priest.

7 The Lord hath forsaken his altar: he hath abhorred his Sanctuary: he hath given into the hand of the enemy the walls of her palaces: they have made a ¹noise in the House of the Lord, as in the day of solemnity.

8 The Lord hath determined to destroy the wall of the daughter of Zion: he stretched out a line: he hath not withdrawn his hand from destroying: therefore he made the rampart, ¹and the wall to lament: they were destroyed together.

9 Her gates are sunk to the ground: he hath destroyed and broken her bars: her King and her Princes are among the Gentiles: the Law is no more, neither can her Prophets ¹receive any vision from the Lord.

10 The Elders of the daughter of Zion sit upon the ground, and keep silence: they have cast up dust upon their heads: they have girded themselves with sackcloth: the virgins of Jerusalem hang down their heads to the ground.

11 Mine eyes do fail with tears: my bowels swell: my liver is poured upon the earth, for the destruction of the daughter of my people, because the children and sucklings ¹swoon in the streets of the city.

12 They have said to their mothers, Where is ¹bread and drink? when they swooned as the wounded in the streets of the city, and when they ²gave up the ghost in their mother's bosom.

13 ¹What thing shall I take to witness for thee? What thing shall I compare to thee, O daughter Jerusalem? what shall I liken to thee, that I may 1:17 ¹ Which because of her pollution was separate from her husband, Lev. 15:19, and was abhorred for the time.

1:18 ¹ Hebrew, mouth.

1:19 ¹ That is, they died for hunger.

1:22 ¹ Of desiring vengeance against the enemy, read Jer. 11:20 and 18:21.

² Or, gather them like grapes.

2:1 ¹ That is, brought her from prosperity to adversity.

² Hath given her a most sore fall.

2:3 ¹ Meaning, the glory and strength, as 1 Sam. 2:1.

² That is, his succor which he was wont to send us, when our enemies oppressed us.

2:4 ¹ Showing that there is no remedy but destruction, where God is the enemy.

2:7 ¹ As the people were accustomed to praise God to the solemn feasts with a loud voice, so now the enemies blaspheme him with shouting and cry.

2:8 ¹ This is a figurative speech, as that was, when he said, the ways did lament, Lam. 1:4, meaning, that this sorrow was so great, that the insensible things had their part thereof.

2:9 ¹ Or, find.

2:11 ¹ Or, faint.

2:12 ¹ Hebrew, wheat and wine.

² Hebrew, poured out the soul.

2:13 ¹ Meaning, that her calamity was so evident, that it needed no witnesses.

comfort thee, O virgin daughter Zion?² for thy breach is great like the sea: who can heal thee?

14 Thy Prophets have¹looked out vain and foolish things for thee, and they have not discovered thine iniquity, to turn away thy captivity, but have looked out for thee false ²prophecies, and causes of banishment.

15 All that pass by the way, clap their hands at thee: they hiss and wag their head upon the daughter Jerusalem, saying, Is this the city that men call, The perfection of beauty, and the joy of the whole earth?

16 All thine enemies have opened their mouth against thee: they hiss and gnash the teeth, saying, Let us devour it: certainly this is the day that we looked for: we have found and seen it.

17 "The Lord hath done that which he had purposed: he hath fulfilled his word that he had determined of old time: he hath thrown down, and not spared: he hath caused thine enemy to rejoice over thee, and set up the horn of thine adversaries.

18 Their heart ^bcried unto the Lord, O wall of the daughter Zion, let tears run down like a river, day and night: take thee no rest, neither let the apple of thine eye cease.

19 Arise, cry in the night: in the beginning of the watches, pour out thine heart like water before the face of the Lord: lift up thine hands toward him for the life of thy young children, that faint for hunger in the corners of all the streets.

20 Behold, O Lord, and consider to whom thou hast done thus: shall the women eat their fruit, and children of a ¹span long? shall the Priest and the Prophet be slain in the Sanctuary of the Lord?

21 The young and the old lie on the ground in the streets: my virgins and my young men are fallen by the sword: thou hast slain them in the day of thy wrath: thou hast killed, and not spared.

22 Thou hast called as in a solemn day my ¹terrors round about, so that in the day of the Lord's wrath none escaped nor remained: those that I have nourished and brought up, hath mine enemy consumed.

^a Lev. 26:15,25
Deut. 28:15,25

^b Jer. 14:17
Lam. 1:16

3 1 I am the man that hath seen ¹affliction in the rod of his indignation.

2 He hath led me, and brought me into darkness, but not to light.

3 Surely he is turned against me: he turneth his hand against me all the day.

4 My flesh and my skin hath he caused to wax old, and he hath broken my bones.

5 He hath ¹built against me, and compassed me with gall and labor.

6 He hath set me in dark places, as they that be dead forever.

7 He hath hedged about me, that I cannot get out: he hath made my chains heavy.

8 Also when I cry and shout, he shutteth out my ¹prayer.

9 He hath ¹stopped up my ways with hewn stone, and turned away my paths.

10 ¹He was unto me as a bear lying in wait, and as a lion in secret places.

11 He hath stopped my ways, and pulled me in pieces: he hath made me desolate.

12 He hath bent his bow, and made me a mark for the arrow.

13 He caused ¹the arrows of his quiver to enter into my reins.

14 I was a derision to all my people, and their song all the day.

15 He hath filled me with bitterness, and made me drunken with ¹wormwood.

16 He hath also broken my teeth with stones, and hath covered me with ashes.

17 Thus my soul was far off from peace: I forgot prosperity,

18 And I said, My strength and my ¹hope is perished from the Lord, 19 Remembering mine affliction, and my mourning, the wormwood and the gall.

20 My soul hath them in remembrance, and is humbled ¹in me.

21 I consider this in mine heart: therefore have I hope.

2:14 ¹ Because the false prophets called themselves Seers, as the others were called, therefore he sheweth that they saw amiss, because they did not reprove the people's faults, but flattered them in their sins, which was the cause of their destruction.

² Or, burdens.

2:20 ¹ Or, brought up in their own hands.

2:22 ¹ Or, enemies, whom I feared.

3:1 ¹ The Prophet complaineth of the punishments and afflictions that he endured by the false prophets and hypocrites, when he declared the destruction of Jerusalem, as Jer. 20:1, 2.

3:5 ¹ He speaketh this, as one that felt God's heavy judgment, which he greatly feared, and therefore setteth them out with this diversity of words.

3:8 ¹ This is a great temptation to the godly when they see not the fruit of their prayers, and causeth them to think that they are not heard, which thing God useth to do, that they might pray more earnestly and the oftener.

3:9 ¹ And keepeth me in hold as a prisoner.

3:10 ¹ He hath no pity on me.

3:13 ¹ Hebrew, sons.

3:15 ¹ With great anguish and sorrow he hath made me to lose my sense.

3:18 ¹ Thus with pain he was driven to and fro between hope and despair, as the godly oftentimes are, yet in the end the spirit getteth the victory.

3:20 ¹ He sheweth that God thus useth to exercise his, to the intent that hereby they may know themselves, and feel his mercies.

^a 1 Cor. 4:13^b Ps. 28:4

22 It is the Lord's ¹mercies that we are not consumed, because his compassions fail not.

23 They are renewed ¹every morning: great is thy faithfulness.

24 The Lord is my ¹portion, saith my soul: therefore will I hope in him.

25 The Lord is good unto them that trust in him, and to the soul that seeketh him.

26 It is good both to trust, and to wait for the salvation of the Lord.

27 It is good for a man that he bear the yoke in his ¹youth.

28 He sitteth alone, ¹and keepeth silence, because he hath borne it upon him.

29 He putteth his ¹mouth in the dust, if there may be hope.

30 He giveth his cheek to him that smiteth him: he is filled full with reproaches.

31 For the Lord will not forsake forever.

32 But though he send affliction, yet will he have compassion according to the multitude of his mercies.

33 For he doth not ¹punish ²willingly, nor afflict the children of men,

34 In stamping under his feet all the prisoners of the earth,

35 In overthrowing the right of a man before the face of the most High, 36 In subverting a man in his cause: the Lord ¹seeth it not.

37 Who is he then that saith, and it cometh to pass, and the Lord ¹commandeth it not?

38 Out of the mouth of the most High proceedeth not ¹evil and good?

39 Wherefore then is the living ¹man sorrowful? man suffereth for his sin.

40 Let us search and try our ways, and turn again to the Lord.

41 Let us lift up ¹our hearts with our hands unto God in the heavens.

42 We have sinned, and have rebelled, therefore thou hast not spared.

43 Thou hast covered us with wrath, and persecuted us: thou hast slain, and not spared.

44 Thou hast covered thyself with a cloud, that our prayer should not pass through.

45 Thou hast made us as the "offscouring and refuse in the midst of the people.

46 All our enemies have opened their mouth against us.

47 Fear, and a snare is come upon us with desolation and destruction.

48 Mine eye casteth out rivers of water, for the destruction of the daughter of my people.

49 Mine eye droppeth without stay, and ceaseth not,

50 Till the Lord look down, and behold from heaven.

51 Mine eye ¹breaketh mine heart because of all the daughters of my city.

52 Mine enemies chased me sore, like a bird, without cause.

53 They have shut up my life ¹in the dungeon, and cast a stone upon me.

54 Waters flowed over mine head, then thought I, I am destroyed.

55 I called upon thy Name, O Lord, out of the low dungeon.

56 Thou hast heard my voice: stop not thine ear from my sigh, and from my cry.

57 Thou drewest near in the day that I called upon thee: thou saidest, Fear not.

58 O Lord, thou hast maintained the cause of my ¹soul, and hast redeemed my life.

59 O Lord, thou hast seen my wrong, judge thou my cause.

60 Thou hast seen all their vengeance, and all their devises against me:

61 Thou hast heard their reproach, O Lord, and all their imaginations against me.

62 The lips also of those that rose against me, and their whispering against me continually.

63 Behold, their sitting down, and their rising up, how I am their song.

64 ^bGive them a recompense, O Lord, according to the work of their hands.

3:22 ¹ Considering the wickedness of man, it is [a] marvel that any remaineth alive: but only that God for his own mercy's sake and for his promise, will ever have his Church to remain, though they be never so few in number, Isa. 1:9.

3:23 ¹ We feel thy benefits daily.

3:24 ¹ The godly put their whole confidence in God, and therefore look for none other inheritance, as Ps. 16:5.

3:27 ¹ He sheweth that we can never begin too timely to be exercised under the cross, that when the afflictions grow greater, our patience also by experience may be stronger.

3:28 ¹ He murmureth not against God, but is patient.

3:29 ¹ He humbleth himself as they that fall down with their face to the ground, and so with patience waiteth for succor.

3:33 ¹ He taketh no pleasure in it, but doeth it of necessity for our amendment, when he suffereth the wicked to oppress the poor.

3:36 ¹ He doth not delight therein.

3:37 ¹ He sheweth that nothing is done without God's providence.

3:38 ¹ That is, adversity and prosperity, Amos 3:6.

3:39 ¹ When God afflicteth him.

3:41 ¹ That is, both hearts and hands: for else to lift up the hands, is but hypocrisy.

3:51 ¹ I am overcome with sore weeping for all my people.

3:53 ¹ Read Jer. 37:16, how he was in the miry dungeon.

3:58 ¹ Meaning, the cause wherefore his life was in danger.

65 Give them ¹sorrow of heart even thy curse to them.

66 Persecute with wrath and destroy them from under the heaven, O Lord.

4 1 How is the ¹gold become so ²dim? the most fine gold is changed, and the stones of the Sanctuary are scattered in the corner of every street.

2 The noble ¹men of Zion comparable to fine gold, how are they esteemed as earthen ²pitchers, even the work of the hands of the potter!

3 Even the dragons ¹draw out the breasts, and give suck to their young; but the daughter of my people is become cruel like the ²ostriches in the wilderness.

4 The tongue of the sucking child cleaveth to the roof of his mouth for thirst: the young children ask bread, but no man breaketh it unto them.

5 They that did feed delicately, perish in the streets: they that were brought up in scarlet, embrace the dung.

6 For the iniquity of the daughter of my people is become greater than the sin of Sodom, that was “destroyed as in a moment, and ¹none pitched camps against her.

7 Her ⁶Nazirites were purer than the snow, and whiter than the milk: they were more ruddy in body, than the red precious stones: they were like polished sapphire.

8 Now their ¹visage is blacker than a coal: they cannot know them in the streets: their skin cleaveth to their bones: it is withered like a stock.

9 They that be slain with the sword, are better than they that are killed with hunger: for they fade away as they were stricken through for the ¹fruits of the field.

10 The hands of the pitiful women have sodden their own children, which were their meat in the destruction of the daughter of my people.

11 The Lord hath accomplished his indignation: he hath poured out his fierce wrath, he hath kindled a fire in Zion, which hath devoured the foundations thereof.

12 The kings of the earth, and all the inhabitants of the world would not have believed that the adversary and the enemy should have entered into the gates of Jerusalem:

13 For the sins of her prophets, and the iniquities of her priests, that have shed the blood of the just in the midst of ¹her.

14 They have wandered as blind men ¹in the streets, and they were polluted with blood, so that ²they would not touch their garments.

15 But they cried unto them, Depart ye polluted, depart, depart, touch not: therefore they fled away, and wandered: they have said among the heathen, They shall no more dwell there.

16 The ¹anger of the Lord hath scattered them, he will no more regard them: ²they revered not the face of the Priest, nor had compassion on the Elders.

17 While we waited for our vain help, our eyes failed: for in our waiting we looked for ¹a nation that could not save us.

18 They hunt our steps, that we cannot go in our streets: our end is near, our days are fulfilled, for our end is come.

19 Our persecutors are swifter than the eagles of the heaven: they pursued us upon the mountains, and laid wait for us in the wilderness.

20 The ¹breath of our nostrils, the Anointed of the Lord was taken in their nets, of whom we said, Under his shadow we shall be preserved alive among the heathen.

21 Rejoice and be glad, ¹O daughter Edom: that dwellest in the land of Uz, the cup also shall pass through unto thee: thou shalt be drunken ²and vomit.

22 Thy punishment is accomplished, O daughter Zion: he ¹will no more carry thee away into captivity, but he will visit thine iniquity, O daughter Edom, he will discover thy sins.

4:1 ¹ By the gold, he meaneth the princes, as by the stones he understandeth the Priests.

4:2 ¹ Or, sons.

² Which are of small estimation, and have none honor.

4:3 ¹ Though the dragons be cruel, yet they pity their young, and nourish them, which things Jerusalem doth not.

² The women forsake their children, as the ostrich doth her eggs, Job 39:17.

4:6 ¹ Or, no strength was against her.

4:8 ¹ They that were before most in God's favor, are now in greatest abomination unto him.

4:9 ¹ For lack of food they pine away and consume.

4:13 ¹ He meaneth that these things are come to pass therefore, contrary to all men's expectation.

4:14 ¹ Some refer this to the blind men, which as they went, stumbled on the blood, whereof the city was full.

² Meaning, the heathen which came to destroy them, could not abide them.

4:16 ¹ Or, face.

² That is, the enemies.

4:17 ¹ He sheweth two principal causes of their destruction: their cruelty and their vain confidence in man: for they trusted in the help of the Egyptians.

4:20 ¹ Our king Josiah, in whom stood our hope of God's favor, and on whom depended our state and life, was slain, whom he calleth Anointed, because he was a figure of Christ.

4:21 ¹ This is spoken by derision.

² Or, show thy nakedness.

4:22 ¹ He comforteth the Church, by that after seventy years their sorrows shall have an end, whereas the wicked should be tormented forever.

5 The prayer of Jeremiah.

1 Remember, O Lord, what is come upon us: ¹consider, and behold our reproach.

2 Our inheritance is turned to the strangers, our houses to the aliens.

3 We are fatherless, even without father, and our mothers are as widows.

4 We have drunk our ¹water for money, and our wood is sold unto us.

5 Our necks are under persecution: we are weary, and have no rest.

6 We have given our ¹hands to the Egyptians, and to Assyria, to be satisfied with bread.

7 Our fathers have sinned, and are not, and we have borne ¹their iniquities.

8 Servants have ruled over us, none would deliver us out of their hands.

9 We got our bread with the peril of our lives, because of the sword ¹of the wilderness.

10 Our skin was black like as an oven because of the terrible famine.

11 They defiled the women in Zion, and the maids in the cities of Judah.

12 The princes are hanged up by ¹their hand: the faces of the Elders were not had in honor.

13 They took the young men to grind, and the children fell under ¹the wood.

14 The Elders have ceased from the ¹gate and the young men from their songs.

15 The joy of our heart is gone, our dance is turned into mourning.

16 The crown of our head is fallen: woe now unto us, that we have sinned.

17 Therefore our heart is heavy for these things, our ¹eyes are dim, 18 Because of the mountain of Zion, which is desolate: the foxes run upon it.

19 But thou, O Lord, remainest ¹forever: thy throne is from generation to generation.

20 Wherefore dost thou forget us forever, and forsake us so long time?

21 ¹Turn thou us unto thee, O Lord, and we shall be turned: renew our days as of old.

22 But thou hast utterly rejected us: thou art exceedingly angry against us.

5:1 ¹ This prayer as is thought, was made when some of the people were carried away captive, others, as the poorest remained, and some went into Egypt, and other places for succor: albeit it seemeth that the Prophet foreseeing their miseries to come, thus prayed.

5:4 ¹ Meaning, their extreme servitude and bondage.

5:6 ¹ We are joined in league and amity with them, or have submitted ourselves unto them.

5:7 ¹ As our fathers have been punished for their sins: so we that are culpable of the same sins, are punished.

5:9 ¹ Because of the enemy that came from the wilderness, and would not suffer us to go and seek our necessary food.

5:12 ¹ That is, by the enemy's hand.

5:13 ¹ Their slavery was so great, that they were not able to abide it.

5:14 ¹ There were no more laws nor form of commonwealth.

5:17 ¹ With weeping.

5:19 ¹ And therefore thy covenant and mercies can never fail.

5:21 ¹ Whereby is declared that it is not in man's power to turn to God, but is only his work to convert us, and thus God worketh in us before we can turn to him, Jer. 31:18.

EZEKIEL

1 ¹ The time wherein Ezekiel prophesied, in what place. ³ His kindred. ⁵ The vision of the four beasts. ²⁶ The vision of the throne.

1 It came to pass in the ¹thirtieth year in the fourth month, and in the fifth day of the month (as I was among the captives by the river ²Chebar) that the heavens were opened, and I saw visions of ³GOD.

2 In the fifth day of the month (which was the fifth year of king Jehoiachin's captivity)

3 The word of the Lord came unto Ezekiel the Priest, the son of Buzi, in the land of the Chaldeans, by the river Chebar, where the ¹hand of the Lord was upon him.

4 And I looked, and behold, a ¹whirlwind came out of the North, a great cloud and a fire wrapped about it, and a brightness was about it, and in the midst thereof, to wit, in the midst of the fire came out as the likeness of ²amber.

5 Also out of the midst thereof came the likeness of ¹four beasts, and this was their form: they had the appearance of a man,

6 And every one had four faces, and every one had four wings.

7 And their feet were straight feet, and the sole of their feet was like the soles of a calf's foot, and they sparkled like the appearance of bright brass.

8 And the hands of a man came out from under their wings in the four parts of them, and they four had their faces, and their wings.

9 They where ¹joined by their wings one to another, and when they went forth, they returned not, but every one went straight forward.

10 And the similitude of their faces was as ¹the face of a man: and they four had the face of a lion on the right side, and they four had the face of a bullock on the left side: they four also had the face of an Eagle.

11 Thus were their faces: but their wings were spread out above: two wings of every one were joined one to another, and two covered their bodies.

12 And every one went straight forward: they went whither their ¹spirit led them, and they returned not when they went forth.

13 The similitude also of the beasts, and their appearance was like burning coals of fire, and like the appearance of lamps: for the fire ran among the beasts, and the fire gave a glister, and out of the fire there went lightning.

14 And the beasts ran, and ¹returned like unto lightning.

15 Now as I beheld the beasts, behold, a wheel appeared upon the earth by the beasts, having four faces.

16 The fashion of the wheels and their work was like unto a ¹Chrysolite: and they four had one form, and their fashion and their work was as one wheel in another wheel.

17 When they went, they went upon their four sides, and they returned not when they went.

18 They had also ¹rings, and height, and were fearful to behold, and their rings were full of eyes, round about them four.

19 And when the beasts went, the wheels went with them: and when the beasts were lifted up from the earth, the wheels were lifted up.

20 Whither their spirit led them, they went, and thither did the spirit of the wheels lead them, and the wheels were lifted up besides them: for the spirit of the beasts was in the wheels.

21 When the beasts went, they went, and when they stood, they stood, and when they were lifted up from the earth, the wheels were lifted up besides them: for the spirit of the beasts was in the wheels.

22 And the similitude of the firmament upon the heads of the beasts was wonderful, like unto crystal spread over their heads above.

23 And under the firmament were their wings

1:1 ¹ After that the book of the Law was found, which was the eighteenth year of the reign of Josiah, so that five and twenty years after this book was found, Jeconiah was led away captive with Ezekiel and many of the people, who the first year after saw these visions.

² Which was a part of Euphrates so called.

³ That is notable and excellent visions, so that it might be known, it was no natural dream, but came of God.

1:3 ¹ That is, the spirit of prophecy, as Ezek. 3:22 and 37:1.

1:4 ¹ By this diversity of words he signifieth the fearful judgment of God and the great afflictions that should come upon Jerusalem.

² Or, pale fellow.

1:5 ¹ Which were the four Cherubims that represented the glory of God, as Ezek. 3:23.

1:9 ¹ The wing of the one touched the wing of the other.

1:12 ¹ Hebrew, whither their spirit or w[ings] was to go.

1:14 ¹ That is, when they had executed God's will: for afore they returned not till God had changed the state of things.

1:16 ¹ The Hebrew word is tarshish meaning that the color was like the Cilician Sea, or a precious stone so called.

1:18 ¹ Or, the trent.

straight, the one toward the other: every one had two which covered them, and every one had two which covered their bodies.

24 And when they went forth, I heard the noise of their ¹wings, like the noise of great waters, and as the voice of the Almighty, even the voice of speech, as the noise of an host: even when they stood, they ²let down their wings.

25 And there was a voice from the firmament that was over their heads, when they stood, and had let down their wings.

26 And above the firmament that was over their heads, was the fashion of a throne like unto a Sapphire stone, and upon the similitude of the throne was by appearance, as the similitude of a man above upon it.

27 And I saw as the appearance of amber, and as the similitude of fire ¹round about within it to look too, even from his loins upward: and to look too, even from his loins downward, I saw as a likeness of fire, and brightness round about it.

28 As the likeness of the bow, that is in the cloud in the day of rain, so was the appearance of the light round about.

29 This was the appearance of the similitude of the glory of the Lord: and when I saw it, I fell ¹upon my face, and I heard a voice of one that spake.

2 The Prophet is sent to call the people from their error.

1 And ¹he said unto me, ²Son of man, stand up upon thy feet, and I will speak unto thee.

2 ¹And the Spirit entered into me, when he had spoken unto me, and set me upon my feet, so that I heard him that spake unto me.

3 And he said unto me, Son of Man, I send thee to the children of Israel, to a rebellious nation that hath rebelled against me: for they and their fathers have rebelled against me, even unto this very day.

4 For they are ¹impudent children, and stiff-hearted: I do send thee unto them, and thou shalt say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God.

5 But surely they will not hear, neither indeed will they cease: for they are a rebellious house: yet shall they know that ¹there hath been a Prophet among them.

6 And thou son of man, ¹fear them not, neither be afraid of their words, although rebels and thorns be with thee, and thou remainest with scorpions: fear not their words, nor be afraid at their looks, for they are a rebellious house.

7 Therefore thou shalt speak my words unto them: but surely they will not hear, neither will they indeed cease: for they are rebellious.

8 But thou son of man, hear what I say unto thee: be not thou rebellious, like this rebellious house: open thy mouth, and ¹eat that I give thee.

9 And when I looked up, behold, an hand was sent unto me, and lo, a roll of a book was therein.

10 And he spread it before me, and it was written within and without, and there was written therein, ¹Lamentations and mourning, and woe.

3 1 The Prophet being fed with the word of God and with the constant boldness of the spirit, is sent unto the people that were in captivity. 17 The office of true ministers.

1 Moreover he said unto me, Son of man, eat that thou findest: ¹eat this roll, and go, and speak unto the house of Israel.

2 So I opened my mouth, and he gave me this roll to eat.

3 And he said unto me, Son of man, cause thy belly to eat, and fill thy bowels with this roll that I give thee. Then did I eat, and it was in my mouth as sweet as honey.

4 And he said unto me, Son of man, go and enter into the house of Israel, and declare them my words.

5 For thou art not sent to a people of an ¹unknown tongue, or of an hard language, but to the house of Israel,

6 Not to many people of an unknown tongue, or of an hard language, whose words thou canst not understand: yet if I should send thee to them, they would obey thee.

1:24 ¹ Which declared the swiftness and the fearfulness of God's judgments.

² Which signified that they had no power of themselves, but only waited to execute God's commandment.

1:27 ¹ Whereby was signified a terrible judgment toward the earth.

1:29 ¹ Considering the majesty of God, and the weakness of flesh.

2:1 ¹ That is, the Lord.

² Meaning, man which is but earth and ashes, which was to humble him, and cause him to consider his own state, and God's grace.

2:2 ¹ So that he could not abide God's presence, till God's Spirit did enter into him.

2:4 ¹ Hebrew, hard of face.

2:5 ¹ This declareth on the one part God's great affection toward his people, that notwithstanding their rebellion, yet he will send his Prophets among them, and admonisheth his ministers on the other part that they cease not to do their duty, though the people be never so obstinate: for the word of God shall be either to their salvation or greater condemnation.

2:6 ¹ Read Jer. 1:17, he showeth that for none afflictions they should cease to do their duties.

2:8 ¹ He doth not only exhort him to his duty, but also giveth him the means wherewith he may be able to execute it.

2:10 ¹ He showeth what were the contents of this book: to wit, God's judgments against the wicked.

3:1 ¹ Whereby is meant that none is meet to be God's messenger before he have received the word of God in his heart, as verse 10, and have a zeal thereunto, and delight therein, as Jer. 15:16; Rev. 10:10.

3:5 ¹ Hebrew, deep lips.

7 But the house of Israel will not obey thee: for they will not obey me: yea, all the house of Israel are impudent and stiff-hearted.

8 Behold, I have made thy ¹face strong against their faces, and thy forehead hard against their foreheads.

9 I have made thy forehead as the adamant, and harder than the flint: fear them not therefore, neither be afraid at their looks: for they are a rebellious house.

10 He said moreover unto me, Son of man, ¹receive in thine heart all my words that I speak unto thee, and hear them with thine ears,

11 And go and enter to them that are led away captives unto the children of thy people, and speak unto them, and tell them, Thus saith the Lord God: but surely they will not hear, neither will they indeed cease.

12 Then the spirit took me up, and I heard behind me a noise of a great rushing, saying, 'Blessed be the glory of the Lord out of his place.

13 I heard also the noise of the wings of the beasts, that touched one another, and the rattling of the wheels that were by them, even a noise of a great rushing.

14 So the spirit lifted me up, and took me away, and I ¹went in bitterness and indignation of my spirit, but the hand of the Lord was strong upon me.

15 Then I came to them that were led away captives to ¹Tel Abib, that dwelt by the river Chebar, and I sat where they sat, and remained there astonished among them ²seven days.

16 And at the end of seven days, the word of the Lord came again unto me, saying,

17 Son of man, I have made thee a ¹watchman unto the house of Israel: therefore hear the word at my mouth, and give them warning from me

18 When I shall say unto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die, and thou givest not him warning, nor speakest to admonish the wicked of his wicked way, that he may live, the same wicked man shall die in his iniquity: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

19 Yet, if thou warn the wicked, and he turn not from his wickedness, nor from his wicked way, he shall die in his iniquity, but thou hast delivered thy soul.

20 Likewise if a ¹righteous man turn from his righteousness, and commit iniquity, I will lay a ²stumbling block before him and he shall die, because thou hast not given him warning, he shall die in his sin, and his ³righteous deeds, which he hath done, shall not be remembered: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

21 Nevertheless, if thou admonish that righteous man, that the righteous sin not, and that he doth not sin, he shall live because he is admonished: also thou hast delivered thy soul.

22 And the ¹hand of the Lord was there upon me, and he said unto me, Arise, and go into the ²field, and I will there talk with thee.

23 So when I had risen up, and gone forth into the field, behold, the glory of the Lord stood there, as the ¹glory which I saw by the river Chebar, and I fell down upon my face.

24 Then the Spirit entered into me, which ¹set me up upon my feet, and spake unto me, and said to me, Come, and ²shut thyself within thine house.

25 But thou, O son of man, behold, they shall put bands upon thee, and shall bind thee with them, and thou shalt not go out among them.

26 And I will make thy tongue ¹cleave to the roof of thy mouth, that thou shalt be dumb, and shalt not be to them as a man that rebuketh: for they are a rebellious house.

27 But when I shall have spoken unto thee, I will open thy mouth, and thou shalt say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, He that heareth, let him hear, and he that leaveth off, let him leave: for they are a rebellious house.

4 ¹ The besieging of the city of Jerusalem is signified. ⁹ The long continuance of the captivity of Israel. ¹⁶ An hunger is prophesied to come.

1 Thou also son of man, take thee a brick, and

3:8 ¹ God promiseth his assistance to his ministers, and that he will give them boldness and constancy in their vocation, Isa. 50:7; Jer. 1:18; Mic. 3:8.

3:10 ¹ He sheweth what is meant by the eating of the book, which is that the ministers of God may speak nothing as of themselves, but that only, which they have received of the Lord.

3:12 ¹ Whereby he signifieth, that God's glory should not be diminished, although he departed out of his Temple, for this declared that the city and Temple should be destroyed.

3:14 ¹ This sheweth that there is ever an infirmity of the flesh which can never be ready to render full obedience to God, and also God's grace who ever assisteth his, and overcometh their rebellious affections.

3:15 ¹ Which was a place by Euphrates, where the Jews were prisoners.

² Declaring hereby that God's ministers must with advisement and deliberation utter his judgments.

3:17 ¹ Of this read Ezek. 33:2.

3:20 ¹ If he that hath been instructed in the right way turn back.

² I will give him up to a reprobate mind, Rom. 1:28.

³ Which seemed to have been done in faith, and were not.

3:22 ¹ That is, the Spirit of prophecy.

² Or, valley.

3:23 ¹ Meaning, the vision of the Cherubims, and the wheels.

3:24 ¹ Read Ezek. 2:2.

² Signifying, that not only he should not profit, but they should grievously trouble and afflict him.

3:26 ¹ Which declareth the terrible plague of the Lord, when God stoppeth the mouths of his ministers, and that all such are the rods of his vengeance that do it.

lay it before thee, and portray upon it the city, even Jerusalem,

2 And lay siege against it, and build a fort against it, and cast a mount against it, set the camp also against it, and lay engines of war against it round about.

3 Moreover, take an ¹iron pan, and set it for a wall of iron between thee and the city, and direct thy face toward it, and it shall be besieged, and thou shalt lay siege against it: this shall be a sign unto the house of Israel.

4 Sleep thou also upon thy left side, and lay the iniquity of the ¹house of Israel upon it: according to the number of the days, that thou shalt sleep upon it, thou shalt bear their iniquity.

5 For I have laid upon thee the years of their iniquity according to the number of the days, even three hundred and ninety days: so shalt thou bear the iniquity of the house of Israel.

6 And when thou hast accomplished them, sleep again upon thy ¹right side, and thou shalt bear the iniquity of the house of Judah forty days: I have appointed thee a day for a year, even a day for a year.

7 Therefore thou shalt direct thy face toward the siege of Jerusalem, and thine ¹arm shall be uncovered, and thou shalt prophesy against it.

8 And behold, I will lay ¹bands upon thee, and thou shalt not turn thee from one side to another, till thou hast ended the days of thy siege.

9 Thou shalt take also unto thee wheat, and barley, and beans, and lentils, and millet, ¹and fitches, and put them in one vessel, and make thee bread thereof according to the number of the days, that thou shalt sleep upon thy side: even ²three hundred and ninety days shalt thou eat thereof.

10 And the meat, whereof thou shalt eat shall be by weight, even ¹twenty shekels a day: and from time to time shalt thou eat thereof.

11 Thou shalt drink also water by measure, even the sixth part of ¹an Hin: from time to time shalt thou drink.

12 And thou shalt eat it as barley cakes, and thou shalt bake it ¹in the dung that cometh out of man in their sight.

13 And the Lord said, So shall the children of Israel eat their defiled bread among the Gentiles, whither I will cast them.

14 Then said I, Ah, Lord God, behold, my soul hath not been polluted: for from my youth up, even unto this hour, I have not eaten of a thing dead or torn in pieces, neither came there any ¹unclean flesh in my mouth.

15 Then he said unto me, Lo, I have given thee bullocks ¹dung for man's dung, and thou shalt prepare thy bread therewith.

16 Moreover, he said unto me, Son of man, behold, I will break ¹the staff of bread in Jerusalem, and they shall eat bread by weight, and with care, and they shall drink water by measure, and with astonishment.

17 Because that bread and water shall fail, they shall be astonished one with another, and shall consume away for their iniquity.

5 The sign of the hairs, whereby is signified the destruction of the people.

1 And thou son of man, take thee a sharp knife, or take thee a barber's razor, and cause it ¹to pass upon thine head, and upon thy beard: then take thee balances to weigh, and divide the hair.

2 Thou shalt burn with fire the third part in the midst of the ¹city, when the days of the siege are fulfilled, and thou shalt take the other third part, and smite about it with a knife, and the last third part thou shalt scatter in the wind, and I will draw out a sword after them.

3 Thou shalt also take thereof a few in number, and bind them in thy ¹lap.

4 Then take of them again and cast them into the midst of the fire, and burn them in the fire: ¹for thereof shall a fire come forth into all the house of Israel.

5 Thus saith the Lord God, This is Jerusalem, I

4:3 ¹ Which signified the stubbornness and hardness of their heart.

4:4 ¹ Hereby he represented the idolatry and sin of the ten tribes (for Samaria was on his left hand from Babylon) and how they had remained therein three hundred and ninety years.

4:6 ¹ Which declared Judah, who had now from the time of Josiah slept in their sins forty years.

4:7 ¹ In token of a speedy vengeance.

4:8 ¹ The people should so straightly be besieged, that they should not be able, to turn them.

4:9 ¹ Meaning, that the famine should be so great, that they should be glad to eat whatsoever they could get.

² Which were fourteen months that the city was besieged, and this was as many days as Israel sinned years.

4:10 ¹ Which make a pound.

4:11 ¹ Read Exod. 29:40.

4:12 ¹ Signifying hereby the great scarcity of fuel and matter to burn.

4:14 ¹ Much less such vile corruption.

4:15 ¹ To be as fire to bake thy bread with.

4:16 ¹ That is, the force and strength wherewith it should nourish, Isa. 3:1; Ezek. 5:17 and 14:13.

5:1 ¹ To shave thine head and thy beard.

5:2 ¹ To wit, of that city which he had portrayed upon the brick, Ezek. 4:1. By the fire and pestilence he meaneth the famine, wherewith one part perished during the siege of Nebuchadnezzar. By the sword, those that were slain whom Zedekiah fled, and those that were carried away captive. And by the scattering into the wind, those that fled into Egypt, and into other parts after the city was taken.

5:3 ¹ Meaning, that a very few should be left, which the Lord should preserve among all these storms, but not without troubles and trial.

5:4 ¹ Out of that fire which thou kindest shall a fire come, which shall signify the destruction of Israel.

have set it in the midst of the nations and countries, that are round about her.

6 And she hath changed my ¹judgments into wickedness more than the nations, and my statutes more than the countries, that are round about her: for they have refused my judgments, and my statutes, and they have not walked in them.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because your ¹multitude is greater than the nations that are round about you, and ye have not walked in my statutes, neither have ye kept my judgments: no, ye have not done according to the judgments of the nations, that are round about you.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I, even I come against thee, and will execute judgment in the midst of thee, even in the sight of the nations.

9 And I will do in thee that I never did before, neither will do anymore the like, because of all thine abominations.

10 For in the midst of thee, the fathers ^ashall eat their sons, and the sons shall eat their fathers, and I will execute judgment in thee, and the whole remnant of thee will I scatter into all the winds.

11 Wherefore as I live, saith the Lord God, Surely, because thou hast defiled my Sanctuary with all thy filthiness, and with all thine abominations, therefore will I also destroy thee, neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I have any pity.

12 The third part of thee shall die with the pestilence, and with famine shall they be consumed in the midst of thee: and another third part shall fall by the sword round about thee: and I will scatter the last third part into all winds, and I will draw out a sword after them.

13 Thus shall mine anger be accomplished, and I will cause my wrath to cease in them, and I will be ¹comforted: and they shall know, that I the Lord have spoken it in my zeal, when I have accomplished my wrath in them.

14 Moreover, I will make thee waste, and abhorred among the nations that are round about thee, and in the sight of all that pass by.

15 So thou shalt be a reproach and shame, a chastisement and an astonishment unto the nations, that are round about thee, when I shall execute judgments in thee in anger and in wrath, and in sharp rebukes:

I the Lord have spoken it.

16 When I shall send upon them the ¹evil ²arrows of famine, which shall be for their destruction, and which I will send to destroy you: and I will increase the famine upon you, and will break your staff of bread.

17 ^bSo I will send upon you famine, and evil beasts, and they shall spoil thee: and pestilence and blood shall pass through thee: and I will bring the sword upon thee: I the Lord have spoken it.

6 He sheweth that Jerusalem shall be destroyed for their idolatry. 8 He prophesieth the repentance of the remnant of the people, and their deliverance.

1 Again the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, Set thy face towards the ^amountains of Israel, and prophesy against them,

3 And say, Ye mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Lord God: thus saith the Lord God to the ¹mountains and to the hills, to the rivers and to the valleys, Behold, I, even I will bring a sword upon you, and I will destroy your high places:

4 And your altars shall be desolate, and your images of the ¹Sun shall be broken: and I will cast down your slain men before your idols.

5 And I will lay the dead carcasses of the children of Israel before their ¹idols, and I will ^bscatter your bones round about your altars.

6 In all your dwelling places the cities shall be desolate, and the high places shall be laid waste, so that your altars shall be made waste and desolate, and your idols shall be broken and cease, and your images of the Sun shall be cut in pieces, and your works shall be abolished.

7 And the slain shall fall in the midst of you, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

8 Yet will I leave a remnant, ¹that you may have some that shall escape the sword among the nations, when you shall be scattered through the countries.

9 And they that escape of you, shall remember me among the nations, where they shall be in captivity, because I am grieved for their whorish hearts, which have departed from me, and for their eyes, which have gone a whoring after their idols, and they ¹shall be displeased in themselves for the evils which they have committed in all their abominations.

5:6 ¹ My word and law into idolatry and superstitions.

5:7 ¹ Because your idols are in greater number, and your superstitions more than among the professed idolaters, read Isa. 65:11, or he condemneth their ingratitude in respect of his benefits.

5:13 ¹ That is, I will not be pacified, till I be revenged, Isa. 1:24.

5:16 ¹ Or, dangerous.

² Which were the grasshoppers, mildew, and whatsoever were occasions of famine.

6:3 ¹ He speaketh to all the places where the Israelites accustomed to commit their idolatries, threatening them destruction.

6:4 ¹ Read 2 Kings 23:11.

6:5 ¹ In contempt of their power and force, which shall neither be able to deliver you nor themselves.

6:8 ¹ He sheweth that in all dangers God will preserve a few, which shall be as the seed of his Church and call upon his Name.

6:9 ¹ They shall be ashamed to see that their hope in idols was but vain, and so shall repent.

10 And they shall know that I am the Lord, and that I have not said in vain, that I would do this evil unto them.

11 Thus saith the Lord God, ¹Smite with thine hand, and stretch forth with thy foot, and say, Alas, for all the wicked abominations of the house of Israel: for they shall fall by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence.

12 He that is far off, shall die of the pestilence, and he that is near, shall fall by the sword, and he that remaineth and is besieged, shall die by the famine: thus will I accomplish my wrath upon them.

13 Then ¹ye shall know, that I am the Lord, when their slain men shall be among their idols round about their altars, upon every high hill in all the tops of the mountains, and under every green tree, and under every thick oak, which is the place where they did offer sweet savor to all their idols.

14 So will I ¹stretch mine hand upon them, and make the land waste and desolate ¹from the wilderness unto Diblath in all their habitations, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 The end of all the land of Israel shall suddenly come.

1 Moreover the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Also thou son of man, thus saith the Lord God, An end is come unto the land of Israel: the end is come upon the four corners of the land.

3 Now is the end come upon thee, and I will send my wrath upon thee, and will judge thee according to thy ways, and will lay upon thee all ¹thine abominations.

4 Neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I have pity: but I will lay thy ways upon thee: and thine abomination shall be in the midst of thee, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

for thee: behold, it is come.

7 The ¹morning is come unto thee, that dwellest in the land: the time is come, the day of trouble is near, and not the ²sounding again of the mountains.

8 Now I will shortly pour out my wrath upon thee, and fulfill mine anger upon thee: I will judge thee according to thy ways, and will lay upon thee all thine abominations.

9 Neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I have pity, but I will lay upon thee according to thy ways, and thine abominations shall be in the midst of thee, and ye shall know that I am the Lord that smiteth.

10 Behold, the day, behold, it is come: the morning is gone forth, the ¹rod flourisheth: ²pride hath budded.

11 ¹Cruelty is risen up into a rod of wickedness: none of them shall remain, nor of their riches, nor of any of theirs, neither shall there be ²lamentation for them.

12 The time is come, the day draweth near: let not the buyer ¹rejoice, nor let him that selleth ²mourn: for the wrath is upon all the multitude thereof.

13 For he that selleth, shall not ¹return to that which is sold, although they were yet alive: for the ²vision is unto all the multitude thereof, and they returned not, ³neither doth any encourage himself in the punishment of his life.

14 ¹They have blown the trumpet, and prepared all, but none goeth to the battle: for my wrath is upon all the multitude thereof.

15 The sword is without, and the pestilence, and the famine within: he that is in the field, shall die with the sword, and he that is in the city, famine and pestilence shall devour him.

16 But they that flee away from them, shall escape, and shall be in the mountains, like the doves of the valleys: all they shall mourn, every one for his iniquity.

17 ¹All hands shall be weak, and all knees shall fall away as water.

6:11 ¹ By these signs he would that the Prophet should signify the great destruction to come.

6:13 ¹ That is, all nations when you shall see my judgments.

6:14 ¹ Some read, more desolate than the wilderness of Diblath, which was in Syria, and bordered upon Israel, or from the wilderness, which was South unto Diblath, which was North: meaning, the whole country.

7:3 ¹ I will punish thee as thou hast deserved for thine idolatry.

7:5 ¹ Or, behold, evil cometh after evil.

7:6 ¹ He sheweth that the judgments of God ever watch to destroy the sinners, which notwithstanding he delayeth till there be no more hope of repentance.

² Their own affliction shall be so great, that they shall have no regard to lament for others.

7:12 ¹ For the present profit.

² For he shall lose nothing.

7:13 ¹ In the year of the Jubilee, meaning that none should enjoy the privilege of the law, Lev. 25:13, for they should all be carried away captives.

² This vision signified, that all should be carried away, and none should return for the Jubilee.

³ No man for all this endeavoreth himself, or taketh heart to repent for his evil life. Some read, for none shall be strengthened in his iniquity of his life: meaning, that they should gain nothing by flattering themselves in evil.

7:14 ¹ The Israelites made a brag, but their hearts failed them.

18 ^bThey shall also gird themselves with sackcloth, and fear shall cover them, and shame shall be upon all faces, and baldness upon their heads.

19 They shall cast their silver in the streets, and their gold shall be cast far off: their ^csilver and their gold cannot deliver them in the day of the wrath of the Lord: they shall not satisfy their souls, neither fill their bowels: for this ruin is for their iniquity.

20 He had also set the beauty of his ^dornament in majesty: but they made images of their abominations, and of their idols therein: therefore have I set it far from them.

21 And I will give it into the hands of the ^estrangers to be spoiled, and to the wicked of the earth to be robbed, and they shall pollute it.

22 My face will I turn also from them, and they shall pollute my ^fsecret place: for the destroyers shall enter into it, and defile it.

23 ¶ Make a ^gchain: for the land is full of the ^hjudgment of blood, and the city is full of cruelty.

24 Wherefore I will bring the most wicked of the heathen, and they shall possess their houses: I will also make the pomp of the mighty to cease, and their ⁱholy places shall be defiled.

25 When destruction cometh, they shall seek peace, and shall not have it.

26 Calamity shall come upon calamity, and rumor shall be upon rumor: then shall they seek a vision of the Prophet: but the Law shall perish from the Priest, and counsel from the Ancient.

27 The king shall mourn, and the prince shall be clothed with desolation, and the hands of the people in the land shall be troubled: I will do unto them according to their ways, and according to their judgments will I judge them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

and the Elders of Judah sat before me, the hand of the Lord God fell there upon me.

2 Then I beheld, and lo, there was a likeness, as the appearance of ¹fire, to look to, from his loins downward, and from his loins upward, as the appearance of brightness, and like unto amber.

3 And he stretched out the likeness of an hand, and took me by an hairy lock of mine head, and the Spirit lifted me up between the earth and the heaven, and brought me ¹by a Divine ²vision to Jerusalem, into the entry of the inner ³gate that lieth toward the North, where remained the idol of ⁴indignation, which provoked indignation.

4 And behold, the glory of the God of Israel was there according to the vision, that I saw ¹in the field.

5 Then said he unto me, Son of man, lift up thine eyes now toward the North. So I lifted up mine eyes toward the North, and behold, Northward, at the gate of the ¹altar, this idol of indignation was in the entry.

6 He said furthermore unto me, Son of man, seest thou not what they do? even the great abominations that the house of Israel commiteth here to cause me to depart from ¹my Sanctuary? but yet turn thee and thou shalt see greater abominations.

7 And he caused me to enter at the gate of the court: and when I looked, behold, an hole was in the wall.

8 Then said he unto me, Son of man, dig now in the wall. And when I had dug in the wall, behold, there was a door.

9 And he said unto me, Go in, and behold the wicked abominations that they do here.

10 So I went in, and saw, and behold, there was every similitude of creeping things, and ¹abominable beasts, and all the idols of the house of Israel painted upon the wall round about.

11 And there stood before them seventy ¹men of the Ancients of the house of Israel, and in the midst of them stood Jaazaniah, the son of Shaphan, with every man his censor in his hand, and the vapor of the incense went up like ²a cloud.

15 Then said he unto me, Hast thou seen this, O son of man? Turn thee again, and thou shalt see greater abominations than these.

17 Then he said unto me, Hast thou seen this, O son of man? Is it a small thing to the house of Judah to commit these abominations which they do here? for they have filled the land with cruelty, and have returned to provoke me: and lo, they have cast out ¹stink before their noses.

7 And he said unto them, Defile the house, and fill the courts with the slain, then go forth: and they went out and slew them in the city.

8 Now when they had slain them, and I had escaped, I fell down upon my face, and cried, saying, ¹Ah Lord God, wilt thou destroy all the residue of Israel, in pouring out thy wrath upon Jerusalem?

3 Now the Cherubims stood upon the right side of the house, when the man went in, and the cloud filled the inner court.

4 Then the glory of the Lord ¹went up from the Cherub, and stood over the door of the house, and the house was filled with the cloud, and the court was filled with the brightness of the Lord's glory.

5 And the ¹sound of the Cherubims' wings was heard into the utter court, as the voice of the Almighty God, when he speaketh.

6 And when he had commanded the man clothed with linen, saying, Take fire from between the wheels, and from between the Cherubims, then he went in and stood beside the wheel.

7 And one Cherub stretched forth his hand from between the Cherubims unto the fire that was between the Cherubims, and took thereof, and put it into the hands of him that was clothed with linen: who took it and went out.

8 And there appeared in the Cherubims, the likeness of a man's hand under their wings.

9 And when I looked up, behold, four wheels were beside the Cherubims, one wheel by one Cherub, and another wheel by another Cherub, and the appearance of the wheels was as the color of a ¹Chrysolite stone.

10 And their appearance (for they were all four of one fashion) was as if one wheel had been in another wheel.

11 When they went forth, they went upon their four sides, and they returned not as they went: but to the place whither the first went, they went after it, and they ¹turned not as they went.

12 And their whole body, and their ¹rings, and their hands, and their wings, and the wheels were full of eyes round about, even in the same four wheels.

13 And the Cherub cried to these wheels in mine hearing, saying, O wheel.

15 And the Cherubims were lifted up: ^bthis is the beast that I saw at the river Chebar.

16 And when the Cherubims went, the wheels went by them: and when the Cherubims lifted up their wings to mount up from the earth, the same wheels also turned not from beside them.

17 When the Cherubims stood, they stood: and when they were lifted up, they lifted themselves up also: for the ¹spirit of the beast was in them.

18 ¹Then the glory of the Lord departed from above the door of the house, and stood upon the Cherubims.

19 And the Cherubims lifted up their wings and mounted up from the earth in my sight: when they went out, the wheels also were beside them: and everyone stood at the entry of the gate of the Lord's House at the East side, and the glory of the God of Israel was upon them on high.

20 ^cThis is the ¹beast that I saw under the God of Israel by the river Chebar, and I knew that they were the Cherubims.

21 Every one had four faces, and every one four wings, and the likeness of man's hands was under their wings.

22 And the likeness of their faces was the selfsame faces, which I saw by the river Chebar, and the appearance of the Cherubims was the selfsame, and they went every one straight forward.

11 ¹ Who they were that seduced the people of Israel. 5 Against these he prophesieth, showing them how they shall be dispersed abroad. 19 The renewing of the heart cometh of God. 21 He threateneth them that lean unto their own counsels.

1 Moreover, the Spirit lifted me up, and brought me unto the East gate of the Lord's house, which lieth Eastward, and behold, at the entry of the gate were five and twenty men: among whom I saw Jaazaniah the son of Azzur, and Pelatiah the son of Benaiah, the princes of the people.

2 Then said he unto me, Son of man, these are the men that imagine mischief, and devise wicked counsel in this city.

3 For they say, ¹It is not near, let us build houses: this city is the ²caldron, and we be the flesh.

5 And the Spirit of the Lord fell upon me, and said unto me, Speak, Thus saith the Lord, O ye house of Israel, this have ye said, and I know that which riseth up of your minds.

6 Many have ye murdered in this city, and ye have filled the streets thereof with the slain.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, They that ye have slain, and have laid in the midst of it, they are ¹the flesh, and this city is the caldron, but I will bring you forth of the midst of it.

8 Ye have feared the sword, and I will bring a sword upon you, saith the Lord God.

9 And I will bring you out of the midst thereof, and deliver you into ¹the hands of strangers, and will execute judgments among you.

10 Ye shall fall by the sword, and I will judge you in the border of ¹Israel, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

11 This city shall not be your caldron, neither shall ye be the flesh in the midst thereof, but I will judge you in the border of Israel.

12 And ye shall know that I am the Lord: for ye have not walked in my statutes, neither executed my judgments, but have done after the manners of the heathen that are round about you.

13 ¶ And when I prophesied, Pelatiah the son of ¹Benaiah died: then fell I down upon my face, and cried with a loud voice, and said, Ah Lord God, wilt thou then utterly destroy all the remnant of Israel?

14 Again the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

15 Son of man, thy ¹brethren, even thy brethren, the men of thy kindred, and all the house of Israel, wholly are they unto whom the inhabitants of Jerusalem have said, Depart ye far from the Lord: for the land is given us in possession.

16 Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord God, Although I have cast them far off among the heathen, and although I have scattered them among the countries, yet will I be to them as a little ¹Sanctuary in the countries where they shall come.

21 But upon them, whose heart is toward their idols, and whose affection goeth after their abominations, I will lay their way upon their own heads saith the Lord God.

22 ¶ Then did the Cherubims lift up their wings, and the wheels beside them, and the glory of the God of Israel was upon them on high.

23 And the glory of the Lord went up from the midst of the city, and stood upon the mountain which is toward the East side of the city.

24 Afterward the Spirit took me up, and brought me in a vision by the Spirit of God into Chaldea to them that were led away captives: so the vision that I had seen, went up from me.

25 Then I declared unto them that were ¹led away captives, all the things that the Lord had showed me.

12 ¹ The parable of the captivity. 18 Another parable whereby the distress of hunger and thirst is signified.

1 The word of the Lord also came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, thou dwellest in the midst of a rebellious house, which have eyes to see, and see ¹not: they have ears to hear, and hear not: for they are a rebellious house.

3 Therefore thou son of man, ¹prepare thy stuff to go into captivity, and go forth by day in their sight: and thou shalt pass from thy place to another place in their sight, if it be possible that they may consider it: for they are a rebellious house.

4 Then shalt thou bring forth thy stuff by day in their sight, as the stuff of him that goeth into captivity: and thou shalt go forth at even in their sight, as they that go forth into captivity.

11:7 ¹ Contrary to their vain confidence he sheweth in what sense the city is the caldron: that is, because of the dead bodies that have been murdered therein, and so lie as flesh in the caldron.

7 And as I was commanded, so I brought forth my stuff by day, as the stuff of one that goeth into captivity: and by night I dug through the wall with mine hand, and brought it forth in the dark, and I bore it upon my shoulder in their sight.

8 And in the morning came the word of the Lord unto me, saying,

9 Son of man, hath not the house of Israel, the rebellious house, said unto thee, What ¹doest thou?

10 But say thou unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, This ¹burden concerneth the chief in Jerusalem, and all the house of Israel that are among them.

11 Say, I am your sign: like as I have done, so shall it be done unto them: they shall go into bondage and captivity.

12 And the chiefest that is among them, shall bear upon his shoulder in the dark, and shall go forth: they shall dig through the wall, to carry out thereby: he shall cover his face, that he see not the ground with his eyes.

13 My net also will I spread upon ¹him, and he shall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel to the land of the Chaldeans, yet shall he not see it, though he shall die there.

14 And I will scatter toward every wind all that are about him to help him, and all his garrisons, and I will draw out the sword after them.

15 And they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall scatter them among the nations, and disperse them in the countries.

16 But I will leave a ¹little number of them from the sword, from the famine, and from the pestilence, that they may declare all these abominations among the heathen, where they come, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

20 And the cities that are inhabited, shall be left void, and the land shall be desolate, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

21 ¶ And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

22 Son of man, what is that proverb that you have in the land of Israel, saying, The days ¹are prolonged, and all visions ²fail?

23 Tell them therefore, Thus saith the Lord God, I will make this proverb to cease, and they shall no more use it as a proverb in Israel: but say unto them, The days are at hand, and the effect of every vision.

24 For no vision shall be anymore in vain, neither shall there be any flattering divination within the house of Israel.

25 For I am the Lord: I will speak, and that thing that I shall speak, shall come to pass: it shall be no more prolonged: for in your days, O rebellious house, will I say the thing, and will perform it, saith the Lord God.

26 Again the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

27 Son of man, behold, they of the house of Israel say, The vision that he seeth, is for ¹many days to come, and he prophesieth of the times that are far off.

13 ² The word of the Lord against false prophets, which teach the people the counsels of their own hearts.

1 And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, prophesy against the prophets of ^aIsrael, that prophesy, and say thou unto them, that prophesy out of their ¹own hearts, Hear the word of the Lord.

3 Thus saith the Lord God, Woe unto the foolish Prophets that follow their own spirit, and have seen nothing.

4 O Israel, thy Prophets are like the foxes ¹in the 12:6 ¹ That as thou doest, so shall they do, and therefore in thee they shall see their own plague and punishment.

12:9 ¹ Do not they deride thy doings?

12:10 ¹ Or, prophecy.

12:13 ¹ When the king shall think to escape by fleeing, I will take him in my net, as Ezek. 17:20 and 32:3.

12:16 ¹ Which should bear his Name, and should be his Church, read Ezek. 11:16.

12:22 ¹ Because they did not immediately see the prophecies accomplished, they contemned them as though they should never be fulfilled.

² Or, take none effect.

12:27 ¹ That is, it shall not come to pass in our days, and therefore we care not for it: thus the wicked ever abuse God's patience and benignity.

13:2 ¹ After their own fantasy, and not as having the revelation of the Lord, Jer. 23:16.

13:4 ¹ Watching to destroy the vineyard.

5 ¹Ye have not risen up in the gaps, neither made up the hedge for the house of Israel, to stand in the battle in the day of the Lord.

6 They have seen vanity, and lying divination, saying, The Lord saith it, and the Lord hath not sent them: and they have made others to hope that they would confirm the word of their prophecy.

7 Have ye not seen a vain vision? and have ye not spoken a lying divination? ¹ye say, The Lord saith it, albeit I have not spoken.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because ye have spoken vanity and have seen lies, therefore behold, I am against you, saith the Lord God,

9 And mine hand shall be upon the Prophets that see vanity, and divine lies: they shall not be in the assembly of my people, neither shall they be written in the ¹writing of the house of Israel, neither shall they enter into the land of Israel: and ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

10 And therefore, because they have deceived my people, saying, ¹Peace, and there was no peace: and one built up a ²wall, and behold, the others daubed it with untempered mortar, 11 Say unto them which daub it with untempered mortar, that it shall fall: for there shall come a great shower, and I will send hailstones, which shall cause it to fall, and a stormy wind shall break it.

12 Lo, when the wall is fallen, shall it not be said unto you, Where is the daubing wherewith ye have daubed it?

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will cause a stormy wind to break forth in my wrath, and a great shower shall be in mine anger, and hailstones in mine indignation to consume it.

14 So I will destroy the wall that ye have daubed with untempered mortar, and bring it down to the ground, so that the foundation thereof shall be discovered, and it shall fall, and ye shall be consumed in the midst thereof, and ye shall know, that I am the Lord.

15 Thus will I accomplish my wrath upon the wall, and upon them that have daubed it with ¹untempered mortar, and will say unto you, The wall is no more, neither the daubers thereof, 16 To wit, the Prophets of Israel, which prophesy upon Jerusalem, and see visions of peace for it, and there is no peace, saith the Lord God.

17 Likewise thou son of man, set thy face against the daughters of thy people, which prophesy out of their own heart: and prophesy thou against them, and say,

18 Thus saith the Lord God, Woe unto the women that sow ¹pillows under all armholes, and make veils upon the head of everyone that standeth up, to hunt souls: will ye hunt the souls of my people, and will ye give life to the souls that come unto you?

19 And will ye pollute me among my people for handfuls of ¹barley, and for pieces of bread to slay the souls of them that should not die, and ²to give life to the souls that should not live, in lying to my people, that hear your lies?

20 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will have to do with your pillows, wherewith ye hunt the ¹souls to make them to flee, and I will tear them from your arms, and will let the souls go, even the souls that ye hunt to make them to flee.

21 Your veils also will I tear, and deliver my people out of your hand, and they shall be no more in your hands to be hunted, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

22 Because with your lies ye have made the heart of the ¹righteous sad, whom I have not made sad, and strengthened the hands of the wicked, that he should not return from his wicked way, by promising him life,

23 Therefore ye shall see no more vanity, nor divine divinations: for I will deliver my people out of your hand, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

14 ⁴The Lord sendeth false Prophets for the ingratitude of the people. 22 He reserveth a small portion for his Church.

1 Then came certain of the Elders of Israel unto 13:5 ¹ He speaketh to the governors, and true ministers that should have resisted them.

13:7 ¹ Ye promised peace to this people, and now ye see their destruction, so that it is manifest, that ye are false prophets.

13:9 ¹ That is, in the book of life, wherein the true Israelites are written.

13:10 ¹ Read Jer. 6:14.

² Whereas the true Prophets prophesied the destruction of the city to bring the people to repentance, the false prophets spake the contrary, and flattered them in their vanities, so that what one false prophet said (which is here called the building of the wall) another false prophet would affirm, though he had neither occasion nor good ground to bear him.

13:15 ¹ Whereby is meant whatsoever man of himself setteth forth under the authority of God's word.

13:18 ¹ These superstitious women for lucre would prophesy and tell every man his fortune, giving them pillows to lean upon, and kerchiefs to cover their heads, to the intent they might the more allure them and bewitch them.

13:19 ¹ Will ye make my word to serve your bellies?

² These sorcerers made the people believe that they could preserve life or destroy it, and that it should come to everyone according as they prophesied.

13:20 ¹ That is, to cause them to perish, and that they should depart from the body.

13:22 ¹ By threatening them that were godly, and upholding the wicked.

me, and ¹sat before me.

2 And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

3 Son of man, these men have set up their idols in their ¹heart, and put the stumbling block of their iniquity before their face: should I, being required, answer them?

4 Therefore speak unto them, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Every man of the house of Israel that setteth up his idols in his heart, and putteth the stumbling block of his iniquity before his face, and cometh to the ¹Prophet, I the Lord will answer him that cometh, according to the multitude ²of his idols:

5 That ¹I may take the house of Israel in their own heart, because they are all departed from me through their idols.

6 Therefore say unto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Return, and withdraw yourselves, and turn your faces from your idols, and turn your faces from all your abominations.

7 For everyone of the house of Israel, or of the stranger that sojourneth in Israel, which departeth from me, and setteth up his idols in his heart, and putteth the stumbling block of his iniquity before his face, and cometh to a Prophet, for to inquire of him for me, I the Lord will answer him ¹for myself,

8 And I will set my face against that man, and will make him an example and proverb, and I will cut him off from the midst of my people, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

9 And if the Prophet be ¹deceived, when he hath spoken a thing, I the Lord have deceived that Prophet, and I will stretch out mine hand upon him, and will destroy him from the midst of my people of Israel.

10 And they shall bear their punishment: the punishment of the Prophet shall be even as the punishment of him that asketh,

11 That the house of ¹Israel may go no more astray from me, neither be polluted anymore with all their transgressions, but that they may be my people, and I may be their God, saith the Lord God.

12 ¶ The word of the Lord came again unto me, saying,

13 Son of man, when the land sinneth against me by committing a trespass, then will I stretch out mine hand upon it, ¹and will break the staff of the bread thereof, and will send famine upon it, and I will destroy man and beast forth of it.

14 Though these three men ¹Noah, Daniel, and Job were among them, they should deliver but their own souls by their ²righteousness, saith the Lord God.

15 If I bring noisome beasts into the land and they spoil it, so that it be desolate, that no man may pass through, because of beasts,

16 Though these three men were in the midst thereof, As I live, saith the Lord God, they shall save neither sons nor daughters: they only shall be delivered, but the land shall be waste.

17 Or if I bring a sword upon this land, and say, Sword, go through the land, so that I destroy man and beast out of it, 18 Though these three men were in the midst thereof, As I live, saith the Lord God, they shall deliver neither sons nor daughters, but they only shall be delivered themselves.

19 Or if I send a pestilence into this land, and pour out my wrath upon it in blood, to destroy out of it man and beast,

20 And though Noah, Daniel and Job were in the midst of it, As I live, saith the Lord God, they shall deliver neither son nor daughter: they shall but deliver their own souls by their righteousness.

21 For thus saith the Lord God, How much more when I send my ^afour sore judgments upon Jerusalem, even the sword, and famine, and the noisome beast, and pestilence, to destroy man and beast out of it?

22 Yet behold, therein shall be left a ¹remnant of them that shall be carried away both sons and 14:1 ¹ He sheweth the hypocrisy of the idolaters, who will dissemble to hear the Prophets of God, though in their heart they follow nothing less than their admonitions, and also how by one means or other God doth discover them.

14:3 ¹ They are not only idolaters in heart, but also worship their filthy idols openly, which lead them in blindness, and cause them to stumble, and cast them out of God's favor, so that he will not hear them when they call unto him, read Jer. 10:15.

14:4 ¹ To inquire of things which the Lord hath appointed to come to pass.

² As his abomination hath deserved: that is, he shall be led with lies according as he delighted therein, 2 Thess. 2:10.

14:5 ¹ That is, convince them by their own conscience.

14:7 ¹ Or, by myself.

14:9 ¹ The Prophet declareth that God for man's ingratitude raiseth up false prophets to seduce them that delight in lies rather than in the truth of God, and thus he punisheth sin by sin, 1 Kings 22:20, 22, and destroyeth as well those Prophets as that people.

14:11 ¹ Thus God's judgments against the wicked, are admonitions to the godly, to cleave unto the Lord, and not to defile themselves with like abominations.

14:13 ¹ Read Ezek. 4:16 and 5:17; Isa. 3:1.

14:14 ¹ Though Noah and Job were now alive, which in their time were most godly men (for at this time Daniel was in captivity with Ezekiel) and so these three together should pray for this wicked people, yet would I not hear them, read Jer. 15:1.

² Meaning, that a very few (which he calleth the remnant, verse 22) should escape these plagues, whom God hath sanctified and made righteous, so that this righteousness is a sign that they are the Church of God, whom he would preserve for his own sake.

14:22 ¹ Read Ezek. 5:3.

daughters: behold, they shall come forth unto you, and ye shall see their way, and their enterprises: and ye shall be comforted, concerning the evil that I have brought upon Jerusalem, even concerning all that I have brought upon it.

23 And they shall comfort you, when ye see their way and their enterprises: and ye shall know, that I have not done without cause all that I have done in it, saith the Lord God.

15 2 As the unprofitable wood of the vine tree is cast into the fire, so Jerusalem shall be burnt.

1 And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, what cometh of the vine tree above all other trees? and of the vine branch, which is among the ¹trees of the forest?

3 Shall wood be taken thereof to do any work? or will men take a pin of it to hang any vessel thereon?

4 Behold, it is cast in the fire to be consumed: the fire consumeth both the ends of it, and the midst of it is burnt. Is it meet for any work?

5 Behold, when it was whole, it was meet for no work: how much less shall it be meet for any work, when the fire hath consumed it, and it is burnt?

6 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, as the vine tree, that is among the trees of the forest, which I have given to the fire to be consumed, so will I give the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

7 And I will set my face against them: they shall go out from one ¹fire, and another fire shall consume them: and ye shall know, that I am the Lord, when I set my face against them,

8 And when I make the land waste, because they have greatly offended, saith the Lord God.

16 The Prophet declared the benefits of God toward Jerusalem. 15 Their unkindness. 46 He justifieth the wickedness of other people in comparison of the sins of Jerusalem. 49 The cause of the abominations, into which the Sodomites fell. 60 Mercy is promised to the repentant.

1 Again, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, cause Jerusalem to know her abominations,

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God unto Jerusalem, Thine habitation and thy kindred is of the land ¹of Canaan: thy father was an Amorite, and thy mother an Hittite.

4 And in thy nativity when thou wast ¹born, thy navel was not cut: thou wast not washed in water to soften thee: thou wast not salted with salt, nor swaddled in clouts.

5 None eye pitied thee to do any of these unto thee, for to have compassion upon thee, but thou wast cast out in the open field to the contempt of thy person in the day that thou wast born.

6 And when I passed by thee, I saw thee polluted in thine ¹own blood, and I said unto thee, when thou wast in thy blood, Thou shalt live: even when thou wast in thy blood, I said unto thee, Thou shalt live.

7 I have caused thee to multiply as the bud of the field, and thou hast increased and waxen great, and thou hast gotten excellent ornaments: thy breasts are fashioned, thine hair is grown, whereas thou wast naked and bare.

8 Now when I passed by thee, and looked upon thee, behold, thy time was as the time of love, and I spread my skirts over thee, and covered ¹thy filthiness: yea, I swear unto thee, and entered into a covenant with ²thee, saith the Lord God, and thou becamest mine.

9 Then washed I thee with ¹water: yea, I washed away thy blood from thee, and I ²anointed thee with oil.

10 I clothed thee also with brodered work, and shod thee with badgers' skin, and I girded thee about with fine linen, and I covered thee with silk.

11 I decked thee also with ornaments, and I put bracelets upon thine hands, and a chain on thy neck.

12 And I put a frontlet upon thy face, and earrings in thine ears, and a beautiful ¹crown upon thine head.

13 Thus wast thou decked with gold and silver, and thy raiment was of fine linen, and silk, and brodered work: thou didst eat fine flour, and honey and oil, and thou wast very beautiful, and 15:2 ¹ Which brings forth no fruit, no more than the other trees of the forest do: meaning that if Jerusalem, which bore the name of his Church, did not bring forth fruit it would be utterly destroyed.

15:7 ¹ Though they escape one danger, yet another will take them.

16:3 ¹ Thou boastest to be of the seed of Abraham, but thou art degenerate and followest the abominations of the wicked Canaanites, as children do the manners of their fathers, Isa. 1:4 and 57:3.

16:4 ¹ When I first brought thee out of Egypt, and planted thee in this land to be my Church.

16:6 ¹ Being thus in thy filthiness and forsaken of all men, I took thee and gave thee life: whereby is meant that before God wash his Church, and give life, there is nothing but filthiness and death.

16:8 ¹ These words, as blood, pollution, nakedness, and filthiness, are oftentimes repeated to beat down their pride, and to cause them to consider what they were before God received them to mercy, favored them and covered their shame.

² That thou shouldst be a chaste wife unto me, and that I should maintain thee and endure thee with all graces.

16:9 ¹ I washed away thy sins.

² I sanctified thee with mine holy Spirit.

16:12 ¹ Hereby he sheweth how he saved his Church, enriched it, and gave it power and dominion to reign.

thou didst grow up into a kingdom.

14 And thy name was spread among the heathen for thy beauty: for it was perfect through my ¹beauty which I had set upon thee, saith the Lord God.

15 Now thou didst ¹trust in thine own beauty, and playedst the harlot, because of thy renown, and hast poured out ²thy fornications on everyone that passed by, thy desire was to him.

16 And thou didst take thy garments, and deckedst thine high places with divers colors, ¹and playedst the harlot thereupon: the like things shall not come, neither hath any done so.

17 Thou hast also taken thy fair jewels made of my gold and of my silver, which I had given thee, and ¹madest to thyself images of men, and didst commit whoredom with them,

18 And tookest thy brodered garments, and coveredst them: and thou hast set mine oil and my perfume before them.

19 My meat also, which I gave thee, as fine flour, oil and honey, wherewith I fed thee, thou hast even set it before them for a sweet savor: thus it was, saith the Lord God.

20 Moreover thou hast taken thy sons and thy daughters, whom thou hast borne unto me, and these hast thou sacrificed unto them, to ¹be devoured: is this thy whoredom a small matter?

21 That thou hast slain my children, and delivered them to cause them to pass through fire for them?

22 And in all thine abominations and whoredoms thou hast not remembered the days of thy youth, when thou wast naked and bare, and wast polluted in thy blood.

23 And beside all thy wickedness (woe, woe unto thee, saith the Lord God)

24 Thou hast also built unto thee an high place, and hast made thee an high place in every street.

25 Thou hast built thine high place at every ¹corner of the way, and hast made thy beauty to be abhorred: thou hast opened thy feet to everyone that passed by, and multiplied thy whoredom.

26 Thou hast also committed fornication with the ¹Egyptians thy neighbors, which have great members, and hast increased thy whoredom, to provoke me.

27 Behold, therefore I did stretch out mine hand over thee, and will diminish thine ordinary, and deliver thee unto the will of them that hate thee, even to the ¹daughters of the Philistines, which are ashamed of thy wicked way.

28 Thou hast played the whore also with the Assyrians, because thou wast insatiable: yea, thou hast played the harlot with them, and yet couldest not be satisfied.

29 Thou hast moreover multiplied thy fornication from the land of Canaan unto Chaldea, and yet thou wast not satisfied herewith.

30 How weak is thine heart, saith the Lord God, seeing thou doest all these things, even the work of a ¹presumptuous whorish woman?

31 In that thou buildest thine high place in the corner of every way, and makest thine high place in every street, and hast not been as an harlot ¹that despiseth a reward,

32 But as a wife that playeth the harlot, and taketh others for her husband:

33 They give gifts to all other whores, but thou givest gifts unto all thy lovers, and rewardest them that they may come unto thee on every side for thy fornication.

34 And the contrary is in thee from other women in thy fornications, neither the like fornication shall be after thee: for in that thou givest a reward and no reward is given unto thee, therefore thou art contrary.

35 Wherefore, O harlot, hear the word of the Lord.

36 Thus saith the Lord God, Because thy ¹shame was poured out, and thy filthiness discovered through thy fornications with thy lovers, and with all the idols of thine abominations, and by the blood of thy children, which thou didst offer unto them,

37 Behold, therefore I will gather all ¹thy lovers, with whom thou hast taken pleasure, and all them that thou hast loved, with all them that thou hast hated: I will even gather them round about against thee, and will discover thy filthiness unto them, that they may see all thy filthiness.

38 And I will judge thee after the manner of them

16:14 ¹ He declareth wherein the dignity of Jerusalem stood: to wit, in that that the Lord gave them of his beauty and excellency.

16:15 ¹ In abusing my gifts, and in putting thy confidence in thine own wisdom and dignity, which were the occasions of thine idolatry.

² There was none idolatry so vile wherewith thou didst not pollute thyself.

16:16 ¹ This declareth how the idolaters put their chief delight in those things, which please the eyes and outward senses.

16:17 ¹ Thou hast converted my vessels and instruments, which I gave thee to serve me with, to the use of thine idols.

16:20 ¹ Meaning, by fire: read Lev. 18:21; 2 Kings 23:10.

16:25 ¹ Or, head.

16:26 ¹ He noteth the great impiety of this people, who first falling from God to seek help at strange nations, did also at length embrace their idolatry, thinking thereby to make their amity more strong.

16:27 ¹ Or, cities.

16:30 ¹ Or, that will bear rule.

16:31 ¹ Meaning, that some harlots contemn small rewards, but no lovers gave a reward to Israel, but they gave to all others: signifying that the idolaters bestow all their substance, which they receive of God for his glory, to serve their vile abominations.

16:36 ¹ Or, ... parts.

16:37 ¹ Egyptians, Assyrians and Chaldeans, whom thou tookest to be thy lovers, shall come and destroy thee, Ezek. 23:9.

that are ¹harlots, and of them that shed blood, and I will give thee the blood of wrath, and jealousy.

39 I will also give thee into their hands, and they shall destroy thine high place, and shall break down thine high places: they shall strip thee also out of thy clothes, and shall take thy fair jewels, and leave thee naked and bare.

40 They shall also bring up a company against thee, and they shall stone thee with stones, and thrust thee through with their swords.

41 And they ^ashall burn up thine houses with fire, and execute judgments upon thee in the sight of many women: and I will cause thee to cease from playing the harlot, and thou shalt give no reward anymore.

42 So will I make my wrath toward thee to rest, and my ¹jealousy shall depart from thee, and I will cease, and be no more angry.

43 Because thou hast not remembered the days of thy youth, but hast provoked me with all these things, behold, therefore I also have ¹brought thy way upon thy head, saith the Lord God: yet hast not thou had consideration of all thine abominations.

44 Behold, all that use proverbs, shall use this proverb against thee, saying, As is the mother, ¹so is her daughter.

45 Thou art thy mother's daughter, that hath cast off her husband and her children, and thou art the sister of thy ¹sisters, which forsook their husbands and their children: your mother is an Hittite, and your father an Amorite.

46 And thine elder sister is Samaria, and her ¹daughters, that dwell at thy left hand, and ²thy younger sister, that dwelleth at thy right hand, is Sodom, and her daughters.

47 Yet hast thou ¹not walked after their ways, nor done after their abominations: but as it had been a very little thing, thou wast corrupted more than they in all thy ways.

48 As I live, saith the Lord God, Sodom thy sister hath not done, neither she nor her daughters, as thou hast done and thy daughters.

CHAPTER 16

49 Behold, this was the iniquity of thy sister Sodom, ¹pride, fullness of bread and abundance of idleness was in her, and in her daughters: neither did she strengthen the hand of the poor and needy.

50 But they were haughty, and committed abomination before me: therefore I took them away as pleased me.

51 Neither ¹hath Samaria committed half of thy sins, but thou hast exceeded them in thine abominations, and hast ²justified thy sisters in all thine abominations which thou hast done.

52 Therefore thou which hast justified thy sisters, bear thine own shame for thy sins, that thou hast committed more abominable than they which are more righteous than thou art: be thou therefore confounded also, and bear thy shame, seeing that thou hast justified thy sisters.

53 Therefore I will bring again ¹their captivity, with the captivity of Sodom, and her daughters, and with the captivity of Samaria, and her daughters: even the captivity of thy captives in the midst of them,

54 That thou mayest bear thine own shame, and mayest be confounded in all that thou hast done, in that thou hast ¹comforted them.

55 And thy sister Sodom and her daughters shall return to their former state: Samaria also and her daughters shall return to their former state: ¹when thou and thy daughters shall return to your former state.

56 For thy sister Sodom ¹was not heard of ²by thy report in the day of thy pride, 57 Before thy wickedness was ¹discovered, as in that same time of the reproach of the daughters of Aram, and of all the daughters of the Philistines round about ²her, which despise thee on all sides.

58 Thou hast borne therefore thy wickedness and thine abomination, saith the Lord.

59 For thus saith the Lord God, I might even deal with thee, as thou hast done: when thou didst despise the ¹oath, in breaking the covenant.

16:38 ¹ I will judge thee to death, as the adulterers and murderers.

16:42 ¹ I will utterly destroy thee, and so my jealousy shall cease.

16:43 ¹ I have punished thy faults, but thou wouldest not repent.

16:44 ¹ As were the Canaanites, and the Hittites and others your predecessors, so are you their successors.

16:45 ¹ That is, of Samaria and Sodom.

16:46 ¹ That is, her cities.

² Hebrew, thy sister younger than thou.

16:47 ¹ But done far worse.

16:49 ¹ He allegeth these four vices, pride, excess, idleness and contempt of the poor, as four principal causes of such abomination, wherefore they were so horribly punished, Gen. 19:24.

16:51 ¹ Which worshipped the calves in Bethel and Dan.

² Thou art so wicked, that in respect of thee Sodom and Samaria were just.

16:53 ¹ This he speaketh in comparison, seeing that he would restore Jerusalem when Sodom should be restored, that is, never: and this is meant of the greatest part of the Jews.

16:54 ¹ In that thou hast showed thyself worse than they and yet thoughtest to escape punishment.

16:55 ¹ Meaning, that it should never come to pass.

16:56 ¹ Hebrew, was not a rumor in thy mouth.

² Thou wouldest not call her punishment to mind when thou wast aloft, to learn by her example to fear my judgments.

16:57 ¹ That is, till thou wast brought under by the Syrians and Philistines, 2 Chron. 28:19.

² Which joined with the Syrians, or compassed about Jerusalem.

16:59 ¹ When thou brakest the covenant which was made between thee and me, as verse 8.

60 Nevertheless, I will ¹remember my covenant made with thee in the days of thy youth, and I will confirm unto thee an everlasting Covenant.

61 Then thou shalt remember thy ways, and be ashamed, when thou shalt receive ¹thy sisters, both thy elder and thy younger, and I will give them unto thee for daughters, but not ²by thy covenant.

62 And I will establish my covenant with thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord, 63 That thou mayest remember, and be ¹ashamed, and never open thy mouth anymore: because of thy shame when I am pacified toward thee, for all that thou hast done, saith the Lord God.

17 The parable of the two Eagles.

1 And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, put forth a parable and speak a proverb unto the house of Israel,

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, The great ¹eagle with great wings and long wings, and full of feathers, which had diverse colors, came unto Lebanon, and took the highest branch of the cedar,

4 And brake off the top of his twig, and carried it into the land of ¹merchants, and set it in a city of merchants.

5 He took also of the ¹seed of the land, and planted it in a fruitful ground: he placed it by great waters, and set it as a willow tree.

6 And it budded up, and was like ¹a spreading vine of ²low stature, whose branches turned toward it, and the roots thereof were under it: so it became a vine, and it brought forth branches, and shot forth buds.

7 There was also ¹another great Eagle with great wings and many feathers, and behold, this vine did turn her roots toward it, and spread forth her branches toward it, that she might water it by the trenches of her plantation.

8 It was planted in a good soil by great ¹waters, that it should bring forth branches, and bear fruit, and be an excellent vine.

9 Say thou, Thus saith the Lord God, Shall it prosper? shall ¹he not pull up the roots thereof, and destroy the fruit thereof, and cause them to dry? all the leaves of her bud shall wither without great power, or many people, to pluck it up by the roots thereof.

10 Behold, it was planted: but shall it prosper? shall it not be dried up, and wither? ¹when the East wind shall touch it, it shall wither in the trenches, where it grew.

11 Moreover, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

12 Say now to this rebellious house, Know ye not what these things mean? tell them, behold, the king of Babel is come to Jerusalem, and hath taken ¹the king thereof and the princes thereof, and led them with him to Babel,

13 And hath taken one of the King's seed, and made a covenant with him, and hath taken ¹an oath of him: he hath also taken the princes of the land, 14 That the kingdom might be in subjection, and not lift itself up, but keep their covenant, and stand to it.

15 But he rebelled against him, and sent his ambassadors into Egypt, that they might give him horses, and much people: shall he prosper? shall he escape that doeth such things? or shall he break the covenant, and be delivered?

16 As I live, saith the Lord God, he shall die in the midst of Babel, in the place of the king that had made him king, whose oath he despised, and whose covenant made with him, he brake.

17 Neither shall Pharaoh with his mighty host, and great multitude of people, maintain him in the war, when they have cast up mounts, and built ramparts to destroy many persons.

18 For he hath despised the oath, and broken the covenant (yet lo, he had given ¹his hand) because he hath done all these things, he shall not escape.

21 And all that flee from him with all his host, shall fall by the sword, and they that remain shall be scattered toward all the winds: and ye shall know that I the Lord have spoken it.

22 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also take off the top¹ of this high cedar, and will set it, and cut off the ²top of the tender plant thereof, and I will plant it upon an high mountain and great.

23 Even in the high mountain of Israel will I plant it: and it shall bring forth boughs, and bear fruit, and be an excellent cedar, and under it shall remain all birds, and every ¹fowl shall dwell in the shadow of the branches thereof.

23 ¹Have I any desire that the wicked should die, saith the Lord God? ²or shall he not live, if he return from his ways?

24 But if the righteous turn away from his righteousness, and commit iniquity, and do according to all the abominations that the wicked man doeth, shall he live? all his ¹righteousness that he hath done, shall not be mentioned: but in his transgression that he hath committed, and in his sin that he hath sinned, in them shall he die.

25 Yet ye say, The way of the Lord is not ¹equal: hear now, O house of Israel. Is not my way equal? or are not your ways unequal?

26 For when a righteous man turneth away from his righteousness, and commiteth iniquity, he shall even die for the same, he shall even die for his iniquity that he hath done.

27 Again, when the wicked turneth away from his wickedness that he hath committed, and doeth that which is lawful and right, he shall save his soul alive.

28 Because he considereth, and turneth away from all his transgressions that he hath committed, he shall surely live, and shall not die.

17 Nevertheless, mine eye spared them, that I would not destroy them, neither would I consume them in the wilderness.

18 But I said unto their children in the wilder-

19:12 ¹ Meaning, that the Chaldeans should destroy them as the East wind doth the fruit of the vine.

19:14 ¹ Destruction is come by Zedekiah, who was the occasion of this rebellion.

20:1 ¹ Of the captivity of Jeconiah.

20:4 ¹ This declareth the great lenity and patience of God, which call-eth sinners to repentance before he condemns them.

20:5 ¹ I swear that I would be their God, which manner of oath was observed from all antiquity, where they used to lift up their hands toward the heaven, acknowledging God to be the author of truth, and the defender thereof, and also the Judge of the heart, wishing that he should take vengeance, if they concealed anything which they knew to be truth.

20:7 ¹ God had forbidden them to make mention of the idols, Exod. 23:13; Ps. 16:4.

20:8 ¹ Which thing declareth the wickedness of man's heart, which judge God's service by their eyes and outward senses.

20:9 ¹ God had ever this respect to his glory, that he would not have his Name evil spoken of among the Gentiles for the punishment that his people deserved, in confidence whereof the godly ever prayed, as Exod. 32:12; Num. 14:13.

20:14 ¹ Who might thereby take an occasion to blaspheme my Name and to accuse me of lack of ability, or else that I had sought a means to destroy them more commodiously.

20:16 ¹ That is, my true religion, which I had commanded them, and gave themselves to serve me according to their own fantasies.

ness, Walk ye not in the ordinances of your ¹fathers, neither observe their manners, nor defile yourselves with their idols.

19 I am the Lord your God: walk in my statutes, and keep my judgments and do them,

20 And sanctify my Sabbaths, and they shall be a sign between me and you, that ye may know that I am the Lord your God.

21 Notwithstanding the children rebelled against me: they walked not in my statutes, nor kept my judgments to do them, which if a man do, he shall live in them, but they polluted my Sabbaths: then I thought to pour out mine indignation upon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the wilderness.

22 Nevertheless, I withdrew mine hand and had respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them forth.

23 Yet I lifted up mine hand unto them in the wilderness, that I would scatter them among the heathen, and disperse them through the countries,

24 Because they had not executed my judgments, but had cast away my statutes, and had polluted my Sabbaths, and their eyes were after ¹their fathers' idols.

25 Wherefore I gave ¹them also statutes that were not good, and judgments, wherein they should not live.

26 And I polluted them in their own ¹gifts in that they caused to pass by the fire all that first openeth the womb, that I might destroy them, to the end that they might know that I am the Lord.

27 Therefore, son of man, speak unto the house of Israel and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Yet in this your fathers have blasphemed me, though they had before grievously transgressed against me.

28 ¹For when I had brought them into the land, for the which I lifted up mine hand to give it to them, then they saw every high hill, and all the thick trees, and they offered there their sacrifices, and there they presented their offering of provocation: there also they made their sweet savor, and poured out there their drink offerings.

29 Then I said unto them, What is the high place whereunto ye go? And the name thereof was called ¹Bamah unto this day.

30 Wherefore, say unto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye not polluted ¹after the manner of your fathers? and commit ye not whoredom after their abominations?

31 For when you offer your gifts, and make your sons to pass through the fire, you pollute yourselves with all your idols unto this day: shall I answer you when I am asked, O house of Israel? As I live, saith the Lord God, ¹I will not answer you when I am asked.

32 Neither shall that be done that cometh into your mind: for ye say, we will be as the heathen, and as the families of the countries, and serve wood, and ¹stone.

33 As I live, saith the Lord God, I will surely rule you with a mighty hand, and with a stretched out arm, and in my wrath poured out,

34 And will bring you from the people, and will gather you out of the countries, wherein ye are scattered, with a mighty hand, and with a stretched out arm, and in my wrath poured out,

35 And I will bring you into the ¹wilderness of the people, and there will I plead with you face to face.

36 Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wilderness of the land of Egypt, so will I plead with you, saith the Lord God.

37 And I will cause you to pass under the rod, and will bring you into the bond of the covenant.

38 And I will ¹choose out from among you the rebels, and them that transgress against me: I will bring them out of the land where they dwell, and they shall not enter into the land of Israel, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

20:18 ¹ Whereby the holy Ghost confuteth them that say that they will follow the religion and example of their fathers, and not measure their doings by God's word whether they be approvable thereby or no.

20:24 ¹ Meaning, that they set their delight upon them.

20:25 ¹ Because they would not obey my laws, I gave them up to themselves, that they should obey their own fantasies, as verse 39; Rom. 1:21, 24.

20:26 ¹ I condemned those things, and counted them as abominable, which they thought had been excellent, and to have declared most zeal, Luke 16:15, for that which God required, as most excellent, that they gave to their idols.

20:28 ¹ Not only in the wilderness, when I brought them out of Egypt, but since I placed them in this land: which declareth how prompt man's heart is to idolatry, seeing that by no admonitions he can be drawn back.

20:29 ¹ Which signifieth an high place, declaring that they vaunted themselves of their idolatry, and were not ashamed thereof, though God had commanded them expressly that they should have no altar lifted upon high by stairs, Exod. 20:26.

20:30 ¹ Hebrew, in the way.

20:31 ¹ He sheweth that the ingratitude of the people deserveth that God should cut them off, and that they should not have the comfort of his word.

20:32 ¹ He declareth that man of nature is wholly enemy unto God, and to his own salvation, and therefore God calleth him to the right way, partly by chastising, but chiefly by his mercy in forgiving his rebellion, and wickedness.

20:35 ¹ I will bring you among strange nations as into a wilderness, and there will visit you, and so call you to repentance, and then bring the godly home again, Isa. 65:9.

20:38 ¹ Signifying, that he will not burn the corn with the chaff, but choose out the wicked to punish them when he will spare his.

39 As for you, O house of Israel, thus saith the Lord God, ¹Go you, and serve everyone his idol, seeing that ye will not obey me, and pollute mine holy Name no more with your gifts, and with your idols.

40 For in mine holy mountain, even in the high mountain of Israel, saith the Lord God, there shall all the house of Israel, and all in the land serve me: there will I accept them, and there will I require your offerings, and the firstfruits of your oblations, with all your holy things.

41 I will accept your sweet savor, when I bring you from the people, and gather you out of the countries, wherein ye have been scattered, that I may be sanctified in you before the heathen.

42 And ye shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall bring you into the land of Israel, into the land for the which I lifted up mine hand to give it to your fathers.

43 And there shall ye remember your ways, and all your works, wherein ye have been defiled, and ye ¹shall judge yourselves worthy to be cut off, for all your evils, that ye have committed.

44 And ye shall know that I am the Lord, when I have respect unto you for my Name's sake, and not after your wicked ways, nor according to your corrupt works, O ye house of Israel, saith the Lord God.

45 ¶ Moreover, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

46 Son of man, Set thy face toward the way of Teman, and drop thy word toward ¹the South, and prophesy toward the forest of the field of the South,

47 And say to the forest of the South, Hear the word of the Lord: thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will kindle a fire in thee, and it shall devour all the ¹green wood in thee, and all the dry wood: the continual flame shall not be quenched, and every face from the South to the North shall be burnt therein.

48 And all flesh shall see, that I the Lord have kindled it, and it shall not be quenched. Then said I, Ah Lord God, they say of me, Doth not he speak ¹parables?

21 ³ He threateneth the sword and destruction to Jerusalem. ²⁵ He sheweth the fall of king Zed- ekiah. ²⁹ He is commanded to prophesy the destruction of the children of Ammon. ³⁰ The Lord threateneth to destroy Nebuchadnezzar.

1 The word of the Lord came to me again, saying,

2 Son of man, set thy face toward Jerusalem, ¹and drop thy word toward the holy places, and prophesy against the land of Israel,

3 And say to the land of Israel, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I come against thee, and will draw my sword out of his sheath, and cut off from thee both the ¹righteous and the wicked.

4 Seeing then that I will cut off from thee both the righteous and wicked, therefore shall my sword go out of his sheath against all flesh from the South to the ¹North,

5 That all flesh may know that I the Lord have drawn my sword out of his sheath, and it shall not return anymore.

6 Mourn therefore thou son of man, as in the pain of thy ¹reins, and mourn bitterly before them.

7 And if they say unto thee, Wherefore mournest thou? Then answer, Because ¹of the bruit: for it cometh, and every heart shall melt, and all hands shall be weak, and all minds shall faint, and all knees shall fall away as water: behold, it cometh, and shall be done, saith the Lord God.

8 ¶ Again, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

9 Son of man, prophesy, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, say, A sword, a sword both sharp and furbished.

10 It is sharpened to make a sore slaughter, and it is furbished that it may ¹glitter: how shall we rejoice? for it contemneth the ²rod of my son, as ³all other trees.

11 And he hath given it to be furbished, that he may handle it: this sword is sharp, and is furbished that he may give it into the hand of the ¹slayer.

12 Cry and howl, son of man: for this shall come to my people, and it shall come unto all the princes of Israel: the terrors of the sword shall be upon my people, ¹smite therefore upon thy thigh.

13 For it is a trial, ¹and what shall this be, if the sword contemn even the rod? It shall be no more,

20:39 ¹ This is spoken to the hypocrites.

20:43 ¹ Your own consciences shall convict you after, that you have felt my mercies.

20:46 ¹ For Judah stood South from Babylon.

20:47 ¹ Both strong and weak in Jerusalem.

20:48 ¹ The people said that the Prophet spake darkly: therefore he desireth the Lord to give them a plain declaration thereof.

21:2 ¹ Speak sensibly, that all may understand.

21:3 ¹ That is such which seem to have an outward show of righteousness, by observation of the ceremonies of the law.

21:4 ¹ Meaning, through all the land.

21:6 ¹ As though thou were in extreme anguish.

21:7 ¹ Because of the great noise of the army of the Chaldeans.

21:10 ¹ And so cause a fear.

² Meaning, the scepter: showing that it will not spare the King, who should be as the son of God, and in his place.

³ That is, the rest of the people.

21:12 ¹ Read Jer. 31:19.

21:13 ¹ Ezekiel moved with compassion, thus complaineth, fearing the destruction of the kingdom which God had confirmed to David and his posterity by promise, which promise God performed, although here it seemed to man's eye that it should utterly perish.

saith the Lord God.

14 Thou therefore, son of man, prophesy and smite ¹hand to hand, and let the sword be doubled: let the sword that hath killed, return the third time: it is the sword of the great slaughter entering into their privy chambers.

15 I have brought the fear of the sword into all their gates to make their heart to faint, and to multiply their ruins. Ah, it is made bright, and it is dressed for the slaughter.

16 Get thee ¹alone: go to the right hand, or get thyself to the left hand, whithersoever thy face turneth.

17 I will also smite mine hands together, and will cause my wrath to cease. I the Lord have said it.

18 ¶ The word of the Lord came unto me again, saying,

19 Also thou son of man, appoint thee ¹two ways, that the sword of the King of Babel may come: both twain shall come out of one land, and choose a place, and choose it in the corner of the way of the city.

20 Appoint a way, that the sword may come to Rabbah of the Ammonites, and ¹to Judah in Jerusalem the strong city.

21 And the King of Babel stood at the ¹parting of the way, at the head of the two ways, consulting by divination, and made his arrows bright: he consulted with idols, and looked in ²the liver.

22 At his right hand was the divination for Jerusalem to appoint captains to open their mouth in the slaughter, and to lift up their voice with shouting, to lay engines of war against the gates, to cast a mount, and to build a fortress.

23 And it shall be unto them ¹as a false divination in their sight for the oaths made unto them: ²but he will call to remembrance their iniquity, to the intent they should be taken.

24 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because ye have made your iniquity to be remembered in discovering your rebellion, that in all your works your sins might appear: because, I say, that ye are come to remembrance, ye shall be taken with the hand.

25 And thou ¹Prince of Israel polluted, and wicked, whose day is come, when iniquity shall have an end, 26 Thus saith the Lord God, I will take away the ¹diadem, and take off the crown: this shall be no more the same: I will exalt the humble, and will abase him that is high.

27 I will overturn, overturn, overturn it, and it shall be no more until he ¹come, whose right it is, and I will give it him.

28 ¶ And thou, son of man, prophesy, and say, Thus saith the Lord God to the children of Ammon, and to their blasphemy: say thou, I say, The sword, the sword is drawn forth and furbished to the slaughter, to consume, because of the glittering,

29 While they see ¹vanity unto thee, and prophesied a lie unto thee to bring thee upon the necks of the wicked that are slain, whose day is come, when their iniquity shall have an end.

30 Shall I cause it to return into his sheath? I will judge thee in the place where thou wast created, even in the land of thine habitation.

31 And I will pour out mine indignation upon thee, and will blow against thee in the fire of my wrath, and deliver thee into the hand of beastly men, and skillful to destroy.

32 Thou shalt be in the fire to be devoured: thy blood shall be in the midst of the land, and thou shalt be no more remembered: for I the Lord have spoken it.

22 ¹ Jerusalem is reproved for cruelty. 25 Of the wicked doctrine of the false prophets and priests, and of their unsatiable covetousness. 26 The tyranny of rulers. 29 The wickedness of the people.

1 Moreover, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Now thou son of man, wilt thou ¹judge, wilt

21:14 ¹ That is, encourage the sword.

21:16 ¹ Provide for thyself: for thou shalt see God's plague of all parts on this country.

21:19 ¹ This was spoken, because that when Nebuchadnezzar came against Judah, his purpose was also to go against the Ammonites: but doubting in the way, which enterprise to undertake first he consulted with his soothsayers, and so went against Judah.

21:20 ¹ That is, to the tribe of Judah that kept themselves in Jerusalem.

21:21 ¹ To know whether he should go against the Ammonites or them of Jerusalem.

² He used conjuring and sorcery.

21:23 ¹ Because there was a league between the Jews, and the Babylonians, they of Jerusalem shall think nothing less than that this thing should come to pass.

² That is, Nebuchadnezzar will remember the rebellion of Zedekiah, and so come upon them.

21:25 ¹ Meaning, Zedekiah, who practiced with the Egyptians to make himself high and able to resist the Babylonians.

21:26 ¹ Some refer this to the Priest's attire: for Jehozadak the Priest went into captivity with the king.

21:27 ¹ That is, unto the coming of Messiah: for though the Jews had some sign of government afterward under the Persians, Greeks and Romans, yet this restitution was not till Christ's coming, and at length should be accomplished, as was promised, Gen. 49:10.

21:29 ¹ Though the Jews and Ammonites would not believe that thou, to wit, the sword, shouldst come upon them, and said, that the Prophets, which threatened, spake lies, yet thou shalt as surely come, as though thou werest already upon their necks.

22:2 ¹ Art thou ready to execute thy charge, which I commit unto thee against Jerusalem, that murdereth the Prophets and them that are godly?

thou judge this bloody city? wilt thou show her all her abominations?

3 Then say, Thus saith the Lord God, The city sheddeth blood in the midst of it, that her ¹time may come, and maketh idols against ²herself, to pollute herself.

4 Thou hast offended in thy blood, that thou hast shed, and hast polluted thyself in thine idols, which thou hast made, and thou hast caused thy days to draw near, and art come unto thy term: therefore have I made thee a reproach to the heathen, and a mocking to all countries.

5 Those that be near, and those that be far from thee, shall mock thee, which art vile in ¹name and sore in affliction.

6 Behold, the princes of Israel everyone in thee was ready to his power, to shed blood.

7 In thee have they despised father and mother: in the midst of thee ¹have they oppressed the stranger: in thee have they vexed the fatherless and the widow.

8 Thou hast despised mine holy things, and hast polluted my Sabbaths.

9 In thee are men that carry tales to shed blood: in thee are they that eat upon the mountains: in the midst of thee they commit abomination.

10 ^aIn thee have they discovered their fathers' shame: in thee have they vexed her that was polluted in her flowers.

11 And everyone ^bhath committed abomination with his neighbor's wife, and everyone hath wickedly defiled his daughter-in-law, and in thee hath every man forced his own sister, even his father's daughter.

12 In thee have they taken gifts to shed blood: thou hast taken usury and the increase, and thou hast defrauded thy neighbors by extortion, and hast forgotten me, saith the Lord God.

13 Behold, therefore I have ¹smitten mine hands upon thy covetousness, that thou hast used, and upon the blood, which hath been in the midst of thee.

14 Can thine heart endure, or can thine hands ¹be strong, in the days that I shall have to do with thee? I the Lord have spoken it, and will do it.

15 And I will scatter thee among the heathen, and disperse thee in the countries, and will cause thy ¹filthiness to cease from thee.

16 And thou shalt take thine ¹inheritance in thyself in the sight of the heathen, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

17 ¶ And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

18 Son of man, the house of Israel is unto me as ¹dross: all they are brass, and tin, and iron, and lead in the midst of the furnace: they are even the dross of silver.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because ye are all as dross, behold, therefore I will gather you in the midst of Jerusalem.

20 As they gather silver and brass, and iron, and lead, and tin into the midst of the furnace, to blow the fire upon it to melt it, so will I gather you in mine anger and in my wrath, and will put you there ¹and melt you.

21 I will gather you, I say, and blow the fire of my wrath upon you, and you shall be melted in the midst thereof.

22 As silver is melted in the midst of the furnace, so shall ye be melted in the midst thereof, and ye shall know that I the Lord have poured out my wrath upon you.

23 And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

24 Son of man, say unto her, Thou art the land, that is unclean, ¹and not rained upon in the day of wrath.

25 There is a conspiracy ¹of her prophets in the midst thereof like a roaring lion, ravening the prey: they have devoured souls: they have taken the riches and precious things: they have made her many widows in the midst thereof.

26 Her Priests have broken my Law, and have defiled mine holy things: they have put no difference between the holy and profane, neither discerned between the unclean and the clean, and have hid their ¹eyes from my Sabbaths, and I am profaned among them.

27 Her princes in ¹the midst thereof are like wolves, ravening the prey to shed blood, and to destroy souls for their own covetous lucre.

28 And her ¹prophets have daubed them with untempered mortar, seeing vanities, and divining

22:3 ¹ That is, the time of her destruction.

² To her own undoing.

22:5 ¹ Whose very name all men hate.

22:7 ¹ He meaneth hereby that there was no kind of wickedness which was not committed in Jerusalem, and therefore the plagues of God should speedily come upon her.

22:13 ¹ In token of my wrath and vengeance.

22:14 ¹ That is, able to defend thyself.

22:15 ¹ I will thus take away the occasion of thy wickedness.

22:16 ¹ Thou shalt be no more the inheritance of the Lord, but forsaken.

22:18 ¹ Which before was most precious.

22:20 ¹ Meaning, hereby that the godly should be tried, and the wicked destroyed.

22:24 ¹ Thou art like a barren land which the Lord plagueth with drought.

22:25 ¹ The false prophets have conspired together to make their doctrine more probable.

22:26 ¹ They have neglected my service.

22:28 ¹ They which should have reproved them, flattered them in their vices, and covered their doings with lies, Ezek. 13:10.

lies unto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord God, when the Lord had not spoken.

29 The people of the land have violently oppressed by spoiling and robbing, and have vexed the poor and the needy: yea, they have oppressed the stranger against right.

30 And I sought for a man among them, that should ¹make up the hedge, and stand in the gap before me for the land, that I should not destroy it, but I found none.

31 Therefore have I poured out mine indignation upon them, and consumed them with the fire of my wrath: their own ways have I rendered upon their heads, saith the Lord God.

23 Of the Idolatry of Samaria and Jerusalem, under the names of Oholah and Oholibah.

1 The word of the Lord came again unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, there were two women, the daughters of one ¹mother.

3 And they committed fornication in ¹Egypt, they committed fornication in their youth: there were their breasts pressed, and there they bruised the teats of their virginity.

4 And the names of ¹them were Oholah the elder, and Oholibah her sister: and they were mine, and they bare sons and daughters: thus were their names: Samaria is Oholah, and Jerusalem Oholibah.

5 And Oholah played the harlot ¹when ²she was mine, and she was set on fire with her lovers, to wit, with the Assyrians her neighbors,

6 Which were clothed with blue silk, both captains and princes they were all pleasant young men, and horsemen riding upon horses.

7 Thus she committed her whoredom with them, even with all them that were the chosen men of Assyria, and with all on whom she doted, and defiled herself with all their idols.

8 Neither left she her fornications, learned of the Egyptians: for in her youth they ¹lay with her, and they bruised the breasts of her virginity, and poured their whoredom upon her.

9 Wherefore I delivered her into the hands of her lovers, even into the hands of the Assyrians, upon whom she doted.

10 These discovered her shame: they took away her sons and her daughters, and slew her with the sword, and she had an evil name among women: for ¹they had executed judgment upon her.

11 And when her sister Oholibah saw this, she marred herself with inordinate love more than she, and with her fornications more than her sister with her fornications.

12 She doted upon the Assyrians her neighbors, both captains and princes clothed with divers suits, horsemen riding upon horses: they were all pleasant young men.

13 Then I saw that she was defiled, and that they were both after one sort,

14 And that she increased her fornications: for when she saw men ¹painted upon the wall, the images of the Chaldeans painted with vermillion,

15 And girded with girdles upon their loins, and with dyed attire upon their heads (looking all like princes after the manner of the Babylonians in Chaldea, the land of their nativity)

16 As soon, I say, as she saw them, she doted upon them, and sent messengers unto them, into Chaldea.

17 Now when the Babylonians came to her into the bed of love, they defiled her with their fornication, and she was polluted with them, and her lust departed from them.

18 So she discovered her fornication, and disclosed her shame: then mine heart forsook her, like as mine heart had forsaken her sister.

19 Yet she increased her whoredom more, and called to remembrance the days of her youth wherein she had played the harlot in the land of Egypt.

20 For she doted upon their servants whose members are as the members of asses, and whose issue is like the issue of horses.

21 Thou calledst to remembrance the wickedness of thy youth, when thy teats were bruised by the Egyptians: therefore the paps of thy youth are thus.

22 Therefore, O Oholibah, thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will raise up thy lovers against thee, from whom thine heart is departed, and I will bring them against thee on every side, 22:30 ¹ Which would show himself zealous in my cause by resisting vice, Isa. 59:16 and 63:5, and also pray unto me to withhold my plagues, Ps. 106:23.

23:2 ¹ Meaning, Israel and Judah, which came both out of one family.

23:3 ¹ They became idolaters after the manner of the Egyptians.

23:4 ¹ Oholah signifieth a mansion or dwelling in herself, meaning Samaria, which was the royal city of Israel and Oholibah signifieth my mansion in her, whereby is meant Jerusalem, where God's Temple was.

23:5 ¹ Hebrew, under me.

² When the Israelites were named the people of God, they became idolaters, and forsook God, and put their trust in the Assyrians.

23:8 ¹ The holy Ghost useth these terms which seem strange to chaste ears, to cause this wicked vice of idolatry so to be abhorred, that [...] any should abide to hear the name thereof.

23:10 ¹ Meaning, the Assyrians.

23:14 ¹ This declareth that no words are able sufficiently to express the rage of idolaters, and therefore the holy Ghost here compareth them to those which in their raging love and filthy lusts dote upon the images and paintings of them after whom they lust.

23 To wit, the Babylonians, and all the Chaldeans, ¹Pekod, and Shoa, and Koa, and all the Assyrians with them: they were all pleasant young men, captains and princes: all they were valiant and renowned, riding upon horses.

24 Even these shall come against thee with chariots, wagons, and wheels, and with a multitude of people, which shall set against thee buckler and shield, and helmet round about, and ¹I will leave the punishment unto them, and they shall judge thee according to their ²judgments.

25 And I will lay mine indignation upon thee, and they shall deal cruelly with thee: they shall cut off thy ¹nose and thine ears, and thy remnant shall fall by the sword: they shall carry away thy sons and thy daughters, and thy residue shall be devoured by the fire.

26 They shall also strip thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy fair jewels.

27 Thus will I make thy wickedness to cease from thee, and thy fornication out of the land of Egypt: so that thou shalt not lift up thine eyes unto them, nor remember Egypt anymore.

28 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will deliver thee into the hand of them, whom thou hatest, even into the hands of them from whom thine heart is departed.

29 And they shall handle thee despitefully, and shall take away all thy ¹labor, and shall leave thee naked and bare, and the shame of thy fornications ²shall be discovered, both thy wickedness, and thy whoredom.

30 I will do these things unto thee, because thou hast gone a whoring after the heathen, and because thou art polluted with their idols.

31 Thou hast walked in the way of thy sister: therefore will I give her ¹cup into thine hand.

32 Thus saith the Lord God, Thou shalt drink of thy sister's cup, deep and large: thou shalt be laughed to scorn and had in derision, because it containeth much.

33 Thou shalt be filled with ¹drunkenness and sorrow, even with the cup of destruction, and desolation, with the cup of thy sister Samaria.

34 Thou shalt even drink it, and wring it out to the dregs, and thou shalt break the shards thereof, and tear thine own breasts: for I have spoken it, saith the Lord God.

35 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast forgotten me, and cast me behind thy back, therefore thou shalt also bear thy wickedness and thy whoredom.

36 ¶ The Lord said moreover unto me, Son of man, wilt thou judge Oholah and Oholibah? and wilt thou declare to them their abominations?

37 For they have played the whores, and blood is in their hands, and with their idols have they committed adultery, and have also caused their sons, whom they bore unto me, to pass by the fire to be their ¹meat.

38 Moreover, thus have they done unto me: they have defiled my Sanctuary in the same day, and have profaned my Sabbaths.

39 For when they had slain their children to their idols, they came the same day into my Sanctuary to defile it: and lo, thus have they done in the midst of mine house.

40 And how much more is it that they sent for men to come from ¹far, unto whom a messenger was sent, and lo, they came? for whom thou didst wash thyself, and paintedst thine eyes, and deckedst thee with ornaments,

41 And satest ¹upon a costly bed, and a table prepared before it, whereupon thou hast set mine incense and mine oil.

42 And a voice of a multitude being at ease, was with her: and with the men to make the company great, were brought men of ¹Saba from the wilderness, which put bracelets upon their hands, and beautiful crowns upon their heads.

43 Then I said unto her that was old in adulteries, Now shall she and her fornications come to an end.

44 And they went in unto her as they go to a common harlot: so went they to Oholah and Oholibah the wicked women.

45 And the righteous men they shall judge them after the manner of ¹harlots, and after the manner of murderers: for they are harlots, and blood is in their hands.

46 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God, I will bring a multitude upon them, and will give them unto the tumult and to the spoil,

47 And the multitude shall stone them with stones,

23:23 ¹ These were the names of certain princes and captains under Nebuchadnezzar.

23:24 ¹ Hebrew, I will give judgment before them.

23:25 ¹ They shall destroy thy princes and priests with the rest of thy people.

23:29 ¹ All thy treasures and riches which thou hast gotten by labor.

² All the world shall see thy shameful forsaking of God to serve idols.

23:31 ¹ I will execute the same judgments and vengeance against thee, and that with greater severity.

23:33 ¹ Meaning, that its afflictions should be so great that they should cause them to lose their senses, and reason.

23:37 ¹ That is, to be sacrifices to their idols, read Ezek. 16:20.

23:40 ¹ They sent into other countries to have such as should teach the service of their idols.

23:41 ¹ He meaneth the altar that was prepared for the idols.

23:42 ¹ Which should teach the manner of worshipping their gods.

23:45 ¹ That is, worthy of death, read Ezek. 16:38.

and cut them with their swords: they shall slay their sons, and their daughters, and burn up their houses with fire.

48 Thus will I cause wickedness to cease out of the land, that all ¹women may be taught not to do after your wickedness.

49 And they shall lay your wickedness upon you, and ye shall bear the sins of your idols, and ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

24 He showeth the destruction of Jerusalem by a parable of a seething pot. 16 The parable of Ezekiel's wife being dead.

1 Again in the ¹ninth year, in the tenth month, in the tenth day of the ²month, came the word of the Lord unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, write thee the name of the day, even of this same day: for the King of Babel set himself against Jerusalem this same day.

3 Therefore speak a parable unto the rebellious house, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Prepare a ¹pot, prepare it, and also pour water into it.

4 Gather the ¹pieces thereof into it, even every good piece, as the thigh and the shoulder, and fill it with the chief bones.

5 Take one of the best sheep, and ¹burn also the ²bones under it, and make it boil well, and seethe the bones of it therein,

6 Because the Lord God saith thus, Woe to the bloody city, even to the pot, ¹whose scum is therein, and whose scum is not gone out of it: bring it out ²piece by piece: let no ³lot fall upon it.

7 For her blood is in the midst of her: she set it upon an high ¹rock, and poured it not upon the ground to cover it with dust,

8 That it might cause wrath to arise, and take vengeance: even I have set her blood upon an high rock that it should not be covered.

9 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, "Woe to the bloody city, for I will make ¹the burning great.

10 Heap on much wood: ¹kindle the fire, consume the flesh, and cast in spice, and let the bones be burnt.

11 Then set it empty upon the coals thereof, that ¹the brass of it may be hot, and may burn, and that the filthiness of it may be molten in it, and that the scum of it may be consumed.

12 ¹She hath wearied herself with lies, and her great scum went not out of her: therefore her scum shall be consumed with fire.

13 Thou remainest in thy filthiness and wickedness: because I would ¹have purged thee, and thou wast not purged, thou shalt not be purged from thy filthiness, till I have caused my wrath to light upon thee.

14 I the Lord have spoken it: it shall come to pass, and I will do it: I will not go back, neither will I spare, neither will I repent: according to thy ways, and according to thy works shall ¹they judge thee, saith the Lord God.

15 ¶ Also the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

16 Son of man, behold, I take away from thee the ¹pleasure of thine eyes with a plague: yet shalt thou neither mourn nor weep, neither shall thy tears run down.

17 Cease from sighing: make no mourning for the dead, and bind the tire of thine head upon thee, ¹and put on thy shoes upon thy feet, and cover not thy lips, and eat ²not the bread of men.

18 So I spake unto the people in the morning, and at even my wife died: and I did in ¹the morning, as I was commanded.

19 And the people said unto me, Wilt thou not tell us what these things mean toward us that thou doest so?

20 Then I answered them, The word of the Lord came unto me, saying, 24:5 ¹ Or, heap.

² Meaning, of the innocents, whom they had slain, who were the cause of the kindling of God's wrath against them.

24:6 ¹ Whose iniquities and wicked citizens there yet remain.

² Signifying that they should not be destroyed all at once, but by little and little.

³ Spare none estate or condition.

24:7 ¹ The city showed her cruelty to all the world, and was not ashamed thereof, neither yet hid it.

24:9 ¹ Or, an heap of wood.

24:10 ¹ Meaning, that the city should be utterly destroyed, and that he would give the enemies an appetite thereunto.

24:11 ¹ Or, bottom.

24:12 ¹ The city hath flattered herself in vain.

24:13 ¹ I labored by sending my Prophets to call thee to repentance, but thou wouldest not.

24:14 ¹ That is, the Babylonians.

24:16 ¹ Meaning, his wife, in whom he delighted, as verse 18.

24:17 ¹ For in mourning they went bareheaded and barefooted, and also covered their lips.

² That is, which the neighbors sent to them that mourned.

24:18 ¹ Meaning, the morning following.

24:21 ¹ By sending the Chaldeans to destroy it, as Ezek. 7:22.

² Wherein you boast and delight.

your heart's desire, and your sons, and your daughters whom ye have left, shall fall by the sword.

22 And ye shall do as I have done: ye shall not cover your lips, neither shall ye eat the bread of men.

23 And your tire shall be upon your heads, and your shoes upon your feet: ye shall not mourn nor weep, but ye shall pine away for your iniquities, and mourn one toward another.

24 Thus Ezekiel is unto you a sign: according to all that he hath done, ye shall do: and when this cometh, ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Also, thou son of man, shall it not be in the day when I take from them their power, the joy of their honor, the pleasure of their eyes, and the ¹desire of their heart, their sons and their daughters,

26 That he that escapeth in that day, shall come unto thee to tell thee that which he hath heard with his ears?

27 In that day shall thy mouth be opened to him which is escaped, and thou shalt speak, and be no more dumb, and thou shalt be a sign unto them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

25 ² The word of the Lord against Ammon, which rejoiced at the fall of Jerusalem, 8 against Moab and Seir, Idumea and the Philistines.

1 The word of the Lord came again unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, set thy face against the Ammonites, and prophesy against them,

3 And say unto the Ammonites, Hear the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God, Because thou saidest, ¹Ha, ha, against my Sanctuary, when it was polluted, and against the land of Israel, when it was desolate, and against the house of Judah, when they went into captivity,

4 Behold, therefore I will deliver thee to the ¹men of the East for a possession, and they shall set their ²palaces in thee, and make their dwellings in thee: they shall eat thy fruit, and they shall drink thy milk:

5 And I will make ¹Rabbah a dwelling place for camels, and the Ammonites a sheeppcote, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

6 For thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast clapped the hands, and stamped with the feet, and rejoiced in heart with all thy despite against the land of Israel,

7 Behold, therefore I will stretch out mine hand upon thee, and will deliver thee to be spoiled of the heathen, and I will root thee out from the people, and I will cause thee to be destroyed out of the countries, and I will destroy thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

8 Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Moab and Seir do say, Behold, the house of Judah is like unto all the heathen, 9 Therefore, behold, I will open the side of Moab, even of the cities ¹of his cities, I say, in his frontiers with the pleasant country, Beth Jeshimoth, Baal Meon, and Kirjathaim.

10 I will call the men of the East against the Ammonites, and will give them in possession, so that the Ammonites shall no more be remembered among the nations.

11 And I will execute judgments upon Moab, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

12 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, because that Edom hath done evil by taking vengeance upon the house of Judah, and hath committed great offence, and revenged himself upon them,

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will also stretch out mine hand upon Edom, and destroy man and beast out of it, and I will make it desolate from Teman, and they of Dedan shall fall by the sword.

14 And I will execute my vengeance upon Edom by the hand of my people Israel, and they shall do in Edom according to mine anger, and according to mine indignation, and they shall know my vengeance, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, Because the Philistines have executed vengeance, and revenged themselves with a despiteful heart, to destroy it for the old hatred, 16 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, behold, I will stretch out mine hand upon the Philistines, and I will cut off the ¹Cherethims, and destroy the remnant of the seacoast.

17 And I will execute great vengeance upon them with rebukes of mine indignation, and they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall lay my vengeance upon them.

2 Son of man, because that Tyre hath said against Jerusalem, Aha, the ¹gate of the people is broken: it is turned unto me: for seeing she is desolate, I shall be ²replenished,

3 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Tyre, and I will bring up many nations against thee, as the sea mounteth up with his waves.

4 And they shall destroy the walls of Tyre and break down her towers: I will also scrape her dust from her, and make her like the top of a rock.

5 Thou shalt be for the spreading of nets in the midst of the sea: for I have spoken it, saith the Lord God, and it shall be a spoil to the nations.

6 And her ¹daughters which are in the field, shall be slain by the sword, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will bring upon Tyre Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel, a King of kings from the North, with horses and with chariots, and with horsemen, with a multitude and much people.

8 He shall slay with the sword thy daughters in the field, and he shall make a fort against thee, and cast a mount against thee, and lift up the buckler against thee.

9 He shall set engines of war before him against thy walls, and with his weapons break down thy towers.

10 The dust of his horses shall cover thee, for their multitude: thy walls shall shake at the noise of the horsemen, and of the wheels, and of the chariots, when he shall enter into thy gates as into the entry of a city that is broken down.

11 With the hooves of his horses shall he tread down all thy streets: he shall slay the people by the sword, and the ¹pillars of thy strength shall fall down to the ground.

12 And they shall rob thy riches, and spoil thy merchandise, and they shall break down thy walls, and destroy thy pleasant houses, and they shall cast thy stones and thy timber and thy dust into the midst of the water.

13 ^aThus will I cause the sound of thy songs to cease, and the sound of thine harps shall be no more heard.

14 I will lay thee like the top of a rock: ¹thou shalt be for a spreading of nets: thou shalt be built no more: for I the Lord have spoken it, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God to Tyre, Shall not the isles tremble at the sound of thy fall? and at the cry of the wounded, when they shall be slain and murdered in the midst of thee?

16 Then all the princes of the ¹sea shall come down from their thrones: they shall lay away their robes, and put off their broidered garments, and shall clothe themselves with astonishment: they shall sit upon the ground and be astonished at every moment, and be amazed at thee.

17 And they shall take up a lamentation for thee, and say to thee, How art thou destroyed, that wast inhabited ¹of the Sea men, the renowned city which was strong in the sea, both she and her inhabitants, which cause their fear to be on all that haunt therein!

18 Now shall the isles be astonished in the day of thy fall: yea, the isles that are in the sea, shall be troubled at thy departure.

19 For thus saith the Lord God, when I shall make thee a desolate city, like the cities that are not inhabited, and when I shall bring the deep upon thee, and great waters shall cover thee,

20 When I shall cast thee down with them that descend into the pit, with the people ¹of old time, and shall set thee in the low parts of the earth, like the old ruins, with them, I say, which go down to the pit, so that thou shalt not be inhabited, and I shall show my glory in the land of the ²living.

21 I will ¹bring thee to nothing, and thou shalt be no more: though thou be sought for, yet shalt thou never be found again, saith the Lord God.

27 The Prophet bewaileth the desolation of Tyre, showing what were the riches, power and authority thereof in times past.

1 The word of the Lord came again unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, take up a lamentation for Tyre,

3 And say unto Tyre that is situated at the entry

26:2 ¹ That is, the famous city Jerusalem, whereunto all people resorted.

² My riches and fame shall increase: thus the wicked rejoice at their fall by whom they may have any profit or advantage.

26:6 ¹ The towns that belonged unto her.

26:11 ¹ For Tyre was much built by art and by labor of men was won out of the Sea. Some refer this unto the images of the noble men which they had erected up for their glory and renown.

26:14 ¹ I will make thee so bare that thou shalt have nothing to cover thee.

26:16 ¹ The governors and rulers of other countries that dwell by the sea: whereby he signifieth that her destruction should be so horrible, that all the world should hear thereof and be afraid.

26:17 ¹ Meaning, merchants which by their traffic did enrich her wonderfully and increase her power.

26:20 ¹ Which were dead long ago.

² Meaning, in Judea, when it shall be restored.

26:21 ¹ Or, make thee a terror.

of the sea, which is the mart ¹of the people for many isles, Thus saith the Lord God, O Tyre, thou hast said, I am of perfect beauty.

4 Thy borders are in the ¹midst of the sea, and thy builders have made thee of perfect beauty.

5 They have made all thy ship boards of fir trees of ¹Senir: they have brought cedars from Lebanon, to make masts for thee.

6 Of the oaks of Bashan have they made thine ores: the company of the Assyrians have made thy banks of ivory, brought out of the isles of ¹Kittim.

7 Fine linen with brodered work, brought from Egypt, was spread over thee to be thy sail, blue silk and purple, brought from the isles of Elishah was thy covering.

8 The inhabitants of Sidon, and Arvad were thy mariners, O Tyre: thy wise men that were in thee, they were thy ¹pilots.

9 The ancients of Gebal, and the wise men thereof were in thee thy ¹caulkers, all the ships of the sea with their mariners were in thee to occupy thy merchandise.

10 They of Persia, and of Lud and of Put were in thine army: thy men of war they hanged the shield and helmet in thee: they set forth thy beauty.

11 The men of Arvad with thine army were upon thy walls round about, and the ¹Gammadims were in thy towers: they hanged their shields upon thy walls round about: they have made thy beauty perfect.

12 They of Tarshish were thy merchants for the multitude of all riches, for silver, iron, tin, and lead, which they brought to thy fairs.

13 They of ¹Javan, Tubal and Meshech were thy merchants, ²concerning the lives of men, and they brought vessels of brass for thy merchandise.

14 They of the house of ¹Togarmah brought to thy fairs, horses and horsemen, and mules.

15 The men of Dedan were thy merchants: and the merchandise of many isles were in thine hands: they brought thee for a present, ¹horns, teeth, and peacocks.

16 They of Aram were thy merchants for the multitude of thy ¹wares: they occupied in thy fairs, with ²emeralds, purple, and brodered work, and ³fine linen, and coral, and pearl.

17 They of Judah and of the land of Israel were thy merchants: they brought for thy merchandise wheat of ¹Minnith, and Pannag, and honey, and oil, and ²balm.

18 They of Damascus were thy merchants in the multitude of thy wares, for the multitude of all riches, as in the wine of Helbon and white wool.

19 They of Dan also and of Javan, going to and fro, occupied in thy fairs: iron work, cassia and calamus were among thy merchandise.

20 They of Dedan were thy merchants in precious clothes for the chariots.

21 They of Arabia, and all the princes of Kedar ¹occupied with thee, in lambs, and rams and goats: in these were thy merchants.

22 The merchants of Sheba, and Raamah were thy merchants: they occupied in thy fairs with the chief of all spices, and with all precious stones and gold.

23 They of Haram and Canneh and Eden, the merchants of Sheba, Assyria and Chilmad were thy merchants.

24 These were thy merchants in all sorts of things, in raiment of blue silk, and of brodered work, and in coffers for the rich apparel, which were bound with cords: chains also were among thy merchandise.

25 The ships of Tarshish ¹were thy chief in thy merchandise, and thou wast replenished and made very glorious in the midst of the sea.

26 Thy ¹robbers have brought thee into great waters: the ²East wind hath broken thee in the midst of the sea.

27 Thy riches and thy fairs, thy merchandise, thy mariners and pilots, thy caulkers, and the occupiers of thy merchandise, and all thy men of war that are in thee, and all thy multitude which is in the midst of thee, shall fall in the midst of the sea in the day of thy ruin.

28 The ¹suburbs shall shake at the sound of the cry of thy pilots.

27:3 ¹ Which servest all the world with thy merchandise.

27:4 ¹ Hebrew, heart.

27:5 ¹ This mountain was called Hermon, but the Amorites called it Senir, Deut. 3:9.

27:6 ¹ Which is taken for Greece and Italy.

27:8 ¹ Or, shipmasters.

27:9 ¹ Meaning, that they built the walls of the city, which is here meant by the ship: and of these were the builders of Solomon's Temple, 1 Kings 5:18.

27:11 ¹ That is, they of Cappadocia, or Pygmies and dwarfs, which were so called, because that out of the high towers they seemed little.

27:13 ¹ Of Greece, Italy and Cappadocia.

² By selling slaves.

27:14 ¹ Which are taken for a people of Asia minor.

27:15 ¹ Meaning, Unicorn's horns, and Elephant's teeth.

27:16 ¹ Or, works.

² Or, carbuncle.

³ Or, silk.

27:17 ¹ Where the best wheat grew.

² Or, turpentine, or, treacle.

27:21 ¹ Or, were merchants whose merchandise passed through thine hands.

27:25 ¹ Or, came in company toward thee.

27:26 ¹ Or, rowers.

² That is, Nebuchadnezzar.

27:28 ¹ That is, the cities near about thee, as was Zidon, Arvad, and others.

29 And all that handle the oar, the mariners and all the pilots of the sea shall come down from their ships, and shall stand upon the land,

30 And shall cause their voice to be heard against thee, and shall cry bitterly, and shall cast dust upon their heads, and wallow themselves in the ashes.

31 They shall pluck off their hair for thee, and gird them with a sackcloth, and they shall weep for thee with sorrow of heart and bitter mourning.

32 And in their mourning, they shall take up a lamentation for thee, saying, What city is like Tyre so destroyed in the midst of the sea!

33 When thy wares went forth of the seas, thou filledst many people, and thou didst enrich the Kings of the earth with the multitude of thy riches and of thy merchandise.

34 When thou shalt be broken by the seas in the depths of the waters, thy merchandise and all thy multitude which was in the midst of thee, shall fall.

35 All the inhabitants of the isles shall be astonished at thee, and all their Kings shall be sore afraid and troubled in their countenance.

36 The merchants among the people shall hiss at thee: thou shalt be a terror, and never shalt be ¹anymore.

28 ² The word of God against the king of Tyre for his pride. ²¹ The word of the Lord against Sidon. ²⁵ The Lord promises that he will gather together the children of Israel.

1 The word of the Lord came again unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, say unto the prince of Tyre, Thus saith the Lord God, because thine heart is exalted, and thou hast said, ¹I am a god, I sit in the seat of God in the midst of the sea, yet thou art but a man and not God, and ²though thou didst think in thine heart, that thou wast equal with God,

3 Behold, thou art wiser than ¹Daniel: there is no secret that they can hide from thee.

4 With thy wisdom and thine understanding thou hast gotten thee riches, and hast gotten gold and silver into thy treasures.

5 By thy great wisdom and by thine occupying hast thou increased thy riches, and thine heart is lifted up because of thy riches.

6 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because thou didst think in thine heart, that thou wast equal with God,

7 Behold, therefore I will bring strangers upon thee, even the terrible nations: and they shall draw their swords against the beauty of thy wisdom, and they shall defile thy brightness.

8 They shall cast thee down to the pit, and thou shalt die the death of them, that are slain in the midst of the sea.

9 Wilt thou say then before him that slayeth thee, I am a god? but thou shalt be a man, and no god, in the hands of him that slayeth thee.

10 Thou shalt die the death of the ¹uncircumcised by the hands of strangers: for I have spoken it, saith the Lord God.

11 ¶ Moreover, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

12 Son of man, take up a lamentation upon the King of Tyre, and say unto him, Thus saith the Lord God, Thou sealest up the sum, and art full of ¹wisdom, and perfect in beauty.

13 Thou hast been in Eden the garden of God: every precious stone was in thy garment, the ruby, the topaz, and the ¹diamond, the chrysolite, the onyx, and the jasper, the sapphire, ²emerald, and the carbuncle and gold: the workmanship of thy timbrels, and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou wast created.

14 Thou art ¹the anointed Cherub, that covereth, and I have set thee ²*in honor*: thou wast upon the holy mountain of God: thou hast walked in the midst of the ³stones of fire.

15 Thou wast perfect in thy ways from the day that thou wast ¹created, till iniquity was found in thee.

16 By the multitude of thy merchandise, they have filled the midst of thee with cruelty, and thou hast sinned: therefore I will cast thee as profane out of the ¹mountain of God: and I will destroy thee, O covering Cherub, from the midst of the stones of fire.

17 Thine heart was lifted up because of thy beauty,

27:36 ¹ Whereby is meant a long time: for it was prophesied to be destroyed but seventy years, Isa. 23:15.

28:2 ¹ I am safe that none can come to hurt me, as God is in the heaven.

² Hebrew, though thou set thine heart as the heart of God.

28:3 ¹ Thus he speaketh by derision: for Daniel had declared notable signs of his wisdom in Babylon, when Ezekiel wrote this.

28:10 ¹ Like the rest of the heathen and infidels, which are God's enemies.

28:12 ¹ He derideth the vain opinion and confidence that the Tyr-ians had in their riches, strength and pleasures.

28:13 ¹ Or, jasper.

² Or, carbuncle.

28:14 ¹ He meaneth the royal state of Tyre, which for the excellency and glory thereof he compareth to the Cherubims which covered the Ark: and by this word anointed he signifieth the same.

² I did thee this honor to make thee one of the builders of my Temple, which was when Hiram sent unto Solomon things necessary for the work.

³ To wit, among my people Israel, which shined as precious stones.

28:15 ¹ Which was when I first called thee to this dignity.

28:16 ¹ Thou shalt have no part among my people.

and thou hast corrupted thy wisdom by reason of thy brightness: I will cast thee to the ground. I will lay thee before kings that they may behold thee.

18 Thou hast defiled thy ¹sanctification by the multitude of thine iniquities, and by the iniquity of thy merchandise: therefore will I bring forth a fire from the midst of thee, which shall devour thee: and I will bring thee to ashes upon the earth, in the sight of all them that behold thee.

19 All they that know thee among the people, shall be astonished at thee: thou shalt be ¹a terror, and never shalt thou be anymore.

20 ¶ Again the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

21 Son of man, set thy face against Sidon, and prophesy against it,

22 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Sidon, and I will be ¹glorified in the midst of thee: and they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall have executed judgments in her, and shall be sanctified in her.

23 For I will send into her pestilence, and blood into her streets, and the slain shall fall in the midst of her: ¹*the enemy shall come* against her with the sword on every side, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

24 And they shall be no more a pricking thorn unto the house of Israel, nor any grievous thorn of all that are round about them, and despised them, and they shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Thus saith the Lord God, When I shall have gathered the house of Israel from the people where they are scattered, and shall be ¹sanctified in them in the sight of the heathen, then shall they dwell in the land, that I have given to my servant Jacob.

26 And they shall dwell safely therein, and shall build houses, and plant vineyards: yea, they shall dwell safely, when I have executed judgments upon all round about them that despise them, and they shall know that I am the Lord their God.

29 He prophesieth against Pharaoh and Egypt. 13 The Lord promiseth that he will restore Egypt after forty years. 18 Egypt is the reward of King Nebuchadnezzar for the labor which he took against Tyre.

1 In the ¹tenth year and in the tenth month, in the twelfth day of the month, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, set thy face against Pharaoh the king of Egypt, and prophesy against him, and against all Egypt.

3 Speak, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, Pharaoh king of Egypt, the great ¹dragon, that lieth in the midst of his rivers, which hath said, The river is mine, and I have made it for myself.

4 But I will put ¹hooks in thy jaws, and I will cause the fish of thy rivers to stick unto thy scales, and I will draw thee out of the midst of thy rivers, and all the fish of thy rivers shall stick unto thy scales.

5 And I will leave thee in the wilderness, both thee and all the fish of thy rivers: thou shalt fall upon the open field: thou shalt not be brought together, nor gathered: for I have given thee for meat to the beasts of the field, and to the fowls of heaven.

6 And all the inhabitants of Egypt shall know that I am the Lord, because they have been a staff of ¹reed to the house of Israel.

7 When they took hold of thee with their hand, thou didst break and rent all their shoulder: and when they leaned upon thee, thou brakest and madest all their loins to ¹stand ²upright.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will bring a sword upon thee, and destroy man and beast out of thee.

9 And the land of Egypt shall be desolate, and waste, and they shall know that I am the Lord: because he hath said, ¹The river is mine, and I have made it,

10 Behold, therefore I come upon thee, and upon thy rivers, and I will make the land of Egypt utterly waste and desolate from the tower of Syene, even unto the borders of the ¹black Moors.

11 No foot of man shall pass by it, nor foot of beast shall pass by it, neither shall it be inhabited forty years.

12 And I will make the land of Egypt desolate in the midst of the countries that are desolate, and her cities shall be desolate among the cities that are desolate for forty years: and I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countries.

28:18 ¹ That is, the honor, whereunto I called them.

28:19 ¹ Or, brought to nothing.

28:22 ¹ By executing my judgments against thy wickedness.

28:23 ¹ That is, Nebuchadnezzar.

28:25 ¹ He sheweth for what cause God will assemble his Church, and preserve it still, though he destroy his enemies: to wit, that they should praise him, and give thanks for his great mercies.

29:1 ¹ To wit, of the captivity of Jeconiah, or of the reign of Zedekiah. Of the order of these prophecies, and how the former sometimes standeth after the latter, read Jer. 27:1.

29:3 ¹ He compareth Pharaoh to a dragon which hideth himself in the river Nile, as Isa. 51:9.

29:4 ¹ I will send enemies against thee, which shall pluck thee, and thy people which trust in thee, out of thy sure places.

29:6 ¹ Read 2 Kings 18:21; Isa. 36:6.

29:7 ¹ Or, shake.

² When they felt their hurt, they would stay no more upon thee, but stood upon their feet, and put their trust in others.

29:9 ¹ Thus God cannot suffer that man should arrogate anything to himself, or put his trust in anything save in him alone.

29:10 ¹ Hebrew, Cush, or Ethiopia.

13 Yet thus saith the Lord God, "At the end of forty years will I gather the Egyptians from the people, where they were scattered,

14 And I will bring again the captivity of Egypt, and will cause them to return into the land of Pathros, into the land of their habitation, and they shall be there a ¹small kingdom.

15 It shall be the smallest of the kingdoms, neither shall it exalt itself anymore above the nations: for I will diminish them, that they shall no more rule the nations.

16 And it shall be no more the confidence of the house of Israel, to bring their ¹iniquity to remembrance by looking after them, so shall they know that I am the Lord God.

17 ¶ In the ¹seven and twentieth year also in the first month, and in the first day of the month, came the word of the Lord unto me, saying,

18 Son of man, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel caused his army to serve a great ¹service against Tyre: every head was made bald, and every shoulder was made bare: yet he had no wages, ²nor his army for Tyre, for the service that he served against it.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will give the land of Egypt unto Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babel, and he shall take her multitude, and spoil her spoil, and take her prey, and it shall be the wages for his army.

20 I have given him the land of Egypt for his labor, that he served ¹against it, because they wrought ²for me, saith the Lord God.

21 In that day will I cause the horn of the house of Israel to grow, and I will give thee an open mouth in the midst of them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

30 The destruction of Egypt and the cities thereof.

1 The word of the Lord came again unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, prophesy, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Howl and cry, Woe be unto this day.

3 For the day is near, and the day of the Lord is at hand, a cloudy day, and it shall be the time of the heathen.

4 And the sword shall come upon Egypt, and fear shall be in Ethiopia, when the slain shall fall in Egypt, when they shall take away her multitude, and when her foundations shall be broken down.

CHAPTER 29

^a Jer. 46:26

5 ¹Ethiopia and Put, and Lud, and all the common people, and Chub, and the men of the land, that is in league, shall fall with them by the sword.

6 Thus saith the Lord, They also that maintain Egypt, shall fall, and the pride of her power shall come down: from the tower of ¹Syene shall they fall by the sword, saith the Lord God.

7 And they shall be desolate in the midst of the countries that are desolate, and her cities shall be in the midst of the cities that are wasted.

8 And they shall know that I am the Lord, when I have set a fire in Egypt, and when all her helpers shall be destroyed.

9 In that day shall there messengers go forth from me in ships, to make the careless Moors afraid, and fear shall come upon them, as in the day of Egypt: for lo, it cometh.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel.

11 For he and his people with him, even the terrible nations shall be brought to destroy the land: and they shall draw their swords against Egypt, and fill the land with the slain.

12 And I will make the rivers dry, and sell the land into the hands of the wicked, and I will make the land waste, and all that therein is by the hands of strangers: I the Lord have spoken it.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also destroy the idols, and I will cause their idols to cease out of ¹Noph, and there shall be no more a prince of the land of Egypt, and I will send a fear in the land of Egypt.

14 And I will make Pathros desolate, and will set fire in ¹Zoan, and I will execute judgment in No.

15 And I will pour my wrath upon ¹Sin, which is the strength of Egypt: and I will destroy the multitude of ²No.

16 And I will set fire in Egypt: Sin shall have great sorrow, and No shall be destroyed, and Noph shall have sorrows daily.

17 The young men of ¹Aven, and of ²Pi Beseth

29:14 ¹ Meaning, that they should not have full dominion, but be under the Persians, Greeks and Romans, and the cause is that the Israelites should no more put their trust in them, but learn to depend on God.

29:16 ¹ Lest I should by this means punish their sins.

29:17 ¹ Counting from the captivity of Jeconiah.

29:18 ¹ He took great pains at the siege of Tyre, and his army was sore handled.

² Signifying that Nebuchadnezzar had more pains than profit, by the taking of Tyre.

29:20 ¹ Or, in it.

² Or, evil against me.

30:5 ¹ By Put and Lud are meant Africa and Libya.

30:6 ¹ Which was a strong city of Egypt, Ezek. 29:10.

30:13 ¹ Or, Memphis, or Cairo.

30:14 ¹ Or, Tanis.

30:15 ¹ Or, Pelusium.

² Or, Alexandria.

30:17 ¹ Or, Heliopolis.

² Or, Pubastum.

shall fall by the sword: and these cities shall go into captivity.

18 At Tehaphnehes the day ¹shall restrain his light, when I shall break there the ²bars of Egypt: and when the pomp of her power shall cease in her, the cloud shall cover her, and her daughters shall go into captivity.

19 Thus will I execute judgments in Egypt, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

20 ¶ And in the ¹eleventh year, in the first month, and in the seventh day of the month, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

21 Son of man, ¹I have broken the arm of Pharaoh king of Egypt: and lo, it shall not be bound up to be healed, neither shall they put a roll to bind it, and so make it strong to hold the sword.

22 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against Pharaoh King of Egypt, and will break ¹his arm that was strong, but is broken, and I will cause the sword to fall out of his hand.

23 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countries.

24 And I will strengthen the arm of the king of Babel, and put my sword in his hand, but I will break Pharaoh's arms, and he shall cast out sighings, as the sighings of him that is wounded before him.

25 But I will strengthen the arms of the king of Babel, and the arms of Pharaoh shall fall down, and they shall know, that I am the Lord, ¹when I shall put my sword into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall stretch it out upon the land of Egypt.

26 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and disperse them among the countries, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

31 ²A comparison of the prosperity of Pharaoh with the prosperity of the Assyrians. 10 He prophesieth a like destruction to them both.

1 And in the ¹eleventh year, in the third month, and in the first day of the month the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, speak unto Pharaoh king of Egypt, and to his multitude, Whom art thou ¹like in thy greatness?

3 Behold, Assyria was like a cedar in Lebanon with fair branches, and with thick shadowing boughs, and shot up very high, and his top was among the thick boughs.

4 The waters nourished him, and the deep exalted him on high with her rivers running round about his plants, and sent out her ¹little rivers unto all the trees of the ²field.

5 Therefore his height was exalted above all the trees of the field, and his boughs were multiplied, and his branches were long, because of the multitude of the waters, which the deep sent out.

6 All the fowls of the heavens made their nests in his boughs, and under his branches did all the beasts of the field bring forth their young, and under his shadow dwelt all mighty nations.

7 Thus was he fair in his greatness, and in the length of his branches: for his root was near great waters.

8 The cedars in the garden ¹of God could not hide him: no fir tree was like his branches: and the chestnut trees were not like his boughs: all the trees in the garden of God were not like unto him in his beauty.

9 I made him fair by the multitude of his branches: so that all the trees of Eden, that were in the garden of God, envied him.

10 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because ¹he is lifted up on high, and hath shot up his top among the thick boughs, and his heart is lifted up in his height, 11 I have therefore delivered him into the hands of the ¹mightiest among the heathen: he shall handle him, for I have cast him away for his wickedness.

12 And the strangers have destroyed him, even the terrible nations, and they have left him upon the mountains, and in all the valleys his branches are fallen, and his boughs are ¹broken by all the rivers of the land: and all the people of the earth are departed from his shadow, and have forsaken him.

13 Upon his ruin shall all the fowls of the heaven remain, and all the beasts of the field shall be upon his branches,

14 So that none of all the trees by the waters shall be exalted by their height, neither shall shoot up their top among the thick boughs, neither shall 30:18 ¹ Meaning, that there shall be great sorrow and affliction.

² That is, the strength and force.

30:20 ¹ Of the captivity of Jeconiah, or of Zedekiah's reign.

30:22 ¹ His force and power.

30:25 ¹ Whereby we see that tyrants have no power of themselves, neither can do anymore harm than God appointeth, and when he will they must cease.

31:1 ¹ Of Zedekiah's reign, or of Jeconiah's captivity.

31:2 ¹ Meaning, that he was not like in strength to the King of the Assyrians, whom the Babylonians overcame.

31:4 ¹ Many other nations were under their dominion.

² Or, country.

31:8 ¹ Signifying, that there was no greater power in the world than his was.

31:10 ¹ Or, thou wast lifted up.

31:11 ¹ That is, of Nebuchadnezzar, who afterward was the monarch and only ruler of the world.

31:12 ¹ Hereby is signified the destruction of the power of the Assyrians by the Babylonians.

their leaves stand up in their height, which drink so much water: for they are all delivered unto death in the nether parts of the earth in the midst of the children of men among them that go down to the pit.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when he went down to hell, I caused them to mourn, and I ¹covered the deep for him, and I did restrain the floods thereof, and the great waters were stayed: I caused Lebanon to mourn for him, and all the trees of the field fainted.

16 I made the nations to shake at the sound of his fall, when I cast him down to hell, with them that descend into the pit, and all the excellent trees of Eden, and the best of Lebanon: even all that are nourished with waters, shall ¹be comforted in the nether parts of the earth.

17 They also went down to hell with him unto them that were slain with the sword, and his arm, and they that dwelt under his shadow in the midst of the heathen.

18 To whom ¹art thou thus like in glory and in greatness among the trees of Eden? yet thou shalt be cast down with the trees of Eden unto the nether parts of the earth: thou shalt sleep in the midst of the ²uncircumcised, with them that be slain by the sword: this is Pharaoh and all his multitude, saith the Lord God.

1 And in the ¹twelfth year in the twelfth month, and in the first day of the month, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, take up a lamentation for Pharaoh king of Egypt, and say unto him, Thou art like a ¹lion of the nations, and art as a ²dragon in the sea: thou castedst out thy rivers ³and troubledst the waters with thy feet, and stampedst in their rivers.

3 Thus saith the Lord God, ⁴I will therefore spread my net over thee a great multitude of people, and they shall make thee come up into my net,

4 Then will I leave thee upon the land, and I will cast thee upon the open field, and I will cause all the fowls of the heaven to remain upon thee, and I will fill all the beasts of the field with thee.

5 And I will lay thy flesh upon the mountains, and fill the valleys ¹with thine height.

6 I will also water with thy blood the land wherein thou ¹swimmest, even to the mountains, and the rivers shall be full of thee.

7 And when I shall ¹put thee out, I will cover the heaven, and make the stars thereof dark: ¹I will cover the sun with a cloud, and the moon shall not give her light.

8 All the lights of heaven will I make dark for thee, and bring ¹darkness upon thy land, saith the Lord God.

9 I will also trouble the hearts of many people, when I shall bring thy destruction among the nations, and upon the countries which thou hast not known.

10 Yea, I will make many people amazed at thee, and their kings shall be astonished with fear for thee, when I shall make my sword to glitter against their faces, and they shall be afraid at every moment: every man for his own life in the day of thy fall.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, The sword of the king of Babel shall come upon thee.

12 By the swords of the mighty will I cause thy multitude to fall: they all shall be terrible nations, and they shall destroy the ¹pomp of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof shall be consumed.

13 I will destroy also all the beasts thereof from the great watersides, neither shall the foot of man trouble them anymore, nor the hooves of beasts trouble them.

14 Then will I make ¹their waters deep, and cause their rivers to run like oil, saith the Lord God.

15 When I shall make the land of Egypt desolate, and the country with all that is therein, shall be laid waste: when I shall smite all them which dwell therein, then shall they know that I am the Lord.

16 This is the mourning wherewith they shall lament her: the daughters of the nations shall lament her: they shall lament for Egypt, and for all her multitude, saith the Lord God.

31:15 ¹ The deep waters that caused him to mount so high (meaning his great abundance and pomp) shall now lament as though they were covered with sackcloth.

31:16 ¹ To cause this destruction of the king of Assyria to seem more horrible, he setteth forth other kings and princes which are dead, as though they rejoiced at the fall of such a tyrant.

31:18 ¹ Meaning, that Pharaoh's power was nothing so great as his was.

² Read Ezek. 28:10.

32:1 ¹ Which was the first year of the general captivity under Zedekiah.

32:2 ¹ Thus the scriptures compare tyrants to cruel and huge beasts which devour all that be weaker than they, and such as they may

³ Thou preparest great armies.

32:5 ¹ With heaps of the carcasses of thine army.

32:6 ¹ As Nile overfloweth Egypt, so will I make the blood of thine host to overflow it.

32:7 ¹ The word signifieth to be put out as a candle is put out.

32:8 ¹ By this manner of speech is meant the great sorrow that shall be for the slaughter of the king and his people.

32:12 ¹ This came to pass in less than four years after this prophecy.

32:14 ¹ To wit, of the Chaldeans thine enemies, which shall quietly enjoy all thy commodities.

17 ¶ In the twelfth year also in the fifteenth day of the month, came the word of the Lord unto me, saying,

18 Son of man, lament for the multitude of Egypt, and ¹cast them down, even them and the daughters of the mighty nations under the nether parts of the earth, with them that go down into the pit.

19 Whom dost thou pass ¹in beauty? go down and sleep with the uncircumcised.

20 They shall fall in the midst of them that are slain by the sword: ¹she is delivered to the sword: draw her down, and all her multitude.

21 The most mighty and strong shall speak to ¹him out of the midst of hell with them that help her: they are gone down, and sleep with the uncircumcised that be slain by the sword.

22 Assyria is there and all his company: their graves are about him: all they are slain and fallen by the sword.

23 Whose graves are made in the side of the pit, and his multitude are round about his grave: all they are slain and fallen by the sword, which caused fear to be in the land of the living.

24 There is ¹Elam and all his multitude round about his grave: all they are slain and fallen by the sword, which are gone down with the uncircumcised into the nether parts of the earth, which caused themselves to be feared in the land of the ²living, yet have they borne their shame with them that are gone down to the pit.

25 They have made his bed in the midst of the slain with all his multitude: their graves are round about him: all these uncircumcised are slain by the sword: though they have caused their fear in the land of the living, yet have they borne their shame with them that go down to the pit: they are laid in the midst of them that be slain.

26 There is ¹Meshech, Tubal, and all their multitude: their graves are round about them: all these uncircumcised were slain by the sword, though they caused their fear to be in the land of the living.

27 And they shall not lie with the valiant ¹of the uncircumcised, that are fallen, which are gone down to the grave with their weapons of war, and have laid their swords under their heads, but their iniquity shall be upon their bones: because they were the fear of the mighty in the land of the living.

28 Yea, thou shalt be broken in the midst of the uncircumcised, and lie with them that are slain by the sword.

29 There is Edom, his kings, and all his princes, which with their strength are laid by them that were slain by the sword: they shall sleep with the uncircumcised, and with them that go down to the pit.

30 There be all the princes of the ¹North, with all the Sidonians, which are gone down with the slain, with their fear: they are ashamed of their strength, and the uncircumcised sleep with them that be slain by the sword, and bear their shame with them that go down to the pit.

31 Pharaoh shall see them, and he shall be ¹comforted over all his multitude: Pharaoh, and all his army shall be slain by the sword, saith the Lord God.

32 For I have caused my ¹fear to be in the land of the living: and he shall be laid in the midst of the uncircumcised with them, that are slain by the sword, even Pharaoh and all his multitude, saith the Lord God.

33 ²The office of the governors and ministers. ¹⁴He strengtheneth them that despair, and boldeneth them with the promise of mercy. ³⁰The word of the Lord against the mockers of the Prophet.

1 Again, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, speak to the children of thy people, and say unto them, When I bring the sword upon a land, if the people of the land take a man ¹from among them, and make him their ²watchman,

3 If when he seeth the sword come upon the land, he blow the trumpet, and warn the people,

4 Then he that heareth the sound of the trumpet, and will not be warned, if the sword come, and take him away, his blood shall be upon his own head.

5 For he heard the sound of the trumpet, and would not be admonished: therefore his blood shall be upon him: but he that receiveth warning, shall save his life.

32:18 ¹ That is, prophesy, that they shall be cast down: thus the Lord giveth his Prophets power both to plant and to destroy by his word, read Jer. 1:10.

32:19 ¹ Have not other kingdoms, more beautiful than thou, perished?

32:20 ¹ That is, Egypt.

32:21 ¹ To make the matter more sensible, he bringeth in Pharaoh whom the dead shall meet and marvel at him, read Isa. 14:9.

32:24 ¹ Meaning, the Persians.

² Whom in his life all the world feared.

32:26 ¹ That is, the Cappadocians and Italians, or Spaniards, as Joseph writeth.

32:27 ¹ Which died not by cruel death, but by the course of nature, and are honorably buried with their coat armor, and signs of honor.

32:30 ¹ The Kings of Babylon.

32:31 ¹ As the wicked rejoice when they see others partakers of their miseries.

32:32 ¹ I will make the Egyptians afraid of me, as they caused others to fear them.

33:2 ¹ Or, of their coasts.

² He sheweth that the people ought to have continually governors and teachers which may have a care over them, and to warn them ever of the dangers which are at hand.

6 But if the watchman see the sword come, and blow not the trumpet, and the people be not warned: if the sword come, and take any person from among them, he is taken away for his ¹iniquity, but his blood will I require at the watchman's hand.

7 "So thou, O son of man, I have made thee a watchman unto the house of Israel: therefore thou shalt hear the word at my ¹mouth, and admonish them from me.

8 When I shall say unto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt die the death, if thou dost not speak and admonish the wicked of his way, that wicked man shall die for his iniquity, but his blood will I ¹require at thine hand.

9 Nevertheless, if thou warn the wicked of his way to turn from it, if he do not turn from his way, he shall die for his iniquity, but thou hast delivered thy soul.

10 Therefore, O thou son of man, speak unto the house of Israel, Thus ye speak and say, If our transgressions and our sins be upon us, and we are consumed because of them, ¹how should we then live?

11 Say unto them, As I live, saith the Lord God, ¹I desire not the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turn from his way and live: turn you, turn you from your evil ways, for why will ye die, O ye house of Israel?

12 Therefore thou son of man, say unto the children of thy people, The ¹righteousness of the righteous shall not deliver him in the day of his transgression, nor the wickedness of the wicked shall cause him to fall therein, in the day that he returneth from his wickedness, neither shall the righteous live for his righteousness in the day that he sinneth.

13 When I shall say unto the righteous, that he shall surely live, if he trust to his own righteousness, and commit iniquity, all his righteousness shall be no more remembered, but for his iniquity that he hath committed, he shall die for the same.

14 Again when I shall say unto the wicked, Thou shalt die the death, if he turn from his sin, and do that which is lawful and ¹right,

CHAPTER 33

^a Ezek. 3:17^b Ezek. 18:25

15 To wit, if the wicked restore the pledge, and give again that he had robbed, and walk in the statutes of life, without committing iniquity, he shall surely live, and not die.

16 None of his sins that he hath committed, shall be mentioned unto him: because he hath done that, which is lawful and right, he shall surely live.

17 Yet the children of thy people say, ^bThe way of the Lord is not equal: but their own way is unequal.

18 When the righteous turneth from his righteousness, and committeth iniquity, he shall even die thereby.

19 But if the wicked return from his wickedness, and do that which is lawful and right, he shall live thereby.

20 Yet ye say, The way of the Lord is not equal, O ye house of Israel, I will judge you every one after his ways.

21 Also in the twelfth year of our ¹captivity, in the tenth month, and in the fifth day of the month, one that had escaped out of Jerusalem, came unto me, and said, The city is smitten.

22 Now the ¹hand of the Lord had been upon me in the evening afore he that had escaped, came, and had opened my mouth until he came to me in the morning: and when he had opened my ²mouth, I was no more dumb.

23 Again the word of the Lord came unto me, and said,

24 Son of man, these that dwell in the desolate places of the land of Israel, talk and say, ¹Abraham was but one, and he possessed the land: but we are many, therefore the land shall be given us in possession.

25 Wherefore say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Ye eat with the ¹blood, and lifted up your eyes toward your idols, and shed blood: should ye then possess the land?

26 Ye lean upon your ¹swords, ye work abomination, and ye defile every one his neighbor's wife: should ye then possess the land?

27 Say thus unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, As I live, so surely they that are in the desolate places, 33:6 ¹ Signifying, that the wicked shall not escape punishment though the watchman be negligent: but if the watchman blow the trumpet, and then he will not obey, he shall deserve double punishment.

33:7 ¹ Which teacheth that he that receiveth not his charge at the Lord's mouth, is a spy, and not a true watchman.

33:8 ¹ The watchman must answer for the blood of all that perish through his negligence.

33:10 ¹ Thus the wicked when they hear God's judgments for their sins, despair of his mercies, and murmur.

33:11 ¹ Read Ezek. 18:23.

33:12 ¹ Read of this righteousness, Ezek. 18:21, 24.

33:14 ¹ Hereby he condemneth all them of hypocrisy, which pretend to forsake wickedness, and yet declare not themselves such by their fruits, that is, in obeying God's commandments, and by godly life.

33:21 ¹ When the Prophet was led away captive with Jeconiah.

33:22 ¹ I was endued with the Spirit of prophecy, Ezek. 8:1.

² Whereby is signified that the ministers of God cannot speak till God give them courage, and open their mouths, Ezek. 24:27 and 29:21; Eph. 6:19.

33:24 ¹ Thus the wicked think themselves more worthy to enjoy God's promises than the Saints of God, to whom they were made: and would bind God to be subject to them, though they would not be bound to him.

33:25 ¹ Contrary to the Law, Lev. 17:14.

shall fall by the sword: and him that is in the open field, will I give unto the beasts to be devoured: and they that be in the forts and in the caves, shall die of the pestilence.

28 For I will lay the land desolate and waste, and the 'pomp of her strength shall cease: and the mountains of Israel shall be desolate, and none shall pass through.

29 Then shall they know that I am the Lord, when I have laid the land desolate and waste, because of all their abominations, that they have committed.

30 Also thou son of man, the children of thy people that ¹talk of thee by the walls and in the doors of houses, and speak one to another, everyone to his brother, saying, Come, I pray you, and hear what is the word that cometh from the Lord.

31 For they come unto thee, as the people useth to come: and my people sit before thee, and hear thy words, but they will not do them: for with their mouths they make ¹jests, and their heart goeth after their covetousness.

32 And lo, thou art unto them, as a ¹jesting song of one that hath a pleasant voice, and can sing well: for they hear thy words, but they do them not.

33 And when this cometh to pass (for lo, it will come) then shall they know, that a Prophet hath been among them.

34 ² Against the shepherds that despised the flock of Christ, and seek their own reign. 7 The Lord saith that he will visit his dispersed flock, and gather them together. 23 He promiseth the true shepherd Christ, and with him peace.

1 And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, prophesy against the shepherds of Israel, prophesy and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God unto the shepherds, "Woe be unto the ¹shepherds of Israel, that feed themselves: should not the shepherds feed the flocks?"

3 Ye eat the ¹fat, and ye clothe you with the wool: ye kill them that are fed, but ye feed not the sheep.

4 The ¹weak have ye not strengthened: the sick have ye not healed, neither have ye bound up the broken, nor brought again that which was driven away, neither have ye sought that which was lost, but with cruelty, and with rigor have ye ruled them.

5 And they were scattered without a shepherd: and when they were dispersed, they were ¹devoured of all the beasts of the field.

6 My sheep wandered through all the mountains, and upon every high hill: yea, my flock was scattered through all the earth, and none did seek or search after them.

7 Therefore ye shepherds, hear the word of the Lord.

8 As I live, saith the Lord God, surely because my flock was spoiled, and my sheep were devoured of all the beasts of the field, having no shepherd, neither did my shepherds seek my sheep, but the shepherds fed themselves, and fed not my sheep,

9 Therefore, hear ye the word of the Lord, O ye shepherds.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against the shepherds, and will require my sheep at their hands, and cause them to cease from feeding the sheep: neither shall the shepherds feed themselves anymore: for I will deliver thy sheep from ¹their mouths, and they shall no more devour them.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will search my sheep, and seek them out.

12 As a shepherd searcheth out his flock, when he hath been among his sheep that are scattered, so will I seek out my sheep and will deliver them out of all places, where they have been scattered in ¹the cloudy and dark day,

13 And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countries, and will bring them to their own land, and feed them upon the mountains of Israel, by the rivers, and in all the inhabited places of the country.

14 I will feed them in a good pasture, and upon the high mountains of Israel shall their fold be: there shall they lie in a good fold, and in fat pasture shall they feed upon the mountains of Israel.

15 I will feed my sheep, and bring them to their rest, saith the Lord God.

16 I will seek that which was lost, and bring again that which was driven away, and will bind up that which was broken, and will strengthen the weak, but I will destroy the fat and the ¹strong, and I will

33:30 ¹ In derision.

33:31 ¹ This declareth that we ought to hear God's word with such zeal and affection, that we should in all points obey it, else we abuse the word to our own condemnation, and make of his ministers, as though they were jests to serve men's foolish fantasies.

33:32 ¹ Or, pleasant, and love song.

ought to love and succor his flock, and not to be cruel toward them.

34:5 ¹ For lack of good government and doctrine they perished.

34:10 ¹ By destroying the covetous hirelings, and restoring true shepherds, whereof we have a sign so oft as God sendeth true preachers, who both by doctrine and life labor to feed his sheep in the pleasant pastures of his word.

34:12 ¹ In the day of their affliction and misery: and this promise is to comfort the Church in all dangers.

34:16 ¹ Meaning, such as lift up themselves above their brethren, and think they have no need to be governed by me.

17 Also you my sheep, thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I judge between sheep and sheep, between the rams and the goats.

18 Seemeth it a small thing unto you to have eaten up the good ¹pasture, but ye must tread down with your feet, the residue of your pasture? and to have drunk of the deep waters, but ye must trouble the residue with your feet.

19 And my sheep eat that which ye have trodden with your feet, and drink that which ye have troubled with your feet.

20 Therefore thus saith the Lord God unto them, Behold, I, even I will judge between the fat sheep and the lean sheep.

21 Because ye have thrust with side and with shoulder, and pushed all the weak with your horns, till ye have scattered them abroad,

22 Therefore will I help my sheep, and they shall no more be spoiled, and I will judge between sheep and sheep.

23 And I will set up a shepherd over them, and he shall feed them, even my servant ¹David, he shall feed them, and he shall be their shepherd.

24 And I the Lord will be their God, and my servant David shall be the Prince among them, I the Lord have spoken it.

25 And I will make with them a covenant of peace, and will cause the evil beasts to cease out of the land, and they shall ¹dwell safely in the wilderness, and sleep in the woods.

26 And I will set them, as a blessing, even round about my mountains, and I will cause rain to come down in due season: and there shall be rain of blessing.

27 And the ¹tree of the field shall yield her fruit, and the earth shall give her fruit, and they shall be safe in their land, and shall know that I am the Lord, when I have broken the cords of their yoke, and delivered them out of the hands of those that served themselves of them.

28 And they shall no more be spoiled of the heathen, neither shall the beasts of the land devour them, but they shall dwell safely, and none shall make them afraid.

29 And I will raise up for them a ¹plant of renown, and they shall be no more consumed with hunger in the land, neither bear the reproach of the heathen anymore.

30 Thus shall they understand, that I the Lord their God am with them, and that they, even the house of Israel are my people, saith the Lord God.

31 And ye my sheep, the sheep of my pasture are men, and I am your God, saith the Lord God.

35 ² The destruction that shall come on mount Seir, because they troubled the people of Israel.

1 Moreover, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, Set thy face against mount ¹Seir, and prophesy against it,

3 And say unto it, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, O mount Seir, I come against thee, and I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate and waste.

4 I will lay thy cities waste, and thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

5 Because thou hast had a perpetual hatred, and hast put the children of Israel to flight by the force of the sword in the time of their calamity, when their ¹iniquity had an end,

6 Therefore as I live, saith the Lord God, I will prepare thee unto blood, and blood shall pursue thee: except thou ¹hate blood, even blood shall pursue thee.

7 Thus will I make mount Seir desolate and waste, and cut off from it him that passeth out and him that returneth.

8 And I will fill his mountains with his slain men: in thine hills, and in thy valleys, and in all thy rivers shall they fall, that are slain with the sword.

9 I will make thee perpetual desolations, and thy cities shall not ¹return, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

10 Because thou hast said, ¹These two nations and these two countries shall be mine, and we will possess them (seeing the Lord was ²there)

11 Therefore as I live, saith the Lord God, I will even do according to thy ¹wrath, and according to thine indignation, which thou hast used in thine

34:23 ¹ Meaning Christ, of whom David was a figure, Jer. 30:9; Hos. 3:5.

34:25 ¹ This declareth that under Christ the flock should be truly delivered from sin, and hell, and so be safely preserved in the Church, where they should never perish.

34:27 ¹ The fruits of God's grace shall appear in great abundance in

34:29 ¹ That is, the rod that shall come out of the root of Jesse, Isa. 11:1.

hatred against them: and I will make myself known among ²them, when I have judged thee.

12 And thou shalt know, that I the Lord have heard all the blasphemies which thou hast spoken against the mountains of Israel, saying, They lie waste, they are given us to be devoured.

13 Thus with your mouths ye have boasted against me, and I have multiplied your words against me: I have heard them.

14 Thus saith the Lord God, So shall all the world rejoice, when I shall make thee desolate.

15 As thou didst rejoice at the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it was desolate, so will I do unto thee: thou shalt be desolate, O mount Seir, and all Idumea wholly, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

36 ¹ He promiseth to deliver Israel from the Gentiles. ²² The benefits done unto the Jews, are to be ascribed to the mercy of God, and not unto their deservings. ²⁶ God reneweth our hearts that we may walk in his commandments.

1 Also thou son of man, prophesy unto the ^amountains of Israel, and say, Ye mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Lord.

2 Thus saith the Lord God, Because the ¹enemy hath said against you, Aha, even the ²high places of the world are ours in possession,

3 Therefore prophesy and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Because that they have made you desolate, and swallowed you up on every side that ye might be a possession unto the residue of the heathen, and ye are come unto the lips and ¹tongues of men, and unto the reproach of the people,

4 Therefore ye mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God to the mountains, and to the hills, to the rivers and to the valleys, and to the waste and desolate places, and to the cities that are forsaken, which are spoiled and had in derision of the residue of the heathen that are round about.

5 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Surely in the fire of mine indignation have I spoken against the residue of the heathen, and against all Idumea, which have ¹taken my land for their possession, with 6 Prophecy therefore upon the land of Israel, and say unto the mountains and to the hills, to the rivers, and to the valleys, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I have spoken in mine indignation and in my wrath, because ye have suffered the ¹shame of the heathen.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I have ¹lifted up mine hand, surely the heathen that are about you, shall bear their shame.

8 But you, O mountains of Israel, ye shall ¹shoot forth your branches, and bring forth your fruit to my people of Israel: for they are ready to come.

9 For behold, I come unto you, and I will turn unto you, and ye shall be tilled and sown.

10 And I will multiply the men upon you, even all the house of Israel wholly, and the cities shall be inhabited, and the desolate places shall be built.

11 And I will multiply upon you man and beast, and they shall increase, and bring fruit, and I will cause you to dwell after your old estate, and I will bestow benefits upon you more than ¹at the first, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

12 Yea, I will cause men to walk upon ¹you, even my people Israel, and they shall possess ²you, and ye shall be their inheritance, and ye shall no more henceforth deprive them of men.

13 Thus saith the Lord, Because they say unto you, Thou ¹land devourest up men, and hast been a waster of thy people,

14 Therefore thou shalt devour men no more, neither waste thy people henceforth, saith the Lord God,

15 Neither will I cause men to hear in thee the shame of the heathen anymore, neither shalt thou bear the reproach of the people anymore, neither shalt cause thy folk to fall anymore, saith the Lord God.

16 ¶ Moreover, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

17 Son of man, when the house of Israel dwelt in their own land, they defiled it by their own ways, and by their deeds: their way was before me as the filthiness of the menstruous.

18 Wherefore I poured my wrath upon them, for 36:3 ¹ Ye are made a matter of talk and derision to all the world.

36:5 ¹ They appointed with themselves to have it, and therefore came with Nebuchadnezzar against Jerusalem for this purpose.

36:6 ¹ Because you have been a laughingstock unto them.

36:7 ¹ By making a solemn oath, read Ezek. 20:5.

36:8 ¹ God declareth his mercies and goodness toward his Church, who still preserveth his, even when he destroyeth his enemies.

36:11 ¹ Which was accomplished under Christ, to whom all these temporal deliverances did direct them.

36:12 ¹ That is, upon the mountains of Jerusalem.

² Or, thee.

36:13 ¹ This the enemies imputed as the reproach of the land, which God did for the sins of the people according to his just judgments.

the blood that they had shed in the land, and for their idols, wherewith they had polluted it.

19 And I scattered them among the heathen, and they were dispersed through the countries: for according to their ways, and according to their deeds, I judged them.

20 ^bAnd when they entered unto the heathen, whither they went, they polluted mine holy Name, when they said of them, These are the people of the Lord, and are gone out of his land.

21 But I favored mine holy ¹Name, which the house of Israel had polluted among the heathen, whither they went.

22 Therefore say unto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, I do not this for your sakes, O house of Israel, but for mine ¹holy Name's sake, which ye polluted among the heathen, whither ye went.

23 And I will sanctify my great Name, which was polluted among the heathen, among whom you have polluted it, and the heathen shall know that I am the Lord, saith the Lord God, when I shall be sanctified in you before ¹their eyes.

24 For I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countries, and will bring you into your own land.

25 Then will I pour clean ¹water upon you, and ye shall be clean: yea, from all your filthiness, and from all your idols will I cleanse you.

26 ^cA new heart also will I give you, and a new spirit will I put within you, and I will take away the stony heart out of your body, and I will give you an heart of flesh.

27 And I will put my spirit within you, and cause you to walk in my statutes, and ye shall keep my judgments and do them.

28 And ye shall dwell in the land that I gave to your fathers, and ye shall be my people, and I will be your God.

29 I will also deliver you from all your filthiness, and I will call for ¹corn, and will increase it, and lay no famine upon you.

30 For I will multiply the fruit of the trees, and the increase of the field, that ye shall bear no more the reproach of famine among the heathen.

31 Then shall ye remember your own wicked ways, and your deeds that were not good, and shall judge yourselves worthy to have been ¹destroyed for your iniquities, and for your abominations.

32 Be it known unto you that I do not this for your sakes, saith the Lord God: therefore, O ye house of Israel, be ashamed and confounded for your own ways.

33 Thus saith the Lord God, What time as I shall have cleansed you from all your iniquities, I will cause you to dwell in the cities, and the desolate places shall be built.

34 And the desolate land shall be tilled, whereas it lay waste in the sight of all that passed by.

35 For they said, This waste land was like the garden of Eden, and these waste, and desolate, and ruinous cities were strong, and were inhabited.

36 Then the residue of the heathen, that are left round about you, shall ¹know that I the Lord build the ruinous places, and plant the desolate places: I the Lord have spoken it, and will do it.

37 Thus saith the Lord God, I will yet for this be sought of the house of Israel, to perform it unto them: I will increase them with men like a flock.

38 As the holy flock, as the flock of Jerusalem in their solemn feasts, so shall the desolate cities be filled with flocks of men, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

37 He prophesieth the bringing again of the people, being in captivity. 16 He sheweth the union of the ten tribes with the two.

1 The hand of the Lord was upon me, and carried me out in the Spirit of the Lord, and set me down in the midst of the ¹field, which was full of ²bones:

2 And he led me round about by them, and behold, they were very many in the open field, and lo, they were very dry.

3 And he said unto me, Son of man, can these bones live? And I answered, O Lord God, thou knowest.

4 Again he said unto me, Prophecy upon these bones, and say unto them, O ye dry bones, hear the word of the Lord.

5 Thus saith the Lord God unto these bones, Behold, I will cause breath to enter into you, and 36:21 ¹ And therefore would not suffer my Name to be had in contempt, as the heathen would have reproached me, if I had suffered my Church to perish.

36:22 ¹ This excludeth from man all dignity, and means to deserve anything by, seeing that God referreth the whole to himself, and that only for the glory of his holy Name.

36:23 ¹ Or, your.

36:25 ¹ That is, his spirit, whereby he reformeth the heart, and regenerateth his, Isa. 44:3.

36:29 ¹ Under the abundance of temporal benefits he concludeth the spiritual graces.

36:31 ¹ Ye shall come to true repentance, and think yourselves unworthy to be of the number of God's creatures, for your ingratitude against him.

36:36 ¹ He declareth that it ought not to be referred to the soil or plentifulness of the earth that any country is rich and abundant, but only to God's mercies, as his plagues and curses declare, when he maketh it barren.

37:1 ¹ Or, valley.

² He sheweth by a great miracle that God hath power, and also will deliver his people from their captivity, inasmuch as he is able to give life to the dead bones, and bodies, and raise them up again.

6 And I will lay sinews upon you, and make flesh grow upon you, and cover you with skin, and put breath in you, that ye may live, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

7 So I prophesied as I was commanded: and as I prophesied, there was a noise, and behold, there was a shaking, and the bones came together, bone to his bone.

8 And when I beheld, lo, the sinews, and the flesh grew upon them, and above the skin covered them, but there was no breath in them.

9 Then said he unto me, Prophecy unto the wind: prophecy, son of man, and say to the wind, Thus saith the Lord God, Come from the four ¹winds, O breath, and breathe upon these slain, that they may live.

10 So I prophesied as he had commanded me: and the breath came into them, and they lived, and stood up upon their feet, an exceeding great army.

11 Then he said unto me, Son of man, these bones are the whole house of Israel. Behold, they say, Our bones are dried, and our hope is gone, and we are clean cut off.

12 Therefore prophecy, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, my people, I will open your graves, and cause you to come up out of your sepulchres, and bring you into the land of Israel,

13 And ye shall know that I am the Lord, ¹when I have opened your graves, O my people, and brought you up out of your sepulchres,

14 And shall put my Spirit in you, and ye shall live, and I shall place you in your own land: then ye shall know that I the Lord have spoken it, and performed it, saith the Lord.

15 ¶ The word of the Lord came again unto me, saying,

16 Moreover, thou son of man, take thee a piece of wood, and write upon it, Unto Judah, and to the children of Israel his companions: then take ¹another piece of wood, and write upon it, Unto Joseph the tree of Ephraim, and to all the house of Israel his companions,

17 And thou shalt join them one to another into one tree, and they shall be as one in thine hand.

18 And when the children of thy people shall speak unto thee, saying, Wilt thou not show us what thou meanest by these?

19 Thou shalt answer them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will take the tree ¹of Joseph, which 20 And the pieces of wood whereon thou writest, shall be in thine hand, in their sight.

21 And say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will take the children of Israel from among the heathen whither they be gone, and will gather them on every side, and bring them into their own land.

22 And I will make them one people in the land, upon the mountains of Israel, ^aand one king shall be king to them all: and they shall be no more two peoples, neither be divided anymore henceforth into two kingdoms.

23 Neither shall they be polluted anymore with their idols, nor with their abominations, nor with any of their transgressions: but I will save them out of all their dwelling places, wherein they have sinned, and will cleanse them: so shall they be my people, and I will be their God.

24 And David my ^bservant shall be king over them, and they shall all have one shepherd: they shall also walk in my judgments, and observe my statutes, and do them.

25 And they shall dwell in the ¹land, that I have given unto Jacob my servant, where your fathers have dwelt, and they shall dwell therein, even they, and their sons, and their sons' sons forever, and my servant David shall be their prince forever.

26 Moreover, I will make a ^ccovenant of peace with them: it shall be an everlasting covenant with them, and I will place them, and multiply them, and will set my sanctuary among them forevermore.

27 My tabernacle also shall be with them: yea, I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

28 Thus the heathen shall know, that I the Lord do sanctify Israel, when my Sanctuary shall be among them forevermore.

38 ²He prophesieth that Gog and Magog shall fight with great power against the people of God. ²¹Their destruction.

1 And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Son of men, set thy face against ¹Gog, and against the land of Magog, the chief prince of Meshech and 37:9 ¹ Signifying, all parts whereas the Israelites were scattered: that is, the faithful shall be brought to the same unity of spirit and doctrine, wheresoever they are scattered through the world.

37:13 ¹ That is, when I have brought you out of those places, and towns where you are captives.

37:16 ¹ Which signifieth the joining together of the two houses, of Israel, and Judah.

37:19 ¹ That is, the house of Israel.

37:25 ¹ Meaning, that the elect by Christ shall dwell in the heaven by Jerusalem, which is meant by the land of Canaan.

38:2 ¹ Which was a people that came of Magog the son of Japheth, Gen. 10:2. Magog also here signifieth a certain country so that by these two countries which had the government of Greece and Italy, he meaneth the principal enemies of the Church, Rev. 20:8.

Tubal, and prophesy against him,

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Gog, the chief prince of Meshech and Tubal.

4 And I will destroy thee, and put hooks in thy jaws, and I will bring thee forth and all thine host, both horses and horsemen, all clothed with all sorts of armor, even a great multitude with bucklers and shields, all ¹handling swords.

5 They of ¹Paras, of Cush, and Put with them, even all they that bear shield and helmet.

6 ¹Gomer and all his bands, and the house of Togarmah of the North quarters, and all his bands, and much people with thee.

7 Prepare thyself, and make thee ¹ready, both thou, and all thy multitude that are assembled unto thee, and be thou their safeguard.

8 After many days thou shalt be visited: for in the latter years thou shalt come into the land that hath been destroyed with the sword, and is gathered out of many people upon the mountains of Israel, which have long lain waste: yet ¹they have been brought out of the people, and they shall dwell all safe.

9 Thou shalt ascend and come up like a tempest, and shalt be like a cloud to cover the land, both thou, and all thy bands, and many people with thee.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, Even at the same time shall many things come into thy mind, and thou shalt think ¹evil thoughts.

11 And thou shalt say, I will go up to the land that hath no walled towers: ¹I will go to them that are at rest and dwell in safety, which dwell all without walls, and have neither bars nor gates,

12 Thinking to spoil the prey, and to take a booty, to turn thine hand upon the desolate places that are now inhabited, and upon the people that are gathered out of the nations which have gotten cattle, and goods, and dwell in the midst of the land.

thy multitude to take a booty? to carry away silver and gold, to take away cattle and goods, and to spoil a great prey?

14 Therefore, son of man, prophesy, and say unto Gog, Thus saith the Lord God, In that day, when my people of Israel ¹dwellleth safe shalt thou not know it,

15 And come from thy place out of the North parts, thou and much people with thee? all shall ride upon horses, even a great multitude and a mighty army.

16 And thou shalt come up against my people of Israel, as a cloud to cover the land, thou shalt be in the ¹latter days, and I will bring thee upon my land, that the heathen may know me, when I ²shall be sanctified in thee, O Gog, before their eyes.

17 Thus saith the Lord God, Art not thou he, of whom I have spoken in old time, ¹by the hand of my servants the Prophets of Israel which prophesied in those days and years, that I would bring thee upon them?

18 At the same time also when Gog shall come against the land of Israel, saith the Lord God, my wrath shall arise in mine anger.

19 For in mine indignation, and in the fire of my wrath have I spoken it: surely at that time there shall be a great shaking in the land of Israel,

20 So that the fishes of the Sea, and the fowls of the heaven, and the beasts of the field, and all that move and creep upon the earth, and all the men that are upon the earth, shall tremble at my presence, and the mountains shall be overthrown, and the ¹stairs shall fall, and every wall shall fall to the ground.

21 For I will call for a sword against him ¹throughout all my mountains, saith the Lord God: every man's sword shall be against his brother.

22 And I will plead against him with pestilence, and with blood, and I will cause to rain upon him and upon his bands, and upon the great people that are with him, a sore rain, and hailstones, fire, and brimstone.

23 Thus will I be ¹magnified, and sanctified, and 38:4 ¹ He sheweth that the enemies should bend themselves against the Church, but it should be to their own destruction.

38:5 ¹ The Persians, Ethiopians and men of Africa.

38:6 ¹ Gomer was Japheth's son, and Togarmah the son of Gomer, and are thought to be they that inhabit Asia Minor.

38:7 ¹ Signifying, that all the people of the world should assemble themselves against the Church and Christ their head.

38:8 ¹ Or, it: meaning, the land of Israel.

38:10 ¹ That is, to molest and destroy the Church.

38:11 ¹ Meaning, Israel, which had now been destroyed, and was not yet built again: declaring hereby the simplicity of the godly, who seek not so much to fortify themselves by outward force, as to depend on the providence and goodness of God.

38:13 ¹ One enemy shall envy another because everyone shall think to have the spoil of the Church.

38:14 ¹ Shalt not thou spy thine occasions to come against my Church when they suspect nothing?

38:16 ¹ Meaning, in the last age, and from the coming of Christ unto the end of the world.

² Signifying, that God will be sanctified by maintaining his Church, and destroying his enemies, as Ezek. 36:23 and 37:28.

38:17 ¹ Hereby he declareth that none affliction can come to the Church, whereof they have not been advertised aforetime, to teach them to endure all things with more patience, when they know that God hath so ordained.

38:20 ¹ All means whereby man should think to save himself, shall fail, the affliction in those days shall be so great, and the enemies' destruction shall be so terrible.

38:21 ¹ Against the people of Gog and Magog.

known in the eyes of many nations, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

39 ¹ He showeth the destruction of Gog, and Magog. 11 The graves of Gog and his host. 17 They shall be devoured of birds and beasts. 23 Wherefore the house of Israel is captive. 24 Their bringing again from captivity is promised.

1 Therefore thou son of man, prophesy against Gog, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Gog, the chief prince of Meshech and Tubal.

2 And I will destroy thee ¹and leave but the sixth part of thee, and will cause thee to come up from the North parts, and will bring thee upon the mountains of Israel:

3 And I will smite thy bow out of thy left hand, and I will cause thine arrows to fall out of thy right hand.

4 Thou ¹shalt fall upon the mountains of Israel, and all thy bands and the people, that is with thee: for I will give thee unto the birds, and to every feathered fowl and beast of the field to be devoured.

5 Thou shalt fall upon the open field: for I have spoken it, saith the Lord God.

6 And I will send a fire on Magog, and among them that dwell safely in the ¹isles, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 So will I make mine holy Name known in the midst of my people Israel, and I will not suffer them to pollute mine holy Name anymore, and the heathen shall know that I am the Lord, the Holy one of Israel.

8 Behold, ¹it is come, and it is done, saith the Lord God: and this is the day whereof I have spoken.

9 And they that dwell in the cities of Israel shall ¹go forth, and shall burn and set fire upon the weapons, and on the shields, and bucklers, upon the bows, and upon the arrows, and upon the staves in their hands, and upon the spears, and they shall burn them with fire seven years.

10 So that they shall bring no wood out of the field, neither cut down any out of the forests: for they shall burn the weapons with fire, and they shall rob those that robbed them, and spoil those that spoiled them, saith the Lord God.

11 And at the same time will I give unto Gog ¹a place there for burial in Israel, even the valley, whereby men go toward the East part of the sea: and it shall cause them that pass by, to stop their ²noses, and there shall they bury Gog with all his multitude: and they shall call it the valley of ³Hamon Gog.

12 ¹And seven months long shall the house of Israel be burying of them, that they may cleanse the land.

13 Yea, all the people of the land shall bury them, and they shall have a name, when I shall be glorified, saith the Lord God.

14 And they shall choose out men to go continually through the ¹land with them that travail, to bury those that remain upon the ground, to cleanse it: they shall search to the end of seven months.

15 And the travelers that pass through the land, if any see a man's bone, then shall he set up a sign by it, till the buriers have buried it in the valley of Hamon Gog.

16 And also the name of the city shall be ¹Hamonah: thus shall they cleanse the land.

17 And thou son of man, thus saith the Lord God, Speak unto every feathered fowl, and to all the beasts of the field, Assemble yourselves, and come: ¹gather yourselves on every side to my sacrifice: for I do sacrifice a great sacrifice for you upon the mountains of Israel, that ye may eat flesh, and drink blood.

18 Ye shall eat the flesh of the valiant, and drink the blood of the princes of the earth, of the weathers, of the lambs, and of the goats, and of bullocks, even of all fat beasts of Bashan.

19 And ye shall eat fat till ye be full, and drink blood till ye be drunken of my sacrifice, which I have sacrificed for you.

20 Thus you shall be filled at my table with horses and chariots, with valiant men, and with all men of war, saith the Lord God.

21 And I will set my glory among the heathen, and all the heathen shall see my judgment, that I have executed, and mine hand, which I have laid upon them.

22 So the house of Israel shall know, that I am the Lord their God from that day and so forth.

39:2 ¹ Or, destroy thee with six plagues, as Ezek. 38:22.

39:4 ¹ Meaning, that by the virtue of God's word the enemy shall be destroyed wheresoever he assaileth his Church.

39:6 ¹ That is, among all nations where the enemies of my people dwell, seem they never so far separated.

39:8 ¹ That is, this plague is fully determined, in my counsel, and cannot be changed.

39:9 ¹ After this destruction the Church shall have great peace and tranquility, and burn all their weapons, because they shall no more fear the enemies, and this is chiefly meant of the accomplishment of Christ's kingdom when by their head Christ, all enemies shall be overcome.

39:11 ¹ Which declareth that the enemies shall have an horrible fall.

² For the stink of the carcasses.

³ Or, the multitude of Gog.

39:12 ¹ Meaning, a long time.

39:14 ¹ Partly that the holy land should not be polluted, and partly for the compassion that the children of God have, even on their enemies.

39:16 ¹ Or, multitude.

39:17 ¹ Whereby he signifieth the horrible destruction that should come upon the enemies of his Church.

23 And the heathen shall know that the house of Israel went into captivity for ¹their iniquity, because they trespassed against me: therefore hid I my face from them, and gave them into the hand of their enemies: so fell they all by the sword.

24 According to their uncleanness, and according to their transgressions have I done unto them, and hid my face from them.

25 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Now will I bring again the captivity of Jacob, and have compassion upon the whole house of Israel, and will be jealous for mine holy Name, 26 After that they have borne their shame, and all their transgression, whereby they have transgressed against me, when they dwelt safely in their land, and without fear of any.

27 When I have brought them again from the people, and gathered them out of their enemies' lands, and am ^asanctified in them in the sight of many nations,

28 Then shall they know, that I am the Lord their God, which caused them to be led into captivity among the heathen: but I have gathered them unto their own land, and have left none of them anymore there,

29 Neither will I hide my face anymore from them: for I have poured out my Spirit upon the house of Israel, saith the Lord God.

40 The restoring of the city and the Temple.

1 In the five and twentieth year of our being in captivity, in the ¹beginning of the year, in the tenth day of the month, in the fourteenth year after that the city was smitten, in the selfsame day, the hand of the Lord was upon me, and brought me thither.

2 Into the land of Israel brought he me by ^{1a} a divine vision, and set me upon a very high mountain, whereupon was as the building of a city, toward the South.

3 And he brought me thither, and behold, there was a ¹man, whose similitude was to look to, like brass, with a linen thread in his hand, and a reed to measure with: and he stood at the gate.

4 And the man said unto me, Son of man, behold with thine eyes, and hear with thine ears, and set thine heart upon all that I shall show thee: for to the intent that they might be showed thee, art thou brought hither: declare all that thou seest unto the house of Israel.

5 And behold, I saw a wall on the outside of the house round about: and in the man's hand was a reed to measure with, of six cubits long, by the cubit, and an hand breadth: so he measured the breadth of the building with one reed, and the height with one reed.

6 Then came he unto the gate which looketh toward the East, and went up the stairs thereof, and measured the ¹post of the gate, which was one reed broad, and ²the other post of the gate, which was one reed broad.

7 And every chamber was one reed long, and one reed broad, and between the chambers were five cubits: and the post of the gate by the porch of the gate within was one reed.

8 He measured also the porch of the gate within with one reed.

9 Then measured he the porch of the gate of eight cubits and the ¹posts thereof, of two cubits, and the porch of the gate was inward.

10 And the Chambers of the gate Eastward, were three on this side, and three on that side: they three were of one measure, and the posts had one measure on this side, and one on that side.

11 And he measured the breadth of the entry of the gate ten cubits, and the height of the gate thirteen cubits.

12 The space also before the chambers was one cubit on this side and the space was one cubit on that side, and the chambers were six cubits on this side, and six cubits on that side.

13 He measured then the gate from the roof of a chamber to the top of the gate: the breadth was five and twenty cubits, door against door.

14 He made also posts of threescore cubits, and the posts of the court, and of the gate, had one measure round about.

15 And upon the forefront of the entry of the gate unto the forefront of the porch of the gate within were fifty cubits.

16 And there were narrow windows in the chambers, and in their posts within the gate round about, and likewise to the arches: and the windows went round about within: and upon the posts were palm trees.

17 ¶ Then brought he me into the outward court, and lo, there were chambers, and a pavement made for the court round about, and thirty chambers were upon the pavement.

18 And the pavement was by the side of the gates over against the length of the gates, and the pavement was beneath.

19 Then he measured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate without, unto the forefront of the court within, an hundred cubits Eastward and Northward.

20 And the gate of the outward court, that looked toward the North, measured he after the length and breadth thereof.

21 And the chambers thereof were three on this side, and three on that side, and the posts thereof and the arches thereof were after the measure of the first gate: the length thereof was fifty cubits, and the breadth five and twenty cubits.

22 And their windows, and their arches with their palm trees, were after the measure of the gate that looketh toward the East, and the going up unto it had seven steps, and the arches thereof were before them.

23 And the gate of the inner court stood over against the gate toward the North, and toward the East, and he measured from gate to gate an hundred cubits.

24 After that, he brought me toward the South, and lo, there was a gate toward the South, and he measured the posts thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures.

25 And there were windows in it, and in the arches thereof round about, like those windows: the height was fifty cubits, and the breadth five and twenty cubits.

26 And there were seven steps to go up to it, and the arches thereof were before them, and it had palm trees, one on this side, and another on that side upon the post thereof.

27 ¶ And there was a gate in the inner court toward the South, and he measured from gate to gate toward the South an hundred cubits.

28 And he brought me into the inner court by the South gate, and he measured the South gate, according to these measures, 29 And the chambers thereof, and the posts thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures, and there were windows in it, and in the arches thereof round about, it was fifty cubits long, and five and twenty cubits broad.

30 And the arches round about were five and twenty cubits long, and five cubits broad.

31 And the arches thereof were toward the utter Court, and palm trees were upon the posts thereof, and the going up to it had eight steps.

32 ¶ Again he brought me into the inner court toward the East, and he measured the gate according to these measures.

33 And the chambers thereof, and the posts thereof, and the arches thereof were according to these measures, and there were windows therein, and in the arches thereof round about: it was fifty cubits long, and five and twenty cubits broad.

34 And the arches thereof were toward the utter court, and palm trees were upon the posts thereof, on this side and on that side, and the going up to it had eight steps.

35 ¶ After he brought me to the North gate, and measured it, according to these measures, 36 The chambers thereof, the posts thereof, and the arches thereof, and there were windows therein round about: the height was fifty cubits, and the breadth five and twenty cubits.

37 And the posts thereof were toward the utter court, and palm trees were upon the posts thereof on this side, and on that side, and the going up to it had eight steps.

38 And every chamber, and the entry thereof was under the posts of the gates: there they washed the burnt offering.

39 And in the porch of the gate stood two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, upon the which they slew the burnt offering, and the sin offering, and the trespass offering.

40 And at the side beyond the steps, at the entry of the North gate stood two tables, and on the other side, which was at the porch of the gate were two tables.

41 Four tables were on this side, and four tables on that side by the side of the gate even eight tables whereupon they slew their sacrifice.

42 And the four tables were of hewn stone for the burnt offering, of a cubit and an half long, and a cubit and an half broad, and one cubit high: whereupon also they laid the instruments wherewith they slew the burnt offering and the sacrifice.

43 And within were borders an hand broad, fastened round about, and upon the tables lay the flesh of the offering.

44 And without the inner gate were the chambers of the singers in the inner court, which was at the side of the North gate: and their prospect was toward the South, and one was at the side of the East gate, having the prospect toward the North.

45 And he said unto me, This chamber whose prospect is toward the South is for the Priests, that have charge to keep the house.

46 And the chamber whose prospect is toward the North, is for the Priests that have the charge to keep the Altar: these are the sons of Zadok among the sons of Levi, which may come near to the Lord to minister unto him.

47 So he measured the court an hundred cubits long, and an hundred cubits broad, even four square: likewise the Altar that was before the house.

48 And he brought me to the porch of the house, and measured the posts of the porch, five cubits on this side, and five cubits on that side: and the breadth of the gate was three cubits on this side, and three cubits on that side.

49 The length of the porch was twenty cubits, and the breadth eleven cubits, and he brought me by the steps whereby they went up to it, and there were pillars by the posts, one on this side and another on that side.

41 1 The disposition and order of the building of the Temple, and the other things thereunto belonging.

1 Afterward, he brought me to the Temple and measured the posts, six cubits broad on the one side, and six cubits broad on the other side, which was the breadth of the Tabernacle.

2 And the breadth of the entry was ten cubits, and the sides of the entry were five cubits, on the one side, and five cubits on the other side, and he measured the length thereof forty cubits, and the breadth twenty cubits.

3 Then went he in, and measured the posts of the entry two cubits, and the entry six cubits, and the breadth of the entry seven cubits.

4 So he measured the length thereof twenty cubits, and the breadth twenty cubits before the Temple, and he said unto me, This is the most holy place.

5 After, he measured the wall of the house, six cubits, and the breadth of every chamber four cubits round about the house, on every side.

6 And the chambers were chamber upon chamber, three and thirty foot high, and they entered into the wall made for the chambers which was round about the house, that the posts might be fastened therein, and not be fastened in the wall of the house.

7 And it was large, and went round mounting upward to the chambers: for the stairs of the house was mounting upward, round about the house: therefore the house was larger upward: so they went up from the lowest chamber to the highest by the midst.

8 I saw also the house high round about: the foundations of the chambers were a full reed of six great cubits.

9 The thickness of the wall which was for the chamber without, was five cubits, and that which remained, was the place of the chambers that were within.

10 And between the chambers was the wideness of twenty cubits round about the House on every side.

11 And the doors of the chambers were toward the place that remained, one door toward the North, and another door toward the South, and the breadth of the place that remained, was five cubits round about.

12 Now the building that was before the separate place toward the West corner, was seventy cubits broad, and the wall of the building was five cubits thick round about, and the length ninety cubits.

13 So he measured the house an hundred cubits long, and the separate place and the building with the walls thereof were an hundred cubits long.

14 Also the breadth of the forefront of the house and of the separate place toward the East, was an hundred cubits.

15 And he measured the length of the building over against the separate place, which was behind it, and the chambers on the one side and on the other side an hundred cubits with the Temple within, and the arches of the court.

16 The posts and the narrow windows, and the chambers round about, on three sides over against the posts, ceiled with cedar wood round about, and from the ground up to the windows, and the windows were ceiled.

17 And from above the door unto the inner house and without, and by all the wall round about within and without it was ceiled according to the measure.

18 And it was made with Cherubims and palm trees, so that a palm tree was between a Cherub and a Cherub: and every Cherub had two faces.

19 So that the face of a man was toward the palm tree on the one side, and the face of a lion toward the palm tree on the other side: thus was it made through all the house round about.

20 From the ground unto above the door were Cherubims, and palm trees made as in the wall of the Temple.

21 The posts of the Temple were squared, and thus to look unto was the similitude and form of the Sanctuary.

22 The altar of wood was three cubits high, and the length thereof two cubits, and the corners thereof and the length thereof and the sides thereof were of wood. And he said unto me, This is the Table that shall be before the Lord.

23 And the Temple and the Sanctuary had two doors.

24 And the doors had two wickets, even two turning wickets, two wickets for one door, and two wickets for another door.

25 And upon the doors of the Temple there were made Cherubims and palm trees, like as was made upon the walls, and there were thick planks upon the forefront of the porch without.

26 And there were narrow windows and palm trees on the one side, and on the other side, by the sides of the porch, and upon the sides of the house, and thick planks.

42 Of the chambers of the Temple for the Priests, and the holy things.

CHAPTER 43

1 Then brought he me into the utter court by the way toward the North, and he brought me into the chamber that was over against the separate place, and which was before the building toward the North.

2 Before the length of an hundred cubits, was the North door, and it was fifty cubits broad.

3 Over against the twenty cubits which were for the inner court, and over against the pavement, which was for the utter court, was chamber against chamber in three rows.

4 And before the chambers was a gallery of ten cubits wide, and within was a way of one cubit, and their doors toward the North.

5 Now the chambers above were narrower: for those chambers seemed to eat up these, to wit, the lower, and those that were in the midst of the building.

6 For they were in three rows, but had not pillars as the pillars of the court: therefore there was a difference from them beneath and from the middlemost, even from the ground.

7 And the wall that was without over against the chambers, toward the utter court on the forefront of the chambers, was fifty cubits long.

8 For the length of the chambers that were in the utter court, was fifty cubits: and lo, before the Temple were an hundred cubits.

9 And under these chambers was the entry, on the East side, as one goeth into them from the outward court.

10 The chambers were in the thickness of the wall of the court toward the East, over against the separate place, and over against the building.

11 And the way before them was after the manner of the chambers, which were toward the North, as long as they, and as broad as they: and all their entries were like, both according to their fashions, and according to their doors.

12 And according to the doors of the chambers, that were toward the South, was a door in the corner of the way, even the way directly before the wall toward the East, as one entereth.

13 Then said he unto me, The North chambers and the South chambers which are before the separate place, they be holy chambers wherein the Priests that approach unto the Lord, shall eat the most holy things: there shall they lay the most holy things, and the meat offering, and the sin offering, and the trespass offering: for the place is holy.

14 When the Priests enter therein, they shall not go out of the holy place into the utter court, but there they shall lay their garments wherein they minister: for they are holy, and shall put on other garments, and so shall approach to those things, which are for the people.

15 Now when he had made an end of measuring the inner house, he brought me forth toward the gate whose prospect is toward the East, and measured it round about.

16 He measured the East side with the measuring rod, five hundred reeds even with the measuring reed round about.

17 He measured also the North side, five hundred reeds, even with the measuring reed round about.

18 And he measured the South ¹side five hundred reeds with the measuring reed.

19 He turned about also to the West side, and measured five hundred reeds with the measuring reed.

20 He measured it by the four sides: it had a wall round about, five hundred reeds long, and five hundred broad to make a separation between the Sanctuary, and the profane place.

43 ² He seeth the glory of God going into the Temple, from whence it had before departed. ⁷ He mentioneth the idolatry of the children of Israel, for the which they were consumed and brought to naught. ⁹ He is commanded to call them again to repentance.

1 Afterward he brought me to the gate even the gate that turneth toward the East.

2 And behold, the glory of the God of Israel, came from out of the East, whose voice was like a noise of great waters, and the earth was made light with his glory.

3 And the vision which I saw was ^alike the vision, even as the vision that I saw ¹when I came to destroy the city: and the visions were like the vision that I saw by the river Chebar, and I fell upon my face.

4 And the ¹glory of the Lord came into the house by the way of the gate, whose prospect is toward the East.

5 So the Spirit took me up and brought me into the inner court, and behold, the glory of the Lord filled the house.

6 And I heard one speaking unto me out of the house: and there stood a man by me,

7 Which said unto me, Son of man this place is my throne, and the place of the soles of my feet, whereas I will dwell among the children of Israel forever, and the house of Israel shall no more ¹defile mine holy Name, neither they, nor their kings by their fornication, nor by the carcasses of ²their kings in their high places.

8 Albeit they set their thresholds by my thresholds, and their posts by my posts (for there was but a wall between me and them) yet have they defiled mine holy Name with their abominations, that they have committed: wherefore I have consumed them in my wrath.

9 Now therefore let them put away their fornication, and the carcasses of their kings far from me, and I will dwell among them forever.

10 ¶ Thou son of man, show this House to the house of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their wickedness, and let them measure the pattern.

11 And if they be ashamed of all that they have done, show them the form of the house, and the pattern thereof, and the going out thereof, and the coming in thereof, and the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and all the figures thereof, and all the laws thereof: and write it in their sight, that they may keep the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and do them.

12 This is the ¹description of the house, It shall be upon the top of the mount: all the limits thereof round about shall be most holy. Behold, this is the description of the house.

13 And these are the measures of the Altar, after the cubits, the cubit is a cubit, and an hand breadth, even the bottom shall be a cubit, and the breadth a cubit, and the border thereof by the edge thereof round about shall be a span: and this shall be the height of the Altar.

14 And from the bottom which toucheth the ground to the lower piece shall be two cubits and the breadth one cubit, and from the little piece to the great piece shall be four cubits, and the breadth one cubit.

15 So the altar shall be four cubits, and from the altar upward shall be four horns.

16 And the altar shall be twelve cubits long and twelve broad, and foursquare in the four corners thereof.

17 And the frame shall be fourteen cubits long, and fourteen broad in the foursquare corners thereof, and the border about it shall be half a cubit, and the bottom thereof shall be a cubit about, and the steps thereof shall be turned toward the East.

18 ¶ And he said unto me, Son of man, thus saith the Lord God, These are the ordinances of the altar in the day when they shall make it to offer the burnt offering thereon, and to sprinkle blood thereon.

19 And thou shalt give to the Priests, and to the Levites that be of the seed of Zadok, which approach unto me, to minister unto me, saith the Lord God, a young bullock for a sin offering.

20 And thou shalt take of the blood thereof, and put it on the four horns of it, and on the four corners of the frame, and upon the border round about: thus shalt thou cleanse it, and reconcile it.

21 Thou shalt take the bullock also of the sin offering, and burn it in the appointed place of the house without the Sanctuary.

22 But the second day thou shalt offer an he goat without blemish for a sin offering, and they shall cleanse the altar, as they did cleanse it with the bullock.

23 When thou hast made an end of cleansing it, thou shalt offer a young bullock without blemish, and a ram out of the flock without blemish.

24 And thou shalt offer them before the Lord, and the Priests shall cast salt upon them, and they shall offer them for a burnt offering unto the Lord.

25 Seven days shalt thou prepare every day an he goat for a sin offering: they shall also prepare a young bullock and a ram out of the flock without blemish.

26 Thus shall they seven days purify the altar, and cleanse it, and ¹consecrate it.

27 And when these days are expired upon the eighth day and so forth, the Priests shall make your burnt offerings upon the altar, and your peace offerings, and I will accept you, saith the Lord God.

44 He reproveth the people for their offense. 7 The uncircumcised in heart, and in the flesh. 9 Who are to be admitted to the service of the Temple, and who to be refused.

1 Then he brought me toward the gate of the outward Sanctuary, which turneth toward the East, and it was shut.

2 Then said the Lord unto me, This gate shall be ¹shut, and shall not be opened, and no man shall enter by it, because the Lord God of Israel hath entered by it, and it shall be shut.

3 It appertaineth to the Prince: the Prince himself shall sit in it to eat bread before the Lord: he shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate, and shall go out by the way of the same.

4 ¶ Then brought he me toward the North gate before the house: and when I looked, behold, the glory of the Lord, filled the house of the Lord, and I fell upon my face.

5 And the Lord said unto me, Son of man, ¹mark well and behold with thine eyes, and hear with thine ears, all that I say unto thee, concerning all the ordinances of the house of the Lord, and all the laws thereof, and mark well the entering in of the house with every going forth of the Sanctuary.

6 And thou shalt say to the rebellious, even to the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, O house of Israel, ye have enough of all your abominations,

7 Seeing that ye have brought into my Sanctuary ¹strangers uncircumcised in heart, and uncircumcised in flesh, to be in my Sanctuary, to pollute mine house, when ye offer my bread, even fat, and blood: and they have broken my covenant, because of all your abominations.

8 For ye have not kept the ¹ordinances of mine holy things: but you yourselves have set others to take the charge of my Sanctuary.

9 Thus saith the Lord God, No stranger uncircumcised in heart, nor uncircumcised in flesh, shall enter into my Sanctuary, of any stranger that is among the children of Israel,

10 Neither yet the ¹Levites that are gone back from me, when Israel went astray, which went astray from me after their idols, but they shall bear their iniquity.

11 And they shall serve in my Sanctuary, and keep the gates of the House, and minister in the House: they shall slay the burnt offering and the sacrifice for the people: and they shall stand before them to serve them.

12 Because they served before their idols, and caused the house of Israel to fall into iniquity, therefore have I lifted up mine hand against them, saith the Lord God, and they shall bear their iniquity, 13 And they shall not come near unto me to do the office of the Priest unto me, neither shall they come near unto any of mine holy things in the most holy place, but they shall bear their shame, and their abominations, which they have committed.

14 And I will make them keepers of the watch of the House, for all the service thereof, and for all that shall be done therein.

15 But the Priests of the Levites, the sons of Zadok, that ¹kept the charge of my Sanctuary, when the children of Israel went astray from me, they shall come near to me to serve me, and they shall stand before me to offer me the fat and the blood, saith the Lord God.

16 They shall enter into my Sanctuary, and shall come near to my table, to serve me, and they shall keep my charge.

17 And when they shall enter in at the gates of the inner court, they shall be clothed with linen garments, and no wool shall come upon them while they serve in the gates of the inner court, and within.

1 Moreover, when ye shall divide the land for inheritance, ye shall offer an oblation unto the Lord an ¹holy portion of the land, five and twenty thousand reeds long, and ten thousand broad: this shall be holy in all the borders thereof round about.

2 Of this there shall be for the Sanctuary five hundred in length, with five hundred in breadth, all square round about, and fifty cubits round about for the suburbs thereof.

3 And of this measure shalt thou measure the length of five and twenty thousand, and the breadth of ten thousand: and in it shall be the Sanctuary, and the most holy place.

4 The holy portion of the land shall be the Priests, which minister in the Sanctuary, which came near to serve the Lord: and it shall be a place for their houses, and an holy place for the Sanctuary.

5 And in the five and twenty thousand of length, and the ten thousand of breadth shall the Levites that minister in the house, have their possession for twenty chambers.

6 Also ye shall appoint the possession of the city, five thousand broad, and five and twenty thousand long over against the oblation of the holy portion: it shall be for the whole house of Israel.

7 And a portion shall be for the prince on the one side, and on that side of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the possession of the city, even before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the possession of the city from the West corner Westward, and from the East corner Eastward, and the length shall be by one of the portions from the West border unto the East border.

15 And one Lamb of two hundred sheep out of the fat pastures of Israel for a meat offering, and for a burnt offering and for peace offerings, to make reconciliation for them, saith the Lord God.

17 And it shall be the prince's part to give burnt offerings, and meat offerings, and drink offerings in the solemn feasts and in the new moons, and in the Sabbaths, and in all the high feasts of the house of Israel: he shall prepare the sin offering, and the meat offering, and the burnt offering, and the peace offerings to make reconciliation for the house of Israel.

18 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, In the first month, in the first day of the ¹month, thou shalt take a young bullock without blemish and cleanse the Sanctuary.

1 Thus saith the Lord God, The gate of the inner court, that turneth toward the East, shall be shut the six working days: but on the Sabbath it shall be opened, and in the day of the new moon it shall be opened.

2 And the prince shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate without, and shall stand by the post of the gate, and the Priests shall make his burnt offering, and his peace offerings, and he shall worship at the threshold of the gate: after he shall go forth, but the gate shall not be shut till the evening.

3 Likewise the people of the land shall worship at the entry of this gate before the Lord on the Sabbaths, and in the new moons.

4 And the burnt offering that the prince shall offer unto the Lord on the Sabbath day, shall be six lambs without blemish, and a ram without blemish.

5 And the meat offering shall be an Ephah for a ram: and the meat offering for the lambs ¹a gift of his hand, and an Hin of oil to an Ephah.

6 And in the day of the new moon it shall be a young bullock without blemish, and six lambs and a ram: they shall be without blemish.

7 And he shall prepare a meat offering, even an Ephah for a bullock, and an Ephah for a ram, and for the lambs ¹according as his hand shall bring, and an Hin of oil to an Ephah.

8 And when the prince shall enter, he shall go in by the way of the porch of that gate, and he shall go forth by the way thereof.

9 But when the people of the land shall come before the Lord in the solemn feasts, he that entereth in by the way of the North gate to worship, shall go out by the way of the South gate: and he that entereth by the way of the South gate, shall go forth by the way of the North gate: he shall not return by the way of the gate whereby he came in, but they shall go forth over against it.

11 And in the feasts, and in the solemnities the meat offering shall be an Ephah to a bullock, and an Ephah to a ram, and to the lambs, the gift of his hand, and an Hin of oil to an Ephah.

12 Now when the prince shall make a free burnt offering, or peace offerings freely unto the Lord, one shall then open him the gate that turneth toward the East, and he shall make his burnt offering and his peace offerings, as he did on the Sabbath day: after he shall go forth, and when he is gone forth, one shall shut the gate.

13 Thou shalt daily make a burnt offering unto the Lord of a lamb of one year, without blemish: thou shalt do it every morning.

14 And thou shalt prepare a meat offering for it every morning, the sixth part of an Ephah, and the third part of an Hin of oil, to mingle with the fine flour: this meat offering shall be continually by a perpetual ordinance unto the Lord.

15 Thus shall they prepare the lamb, and the meat offering, and the oil every morning, for a continual burnt offering.

16 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, If the prince give a gift of his inheritance unto any of his sons, it shall be his sons, and it shall be their possession by inheritance.

17 But if he give a gift of his inheritance to one of his servants, then it shall be his to the ¹year of liberty: after, it shall return to the Prince, but his inheritance shall remain to his sons for them.

18 Moreover the prince shall not ¹take of the people's inheritance, nor thrust them out of their possession: but he shall cause his sons to inherit of his own possession, that my people be not scattered every man from his possession.

19 ¶ After he brought me through the entry, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers of the Priests, which stood toward the North: and behold, there was a place at the West side of them.

20 Then said he unto me, This is the place where the Priests shall seethe the trespass offering and the sin offering, where they shall bake the meat offering, that they should not bear them into the utter court, ¹to sanctify the people.

21 Then he brought me forth into the utter court, and caused me to go by the four corners of the court: and behold, in every corner of the court there was a court.

22 In the four corners of the court there were courts joined of forty cubits long, and thirty broad:

45:24 ¹ Read Exod. 29:40.

46:5 ¹ That is, as much as he will.

46:7 ¹ Meaning, as he shall think good.

46:17 ¹ Which was at the Jubilee, Lev. 25:9.

46:18 ¹ But be content with that portion that God hath assigned him, as Ezek. 45:8.

46:20 ¹ That the people should not have to do with those things which appertain to the Lord, and think it lawful for them to eat them.

these four corners were of one measure.

23 And there went a wall about them, even about those four, and kitchens were made under the walls round about.

24 Then said he unto me, This is the kitchen where the ministers of the house shall seethe the sacrifice of the people.

47 ¹ The vision of the waters that came out of the Temple. 13 The coasts of the land of promise, and the division thereof by tribes.

1 Afterward he brought me unto the door of the house: and behold, ¹waters issued out from under the threshold of the house Eastward: for the forefront of the house stood toward the East, and the waters ran down from under the right side of the house, at the South side of the altar.

2 Then brought he me out toward the North gate, and led me about by the way without unto the utter gate by the way that turneth Eastward: and behold, there came forth waters on the right side

3 And when the man that had the line in his hand, went forth Eastward, he measured a thousand cubits, and he brought me through the waters: the waters were to the ankles.

4 Again he measured a thousand and brought me through the waters: the waters were to the knees: again he measured a thousand, and brought me through: the waters were to the loins.

5 Afterward he measured a thousand, and it was a ¹river, that I could not pass over: for the waters were risen, and the waters did flow, as a river that could not be passed over.

6 And he said unto me, Son of man, hast thou seen this? Then he brought me, and caused me to return to the brink of the river:

7 Now when I turned, behold, at the brink of the river were very many ¹trees on the one side and on the other.

8 Then said he unto me, These waters issue out toward the East country, and run down into the plain, and shall go into one ¹sea: they shall run into another sea, and the waters shall be wholesome.

9 And everything that liveth, which moveth, wheresoever the rivers shall come, shall live, and there shall be a very great multitude of fish, because these waters shall come thither: ¹for they shall be wholesome, and everything shall live whither the river cometh.

10 And then the ¹fishers shall stand upon it, and from En Gedi even unto ²En Eglaim, they shall spread out their nets: for their fish shall be according to their kinds, as the fish of ³the main sea, exceeding many.

11 But ¹the miry places thereof, and the marshes thereof shall not be wholesome: they shall be made salt pits.

12 And by this river upon the brink thereof, on this side, and on that side shall grow all ¹fruitful trees, whose leaf shall not fade, neither shall the fruit thereof fail: it shall bring forth new fruit according to his months, because their waters run out of the Sanctuary: and the fruit thereof shall be meat, and the leaf thereof shall be for ²medicine.

13 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, This shall be the border, whereby ye shall inherit the land according to the twelve tribes ^aof Israel: Joseph shall have two portions.

14 And ye shall inherit it, one as well as another: ^bconcerning the which I lifted up mine hand to give it unto your fathers, and this land shall fall unto you for inheritance.

15 And this shall be the border ¹of the land toward the North side, from the main sea toward Hethlon, as men go to Zedad:

16 Hamath, Berothah, Sibram, which is between the border of Damascus, and the border of Hamath, and Hazar, Hatticon, which is by the coast of Hauran.

17 And the border from the sea shall be Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus, and the residue of the North Northward, and the border of Hamath: so shall be the North part.

18 But the East side shall ye measure from Hauran, and from Damascus, and from Gilead, and from the land of Israel by Jordan, and from the border unto the East sea: and so shall be the East part.

19 And the South side shall be toward Teman, from Tamar to the waters of ¹Meriboth in Kadesh, and the river to the main sea: so shall be the South

47:1 ¹ Whereby are meant the spiritual graces that should be given to the Church under the kingdom of Christ.

47:5 ¹ Signifying that the graces of God should never decrease, but ever abound in his Church.

47:7 ¹ Meaning, the multitude of them that should be refreshed by the spiritual waters.

47:8 ¹ Showing that the abundance of these graces should be so great, that all the world should be full thereof, which is here meant by the Persian sea, or Genezareth, and the sea called Mediterranean, Zech. 14:8.

47:9 ¹ The waters which of nature are salt, and unwholesome shall be made sweet and comfortable.

47:10 ¹ Signifying, that when God bestoweth his mercies in such abundance, the ministers shall by their preaching win many.

² Which were cities at the corners of the salt or dead sea.

part toward Teman.

20 The West part also shall be the great sea from the border, till a man come over against Hamath: this shall be the west part.

21 So shall ye divide this land unto you, according to the tribes of Israel.

22 And you shall divide it by lot for an inheritance unto you, and to the strangers that dwell among you, which shall beget children among you, and they shall be unto you, as born in the country among the children of Israel, ¹they shall part inheritance with you in the midst of the tribes of Israel.

23 And in what tribe the stranger dwelleth, there shall ye give him his inheritance, saith the Lord God.

48 The lots of the tribes. 9 The parts of the possession of the Priests, of the Temple, of the Levites, of the city, and of the Prince are rehearsed.

1 Now these are the names of the ¹tribes. From the North side, to the coast toward Hethlon as one goeth to Hamath, Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus Northward the coast of Hamath, even from the East side to the West shall be a portion for Dan.

2 And by the border of Dan from the East side unto the West side, a portion for Asher.

3 And by the border of Asher from the East part even unto the West part, a portion for Naphtali.

4 And by the border of Naphtali from the East quarter unto the West side, a portion for Manasseh.

5 And by the border of Manasseh, from the East side unto the West side, a portion for Ephraim.

6 And by the border of Ephraim, from the East part even unto the West part, a portion for Reuben.

7 And by the border of Reuben, from the East quarter unto the West quarter, a portion for Judah.

8 And by the border of Judah from the East part unto the West part ¹shall be the offering which they shall offer of five and twenty thousand reeds broad, and of length as one of the other parts, from the East side unto the West side, and the Sanctuary shall be in the midst of it.

9 The oblation that ye shall offer unto the Lord, shall be of five and twenty thousand long, and of ten thousand the breadth.

10 And for them, even for the Priests shall be this holy oblation, toward the North five and twenty thousand long, and toward the West, ten thousand 11 It shall be for the Priests that are sanctified of the sons of ^aZadok, which have kept my charge, which went not astray, when the children of Israel went astray, as the Levites went astray.

12 Therefore this oblation of the land that is offered shall be theirs, as a thing most holy by the border of the Levites.

13 And over against the border of the Priests the Levites shall have five and twenty thousand long, and [ten] thousand broad: all the length shall be five and twenty thousand, and the breadth ten thousand.

14 And they shall not sell of it, neither change it, nor alienate the firstfruits of the land: for it is holy unto the Lord.

15 And the five thousand that are left in the breadth over against the five and twenty thousand, shall be a profane place for the city, for housing, and for suburbs, and the city shall be in the midst thereof.

16 And these shall be the measures thereof, the North part five hundred and four thousand, and the South part ¹five hundred and four thousand, and the East part five hundred and four thousand, and the West part five hundred and four thousand.

17 And the suburbs of the city shall be toward the North two hundred and fifty, and toward the South two hundred and fifty, and toward the East two hundred and fifty, and toward the West two hundred and fifty.

18 And the residue in length over against the oblation of the holy portion shall be ten thousand Eastward, and ten thousand Westward: and it shall be over against the oblation of the holy portion, and the increase thereof shall be for food unto them that serve in the city.

19 And they that serve in the city, shall be of all the tribes of Israel that shall serve therein.

20 All the oblation shall be five and twenty thousand with ¹five and twenty thousand: you shall offer this oblation foursquare for the Sanctuary, and for the possession of the city.

21 And the residue shall be for the prince on the one side and on the other of the oblation of the Sanctuary, and of the possession of the city, over against the five and twenty thousand of the oblation toward the East border, and Westward over against the five and twenty thousand toward the West border,

47:22 ¹ Meaning, that in this spiritual kingdom there should be no difference between Jew nor Gentile, but that all should be partakers of this inheritance in their head Christ.

48:1 ¹ The tribes after that they entered into the land under Joshua, divided the land somewhat otherwise than is here set forth by this vision.

48:8 ¹ That is, the portion of the ground which they shall separate and appoint to the Lord, which shall be divided into three parts, for the Priests, for the Prince, and for the city.

48:16 ¹ Meaning, that it should be square.

over against shall be for the portion of the prince: this shall be the holy oblation, and the house of the Sanctuary shall be in the midst thereof.

22 Moreover, from the possession of the Levites, and from the possession of the city, that which is in the midst shall be the prince's: between the border ¹of Judah, and between the border of Benjamin shall be the Princes.

23 And the rest of the tribes shall be thus: from the East part unto the West part, Benjamin shall be a portion.

24 And by the border of Benjamin, from the East side unto the West side, Simeon a portion.

25 And by the border of Simeon from the East part unto the West part, Issachar a portion.

26 And by the border of Issachar, from the East side unto the West, Zebulun a portion.

27 And by the border of Zebulun, from the East part unto the West part, Gad a portion.

28 And by the border of Gad at the South side, toward ¹Temath, the border shall be even from ²Tamar, unto the waters of Meribah in Kadesh, and to the ³river, that runneth into the main sea.

29 This is the land, which ye shall distribute unto the tribes of Israel for inheritance, and these are their portions, saith the Lord God.

30 And these are the bounds of the city, on the North side five hundred, and four thousand measures.

31 And the gates of the city shall be after the names of the tribes of Israel, the gates Northward, one gate of Reuben, one gate of Judah, and one gate of Levi.

32 And at the East side five hundred and four thousand, and three gates, and one gate of Joseph, one gate of Benjamin, and one gate of Dan.

33 And at the South side, five hundred and four thousand measures, and three ports, one gate of Simeon, one gate of Issachar, and one gate of Zebulun.

34 At the West side, five hundred and four thousand, with their three gates, one gate of Gad, one gate of Asher, and one gate of Naphtali.

35 It was round about eighteen thousand measures, and the name of the city from that day shall be, ¹The Lord is there.

DANIEL

1 ¹ The captivity of Jehoiakim king of Judah. ⁴ The king chooseth certain young men of the Jews to learn his law. ⁵ They have the king's ordinary appointed, ⁸ but they abstain from it.

1 In the ¹third year of the reign of Jehoiakim king of Judah, came Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel unto Jerusalem and besieged it.

2 And the Lord gave Jehoiakim king of Judah into his hand with part of the vessels of the house of God, which he carried into the land of ¹Shinar, to the house of his god, and he brought the vessels into his god's treasury.

3 And the King spake unto ¹Ashpenaz the master of his ²Eunuchs, that he should bring certain of the children of Israel, of the ³King's seed, and of the princes:

4 Children in whom was no blemish, but well ¹avored, and instruct in all wisdom, and well seen in knowledge, and able to utter knowledge, and such as were able to stand in the king's palace, and whom they might ²teach the learning, and the tongue of the Chaldeans.

5 And the king appointed them provision every day of a ¹portion of the king's meat, and of the wine, which he drank, so nourishing them ²three years, that at the end thereof, they might stand ³before the king.

6 Now among these were certain of the children of Judah, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah.

7 Unto whom the chief of the Eunuchs ¹gave other names: for he called Daniel, Belteshazzar, and Hananiah, Shadrach, and Mishael, Meshach, and Azariah, Abednego.

8 ¶ But Daniel had determined in his heart, that he would not ¹defile himself with the portion of the King's meat, nor with the wine which he drank: therefore he required the chief of the Eunuchs that he might not defile himself.

9 (Now God had brought Daniel into favor, and tender love with the chief of the Eunuchs.)

10 And the chief of the Eunuchs said unto Daniel, ¹I fear my lord the King, who hath appointed your meat and your drink: therefore if he see your faces worse liking than the other children which are of your sort, then shall you make me lose mine head unto the King.

11 Then said Daniel to Melzar, whom the chief of the Eunuchs had set over Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, 12 Prove thy servants, I beseech thee, ¹ten days, and let them give us ²pulse to eat, and water to drink.

13 Then let our countenances be looked upon

1:1 ¹ Read 2 Kings 24:1 and Jer. 25:1.

1:2 ¹ Which was a plain by Babylon, where was the Temple of their great god, and is here taken for Babylon.

1:3 ¹ Who was as master of the wards.

² He calleth them Eunuchs whom the King nourished and brought up to be rulers of other countries afterward.

³ His purpose was to keep them as hostages, and that he might show himself victorious, and also by their good entreaty and learning of his religion, they might favor rather him than the Jews, and so to be able to serve him as governors in their land: moreover by this means the Jews might be better kept in subjection, fearing otherwise to procure hurt to these noble men.

1:4 ¹ The King required three things, that they should be of noble birth, that they should be witty and learned, and that they should be of a strong and comely nature, that they might do him better service: this he did for his own commodity, therefore it is not to praise his liberality: yet in this he is worthy praise, that he esteemed learning, and knew that it was a necessary means to govern by.

² That they might forget their own religion, and country fashions to serve him the better to his purpose: yet it is not to be thought that Daniel did learn any knowledge that was not godly: in all points he refused the abuse of things and superstition, insomuch that he would not eat the meat which the King appointed him, but was content to learn the knowledge of natural things.

1:5 ¹ That by their good entertainment they might learn to forget the mediocrity of their own people.

² To the intent that in this time they might both learn the manners of the Chaldeans, and also their tongue.

³ As well to serve at the table, as in other offices.

1:7 ¹ That they might altogether forget their religion: for the Jews gave their children names, which might ever put them in remembrance of some point of religion: therefore this was a great temptation and a sign of servitude, which they were not able to resist.

1:8 ¹ Not that he thought any religion to be in the meat or drink, (for afterward he did eat) but because the king should not entice him by this sweet poison to forget his religion and accustomed sobriety, and that in his meat and drink he might daily remember of what people he was: and Daniel bringeth this in to show how God from the beginning assisted him with his Spirit, and at length called him to be a Prophet.

1:10 ¹ He supposed they did this for their religion, which was contrary to the Babylonians, and therefore herein he representeth them, which are of no religion: for neither he would condemn theirs, nor maintain his own.

1:12 ¹ Meaning, that within this space he might have the trial, and that no man should be able to discern it: and thus he spake, being moved by the Spirit of God.

² Not that it was a thing abominable to eat dainty meats, and to drink wine, as both before and after they did, but if they should have hereby been won to the King, and have refused their own religion, that meat and drink had been accursed.

before thee, and the countenances of the children that eat of the portion of the King's meat: and as thou seest, deal with thy servants.

14 So he consented to them in this matter, and proved them ten days.

15 And at the end of ten days, their ¹countenances appeared fairer, and in ²better liking than all the children's, which did eat the portion of the King's meat.

16 Thus Melzar took away the portion of their meat, and the wine that they should drink, and gave them pulse.

17 As for these four children, God gave them knowledge, and understanding in all learning ¹and wisdom: also he gave Daniel understanding of all ²visions and dreams.

18 Now when the time ¹was expired, that the King had appointed to bring them in, the chief of the Eunuchs brought them before Nebuchadnezzar.

19 And the King communed with them: and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah: therefore stood they before the king.

20 And in all matters of wisdom, and understanding that the King enquired of them, he found them ten times better than all the enchanters and astrologians that were in all his realm.

21 And Daniel was unto ¹the first year of king Cyrus.

2 ¹ The dreams of Nebuchadnezzar. 13 The king commandeth all the wise men of Babylon to be slain, because they could not interpret his dream. 16 Daniel requireth time to solute the question. 24 Daniel is brought unto the king, and showeth him his dream, and the interpretation thereof. 44 Of the everlasting kingdom of Christ.

1 And in the ¹second year of the reign of Nebuchadnezzar, Nebuchadnezzar dreamed ²dreams wherewith his spirit was ³troubled, and his ⁴sleep was upon him.

2 Then the king commanded to call the enchanters, and the astrologians, and the sorcerers, and the ¹Chaldeans for to show the king his dreams: so they came and stood before the King.

3 And the king said unto them, I have dreamed a dream, and my spirit was troubled to know the dream.

4 Then spake the Chaldeans to the king in the ¹Aramite's language, O king, live forever: show thy servants thy dream, and we shall show the interpretation.

5 And the King answered and said to the Chaldeans, The thing is gone from me. If ye will not make me understand the dream with the interpretation thereof, ye ¹shall be drawn in pieces, and your houses shall be made a jakes.

6 But if ye declare the dream and the interpretation thereof, ye shall receive of me gifts and rewards, and great honor: therefore show me the dream and the interpretation of it.

7 They answered again, and said, Let the king show ¹his servants the dream, and we will declare the interpretation thereof.

8 Then the king answered, and said, I know certainly that ye ¹would gain the time, because ye see the thing is gone from me.

9 But if ye will not declare me the dream, there is but one judgment for you: for ye have prepared lying and corrupt words, to speak before me till the time be changed: therefore tell me the dream, that I may know, if ye can declare me the interpretation thereof.

10 Then the Chaldeans answered before the king, and said, There is no man upon earth that can declare the king's matter: yea, there is neither King nor Prince nor lord that asked such things at an enchanter, or

1:17 ¹ Meaning, in the liberal sciences, and natural knowledge, and not in the magical arts which are forbidden, Deut. 18:11.

² So that he only was a Prophet and none of the others: for by dreams and visions God appeared to his Prophets, Num. 12:6

1:18 ¹ Of the three years above mentioned, verse 5.

1:21 ¹ That is, he was esteemed in Babylon as a Prophet so long as that commonwealth stood.

2:1 ¹ The father and the son were both called by this name, so that this is meant of the son, when he reigned alone: for he reigned also after a sort with his father.

² Not that he had many dreams, but because many matters were contained in this dream.

³ Because it was so rare and strange a dream: that he had not had the like.

⁴ He was so heavy with sleep, that he began to sleep again. Some read, and his sleep was broken from him.

2:2 ¹ For all these Astrologers and sorcerers called themselves by this name of honor, as though all the wisdom and knowledge of the country depended upon them, and that all other countries were void of the same.

2:4 ¹ That is, in the Syrian tongue which differed not much from the Chaldeans, save it seemed to be more eloquent, and therefore the learned used to speak it, as the Jewish writers do to this day.

2:5 ¹ This is a just reward of their arrogance (which vaunted of themselves that they had the knowledge of all things) that they should be proved fools, and that to their perpetual shame and confusion.

2:7 ¹ Herein appeared their ignorance, that notwithstanding their brags, yet were they not able to tell the dream, except he entered them into the matter, and therefore they would pretend knowledge where was but mere ignorance, and so as deluders of the people, they were worthy to die.

astrologian, or Chaldean.

11 For it is a rare thing that the king requireth, and there is none other that can declare it before the king, except the gods whose dwelling is not with flesh.

12 For this cause the king was angry and in great fury, and commanded to destroy all the wise men of Babel.

13 ¶ And when sentence was given, the wise men were slain: and they ¹sought Daniel and his fellows to be put to death.

14 Then Daniel answered with counsel and wisdom to Arioch the king's ¹chief steward, which was gone forth to put to death the wise men of Babel.

15 Yea, he answered and said unto Arioch the king's captain, Why is the sentence so hasty from the king? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel.

16 So Daniel went and desired the king that he would give him leisure, and that he would show the king the interpretation thereof.

17 ¶ Then Daniel went to his house, and showed the matter to Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah his companions, 18 That they should beseech the God of heaven for grace in this secret, that Daniel and his fellows should not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babel.

19 Then was the secret revealed unto Daniel in a vision by night: therefore Daniel praised the God of heaven.

20 And Daniel answered and said, "The Name of God be praised forever and ever: for wisdom and strength are his.

21 And he changeth the times and seasons: he taketh away kings: he setteth up kings: he giveth wisdom unto the wise, and understanding to those that understand.

22 He discovereth the deep and secret things: he knoweth what is in darkness, and the ¹light dwelleth with him.

23 I thank thee and praise thee, O thou God of my ¹fathers, that thou hast given me wisdom and ²strength, and hast showed me now the thing that we desired of thee: for thou hast declared unto us the king's matter.

24 ¶ Therefore Daniel went unto Arioch, whom the King had ordained to destroy the wise men of Babel: he went and said thus unto him, Destroy not ¹the wise men of Babel, but bring me before the king, and I will declare unto the king the interpretation.

25 Then Arioch brought Daniel before the king in all haste, and said thus unto him, I have found a man of the children of Judah that were brought captives, that will declare unto the king the interpretation.

26 Then answered the king, and said unto Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, Art thou able to show me the dream which I have seen, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniel answered in the presence of the king, and said, The secret which the king hath demanded, can neither the wise, the astrologians, the enchanters, nor the soothsayers declare unto the king.

28 But there is a God in ¹heaven that revealeth secrets, and sheweth the king Nebuchadnezzar what shall be in the latter days. Thy dream, and the things which thou hast seen in thine head upon thy bed, is this:

29 O king, when thou wast in thy bed, thoughts came into thy mind, what should come to pass hereafter, and he that revealeth secrets, telleth thee what shall come.

30 As ¹for me, this secret is not showed me for any wisdom that I have more than any other living, but only to show the king the interpretation, and that thou mightest know the thoughts of thine heart.

31 O king, thou sawest, and behold, there was a great image: this great image whose glory was so excellent, stood before thee, and the form therefore was terrible.

32 This image's head was of fine ¹gold, his breast, and his arms of silver, his belly and his thighs of brass,

33 His legs of iron, and his feet were part of iron,

2:13 ¹ Which declareth that God would not have his servant joined in the company of these sorcerers and Astrologers, whose arts were wicked, and therefore justly ought to die, though the king did it upon a rage and no zeal.

2:14 ¹ Or, the captain of the guards.

2:22 ¹ He sheweth that man hath neither wisdom nor knowledge, but very dark blindness and ignorance of himself: for it cometh only of God, that man understandeth anything.

2:23 ¹ To whom thou madest thy promise, and who lived in thy fear: whereby he excludeth all other gods.

² Meaning, power to interpret it.

2:24 ¹ Whereby appeareth that many were slain, as verse 13, and the rest at Daniel's offer were preserved on condition: not that Daniel favored their wicked profession, but that he had respect to equity, because the King proceeded according to his wicked affection, and not considering if their science were lawful or no.

2:28 ¹ He affirmeth that man by reason and art is not able to attain to the cause of God's secrets, but the understanding only thereof must come of God: whereby he smiteth the king with a certain fear and reverence of God, that he might be the more apt to receive the high mysteries, that should be revealed.

2:30 ¹ Because he had said that God only must reveal the signification of this dream, the King might have asked, why Daniel did enterprise to interpret it, and therefore he sheweth that he was but God's minister and had no gifts, but such as God had given him to set forth his glory.

2:32 ¹ By gold, silver, brass and iron, are meant the Chaldean, Persian, Macedonian and Roman kingdoms, which should successively rule all the world till Christ (which is here called the stone) come himself, and destroy the last: and this was to assure the Jews, that their affliction should not end with the empire of the Chaldeans, but that they should patiently abide the coming of Messiah, which should be at the end of this fourth monarchy.

34 Thou beheldest it till a stone was cut without hands, which smote the image upon his feet, that were of iron and clay, and brake them to pieces.

35 Then was the iron, the clay, the brass, the silver and the gold broken all together, and became like the chaff of the summer flowers, and the wind carried them away, that no place was found for them: and the stone that smote the image, became a great mountain, and filled the whole earth.

36 This is the dream, and we will declare before the king the interpretation thereof.

37 ¶ O king, thou art a king of kings: for the God of heaven hath given thee a kingdom, power, and strength, and glory.

38 And in all places where the children of men dwell, the beasts of the field, and the fowls of the heaven hath he given into thine hand, and hath made thee ruler over them all: thou art ¹this head of gold.

39 And after thee shall rise another kingdom, ¹inferior to thee, of silver, and another ²third kingdom shall be of brass, which shall bear rule over all the earth.

40 And the fourth kingdom shall be strong as iron: for as iron breaketh in pieces, and subdueth all things, and as iron bruise all these things, so shall it break in ¹pieces, and bruise all.

41 Whereas thou sawest the feet and toes, part of potter's clay, and part of iron: the kingdom shall be ¹divided, but there shall be in it of the strength of the iron, as thou sawest the iron mixed with the clay, and earth.

42 And as the toes of the feet were part of iron, and part of clay, so shall the kingdom be partly strong, and partly broken.

43 And whereas thou sawest iron mixed with clay and earth, they shall mingle themselves with ¹the seed of men: but they shall not join one with another, as iron cannot be mixed with clay.

44 And in the days of these kings, shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom, which ¹shall never be destroyed: and this kingdom shall not be given to another people, but it shall break, and destroy all these kingdoms, and it shall stand forever.

45 Whereas thou sawest, that the ¹stone was cut of the mountain without hands, and that it brake in pieces the iron, the brass, the clay, the silver, and the gold: so the great God hath showed the king, what shall come to pass hereafter, and the dream is true, and the interpretation thereof is sure.

46 ¶ Then the king Nebuchadnezzar fell upon his face, and ¹bowed himself unto Daniel, and commanded that they should offer meat offerings, and sweet odors unto him.

47 Also the King answered unto Daniel, and said, I know of a truth that your ¹God is a God of gods, and the Lord of kings, and the revealer of secrets, seeing thou couldest open this secret.

48 So the king made Daniel a great man, and gave him many and great ¹gifts. He made him governor over the whole province of Babel, and chief of the rulers, and above all the wise men of Babel.

49 Then Daniel ¹made request to the King, and he set Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego over the charge of the province of Babel: but Daniel sat in the ²gate of the king.

3 ¹ The king setteth up a golden image. ⁸ Certain are accused because they despised the king's commandment.

2:38 ¹ Daniel leaveth out the kingdom of the Assyrians, which was before the Babylonian, both because it was not a Monarchy and general empire, and also because he would declare the things that were to come, to the coming of Christ, for the comfort of the elect among these wonderful alterations, and he calleth the Babylonian kingdom the golden head, because in respect of the other three, it was the best, and yet it was of itself wicked and cruel.

2:39 ¹ Meaning, the Persians which were not inferior in dignity, power, and riches, but were worse touching ambition, cruelty, and all kind of vice, showing that the world should grow worse and worse, till it was restored by Christ.

² That is, of the Macedonians shall be of brass, not alluding to the hardness thereof, but to the vileness in respect of silver.

2:40 ¹ That is, the Roman empire shall subdue all these other aforementioned, which after Alexander were divided into the Macedonians, Grecians, Syrians and Egyptians.

2:41 ¹ They shall have civil wars, and continual discords among themselves.

2:43 ¹ They shall by marriages and affinities think to make themselves strong: yet shall they never be joined in hearts.

2:44 ¹ His purpose is to show, that all the kingdoms of the world are transitory, and that the kingdom of Christ shall only remain forever.

2:45 ¹ Meaning Christ, who was sent of God, and not set up by man, whose kingdom at the beginning should be small and without beauty to man's judgment, but should at length grow and fill the whole earth, which he calleth a great mountain, as verse 35. And this kingdom which is not only referred to the person of Christ, but also to the whole body of his Church, and to every member thereof, shall be eternal: for the Spirit that is in them is life eternal, Rom. 8:10.

2:46 ¹ Though this humbling of the king seemed to deserve commendation, yet because he joined God's honor with the Prophet's, it is to be reproved, and Daniel herein erred, if he suffered it: but it is credible that Daniel admonished him of his fault, and did not suffer it.

2:47 ¹ This confession was but a sudden motion, as it was also in Pharaoh, Exod. 9:28, but his heart was not touched, as appeared soon afterward.

2:48 ¹ Not that the Prophet was desirous of gifts or honor, but because by this means he might relieve his poor brethren, which were grievously oppressed in this their captivity, and also he received them, lest he should offend this cruel king, which willingly gave them.

2:49 ¹ He did not this for their private profit: but that the whole Church, which was then there in affliction, might have some release and ease by this benefit.

² Meaning, that either he was a judge, or that he had the whole authority, so than none could be admitted to the king's presence, but by him.

and are put into a burning oven. 15 By belief in God they are delivered from the fire. 25 Nebuchadnezzar confesseth the power of God after the sight of the miracle.

1 Nebuchadnezzar the king made ¹an image of gold, whose height was threescore cubits, and the breadth thereof six cubits: he set it up in the plain of Dura, in the province of Babel.

2 Then Nebuchadnezzar the king sent forth to gather together the nobles, the princes and the dukes, the judges, the receivers, the counselors, the officers, and all the governors of the provinces, that they should come to the ¹dedication of the image, which Nebuchadnezzar the ²King had set up.

3 So the nobles, princes, and dukes, the judges, the receivers, the counselors, the officers, and all the governors of the provinces were assembled unto the dedicating of the image that Nebuchadnezzar the King had set up and they stood before the image which Nebuchadnezzar had set up.

4 Then an herald cried aloud, Be it known to you, O people, ¹nations, and languages,

5 That when ye hear the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harp, sackbut, psaltery, dulcimer, and all instruments of music, ye fall down, and worship the golden image, that Nebuchadnezzar the king hath set up.

6 And whosoever falleth not down, and worship-peth, shall the same hour be cast into the midst of an hot fiery furnace.

7 Therefore as soon as all the people heard the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harp, sackbut, psaltery, and all instruments of music, all the people, nations, and languages fell down, and worshipped the golden image, that Nebuchadnezzar the king had set up.

8 ¶ By reason whereof at that same time came men of the Chaldeans, and grievously accused the Jews.

9 For they spake and said to the king Nebuchadnezzar, O King, live forever.

10 Thou, O King, hast made a decree, that every man that shall hear the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harp, sackbut, psaltery, and dulcimer, and all instruments of music, shall fall down, and worship the golden image.

11 And whosoever falleth not down, and worship-peth, that he should be cast into the midst of an hot fiery furnace.

12 There are certain Jews whom thou hast set over the charge of the province of Babel, ¹Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: these men, O King, have not regarded thy commandment, neither will they serve thy gods, nor worship the golden image that thou hast set up.

13 ¶ Then Nebuchadnezzar in his anger and wrath commanded that they should bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, so these men were brought before the king.

14 And Nebuchadnezzar spake, and said unto them, What disorder? will not you, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, serve my god, nor worship the golden image that I have set up?

15 ¹Now therefore are ye ready when ye hear the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harp, sackbut, psaltery, and dulcimer, and all instruments of music, to fall down, and worship the image which I have made? for if ye worship it not, ye shall be cast immediately into the midst of an hot fiery furnace: for who is that God, that can deliver you out of mine hands?

16 Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego answered and said to the King, O Nebuchadnezzar, we ¹are not careful to answer thee in this matter.

17 Behold, our God whom we serve, is ¹able to deliver us from the hot fiery furnace, and he will deliver us out of thine hand, O king.

18 But if not, be it known to thee, O king, that

3:1 ¹ Under pretence of religion, and holiness in making an image to his idol Bel, he sought his own ambition and vain glory: and this declareth that he was not toucheth with the true fear of God before but that he confessed him on a sudden motion as the wicked when they are overcome with the greatness of his works. The Greek interpreters write, that this was done eighteen years after the dream, and as may appear, the King feared lest the Jews by their religion, should have altered the state of his commonwealth, and therefore he meant to bring all to one kind of religion, and so rather sought his own quietness than God's glory.

3:2 ¹ Showing that the idol is not known for an idol so long as he is with workmen: but when the ceremonies and customs are recited and used, and the consent of the people is there, then of a block they think they have made a god.

² This was sufficient with the wicked at all times to approve their religion, if the king's authority were alleged for the establishment thereof, not considering in the mean season what God's word did permit.

3:4 ¹ These are the two dangerous weapons, wherewith Satan used to fight against the children of God, the consent of the multitude, and the cruelty of the punishment: for though some feared God, yet the multitude, which consented to the wickedness, astonished them: and here the King required, not an inward consent, but an outward gesture, that the Jews might by little and little learn to forget their true religion.

3:12 ¹ It seemeth that they named not Daniel, because he was greatly in the king's favor, thinking if these three had been destroyed, they might have had better occasion to accuse Daniel: and this declareth that this policy of erecting this image was invented by the malicious flatterers which sought nothing but the destruction of the Jews, whom they accused of rebellion and ingratitude.

3:15 ¹ Signifying that he would receive them to grace if they would now at the length obey his decree.

3:16 ¹ For they should have done injury to God, if they should have doubted in this holy cause, and therefore they say, that they are resolved to die for God's cause.

3:17 ¹ They ground on two points, first on the power and providence of God over them, and secondly on their cause, which was God's glory, and the testifying of his true religion with their blood, and so make open confession, that they will not so much as outwardly consent to idolatry.

we will not serve thy gods, nor worship the golden image which thou hast set up.

19 ¶ Then was Nebuchadnezzar full of rage, and the form of his visage was changed against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: therefore he charged and commanded that they should heat the furnace at once seven ¹times more than it was wont to be heated.

20 And he charged the most valiant men of war that were in his army, to bind Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, and to cast them into the hot fiery furnace.

21 So these men were bound in their coats, their hosen, and their cloaks, with their other garments, and cast into the midst of the hot fiery furnace.

22 Therefore, because the king's commandment was strait, that the furnace should be exceeding hot, the flame of the fire slew those men that brought forth Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego.

23 And these three men, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego fell down bound into the midst of the hot fiery furnace.

24 ¶ Then Nebuchadnezzar the king was astonished, and rose up in haste, and spake, and said unto his counselors, Did not we cast three men bound into the midst of the fire? Who answered, and said unto him, It is true, O king.

25 And he answered, and said, Lo, I see four men loose, walking in the midst of the fire, and they have no hurt, and the form of the fourth is like the ¹son of God.

26 Then the King Nebuchadnezzar came near to the mouth of the hot fiery furnace, and spake and said, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, the servants of the high God, go forth and come hither: so Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego ¹came forth of the midst of the fire.

27 Then the nobles, princes, and dukes, and the king's counselors came together to see these men, because the fire had no power over their bodies: for not an hair of their head was burnt, neither were their coats changed, nor any smell of fire came upon them.

28 Wherefore Nebuchadnezzar spake and said, ¹Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, who hath sent his Angel, and delivered his servants, that put their trust in him, and have changed the king's commandment, and yielded their bodies rather than they would serve or worship any god save their own God.

29 Therefore I make a decree that every people, nation, and language, which speak any ¹blasphemy against the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, shall be drawn in pieces, and their houses shall be made a jakes, because there is no god that can deliver after this sort.

30 Then the King promoted Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego in the province of Babel.

31 Nebuchadnezzar king unto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the ¹world, Peace be multiplied unto you:

32 I thought it good to declare the signs and wonders, that the high God hath wrought toward me.

33 How great are his signs, and how mighty are his wonders! ¹his kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and his dominion is from generation to generation.

4 ² Another dream of Nebuchadnezzar, which Daniel declareth. 29 The Prophet declareth how of a proud king, he should become as a beast. 31 After he confesseth the power of God, and is restored to his former dignity.

1 I Nebuchadnezzar being at ¹rest in mine house, and flourishing in my palace,

2 Saw a ¹dream, which made me afraid, and the thoughts upon my bed, and the visions of mine head troubled me.

3 Therefore made I a decree, that they should bring all the wise men of Babel before me, that they might declare unto me the interpretation of the dream.

4 So came the enchanters, the astrologians, the Chaldeans and the soothsayers, to whom I told the dream, but ¹they could not show me the interpreta-

3:19 ¹ This declareth that the more that tyrants rage, and the more witty they show themselves inventing strange and cruel punishments, the more is God glorified by his servants to whom he giveth patience and constancy to abide the cruelty of their punishment: for either by delivereth them from death, or else for this life giveth them a better.

3:25 ¹ For the Angels were called the sons of God, because of their excellency: therefore the king called this Angel whom God sent to comfort his in these great torments, the son of God.

3:26 ¹ This commendeth their obedience unto God, that they would not for any fear depart out of this furnace, till the time appointed, as Noah remained in the ark, till the Lord called him forth.

3:28 ¹ He was moved by the greatness of the miracle to praise God, but his heart was not touched. And here we see that miracles are not sufficient to convert men to God, but that doctrine most chiefly be adjoined, without the which there can be no faith.

3:29 ¹ If this heathen king moved by God's Spirit would not see blasphemy unpunished, but made a law and set a punishment to such transgressors, much more ought all they that profess religion, take order that such impiety reign not, lest according as their knowledge and charge is greater, so they suffer double punishment.

3:31 ¹ Meaning, so far as his dominion extended.

3:33 ¹ Read Dan. 2:44.

4:1 ¹ There was no trouble that might cause me to dream, and therefore it came only of God.

4:2 ¹ This was another dream besides that which he saw of the four Empires, for Daniel both declared what that dream was, and what it meant, and here he only expoundeth the dream.

4:4 ¹ In that that he sent abroad to others, whose ignorance in times past he had experimented, and left Daniel which was ever ready at hand, it declareth the nature of the ungodly, which never seek to the servants of God, but for very necessity, and then they spare no flattering.

tion thereof,

5 Till at the last Daniel came before me, (whose name was ¹Belteshazzar, according to the name of my god, which hath the spirit of the holy gods in him) and before him I told the dream, saying,

6 O Belteshazzar, ¹chief of the enchanters, because I know, that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and no secret troubleth thee, tell me the visions of my dream, that I have seen, and the interpretation thereof.

7 Thus were the visions of my head in my bed, and behold, I saw a ¹tree in the midst of the earth, and the height thereof was great:

8 A great tree and strong, and the height thereof reached unto heaven, and the sight thereof to the ends of all the earth.

9 The boughs thereof were fair and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meat for all: it made a shadow under it for the beasts of the field, and the fowls of the heaven dwelt in the boughs thereof, and all flesh fed of it.

10 I saw in the visions of mine head upon my bed, and behold, a ¹watchman and an holy one came down from heaven,

11 And cried aloud, and said thus, Hew down the tree, and break off his branches: shake off his leaves, and scatter his fruit, that the beasts may flee from under it, and the fowls from his branches.

12 Nevertheless, leave the stump of his roots in the earth, and with a band of iron and brass bind it among the grass of the field, and let it be wet with the dew of heaven, and let his portion be with the beasts among the grass of the field.

13 ¹Let his heart be changed from man's nature, and let a beast's heart be given unto him, and let seven times be passed over him.

14 ¹The sentence is according to the decree of the watchmen, and according to the word of the holy ones: the demand was answered, to the intent that living men may know, that the most High hath power over the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever he will,

and appointeth over it the most abject among men.

15 This is the dream, that I King Nebuchadnezzar have seen: therefore thou, O Belteshazzar, declare the interpretation thereof: for all the wise men of my kingdom are not able to show me the interpretation: but thou art able, for the spirit of the holy gods is in thee.

16 ¶ Then Daniel (whose name was Belteshazzar) held his ¹peace by the space of one hour, and his thoughts troubled him, and the King spake and said, Belteshazzar, let neither the dream, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Belteshazzar answered and said, My lord, the dream be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies.

17 The tree that thou sawest, which was great and mighty, whose height reached unto the heaven, and the sight thereof through all the world,

18 Whose leaves were fair, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meat for all, under the which the beasts of the field dwelt, and upon whose branches the fowls of the heaven did sit,

19 It is thou, O king, that art great and mighty: for thy greatness is grown, and reacheth unto heaven, and thy dominion to the ends of the earth.

20 Whereas the King saw a watchman, and an holy one that came down from heaven, and said, Hew down the tree, and destroy it, yet leave the stump of the roots thereof in the earth, and with a band of iron and brass bind it among the grass of the field, and let it be wet with the dew of heaven, and let his portion be with the beasts of the field, ¹till seven times pass over him.

21 This is the interpretation, O king, and it is the decree of the most High, which is come upon my lord the king,

22 That they shall drive thee from men, and thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eat grass as the ¹oxen, and they shall wet thee with the dew of heaven: and seven times shall pass over thee, till thou know, that ²the

4:5 ¹ This no doubt was a great grief to Daniel not only to have his name changed, but to be called by the name of a vile idol, which thing Nebuchadnezzar did to make him forget the true religion of God.

4:6 ¹ Which also was a great grief to the Prophet to be numbered among the sorcerers and men whose practices were wicked and contrary to God's word.

4:7 ¹ By the tree is signified the dignity of a king whom God ordaineth to be a defense for all kind of men, and whose state is profitable for mankind.

4:10 ¹ Meaning the Angel of God, which neither eateth nor sleepeth, but is ever ready to do God's will, and is not infected with man's corruption, but is ever holy: and in that that he commandeth to cut down this tree, he knew that it should not be cut down by man, but by God.

4:13 ¹ Hereby he meaneth that Nebuchadnezzar should not only for a time lose his kingdom, but be like a beast.

4:14 ¹ God hath decreed this judgment and the whole army of heaven have as it were subscribed unto it, like as also they desire the execution of his decree against all them that lift up themselves against God.

4:16 ¹ He was troubled for the great judgment of God, which he saw ordained against the king, and so the Prophets used on the one part to denounce God's judgments for the zeal they bare to his glory, and on the other part to have compassion upon man, and also to consider that they should be subject to God's judgments, if he did not regard them with pity.

4:20 ¹ Whereby he meaneth a long space, as seven years. Some interpret seven months, and others seven weeks, but it seemeth he means of years.

4:22 ¹ Not that his shape or form was changed into a beast, but that he was either stricken mad, and so avoided man's company, or was cast out for his tyranny, and so wandered among the beasts, and ate herbs and grass.

² Daniel sheweth the cause why God thus punished him.

most High beareth rule over the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever he will.

23 Whereas they said, that one should leave the stump of the tree roots, thy kingdom shall remain unto thee: after that, thou shalt know, that the heavens have the rule.

24 Wherefore, O king, let my counsel be acceptable unto thee, and ¹break off thy sins by righteousness, and thine iniquities by mercy towards the poor: lo, let there be a ²healing of thine error.

25 All these things shall come upon the king Nebuchadnezzar.

26 ¶ At the end of twelve ¹months, he walked in the royal palace of Babel.

27 And the king spake and said, Is not this great Babel that I have built for the house of the kingdom by the might of my power, and for the honor of my majesty?

28 While the word was in the king's mouth, a voice came down from heaven, saying, O king Nebuchadnezzar, to thee be it spoken, Thy kingdom is departed from thee,

29 And they shall drive thee from men, and thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eat grass, as the oxen, and seven times shall pass over thee, until thou knowest, that the most High beareth rule over the kingdom of men, and giveth it unto whomsoever he will.

30 The very same hour was this thing fulfilled upon Nebuchadnezzar, and he was driven from men, and did eat grass as the oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of heaven, till his hairs were grown as eagles feathers, and his nails like birds claws.

31 And at the end of these ¹days, I Nebuchadnezzar lifted up mine eyes unto heaven, and mine understanding was restored unto me, and I gave thanks unto the most High, and I praised and honored him, that liveth forever, "whose power is an everlasting power, and his kingdom is from generation to generation.

^a Dan. 7:14
Mic. 4:17
Luke 1:33

32 And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: and according to his ¹will he worketh in the army of heaven, and in the inhabitants of the earth: and none can stay his hand, nor say unto him, What doest thou?

33 At the same time was mine understanding restored unto me, and I returned to the honor of my kingdom: my glory and my beauty was restored unto me, and my counselors and ¹my princes sought unto me, and I was established in my kingdom, and my glory was augmented toward me.

34 Now therefore I Nebuchadnezzar ¹praise, and extol and magnify the king of heaven, whose works are all truth, and his ways judgment: and those that walk in pride, he is able to abase.

5 ⁵ Belshazzar king of Babylon seeth an handwriting on the wall. ⁸ The soothsayers called of the king, cannot expound the writing. ²⁵ Daniel readeth it, and interpreteth it also. ³⁰ The king is slain. ³¹ Darius enjoyeth the kingdom.

1 King ¹Belshazzar made a great feast to a thousand of his princes, and drank wine ²before the thousand.

2 And Belshazzar ¹while he tasted the wine, commanded to bring him the golden and silver vessels, which his ²father Nebuchadnezzar had brought from the Temple in Jerusalem, that the king and his princes, his wives, and his concubines might drink therein.

3 Then were brought the golden vessels, that were taken out of the Temple of the Lord's house at Jerusalem, and the king and his princes, his wives and his concubines drank in them.

4 They drank wine, and praised the ¹gods of gold, and of silver, of brass, of iron, of wood, and of stone.

5 At the same hour appeared fingers of a man's hand, which wrote over ¹against the candlestick upon the plaster of the wall of the king's palace, and the 4:24 ¹ Cease from provoking God to anger any longer by thy sins, that he may mitigate his punishment, if thou show by thine upright life that thou hast true faith and repentance.

² Suffer the errors of thy former life to be redressed.

4:26 ¹ After that Daniel had declared this vision: and this his pride declareth that it is not in man to convert to God, except his Spirit move him: seeing that these terrible threatenings could not move him to repent.

4:31 ¹ When the term of these seven years was accomplished.

4:32 ¹ He confesseth God's will to be the rule of all justice, and a most perfect law, whereby he governeth both man and Angels and devils, so that none ought to murmur or ask a reason of his doings, but only to stand content therewith and give him the glory.

4:33 ¹ By whom it seemeth that he had been put from his kingdom before.

4:34 ¹ He doth not only praise God for his deliverance, but also confesseth his fault that God may only have the glory, and man the shame, and that he may be exalted and man cast down.

5:1 ¹ Daniel reciteth this history of king Belshazzar, Evil-merodach's son, to show God's judgments against the wicked for the deliverance of his Church: and how the prophecy of Jeremiah was true, that they should be delivered after seventy years.

² The kings of the East parts then used to sit alone commonly, and disdained that any should sit in their company: and now to show his power, and how little he set by his enemy, which then besieged Babylon, he made a solemn banquet, and used excess in their company, which is meant here by drinking wine: thus the wicked are most dissolute and negligent, when their destruction is at hand.

5:2 ¹ Or, overcome with wine.

² Meaning, his grandfather.

5:4 ¹ In contempt of the true God, they praise their idols, not that they thought that the gold or silver were gods, but that there was a certain virtue and power in them to do them good, which is also the opinion of all idolaters.

5:5 ¹ That it might the better be seen.

king saw the palm of the hand that wrote.

6 Then the king's countenance was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the joints of his loins were loosed, and his ¹knees smote one against the other.

7 Wherefore the king cried loud, that they should bring ¹the astrologians, the Chaldeans and the soothsayers. And the king spake, and said to the wise men of Babel, Whosoever can read this writing, and declare me the interpretation thereof, shall be clothed with purple, and shall have a chain of gold about his neck, and shall be the third ruler in the kingdom.

8 Then came all the king's wise men, but they could neither read the writing, nor show the king the interpretation.

9 Then was king Belshazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his princes were astonished.

10 Now the ¹Queen by reason of the talk of the King and his princes, came into the banquet house, and the Queen spake, and said, O king, live forever: let not thy thoughts trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed.

11 There is a man in thy kingdom, in whom is the spirit of the holy gods, and in the days of thy father, light and understanding and wisdom like the wisdom of the gods, was found in him: whom the king Nebuchadnezzar thy father, the king, I say, thy father, made chief of the ¹enchanters, astrologians, Chaldeans, and soothsayers,

12 Because a more excellent spirit, and knowledge, and understanding (for he did expound dreams, and declare hard sentences, and dissolved doubts) were found in him, even in Daniel, whom the king named Belteshazzar: now let Daniel be called, and he will declare the interpretation.

13 ¶ Then was Daniel brought before the king, and the king spake and said unto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captivity of Judah, whom my father the king brought out of Jewry?

14 Now I have heard of thee, that ¹the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and that light and understanding, and excellent wisdom is found in thee.

15 Now therefore wise men and Astrologians have been brought before me, that they should read this writing, and show me the interpretation thereof: but they could not declare the interpretation of the thing.

16 Then heard I of thee, that thou couldest show interpretations, and dissolve doubts: now if thou canst read the writing, and show me the interpretation thereof, thou shalt be clothed with purple, and shall have a chain of gold about thy neck, and shalt be the third ruler in the kingdom.

17 Then Daniel answered, and said before the king, Keep thy rewards to thyself, and give thy gifts to another: yet I will read the writing unto the king, and show him the interpretation.

18 O king, hear thou, The most high God gave unto ¹Nebuchadnezzar thy father a kingdom, and majesty, and honor, and glory.

19 And for the majesty that he gave him, all people, nations, and languages trembled, and feared before him: he put to death whom he would: he smote whom he would: whom he would he set up, and whom he would he put down.

20 But when his heart was puffed up, and his mind hardened in pride, he was deposed from his kingly throne, and they took his honor from him.

21 And he was driven from the sons of men, and his heart was made like the beasts, and his dwelling was with the wild asses: they fed him with grass like oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of the heaven, till he knew that the most high God bare rule over the kingdom of men, and that he appointeth over it, whomsoever he pleaseth.

22 And thou his son, O Belshazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou knewest all these things, 23 But hast lifted thyself up against the Lord of heaven, and they have brought the vessels of his House before thee, and thou and thy princes, thy wives and thy concubines have drunk wine in them, and thou hast praised the gods of silver and gold, of brass, iron, wood and stone, which neither see, neither hear, nor understand: and the God in whose hand thy breath is and all thy ways, him hast thou not glorified.

24 ¹Then was the palm of the hand sent from him, and hath written this writing.

5:6 ¹ So he that before contemned God, was moved by this sight to tremble for fear of God's judgments.

5:7 ¹ Thus the wicked in their troubles seek many means, who draw them from God, because they seek not to him who is the only comfort in all afflictions.

5:10 ¹ To wit, his grandmother Nebuchadnezzar's wife, which for her age was not before at the feast, but came thither when she heard of these strange news.

5:11 ¹ Read Dan. 4:6, and this declareth that both this name was odious unto him, and also he did not use these vile practices, because he was not among them when all were called.

5:14 ¹ For the idolaters thought that the Angels had power as God, and therefore had them in like estimation, as they had God, thinking that the spirit of prophecy and understanding came of them.

5:18 ¹ Before he read the writing, he declareth to the king his great ingratitude toward God, who could not be moved to give him the glory, considering his wonderful work toward his grandfather, and so sheweth that he doth not sin of ignorance but of malice.

5:24 ¹ After that God had so long time deferred his anger, and patiently waited for thine amendment.

25 And this is the writing that he hath written, ¹MENE, MENE, TEKEL UPHARSIN.

26 This is the interpretation of the thing, MENE, God hath numbered thy kingdom, and hath finished it.

27 TEKEL, thou art weighed in the balance, and art found ¹too light.

28 PERES, thy kingdom is divided and given to the Medes and Persians.

29 Then at the commandment of Belshazzar they clothed Daniel with purple, and put a chain of gold about his neck, and made a proclamation concerning him that he should be the third ruler in the kingdom.

30 The same night was Belshazzar the King of the Chaldeans slain.

31 And Darius ¹of the Medes took the kingdom, being threescore and two years old.

6 1 Daniel is made ruler over the governors. 5 An act against Daniel. 16 He is put into a den of lions by the commandment of the king. 23 He is delivered by faith in God. 24 Daniel's accusers are put unto the lions. 25 Darius by a decree magnifieth the God of Daniel.

1 It pleased Darius to set over the kingdom ¹an hundred and twenty governors, which should be over the whole kingdom,

2 And over these three rulers, (of whom Daniel was one) that the governors might give accompts unto them, and the king ¹should have no damage.

3 Now this Daniel ¹was preferred above the rulers, and governors, because the spirit was excellent in him, and the king thought to set him over the whole realm.

4 ¶ Wherefore the rulers and governors ¹sought an occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdom: but they could find none occasion nor fault: for he was so faithful that there was no blame nor fault found in him.

5 Then said these men, We shall not find an occasion against this Daniel, except we find it against him concerning the Law of his God.

6 Therefore the rulers and these governors went together to the king, and said thus unto him, King Darius, live forever.

7 All the rulers of thy kingdom, the officers and governors, the counselors and dukes have consulted together to make a decree for the king, and to establish a statute, that whosoever shall ask a petition of any god or man for thirty days save of thee, O king, he shall be cast into the den of lions.

8 Now, O king, confirm the decree, and seal the writing, that it be not changed, according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

9 Wherefore king Darius ¹sealed the writing and the decree.

10 ¶ Now when Daniel understood that he had sealed the writing, he went into his house, and his ¹window being open in his chamber toward Jerusalem, he kneeled upon his knees three times a day, and prayed and praised his God, as he did aforetime.

11 Then these men assembled, and found Daniel praying, and making supplication unto his God.

12 So they came and spake unto the king concerning the king's decree, Hast thou not sealed the decree, that every man that shall make a request to any god or man within thirty days, save to thee, O King, shall be cast into the den of lions? The King answered, and said, The thing is true, according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

13 Then answered they, and said unto the King, This Daniel which is of the children of the captivity of Judah, regardeth not thee, O king, nor the decree that thou hast sealed, but maketh his petition three times a day.

14 When the King heard these words, he was sore displeased with himself, and set his heart on Daniel, to deliver him: and he labored till the sun went down, to deliver him.

15 Then these men assembled unto the king, and said unto the King, Understand, O King, that the law of the Medes and Persians is, that no decree nor statute which the king confirmeth, may be ¹altered.

5:25 ¹ This word is twice written for the certainty of the thing: showing that God had most surely counted: signifying also that God hath appointed a term for all kingdoms, and that a miserable end shall come on all that raise themselves against him.

5:27 ¹ Or, wanting.

5:31 ¹ Cyrus his son-in-law gave him this title of honor, although Cyrus in effect had the dominion.

6:1 ¹ Read Esther 1:1.

6:2 ¹ Or, not be troubled.

6:3 ¹ This heathen king preferred Daniel a stranger to all his nobles and familiars, because the graces of God were more excellent in him than in others.

6:4 ¹ Thus the wicked cannot abide the graces of God in others, but seek by all occasions to deface them, therefore against such assaults there is no better remedy than to walk upright in the fear of God, and to have a good conscience.

6:9 ¹ Herein is condemned the wickedness of the king, who would be set up as a god, and passed not what wicked laws he approved for the maintenance of the same.

6:10 ¹ Because he would not by his silence show that he consented to this wicked decree, he set open his windows toward Jerusalem, when he prayed: both to stir up himself with the remembrance of God's promises to his people, when they should pray toward that Temple, and also that others might see, that he would neither consent in heart nor deed for these few days to anything that was contrary to God's glory.

6:15 ¹ Thus the wicked maintain evil laws by constancy and authority, which is oftentimes either lightness, or stubbornness, when as the innocents thereby perish, and therefore governors neither ought to fear, nor be ashamed to break such.

16 ¶ Then the King commanded, and they brought Daniel, and cast him into the den of lions: now the king spake, and said unto Daniel, Thy God, whom thou always servest, even he will deliver thee.

17 And a stone was brought, and laid upon the mouth of the den, and the King sealed it with his own signet, and with the signet of his princes, that the purpose might not be changed, concerning Daniel.

18 Then the king went unto his palace, and remained fasting, neither were the instruments of music brought before him, and his sleep went from him.

19 ¶ Then the king arose early in the morning, and went in all haste unto the den of lions.

20 And when he came to the den, he cried with a lamentable voice unto Daniel: and the king spake, and said to Daniel, O Daniel the servant of the living God, is not thy God (whom thou always servest) ¹able to deliver thee from the lions?

21 Then said Daniel unto the King, O king, live forever.

22 My God hath sent his Angel and hath shut the lion's mouths, and they have not hurt me: for ¹my justice was found out before him: and unto thee, O king, I have done ²no hurt.

23 Then was the King exceeding glad for him, and commanded that they should take Daniel out of the den: so Daniel was brought out of the den, and no manner of hurt was found upon him, because he ¹believed in his God.

24 And by the commandment of the King these men which had accused Daniel, were brought, and were ¹cast into the den of lions, even they, their children, and their wives: and the lions had the mastery of them, and brake all their bones a pieces, or ever they came at the ground of the den.

25 ¶ Afterward King Darius wrote, Unto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the world: Peace be multiplied unto you.

26 I make a decree, that in all the dominion of my kingdom, men tremble and fear ¹before the God of Daniel: for he is the ²living God, and remaineth forever: and his kingdom shall not perish, and his dominion shall be everlasting.

27 He rescueth and delivereth, and he worketh signs and wonders in heaven and in earth: who hath delivered Daniel from the power of the lions.

28 So this Daniel prospered in the reign of Darius and in the reign of Cyrus of Persia.

7 ³ A vision of four beasts is showed unto Daniel. ⁸ The ten horns of the fourth beast. ²⁷ Of the everlasting kingdom of Christ.

1 In the first year of Belshazzar King of Babel, Daniel saw a dream, and there were visions in his head, upon his bed: ¹then he wrote the dream, and declared the sum of the matter.

2 Daniel spake and said, I saw in my vision by night, and behold, the four winds of the heaven strove upon ¹the great sea:

3 And four great beasts came up from the sea one divers from another.

4 The first was as a ¹lion, and had eagle's wings: I beheld till the wings thereof were plucked off, and it was lifted up from the earth, and set upon his feet as a man, and a man's heart was given him.

5 And behold, another beast which was the second, was like a ¹bear, and stood upon the ²one side: and he had three ribs in his ³mouth between his teeth, ⁴and they said thus unto him, Arise, and devour much flesh.

6:20 ¹ This declareth that Darius was not touched with the true knowledge of God, because he doubted of his power.

6:22 ¹ My just cause and uprightness in this thing wherein I was charged, is approved of God.

² For he did disobey the king's wicked commandment to obey God, and so did no injury to the king, who ought to command nothing whereby God should be dishonored.

6:23 ¹ Because he committed himself wholly unto God whose cause he did defend, he was assured that nothing but good could come unto him: wherein we see the power of faith, as Heb. 11:33.

6:24 ¹ This is a terrible example against all the wicked which do against their conscience make cruel laws to destroy the children of God, and also admonisheth Princes how to punish such when their wickedness is come to light: though not in every point, or with like circumstances, yet to execute true justice upon them.

6:26 ¹ This proveth not that Darius did worship God aright, or else was converted: for then he would have destroyed all superstition and idolatry: and not only given God the chief place, but also have set him up, and caused him to be honored according to his word: but this was a certain confession of God's power, whereunto he was compelled by this wonderful miracle.

² Which hath not only life in himself, but is the only fountain of life, and quickeneth all things, so that without him there is no life.

7:1 ¹ Whereas the people of Israel looked for a continual quietness, after their seventy years, as Jeremiah had declared, he sheweth that this rest shall not be a deliverance from all troubles, but a beginning, and therefore encourageth them to look for a continual affliction, till the Messiah be uttered and revealed, by whom they should have a spiritual deliverance, and all the promises be fulfilled: whereof they should have a certain token in the destruction of the Babylonian kingdom.

7:2 ¹ Which signified that there should be horrible troubles and afflictions in the world in all corners of the world, and at sundry times.

7:4 ¹ Meaning, the Assyrian and Chaldean empire, which was most strong and fierce in power, and most soon come to their authority, as though they had wings to fly: yet their wings were pulled by the Persians, and they went on their feet, and were made like other men, which is here meant by man's heart.

7:5 ¹ Meaning, the Persians which were barbarous and cruel.

² They were small in the beginning and were shut up in the mountains and had no fruit.

³ That is, destroyed many kingdoms, and was insatiable.

⁴ To wit, the Angels by God's commandment, who by this means punished the ingratitude of the world.

6 After this, I beheld, and lo, there was another like a ¹leopard, which had upon his back ²four wings of a fowl: the beast had also four heads, and ³dominion was given him.

7 After this, I saw in the visions by night, and behold, the ¹fourth beast was fearful and terrible and very strong. It had great ²iron teeth: it devoured and brake in pieces, and stamped ³the residue under his feet: and it was unlike to the beasts that were before it: for it had ⁴ten horns.

8 As I considered the horns, behold, there came up among them another little ¹horn, before whom there were ²three of the first horns plucked away: and behold, in this horn were ³eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking presumptuous things.

9 I beheld till the ¹thrones were set up, and the ²Ancient of days did sit, whose garment was white as snow, and the hair of his head like the pure wool: his throne was like the fiery flame, and his wheels, as burning fire.

10 A fiery stream issued, and came forth from before him: thousand thousands ministered unto him, and ten thousand ¹thousands stood before him: the judgment was set, and the ²books opened.

11 Then I beheld, ¹because of the voice of the presumptuous words which the horn spake: I beheld, even till the beast was slain, and his body destroyed, and given to the burning fire.

12 As ¹concerning the other beasts, they had taken away their dominion: yet their lives were prolonged for a certain time and season.

13 ¶ As I beheld in visions by night, behold, ¹one like the son of man came in the clouds of heaven, and ²approached unto the Ancient of days, and they brought him before him.

14 And he gave him ¹dominion, and honor, and a kingdom, that all people, nations and languages should serve him: his dominion is an everlasting dominion, which shall never be taken away: and his dominion shall never be destroyed.

15 ¶ I Daniel was ¹troubled in my spirit, in the midst of my body, and the visions of mine head made me afraid.

16 Therefore I came unto ¹one of them that stood by, and asked him the truth of all this: so he told me, and showed me the interpretation of these things.

17 These great beasts which are four, are four kings, which shall arise out of the earth,

7:6 ¹ Meaning, Alexander the king of Macedonia.

² That is, his four chief captains, which had the empire among them after his death. Seleucus had Asia the great, Antigonus the less, Cassander and after him Antipater was king of Macedonia, and Ptolemy had Egypt.

³ It was not of himself nor of his own power that he got all these countries: for his army contained but thirty thousand men, and he overcame in one battle Darius, which had ten hundred thousand, when he was so heavy with sleep, that his eyes were scarce open, as the stories report: therefore this power was given him of God.

7:7 ¹ That is, the Roman Empire which was a monster, and could not be compared to any beasts, because the nature of none was able to express it.

² Signifying, the tyranny and greediness of the Romans.

³ That which the Romans could not quietly enjoy in other countries, they would give it to other Kings and rulers, that at all times when they would, they might take it again: which liberality is here called the stamping of the rest under the feet.

⁴ That is, sundry and divers provinces which were governed by the deputies and proconsuls, whereof everyone might be compared to a King.

7:8 ¹ Which is meant of Julius Caesar, Augustus, Tiberius, Caligula, Claudius, and Nero, etc., who were as kings in effect, but because they could not rule, but by the consent of the Senate, their power is compared to a little horn. For Muhammad came not of the Roman Empire, and the Pope hath no vocation of government: therefore this cannot be applied unto them, and also in this prophecy the Prophet's purpose is chiefly to comfort the Jews unto the revelation of Christ. Some take it for the whole body of Antichrist.

² Meaning, a certain portion of the ten horns: that is, a part from the whole estate was taken away. For Augustus took from the Senate the liberty of choosing the deputies to send into the provinces, and took the government of certain countries to himself.

³ These Roman Emperors at the first used a certain humanity and gentleness, and were content that others, as the Consuls, and Senate, should bear the names of dignity, so that they might have the profit, and therefore in election and counsels would behave themselves according as did other Senators: yet against their enemies and those that would resist them, they were fierce and cruel, which is here meant by the proud mouth.

7:9 ¹ Meaning, the places where God and his Angels should come to judge these Monarchies, which judgment should begin at the first coming of Christ.

² That is, God which was before all times, and is here described as man's nature is able to comprehend some portion of his glory.

7:10 ¹ That is, an infinite number of Angels, which were ready to execute his commandment.

² This is meant of the first coming of Christ, when as the will of God was plainly revealed by his Gospel.

7:11 ¹ Meaning, that he was astonished when he saw these Emperors in such dignity and pride, and so suddenly destroyed at the coming of Christ, when this fourth Monarchy was subject to men of other nations.

7:12 ¹ As the three former Monarchies had an end at the time that God appointed, although they flourished for a time, so shall this fourth have, and they that patiently abide God's appointment, shall enjoy the promises.

7:13 ¹ Which is meant of Christ, who had not yet taken upon him man's nature, neither was the son of David according to the flesh, as he was afterward: but appeared then in a figure, and that in the clouds: that is, being separate from the common sort of men by manifest signs of his divinity.

² To wit, when he ascend into the heavens, and his divine majesty appeared, and all power was given unto him, in respect of that that he was our Mediator.

7:14 ¹ This is meant of the beginning of Christ's kingdom, when God the Father gave unto him all dominion, as to the Mediator, to the intent that he should govern here his Church in earth continually, till the time that he brought them to eternal life.

7:15 ¹ Through the strangeness of the vision.

7:16 ¹ Meaning, of the Angels, as verse 10.

18 And they shall take the ¹kingdom of the Saints of the ²most High, and shall possess the kingdom forever, even forever and ever.

19 ¶ After this, I would know the truth of the fourth beast, which was ¹so unlike to all the others, very fearful, whose teeth were of iron, and his nails of brass: which devoured brake in pieces, and stamped the ²residue under his feet.

20 Also to know of the ten horns that were in his head, and of the others which came up, before whom three fell, and of the horn that had eyes, and of the mouth that spake presumptuous things, whose ¹look was more stout than his fellows.

21 I beheld, and the same ¹horn made battle against the Saints, yea, and prevailed against them,

22 Until ¹the Ancient of days came, and judgment was given to the Saints of the most High: and the time approached, that the Saints possessed the kingdom.

23 Then he said, The fourth beast shall be the fourth kingdom in the earth, which shall be unlike to all the kingdoms, and shall devour the whole earth, and shall tread it down and break it in pieces.

24 And the ten horns out of this kingdom are ten Kings that shall rise: and another shall rise after them, and he shall be unlike to the first, and he shall subdue ¹three Kings,

25 And shall speak words against ¹the most High, and shall consume the Saints of the most High, and think that he may ²change times and laws, and they shall be given into his hand until a ³time, and times, and the dividing of time.

26 But the ¹judgment shall sit, and they shall take away his dominion to consume and destroy it unto the end.

27 And the ¹kingdom, and dominion, and the greatness of the kingdom under the whole heaven shall be given to the holy people of the most High, whose kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and all ²powers shall serve and obey him.

28 Even this is the end of the matter, I Daniel had many ¹cogitations which troubled me, and my countenance changed in me: but I kept the matter in mine heart.

8 A vision of a battle between a ram and a goat: 20 The understanding of the vision.

1 In the third year of the reign of king Belshazzar, a vision appeared unto me, even unto me Daniel, ¹after that which appeared unto me at the first.

2 And I saw in a vision, and when I saw it, I was in the palace of Shushan, which is in the province ¹of Elam, and in a vision me thought I was by the river of Ulai.

3 Then I looked up and saw, and behold, there stood before the river a ¹ram which had two horns, and these two horns were high: but one was ²higher than another, and the highest came up last.

4 I saw the ram pushing against the West, and

7:18 ¹ Because Abraham was appointed heir of all the world, Rom. 4:13, and in him all the faithful, therefore the kingdom thereof is theirs by right, which these four beasts or tyrants should invade, and usurp until the world were restored by Christ: and this was to confirm them that were in troubles, that their afflictions should have an end at length.

² That is, of the most high things, because God hath chosen them out of this world, that they should look up to the heavens, whereon all their hope dependeth.

7:19 ¹ For the other three Monarchies were governed by a King, and the Roman Empire by Consuls: the Romans changed their governors yearly, and the other Monarchies retained them for term of life: also the Romans were the strongest of all the others, and were never quiet among themselves.

² Read verse 7.

7:20 ¹ This is meant of the fourth beast, which was more terrible than the others.

7:21 ¹ Meaning the Roman Emperors, who were most cruel against the Church of God both of the Jews and of the Gentiles.

7:22 ¹ Till God showed his power in the person of Christ, and by the preaching of the Gospel gave unto his some rest, and so obtained a famous Name in the world, and were called the Church of God, or the kingdom of God.

7:24 ¹ Read the exposition hereof, verse 8.

7:25 ¹ That is, shall make wicked decrees and proclamations against God's word, and send throughout all their dominion, to destroy all that did profess it.

² These Emperors shall not consider that they have their power of God, but think it is in their own power to change God's laws and man's, and as it were the order of nature, as appeareth by Octavius, Tiberius, Caligula, Nero, Domitian, etc.

7:26 ¹ God by his power shall restore things that were out of order, and so destroy this little horn, that it shall never rise up again.

7:27 ¹ He sheweth wherefore the beast should be destroyed, to wit, that his Church might have rest and quietness, which though they do not fully enjoy here, yet they have it in hope, and by the preaching of the Gospel enjoy the beginning thereof, which is meant by these words: Under the heaven: and therefore he here speaketh of the beginning of Christ's kingdom in this world, which kingdom the faithful have by the participation that they have with Christ their head.

² That is, some of every sort that bear rule.

7:28 ¹ Though he had many motions in his heart which moved him to and fro to seek out this matter curiously, yet he was content with that which God revealed, and kept it in memory, and wrote it for the use of the Church.

8:1 ¹ After the general vision, he cometh to certain particular visions as touching the destruction of the Monarchy of the Persians, and Macedonians: for the ruin of the Babylonians was at hand, and also he had sufficiently spoken thereof.

8:2 ¹ That is, of Persia.

8:3 ¹ Which represented the kingdom of the Persians and Medes, which were joined together.

² Meaning, Cyrus, which after grew greater in power than Darius his uncle and father-in-law.

against the North, and against the South: so that no ¹beasts might stand before him, nor could deliver out of his hand, but he did what he listed, and became great.

5 And as I considered, behold, ¹a goat came from the West over the whole earth, and touched not the ground: and this goat had an ²horn that appeared between his eyes.

6 And he came unto the ram that had the two horns, whom I had seen standing by the river, and ran unto him in his fierce rage.

7 And I saw him come unto the ram, and being moved against him, he ¹smote the ram, and brake his two horns: and there was no power in the ram to stand against him, but he cast him down to the ground, and stamped upon him, and there was none that could deliver the ram out of his power.

8 Therefore the goat waxed exceeding great, and when he was at the strongest, his great ¹horn was broken: and for it came up four that ²appeared toward the four winds of the heaven.

9 And out of one of them came forth a ¹little horn, which waxed very great toward the ²South, and toward the ³East, and toward the ⁴pleasant land.

10 Yea, it grew up unto the ¹host of heaven, and it cast down some of the host, and of the stars to the ground, and trode upon them,

11 And extolled himself against the ¹prince of the host, from whom the ²daily sacrifice was taken away, and the place of his Sanctuary was cast down.

12 And ¹a time shall be given him over the daily sacrifice for the iniquity: and it shall ²cast down the truth to the ground, and thus shall it do, and prosper.

13 Then I heard one of the ¹Saints speaking, and one of the Saints spake unto a certain one, saying, How long shall endure the vision of the daily sacrifice, and the iniquity of the ²desolation to tread both the Sanctuary and the ³army underfoot?

14 And ¹he answered me, Unto the ²evening and the morning, two thousand and three hundred: then shall the Sanctuary be cleansed.

15 ¶ Now when I Daniel had seen the vision, and sought for the meaning, behold, there stood before me ¹like the similitude of a man.

16 And I heard a man's voice between the banks of Ulai, which called, and said, Gabriel, ¹make this man to understand the vision.

17 So he came where I stood: and when he came, I was afraid, and fell upon my face: but he said unto me, Understand, O son of man: for ¹in the last time shall be the vision.

18 Now as he was speaking unto me, I being asleep fell on my face to the ground: but he touched me, and set me up in my place.

19 And he said, Behold, I will show thee what shall be in the last ¹wrath: for in the end of the time appointed it shall come.

20 The ram which thou sawest having two horns, are the Kings of the Medes and Persians.

21 And the goat is the King of Greece, and the great horn that is between his eyes, is the first king.

8:4 ¹ That is, no kings or nations.

8:5 ¹ Meaning, Alexander that came from Greece with great speed and expedition.

² Though he came in the name of all Greece, yet he bore the title and dignity of the general captain, so that the strength was attributed to him, which is meant by this horn.

8:7 ¹ Alexander overcame Darius in two sundry battles, and so had the two kingdoms of the Medes and Persians.

8:8 ¹ Alexander's great power was broken: for when he had overcome all the East, he thought to return toward Greece to subdue them that had rebelled, and so died by the way.

² That is, which were famous: for almost in the space of fifteen years there were fifteen divers successors before this monarchy was divided to these four, whereof Cassander had Macedonia, Seleucus Syria, Antigonus Asia the less, and Ptolemy Egypt.

8:9 ¹ Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who was of a servile and flattering nature, and also there were others between him and the kingdom, and therefore is here called the little horn, because neither princely conditions, nor any other thing was in him, why he should obtain this kingdom.

² That is, toward Egypt.

³ Whereby he meaneth Ptolemeus.

⁴ That is, Judea.

8:10 ¹ Antiochus raged against the elect of God, and trode his precious stars under feet, which are so called, because they are separated from the world.

8:11 ¹ That is, God, who governeth and maintaineth his Church.

² He labored to abolish all religion, and therefore cast God's service out of his Temple, which God had chosen as a little corner from all the rest of the world to have his Name there truly called upon.

8:12 ¹ He sheweth that their sins are the cause of these horrible afflictions: and yet comforteth them, in that he appointeth this tyrant a time, whom he would not suffer utterly to abolish his religion.

² This horn shall abolish for a time the true doctrine, and so corrupt God's service.

8:13 ¹ Meaning, that he heard one of the Angels asking this question of Christ, whom he called a certain one, or a secret one, or a marvelous one.

² That is, the Jews' sins, which were cause of his destruction.

³ That is, which suppresseth God's religion, and his people.

8:14 ¹ Christ answered me for the comfort of the Church.

² That is, until so many natural days be past, which make 6 years, 3 months and an half: for so long under Antiochus was the Temple profaned.

8:15 ¹ Which was Christ who in this manner declared himself to the old fathers, how he would be God manifest in flesh.

8:16 ¹ This power to command the Angel, declared that he was God.

8:17 ¹ The effect of this vision shall not yet appear, but a long time after.

8:19 ¹ Meaning, that great rage which Antiochus should show against the Church.

22 And that that is broken, and four stood up for it, are four kingdoms, which shall stand up ¹of that nation, but not ²in his strength.

23 And in the end of their kingdom, when the rebellious shall be consumed, a King of ¹fierce countenance, and understanding dark sentences, shall stand up.

24 And his power shall be mighty, but not ¹in his strength: and he shall destroy wonderfully, and shall prosper, and practice, and shall destroy the ²mighty, and the holy people.

25 And through his ¹policy also he shall cause craft to prosper in his hand, and he shall extol himself in his heart, and by ²peace shall destroy many: he shall also stand up against the ³prince of princes, but he shall be broken down ⁴without hand.

26 And the vision of the ¹evening and the morning, which is declared, is true: therefore seal thou up the vision, for it shall be after many days.

27 And I Daniel was stricken and sick ¹certain days: but when I rose up, I did the king's business, and I was astonished at the vision, but none understood it.

9 ³ Daniel desireth to have that performed of God, which he had promised concerning the return of the people from their banishment in Babylon. ⁵ A true confession. ²⁰ Daniel's prayer is heard. ²¹ Gabriel the Angel expoundeth unto him the vision of the seventy weeks. ²⁴ The anointing of Christ. ²⁵ The building again of Jerusalem. ²⁶ The death of Christ.

1 In the first year of Darius the son of ¹Ahasuerus, of the seed of the Medes, which was made king over the ²realm of the Chaldeans,

2 Even in the first year of his reign, I Daniel understood by ¹books the number of the years, whereof the Lord had spoken unto Jeremiah the Prophet, that he would accomplish seventy years in the desolation of Jerusalem.

3 And I turned my face unto the Lord God, and ¹sought by prayer and supplications with fasting and sackcloth and ashes.

4 And I prayed unto the Lord my God, and made my confession, saying, Oh Lord God which art ¹great and fearful, and keepest covenant and mercy toward them which love ²thee, and toward them that keep thy commandments,

5 We have sinned and have committed iniquity, and have done wickedly, yea, we have rebelled, and have departed from thy precepts, and from thy judgments.

6 For we would not obey thy servants the Prophets, which spake in thy name to our kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, and to all the people of the land.

7 O Lord, ¹righteousness belongeth unto thee, and unto us ²open shame, as appeareth this day unto every man of Judah, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, yea, unto all Israel, both near and far off, through all the country, whither thou hast driven them, because of their offences, that they have committed against thee.

8 O Lord, unto us appertaineth open shame, to our ¹Kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, because we have sinned against thee.

9 Yet compassion and forgiveness is in the Lord our God, albeit we have rebelled against him.

10 For we have not obeyed the ¹voice of the Lord our God, to walk in his laws, which he hath laid before us by the ministry of his servants the Prophets.

11 Yea, all Israel have transgressed thy Law, and are turned back, and have not heard thy voice: therefore the ¹curse is poured upon us, and the oath that is written in the Law of Moses the servant of God, because we have sinned against him.

12 And he hath confirmed his words, which he 8:22 ¹ That is, out of Greece.

² They shall not have like power as had Alexander.

8:23 ¹ Noting that this Antiochus was impudent and cruel, and also crafty that he could not be deceived.

8:24 ¹ That is, not like Alexander's strength.

² Both the Gentiles that dwelt about him, and also the Jews.

8:25 ¹ Whatsoever he goeth about by his craft, he shall bring it to pass.

² That is, under pretence of peace, or as it were in sport.

³ Meaning, against God.

⁴ For God would destroy him with a notable plague, and so comfort his Church.

8:26 ¹ Read verse 14.

8:27 ¹ For fear and astonishment.

9:1 ¹ Who was also called Astyages.

² For Cyrus led with ambition, went about wars in other countries, and therefore Darius had the title of the kingdom, though Cyrus was king in effect.

9:2 ¹ For though he was an excellent Prophet, yet he daily increased in knowledge by reading of the Scriptures.

9:3 ¹ He speaketh not of that ordinary prayer, which he used in his house thrice a day, but of a rare and vehement prayer, least their sins should cause God to delay the time of their deliverance prophesied by Jeremiah.

9:4 ¹ That is, hast all power in thyself to execute thy terrible judgments against obstinate sinners, as thou art rich in mercy to comfort them which obey thy word and love thee.

² Hebrew, him.

9:7 ¹ He sheweth that whensoever God punisheth, he doeth it for just cause: and thus the godly never accuse him of rigor as the wicked do, but acknowledge that in themselves there is just cause why he should so entreat them.

² Hebrew, confusion of face.

9:8 ¹ He doth not excuse the kings because of their authority, but prayeth chiefly for them as the chief occasions of these great plagues.

9:10 ¹ He sheweth that they rebel against God, which serve him not according to his commandment and word.

9:11 ¹ As Deut. 27:15, or the curse confirmed by an oath.

spake against us, and against our judges that ¹judged us, by bringing upon us a great plague: for under the whole heaven hath not been the like, as hath been brought upon Jerusalem.

13 All this plague is come upon us, as it is written in the Law of Moses: yet made we not our prayer before the Lord our God, that we might turn from our iniquities and understand thy truth.

14 Therefore hath the Lord ¹made ready the plague, and brought it upon us: for the Lord our God is righteous in all his works which he doeth: for we would not hear his voice.

15 ^aAnd now, O Lord our God, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and hast gotten thee renown, as appeareth this day, we have sinned, we have done wickedly.

16 O Lord, according to all thy ¹righteousness, I beseech thee, let thine anger and thy wrath be turned away from thy city Jerusalem thine holy Mountain: because of our sins, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Jerusalem and thy people are a reproach to all that are about us.

17 Now therefore, O our God, hear the prayer of thy servant, and his supplications, and cause thy face to ¹shine upon thy Sanctuary, that lieth waste for the ²Lord's sake.

18 O my God, incline thine ear and hear: open thine eyes, and behold our desolations, and the city whereupon thy Name is called: for we do not present our supplications before thee for our own ¹righteousness, but for thy great tender mercies.

19 O Lord hear, O Lord forgive, O Lord ¹consider, and do it: defer not, for thine own sake, O my God: for thy Name is called upon thy city, and thy people.

20 ¶ And while I was speaking and praying, and

CHAPTER 9

^a Exod. 14:28

^b Dan. 8:16

confessing my sin, and the sin of my people Israel, and did present my supplication before the Lord my God, for the holy Mountain of my God, 21 Yea, while I was speaking in prayer, even the man ^bGabriel, whom I had seen before in the vision, came flying, and touched me about the time of the evening oblation.

22 And he informed me, and talked with me, and said, O Daniel, I am now come forth to give thee knowledge and understanding.

23 At the beginning of thy supplications the commandment came forth, and I am come to show thee, for thou art greatly beloved: therefore understand the matter and consider the vision.

24 Seventy ¹weeks are determined upon ²thy people and upon thine holy city, to finish the wickedness, and to seal up ³the sins, and to reconcile the iniquity, and to bring in everlasting righteousness, and to seal up the vision and prophecy, and to anoint the most Holy.

25 Know therefore and understand that from ¹the going forth of the commandment to bring again the people, and to build Jerusalem, unto Messiah the Prince, shall be seven ²weeks and ³threescore and two weeks, and the street shall be built again, and the wall even in a ⁴troublesome time.

26 And after threescore and two ¹weeks, shall Messiah be slain, and shall ²have nothing, and the people of the ³prince that shall come, shall destroy the city and the Sanctuary, and the end thereof shall be with a flood: and unto the end of the battle it shall be destroyed by desolations.

27 And he ¹shall confirm the covenant with many for one week: and in the midst of the week he shall cause the sacrifice and the oblation to ²cease, ³and for the overspreading of the abominations, he shall 9:12 ¹ Or, governed us.

9:14 ¹ Hebrew, watched upon the evil.

9:16 ¹ That is, according to all thy merciful promises and the performance thereof.

9:17 ¹ Show thyself favorable.

² That is, for thy Christ's sake in whom thou wilt accept all our prayers.

9:18 ¹ Declaring, that the godly flee only unto God's mercies, and renounce their own works, when they seek for remission of their sins.

9:19 ¹ Thus he could not content himself with any vehemence of words: for he was so led with a fervent zeal considering God's promise made to the city in respect of his Church, and for the advancement of God's glory.

9:24 ¹ He alludeth to Jeremiah's prophecy: who prophesied that their captivity should be seventy years: but now God's mercy should sevenfold exceed his judgment, which should be four hundred and ninety years, even to the coming of Christ, and so then it should continue forever.

² Meaning, Daniel's nation, over whom he was careful.

³ To show mercy and to put sin out of remembrance.

9:25 ¹ That is, from the time that Cyrus gave them leave to depart.

² These weeks make forty-nine years, whereof 46 are referred to the time of the building of the Temple, and three to the laying of the foundation.

⁴ Hebrew, in straits of time.

9:26 ¹ In this least week of the seventy, shall Christ come and preach and suffer death.

² He shall seem to have no beauty, nor to be of any estimation, as Isa. 53:2.

³ Meaning Titus, Vespasian's son, who should come and destroy both the Temple and the people without all hope of recovery.

9:27 ¹ By the preaching of the Gospel he confirmed his promise, first to the Jews, and after to the Gentiles.

² Christ accomplished this by his death and resurrection.

³ Meaning, that Jerusalem and the Sanctuary should be utterly destroyed for their rebellion against God, and their idolatry: or as some read, that the plague shall be so great, that they shall be all astonished at them.

make it desolate, even until the consummation determined shall be poured upon the desolate.

10 ¹ There appeareth unto Daniel a man clothed in linen, ¹¹ which showeth him wherefore he is sent.

1 In the ¹third year of Cyrus King of Persia, a thing was revealed unto Daniel (whose name was called Belteshazzar) and the word was true, but the time appointed was ²long, and he understood the thing, and had understanding of the vision.

2 At the same time I Daniel was in heaviness for three weeks of days.

3 I ate no pleasant bread, neither came flesh nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoint myself at all, till three weeks of days were fulfilled.

4 And in the four and twentieth day of the ¹first month, as I ²was by the side of that great river, even Hiddekel,

5 And I lifted mine eyes, and looked, and behold, there was a man ¹clothed in linen, whose loins were girded with fine gold of ⁴Uphaz.

6 His body also was like the Chrysolite, and his face (to look upon) like the lightning, and his eyes as lamps of fire, and his arms and his feet were like in color to polished brass, and the voice of his words was like the voice of a multitude.

7 And I Daniel alone saw the vision: for the men that were with me, saw not the vision: but a great fear fell upon them, so that they fled away and hid themselves.

8 Therefore I was left alone, and saw this great vision, and there remained no strength in me: for ¹my strength was turned in me into corruption, and I retained no power.

9 Yet heard I the voice of his words: and when I heard the voice of his words, I slept on my face, and my face was toward the ground.

10 And behold, an ¹hand touched me, which set

CHAPTER 10

^a Jer. 10:9

me up upon my knees, and upon the palms of mine hands,

11 And he said unto me, O Daniel, a man greatly beloved, understand the words that I speak unto thee, and stand in thy place: for unto thee am I now sent. And when he had said this word unto me, I stood trembling.

12 Then said he unto me, Fear not, Daniel: for from the first day that thou didst set thine heart to understand, and to humble thyself before thy God, thy words were heard, and I am come for thy words.

13 But the ¹prince of the kingdom of Persia withstood me one and twenty days: but lo, ²Michael one of the chief princes, came to help me, and I remained there by the Kings of Persia.

14 Now I am come to show thee what shall come to thy people in the latter days: for yet the ¹vision is for many days.

15 And when he spake these words unto me, I set my face toward the ground, and held my tongue.

16 And behold, ¹one like the similitude of the sons of man touched my lips: then I opened my mouth, and spake, and said unto him that stood before me, O my Lord, ²by the vision my sorrows are returned upon me, and I have retained no strength.

17 For how can the servant of this my Lord talk with my Lord being such one? for as for me, straightway there remained no strength in me, neither is there breath left in me.

18 Then there came again, and touched me, one like the appearance of a man, and he strengthened me, 19 And said, O man, greatly beloved, fear not: ¹peace be unto thee: be strong and of good courage. And when he had spoken unto me, I ²was strengthened, and said, Let my Lord speak: for thou hast strengthened me.

20 Then said he, Knowest thou wherefore I am come unto thee? but now will I return to fight with the Prince of Persia: and when I am gone forth, lo,

10:1 ¹ He noteth this third year, because at this time the building of the Temple began to be hindered by Cambyases Cyrus' son, when the father made war in Asia minor against the Scythians, which was a discouraging to the godly, and a great fear to Daniel.

² Which is to declare that the godly should not hasten too much, but patiently to abide the issue of God's promise.

10:4 ¹ Called Abib, which containeth part of March, and part of April.

² Being carried by the Spirit of prophecy to have the sight of this river Tigris.

10:5 ¹ This was the Angel of God, which was sent to assure Daniel in this prophecy that followeth.

10:8 ¹ The word also signifieth comeliness, or beauty, so that for fear he was like a dead man for deformity.

10:10 ¹ Which declareth that when we are struck down with the majesty of God, we cannot rise, except he also lift us up with his hand, which is his power.

10:13 ¹ Meaning, Cambyases who reigned in his father's absence, and did not only for this space hinder the building of the Temple, but would have further raged, if God had not sent me to resist him, and therefore have I stayed for the profit of the Church.

² Though God could by one Angel destroy all the world, yet to assure his children of his love, he sendeth forth double power, even Michael, that is, Christ Jesus the head of Angels.

10:14 ¹ For though the Prophet Daniel should end and cease, yet his doctrine should continue till the coming of Christ, for the comfort of his Church.

10:16 ¹ This was the same Angel that spake with him before in the similitude of a man.

² I was overcome with fear and sorrow, when I saw the vision.

10:19 ¹ He declareth hereby that God would be merciful to the people of Israel.

² Which declareth that when God smiteth down his children, he doth not immediately lift them up at once (for now the Angel had touched him twice) but by little and little.

the ¹Prince of Greece shall come.

21 But I will show thee that which is decreed in the Scripture of truth: ¹and there is none that holdeth with me in these things, but Michael your prince.

11 A prophecy of the kingdoms, which should be enemies to the Church of God, as of Persia, 3 Of Greece, 5 of Egypt, 28 of Syria, 36 and of the Romans.

1 Also I, in the first year of Darius of the Medes, even I ¹stood to encourage and to strengthen him.

2 And now will I show thee the truth. Behold, there shall stand up yet ¹three kings in Persia, and the fourth shall be far richer than they all: and by his strength, and by his riches he shall stir up ²all against the realm of Greece.

3 But a ¹mighty King shall stand up, that shall rule with great dominion, and do according to his pleasure.

4 And when he shall stand up, ¹his kingdom shall be broken, ²and shall be divided toward the ³four winds of heaven: and not to his ⁴posterity, nor according to ⁵his dominion, which he ruled: for his kingdom shall be plucked up even to be for others besides ⁶those.

5 And the ¹King of the South shall be mighty, and one of ²his princes, and shall prevail against him, and bear rule: his dominion shall be a great dominion.

6 And in the end of years they shall be joined together: for the King's ¹daughter of the South shall come to the King of the North to make an agreement, but she shall not retain the power of the ²arm, neither shall ³he continue, nor his ⁴arm: but she shall be delivered to death, and they that brought her, and he ⁵that begat her, and he that comforted her, in these times.

7 But out of the bud of her ¹roots shall one stand up in his stead, ²which shall come with an army, and shall enter into the fortress of the King of the North, and do with them as he list, and shall prevail,

8 And shall also carry captives into Egypt their gods: with their molten images, and with their precious vessels of silver and of gold, and he shall continue ¹more years than the king of the North.

9 So the king of the South shall come into his kingdom, and shall return into his own land.

10 Wherefore his ¹sons shall be stirred up, and shall assemble a mighty great army: and one ²shall come, and overflow, and pass through: then shall he ³return, and be stirred up at his fortress.

11 And the King of the South shall be angry, and shall come forth, and fight with him, even with the king of the North: for he shall set forth a great ¹multitude, and the multitude shall be given into his hand.

12 Then the multitude shall be proud, and their heart shall be lifted up: for he shall cast down thou-

10:20 ¹ Meaning, that he would not only himself bridle the rage of Cambyes, but also the other Kings of Persia by Alexander the King of Macedonia.

10:21 ¹ For this Angel was appointed for the defense of the Church under Christ, who is the head thereof.

11:1 ¹ The Angel assureth Daniel that God hath given him power to perform these things, seeing he appointed him to assist Darius when he overcame the Chaldeans.

11:2 ¹ Whereof Cambyes that now reigned, was the first, the second Smerdis, the third Darius the son of Hystaspis, and the fourth Xerxes, which all were enemies to the people of God, and stood against them.

² For he raised up all the East countries to fight against the Greeks, and albeit he had in his army nine hundred thousand men, yet in four battles he was discomfited and fled away with shame.

11:3 ¹ That is, Alexander the great.

11:4 ¹ For when his estate was most flourishing, he overcame himself with drink, and so fell into a disease: or as some write, was poisoned by Cassander.

² For his twelve chief Princes first divided his kingdom among themselves.

⁴ Thus God revenged Alexander's ambition and cruelty in causing his posterity to be murdered, partly of the father's chief friends, and partly one of another.

⁵ None of these four shall be able to be compared to the power of Alexander.

⁶ That is, his posterity having no part thereof.

11:5 ¹ To wit, Ptolemy king of Egypt.

² That is, Antiochus the son of Seleucus, and one of Alexander's princes shall be more mighty: for he should have both Asia and Syria.

11:6 ¹ That is, Berenice the daughter of Ptolemy Philadelphus shall be given in marriage to Antiochus Theos, thinking by this affinity that Syria and Egypt should have a continual peace together.

² That force and strength shall not continue: for soon after Berenice and her young son after her husband's death, was slain of her stepson Seleucus Callinicus the son of Laodice, the lawful wife of Antiochus, but put away for this woman's sake.

³ Neither Ptolemy nor Antiochus.

⁴ Some read, seed, meaning, the child begotten of Berenice.

⁵ Some read, she that begate her, and thereby understand her nurse, which brought her up: so that all they that were occasion of this marriage, were destroyed.

11:7 ¹ Meaning, that Ptolemeus Euergetes after the death of his father Philadelphus should succeed in the kingdom being of the same stock that Berenice was.

11:8 ¹ For this Ptolemy reigned six and forty years.

11:10 ¹ Meaning, Seleucus and Antiochus the great, the sons of Callinicus, shall make war against Ptolemy Philopater the son of Philadelphus.

² For his elder brother Seleucus died, or was slain while the wars were preparing.

³ That is, Philopater when he shall see Antiochus to take great dominions from him in Syria, and also ready to invade Egypt.

11:11 ¹ For Antiochus had six thousand horsemen, and threescore thousand footmen.

sands: but he shall not still prevail,

13 For the King of the North ¹shall return, and shall set forth a greater multitude than afore, and shall come forth (after certain years) with a mighty army, and great riches.

14 And at the same time there shall ¹many stand up against the king of the South: also the rebellious children of thy ²people shall exalt themselves to establish the vision, but they shall fall.

15 So the King of the North shall come, and cast up a mount, and take the strong city: and the arms of the South shall ¹not resist, neither his chosen people, neither shall there be any strength to withstand.

16 But he that shall come, shall do unto him as he list, and none shall stand against him: and he shall stand in the ¹pleasant land, which by his hand shall be consumed.

17 Again he shall ¹set his face to enter with the power of his whole kingdom, and his confederates with him: thus shall he do, and he shall give him the ²daughter of women to destroy ³her: but ⁴she shall not stand on his side, neither be for him.

18 After this shall he turn his face unto the ¹isles, and shall take many, but a prince ²shall cause his shame to light upon him, besides that he shall cause his own shame to turn upon ³himself.

19 For he shall turn his face toward the forts of ¹his own land: but he shall be overthrown and fall, and be no more ²found.

20 ¹Then shall stand up in his place in the glory of the kingdom, one that shall raise taxes: but after few days he shall be destroyed, neither in ²wrath, nor in battle.

21 And in his place shall stand up a ¹vile person, to whom they shall not give the honor of the kingdom: but he shall come in peaceably and obtain the kingdom by flatteries.

22 And the ¹arms shall be overthrown with a flood before him, and shall be broken: and also the prince of the ²covenant.

23 And after ¹the league made with him, he shall work deceitfully: for he shall come up, and overcome with a ²small people.

24 He shall enter into the quiet and plentiful province, and he shall do that which his fathers ¹have not done, nor his fathers' fathers: he shall divide among them the prey and the spoil, and the substance, yea, and he shall forecast his devices against the strongholds, even for a ²time.

25 Also he shall stir up his power, and his courage against the King of the South with a great army, and the King of the South shall be stirred up to battle with a very great and mighty army: but he shall not ¹stand: for they shall forecast and practice against him.

26 Yea, they that feed of the portion of ¹his meat, shall destroy him: and his army ²shall overflow: and many shall fall, and be slain.

27 And both these Kings' hearts shall be to do ¹mischief, and they shall talk of deceit at one table:

11:13 ¹ After the death of Ptolemy Philopater, who left Ptolemy Epiphanes his heir.

11:14 ¹ For not only Antiochus came against him but also Philip King of Macedonia, and these two brought great power with them.

² For under Onias which falsely alleged that place of Isa. 19:19, certain of the Jews retired with him into Egypt to fulfill this prophecy: also the Angel sheweth that all these troubles which are in the Church, are by the providence and counsel of God.

11:15 ¹ The Egyptians were not able to resist Scopas Antiochus' captain.

11:16 ¹ He sheweth that he shall not only afflict the Egyptians, but also the Jews, and shall enter into their country, whereof he admonisheth them before, that they may know that all these things came by God's providence.

11:17 ¹ This was the second battle that Antiochus fought against Ptolemy Epiphanes.

² To wit, a beautiful woman which was Cleopatra Antiochus' daughter.

³ For he regarded not the life of his daughter in respect of the kingdom of Egypt.

⁴ She shall not agree to his wicked counsel, but shall love her husband, as her duty requireth, and not seek his destruction.

11:18 ¹ That is, toward Asia, Greece, and those isles which are in the sea called Mediterranean: for the Jews called all countries isles which were divided from them by sea.

² For whereas Antiochus was wont to condemn the Romans, and put their ambassadors to shame in all places, Atilius the Consul, or Lucius Scipio put him to flight, and caused his shame to turn on his own head.

³ By his wicked life, and obeying of foolish counsel.

11:19 ¹ For fear of the Romans he shall flee to his holds.

² For when as under the pretence of poverty he would have robbed the Temple of Jupiter Dodomeus, the countrymen slew him.

11:20 ¹ That is, Seleucus shall succeed his father Antiochus.

² Not by foreign enemies, or battle, but by treason.

11:21 ¹ Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who as is thought was the occasion of Seleucus his brother's death, and was of a vile, cruel and flattering nature, and defrauded his brother's son of the kingdom, and usurped the kingdom without the consent of the people.

11:22 ¹ He sheweth that great foreign powers shall come to help the young son of Seleucus against his uncle Antiochus: and yet shall be overthrown.

² Meaning, Ptolemais Philopater's son who was this child's cousin germane, and is here called the prince of the covenant, because he was the chief, and all others followed his conduct.

11:23 ¹ For after the battle Philometor and his uncle Antiochus made a league.

² For he came upon him at unawares, and when he suspected his uncle Antiochus nothing.

11:24 ¹ Meaning, in Egypt.

² He will content himself with the small holds for a time, but ever labor by craft to attain to the chiefest.

11:25 ¹ He shall be overcome with treason.

11:26 ¹ Signifying his princes and the chief about him.

² Declaring that his soldiers shall brast out and venture their life to slay and to be slain for the safeguard of their prince.

11:27 ¹ The uncle and the nephew shall take truce, and banquet together, yet in their hearts they shall imagine mischief one against the other.

but it shall not avail: for ²yet the end shall be at the time appointed.

28 Then shall he return into his land with great ¹substance: for his heart shall be against the holy covenant: so shall he do and return to his own land.

29 At the time appointed he shall return, and come toward the South: but the last shall not be as the first.

30 For the ships ¹of Chittim shall come against him: therefore he shall be sorry and return and fret against the holy covenant: so shall he do, he shall even return ²and have intelligence with them that forsake the holy covenant.

31 And arms ¹shall stand on his part, and they shall pollute the Sanctuary ²of strength, and shall take away the daily sacrifice, and they shall set up the abominable desolation.

32 And such as wickedly ¹break the covenant, shall he cause to sin by flattery: but the people that do know their God, shall prevail and prosper.

33 And they that stand undeviant among the ¹people, shall instruct many: ²yet they shall fall by sword, and by flame, by captivity and by spoil many days.

34 Now when they shall fall, they shall be holpen with a ¹little help: but many shall cleave unto them ²feignedly.

35 And some of them ¹of understanding shall fall to try them, and to purge, and to make them white, till the time be out: for there is a time appointed.

36 And the ¹king shall do what him list: he shall exalt himself, and magnify himself against all, that is God, and shall speak marvelous things against the God of gods, and shall prosper, till the wrath ²be accomplished: for the determination is made.

37 Neither shall he regard the ¹God of his fathers, nor the desires ²of women, nor care for any God: for he shall magnify himself above all.

38 But in his place shall he honor the ¹god Mauzzim, and the god whom his fathers knew not, shall he honor with ²gold and with silver, and with precious stones, and pleasant things.

39 Thus shall he do in ¹the holds of Mauzzim with a strange god whom he shall acknowledge: he shall increase his glory, and shall cause them to rule over many, and shall divide the land for gain.

40 And at the end of time shall the king of the ¹South push at him, and the king of the North shall come against him like a whirlwind with chariots, and with horsemen, and with many ships, and he shall enter into the countries, and shall overflow and pass through.

41 He shall enter also into the ¹pleasant land, and many countries shall be overthrown: but these shall 11:27 ² Signifying, that it standeth not in the counsel of men to bring things to pass, but in the providence of God, who ruleth the Kings by a secret bridle, that they cannot do what they list themselves.

11:28 ¹ Which he shall take of the Jews in spoiling Jerusalem and the Temple, and this is told them before to move them to patience, knowing that all things are done by God's providence.

11:30 ¹ That is, the Roman power shall come against him: for P. Popilius the Ambassador appointed him to depart in the Romans' name, to which thing he obeyed, although with grief, and to revenge his rage he came against the people of God the second time.

² With the Jews which shall forsake the covenant of the Lord: for first he was called against the Jews by Jason the high Priest, and this second time by Menelaus.

11:31 ¹ A great faction of the wicked Jews shall hold with Antiochus.

² So called because the power of God was nothing diminished, although this tyrant set up in the Temple the image of Jupiter Olympius, and so began to corrupt the pure service of God.

11:32 ¹ Meaning, such as bare the name of Jews, but indeed were nothing less, for they sold their souls, and betrayed their brethren for gain.

11:33 ¹ They that remain constant among the people shall teach others by their example, and edify many in the true religion.

² Whereby he exhorteth the godly to constancy, although they should perish a thousand times, and though their miseries endure never so long.

11:34 ¹ As God will not leave his Church destitute, yet will he not deliver it all at once, but so help, as they may still seem to fight under the cross, as he did in the time of the Maccabees, whereof he here prophesieth.

² That is, there shall be even of this small number many hypocrites.

11:35 ¹ To wit, of them that fear God and will lose their life for the defense of true religion. Signifying also that the Church must continually be tried and purged, and ought to look for one persecution after another: for God hath appointed the time: therefore we must obey.

11:36 ¹ Because the Angel's purpose is to show the whole course of the persecutions of the Jews unto the coming of Christ, he now speaketh of the Monarchy of the Romans which he noteth by the name of a King, who were without religion and condemned the true God.

² So long the tyrants shall prevail as God hath appointed to punish his people: but he sheweth that it is but for a time.

11:37 ¹ The Romans shall observe no certain form of religion as other nations, but shall change their gods at their pleasures, yea, contemn them and prefer themselves to their gods.

² Signifying that they should be without all humanity: for the love of women is taken for singular or great love, as 2 Sam. 1:26.

11:38 ¹ That is, the god of power and riches: they shall esteem their own power above all their gods and worship it.

² Under pretence of worshipping the gods, they shall enrich their city with the most precious jewels of all the world, because that hereby all men should have them in admiration for their power and riches.

11:39 ¹ Although in their hearts they had no religion, yet they did acknowledge the gods, and worshipped them in their temples, lest they should have been despised as Atheists: but this was to increase their fame and riches: and when they got any country, they so made others the rulers thereof, that the profit ever came to the Romans.

11:40 ¹ That is, both the Egyptians and the Syrians shall at length fight against the Romans, but they shall be overcome.

11:41 ¹ The Angel forewarneth the Jews that when they should see the Romans invade them, and that the wicked should escape their hands, that then they should not think but that all this was done by God's providence, forasmuch as he warned them of it so long afore, and therefore he would still preserve them.

escape out of his hand, even Edom and Moab, and the chief of the children of Ammon.

42 He shall stretch forth his hands also upon the countries, and the land of Egypt shall not escape.

43 But he shall have power over the treasures of gold and of silver, and over all the precious things of Egypt, and of the Libyans, and of the black Mores where he shall pass.

44 But the tidings out of the East and the North shall ¹trouble him: therefore he shall go forth ²with great wrath to destroy and root out many.

45 And he shall plant the tabernacles ¹of his palace between the seas in the glorious and holy mountain, yet he shall come to his end, and none shall help him.

12 ¹ Of the deliverance of the Church by Christ.

1 And at that ¹time shall Michael stand up, the great prince, which standeth for the children of thy people, and there shall be a time of trouble, such as never was since there began to be a nation unto that same time: and at that time thy people shall be delivered, everyone that shall be found written in the book.

2 And many ¹of them that sleep in the dust of the earth, shall awake, some to everlasting life, and some to shame and perpetual contempt.

3 And they that be ¹wise, shall shine, as the brightness of the firmament: and they that ²turn many to righteousness, shall shine as the stars, forever and ever.

4 But thou, O Daniel, ¹shut up the words, and seal the book ²till the end of the time: many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased.

5 ¶ Then I Daniel looked, and behold, there stood other two, the one on this side of the brink of the ¹river, and the other on that side of the brink of the river.

6 And one said unto the man clothed in linen, which was upon the waters of the river, When shall be the end of these wonders?

7 And I heard the man clothed in linen which was upon the waters of the river, when he held up his ¹right hand, and his left hand unto heaven, and sware by him that liveth forever, that it shall tarry for a ²time two times and an half: and when he shall have accomplished ³to scatter the power of the holy people, all these things shall be finished.

8 Then I heard it, but I understood it not: then said I, O my Lord, what shall be the end of these things?

9 And he said, Go thy way, Daniel: for the words are closed up, and sealed, till the end of the time.

10 Many shall be purified, made white, and tried: but the wicked shall do wickedly, and none of the wicked shall have understanding: but the wise shall understand.

11 And from the time that the ¹daily sacrifice shall be taken away, and the abominable desolation set up, there ²*shall be* a thousand, two hundred and ninety days.

12 Blessed is he that waiteth and cometh to the thousand, three hundred and ¹five and thirty days.

13 But go ¹thou thy way till the end be: for thou shalt rest and stand up in thy lot, at the end of the days.

11:44 ¹ Hearing that Crassus was slain, and Antonius discomfited.

² For Augustus overcame the Parthians, and recovered that which Antonius had lost.

11:45 ¹ The Romans after this reigned quietly throughout all countries, and from sea to sea, and in Judea: but at length for their cruelty God shall destroy them.

12:1 ¹ The Angel here noteth two things: first that the Church shall be in great affliction and trouble at Christ's coming, and next that God will send his Angel to deliver it, whom here he calleth Michael, meaning Christ, which is published by the preaching of the Gospel.

12:2 ¹ Meaning, all shall rise at the general resurrection, which thing he here nameth because the faithful should have ever respect to that: for in the earth there shall be no sure comfort.

12:3 ¹ Who have kept the true fear of God and his religion.

² He chiefly meaneth the ministers of God's word, and next all the faithful which instruct the ignorant, and bring them to the true knowledge of God.

12:4 ¹ Though the most part despise this prophecy, yet keep thou it sure and esteem it as a treasure.

² Till the time that God hath appointed for the full revelation of these things: and then many shall run to and fro to search the knowledge of these mysteries which things they obtain now by the light of the Gospel.

12:5 ¹ Which was Tigris.

12:7 ¹ Which was as were a double oath, and did the more confirm the thing.

² Meaning, a long time, a longer time, and at length a short time: signifying that their troubles should have an end.

³ When the Church shall be scattered and diminished in such sort as it shall seem to have no power.

12:11 ¹ From the time that Christ by his sacrifice shall take away the sacrifice and ceremonies of the Law.

² Signifying that the time shall be long of Christ's second coming, and yet the children of God ought not to be discouraged, though it be deferred.

12:12 ¹ In this number he addeth a month and a half to the former number, signifying that it is not in man to appoint the time of Christ's coming, but that they are blessed that patiently abide his appearing.

12:13 ¹ The Angel warneth the Prophet patiently to abide; till the time appointed come, signifying that he should depart this life, and rise again with the elect, when God had sufficiently humbled and purged his Church.

HOSEA

1 ¹ The time wherein Hosea prophesied. ² The idolatry of the people. ¹⁰ The calling of the Gentiles. ¹¹ Christ is the head of all people.

1 The word of the Lord that came unto Hosea the son of Beeri, in the days ¹ of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, ² kings of Judah, and in the days of Jeroboam the son of Joash king of Israel.

2 At the beginning the Lord spake by Hosea, and the Lord said unto Hosea, Go, take unto thee a wife ¹ of fornications, and children of fornications: for the land hath committed great whoredom, departing from the Lord.

3 So he went, and took ¹ Gomer, the daughter of Diblaim, which conceived and bare him a son.

4 And the Lord said unto him, Call his name ¹ Jezreel: for yet a little, and I will visit the blood of Jezreel upon the house of ² Jehu, and will cause to cease the kingdom of the house of Israel.

5 And at that ¹ day will I also break the bow of Israel in the valley of Jezreel.

6 She conceived yet again, and bare a daughter, and God said unto him, Call her name ¹ Lo-Ruhamah: for I will no more have pity upon the house of Israel: but I will utterly ² take them away.

7 Yet I will have mercy upon the house of Judah, and will ¹ save them by the Lord their God, and will not save them by bow, nor by sword, nor by battle, by horses, nor by horsemen.

8 Now when she had weaned Lo-Ruhamah, she conceived, and bare a son.

9 Then said God, Call his name ¹ Lo-Ammi: for ye are not my people: therefore will I not be yours.

10 Yet the number of the ¹ children of Israel shall be as the sand of the sea, which cannot be measured nor told: and in the place where it was said unto them, Ye are not my people, it shall be said unto them, Ye are the sons of the living God.

11 Then shall the children of Judah, and the children of Israel be ¹ gathered together, and appoint themselves one head, and they shall come up out of the land: for great is the ² day of Jezreel.

2 ¹ The people is called to repentance. ⁵ He sheweth their idolatry and threateneth them except they repent.

1 Say unto your ¹ brethren, Ammi, and to your sisters, Ruhamah,

2 Plead with your ¹ mother: plead with her: for she is not my wife, neither am I her husband: but let her take away her fornications out of her sight, and her adulteries ² from between her breasts.

3 Lest I strip her naked, and ¹ set her as in the day that she was ² born, and make her as a wilderness, and

1:1 ¹ Called also Azariah, who being a leper was disposed from his kingdom.

² So that it may be gathered by the reign of these four kings, that he preached above threescore years.

1:2 ¹ That is, one that of long time hath accustomed to play the harlot: not that the Prophet did this thing in effect, but he saw this in a vision, or else was commanded by God to set forth under this parable or figure the idolatry of the Synagogue, and of the people her children.

1:3 ¹ Gomer signifieth a consumption or corruption, and Diblaim clusters of figs, declaring that they were all corrupt like rotten figs.

1:4 ¹ Meaning, that they should be no more called Israelites of the which name they boasted because Israel, did prevail with God: but that they were as bastard, and therefore should be called Jezreelites, that is scattered people, alluding to Jezreel, which was the chief city of the ten tribes under Ahab where Jehu shed so much blood, 2 Kings 10:8.

² I will be revenged upon Jehu for the blood that he shed in Jezreel: for albeit God stirred him up to execute his judgments, yet he did them for his own ambition, and not for the glory of God as the end declared: for he built up that idolatry which he had destroyed.

1:5 ¹ When the measure of their iniquity is full, and I shall take vengeance and destroy all their policy and force.

1:6 ¹ That is, not obtaining mercy: whereby he signifieth, that God's favor was departed from them.

² For the Israelites never returned after that they were taken captives by the Assyrians.

1:7 ¹ For after their captivity he restored him miraculously by the means of Cyrus, Ezra 1:1.

1:9 ¹ That is, not my people.

1:10 ¹ Because they thought that God could not have been true in his promise except he had preserved them, he declareth though they were destroyed, yet the true Israelites, which are the sons of the promise, should be without number, which stand both of the Jews and the Gentiles, Rom. 9:26.

1:11 ¹ To wit, after the captivity of Babylon when the Jews were restored, but chiefly this is referred to the time of Christ, who should be the head both of the Jews and Gentiles.

² The calamity and destruction of Israel shall be so great, that to restore them shall be as a miracle.

2:1 ¹ Seeing that I have promised you deliverance, it remaineth that you encourage one another to embrace the same, considering that ye are my people on whom I will have mercy.

2:2 ¹ God sheweth that the fault was not in him, but in their Synagogue, and their idolatries, that he forsook them, Isa. 50:1.

² Meaning, that their idolatry was so great, that they were not ashamed, but boasted of it, Ezek. 16:25.

2:3 ¹ For though this people were as an harlot for their idolatries, yet he had left them with their apparel and dowry and certain signs of his favor, but if they continued still, he would utterly destroy them.

² When I brought her out of Egypt, Ezek. 16:4.

leave her like a dry land, and slay her for thirst.

4 And I will have no pity upon her children: for they be the ¹children of fornication.

5 For their mother hath played the harlot: she that conceived them, hath done shamefully: for she said, I will go after thy ¹lovers that give me my bread and my water, my wool, and my flax, mine oil and my drink.

6 Therefore behold, I will stoop ¹thy way with thorns, and make an hedge, that she shall not find her paths.

7 Though she follow after her lovers, yet shall she not come at them: though she seek them, yet shall she not find them: then shall she say, ¹I will go and return to my first husband: for at that time was I better than now.

8 Now she did not know that I ¹gave her corn, and wine, and oil, and multiplied her silver and gold, which they bestowed upon Baal.

9 Therefore will I return, and take away ¹my corn in the time thereof, and my wine in the season thereof, and will recover my wool and my flax lent, to cover her shame.

10 And now will I discover her ¹lewdness in the sight of her lovers, and no man shall deliver her out of mine hand.

11 I will also cause all her mirth to cease, her feast days, her new moons, and her Sabbaths, and all her solemn feasts.

12 And I will destroy her vines and her fig trees, whereof she hath said, These are my rewards that my lovers have given me: and I will make them as a forest, and the wild beasts shall eat them.

13 And I will visit upon her the days of ¹Baal, wherein she burnt incense to them: and she decked herself with her ²earrings and her jewels, and she followed her lovers, and forgot me, saith the Lord.

14 Therefore behold, I will ¹allure her, and bring her into the wilderness, and speak friendly unto her.

CHAPTER 2

15 And I will give her her vineyards from thence, and the valley ¹of Achor for the door of hope, and she shall ²sing there as in the days of her youth, and as in the day when she came up out of the land of Egypt.

16 And at that day, saith the Lord, thou shalt call me ¹Ishi, and shalt call me no more ²Baali.

17 For I will take away the names of Baal out of her mouth, and they shall be no more remembered by their ¹names.

18 And in that day will I make a covenant for them with the ¹wild beasts, and with the fowls of the heaven, and with that that creepeth upon the earth: and I will break the bow, and the sword and the battle out of the earth: and will make them to sleep safely.

19 And I will marry thee unto me forever: yea, I will marry thee unto me in righteousness, and in judgment, and in mercy, and in compassion.

20 I will even marry thee unto me in ¹faithfulness, and thou shalt know the Lord.

21 And in that day I will hear, saith the Lord, I will even hear ¹the heavens, and they shall hear the earth, 22 And the earth shall hear the corn, and the wine, and the oil, and they shall hear Jezreel.

23 And I will sow her unto me in the earth, and I will have mercy upon her, that was not pitied, ⁴and I will say to them which were not my people, Thou art my people. And they shall say, Thou art my God.

3 ¹ The Jews shall be cast off for their idolatry. ⁵ Afterward they shall return to the Lord.

1 Then said the Lord to me, ¹Go yet, and love a woman (beloved of her husband, and was an harlot)

2:4 ¹ That is, bastards and begotten in adultery.

2:5 ¹ Meaning, the idol which they served, and by whom they thought they had wealth and abundance.

2:6 ¹ I will punish thee that then thou mayest try whether thine idols can help thee, and bring thee into such straightness that thou shalt have no lust to play the wanton.

2:7 ¹ This he speaketh of the faithful, which are truly converted, and also sheweth the use and profit of God's rods.

2:8 ¹ This declareth that idolaters defraud God of his honor, when they attribute his benefits to their idols.

2:9 ¹ Signifying, that God will take away his benefits when man by his ingratitude doth abuse them.

2:10 ¹ That is, all her service, ceremonies and inventions whereby she worshipped her idols.

2:13 ¹ I will punish her for her idolatry.

² By showing how harlots trim themselves to please others, he declareth how that superstitious idolaters set a great part of their religion, in decking themselves on their holy days.

2:14 ¹ By my benefits in offering her grace and mercy, even in that place where she shall think herself destitute of all help and comfort.

2:15 ¹ Which was a plentiful valley, and wherein they had great comfort when they came out of the wilderness, as Josh. 7:26, and is called the door of hope, because it was a departing from death and an entry into life.

² She shall then praise God as she did when she was delivered out of Egypt.

2:16 ¹ That is, mine husband, knowing that I am joined to thee by an inviolable covenant.

² That is, my master: which name was applied to their idols.

2:17 ¹ No idolatry shall once come into their mouth, but they shall serve me purely according to my word.

2:18 ¹ Meaning, that he will so bless them that all creatures shall favor them.

2:20 ¹ With a covenant that never shall be broken.

2:21 ¹ Then shall the heaven desire rain for the earth which shall bring forth for the use of man.

3:1 ¹ Herein the Prophet representeth the person of God, which loved his Church before he called her, and did not withdraw the same when she gave herself to idols.

according to the love of the Lord toward the children of Israel: yet they looked to other gods, and ²loved the wine bottles.

2 So ¹I bought her to me for fifteen pieces of silver, and for an homer of barley, and an half homer of barley.

3 And I said unto her, Thou shalt abide with ¹me many days: thou shalt not play the harlot, and thou shalt be to none other man, and I will be so unto thee.

4 For the children of Israel shall ¹remain many days without a king and without a ²prince, and without an offering, and without an image, and without an Ephod, and without Teraphim.

5 Afterward shall the children of Israel convert and seek the Lord their God, and ¹David their king, and shall fear the Lord and his goodness in the latter days.

4 A complaint against the people and the priests of Israel.

1 Hear the word of the Lord, ye children of Israel: for the Lord ¹hath a controversy with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no truth, nor mercy, nor knowledge of God in the land.

2 By swearing, and lying, and killing, and stealing, and whoring, they break out, and ¹blood toucheth blood.

3 Therefore shall the land mourn, and everyone that dwelleth therein shall be cut off, with the beasts of the field, and with the fowls of the heaven, and also the fishes of the sea shall be taken away.

4 Yet ¹let none rebuke, nor reprove another: for thy people are as they that rebuke the Priest.

5 Therefore shalt thou fall in the ¹day, and the Prophet shall fall with thee in the night, and I will destroy thy ²mother.

6 My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge: because ¹thou hast refused knowledge, I will also refuse thee that thou shalt be no Priest to me: and seeing ²thou hast forgotten the Law of thy God, I will also forget thy children.

7 As they were ¹increased, so they sinned against me: therefore will I change their glory into shame.

8 ¹They eat up the sins of my people, and lift up their minds in their iniquity.

9 And there shall be like people like ¹priest: for I will visit their ways upon them, and reward them their deeds.

10 For they shall eat, and not have enough, they shall ¹commit adultery, and shall not increase, because they have left off to take heed to the Lord.

11 ¹Whoredom, and wine, and new wine take away their heart.

12 My ¹people ask counsel at their stocks, and their staff teacheth them: for the ²spirit of fornications hath caused them to err, and they have gone a whoring from under their God.

13 They sacrifice upon the tops of the mountains, and burn incense upon the hills under the oaks, and the poplar tree, and the elm, because the shadow thereof is good: therefore your daughters shall be ¹harlots, and your spouses shall be whores.

14 I will not ¹visit your daughters when they are harlots: nor your spouses, when they are whores: for they themselves are separated with harlots, and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that doth not understand, shall fall.

3:1 ² That is, gave themselves wholly to pleasure, and could not take up, as they that are given to drunkenness.

3:2 ¹ Yet I loved her and paid a small portion for her, lest she perceiving the greatness of my love, should have abused me, and not been under duty: for fifteen pieces of silver were but half the price of a slave, Exod. 21:32.

3:3 ¹ I will try thee a long time as in thy widowhood whether thou wilt be mine or no.

3:4 ¹ Meaning, not only all the time of their captivity, but also unto Christ.

² That is, they should neither have policy nor religion, and their idols also wherein they put their confidence, should be destroyed.

3:5 ¹ This is meant of Christ's kingdom, which was promised unto David to be eternal, Ps. 72:17.

4:1 ¹ Because the people would not obey the admonitions of the Prophet, he citeth them before the judgment seat of God, against whom they chiefly offended, Isa. 7:13; Zech. 12:10; Mic. 6:1, 2.

4:2 ¹ In every place appeareth a liberty to most heinous vices, so that one followeth in the neck of another.

4:4 ¹ As though he would say that it were in vain to rebuke them: for no man can abide it: yea, they will speak against the prophets and priests whose office it is chiefly to rebuke them.

4:5 ¹ Ye shall perish all together the one because he would not obey, and the other, because he would not admonish.

² That is, the Synagogue wherein thou boastest.

4:6 ¹ That is, the Priests shall be cast off, because that for lack of knowledge, they are not able to execute their charge, and instruct others, Deut. 33:3; Mal. 2:7.

² Meaning, the whole body of the people, which were weary with hearing the word of God.

4:7 ¹ The more I was beneficial unto them.

4:8 ¹ To wit, the Priests seek to eat the people's offerings, and flatter them in their sins.

4:9 ¹ Signifying, that as they have sinned together, so shall they be punished together.

4:10 ¹ Showing that their wickedness shall be punished on all sorts: for though they think by the multitude of wives to have many children, yet they shall be deceived of their hope.

4:11 ¹ In giving themselves to pleasures, they become like brute beasts.

4:12 ¹ Thus he speaketh by derision in calling them his people, which now for their sins they were not: for they sought help of stocks and sticks.

² They are carried away with a rage.

4:13 ¹ Because they take away God's honor, and give it to idols: therefore he will give them up to their lusts, that they shall dishonor their own bodies, Rom. 1:28.

4:14 ¹ I will not correct your shame to bring you to amendment, but let you run headlong to your own damnation.

15 Though thou Israel, play the harlot, yet ¹let not Judah sin: come not ye unto ²Gilgal, neither go ye up to ³Beth Aven, nor swear, The Lord liveth.

16 For Israel is rebellious as an unruly heifer. Now the Lord will feed them as a ¹lamb in a large place.

17 Ephraim is joined to idols: let him alone.

18 Their drunkenness stinketh: they have committed whoredom: their rulers love to say with shame, ¹Bring ye.

19 The wind hath ¹bound them up in her wings, and they shall be ashamed of their sacrifices.

5 1 Against the Priests and rulers of Israel. 13 The help of man is in vain.

1 O ye Priests, hear this, and hearken ye, O house of Israel, and give ye ear, O house of the King: for judgment is toward you, because you have been a ¹snare on Mizpah, and a net spread upon Tabor.

2 Yet they were profound to decline to ¹slaughter, though I have been a ²rebuker of them all.

3 I know ¹Ephraim, and Israel is not hid from me: for now, O Ephraim, thou art become an harlot, and Israel is defiled.

4 They will not give their minds to turn unto their God: for the spirit of fornication is in the midst of them, and they have not known the Lord.

5 And the ¹pride of Israel doth testify to his face: therefore shall Israel and Ephraim fall in their iniquity: Judah also shall fall with them.

6 They shall go with their sheep, and with their bullocks, to seek the Lord: but they shall not find him: for he hath withdrawn himself from them.

7 They have transgressed against the Lord: for they have begotten ¹strange children: now shall ²a month devour them with their portions.

8 Blow ye the trumpet in Gibeah, and the shame in Ramah: cry out at Beth Aven, after thee, O ¹Benjamin.

9 Ephraim shall be desolate in the day of rebuke: among the tribes of Israel have I caused to ¹know the truth.

10 The princes of Judah were like them that ¹remove the bound: therefore will I pour out my wrath upon them like water.

11 Ephraim is oppressed and broken in judgment, because he willingly walked after the ¹commandment.

12 Therefore will I be unto Ephraim as a moth, and to the house of Judah as a rottenness.

13 When Ephraim saw his sickness, and Judah his wound, then went Ephraim unto ¹Assyria, and sent unto King ²Jareb: yet could he not heal you, nor cure you of your wound.

14 For I will be unto Ephraim as a lion, and as a lion's whelp, to the house of Judah: I, even I will spoil and go away: I will take away, and none shall rescue it.

15 I will go, and return to my place, till they acknowledge their fault, and seek me: in their affliction, they will seek me diligently.

6 1 Affliction causeth a man to turn to God. 9 The wickedness of the Priests.

1 Come, and let ¹us return to the Lord: for he hath spoiled, and he will heal us: he hath wounded us, and he will bind us up.

2 After two days will ¹he revive us, and in the third day he will raise us up, and we shall live in his sight.

3 Then shall we have knowledge, and endeavor ourselves to know the Lord: his going forth is prepared as the morning, and he shall come unto us as the rain, and as the latter rain unto the earth.

4 O Ephraim, what shall I do unto thee? O Judah, how shall I entreat thee? for ¹your goodness is as a morn-

4:15 ¹ God complaineth that Judah is infected, and willet them to learn to return in time.

² For albeit the Lord had honored this place in time past by his presence, yet because it was abused by their idolatry, he would not that his people should resort thither.

³ He calleth Bethel, that is, the house of God, Beth Aven, that is, the house of iniquity, because of their abominations set up there, signifying that no place is holy, where God is not purely worshipped.

4:16 ¹ God will so disperse them, that they shall not remain in any certain place.

4:18 ¹ They are so impudent in receiving bribes, that they will command men to bring them unto them.

4:19 ¹ To carry them suddenly away.

5:1 ¹ The Priests and Princes caught the poor people in their snares, as the fowlers did the birds, in these two high mountains.

5:2 ¹ Notwithstanding they seemed to be given altogether to holiness, and to sacrifices which here he calleth slaughter in contempt.

² Though I had admonished them continually by my Prophets.

5:3 ¹ They boasted themselves not only to be Israelites, but also Ephraimites, because their king Jeroboam came of that tribe.

5:5 ¹ Meaning, their contemning of all admonitions.

5:7 ¹ That is, their children are degenerate, so that there is no hope in them.

² Their destruction is not far off.

5:8 ¹ That is, all Israel comprehended under this part, signifying that the Lord's plagues should pursue them from place to place till they were destroyed.

5:9 ¹ By the success they shall know that I have surely determined this.

5:10 ¹ They have turned upside down all political order and all manner of religion.

5:11 ¹ To wit, after king Jeroboam's commandment, and did not rather follow God.

5:13 ¹ Instead of seeking for remedy at God's hand.

² Who was king of the Assyrians.

6:1 ¹ He sheweth the people how they ought to turn to the Lord, that he might call back his plagues.

6:2 ¹ Though he correct us from time to time, yet his help will not be far off, if we return to him.

6:4 ¹ You seem to have a certain holiness and repentance, but it is upon the sudden, and as a morning cloud.

ing cloud, and as the morning dew it goeth away.

5 Therefore have I cut down by the Prophets: I have slain them by the words of my mouth, and thy judgments were as the light that goeth forth.

6 For I desired mercy, and not sacrifice, and the knowledge of God more than burnt offerings.

7 But they like men have transgressed the covenant: there have they trespassed against me.

8 Gilead is a city of them that work iniquity, and is polluted with blood.

9 And as the thieves wait for a man, so the company of Priests murder in the way by consent: for they work mischief.

10 I have seen villainy in the house of Israel: there is the whoredom of Ephraim: Israel is defiled.

11 Yea, Judah hath set a plant for thee, while I would return the captivity of my people.

7 1 Of the vices and wantonness of the people. 12 Of their punishment.

1 When I would have healed Israel, then the iniquity of Ephraim was discovered, and the wickedness of Samaria: for they have dealt falsely: and the thief cometh in, and the robber spoileth without.

2 And they consider not in their hearts, that I remember all their wickedness: now their own inventions have beset them about: they are in my sight.

3 They make the king glad with their wickedness, and the princes with their lies.

4 They are all adulterers, and as a very oven heated by the baker, which ceaseth from raising up, and from kneading the dough until it be leavened.

5 This is the day of our king: the princes have made him sick with flagons of wine: he stretcheth out his hand to scorners.

6 For they have made ready their heart like an oven while they lie in wait: their baker sleepeth all the night: in the morning it burneth as a flame of fire.

7 They are all hot as an oven, and have devoured their judges: all their kings are fallen: there is none among them that calleth unto me.

8 Ephraim hath mixed himself among the people. Ephraim is as a cake on the hearth not turned.

9 Strangers have devoured his strength, and he knoweth it not: yea, gray hairs are here, and there upon him, yet he knoweth not.

10 And the pride of Israel testifieth to his face, and they do not return to the Lord their God, nor seek him for all this.

11 Ephraim also is like a dove deceived without heart: they call to Egypt: they go to Assyria.

12 But when they shall go, I will spread my net upon them, and draw them down as the fowls of the heaven: I will chastise them as their Congregation hath heard.

13 Woe unto them: for they have fled away from me: destruction shall be unto them, because they have transgressed against me: though I have redeemed them, yet they have spoken lies against me.

14 And they have not cried unto me with their hearts, when they howled upon their beds: they assembled themselves for corn, and wine, and they rebel against me.

15 Though I have bound and strengthened their arm, yet do they imagine mischief against me.

16 They return, but not to the most high: they are like a deceitful bow: their princes shall fall by the sword, for the rage of their tongues: this shall be their derision in the land of Egypt.

8 1 The destruction of Judah and Israel, because of their idolatry.

1 Set the trumpet to thy mouth: he shall come as an eagle against the House of the Lord, because

6:5 ¹ I have still labored by my prophets, and as it were framed you to bring you to amendment, but all was in vain: for my word was not food to feed them, but a sword to slay them.

² My doctrine which I taught thee, was most evident.

6:6 ¹ He sheweth to what scope his doctrine tended, that they should join the obedience of God, and the love of their neighbor with outward sacrifices.

6:7 ¹ That is, like light and weak persons.

6:8 ¹ Which was the place where the Priests dwelt, and which should have been best instructed in my word.

6:11 ¹ That is, doth imitate thine idolatry, and hath taken grafts of thy trees.

7:1 ¹ Meaning, that there was no one kind of vice among them, but that they were subject to all wickedness, both secret and open.

7:3 ¹ They esteem their wicked king Jeroboam above God, and seek but how to flatter and please him.

7:4 ¹ He compareth the rage of the people to a burning oven which the baker heatheth, still till his dough be leavened and raised.

7:5 ¹ They used all riot and excess in their feasts, and solemnities whereby their king was overcome with surfeit, and brought into diseases, and delighted in flatteries.

7:7 ¹ By their occasion God hath deprived them of all good rulers.

7:8 ¹ That is, he counterfeited the religion of the Gentiles, yet is but as a cake baked on the one side, and raw on the other, that is, neither thoroughly hot, nor thoroughly cold, but partly a Jew, and partly a Gentile.

7:9 ¹ Which are a token of his manifold afflictions.

7:11 ¹ That is, without all judgment, as they that cannot tell whether it is better to cleave only to God, or to seek the help of man.

7:12 ¹ According to my curses made to the whole Congregation of Israel.

7:13 ¹ That is, divers times redeemed them, and delivered them from death.

7:14 ¹ When they were in affliction, and cried out for pain, they sought not unto me for help.

² They only seek their own commodity and wealth, and pass not for me their God.

7:16 ¹ Because they boast of their own strength, and pass not what they speak against me and my servants, Ps. 73:9.

8:1 ¹ God encourageth the Prophet to signify the speedy coming of the enemy against Israel, which was once the people of God.

they have transgressed my covenant, and trespassed against my Law.

2 Israel shall ¹cry unto me, My God, we know thee.

3 Israel hath cast off the thing that is good: the enemy shall pursue him.

4 They have set up a ¹king, but not by me: they have made princes, and I knew it not: of their silver and their gold have they made them idols: therefore shall they be destroyed.

5 Thy calf, O Samaria, hath cast thee off: mine anger is kindled against them: how long will they be without ¹innocency!

6 ¹For it came even from Israel: the workman made it, therefore it is not God: but the calf of Samaria shall be broken in pieces.

7 For they have ¹sown the wind, and they shall reap the whirlwind: it hath no stalk: the bud shall bring forth no meal: if so be it brought forth, the strangers shall devour it.

8 Israel is devoured, now shall they be among the Gentiles as a vessel wherein is no pleasure.

9 For they are gone up to Assyria: they are as a ¹wild ass alone by himself: Ephraim hath hired lovers.

10 Yet though they have hired among the nations, now will I gather them and they shall sorrow a little for the ¹burden of the king and the princes.

11 Because Ephraim hath made many altars to sin, his altars shall be to sin.

12 I have written to them the great things of my Law: but they were counted as a ¹strange thing.

13 They sacrifice flesh for the sacrifices of mine offerings, and eat it: but the ¹Lord accepteth them not: now will he remember their iniquity, and visit their sins: they shall return to Egypt.

14 For Israel hath forgotten his maker, and buildeth

Temples, and Judah hath increased strong cities: but I will send a fire upon his cities, and it shall devour the palaces thereof.

9 Of the hunger and captivity of Israel.

1 Rejoice not, O Israel for joy ¹as other people: for thou hast gone a whoring from thy God: thou hast loved ²a reward upon every corn floor.

2 ¹The floor, and the winepress shall not feed them, and the new wine shall fail in her.

3 They will not dwell in the Lord's land, but Ephraim will return to Egypt, and they will eat unclean things in Assyria.

4 They shall not offer ¹wine to the Lord, neither shall their sacrifices be pleasant unto him: but they shall be unto them as the bread of mourners: all that eat thereof, shall be polluted: for their bread ²for their souls shall not come into the house of the Lord.

5 What will ye do ¹then in the solemn day, and in the day of the feast of the Lord?

6 For lo, they are gone from ¹destruction: but Egypt shall gather them up, and Memphis shall bury them: the nettle shall possess the pleasant places of their silver, and the thorn shall be in their tabernacles.

7 The days of visitation are come: the days of recompense are come: Israel shall know it: ¹the Prophet is a fool: the spiritual man is mad, for the multitude of thine iniquity: therefore the hatred is great.

8 The watchman of Ephraim ¹*should be* with my God: but the Prophet is the snare of a fowler in all his ways, and hatred in the house of his God.

9 They ¹are deeply set: they are corrupt as in the days of Gibeah: therefore he will remember their iniquity, he will visit their sins.

10 I found Israel like ¹grapes in the wilderness: I saw your fathers as the first ripe in the fig tree at her first time: but they went to Baal Peor, and separated

8:2 ¹ They shall cry like hypocrites, but not from the heart, as their deeds declare.

8:4 ¹ That is, Jeroboam by whom they sought their own liberty, and not to obey my will.

8:5 ¹ That is, upright judgment and godly life.

8:6 ¹ Meaning, the calf was invented by themselves, and of their fathers in the wilderness.

8:7 ¹ Showing that their religion hath but a show, and in itself is but vanity.

8:9 ¹ They never cease, but run to and fro to seek help.

8:10 ¹ That is, for the king and the princes shall lay upon them: which means the Lord useth to bring them to repentance.

8:12 ¹ Thus the idolaters count the word of God as strange in respect of their own inventions.

8:13 ¹ Saying that they offer it to the Lord, but he accepteth no service, which he himself hath not appointed.

9:1 ¹ For though all other people should escape, yet thou shalt be punished.

² Thou hast committed idolatry in hope of reward, and to have thy barns filled, Jer. 44:17, as an harlot that had rather live by playing the whore, than to be entertained of her own husband.

9:2 ¹ These outward things that thou seekest, shall be taken from thee.

9:4 ¹ All their doings both touching policy and religion, shall be rejected as things polluted.

² The meat offering which they offered for themselves.

9:5 ¹ When the Lord shall take away all the occasions of serving him, which shall be the most grievous point of your captivity, when ye shall see yourselves cut off from God.

9:6 ¹ Though they think to escape by fleeing the destruction that is at hand, yet shall they be destroyed in the place whither they flee for succor.

9:7 ¹ Then they shall know that they were deluded by them, who challenged to themselves to be their prophets and spiritual men.

9:8 ¹ The Prophet's duty is to bring men to God, and not to be a snare to pull them from God.

9:9 ¹ This people is so rooted in their wickedness, that Gibeah which was like to Sodom, was never more corrupt, Judg. 19:22.

9:10 ¹ Meaning, that he so esteemed them and delighted in them.

themselves unto that shame, and their abominations were according to ²their lovers.

11 Ephraim their glory shall flee away like a bird: from the birth ¹and from the womb, and from the conception.

12 Though they bring up their children, yet I will deprive them from being men: yea, woe to them, when I depart from them.

13 Ephraim, as I saw, is as a tree ¹in Tyre planted in a cottage: but Ephraim shall bring forth his children to the murderer.

14 O Lord, give them: what wilt thou give them? give them a ¹barren womb and dry breasts.

15 All their wickedness is in ¹Gilgal: for there do I hate them: for the wickedness of their inventions, I will cast them out of mine House: I will love them no more: all their princes are rebels.

16 Ephraim is smitten, their root is dried up: they can bring no fruit: yea, though they bring forth, yet will I slay even the dearest of their body.

17 My God will cast them away, because they did not obey him: and they shall wander among the nations.

10 ¹Against Israel and his idols. ¹⁴His destruction for the same.

1 Israel is a ¹empty vine, yet hath it brought forth fruit unto itself, and according to the multitude of the fruit thereof he hath increased the altars: according to the ²goodness of their land they have made fair images.

2 Their heart is ¹divided: now shall they be found faulty: he shall break down their altars; he shall destroy their images.

3 For now they shall say, We have no ¹King because we feared not the Lord: and what should a King do to us?

4 They have spoken words, swearing falsely in making ¹a covenant: thus ²judgment groweth as wormwood in the furrows of the field.

5 The inhabitants of Samaria shall ¹fear because of the calf of Beth Aven: for the people thereof shall mourn over it, and the ²Chemarims thereof, that rejoiced on it for the glory thereof, because it is departed from it.

6 It shall be also brought to Assyria, for a present unto king Jareb: Ephraim shall receive shame, and Israel shall be ashamed of his own counsel.

7 Of Samaria, the king thereof is destroyed, as the foam upon the water.

8 The high places also of ¹Aven shall be destroyed, even the sin of Israel: the thorn and the thistle shall grow upon their altars, and they shall say to the mountains, ⁴Cover us, and to the hills, Fall upon us.

9 O Israel, thou hast ¹sinned from the days of Gibeah: there they ²stood: the battle in Gibeah against the children of iniquity did not ³touch them.

10 It is my desire ¹that I should chastise them, and the people shall be gathered against them, when they shall gather themselves in their two ²furrows.

11 And Ephraim is as a heifer used to delight in ¹threshing: but I will pass by her ²fair neck: I will make Ephraim to ride: Judah shall plow, and Jacob shall break his clods.

12 Sow to yourselves in righteousness: reap after the measure of mercy: ¹break up your fallow ground: for it is time to seek the Lord, till he come and rain righteousness upon you.

13 But you have plowed wickedness: ye have reaped iniquity: you have eaten the fruit of lies: because thou didst trust in thine own ways, and in the multitude of thy strong men,

9:10 ² They were as abominable unto me, as their lovers the idols.

9:11 ¹ Signifying, that God would destroy their children by these sundry means, and so consume them by little and little.

9:13 ¹ As they kept tender plants in their houses in Tyre to preserve them from the cold air of the sea, so was Ephraim at the first unto me, but now I will give him to the slaughter.

9:14 ¹ The Prophet seeing the great plagues of God toward Ephraim, prayeth to God to make them barren, rather than that this great slaughter should come upon their children.

9:15 ¹ The chief cause of their destruction is that they commit idolatry, and corrupt my Religion in Gilgal.

10:1 ¹ Whereof though the grapes were gathered, yet ever as it gathered new strength, it increased new wickedness, so that the correction which should have brought them to obedience, did but utter their stubbornness.

² As they were rich and had abundance.

10:2 ¹ To wit, from God.

10:3 ¹ The day shall come that God shall take away their king, and then they shall feel the fruit of their sins, and how they trusted in him in vain, 2 Kings 17:6, 7.

10:4 ¹ In promising to be faithful toward God.

² Thus their integrity and fidelity, which they pretended, was nothing but bitterness and grief.

10:5 ¹ When the calf shall be carried away.

² Chemarims were certain idolatrous priests, which did wear black apparel in their sacrifices, and cried with a loud voice: which superstition Elijah derided, 1 Kings 18:27, read 2 Kings 23:5.

10:8 ¹ This he speaketh in contempt of Bethel, read Hos. 4:15.

10:9 ¹ In those days wast thou as wicked as the Gibeonites, as God there partly declared: for thy zeal could not be good in executing God's judgments, seeing thine own deeds were as wicked as theirs.

² To wit, to fight, or the Israelites remained in that stubbornness from that time.

³ The Israelites were not moved by their example to cease from their sins.

10:10 ¹ Because they are so desperate, I will delight to destroy them.

² That is, when they have gathered all their strength together.

10:11 ¹ Wherein is pleasure, as in plowing is labor and pain.

² I will lay my yoke upon her fat neck.

10:12 ¹ Read Jer. 4:4.

14 Therefore shall a tumult arise among thy people, and all thy munitions shall be destroyed, as ¹Shalman destroyed Beth Arbel in the day of battle: the mother with the children was dashed in pieces.

15 So shall Bethel do unto you, because of your malicious wickedness: in a morning shall the king of Israel be destroyed.

11 1 The benefits of the Lord toward Israel. 5 Their ingratitude against him.

1 When Israel ¹was a child, then I loved him, and called my son out of Egypt.

2 They called them, but they ¹went thus from them: they sacrificed unto Baal, and burnt incense to images.

3 I led Ephraim also, as one should bear them in his arms: but they knew not that I healed them.

4 I led them with cords ¹of a man, even with bands of love, and I was to them, as he was taketh off the yoke from their jaws, and I laid the meat unto them.

5 He shall no more return into the land of Egypt: but Assyria shall be his ¹King, because they refused to convert.

6 And the sword shall fall on his cities, and shall consume his bars, and devour them, because of their own counsels.

7 And my people are bent to rebellion against me: though ¹they called them to the most high, yet none at all would exalt him.

8 ¹How shall I give thee up, Ephraim? how shall I deliver thee, Israel? how shall I make thee, as ²Admah? how shall I set thee, as Zeboim? mine heart is turned within me: ³my repentings are rouled together.

9 I will not execute the fierceness of my wrath: I will not return to destroy Ephraim: for I am God, and not man, the holy one in the midst of thee, and

I will not ¹enter into the city.

10 They shall walk after the Lord: he shall roar like a lion: when he shall roar, then the children of the West shall fear.

11 ¹They shall fear as a sparrow out of Egypt, and as a dove out of the land of Assyria, and I will place them in their houses, saith the Lord.

12 Ephraim compasseth me about with lies, and the house of Israel with deceit: but Judah yet ruleth with ¹God, and is faithful with the Saints.

12 He admonisheth by Jacob's example to trust in God, and not in riches.

1 Ephraim is fed ¹with the wind, and followeth after the East wind: he increaseth daily lies and destruction, and they do make a covenant with Assyria, and ²oil is carried into Egypt.

2 The Lord hath also a controversy with ¹Judah, and will visit Jacob, according to his ways: according to his works, will he recompense him.

3 He took his brother by the heel in the womb, and by his strength he had ¹power with God,

4 And had ¹power over the Angel, and prevailed: he wept and prayed unto him: ²he found him in Bethel, and there he spake with us.

5 Yea, the Lord God of hosts, the Lord is himself his memorial.

6 Therefore turn thou to thy God: keep mercy and judgment, and hope still in thy God.

7 He is ¹Canaan: the balances of decree are in his hand: he loveth to oppress.

8 And Ephraim said, Notwithstanding I am rich, I have found me out riches in all my labors: they shall find none iniquity in me, ¹that were wickedness.

9 Though I am the Lord thy God, from the land of Egypt, yet will I make thee to dwell in the 10:14 ¹ That is, Shalmaneser in the destruction of that city spared neither kind nor age.

11:1 ¹ While the Israelites were in Egypt, and did not provoke my wrath by their malice and ingratitude.

11:2 ¹ They rebelled and went a contrary way when the Prophets called them to repentance.

11:4 ¹ That is, friendly: and not as beasts or slaves.

11:5 ¹ Seeing they condemn all this kindness, they shall be led captive into Assyria.

11:7 ¹ To wit, the Prophets.

11:8 ¹ God considereth with himself, and that with a certain grief, how to punish them.

² Which were two of the cities that were destroyed with Sodom, Deut. 29:23.

³ Meaning, that his love wherewith he first loved them, made him between doubt and assurance what to do: and herein appeareth his Fatherly affection: that his mercy toward his shall overcome his judgments, as he declareth in the next verse.

11:9 ¹ To consume thee, but will cause thee to yield, and so receive thee to mercy: and this is meant of the final number who shall walk after the Lord.

11:11 ¹ The Egyptians, and the Assyrians shall be afraid when the Lord maintaineth his people.

11:12 ¹ Governeth their state according to God's word, and doth not degenerate.

12:1 ¹ That is, flattereth himself with vain confidence.

² Meaning, presents to get friendship.

12:2 ¹ Which in those points was like to Ephraim, but not in idolatries.

12:3 ¹ Seeing that God did thus prefer Jacob their father, Judah's ingratitude was the more to be abhorred.

12:4 ¹ Read Gen. 32:24-32.

² God found Jacob as he lay sleeping in Bethel, Gen. 28:12, and so spake with him there, that the fruit of that speech appertained to the whole body of the people, whereof we are.

12:7 ¹ As for Ephraim he is more like the wicked Canaanites, than godly Abraham or Jacob.

12:8 ¹ Thus the wicked measure God's favor by outward prosperity and like hypocrites cannot abide that any should reprove their doings.

tabernacles, as in ¹the days of the solemn feast.

10 I have also spoken by the Prophets, and I have multiplied visions, and used similitudes by the ministry of the Prophets.

11 Is there ¹iniquity in Gilead? surely they are vanity: they sacrifice bullocks in Gilgal, and their altars are as heaps in the furrows of the field.

12 ¹And Jacob fled into the country of Aram, and Israel served for a wife, and for a wife he kept sheep, 13 And by a ¹Prophet the Lord brought Israel out of Egypt, and by a Prophet was he reserved.

14 But Ephraim provoked him with high places: therefore shall his blood be poured upon him, and his reproach shall his Lord reward him.

13 ¹ The abomination of Israel, 9 and cause of their destruction.

1 When Ephraim spake, there was ¹trembling: he ²exalted himself in Israel, but he hath sinned in Baal, ³and is dead.

2 And now they sin more and more, and have made them molten images of their silver, and idols according to their own understanding: they were all the work of the craftsmen: they say one to another while they sacrifice a ¹man, Let them kiss the calves.

3 Therefore they shall be as the morning cloud, and as the morning dew that passeth away, as the chaff that is driven with a whirlwind out of the floor, and as the smoke that goeth out of the chimney.

4 Yet I am the Lord thy God ¹from the land of Egypt, and thou shalt know no God but me: for there is no Savior beside me.

5 I did know thee in the wilderness, in the land of drought.

6 As in their pastures, so were they filled: they were filled, and their heart was exalted: therefore have they forgotten me.

7 And I will be unto them as a very lion, and as a leopard in the way of Assyria.

8 I will meet them, as a bear that is robbed of her whelps, and I will break the caul of their heart, and there will I devour them like a lion: the wild beasts shall tear them.

9 O Israel, one ¹hath destroyed thee, but in me is thine help.

10 ¹I am: where is thy king that should help thee in all thy cities? and thy judges, of whom thou saidest, Give me a king and princes?

11 I gave thee a king in mine anger, and I took him away in my wrath.

12 The iniquity of Ephraim is ¹bound up: his sin is hid.

13 The sorrows of a travailing woman shall come upon him: he is an unwise son, else would he not stand still at the time, even at the ¹breaking forth of the children.

14 I will redeem them from the power of the grave: I will deliver them from death: O ¹death, I will be thy death: O grave, I will be thy destruction: ²repentance is hid from mine eyes.

15 Though he grew up among his brethren, an East wind shall come, even the wind of the Lord shall come up from the wilderness, and dry up his vein, and his fountain shall be dried up: he shall spoil the treasure of all pleasant vessels.

14 ¹ The destruction of Samaria. 2 He exhorteth Israel to turn to God, who requireth praise and thanks.

1 Samaria shall be desolate: for she hath rebelled against her God: they shall fall by the sword: their infants shall be dashed in pieces, and their women with child shall be ripped.

2 O Israel, ¹return unto the Lord thy God: for thou hast fallen by thine iniquity.

3 Take unto you words, and turn to the Lord, and say unto him, ¹Take away all iniquity, and 12:9 ¹ Seeing thou wilt not acknowledge my benefits, I will bring thee again to dwell in tents, as in the feast of the Tabernacles, which thou dost now condemn.

12:11 ¹ The people thought that no man durst have spoken against Gilead, that holy place, and yet the Prophet saith, that all their religion was but vanity.

12:12 ¹ If you boast of your riches and nobility, ye seem to reproach your father, who was a poor fugitive and servant.

12:13 ¹ Meaning, Moses, whereby appeareth, that whatsoever they have, it cometh of God's free goodness.

13:1 ¹ He sheweth the excellency and authority that this tribe had above all the rest.

² He made a king of his tribe.

³ The Ephraimites are not far from destruction, and have lost their authority.

13:2 ¹ The false prophets persuaded the idolaters to offer their children after the example of Abraham, and he sheweth how they would exhort one another to the same, and to kiss and worship these calves which were their idols.

13:4 ¹ He calleth them to repentance, and reproveth their ingratitude.

13:9 ¹ Thy destruction is certain, and my benefits toward thee declare that it cometh not of me: therefore thine own malice, idolatry and vain confidence in men must needs be the cause thereof.

13:10 ¹ I am all one, James 1:17.

13:12 ¹ It is surely laid up to be punished, as Jer. 17:1.

13:13 ¹ But would come out of the womb, that is out of this dangers wherein he is and not to tarry to be stifled.

13:14 ¹ Meaning, that no power shall resist God when he will deliver his, but even in death will he give them life.

² Because they will not turn to me, I will change my purpose.

14:2 ¹ He exhorteth them to repentance to avoid all these plagues, willing them to declare by words their obedience and repentance.

14:3 ¹ He sheweth them how they ought to confess their sins.

receive us graciously: so will we render the calves of our ²lips.

4 Assyria shall ¹not save us, neither will we ride upon horses, neither will we say anymore to the work of our hands, Ye are our gods: for in thee the fatherless findeth mercy.

5 ¹I will heal their rebellion: I will love them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him.

6 I will be as the dew unto Israel: he shall grow as the lily and fasten his roots, as the trees of Lebanon.

7 His branches shall spread, and his beauty shall be as the olive tree, and his smell as Lebanon.

8 They that dwell under his ¹shadow, shall return: they shall revive as the corn, and flourish as the vine: the scent thereof shall be as the wine of Lebanon.

9 Ephraim shall say, What have I to do anymore with idols? I ¹have heard him, and looked upon him: I am like a green fir tree: upon me is thy fruit found.

10 Who is ¹wise, and he shall understand these things? and prudent, and he shall know them? for the ways of the Lord are righteous and the just shall walk in them: but the wicked shall fall therein.

² Declaring that this is the true sacrifice, that the faithful can offer, even thanks and praise, Heb. 13:15.

14:4 ¹ We will leave off all vain confidence and pride.

14:5 ¹ He declareth how ready God is to receive them that do repent.

14:8 ¹ Whosoever join themselves to this people, shall be blessed.

14:9 ¹ God showeth how prompt he is to hear his, when they repent, and to offer himself, as a protection and safeguard unto them, as a most sufficient fruit and profit.

14:10 ¹ Signifying, that the true wisdom and knowledge consisteth in this even to rest upon God.

JOEL

1 1 A prophecy against the Jews. 2 He exhorteth the people to prayer and fasting for the misery that was at hand.

1 The word of the Lord that came to Joel the son of Pethuel.

2 Hear ye this, O ¹Elders, and hearken ye all inhabitants of the land, whether ²such a thing hath been in your days, or yet in the days of your fathers.

3 Tell you your children of it, and let your children show to their children, and their children, to another generation.

4 That which is left of the palmerworm, hath the grasshopper eaten, and the residue of the grasshopper hath the cankerworm eaten, and the residue of the cankerworm hath the caterpillar eaten.

5 Awake ye ¹drunkards, and weep and howl all ye drinkers of wine, because of the new wine, for it shall be pulled from your mouth.

6 Yea, ¹a nation cometh upon my land, mighty and without number, whose teeth are like the teeth of a lion, and he hath the jaws of a great lion.

7 He maketh my vine waste, and pillet off the bark of my fig tree: he maketh it bare, and casteth it down: the branches thereof are made white.

8 Mourn like a virgin girded with sackcloth, for the ¹husband of her youth.

9 The meat offering and the drink offering is ¹cut off from the house of the Lord: the Priests the Lord's ministers mourn.

10 The field is wasted: the land mourneth: for the corn is destroyed: ¹the new wine is dried up, and the oil is decayed.

11 Be ye ashamed, O husbandmen: howl, O ye vinedressers for the wheat and for the barley, because the harvest of the field is perished.

12 The vine is dried up, and the fig tree is decayed: the pomegranate tree and the palm tree, and the apple tree, even all the trees of the field are withered: surely the joy is withered away from the sons of men.

13 ¹Gird yourselves and lament ye Priests: howl ye ministers of the altar: come, and lie all night in sackcloth, ye ministers of my God: for the meat offering, and the drink offering is taken away from the house of your God.

14 Sanctify you a fast: call a solemn assembly: gather the Elders, and all the inhabitants of the land into the house of the Lord your God, and cry unto the Lord, 15 Alas: for the day, for the ¹day of the Lord is at hand, and it cometh as a destruction from the Almighty.

16 Is not the meat cut off before our eyes? and joy, and gladness from the house of our God?

17 The seed is rotten under their clods: the garners are destroyed: the barns are broken down, for the corn is withered.

18 How did the beasts mourn! the herds of cattle pine away, because they have no pasture, and the flocks of sheep are destroyed.

19 O Lord, to thee will I cry: for the fire hath devoured the pastures of the wilderness, and the flame hath burnt up all the trees of the field.

20 The beasts of the field cry also unto thee: for the river of waters are dried up, and the ¹fire hath devoured the pastures of the wilderness.

2 He prophesieth of the coming and cruelty of their enemies. 13 An exhortation to move them to convert. 18 The love of God toward his people.

1 Blow ¹the trumpet in Zion, and shout in mine holy mountain, let all the inhabitants of the land tremble: for the day of the Lord is come: for it is at hand.

2 A ¹day of darkness, and of blackness, a day of clouds and obscurity, as the morning spread upon the mountains, so is there a ²great people, and a mighty: there was none like it from the beginning, neither shall be anymore after it, unto the years of many generations.

1:2 ¹ Signifying the Princes, the Priests and the governors.

² He calleth the Jews to the consideration of God's judgments, who had now plagued the fruits of the ground for the space of four years, which was for their sins, and to call them to repentance.

1:5 ¹ Meaning, that the occasion of their excess and drunkenness was taken away.

1:6 ¹ This was another plague wherewith God had punished them when he stirred up the Assyrians against them.

1:8 ¹ Mourn grievously, as a woman which hath lost her husband to whom she hath been married in her youth.

1:9 ¹ The tokens of God's wrath did appear in his Temple, insomuch as God's service was left off.

1:10 ¹ All comfort and substance for nourishment is taken away.

1:13 ¹ He sheweth that the only means to avoid God's wrath, and to have all things restored, is unfeigned repentance.

1:15 ¹ We see by these great plagues that utter destruction is at hand.

1:20 ¹ That is, drought.

2:1 ¹ He sheweth the great judgments of God, which are at hand, except they repent.

2:2 ¹ Of affliction and trouble.

² Meaning, the Assyrians.

3 A fire devoureth before him, and behind him a flame burneth up: the land is as the garden of ¹Eden before him, and behind him a desolate wilderness, so that nothing shall escape him.

4 The beholding of him is like the sight of horses, and like the horsemen, so shall they run.

5 Like the noise of chariots in the tops of the mountains shall they leap, like the noise of a flame of fire that devoureth the stubble, and as a mighty people prepared to the battle.

6 Before his face shall the people tremble: all faces ¹shall gather blackness.

7 They shall run like strong men, and go up to the wall like men of war, and every man shall go forward in his ways, and they shall not stay in their paths.

8 Neither shall one ¹thrust another, but everyone shall walk in his path: and when they fall upon the sword, they shall not be wounded.

9 They shall run to and fro in the city: they shall run upon the wall: they shall clime up upon the houses, and enter in at the windows like the thief.

10 The earth shall tremble before him, the heavens shall shake, the ¹sun and the moon shall be dark, and the stars shall withdraw their shining.

11 And the Lord shall ¹utter his voice before his host: for his host is very great: for he is strong that doeth his word: "for the day of the Lord is great and very terrible, and who can abide it?"

12 Therefore also now the Lord saith, Turn you unto me with all your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning,

13 And ¹rent your heart, and not your clothes: and turn unto the Lord your God, for he is gracious and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindness, and repenteth him of the evil.

14 Who knoweth, if he will ¹return and repent and leave a blessing behind him, even a meat offering and a drink offering unto the Lord your God?

15 Blow the trumpet in Zion, sanctify a fast, call a solemn assembly.

16 Gather the people, sanctify the congregation: gather the elders: assemble the ¹children, and those that suck the breasts: let the bridegroom go forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her bride chamber.

17 Let the Priests, the ministers of the Lord, weep between the porch and the altar, and let them say, Spare thy people, O Lord, and give not thine heritage into reproach, that the heathen should rule over them. ^bWherefore should they say among the people, Where is their God?

18 Then will the Lord be ¹jealous over his land, and spare his people.

19 Yea, the Lord will answer and say unto his people, Behold, I will send you corn and wine, and oil, and you shall be satisfied therewith: and I will no more make you a reproach among the heathen.

20 But I will remove far off from you the ¹Northern army, and I will drive him into a land, barren and desolate with his face toward the ²East sea, and his end to the utmost sea, and his stink shall come up, and his corruption shall ascend, because he hath exalted himself to do this.

21 Fear not, O land, but be glad, and rejoice: for the Lord will do great things.

22 Be not afraid, ye beasts of the field: for the pastures of the wilderness are green for the tree beareth her fruit: the fig tree and the vine do give their force.

23 Be glad then, ye children of Zion, and rejoice in the Lord your God, for he hath given you the rain of ¹righteousness, ^cand he will cause to come down for you the rain, even the first rain, and the latter rain in the first month.

24 And the barns shall be full of wheat, and the presses shall abound with wine and oil.

25 And I will render you the years that the grasshopper hath eaten, the cankerworm and the caterpillar and the palmerworm, my great host which I sent among you.

26 So you shall eat and be satisfied and praise the name of the Lord your God, that hath dealt marvelously with you: and my people shall never be ashamed.

27 Ye shall also know that I am in the midst of Israel, and that I am the Lord your God and none

2:3 ¹ The enemy destroyed our plentiful country, wheresoever he cometh.

2:6 ¹ They shall be pale and black for fear, as Nah. 2:10.

2:8 ¹ For none shall be able to resist them.

2:10 ¹ Read Joel 2:31 and Isa. 13:10; Ezek. 32:7; Joel 3:15; Matt. 24:29.

2:11 ¹ The Lord shall stir up the Assyrians to execute his judgments.

2:13 ¹ Mortify your affections and serve God with pureness of heart, and not with ceremonies.

2:14 ¹ He speaketh this to stir up their slothfulness, and not that he doubted of God's mercies, if they did repent. How God repenteth, read Jer. 18:8.

2:16 ¹ That as all have sinned, so all may show forth signs of their repentance, that men seeing the children which are not free from God's wrath, might be the more lively touched with the consideration of their own sins.

2:18 ¹ If they repent he sheweth that God will preserve and defend them with a most ardent affection.

2:20 ¹ That is, the Assyrians your enemies.

² Called the salt sea, or Persian sea: meaning, that though his army were so great that it filled all from this sea to the sea called Mediterranean, yet he would scatter them.

2:23 ¹ That is, such as should come by just measure, and as was wont to be sent when God was reconciled with them.

other, and my people shall never be ashamed.

28 And afterward will I pour ¹out my Spirit upon all flesh: and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy: your old men shall dream ²dreams, and your young men shall see visions.

29 And also upon the servants, and upon the maids in those days will I pour my Spirit.

30 And I will show ¹wonders in the heavens and in the earth: blood and fire, and pillars of smoke.

31 The ¹sun shall be turned into darkness, and the moon into blood, before the great and terrible day of the Lord come.

32 But whosoever shall call ¹on the Name of the Lord, shall be saved: for in mount Zion, and in Jerusalem shall be deliverance as the Lord hath said, and in the ²remnant, whom the Lord shall call.

3 Of the judgment of God against the enemies of his people.

1 For behold, in ¹those days and in that time, when I shall bring again the captivity of Judah and Jerusalem,

2 I will also gather all nations, and will bring them down into the ¹valley of Jehoshaphat, and will plead with them there for my people, and for mine heritage Israel: whom they have scattered among the nations, and parted my land.

3 And they have cast lots for my people, and have given the child ¹for the harlot, and sold the girl for wine, that they might drink.

4 Yea, and ¹what have you to do with me, O Tyre and Sidon, and all the coasts of Philistia? will ye render me ²a recompense? and if ye recompense me, swiftly and speedily will I render your recompense upon your head:

5 For ye have taken my silver and my gold, and have carried into your temples my goldly and pleasant things.

6 The children also of Judah and the children of Jerusalem have you sold unto the Grecians, that ye might send them far from their border.

7 Behold, I will raise them out of the place where ye have sold them, and will render your reward upon your own head.

8 And I will sell your sons and your daughters into the hand of the children of Judah, and they ¹shall send them to the Sabeans, to a people far off, for the Lord hath spoken it.

9 Publish this among the Gentiles: prepare war, wake up the mighty men: let all the men of war draw near and come up.

10 ¹Break your plowshares into swords, and your scythes into spears: let the weak say, I am strong.

11 Assemble yourselves, and come all ye heathen, and gather yourselves together round about: there shall the Lord cast down the mighty men.

12 Let the heathen be wakened, and come up to the valley of Jehoshaphat: for there will I sit to judge all the heathen round about.

13 Put in your ¹scythes, for the harvest is ripe, come, get you down, for the winepress is full: yea, the winepresses run over, for their wickedness is great.

14 O multitude, O multitude, come into the valley of threshing: for the day of the Lord is near in the valley of threshing.

15 The sun and moon shall be darkened, and the stars shall withdraw their light.

16 The Lord also shall roar out of Zion, and utter his voice from Jerusalem, and the heavens and the earth shall shake, but the Lord will be the ¹hope of his people, and the strength of the children of Israel.

17 So shall ye know that I am the Lord your God

2:28 ¹ That is, in greater abundance, and more generally than in times past: and this was fulfilled under Christ, when as God's graces, and his Spirit under the Gospel was abundantly given to the Church, Isa. 44:3; Acts 2:17; John 7:38, 39.

² As they had visions and dreams in old time, so shall they now have clearer revelations.

2:30 ¹ He warneth the faithful what terrible things should come, to the intent that they should not look for continual quietness in this world, and yet in all these troubles he would preserve them.

2:31 ¹ The order of nature shall seem to be changed for the horrible afflictions that shall be in the world, Isa. 13:10; Ezek. 32:7; Joel 3:15; Matt. 24:29.

2:32 ¹ God's judgments are for the destruction of the infidels, and to move the godly to call upon the Name of God, who will give them salvation.

² Meaning hereby the Gentiles, Rom. 10:13.

3:1 ¹ When I shall deliver my Church, which standeth of the Jews and of the Gentiles.

3:2 ¹ It appeareth that he alludeth to that great victory of Jehoshaphat, when as God without man's help destroyed the enemies, 2 Chron. 20:26, also he hath respect to this word Jehoshaphat which signifieth pleading or judgment, because God would judge the enemies of his Church, as he did there.

3:3 ¹ That which the enemy gat for the sale of my people, he bestowed upon harlots and drink.

3:4 ¹ He taketh the cause of his Church in hand against the enemy, as though the injury were done to himself.

² Have I done you wrong, that ye will render me the like?

3:8 ¹ For afterward God sold them by Nebuchadnezzar and Alexander the great, for the love he bare to his people, and thereby they were comforted, as though the price had been theirs.

3:10 ¹ When I shall execute my judgments against mine enemies, I will cause everyone to be ready, and to prepare their weapons to destroy one another for my Church's sake.

3:13 ¹ Thus he shall encourage the enemies when their wickedness is full ripe, to destroy one another, which he calleth the valley of God's judgment.

3:16 ¹ God assureth his against all trouble, that when he destroyeth his enemies, his children shall be delivered.

dwelling in Zion, mine holy Mountain: then shall Jerusalem be holy, and there shall no strangers go ¹through her anymore.

18 And in that day shall the mountains ¹drop down new wine, and the hills shall flow with milk, and all the rivers of Judah shall run with waters, and a fountain shall come forth of the House of the Lord, and shall water the valley of Shittim.

19 ¹Egypt shall be waste, and Edom shall be a desolate wilderness, for the injuries of the children of Judah, because they have shed innocent blood in their land.

20 But Judah shall dwell forever, and Jerusalem from generation to generation.

21 For I will ¹cleanse their blood, that I have not cleansed, and the Lord will dwell in Zion.

3:17 ¹ The strangers shall no more destroy his Church: which if they do, it is the people, which by their sins make the breach for the enemy.
3:18 ¹ He promiseth to his Church abundance of graces, read Ezek. 47:1, which should water and comfort the most barren places, Amos

3:19 ¹ The malicious enemies shall have no part of his graces.
3:21 ¹ He had suffered his Church hitherto to lie in their filthiness, but now he promiseth to cleanse them and to make them pure unto him.

AMOS

1 ¹ The time of the prophecy of Amos. ³ The word of the Lord against Damascus, ⁶ The Philistines, Tyre, Idumea, and Ammon.

1 The words of Amos, who was among the herdsmen at ¹Tekoa, which he saw upon Israel, in the days of Uzziah king of Judah, and in the days of ²Jeroboam the son of Joash king of Israel, two years before the ³earthquake.

2 And he said, The Lord shall roar from Zion, and utter his voice from Jerusalem, and the dwelling places of the shepherds shall perish, and the top ¹of Carmel shall wither.

3 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For ¹three transgressions of Damascus, and for four, I will not turn to it, because they have ²threshed Gilead with threshing instruments of iron.

4 Therefore will I send a fire into the house of Hazael, and it shall devour the ¹palaces of Ben-Hadad.

5 I will break also the bars of Damascus, and cut off the inhabitant of Bikeath-Aven: and him that holdeth the scepter out of Beth Eden, and the people of Aram shall go into captivity unto ¹Kir, saith the Lord.

6 Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Gaza, and for four, I will not turn to it, because they ¹carried away prisoners the whole captivity to shut them up in Edom.

7 Therefore will I send a fire upon the walls of Gaza, and it shall devour the palaces thereof.

8 And I will cut off the inhabitant from Ashdod, and him that holdeth the scepter from Ashkelon, and turn mine hand to Ekron, and the remnant of the Philistines shall perish, saith the Lord God.

9 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Tyre, and for four, I will not turn to it, because they shut the whole captivity in Edom, and have not remembered the ¹brotherly covenant.

10 Therefore will I send a fire upon the walls of Tyre, and it shall devour the palaces thereof.

11 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Edom, and for four, I will not turn to it, because he did pursue his brother with the sword, and ¹did cast off all pity, and his anger spoiled him evermore, and his wrath watched him ²[always].

12 Therefore will I send a fire upon Teman, and it shall devour the places of Bozrah.

13 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of the children of Ammon, and for four, I will not turn to it, because they ¹have ripped up the women with child of Gilead, that they might enlarge their border.

14 Therefore will I kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah, and it shall devour the palaces thereof, with shouting in the day of battle, and with a tempest in the day of the whirlwind.

15 And their king shall go into captivity, he and his princes together, saith the Lord.

2 Against Moab, Judah, and Israel.

1 Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Moab, and for four, I will not turn to it, because it burnt the ¹bones of the king of Edom into lime.

2 Therefore will I send a fire upon Moab, and it shall devour the palaces of Keriath, and Moab shall die with tumult, with shouting, and with the sound of a trumpet.

3 And I will cut off the judge out of the midst thereof, and will slay all the princes thereof with

1:1 ¹ Which was a town five miles from Jerusalem in Judea, but he prophesied in Israel.

² In his days the kingdom of Israel did most flourish.

³ Which as Josephus writeth, was when Uzziah would have usurped the Priest's office, and therefore was smitten with the leprosy.

1:2 ¹ Whatsoever is fruitful and pleasant in Israel, shall shortly perish.

1:3 ¹ He sheweth first that all the people round about should be destroyed for their manifold sins: which are meant by three and four, which make seven, because the Israelites should the more deeply consider God's judgments toward them.

² If the Syrians shall not be spared for committing this cruelty against one city, it is not possible that Israel should escape punishment which hath committed so many and grievous sins against God and man.

1:4 ¹ The antiquity of their buildings shall not avoid my judgments, read Jer. 49:27.

1:5 ¹ Tiglath-Pileser led the Assyrians captive, and brought them to Cyrene, which he calleth here Kir.

1:6 ¹ They joined themselves with the Edomites their enemies, which carried them away captives.

1:9 ¹ For Esau (of whom came the Edomites) and Jacob were brethren, therefore they ought to have admonished them of their brotherly friendship, and not to have provoked them to hatred.

1:11 ¹ Hebrew, corrupt his compassions.

² He was a continual enemy unto him.

1:13 ¹ He noteth the great cruelty of the Ammonites, that spared not the women, but most tyrannously tormented them, and yet the Ammonites came of Lot, who was of the household of Abraham.

2:1 ¹ For the Moabites were so cruel against the king of Edom, that they burnt his bones after that he was dead: which declared their barbarous rage, seeing they would revenge themselves of the dead.

him, saith the Lord.

4 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Judah, and for four, ¹I will not turn to it, because they have cast away the Law of the Lord, and have not kept his commandments, and their lies caused them to err after the which their fathers have walked.

5 Therefore will I send a fire upon Judah, and it shall devour the palaces of Jerusalem.

6 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of ¹Israel, and for four, I will not turn to it, because they sold the righteous for silver, and the poor for ²shoes.

7 They gape over the head of the poor, in the ¹dust of the earth, and pervert the ways of the meek: and a man and his father will go in to a maid, to dishonor mine holy Name.

8 And they lie down upon clothes laid to pledge ¹by every altar: and they ²drink the wine of the condemned in the house of their God.

9 Yet destroyed I the ¹Amorite before them, whose height was like the height of the cedars, and he was strong as the oaks: notwithstanding I destroyed his fruit from above, and his root from beneath.

10 Also I brought you up from the land of Egypt, and led you forty years through the wilderness, to possess the land of the Amorite.

11 And I raised up of your sons for Prophets, and of ¹your young men for Nazirites. Is it not even thus, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord?

12 But ye gave the Nazirites wine to drink, and commanded the Prophets, saying, Prophecy not.

13 Behold, I am ¹pressed under you as a cart is pressed that is full of sheaves.

14 Therefore the flight shall perish from the ¹swift, and the strong shall not strengthen his force, neither shall the mighty save his life.

15 Nor he that handleth the bow shall stand, and he that is swift of foot, shall not escape, neither shall he that rideth the horse, save his life.

16 And he that is of a mighty courage among the strong men, shall flee away naked in that day, saith the Lord.

3 He reproveth the house of Israel of ingratitude. 11 For the which God will punish them.

1 Hear this word that the Lord pronounceth against you, O children of Israel, even against the whole family which I brought up from the land of Egypt, saying,

2 You ¹only have I known of all the families of the earth: therefore I will visit you for all your iniquities.

3 Can two walk together except they be ¹agreed?

4 Will a ¹lion roar in the forest, when he hath no prey? or will a lion's whelp cry out of his den, if he hath taken nothing?

5 ¹Can a bird fall in a snare upon the earth, where no fowler is? or will he take up the ²snare from the earth, and have taken nothing at all?

6 Or ¹shall a trumpet be blown in the city, and the people be not afraid? or shall there ²be evil in a city, and the Lord hath not done it?

7 Surely the Lord God will do nothing, but he ¹revealeth his secret unto his servants the Prophets.

8 The lion hath roared: who will not be afraid? the Lord God hath spoken, who can but ¹prophecy?

9 Proclaim in the palaces at ¹Ashdod, and in the palaces in the land of Egypt, and say, Assemble yourselves upon the mountains of Samaria: so behold the great tumults in the midst thereof, and the oppressed in the midst thereof.

10 For they know not to do right, saith the Lord: they store up violence, and robbery ¹in their palaces.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, An adversary

2:4 ¹ Seeing the Gentiles that had not so far knowledge were thus punished, Judah which was so fully instructed of the Lord's will, might not think to escape.

2:6 ¹ If he spare not Judah unto whom his promises were made, much more he will not spare this degenerate kingdom.

² They esteemed most vile bribes more than men's lives.

2:7 ¹ When they have spoiled him and thrown him unto the ground, they gape for his life.

2:8 ¹ Thinking by these ceremonies, that is, by sacrificing, and being near mine altar, they may excuse all their other wickedness.

² They spoil others and offer thereof unto God, thinking that he will dispense with them, when he is made partaker of his iniquity.

2:9 ¹ The destruction of their enemies and his mercy toward them, should have caused their hearts to melt for love toward him.

2:11 ¹ Ye contemned my benefits, and abused my graces, and craftily went about to stop the mouths of my Prophets.

2:13 ¹ You have wearied me with your sins, Isa. 1:14.

2:14 ¹ None shall be delivered by any means.

3:2 ¹ I have only chosen you to be mine among all other people, and yet you have forsaken me.

3:3 ¹ Hereby the Prophet signifieth that he speaketh not of himself, but as God guideth and moveth him, which is called the agreement between God and his Prophets.

3:4 ¹ Will God threaten by his Prophet, except there be some great occasion?

3:5 ¹ Can anything come without God's providence?

² Shall his threatenings be in vain?

3:6 ¹ Shall the Prophets threaten God's judgments and the people not be afraid?

² Doth any adversity come without God's appointment? Isa. 45:7.

3:7 ¹ God dealeth not with the Israelites, as he doeth with other people: for he ever warneth them before of his plagues by his Prophets.

3:8 ¹ Because the people ever murmured against the Prophets, he sheweth that God's Spirit moved them so to speak as they did.

3:9 ¹ He calleth the strangers, as the Philistines and Egyptians, to be witness of God's judgments against the Israelites for their cruelty and oppression.

3:10 ¹ The fruit of their cruelty and theft appeareth by their great riches, which they have in their houses.

shall come even round about the country, and shall bring down thy strength from thee, and thy palaces shall be spoiled.

12 Thus saith the Lord, As the shepherd taketh ¹out of the mouth of the lion two legs, or a piece of an ear: so shall the children of Israel be taken out that dwell in Samaria in the corner of a bed: and in ²Damascus, as in a couch.

13 Hear, and testify in the house of Jacob, saith the Lord God, the God of hosts.

14 Surely in the day that I shall visit the transgressions of Israel upon him, I will also visit the altars of Bethel, and the horns of the altar shall be broken off, and fall to the ground.

15 And I will smite the winter house with the summer house, and the houses of ivory shall perish, and the great houses shall be consumed, saith the Lord.

4 Against the governors of Samaria.

1 Hear this word, ye ¹kine of Bashan that are in the mountain of Samaria, which oppress the poor, and destroy the needy, and they say to their masters, ²Bring, and let us drink.

2 The Lord God hath sworn by his holiness, that lo, the days shall come upon you, that he will take you away with ¹thorns, and your posterity with fish-hooks.

3 And ye shall go out at the breaches every cow forward: and ye shall cast yourselves out of the palace, saith the Lord.

4 Come to ¹Bethel, and transgress: to Gilgal, and multiply transgression, and bring your sacrifices in the morning, and your riches after three ²years.

5 And offer a thanksgiving ¹of leaven, publish and proclaim the free offerings: for this ²liketh you, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord God.

6 And therefore have I given you ¹cleanness of teeth in all your cities, and scarceness of bread in all your places, yet have ye not returned unto me, saith the Lord.

7 And also I have withholden the rain from you, when there were yet three ¹months to the harvest, and I caused it to rain upon one city, and have not caused it to rain upon another city: one piece was rained upon, and the piece whereupon it rained not, withered.

8 So two or three cities wandered unto one city to drink water, but they were ¹not satisfied: yet have ye not returned unto me, saith the Lord.

9 I have smitten you with blasting and mildew: your great gardens and your vineyards, and your fig trees, and your olive trees did the palmerworm devour: yet have ye not returned unto me, saith the Lord.

10 Pestilence have I sent among you after the manner of ¹Egypt: your young men have I slain with the sword, and have taken away your horses: and I have made the stink of your tents to come up even into your nostrils, yet have ye not returned unto me, saith the Lord.

11 I have overthrown you, as God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah: and ye were as a ¹firebrand plucked out of the burning, yet have ye not returned unto me, saith the Lord.

12 Therefore thus will I do unto thee, O Israel: and because I will do thus unto thee, prepare to ¹meet thy God, O Israel.

13 For lo, he that formeth the mountains, and createth the wind, and declareth unto man what is his thought: which maketh the morning darkness, and walketh upon the high places of the earth, the Lord God of hosts is his Name.

5 A lamentation for the captivity of Israel.

1 Hear ye this word, which I lift up upon you, even a lamentation of the house of Israel.

2 The ¹virgin Israel is fallen, and shall no more rise: she is left upon her land, and there is none to raise her up.

3 For thus saith the Lord God, The city which went out by a thousand, shall leave ¹an hundred: and that which went forth by an hundred, shall leave ten to the house of Israel.

3:12 ¹ When the lion hath satiate his hunger, the shepherd findeth a leg or a rip of an ear, to show that the sheep have been worried.

² Where they thought to have had a sure hold, and to have been in safety.

4:1 ¹ Thus he calleth the princes and governors, which being overwhelmed with the great abundance of God's benefits, forgot God, and therefore he calleth them by the name of beasts and not of men.

² They encourage such as have authority over the people to powle them, so that they may have profit by it.

4:2 ¹ He alludeth to fishers, which catch fish by hooks and thorns.

4:4 ¹ He speaketh this in contempt of them which resorted to those places, thinking that their great devotion and good intention had been sufficient to have bound God unto them.

² Read Deut. 14:28.

4:5 ¹ As Lev. 7:13.

² You only delight in these outward ceremonies and have none other respect.

4:6 ¹ That is, lack of bread and meat.

4:7 ¹ I stayed the rain till the fruits of the earth were destroyed with drought, and yet you would not consider it to return to me by repentance.

4:8 ¹ They could not find water enough where they had heard say it had rained.

4:10 ¹ As I plagued the Egyptians, Exod. 9:10.

4:11 ¹ You were almost all consumed, and a few of you wonderfully preserved, 2 Kings 14:26.

4:12 ¹ Turn to him by repentance.

5:2 ¹ He so calleth them, because they so boasted of themselves or because they were given to wantonness and daintiness.

5:3 ¹ Meaning, that the tenth part should scarcely be saved.

4 For thus saith the Lord unto the house of Israel, Seek ye me, and ye shall live.

5 But seek not Bethel, nor enter into ¹Gilgal, and go not to Beersheba: for Gilgal shall go into captivity, and Bethel shall come to nought.

6 Seek the Lord, and ye shall live, lest he break out like fire in the house of Joseph and devour it, and there be none to quench it in Bethel.

7 They turn ¹judgment to wormwood, and leave off righteousness in the earth.

8 He ¹maketh Pleiades, and Orion, and he turneth the shadow of death into the morning, and he maketh the day dark as night: he calleth the waters of the sea, and poureth them out upon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.

9 He strengtheneth the destroyer against the mighty, and the destroyer shall come against the fortress.

10 They have hated him ¹that rebuked in the gate: and they abhorred him that speaketh uprightly.

11 Forasmuch then as your treading is upon the poor, and ¹ye take from him burdens of wheat, ye have built houses of hewn stone, but ye shall not dwell in them: ye have planted pleasant vineyards, but ye shall not drink wine of them.

12 For I know your manifold transgressions, and your mighty sins: they afflict the just, they take rewards, and they oppress the poor in the gate.

13 Therefore ¹the prudent shall keep silence in that time, for it is an evil time.

14 Seek good and not evil, that ye may live: and the Lord God of hosts shall be with you, as you have spoken.

15 Hate the evil, and love the good, and establish judgment in the gate: it may be that the Lord God of hosts will be merciful unto the remnant of Joseph.

16 Therefore the Lord God of hosts, the Lord saith thus, Mourning shall be in all streets: and they shall say in all the high ways, Alas, alas: and they shall call the ¹husbandman to lamentation, and such as can mourn, to mourning.

17 And in all the vines shall be lamentation: for I will pass through thee, saith the Lord.

18 Woe unto you, that ¹desire the day of the Lord: what have you to do with it? the day of the Lord is darkness and not light, 19 As if a man did flee from a lion, and a bear met him: or went into the house, and leaned his hand on the wall, and a serpent bit him.

20 Shall not the day of the Lord be darkness, and not light, even darkness and no light in it?

21 I hate and abhor your feast days, and I will not smell in your solemn assemblies.

22 Though ye offer me burnt offerings and meat offerings, ¹I will not accept them: neither will I regard the peace offerings of your fat beasts.

23 Take thou away from me the multitude of thy songs (for I will not hear the melody of thy viols.)

24 And let judgment run down as ¹waters, and righteousness as a mighty river.

25 Have ye offered unto me sacrifices and offerings in the wilderness forty years, O house of Israel?

26 But you have born ¹Sikkuth your king, and Chiun your images, and the star of your gods which you made to yourselves.

27 Therefore will I cause you to go into captivity beyond Damascus, saith the Lord, whose Name is the God of hosts.

6 Against the princes of Israel living in pleasure.

1 Woe to ¹them that are at ease in Zion, and trust in the mountain of Samaria, ²which were famous at the beginning of the nations: and the house of Israel came to them.

2 Go you unto Calneh, and see: and from thence go you to Hamath the great: then go down to Gath of the Philistines: be ¹they better than these

5:5 ¹ In those places they worshipped new idols, which aforetime served for the true honor of God: therefore he saith that these shall not save them.

5:7 ¹ Instead of judgment and equity they execute cruelty and oppression.

5:8 ¹ He describeth the power of God, Job 9:9.

5:10 ¹ They hate the Prophets, which reprove them in the open assemblies.

5:11 ¹ Ye take both his money and also his food, wherewith he should live.

5:13 ¹ God will so plague them that they shall not suffer the godly once to open their mouths to admonish them of their faults.

5:16 ¹ So that all degrees shall have matter of lamentation for the great plagues.

5:18 ¹ Thus he speaketh, because the wicked and hypocrites said they were content to abide God's judgments, whereas the godly tremble and fear, Jer. 30:7; Joel 2:2, 11; Zeph. 1:15.

5:22 ¹ Because ye have corrupted my true service, and remain obstinate in your vices, Isa. 1:11; Jer. 6:10.

5:24 ¹ Do your duty to God, and to your neighbor, and so ye shall feel his grace plentifully, if you show your abundant affections according to God's word.

5:26 ¹ That idol which you esteemed as your king, and carried about as you did Chiun, in which images you thought that there was a certain divinity.

6:1 ¹ The Prophet threateneth the wealthy, which regarded not God's plagues nor menaces by his Prophets.

² These two cities were famous by their first inhabitants the Canaanites: and seeing beforetime they did nothing avail them that were there born, why should you look that they should save you which were brought in to dwell in other men's possessions?

6:2 ¹ If God have destroyed these excellent cities in three divers kingdoms, as in Babylon, Syria, and of the Philistines, and hath brought their wide borders into a greater straightness than yours yet are, think you to be better, or to escape?

kingdoms? or the border of their land greater than your border,

3 Ye that put far away the ¹evil day, and approach to the seat of iniquity?

4 They lie upon beds of ivory, and stretch themselves upon their beds, and eat the lambs of the flock, and the calves out of the stall.

5 They sing to the sound of the viol: they invent to themselves instruments of music like ¹David.

6 They drink wine in bowls, and anoint themselves with the chief ointments, but no man is ¹sorry for the affliction of Joseph.

7 Therefore now shall they go captive with the first that go captive, and ¹the sorrow of them that stretched themselves, is at hand.

8 ¹The Lord God hath sworn by himself, saith the Lord God of hosts, I abhor ²the excellency of Jacob, and hate his palaces: therefore will I deliver up the city with all that is therein.

9 And if there remain ten men in one house, they shall die.

10 And his uncle ¹shall take him up and burn him, to carry out the bones out of the house, and shall say unto him, that is by the ²sides of the house, Is there yet any with thee? And he shall say, None. Then shall he say, ³Hold thy tongue: for we may not remember the Name of the Lord.

11 For behold, the Lord commandeth, and he will smite the great house with breaches, and the little house with clefts.

12 Shall horses ¹run upon the rock? or will one plow there with oxen? for ye have turned judgment into gall, and the fruit of righteousness into ²wormwood.

13 Yet rejoice in a thing of nought: ye say, Have not we gotten us ¹horns by our own strength?

14 But behold, I will raise up against you a nation, O house of Israel, saith the Lord God of hosts: and they shall afflict you from the entering in of ¹Hamah unto the river of the wilderness.

7 God showeth certain visions, whereby he signifieth the destruction of the people of Israel. 10 The false accusation of Amaziah, 12 His crafty counsel.

1 Thus hath the Lord God showed unto me, and behold, he formed ¹grasshoppers in the beginning of the shooting up of the latter growth: and lo, it was in the latter growth ²after the King's mowing.

2 And when they had made an end of eating the grass of the land, then I said, O Lord God, spare, I beseech thee: who shall raise up Jacob? for he is small.

3 So the Lord ¹repented for this. It shall not be, saith the Lord.

4 ¶ Thus also hath the Lord God showed unto me, and behold, the Lord God called to judgment by fire, ¹and it devoured the great deep, and did eat up a part.

5 Then said I, O Lord God, cease, I beseech thee: who shall raise up Jacob? for he is small.

6 So the Lord repented for this. This also shall not be, saith the Lord God.

7 ¶ Thus again he showed me, and behold, the Lord stood upon a wall made by line ¹with a line in his hand.

8 And the Lord said unto me, Amos, what seest thou? And I said, A line. Then said the Lord, Behold, I will set a line in the midst of my people Israel, and will pass by them no more.

9 And the high places of Isaac shall be desolate, and the temples of Israel shall be destroyed: and I will rise against the house of Jeroboam with the sword.

10 ¶ ¹Then Amaziah the Priest of Bethel sent to Jeroboam king of Israel, saying, Amos hath conspired against thee in the midst of the house of Israel: the land is not able to bear all his words.

6:3 ¹ Ye that continue still in your wickedness, and think that God's plagues are not at hand, but give yourselves to all idleness, wantonness, and riot.

6:5 ¹ As he caused divers kinds of instruments to be made to serve God's glory, so these did contend to invent as many to serve their wanton affections and lusts.

6:6 ¹ They pitied not their brethren, whereof now many were slain and carried away captive.

6:7 ¹ Some read, the joy of them that stretch themselves, shall depart.

6:8 ¹ Read Jer. 51:14.

² That is, the riches and pomp.

6:10 ¹ The destruction shall be so great, that none shall almost be left to bury the dead: and therefore they shall burn them at home, to carry out the burnt ashes with more ease.

² That is, to some neighbor that dwelleth round about.

³ They shall be so astonished at this destruction, that they shall boast no more of the Name of God, and that they are his people: but they shall be dumb when they hear God's Name, and abhor it, as they that are desperate, or reprobate.

6:12 ¹ He compareth them to barren rocks, whereupon it is in vain to bestow labor: showing that God's benefits can have no place among them.

² Read Amos 5:7.

6:13 ¹ That is, power and glory.

6:14 ¹ From one corner of the country to another.

7:1 ¹ To devour the land: and he alludeth to the invading of the enemies.

² After the public commandment for mowing was given: or as some read, when the king's sheep were shorn.

7:3 ¹ That is, stayed this plague at my prayer.

7:4 ¹ Meaning, that God's indignation was inflamed against the stubbornness of this people.

7:7 ¹ Signifying that this should be the last measuring of the people, and that he would defer his judgment no longer.

7:10 ¹ That is, when Amos had prophesied that the king should be destroyed: for the wicked Priest more for hatred he bare to the Prophet than for love toward the king, thought this accusation sufficient to condemn him, whereas none other could take place.

11 For thus Amos saith, Jeroboam shall die by the sword, and Israel shall be led away captive out of their own land.

12 Also ¹Amaziah said unto Amos, O thou the Seer, go, flee thou away into the land of Judah, and there eat thy bread, and prophesy there.

13 But prophesy no more at Bethel: for it is the king's chapel, and it is the king's court.

14 Then answered Amos, and said to Amaziah, I was no ¹Prophet, neither was I a Prophet's son, but I was an herdsman, and a gatherer of wild figs.

15 And the Lord took me as I followed the flock, and the Lord said unto me, Go prophesy unto my people Israel.

16 Now therefore hear thou the word of the Lord. Thou sayest, Prophesy not against Israel, and speak nothing against the house of Isaac.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord, ¹Thy wife shall be an harlot in the city, and thy sons and thy daughters shall fall by the sword, and thy land shall be divided by line: and thou shalt die in a polluted land, and Israel shall surely go into captivity forth of his land.

8 ¹ Against the rulers of Israel. ⁷ The Lord sweareth. ¹¹ The famine of the word of God.

1 Thus hath the Lord God showed unto me, and behold, a basket of summer fruit.

2 And he said, Amos, what seest thou? And I said, A basket of ¹summer fruit. Then said the Lord unto me, The end is come upon my people of Israel, I will pass by them no more.

3 And the songs of the Temple shall be howlings in that day, saith the Lord God: many dead bodies shall be in every place: they shall cast them forth with ¹silence.

4 Hear this, O ye that ¹swallow up the poor, that ye may make the needy of the land to fail,

5 Saying, When will the ¹new month be gone, that we may sell corn? and the Sabbath, that we may set forth wheat, and make ²the Ephah small and the shekel great, and falsify the weights by deceit?

6 That we may buy the poor for silver, and the needy for shoes: yea, and sell the refuse of the wheat.

7 The Lord hath sworn by the excellency of Jacob, Surely, I will never forget any of their works.

8 Shall not the land tremble for this, and every-one mourn, that dwelleth therein? and it shall rise up wholly as a flood, and it shall be cast out, and ¹drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

9 And in that day, saith the Lord God, I will even cause the ¹Sun to go down at noon: I will darken the earth in the clear day.

10 And I will turn your feasts into mourning: and all your songs into lamentation: and I will bring sackcloth upon all loins, and baldness upon every head: and I will make it as the mourning of an only son, and the end thereof as a bitter day.

11 Behold, the days come, saith the Lord God, that I will send a famine in the Land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the word of the Lord.

12 And they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the North even unto the East shall they run to and fro to seek the ¹word of the Lord, and shall not find it.

13 In that day shall the fair virgins and the young men perish for thirst.

14 They that swear by the sin ¹of Samaria, and that say, Thy God, O Dan, liveth, and ²the manner of Beersheba liveth, even they shall fall, and never rise up again.

9 ¹ Threatenings against the Temple. ² And against Israel. ¹¹ The restoring of the Church.

1 I saw the Lord standing upon the ¹Altar, and he said, Smite the lintel of the door, that the posts may shake: and cut them in pieces, even the ²heads of them all, and I will slay the last of them with the 7:12 ¹ When this instrument of Satan was not able to compass his purpose by the king, he assayed by another practice, that was, to fear the Prophet, that he might depart, and not reprove their idolatry there openly, and so hinder his profit.

7:14 ¹ Thus he sheweth by his extraordinary vocation, that God had given him a charge, which he must needs execute.

7:17 ¹ Thus God used to approve the authority of his Prophets, by his plagues and judgments against them which were malicious enemies, Jer. 28:12 and 29:21, 25, as this day he doeth against them that persecute the ministers of his Gospel.

8:2 ¹ Which signified the ripeness of their sins, and the readiness of God's judgments.

8:3 ¹ There shall be none left to mourn for them.

8:4 ¹ By staying the sale of food, and necessary things which you have gotten into your own hands, and so cause the poor to spend quickly that little that they have, and at length for necessity to become your slaves.

8:5 ¹ When the dearth was once come they were so greedy of gain, that they thought the holy day to be an hindrance unto them.

² That is, the measure small, and the price great.

8:8 ¹ That is, the inhabitants of the land shall be drowned, as Nile drowneth many when it overfloweth.

8:9 ¹ In the midst of their prosperity, I will send great affliction.

8:12 ¹ Whereby he sheweth that they shall not only perish in body, but also in soul for lack of God's word, which is the food thereof.

8:14 ¹ For the idolaters did use to swear by their idols: which here he calleth their sin, as the Papists yet do by theirs.

² That is, the common manner of worshipping, and the service or religion there used.

9:1 ¹ Which was at Jerusalem: for he appeared not in the idolatrous places of Israel.

² Both the chief of them and also the common people.

sword: he that fleeth of them, shall not flee away: and he that escapeth of them, shall not be delivered.

2 Though they dig into the hell, thence shall mine hand take them: though they climb up to heaven, thence will I bring them down.

3 And though they hide themselves in the top of Carmel, I will search and take them out thence: and though they be hid from my sight in the bottom of the sea, thence will I command the ¹serpent, and he shall bite them.

4 And though they go into captivity before their enemies, thence will I command the sword, and it shall slay them: and I will set mine eyes upon them for evil, and not for good.

5 And the Lord God of hosts shall touch the land, and it shall melt away, and all that dwell therein shall mourn, and it shall rise up wholly like a flood, and shall be drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

6 He buildeth his ¹spheres in the heaven, and hath laid the foundation of his globe of elements in the earth: he calleth the waters of the sea, and poureth them out upon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.

7 Are ye not as the Ethiopians ¹unto me, O children of Israel, saith the Lord? have not I brought up Israel out of the land of Egypt? and the Philistines from ²Caphtor, and Aram from Kir?

8 Behold, the eyes of the Lord God are upon the sinful kingdom, and I will destroy it clean out of the earth. Nevertheless I will not utterly ¹destroy the house of Jacob, saith the Lord.

9 For lo, I will command and I will sift the house of Israel among all nations, like as corn is sifted in a sieve: yet shall not the ¹least stone fall upon the earth.

10 But all the sinners of my people shall die by the sword, which say, The evil shall not come, nor hasten for us.

11 In that day will I raise up the ¹Tabernacle of David, that is fallen down, and close up the breaches thereof, and I will raise up his ruins, and I will build it, as in the days of old,

12 That they may possess the remnant of ¹Edom, and of all the heathen, because my Name is called upon them, saith the Lord, that doeth this.

13 Behold, the days come, saith the Lord, that the plowman shall ¹touch the mower, and the treader of grapes him that soweth seed: and the mountains shall ²drop sweet wine, and all the hills shall melt.

14 ¹And I will bring again the captivity of my people of Israel: and they shall build the waste cities, and inhabit them, and they shall plant vineyards, and drink the wine thereof: they shall also make gardens, and eat the fruits of them.

15 And I will plant them upon their land, and they shall no more be pulled up again out of their land which I have given them, saith the Lord thy God.

9:3 ¹ He showeth that God will declare himself enemy unto them in all places, and that his elements and all creatures shall be enemies to destroy them.

9:6 ¹ He declareth by the wonderful power of God, by the making of the heavens and the elements, that it is not possible for man to escape his judgments when he punisheth.

9:7 ¹ Am I more bound to you than to the Ethiopians, or black moors? yet have I bestowed upon you greater benefits.

² Read Jer. 47:4.

9:8 ¹ Though he destroy the rebellious multitude, yet he will ever reserve the remnant his Church to call upon his Name.

9:9 ¹ Meaning, that none of his should perish in his wrath.

9:11 ¹ I will send the Messiah promised, and restore by him the spiritual Israel, Acts 15:16.

9:12 ¹ Meaning, that the very enemies as were the Edomites, and others should be joined with the Jews in one society, and body, whereof Christ should be the head.

9:13 ¹ Signifying, that there shall be great plenty of all things, so that when one kind of fruit is ripe, another should follow, and every one in course, Lev. 26:5.

² Read Joel 3:18.

9:14 ¹ The accomplishment thereof is under Christ, when they are planted in this Church, out of the which they can never be pulled, after they are once grafted therein.

O B A D I A H

1 ¹ The vision of Obadiah. Thus saith the Lord God against Edom, ¹We have heard a rumor from the Lord, and an ambassador is sent among the heathen: arise, and ²let us rise up against her to battle.

² Behold, I have made thee small among the heathen: thou art utterly despised.

³ The ¹pride of thine heart hath deceived thee: thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rocks, whose habitation is high, that saith in his heart, Who shall bring me down to the ground?

⁴ Though thou exalt thyself as the eagle, and make thy nest among the stars, thence will I bring thee down, saith the Lord.

⁵ ¹Came thieves to thee or robbers by night? how wast thou brought to silence? would they not have stolen till they had enough? if the grape gatherers came to thee, would they not leave some grapes?

⁶ How are the things of Esau sought up, and his treasures searched?

⁷ All the men of thy confederacy ¹have driven thee to the borders: the men that were at peace with thee, have deceived thee, and prevailed against thee: they that eat thy ²bread, have laid a wound under thee: there is none understanding in him.

⁸ Shall not I in that day, saith the Lord, even destroy the wise men out of Edom, and understanding from the mount of Esau?

⁹ And thy strong men, O Teman, shall be afraid, because everyone of the mount of Esau shall be cut off by slaughter.

¹⁰ For thy cruelty against thy ¹brother Jacob, shame shall cover thee, and thou shalt be cut off forever.

¹¹ When thou stoodest ¹on the other side, in the day that the strangers carried away his substance, and strangers entered into his gates, and cast lots upon Jerusalem, even thou wast as one of them.

¹⁴ Neither shouldest thou have stood in the crossways to cut off them, that should escape, neither shouldest thou have shut up the remnant thereof in the day of affliction.

¹⁵ For the day ¹of the Lord is near, upon all the heathen: as thou hast done, it shall be done to thee: thy reward shall return upon thine head.

¹⁶ For as ye have ¹drunk upon mine holy Mountain, so shall all the heathen drink continually: yea, they shall drink and swallow up, and they shall be ²as though they had not been.

¹⁷ But upon mount Zion shall be deliverance, and it shall be holy, and the house of Jacob shall possess their possessions, ¹⁸ And the house of Jacob shall be ¹a fire, and the house of Joseph a flame, and the house of Esau as stubble, and they shall kindle in them and devour them: and there shall be no remnant of the house of Esau: for the Lord hath spoken it.

¹⁹ And they shall possess the South side of the

1:1 ¹ God hath certainly revealed to his prophets, that he will raise up the heathen to destroy the Edomites, whereof the rumor is now published, Jer. 49:14.

² Thus the heathen encourage themselves to rise against Edom.

1:3 ¹ Which despisest all others in respect of thyself, and yet art but an handful in comparison of others, and art shut up among the hills as separate from the rest of the world.

1:5 ¹ God will so destroy them that he will leave none, though thieves when they come, take but till they have enough, and they that gather grapes, ever leave some behind them, Jer. 49:9.

1:7 ¹ They in whom thou didst trust for to have help and friendship of them, shall be thine enemies and destroy thee.

² That is, thy familiar friends and guests have by secret practices destroyed thee.

1:10 ¹ He sheweth the cause why the Edomites were so sharply punished: to wit, because they were enemies to his Church, whom he now comforteth by punishing their enemies.

1:11 ¹ When Nebuchadnezzar came against Jerusalem, thou joinedest with him, and hadest part of the spoil, and so didst rejoice when my people, that is, thy brother were afflicted, whereas thou shouldest have pitied and helped thy brother.

1:12 ¹ When the Lord deprived them of their former dignity, and gave them to be carried into captivity.

1:15 ¹ When he will summon all the heathen, and send them to destroy thee.

1:16 ¹ That is, rejoiced and triumphed.

² The Edomites shall be utterly destroyed, and yet in despite of all the enemies I will reserve my Church and restore it.

1:18 ¹ God attributeth this power, to consume his enemies, to his Church, which power is only proper to himself, as Isa. 10:17; Deut. 4:24; Heb. 12:29.

¹mount of Esau, and the plain of the Philistines: and they shall possess the fields of Ephraim, and the fields of Samaria, and Benjamin shall have Gilead.
20 And the captivity of this host of the children of Israel, which were among the ¹Canaanites, shall possess unto Zarephath, and the captivity of Jerusalem, which is in Sepharad, shall possess the cities of the South.

21 And they ¹that shall save, shall come up to mount Zion to judge the mount of Esau, and the kingdom shall be the Lord's.

1:19 ¹ He describeth how the Church shall be enlarged and have great possessions: but this chiefly is accomplished under Christ, when as the faithful are made heirs and lords of all things by him which is their head.
1:20 ¹ By the Canaanites, the Jews mean the Dutchmen, and by Zarephath, France, and by Sepharad, Spain.

1:21 ¹ Meaning that God will raise up in his Church such as shall rule and govern for the defense of the same, and destruction of his enemies under Messiah, whom the Prophet calleth here, the Lord and head of this kingdom.

JONAH

1 3 Jonah fled when he was sent to preach. 4 A tempest ariseth, and he is cast into the sea for his disobedience.

1 The word of the Lord came ¹also unto Jonah the son of Amittai, saying,

2 Arise, and go to ¹Nineveh, that ²great city, and cry against it: for their wickedness is come up before me.

3 But Jonah rose up to ¹flee into Tarshish, from the presence of the Lord, and went down to ²Japho: and he found a ship going to Tarshish: so he paid the fare thereof, and went down into it, that he might go with them unto Tarshish, from the ³presence of the Lord.

4 But the Lord sent out a great wind into the sea, and there was a mighty tempest in the sea, so that the ship was like to be broken.

5 Then the mariners were afraid, and cried every man unto his god, and cast the wares that were in the ship, into the sea, to lighten it of them: but Jonah was gone down ¹into the sides of the ship, and he lay down, and was fast asleep.

6 So the shipmaster came to him, and said unto him, What meanest thou, O sleeper? Arise, call upon thy ¹God, if so be that God will think upon us, that we perish not.

7 And they said everyone to his fellow, Come, and let us cast ¹lots, that we may know for whose cause this evil is upon us. So they cast lots, and the lot fell upon Jonah.

8 Then said they unto him, Tell us for whose cause this evil is upon us? What is thine occupation? and whence comest thou? which is thy country? and of what people art thou?

9 And he answered them, I am an Hebrew, and I fear the Lord God of heaven, which hath made the sea, and the dry land.

10 Then were the men exceedingly afraid, and said unto him, Why hast thou done this? (for the men knew that he fled from the presence of the Lord, because he had told them)

11 Then said they unto him, What shall we do unto thee, that the sea may be calm unto us? (for the sea wrought, and was troublous)

12 And he said unto them, Take me, and cast me into the sea: so shall the sea be calm unto you: for I know that for my sake this great tempest is upon you.

13 Nevertheless the men rowed to bring it to the land, but they could not: for the sea wrought, and was troublous against them.

14 Wherefore they cried unto the Lord, and said, ¹We beseech thee, O Lord, we beseech thee, let us not perish for this man's life, and lay not upon us innocent blood: for thou, O Lord, hast done as it pleased thee.

15 So they took up Jonah, and cast him into the sea, and the sea ceased from her raging.

16 Then the men ¹feared the Lord exceedingly, and offered a sacrifice unto the Lord, and made vows.

17 Now the Lord had prepared a great fish to swallow up Jonah: and Jonah was in the ¹belly of the fish three days and three nights.

2 1 Jonah is in the fish's belly. 2 His prayer. 10 He is delivered.

1:1 ¹ After that he had preached a long time in Israel: and so Ezekiel, after that for a time he had prophesied in Judah, he had visions in Babylon, Ezek. 1:1.

1:2 ¹ For seeing the great obstination of the Israelites, he sent his Prophet to the Gentiles, that they might provoke them to repentance, or at least make them inexcusable: for Nineveh was the chief city of the Assyrians.

² For as authors write, it contained in circuit about eight and forty miles, and had a thousand and five hundred towers, and at this time there were an hundred and twenty thousand children therein, Jonah 4:11.

1:3 ¹ Whereby he declared his weakness, that would not promptly follow the Lord's calling, but gave place to his own reason, which persuaded him that he should nothing at all profit there, seeing he had done so small good among his own people, Jonah 4:2.

² Which was the haven, and port to take shipping thither, called also Joppa.

³ From that vocation whereunto God had called him, and wherein he would have assisted him.

1:5 ¹ As one that would have cast off this care and solicitude by seeking rest and quietness.

1:6 ¹ As they had called on their idols, which declareth that idolaters have no stay nor certainty, but in their troubles seek they cannot tell to whom.

1:7 ¹ Which declareth that the matter was in great extremity and doubt, which thing was God's motion in them, for the trial of the cause: and this may not be done but in matters of great importance.

1:14 ¹ This declareth that the very wicked in their necessities flee unto God for succor and also that they are touched with a certain fear to shed man's blood, whereas they know no manifest sign of wickedness.

1:16 ¹ They were touched with a certain repentance of their life past, and began to worship the true God by whom they saw themselves so wonderfully delivered: but this was done for fear, and not of a pure heart and affection, neither according to God's word.

1:17 ¹ Thus the Lord would chastise his Prophet with a most terrible spectacle of death, and hereby also confirmed him of his favor and support in this his charge which was enjoined him.

1 Then Jonah prayed unto the Lord his God ¹out of the fish's belly,

2 And said, I cried in mine affliction unto the Lord, and he heard me: out of the belly ¹of hell cried I, and thou heardest my voice.

3 For thou hadst cast me into the bottom in the midst of the sea, and the floods compassed me about: all thy surges, and all thy waves passed over me.

4 Then I said, I am ¹cast away out of thy sight: yet will I look again toward thine holy Temple.

5 The waters compassed me about unto the soul: the depth closed me round about, and the weeds were wrapped about mine head.

6 I went down to the bottom of the mountains: the earth with her bars was about me forever, yet hast thou brought up my ¹life from the pit, O Lord my God.

7 When my soul fainted within me, I remembered the Lord: and my prayer came unto thee into thine holy Temple.

8 They that wait upon lying ¹vanities, forsake their own ²mercy.

9 But I will sacrifice unto thee with the voice of thanksgiving, and will pay that that I have vowed: salvation is of the Lord.

10 And the Lord spake unto the fish, and it cast out Jonah upon the dry land.

3 1 Jonah is sent again to Ninevah. 5 The repentance of the king of Ninevah.

1 And the word of the Lord came unto ¹Jonah the second time, saying,

2 Arise, go unto Nineveh that great city, and preach unto it the preaching which I bid thee.

3 So Jonah arose, and went to Nineveh according to the word of the Lord: now Nineveh was a ¹great and excellent city of three days journey.

4 And Jonah began to enter into the city a day's ¹journey, and he cried and said, Yet forty days, and Nineveh shall be overthrown.

5 So the people of Nineveh ¹believed God, and proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth, from the greatest of them, even to the least of them.

6 For word came unto the king of Nineveh, and he rose from his throne, and he laid his robe from him, and covered him with sackcloth, and sat in ashes.

7 And he proclaimed and said through Nineveh, (by the counsel of the king and his nobles) saying, Let neither man, nor ¹beast, bullock nor sheep taste anything, neither feed nor drink water.

8 But let man and beast put on sackcloth, and ¹cry mightily unto God: yea, let every man turn from his evil way, and from the wickedness that is in their hands.

9 ¹Who can tell if God will turn, and repent and turn away from his fierce wrath, that we perish not?

10 And God saw their ¹works that they turned from their evil ways: and ²God repented of the evil that he had said that he would do unto them, and he did it not.

4 The great goodness of God toward his creatures.

1 Therefore it displeased ¹Jonah exceedingly, and he was angry.

2 And he prayed unto the Lord, and said, I pray thee, O Lord, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my country? therefore I prevented it to flee unto ¹Tarshish: for I knew, that thou art a gracious God, and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindness, and repentest thee of the evil.

3 Therefore now, O Lord, take, I beseech thee, my life ¹from me: for it is better for me to die than to live.

4 Then said the Lord, Doest thou well to be ¹angry?

2:1 ¹ Being now swallowed up of death, and seeing no remedy to escape, his faith brast out unto the Lord, knowing that out of the very hell he was able to deliver him.

2:2 ¹ For he was now in the fish's belly as in a grave or place of darkness.

2:4 ¹ This declared what his prayer was, and how he labored between hope and despair, considering the neglect of his vocation, and God's judgments for the same: but yet in the end faith got the victory.

2:6 ¹ Thou hast delivered me from the belly of the fish and all these dangers, as it were raising me from death to life.

2:8 ¹ They that depend upon anything save on God alone.

² They refuse their own felicity, and that goodness which they should else receive of God.

3:1 ¹ This is a great declaration of God's mercy, that he receiveth him again, and sendeth him forth as his Prophet, which had before showed so great infirmity.

3:3 ¹ Read Jonah 1:2.

3:4 ¹ He went forward one day in the city, and preached, and so he continued till the city was converted.

3:5 ¹ For he declared that he was a Prophet sent to them from God to denounce his judgments against them.

3:7 ¹ Not that the dumb beasts had sinned or could repent, but that by their example man might be astonished, considering that for his sin the anger of God hanged over all creatures.

3:8 ¹ He willed that the men should earnestly call unto God for mercy.

3:9 ¹ For partly by the threatening of the Prophet, and partly by the motion of his own conscience, he doubted whether God would show them mercy.

3:10 ¹ That is, the fruits of their repentance, which did proceed of faith, which God had planted by the ministry of his Prophet.

² Read Jer. 18:8.

4:1 ¹ Because hereby he should be taken as a false prophet, and so the Name of God, which he preached, should be blasphemed.

4:2 ¹ Read Jonah 1:3.

4:3 ¹ Thus he prayed of grief fearing lest God's Name by this forgiveness might be blasphemed, as though he sent his Prophets forth to denounce his judgments in vain.

4:4 ¹ Wilt thou be judge when I do things for my glory, and when I do not?

5 So Jonah went out of the city, and sat on the East side of the city, and there made him a booth, and sat under it in the shadow ¹till he might see what should be done in the city.

6 And the Lord God prepared a ¹gourd, and made it to come up over Jonah, that it might be a shadow over his head, and deliver him from his grief. So Jonah was exceeding glad of the gourd.

7 But God prepared a worm when the morning rose the next day, and it smote the gourd, that it withered.

8 And when the sun did arise, God prepared also a fervent East wind: and the sun beat upon the head of Jonah, that he fainted and wished in his heart to die, and said, It is better for me to die than to live.

9 And God said unto Jonah, Doest thou well to be angry for the gourd? And he said, I do well to be ¹angry unto the death.

10 Then said the Lord, Thou hast had pity on the gourd for the which thou hast not labored, neither madest it grow, which came up in a night and perished in a night,

11 And should ¹not I spare Nineveh that great city, wherein are sixscore thousand persons, that ²cannot discern between their right hand and their left hand, and also much cattle?

4:5 ¹ For he doubted as yet whether God would show them mercy or not, and therefore after forty days he departed out of the city, looking what issue God would send.

4:6 ¹ Which was a further means, to cover him from the heat of the sun, as he remained in his booth.

4:9 ¹ This declareth the great inconveniences whereinto God's servants do fall when they give place to their own affections, and do not in all things willingly submit themselves to God.

4:11 ¹ Thus God mercifully reproveth him which would pity himself, and this gourd, and yet would restrain God to show his compassion to so many thousand people.

² Meaning, that they were children and infants.

MICAH

1 ¹ The destruction of Judah and Jerusalem because of the idolatry.

1 The word of the Lord, that came unto Micah the ¹MoresHITE in the days of Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah kings of Judah, which he saw concerning Samaria, and Jerusalem.

2 Hear, ¹all ye people: hearken thou, O earth, and all that therein is, and let the Lord God be witness against you, even the Lord from his holy Temple.

3 For behold, the Lord cometh out of his place, and will come ¹down, and tread upon the high places of the earth.

4 And the mountains shall melt under him (so shall the valleys cleave) as wax before the fire, and as the waters that are poured downward.

5 For the wickedness of Jacob is all this, and for the sins of the house of Israel: what is the wickedness of Jacob? Is not ¹Samaria? and which are the high ²places of Judah? Is not Jerusalem?

6 Therefore I will make Samaria as an heap of the field, and for the planting of a vineyard, and I will cause the stones thereof to tumble down into the valley, and I will discover the foundations thereof.

7 And all the graven images thereof shall be broken, and all the ¹gifts thereof shall be burnt with the fire, and all the idols thereof will I destroy: for she gathered it of the hire of an harlot, and they shall return ²to the wages of an harlot.

8 Therefore I will mourn and howl: I will go without clothes, and naked: I will make lamentation like the dragons, and mourning as the ostriches.

9 For her plagues are grievous: for it is come into Judah: the enemy is come unto the gate of my people, unto Jerusalem.

10 Declare ye it not at ¹Gath, neither weep ye: for the house of ²Aphrah roll thyself in the dust.

11 Thou that dwellest at ¹Shaphir, go together naked with shame: she that dwelleth at Zaanan, shall not come forth in the mourning of Beth Ezel: the enemy shall ²receive of you for his standing.

12 For the inhabitant of Maroth waited for good, but evil came from the Lord unto the ¹gate of Jerusalem.

13 O thou inhabitant of Lachish, bind the chariot to the beasts ¹of price: she ²is the beginning of the sin to the daughter of Zion: for the transgressions of Israel were found in thee.

14 Therefore shalt thou give presents to MoresHeth ¹Gath: the houses of Achzib shall be as a lie to the kings of Israel.

15 Yet will I bring an ¹heir unto thee, O inhabitant of MaresHah, he shall come unto Adullam, ²the glory of Israel.

16 Make thee bald: and shave thee for thy delicate children: enlarge thy baldness as the eagle, for they are gone into captivity from thee.

2 ¹ Threatenings against the wanton and dainty people.
⁶ They would teach the Prophets to preach.

1 Woe unto them that imagine iniquity, and work wickedness upon their beds: ¹when the morning is light they practice it, because their hand ²hath power.

1:1 ¹ Born in MoresHeth, a city of Judah.

1:2 ¹ Because of the malice and obstinacy of the people, whom he had so oft exhorted to repentance, he summoneth them to God's judgments, taking all creatures, and God himself to witness, that the preaching of his Prophets, which they have abused, shall be revenged.

1:3 ¹ Meaning hereby, that God will come to judgment against the strong cities and holds.

1:5 ¹ Samaria, which should have been an example to all Israel of true religion and justice, was the puddle, and stews of all idolatry and corruption, and boasted themselves of their father Jacob.

² That is, the idolatry and infection.

1:7 ¹ Which they gathered by evil practices, and thought that their idols had enriched them therewith for their service unto them.

² The gain that came by their idols shall be consumed as a thing of naught: for as the wages or riches of harlots are wickedly gotten, so are they vilely and speedily spent.

1:10 ¹ Lest the Philistines our enemies rejoice at our destruction.

² Which was a city near to Jerusalem, Josh. 18:23, there called Ophrah, and signifieth dust: therefore he willeth them to mourn and roll themselves in the dust, for their dusty city.

1:11 ¹ These were cities whereby the enemy should pass as he came to Judah.

² He shall not depart before he hath overcome you, and so you shall pay for his tarrying.

1:12 ¹ For Rabshakeh had shut up Jerusalem, that they could not send to succor them.

1:13 ¹ To flee away: for Sennacherib laid siege first to that city, and remained therein when he sent his captains and army against Jerusalem.

² Thou first receivedst the idolatry of Jeroboam, and so didst infect Jerusalem.

1:14 ¹ Thou shalt bribe the Philistines thy neighbors, but they shall deceive thee, as well as they of Jerusalem.

1:15 ¹ He prophesieth against his own city: and because it signified an heritage, he saith that God would send an heir to possess it.

² For so they thought themselves for the strength of their city.

2:1 ¹ As soon as they rise, they execute their wicked devices of the night, and according to their power hurt others.

² Hebrew, is in power.

2 And they covet fields, and take them by violence, and houses, and take them away: so they oppress a man and his house, even man and his heritage.

3 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, against this family have I devised a plague, whereout ye shall not pluck your necks, and ye shall not go so proudly, for this time is evil.

4 In that day shall they take up a parable against you, and lament with a doleful lamentation, and say, ¹We be utterly wasted: he hath changed the portion of my people: how hath he taken it away to restore it unto me? he hath divided our fields.

5 Therefore thou shalt have none that shall cast a cord by lot in ¹the congregation of the Lord.

6 ¹They that prophesy, Prophesy ye not. ²They shall not prophesy to them, neither shall they take shame.

7 O thou that art named of the house of Jacob, is the Spirit of the Lord shortened? ¹are these his works? are not my works good unto him ²that walketh uprightly?

8 But he that was ¹yesterday my people, is risen up on the other side, as against an enemy: they spoil the ²beautiful garment from them that pass by peaceably, as though they returned from the war.

9 The women of my people have ye cast out from their pleasant houses, and from their children have ye taken away ¹my glory continually.

10 Arise and depart, for this is not your ¹rest: because it is polluted, it shall destroy you, even with a sore destruction.

11 If a man ¹walk in the spirit, and would lie falsely, saying, ²I will prophesy unto thee of wine, and of strong drink, he shall even be the prophet of this people.

12 I will surely gather ¹thee wholly, O Jacob: I will surely gather the remnant of Israel: I will put them together as the sheep of Bozrah, even as the flock in the midst of their fold: the cities shall be full of brute of the men.

13 The ¹breaker up shall come up before them: they shall break out, and pass by the gate, and go out by it, and their king shall go before them, and the Lord shall be ²upon their heads.

3 ¹Against the tyranny of princes and false prophets.

1 And I said, Hear, I pray you, O heads of Jacob, and ye princes of the house of Israel: should not ye know ¹judgment?

2 But they hate the good, and love the evil: ¹they pluck off their skins from them, and their flesh from their bones.

3 And they eat also the flesh of my people, and flay off their skin from them, and they break their bones, and chop them in pieces, as for the pot, and as flesh within the caldron.

4 Then ¹shall they cry unto the Lord, but he will not hear them: he will even hide his face from them at that time, because they have done wickedly in their works.

5 Thus saith the Lord, Concerning the prophets that deceive my people, and ¹bite them with their teeth, and cry, peace, but if a man put not into their mouths, they prepare war against him.

6 Therefore ¹night shall be unto you for a vision, and darkness shall be unto you for a divination, and the Sun shall go down over the prophets, and the day shall be dark over them.

7 Then shall the Seers be ashamed, and the Soothsayers confounded: yea, they shall all cover ¹their lips, for they have none answer of God.

2:4 ¹ Thus the Jews lament and say that there is no hope of restitution, seeing their possessions are divided among the enemies.

2:5 ¹ Ye shall have no more lands to divide as you had in times past, and as you used to measure them in the Jubilee.

2:6 ¹ Thus the people warn the prophets that they speak to them no more, for they cannot abide their threatenings.

² God saith that they shall not prophesy, nor receive no more of their rebukes nor taunts.

2:7 ¹ Are these your works according to his Law?

² Do not the godly find my words comfortable?

2:8 ¹ That is, aforetime.

² The poor can have no commodity by them, but they spoil them, as though they were enemies.

2:9 ¹ That is, their substance and living, which is God's blessing, and as it were part of his glory.

2:10 ¹ Jerusalem shall not be your safeguard: but the cause of your destruction.

2:11 ¹ That is, show himself to be a Prophet.

² He sheweth what prophets they delight in, that is, in flatterers, which tell them pleasant tales, and speak of their commodities.

2:12 ¹ To destroy thee.

2:13 ¹ The enemy shall break their gates and walls, and lead them into Chaldea.

² To drive them forward, and to help their enemies.

3:1 ¹ That thing which is just and lawful, both to govern my people aright, and also to discharge your own conscience.

3:2 ¹ The Prophet condemneth the wicked governors not only of covetousness, theft, and murder, but compareth them to wolves, lions, and most cruel beasts.

3:4 ¹ That is, when I shall visit their wickedness: for though I hear the godly before they cry, Isa. 65:24, yet I will not hear these though they cry, Isa. 1:15 and Ezek. 8:18; James 2:13; 1 Pet. 3:11, 12.

3:5 ¹ They devour all their substance, and then flatter them, promising that all shall go well, but if one restrain from their bellies, then they invent all ways to mischief.

3:6 ¹ As you have loved to walk in darkness, and to prophesy lies, so God shall reward you with gross blindness and ignorance, so that when all others shall see the bright beams of God's graces, ye shall as blind men grope as in the night.

3:7 ¹ When God shall discover them to the world, they shall be afraid to speak: for all shall know that they were but false prophets, and did belie the word of God.

8 Yet notwithstanding I am full ¹of power by the Spirit of the Lord, and of judgment, and of strength to declare unto Jacob his transgression, and to Israel his sin.

9 Hear this, I pray you, ye heads of the house of Jacob, and princes of the house of Israel: they abhor judgment, and pervert all equity.

10 They build up Zion with ¹blood, and Jerusalem with iniquity,

11 The heads thereof judge for rewards, and the priests thereof teach for hire, and the prophets thereof prophesy for money: yet will they ¹lean upon the Lord and say, Is not the Lord among us? no evil can come upon us.

12 Therefore shall Zion for your sake be ¹plowed as a field, and Jerusalem shall be an heap, and the mountain of the house, as the high places of the forest.

4 1 Of the kingdom of Christ, and felicity of his Church.

1 But in the ¹last days it shall come to pass, that the mountain of the House of the Lord shall be prepared in the top of the mountains, and it shall be exalted above the ²hills, and people shall flow unto it.

2 Yea, many nations shall come and say, Come, and let us go up to the Mountain of the Lord, and to the House of the God of Jacob, and he will ¹teach us his ways, and we will walk in his paths: for the Law shall go forth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from Jerusalem.

3 And he shall judge among many people, and ¹rebuke mighty nations afar off, and they shall break their swords into mattocks, and their spears into ²scythes: nation shall not lift up a sword against nation, neither shall they ³learn to fight anymore.

4 But they shall sit every man under his vine, and under his fig tree, and none shall make them afraid: for the mouth of the Lord of hosts hath spoken it.

5 For all people will walk ¹everyone in the name of his god, and we will walk in the Name of the Lord our God, forever and ever.

6 At the same day saith the Lord, will I gather her that halteth, and I will gather her that is cast out, and her that I have afflicted.

7 And I will make her that halteth, ¹a remnant, and her that was cast far off, a mighty nation, and the Lord shall reign over them in Mount Zion, from henceforth even forever.

8 And thou, O ¹tower of the flock, the stronghold of the daughter Zion, unto thee shall it come, even ²the first dominion, and kingdom shall come to the daughter Jerusalem.

9 Now why dost thou cry out with lamentation? is ¹there no king in thee? is thy counselor perished? for sorrow hath taken thee, as a woman in travail.

10 Sorrow and mourn, O daughter Zion, like a woman in travail: for now shalt thou go forth of the city, and dwell in the field, and shalt go into Babel, but there shalt thou be delivered: there the Lord shall redeem thee from the hand of thine enemies.

11 Now also many nations are gathered against thee, saying, Zion shall be condemned, and our eye shall look upon Zion.

12 But they ¹know not the thoughts of the Lord: they understand not his counsel, for he shall gather them as the sheaves in the barn.

13 Arise and thresh, ¹O daughter Zion: for I will make thine horn iron, and I will make thine hooves brass, and thou shalt break in pieces many people: and I will consecrate their riches unto the Lord: and their substance unto the ruler of the whole world.

5 1 The destruction of Jerusalem. 2 The excellency of Bethlehem.

3:8 ¹ The Prophet being assured of his vocation by the Spirit of God, setteth himself alone against all the wicked, showing how God both gave him gifts, ability and knowledge, to discern between good and evil, and also constancy to reprove the sins of the people, and not to flatter them.

3:10 ¹ They build them houses by bribery, which he calleth blood and iniquity.

3:11 ¹ They will say, that they are the people of God, and abuse his Name, as a pretence to cloak their hypocrisy.

3:12 ¹ Read Jer. 26:18.

4:1 ¹ When Christ shall come, and the Temple shall be destroyed.

² Read Isa. 2:2.

4:2 ¹ He sheweth that there is no true Church, but where as the people are taught by God's pure word.

4:3 ¹ By his corrections and threatenings he will bring the people into subjection which are in the utmost corners of the world.

² They shall abstain from all evil doing, and exercise themselves in godliness and in well doing to others.

³ Read Isa. 2:4

4:5 ¹ He sheweth that the people of God ought to remain constant in their religion, albeit all the world should give themselves to their superstition and idolatry.

4:7 ¹ I will cause that Israel, which is now as one lame and halting, and so almost destroyed, shall live again, and grow into a great people.

4:8 ¹ Meaning, Jerusalem, where the Lord's flock was gathered.

² The flourishing state of the kingdom, as it was under David and Solomon, which thing was accomplished to the Church by the coming of Christ.

4:9 ¹ In the mean season he sheweth that they should endure great troubles and temptations when thy saw themselves neither to have king nor counsel.

4:12 ¹ He sheweth that the faithful ought not to measure God's judgments by the brags and threatenings of the wicked, but thereby are admonished to lift up their hearts to God to call for deliverance.

4:13 ¹ God giveth his Church this victory, so oft as he overcometh their enemies: but the accomplishment thereof shall be at the last coming of Christ.

1 Now assemble thy garrisons, O daughter ¹of garrisons: he hath laid siege against us: they shall smite the judge of Israel with a rod upon the cheek.

2 And thou Bethlehem Ephrathah art ¹little to be among the thousands of Judah, yet out of thee shall he come forth unto me, that shall be the ruler in Israel: whose ²goings forth have been from the beginning and from everlasting.

3 Therefore will he give them up, until the time that ¹she which shall bear, shall travail: then the remnant of their brethren shall return unto the children of Israel.

4 And he shall ¹stand, and feed in the strength of the Lord, and in the majesty of the Name of the Lord his God, and they shall dwell still: for now shall he be magnified unto the ends of the world.

5 And he ¹shall be our peace when Assyria shall come into our land: when he shall tread in our palaces, then shall we raise against him seven shepherds, and eight principal men.

6 And they shall destroy ¹Assyria with the sword, and the land of Nimrod with their swords: thus shall he ²deliver us from Assyria, when he cometh into our land, and when he shall tread within our borders.

7 And the ¹remnant of Jacob shall be among many people, as a dew from the Lord, and as the showers upon the grass, that waiteth not for man, nor hopeth in the sons of Adam.

8 And the remnant of Jacob shall be among the Gentiles in the midst of many people, as the Lion among the beasts of the forest, and as the Lion whelp among the flocks of sheep, who when he goeth through, treadeth down and teareth in pieces, and none can deliver.

9 Thine hand shall be lifted up upon thine adversaries, and all thine enemies shall be cut off.

10 And it shall come to pass in that day, saith the Lord, that I will cut off thine ¹horses out of the midst of thee, and I will destroy thy chariots.

11 And I will cut off the cities of thy land, and overthrow all thy strongholds.

12 And I will cut off thine enchanter out of thine hand: and thou shalt have no more soothsayers.

13 Thine idols also will I cut off, and thine images out of the midst of thee: and thou shalt no more worship the work of thine hands.

14 And I will pluck up thy groves out of the midst of thee: so will I destroy thine enemies.

15 And I will execute a vengeance in my wrath and indignation upon the heathen, ¹which they have not heard.

6 An exhortation to the dumb creatures to bear the judgment against Israel being unkind. 6 What manner of sacrifices do please God.

1 Hearken ye now what the Lord saith, Arise thou, and contend before the ¹mountains, and let the hills hear thy voice.

2 Hear ye, O mountains, the Lord's quarrel, and ye mighty foundations of the earth: for the Lord hath a quarrel against his people, and he will plead with Israel.

3 O my people, what have I done unto thee? or wherein have I grieved thee? testify against me.

4 Surely I ¹brought thee up out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the house of servants, and I have sent before thee, Moses, Aaron, and Miriam.

5 O my people, remember now what Balak king of Moab had devised, and what Balaam the son of Beor answered him, from ¹Shittim unto Gilgal, that ye may know the ²righteousness of the Lord.

6 Wherewith ¹shall I come before the Lord, and

5:1 ¹ He forewarneth them of the dangers that shall come before they enjoy these comforts, showing that forasmuch as Jerusalem was accustomed with her garrisons to trouble others, the Lord would now cause other garrisons to vex her, and that her rulers should be smitten on the face most contemptuously.

5:2 ¹ For so the Jews divided their country that for every thousand there was a chief captain: and because Bethlehem was not able to make a thousand, he calleth it little, but yet God will raise up his captain and governor therein: and thus it is not the least by reason of this benefit, as Matt. 2:6.

² He sheweth that the coming of Christ and all his ways were appointed of God from all eternity.

5:3 ¹ He compareth the Jews to women with child, who for a time should have great sorrows, but at length they should have a comfortable deliverance, John 16:21.

5:4 ¹ That is, Christ's kingdom shall be stable and everlasting, and his people as well the Gentiles as the Jews shall dwell in safety.

5:5 ¹ This Messiah shall be a sufficient safeguard for us, and though the enemy invade us for a time, yet shall God stir up many which shall be able to deliver us.

5:6 ¹ These whom God shall raise up for the deliverance of his Church, shall destroy all the enemies thereof, which are meant here by the Assyrians and Babylonians which were the chief at that time.

² By these governors will God deliver us when the enemy cometh into our land.

5:7 ¹ This remnant or Church which God shall deliver shall only depend on God's power and defense, as doth the grass of the field, and not on the hope of man.

5:10 ¹ I will destroy all things wherein thou puttest thy confidence, as thy vain confidence and idolatry, and so will help thee.

5:15 ¹ It shall be so terrible that the like hath not been heard of.

5:16 ¹ He took the high mountains and hard rocks to witness against the obstinacy of his people.

6:4 ¹ I have not hurt thee, but bestowed infinite benefits upon thee.

6:5 ¹ That is, remember my benefits from the beginning how I delivered you from Balaam's curse, and also spared you from Shittim, which was in the plain of Moab, till I brought you into the land promised.

² That is, the truth of his promise and his manifold benefits toward you.

6:6 ¹ Thus the people by hypocrisy ask how to please God and are content to offer sacrifices, but will not change their lives.

bow myself before the high God? shall I come before him with burnt offerings, and with calves of a year old?

7 Will the Lord be pleased with thousands of rams, or with ten thousand rivers of oil? shall I give my ¹firstborn for my transgression, even the fruit of my body, for the sin of my soul?

8 He hath showed thee, O man, what is good, and what the Lord requireth of thee: ¹surely to do justly, and to love mercy, and to humble thyself, to walk with thy God.

9 The Lord's voice crieth unto the ¹city, and the man of wisdom shall see thy name: Hear the rod, and who hath appointed it.

10 Are yet the treasures of wickedness in the house of the wicked, and the scant measure, that is abominable?

11 Shall I justify the wicked balances, and the bag of deceitful weights?

12 For the rich men thereof ¹are full of cruelty, and the inhabitants thereof have spoken lies, and their tongue is deceitful in their mouth.

13 Therefore also will I make thee sick in smiting thee, and in making thee desolate, because of thy sins.

14 Thou shalt eat and not be satisfied, and ¹thy casting down shall be in the midst of thee, and thou ²shalt take hold, but shalt not deliver, and that which thou deliverest, will I give up to the sword.

15 Thou shalt sow, but not reap: Thou shalt tread the olives, but thou shalt not anoint thee with oil, and make sweet wine, but shall not drink wine.

16 For the ¹statutes of Omri are kept, and all the manner of the house of Ahab, and ye walk in their counsels, that I should make thee waste, and the inhabitants thereof an hissing: therefore ye shall bear the reproach of my people.

7 ¹ A complaint for the small number of the righteous.
⁴ The wickedness of those times. ¹⁴ The prosperity of the Church.

1 Woe is me, for I am as the ¹Summer gatherings, and as the grapes of the vintage: there is no cluster to eat: my soul desired the first ripe fruits.

2 The good man is perished out of the earth, and there is none righteous among men: ¹they all lie in wait for blood: every man hunteth his brother with a net.

3 To make good for the evil of their hands, the prince asked, and the judge udgeth for a reward: therefore the ¹great man he speaketh out the corruption of his soul: so ²they wrapped it up.

4 The best of them is as ¹a brier, and the most righteous of them is sharper than a thorn-hedge: the day of ²thy watchmen and thy visitation cometh: then shall be their confusion.

5 Trust ye not in a friend, neither put ye confidence in a counselor: keep the doors of thy mouth from her that lieth in thy bosom.

6 For the son revileth the father: the daughter riseth up against her mother, the daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law, and a man's enemies are the men of his own house.

7 Therefore ¹I will look unto the Lord: I will wait for God my Savior: my God will hear me.

8 Rejoice not against me, ¹O mine enemy: though I fall, I shall arise, when I shall sit in darkness, the Lord shall be a light unto me.

9 I will bear the wrath of the Lord, because I have sinned against him, until he plead my cause, and execute judgment for me: then will he bring me forth to the light, and I shall see his righteousness.

10 Then she that is mine enemy, shall look upon it, and shame shall cover her, which said unto me, Where is the Lord thy God? Mine eyes shall behold

6:7 ¹ There is nothing so dear to man, but the hypocrites will offer it unto God, if they think thereby to avoid his anger: but they will never be brought to mortify their own affections, and to give themselves willingly to serve God as he commandeth.

6:8 ¹ The Prophet in few words calleth them to the observation of the second Table, to know if they will obey God aright or no, saying that God hath prescribed them to do this.

6:9 ¹ Meaning, that when God speaketh to any city or nation, the godly will acknowledge his majesty and consider not the mortal man that bringeth the threatening, but God that sendeth it.

6:12 ¹ That is, of Jerusalem.

6:14 ¹ Thou shalt be consumed with inward grief and evils.

² Meaning, that the city should go about to save her men, as they that lay hold on that which they would preserve.

6:16 ¹ You have received all the corruption and idolatry, wherewith the ten tribes were infected under Omri and Ahab his son: and to excuse your doings, you allege the King's authority by his statutes, and also wisdom and policy in so doing, but you shall not escape punishment: but as I have shown you great favor, and taken you for my people, so shall your plagues be accordingly, Luke 12:47.

7:1 ¹ The Prophet taketh upon him the person of the earth, which complaineth that all her fruits are gone, so that none is left: that is, that there is no godly man remaining: for all are given to cruelty and deceit, so that none spareth his own brother.

7:2 ¹ He sheweth that the prince, the judge, and the rich man are linked together all to do evil, and to cloak the doings one of another.

7:3 ¹ That is, the rich man that is able to give money, abstaineth from no wickedness nor injury.

² These men agree among themselves and conspire with one consent to do evil.

7:4 ¹ They that are of most estimation and are counted most honest among them, are but thorns and briers to prick.

² Meaning of the Prophets and governors.

7:7 ¹ The Prophet sheweth that the only remedy for the godly in desperate evils, is to flee unto God for succor.

7:8 ¹ This is spoken in the person of the Church which calleth the malignant Church her enemy.

her: now shall she be trodden down as the mire of the streets.

11 This is ¹the day, that thy walls shall be built: this day shall drive far away ²the decree.

12 In this day also they shall come unto thee from ¹Assyria, and from the strong cities, and from the strongholds even unto the river, and from Sea to Sea, and from mountain to mountain.

13 Notwithstanding the land shall be desolate because of them that dwell therein, and for the fruits of ¹their inventions.

14 ¹Feed thy people with thy rod, the flock of thine heritage (which dwell solitary in the wood) as in the midst of Carmel: let them feed in Bashan and Gilead, as in old time.

15 ¹According to the days of thy coming out of the land of Egypt, will I show unto him marvelous things.

16 The nations shall see, and be confounded for all their power: they shall ¹lay their hand upon their mouth: ²their ears shall be deaf.

17 They shall ¹lick the dust like a serpent: they shall move out of their holes like worms: they shall be afraid of the Lord our God, and shall fear because of thee.

18 Who is a God like unto thee, that taketh away iniquity, and ¹passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage! He retaineth not his wrath forever, because mercy pleaseth him.

19 He will turn again, and have compassion upon us: he will subdue our iniquities, and cast all ¹their sins into the bottom of the sea.

20 Thou wilt perform thy ¹truth to Jacob, and mercy to Abraham, as thou hast sworn unto our fathers in old time.

7:11 ¹ To wit, when God shall show himself a deliverer of his Church, and a destroyer of his enemies.

² Meaning, the cruel empire of the Babylonians.

7:12 ¹ When the Church shall be restored, they that were enemies afore, shall come out of all the corners of the world unto her, so that neither holds, rivers, seas, nor mountains shall be able to let them.

7:13 ¹ Afore this grace appear, he sheweth how grievously the hypocrites themselves shall be punished, seeing that the earth itself, which cannot sin shall be made waste because of their wickedness.

7:14 ¹ The Prophet prayeth to God to be merciful unto his Church, when they should be scattered abroad as in solitary places in Babylon, and to be beneficial unto them as in times past.

7:15 ¹ God promiseth to be favorable to his people, as he had been afore time.

7:16 ¹ They shall be as dumb men, and dare brag no more.

² They shall be astonished and afraid to hear men speak, lest they should hear of their destruction.

7:17 ¹ They shall fall flat on the ground for fear.

7:18 ¹ As though he would not see it, but wink at it.

7:19 ¹ Meaning of his elect.

7:20 ¹ The Church is assured, that God will declare in effect the truth of his merciful promise, which he had made of old to Abraham, and to all that should apprehend the promise by faith.

NAHUM

1 Of the destruction of the Assyrians, and of the deliverance of Israel.

1 The ¹burden of Nineveh. ²The book of the vision of Nahum the ³Elkoshite.

2 God is ¹jealous, and the Lord revengeth: the Lord revengeth: even the Lord ²of anger, the Lord will take vengeance on his adversaries, and he reserveth wrath for his enemies.

3 The ¹Lord is slow to anger, but he is great in power, and will not surely clear the wicked: the Lord hath his way in the whirlwind, and in the storm, and the clouds are the dust of his feet.

4 He rebuketh the sea, and drieth it, and he drieth up all the rivers: Bashan is wasted and Carmel, and the flower of Lebanon is wasted.

5 The mountains tremble for him, and the hills melt, and the earth is burnt at his sight, yea the world, and all that dwell therein.

6 ¹Who can stand before his wrath? or who can abide in the fierceness of his wrath? his wrath is poured out like fire, and the rocks are broken by him.

7 The Lord is good ¹and as a stronghold in the day of trouble, and he knoweth them that trust in him.

8 But passing over as with a flood, he will utterly destroy the ¹place thereof, and darkness shall pursue his enemies.

9 What do ye ¹imagine against the Lord? he will make an utter destruction: affliction shall not rise up the second time.

10 For he shall come as unto ¹thorns folden one in another, and as unto drunkards in their drunkenness: they shall be devoured as stubble fully dried.

CHAPTER I

^a Rom. 10:15

11 There ¹cometh one out of thee that imagineth evil against the Lord, even a wicked counselor.

12 Thus saith the Lord, Though they be ¹quiet, and also many, yet thus shall they be cut off when he shall pass by: though I have afflicted thee, I will afflict thee no more.

13 For now I will break his yoke from thee, and will burst thy bonds in sunder.

14 And the Lord hath given a commandment concerning thee that no more of thy name be ¹sown: out of the house of thy gods will I cut off the graven, and the molten image: I will make it thy grave for thee, for thou art vile.

15 ^aBehold upon the mountains the feet of him that declareth, and publisheth ¹peace: O Judah, keep thy solemn feasts, perform thy vows: for the wicked shall no more pass through thee: he is utterly cut off.

2 He describeth the victories of the Chaldeans against the Assyrians.

1 The ¹destroyer is come before thy face: keep the munition: look to the way: make thy loins strong: increase thy strength mightily.

2 For the Lord hath ¹turned away the glory of Jacob, as the glory of Israel: for the emptiers have emptied them out, and ²marred their vine branches.

3 The shield of his mighty men is made red, ¹the valiant men are in scarlet: the chariots shall be as in

1:1 ¹ Read Isa. 13:1.

² The vision or revelation, which God commanded Nahum to write concerning the Ninevites.

³ That is, born in a poor village in the tribe of Simeon.

1:2 ¹ Meaning, of his glory.

² With his he is but angry for a time, but his anger never assuageth toward the reprobate, though for a time he defer it.

1:3 ¹ Thus the wicked would make God's mercy an occasion to sin, but the Prophet willeth them to consider his force and justice.

1:6 ¹ If all creatures be at God's commandment, and none is able to resist his wrath, shall man flatter himself, and think by any means to escape, when he provoketh his God to anger?

1:7 ¹ Lest the faithful should be discouraged by hearing the power of God, he sheweth them that his mercy appertain unto them, and that he hath care over them.

1:8 ¹ Signifying, that God will suddenly destroy Nineveh, and the Assyrians, in such sort as they shall lie in perpetual darkness, and never recover their strength again.

1:9 ¹ He sheweth that the enterprises of the Assyrians against Judah and the Church, were against God, and therefore he would so destroy them at once, that he should not need to return the second time.

1:10 ¹ Although the Assyrians think themselves like thorns that prick on all sides, yet the Lord will set fire on them, and as drunken men are not able to stand against any force, so they shall be nothing able to resist him.

1:11 ¹ Which may be understood either of Sennacherib, or of the whole body of the people of Nineveh.

1:12 ¹ Though they think themselves in most safety, and of greatest strength, yet when God shall pass by, he will destroy them: notwithstanding he comforteth his Church, and promiseth to make an end of punishing them by the Assyrians.

1:14 ¹ Meaning, Sennacherib, who should have no more children, but be slain in the house of his gods, 2 Kings 19:36, 37.

1:15 ¹ Which peace the Jews should enjoy by the death of Sennacherib.

2:1 ¹ That is, Nebuchadnezzar is in readiness to destroy the Assyrians: and the Prophet derideth the enterprises of the Assyrians which prepared to resist him.

2:2 ¹ Seeing God hath punished his own people Judah and Israel, he will now punish the enemies by whom he scourged them, read Isa. 10:12.

² Signifying, that the Israelites were utterly destroyed.

2:3 ¹ Both to fear the enemy, and also that they themselves should not so soon espy blood one of another to discourage them.

the fire and flames in the day of his preparation, and ²the fir trees shall tremble.

4 The chariots shall rage in the streets: they shall run to and fro in the highways: they shall seem like lamps: they shall shoot like the lightning.

5 ¹He shall remember his strong men: they shall stumble as they go: they shall make haste to the walls thereof, and the defense shall be prepared.

6 The gates of the rivers shall be opened, and the palace shall melt.

7 And Huzzab the Queen shall be led away captive, and her maids shall lead her as with the voice of doves, smiting upon their breasts.

8 But Nineveh is ¹of old like a pool of water: yet they shall flee away. Stand, stand, shall they cry: but none shall look back.

9 ¹Spoil ye the silver, spoil the gold: for there is none end of the store and glory of all the pleasant vessels.

10 ¹She is empty and void and waste, and the heart melteth, and the knees smite together, and sorrow is in all loins, and the faces ²of them all gather blackness.

11 Where is the ¹dwelling of the lions, and the pasture of the lion's whelps? where the lion and the lioness waked, and the lion's whelp, and none made them afraid.

12 The lion did tear in pieces enough for his whelps, and worried for his lioness, and filled his holes with prey, and his dens with spoil.

13 Behold, I come unto thee saith the Lord of hosts, and I will burn her chariots in the ¹smoke, and the sword shall devour thy young lions, and I will cut off thy spoil from the earth, and the voice of thy ²messengers shall no more be heard.

3 ¹Of the fall of Ninevah. 8 No power can escape the hand of God.

1 O bloody city, it is all full of lies and robbery: ¹the prey departeth not.

2 The noise of a whip, ¹and the noise of the moving of the wheels, and the beating of the horses, and the leaping of the chariots.

3 The horseman lifteth up both the bright sword, and the glittering spear, and a multitude is slain, and the dead bodies are many: there is none end of their corpses: they stumble upon their corpses,

4 Because of the multitude of the fornications of the ¹harlot that is beautiful, and is a mistress of witchcraft, and selleth the people through her whoredom, and the nations through her witchcrafts.

5 Behold, I come upon thee, saith the Lord of hosts, and will discover thy skirts upon thy face, and will show the nations thy filthiness, and the kingdoms thy shame.

6 And I will cast filth upon thee, and make thee vile, and will set thee as a gazing stock.

7 And it shall come to pass, that all they that look upon thee, shall flee from thee, and say, Nineveh is destroyed, who will have pity upon her? where shall I seek comforters for thee?

8 Art thou better than ¹No, which was full of people? that lay in the rivers, and had the waters round about it? whose ditch was the sea, and her wall was from the sea?

9 Ethiopia and Egypt were her strength, and there was none end: Put and Lubim were ¹her helpers.

10 Yet was she carried away, and went into captivity: her young children also were dashed in pieces at the head of all the streets: and they cast lots for her noble men, and all her mighty men were bound in chains.

11 Also thou shalt be drunken: thou shalt hide thyself, and shalt seek help because of the enemy.

12 All thy strong cities shall be like fig trees with the first ripe figs: for if they be shaken, they fall into the mouth of the eater.

13 Behold, thy people within thee are women: the gates of thy land shall be opened unto thine enemies, and the fire shall devour thy bars.

14 Draw thee waters for the siege: fortify thy strongholds: go into the clay, and temper the mortar: make strong brick.

15 There shall the fire devour thee: the sword shall

² Meaning, their spears should shake and crash together.

2:5 ¹ Then the Assyrians shall seek by all means to gather their power, but all things shall fail them.

2:8 ¹ The Assyrians will flatter themselves and say, that Nineveh is so ancient that it can never perish, and is as a fishpool, whose waters they that walk on the banks cannot touch, but they shall be scattered, and shall not look back though men would call them.

2:9 ¹ God commandeth the enemies to spoil Nineveh, and promiseth them infinite riches and treasures.

2:10 ¹ That is, Nineveh, and the men thereof shall be after this sort.

² Read Joel 2:6.

2:11 ¹ Meaning, Nineveh, whose inhabitants were cruel like the Lions, and given to all oppression, and spared no violence or tyranny to provide for their wives and children.

2:13 ¹ That is, as soon as my wrath beginneth to kindle.

² Signifying the heralds, which were accustomed to proclaim war. Some read, of thy gum teeth, wherewith Nineveh was wont to bruise the bones of the poor.

3:1 ¹ It never ceaseth to spoil and rob.

3:2 ¹ He sheweth how the Chaldeans shall haste, and how courageous their horses shall be in beating the ground when they come against the Assyrians.

3:4 ¹ He compareth Nineveh to an harlot, which by her beauty and subtlety enticeth young men, and bringeth them to destruction.

3:8 ¹ Meaning, Alexandria, which was in league with so many nations, and yet was now destroyed.

3:9 ¹ Or, thine.

cut thee off: it shall eat thee up like the ¹locusts, though thou be multiplied like the locusts, and multiplied like the grasshopper.

16 Thou hast multiplied thy merchants above the stars of heaven: the locust spoileth and flieth away.

17 Thy princes are as the grasshoppers, and thy captains as the great grasshoppers which remain in the hedges in the cold day: but when the sun ariseth, they flee away, and their place is not known where they are.

18 Thy ¹shepherds do sleep, O king of Assyria: thy strong men lie down: thy people is scattered upon the mountains, and no man gathereth them.

19 There is no healing of thy wound: thy plague is grievous: all that hear the brute of thee, shall clap the hands over thee: for upon ¹whom hath not thy malice passed continually?

3:15 ¹ Signifying, that God's judgments should suddenly destroy the Assyrians, as these vermin are with rain or change of weather.

3:18 ¹ Thy princes and counselors.

3:19 ¹ Meaning, that there was no people to whom the Assyrians had not done hurt.

HABAKKUK

1 ¹ A complaint against the wicked that persecute the just.

1 The burden, which Habakkuk the Prophet did see.

2 O Lord, how long shall I cry, and thou wilt not hear! even cry out unto thee ¹for violence, and thou wilt not help!

3 Why dost thou show me iniquity, and cause me to behold sorrow? for spoiling, and violence are before me: and there are that raise up strife and contention.

4 Therefore the Law is dissolved, and judgment doth never go forth: for the wicked doth ¹compass about the righteous: therefore ²wrong judgment proceedeth.

5 Behold among the heathen, and regard, and wonder, and marvel: for I will work a work in your days: ¹ye will not believe it, though it be told you.

6 For lo, I raise up the Chaldeans, that bitter and furious nation, which shall go upon the breadth of the land to possess the dwelling places that are not theirs.

7 They are terrible and fearful: ¹their judgment, and their dignity shall proceed of themselves.

8 Their horses also are swifter than the leopards, and are more fierce than the wolves in the ^aevening: and their horsemen are many: and their horsemen shall come from far: they shall fly as the eagle hastening to meat.

9 They come all to spoil: for their faces shall be an ¹East wind, and they shall gather the captivity ²as the sand.

10 And they shall mock the Kings, and the princes shall be a scorn unto them: they shall deride every stronghold: for they shall gather ¹dust, and take it.

CHAPTER 1

^a Zeph. 3:3

11 Then shall they ¹take a courage, and transgress and do wickedly, imputing this their power unto their god.

12 Art not thou of old, O Lord my God, mine holy One? we shall not ¹die: O Lord, thou hast ordained them for judgment, and O God, thou hast established them for correction.

13 Thou art of pure eyes, and canst not see evil: thou canst not behold wickedness: wherefore dost thou look upon the transgressors, and holdest thy tongue, when the wicked devoureth the man, that is more righteous than he?

14 And makest men as the ¹fishes of the sea, and as the creeping things, that have no ruler over them?

15 They take up all with the angle: they catch it in their net, and gather it in their yarn, whereof they rejoice and are glad.

16 Therefore they sacrifice unto their ¹net, and burn incense unto their yarn, because by them their portion is fat, and their meat plenteous.

17 Shall they therefore stretch out their net, and not spare continually to slay ¹the nations?

2 ¹ A vision. ⁵ Against pride, covetousness, drunkenness, and idolatry.

1 I will stand upon my ¹watch, and set me upon the tower, and will look and see what he would say unto me, and what I shall answer to him that rebuketh me.

2 And the Lord answered me, and said, Write the vision, and make it plain upon tables, that he may run ¹that readeth it.

3 For the vision is yet for an appointed time, but

1:2 ¹ The Prophet complaineth unto God, and bewaileth that among the Jews is left none equity and brotherly love: but instead hereof reigneth cruelty, theft, contention and strife.

1:4 ¹ To suppress him, if any should show himself zealous of God's cause.

² Because the judges which should redress this excess, are as evil as the rest.

1:5 ¹ As in times past you would not believe God's word, so shall ye not now believe the strange plagues which are at hand.

1:7 ¹ They themselves shall be your judges in this cause, and none shall have authority over them to control them.

1:9 ¹ For the Jews most feared this wind, because it destroyed their fruits.

² They shall be so many in number.

1:10 ¹ They shall cast up mounds against it.

1:11 ¹ The Prophet comforteth the faithful that God will also destroy the Babylonians, because they shall abuse this victory, and become proud and insolent, attributing the praise hereof to their idols.

1:12 ¹ He assureth the godly of God's protection, showing that the enemy can do no more than God hath appointed, and also that their sins required such a sharp rod.

1:14 ¹ So that the great devoureth the small, and the Chaldeans destroy all the world.

1:16 ¹ Meaning, that the enemies flatter themselves, and glory in their own force, power and wit.

1:17 ¹ Meaning, that they should not.

2:1 ¹ I will renounce mine own judgment, and only depend on God to be instructed what I shall answer them that abuse my preaching, and to be armed against all temptations.

2:2 ¹ Write it in great letters, that he that runneth may read it.

at the ¹last it shall speak and not lie: though it tarry, wait: for it shall surely come, and shall not stay.

4 Behold, ¹he that lifeth up himself, his mind is not upright in him, but the just shall live by his faith,

5 Yea, indeed the proud man is as ¹he that transgresseth by wine: therefore shall he not endure, because he hath enlarged his desire as the hell, and is as death, and cannot be satisfied, but gathereth unto him all nations, and heapeth unto him all people.

6 Shall not all these take up a parable against him, and a taunting proverb against him, and say, Ho, he that increaseth that which is not his? ¹how long? and he that ladeth himself with thick clay?

7 Shall ¹they not rise up suddenly, that shall bite thee? and awake, that shall stir thee? and thou shalt be their prey?

8 Because thou hast spoiled many nations, all the remnant of the people shall spoil thee, because of men's blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the city, and unto all that dwell therein.

9 Ho, he that coveteth an evil covetousness to his house, that he may set his nest on high, to escape from the power of evil.

10 Thou ¹hast consulted shame to thine own house, by destroying many people, and hast sinned against thine own soul.

11 For the ¹stone shall cry out of the wall, and the beam out of the timber shall answer it.

12 Woe unto him that buildeth a town with blood, and erecteth a city by iniquity.

13 Behold, is it not of the ¹Lord of hosts, that the people shall labor in the very fire? the people shall even weary themselves for very vanity.

14 For the earth shall ¹be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea.

15 Woe unto him that giveth his neighbor ¹drink: thou joinest thine heart, and makest him drunken also, that thou mayest see their privities.

16 Thou art filled with shame ¹for glory: drink thou also, and be made naked: the cup of the Lord's right hand shall be turned unto thee, and shameful spewing shall be for thy glory.

17 For the ¹cruelty of Lebanon shall cover thee: so shall the spoil of the beasts, which made them afraid, because of men's blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the city, and unto all that dwell therein.

18 What profiteth the ¹image? for the maker therefore hath made it an image, and a teacher of lies, though he that made it, trust therein, when he maketh dumb idols.

19 Woe unto him that saith to the wood, Awake, and to the dumb stone, Rise up, it shall teach thee: ¹behold, it is laid over with gold and silver, and there is no breath in it.

20 But the Lord is in his holy Temple: let all the earth keep silence before him.

3 ² A prayer for the faithful.

1 A prayer of Habakkuk the Prophet for the ¹ignorances.

2 ¹O Lord, I have heard thy voice, and was afraid: O Lord, revive thy ²work in the midst of the people, in the midst of the years make it known: in wrath remember mercy.

2:3 ¹ Which contained the destruction of the enemy, and the comfort of the Church: which thing though God execute not according to man's hasty affections, yet the issue of both is certain at his time appointed.

2:4 ¹ To trust in himself, or in any worldly thing, is never to be quiet: for the only rest is to stay upon God by faith, Rom. 1:17; Gal. 3:11; Heb. 10:38.

2:5 ¹ He compareth the proud and covetous man to a drunkard that is without reason and sense, whom God will punish and make him a laughing stock to all the world: and this he speaketh for the comfort of the godly, and against the Chaldeans.

2:6 ¹ Signifying, that all the world shall wish the destruction of tyrants, and that by their oppression and covetousness, they heap but upon themselves more heavy burdens: for the more they get, the more are they troubled.

2:7 ¹ That is, the Medes and Persians, that should destroy the Babylonians?

2:10 ¹ Signifying, that the covetous man is the ruin of his own house, when as he thinketh to enrich it by cruelty and oppression.

2:11 ¹ The stones of the house shall cry, and say that they are built of blood, and the wood shall answer and say the same of itself.

2:13 ¹ Meaning, that God will not defer his vengeance long, but will come and destroy all their labors, as though they were consumed with fire.

2:14 ¹ In the destruction of the Babylonians his glory shall appear through all the world.

2:15 ¹ He reproacheth thus the king of Babylon, who as he was drunken with covetousness and cruelty, so he provoked others to the same, and inflamed them by his rage, and so in the end brought them to shame.

2:16 ¹ Whereas thou thoughtest to have glory of these thy doings, they shall turn to thy shame: for thou shalt drink of the same cup with others in thy turn.

2:17 ¹ Because the Babylonians were cruel not only against other nations, but also against the people of God, which is meant by Lebanon and the beasts therein, he sheweth that the like cruelty shall be executed against them.

2:18 ¹ He sheweth that the Babylonians' gods could nothing avail them, for they were but blocks or stones, read Jer. 10:8.

2:19 ¹ If thou wilt consider what it is, and how that it hath neither breath nor life, but is a dead thing.

3:1 ¹ The Prophet instructeth his people to pray unto God, not only for their great sins but also for such as they had committed of ignorance.

3:2 ¹ Thus the people were afraid when they heard God's threatenings, and prayed.

² That is, the state of thy Church which is now ready to perish, before it come to half a perfect age, which should be under Christ.

3 God cometh from ¹Teman, and the holy One from mount Paran, Selah. His glory covereth the heavens, and the earth is full of his praise,

4 And his brightness was as the light: ¹he had horns coming out of his hands, and there was the hiding of his power.

5 Before him went the pestilence, and burning coals went forth before his feet.

6 He stood and measured the earth: he beheld and dissolved the nations, and the everlasting mountains were broken, and the ancient hills did bow: his ¹ways are everlasting.

7 ¹For his iniquity I saw the tents of Cushan, and the curtains of the land of Midian did tremble.

8 Was the Lord angry against the ¹rivers? or was thine anger against the floods? or was thy wrath against the sea, that thou didst ride ²upon thine horses? thy chariots brought salvation.

9 Thy ¹bow was manifestly revealed, and the ²oaths of the tribes were a sure word, Selah, thou ³didst cleave the earth with rivers.

10 The mountains saw thee, and they trembled: the stream of the water ¹passed by: the deep made a noise, and lifted up his hand on high.

11 The ¹sun and moon stood still in their habitation: ²at the light of thine arrows they went, and at the bright shining of thy spears.

12 Thou trodest down the land in anger, and didst thresh the heathen in displeasure.

13 Thou wentest forth for the salvation of thy people, even for salvation with thine ¹Anointed: thou hast wounded the head of the house of the wicked, and discoveredst the foundations unto the ²neck, Selah.

14 Thou didst ¹strike through with his own staves the heads of his villages: they came out as a whirlwind to scatter me: their rejoicing was as to devour the poor secretly.

15 Thou didst walk in the sea with thine horses upon the heap of great waters.

16 When I ¹heard, my belly trembled: my lips shook at the voice: rottenness entered into my bones, and I trembled in myself, that I might rest in ²the day of trouble: for when he cometh up ³unto the people, he shall destroy them.

17 For the fig tree shall not flourish, neither shall fruit be in the vines: the labor of the olive shall fail, and the fields shall yield no meat: the sheep shall be cut off from the fold, and there shall be no bullock in the stalls.

18 But I will rejoice in the Lord: I will joy ¹in the God of my salvation.

19 The Lord God is my strength: he will make my feet like hinds' feet, and he will make me to walk upon mine high places. ¹To the chief singer on Neginoth.

3:3 ¹ Teman and Paran were near Sinai, where the Law was given: whereby is signified that his deliverance was as present now as it was then.

3:4 ¹ Whereby is meant a power that was joined with his brightness, which was hid to the rest of the world, but was revealed in mount Sinai to his people, Ps. 31:16.

3:6 ¹ Signifying, that God hath wonderful means, and ever had a marvelous power when he would deliver his Church.

3:7 ¹ The iniquity of the king of Syria in vexing thy people was made manifest by thy judgment, to the comfort of thy Church, Judg. 5:10, and also of the Midianites, which destroyed themselves, Judg. 7:22.

3:8 ¹ Meaning, that God was not angry with the waters, but that by this means he would destroy his enemies, and deliver his Church.

² And so didst use all the elements as instruments for the destruction of thine enemies.

3:9 ¹ That is, thy power.

² For he had not only made a covenant with Abraham, but renewed it with his posterity.

³ Read Num. 20:11.

3:10 ¹ He alludeth to the red sea and Jordan, which gave passage to God's people, and showed signs of their obedience as it were by the lifting up their hands.

3:11 ¹ As appeareth, Josh. 10:11.

² According to thy commandment, the sun was directed by the weapons of thy people, that fought in thy cause, as though it durst not go forward.

3:13 ¹ Signifying, that there is no salvation, but by Christ.

² From the top to the toe thou hast destroyed the enemies.

3:14 ¹ God destroyed his enemies both great and small with their own weapons, though they were never so fierce against his Church.

3:16 ¹ He returneth to that which he spake in the second verse, and sheweth how he was afraid of God's judgments.

² He sheweth that the faithful can never have true rest, except they feel before the weight of God's judgments.

³ That is, the enemy, but the godly shall be quiet, knowing that all things shall turn to good unto them.

3:18 ¹ He declareth wherein standeth the comfort and joy of the faithful, though they see never so great afflictions prepared.

3:19 ¹ The chief singer upon the instruments of music, shall have occasion to praise God for this great deliverance of his Church.

ZEPHANIAH

1 ⁴ Threatenings against Judah and Jerusalem, because of their idolatry.

1 The word of the Lord, which came unto Zephaniah the son of Cushi, the son of Gedaliah, the son of Amariah, the son of Hezekiah, in the days of ^aJosiah, the son of ^bAmon king of Judah.

2 I will surely destroy all things from off the land, saith the Lord.

3 I will destroy man and beast: I will destroy the ¹fowls of the heaven, and the fishes of the sea, and ruins shall be to the wicked, and I will cut off man from off the land, saith the Lord.

4 I will also stretch out mine hand upon Judah, and upon all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and I will cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, and the name of the ¹Chemarims with the Priests,

5 And them that worship the host of heaven upon the housetops, and them that worship and swear by the Lord, and swear by ¹Milcam.

6 And them that are turned back from the Lord, and those that have not sought the Lord, nor inquired for him.

7 Be still at the presence of the Lord God: for the day of the Lord is at hand: for the Lord hath prepared a sacrifice, and hath sanctified his guests.

8 And it shall be in the day of the Lord's sacrifice, that I will visit the princes and the king's children, and all such as are clothed with ¹strange apparel.

9 In the same day also will I visit all those that ¹dance upon the threshold so proudly, which fill their masters' houses by cruelty and deceit.

10 And in that day, saith the Lord, there shall be a noise, and cry from the ¹fish gate, and an howling from the second gate, and a great destruction from the hills.

11 Howl ye inhabitants of ¹the low place: for the

HAGGAI

1 1 The time of the Prophecy of Haggai. 8 An exhortation to build the Temple again.

1 In the second year of king ¹Darius, in the sixth month, the first day of the month, came the word of the Lord (by the ministry of the Prophet Haggai) unto ²Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, a prince of Judah, and to Jehoshua the son of Jehozadak the high Priest, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, saying, This people say, the time is not yet come, ¹that the Lord's house should be built.

3 Then came the word of the Lord by the ministry of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

4 Is it time for yourselves to dwell in your ¹ceiled houses, and this house lie waste?

5 Now therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, Consider your own ways in your hearts.

6 ¹Ye have sown much, and bring in little: ye eat, but ye have not enough: ye drink, but ye are not filled: ye clothe you, but ye be not warm: and he that earneth wages, putteth the wages into a broken bag.

7 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Consider your own ways in your hearts.

8 Go ¹up to the mountain, and bring wood, and build this House, and ²I will be favorable in it, and I will ³be glorified, saith the Lord.

9 Ye looked for much, and lo, it came to little: and when ye brought it home, I did blow ¹upon it. And why, saith the Lord of hosts? Because of mine House that is waste, and ye turn every man unto his own house.

10 Therefore the heaven over you stayed itself from dew, and the earth stayed her fruit.

11 And I called for a drought upon the land, and upon the mountains, and upon the corn, and upon the wine, and upon the oil, upon all that the ground bringeth forth: both upon men and upon cattle, and upon all the labor of the hands.

12 When Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and Joshua the son of Jehozadak the high Priest, with all the remnant of the people, heard the ¹voice of the Lord their God, and the words of the Prophet Haggai (as the Lord their God had sent him) then the people did fear before the Lord.

13 Then spake Haggai the Lord's messenger in the Lord's message unto the people, saying, I am with you, saith the Lord.

14 And the Lord stirred up ¹the spirit of Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, a prince of Judah, and the spirit of Joshua the son of Jehozadak the high Priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people, and they came, and did the work in the House of the Lord of hosts their God.

2 He sheweth that the glory of the second Temple shall exceed the first.

1 In the four and twentieth day of the sixth month, in the second year of king Darius,

2 In the seventh month, in the one and twentieth day of the month, came the word of the Lord by the ministry of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

3 Speak now to Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel prince of Judah, and to Joshua the son of Jehozadak the high Priest, and to the residue of the people, saying,

4 Who is left among you that saw this ¹House in her first glory, and how do you see it now? is it not in your eyes, in comparison of it as nothing?

5 Yet now be of good courage, O Zerubbabel,

1:1 ¹ Who was the son of Histaspis and the third king of the Persians, as some think.

² Because the building of the Temple began to cease, by reason that the people were discouraged by their enemies: and if these two notable men had need to be stirred up and admonished of their duties, what shall we think of other governors, whose doings are either against God, or very cold in his cause?

1:2 ¹ Not that they condemned the building thereof, but they preferred policy and private profit to religion, being content with small beginnings.

1:4 ¹ Showing that they sought not only their necessities, but their very pleasures before God's honor.

1:6 ¹ Consider the plagues of God upon you for preferring your policies to his religion, and because ye seek not him first of all.

1:8 ¹ Meaning, that they should leave off their own commodities, and go forward in the building of God's Temple, and in the setting forth of his religion.

² That is, I will hear your prayers according to my promise, 1 Kings 8:21, 29.

³ That is, my glory shall be set forth by you.

1:9 ¹ And so bring it to nothing.

1:12 ¹ This declareth that God was the author of the doctrine, and that he was but the minister, as Exod. 14:31; Judg. 7:20; Acts 15:28.

1:14 ¹ Which declareth that men are inept and dull to serve the Lord, neither can they obey his word or his messengers, before God reform their hearts, and give them new spirits, John 6:44.

2:4 ¹ For the people according as Isa. 30:19 and Ezek. 41:1, had prophesied, thought this Temple should have been more excellent than Solomon's Temple, which was destroyed by the Babylonians, but the Prophets meant the spiritual Temple, The Church of Christ.

saith the Lord, and be of good comfort, O Joshua, son of Jehozadak the high Priest: and be strong, all ye people of the land, saith the Lord, and ¹do it: for I am with you, saith the Lord of hosts.

6 According to the word that I covenanted with you, when ye came out of Egypt: so my Spirit shall remain among you, fear ye not.

7 For thus saith the Lord of hosts, ¹Yet a little while, and I will shake the heavens and the earth, and the sea, and the dry land:

8 And I will move all nations, and ¹the desire of all nations shall come, and I will fill this House with glory, saith the Lord of hosts.

9 The ¹silver is mine, and the gold is mine, saith the Lord of hosts.

10 The glory of this last House shall be greater than the first, saith the Lord of hosts: and in this place will I give ¹peace, saith the Lord of hosts.

11 ¶ In the four and twentieth day of the ninth month, in the second year of Darius, came the word of the Lord unto the Prophet Haggai, saying,

12 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Ask now the Priests concerning the Law, and say, 13 If one bear ¹holy flesh in the skirt of his garment, and with his skirt do touch the bread or the pottage, or the wine, or oil, or any meat, shall it be holy? And the Priests answered and said, No.

14 Then said Haggai, If a polluted person touch any of these, shall it be unclean? And the Priests answered, and said, It shall be unclean.

15 Then answered Haggai, and said, So is this people, and so is this nation before me, saith the Lord: and so are all the works of their hands, and that which they offer here, is unclean.

16 And now, I pray you, consider in your minds: from this ¹day and afore, even afore a stone was laid upon a stone in the Temple of the Lord:

17 ¹Before these things were, when one came to an heap of twenty measures, there were but ten: when one came to the winepress, for to draw out fifty vessels out of the press, there were but twenty.

18 I smote you with blasting, and with mildew, and with hail, in all the labors of your hands: yet you turned not to me, saith the Lord.

19 Consider, I pray you, in your minds, from ¹this day, and afore, from the four and twentieth day of the ninth month, even from the day that the foundation of the Lord's Temple was laid: consider it in your minds.

20 Is the ¹seed yet in the barn? as yet the vine, and the fig tree, and the pomegranate, and the olive tree hath not brought forth: from this day will I bless you.

21 And again the word of the Lord came unto Haggai in the four and twentieth day of the month, saying,

22 Speak to Zerubbabel the prince of Judah, and say, I ¹will shake the heavens and the earth.

23 And I will overthrow the throne of kingdoms, and I will destroy the strength of the ¹kingdoms of the heathen, and I will overthrow the chariots, and those that ride in them, and the horse and the riders shall come down, every one by the sword of his brother.

24 In that day, saith the Lord of hosts, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my servant, the son of Shealtiel, saith the Lord, and will make thee as a ¹signet: for I have chosen thee, saith the Lord of hosts.

2:5 ¹ That is, go forward in building the Temple.

2:7 ¹ He exhorteth them to patience though see not as yet this Temple so glorious as the Prophets had declared: for this should be accomplished in Christ, by whom all things should be renewed.

2:8 ¹ Meaning, Christ whom all ought to look for and desire: or by desire he may signify all precious things, as riches, and such like.

2:9 ¹ Therefore when his time cometh he can make all the treasures of the world to serve his purpose: but the glory of this second Temple doth not stand in material things, neither can be built.

2:10 ¹ Meaning, all spiritual blessings and felicity purchased by Christ, Phil. 4:7.

2:13 ¹ That is, the flesh of the sacrifices, whereby he signifieth that thing which of itself is good, cannot make another thing so: and therefore they ought not to justify themselves by their sacrifices and ceremonies: but contrary he that is unclean and not pure of heart, doth corrupt those things and make them detestable unto God, which else are good and godly.

2:16 ¹ Consider how God did plague you with famine afore you began to build the Temple.

2:17 ¹ That is, before the building was begun.

2:19 ¹ From the time they began to build the Temple, he promiseth that God would bless them: and albeit as yet the fruit was not come forth, yet in the gathering they should have plenty.

2:20 ¹ He exhorteth them to patience, and to abide till the harvest came, and then they should see God's blessings.

2:22 ¹ I will make a change, and renew all things in Christ, of whom Zerubbabel here is a figure.

2:23 ¹ Hereby he sheweth that there shall be no let or hindrance, when God will make this wonderful restitution of his Church.

2:24 ¹ Signifying that his dignity should be most excellent, which thing was accomplished in Christ.

Z E C H A R I A H

1 He exhorteth the people to return to the Lord, and to eschew the wickedness of their fathers. 16 He signifieth the restitution of Jerusalem and the Temple.

1 In the eighth month of the second year of ¹Darius, came the word of the Lord unto ²Zechariah the son of Berechiah, the son of Iddo the Prophet, saying,

2 The Lord hath been ¹sore displeased with your fathers.

3 Therefore say thou unto them, Thus saith the Lord of hosts, ¹Turn ye unto me, saith the Lord of hosts, and I will turn unto you, saith the Lord of hosts.

4 Be ye not as your fathers, unto whom the former ^aProphets have cried, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Turn you now from your evil ways, and from your wicked works: but they would not hear, nor hearken unto me, saith the Lord.

5 Your fathers, where ¹are they? and do the Prophets live forever?

6 But did not my words and my statutes, which I commanded by my servants the Prophets, take hold of ¹your fathers? and ²they returned, and said, As the Lord of hosts hath determined to do unto us according to our own ways, and according to our works, so hath he dealt with us.

7 Upon the four and twentieth day of the eleventh month, which is the month ¹Shebat, in the second year of Darius, came the word of the Lord unto Zechariah the son of Berechiah, the son of Iddo the Prophet, saying,

8 I ¹saw by night, and behold ²a man riding upon a red horse, and he stood among the myrtle trees that were in a bottom, and behind him were there ³red horses speckled and white.

9 Then said I, O my Lord, what are these? And the Angel that talked with me, said unto me, I will show thee what these be.

10 And the man that stood among the myrtle trees, answered and said, These are they whom the Lord hath sent to go through the world.

11 And they answered the Angel of the Lord that stood among the myrtle trees, and said, We have gone through the world: and behold, all the world sitteth still and is at rest.

12 Then the ¹Angel of the Lord answered and said, O Lord of hosts, how long wilt thou be unmerciful to Jerusalem, and to the cities of Judah, with whom thou hast been displeased now these threescore and ten years?

13 And the Lord answered the Angel that talked with me, with good words and comfortable words.

14 So the Angel that communed with me, said unto me, Cry thou, and speak, thus saith the Lord of hosts, I am ¹jealous over Jerusalem and Zion with a great zeal, 15 And am greatly angry against the careless heathen: for I was angry but ¹a little, and they helped forward the affliction.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord, I will return unto Jerusalem with tender mercy: mine house shall be

1:1 ¹ Who was the son of Histaspis.

² This was not that Zechariah, whereof is mentioned 2 Chron. 24:20, but had the same name, and is called the son of Berechiah, as he was, because he came of those progenitors, as of Joiada or Berechiah, and Iddo.

1:2 ¹ He speaketh this to fear them with God's judgments, that they should not provoke him as their fathers had done, whom he so grievously punished.

1:3 ¹ Let your fruits declare that you are God's people, and that he hath wrought in you by his Spirit, and mortified you: for else man hath no power to return to God, but God must convert him, as Jer. 31:18; Lam. 5:21; Isa. 21:8 and 31:6 and 45:21.

1:5 ¹ Though your fathers be dead, yet God's judgments in punishing them ought still to be before your eyes: and though the Prophets be dead, yet their doctrine remaineth forever, 2 Pet. 1:15.

1:6 ¹ Seeing ye saw the force of my doctrine in punishing your fathers, why do ye not fear the threatenings contained in the same, and declared by my Prophets?

² As men astonished with my judgments, and not that they were touched with true repentance.

1:7 ¹ Which containeth part of January and part of February.

1:8 ¹ This vision signifieth the restoration of the Church: but as yet it should not appear to man's eyes, which is here meant by the night, by the bottom, and by the myrrh trees which are black, and give a dark shadow, yet he compareth God to a King, who hath his posts and messengers abroad by whom he still worketh his purpose and bringeth his matters to pass.

² Who was the chief among the rest of the horsemen.

³ These signified the divers offices of God's Angels by whom God sometimes punisheth and sometimes comforteth and bringeth forth his works in divers sorts.

1:12 ¹ That is, Christ the mediator prayed for the salvation of his Church, which was now troubled, when all the countries about them were at rest.

1:14 ¹ Though for a time God defer his help and comfort from his Church, yet this declareth that he loveth them still most dearly, as a most merciful father his children, or an husband his wife, and when it is expedient for them, his help is ever ready.

1:15 ¹ In destroying the reprobate, I showed myself but a little angry toward my church, but the enemy would have destroyed them also, and considered not the end of my chastisements.

built in it, saith the Lord of hosts, and a line ¹shall be stretched upon Jerusalem.

17 Cry yet, and speak, Thus saith the Lord of hosts, My cities shall yet ¹be broken with plenty: the Lord shall yet comfort Zion, and shall yet choose Jerusalem.

18 Then lifted I up mine eyes and saw, and behold, ¹four horns.

19 And I said unto the Angel that talked with me, What be these? And he answered me, These are the horns which have scattered Judah, Israel, and Jerusalem.

20 And the Lord showed me four ¹carpenters.

21 Then said I, What come these to do? And he answered, and said, These are the horns, which have scattered Judah, so that a man durst not lift up his head: but these are come to fray them, and to cast out the horns of the Gentiles, which lifted up their horn over the land of Judah to scatter it.

2 The restoring of Jerusalem and Judah.

1 I lifted up mine eyes again, and looked, and behold, a ¹man with a measuring line in his hand.

2 Then said I, Whither goest thou? And he said unto me, To measure Jerusalem, that I may see what is the breadth thereof, and what is the length thereof.

3 And behold, the Angel that talked with me, went forth, and another Angel went out to meet him,

4 And said unto him, Run, speak to this ¹young man, and say, ²Jerusalem shall be inhabited without walls, for the multitude of men and cattle therein.

5 For I, saith the Lord, will be unto her a wall of ¹fire round about, and will ²be the glory in the midst of her.

6 Ho, ho, come ¹forth, and flee from the land of the North, saith the Lord: for I have scattered you into the four ²winds of the heaven, saith the Lord.

7 ¹Save thyself, O Zion, that dwellest with the daughter of Babel.

8 For thus saith the Lord of hosts, After this ¹glory hath he sent me unto the nations, which spoiled you: for he that toucheth you, toucheth the ²apple of his eye.

9 For behold, I will lift up mine hand ¹upon them: and ²they shall be a spoil to those that served them, and ye shall know that the Lord of hosts hath ³sent me.

10 Rejoice and be glad, O daughter Zion: for lo, I come, and will dwell in the midst of thee, saith the Lord.

11 And many nations shall be joined to the Lord in that day, and shall be my people: and I will dwell in the midst of thee, and thou shalt know that the Lord of hosts hath sent me unto thee.

12 And the Lord shall inherit Judah his portion in the holy land, and shall choose Jerusalem again.

13 Let all flesh be still before the Lord: for he is raised up out of his holy place.

3 A prophecy of Christ and of his kingdom.

1 And he showed me Joshua the high Priest, ¹standing before the Angel of the Lord, and ²Satan stood at his right hand to resist him.

2 And the ¹Lord said unto Satan, The Lord reprove thee, O Satan: even the Lord that hath chosen Jerusalem, reprove thee. Is not this a ²[brand] taken

1:16 ¹ To measure out the buildings.

1:17 ¹ The abundance shall be so great, that the places of store shall not be able to contain these blessings that God will send, but shall even break for fullness.

1:18 ¹ Which signified all the enemies of the Church, East, West, North, South.

1:20 ¹ These Carpenters or Smiths are God's instruments, which with their mallets and hammers break these hard and strong horns which should overthrow the Church, and declare that none enemy's horn is so strong, but God hath an hammer to break it in pieces.

2:1 ¹ This is the Angel who was Christ: for in respect of his office he is oftentimes called an Angel, but in respect of his eternal essence, is God, and so called.

2:4 ¹ Meaning, himself Zechariah.

² Signifying the spiritual Jerusalem and Church under Christ, which should be extended by the Gospel through all the world, and should need no material walls, nor trust in any worldly strength, but should be safely preserved and dwell in peace among all their enemies.

2:5 ¹ To defend my Church, to fear the enemies and to destroy them if they approach near.

² In me they shall have their full felicity and glory.

2:6 ¹ He calleth to them, which partly for fear, and partly for their own case, remained still in captivity, and so preferred their own private commodities to the benefits of God promised in his Church.

² As it was I that scattered you, so have I power to restore you.

2:7 ¹ By fleeing from Babylon, and coming to the Church.

2:8 ¹ Seeing that God had begun to show his grace among you by delivering you, he continueth the same still toward you, and therefore sendeth me his Angel and his Christ to defend you from your enemies, that they shall not hurt you, neither by the way nor at home.

² Ye are so dear unto God, that he can no more suffer your enemies to hurt you, than a man can abide to be thrust in the eye, Ps. 17:8.

2:9 ¹ Upon the heathen your enemies.

² They shall be your servants, as you have been theirs.

³ This must necessarily be understood of Christ, who being God equal with his Father, was sent as he was Mediator to dwell in his Church and to govern them.

3:1 ¹ He prayed to Christ the Mediator for the state of the Church.

² Which declareth that the faithful have not only war with flesh and blood, but with Satan himself and spiritual wickedness, Eph. 6:12.

3:2 ¹ That is, Christ speaketh to God as the Mediator of his Church, that he would rebuke Satan: and here he sheweth himself to be the continual preserver of his Church.

² Meaning, that Joshua was wonderfully preserved in the captivity, and now Satan sought to afflict and trouble him when he was doing his office.

out of the fire?

3 Now Joshua was clothed with ¹filthy garments, and stood before the Angel.

4 And he answered and spake unto those that stood before him, saying, Take away the ¹filthy garments from him. And unto him he said, Behold, I have ²caused thine iniquity to depart from thee, and I will clothe thee with change of raiment.

5 And I said, Let them ¹set a fair diadem upon his head. So they set a fair diadem upon his head, and clothed him with garments, and the Angel of the Lord stood by.

6 And the Angel of the Lord testified unto Joshua, saying,

7 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, If thou wilt walk in my ways, and keep my watch, thou shalt also ¹judge mine house, and shalt also keep my ²courts, and I will give thee place among ³these that stand by.

8 Hear now, O Joshua the high Priest, thou and thy fellows that sit before thee: for they ¹are monstrous persons: but behold, I will bring forth the ²Branch my servant.

9 For lo, the ¹stone that I have laid before Joshua: upon one stone shall be seven eyes: behold, I ²will cut out the graving thereof, saith the Lord of hosts, and I will take ³away the iniquity of this land in one day.

10 In that day, saith the Lord of hosts, shall ye call every man his neighbor under the ¹vine, and under the fig tree.

4 The vision of the golden candlestick, and the exposition thereof.

1 And the Angel that talked with me, came again and waked me, as a man that is raised out of his sleep,

2 And said unto me, What seest thou? And I said, I have looked, and behold, a ¹candlestick all of gold with a bowl upon the top of it, and his seven lamps therein, and seven ²pipes to the lamps which were upon the top thereof,

3 And two olive trees over it, one upon the right side of the bowl, and the other upon the left side thereof.

4 So I answered and spake to the Angel that talked with me, saying, What are these my Lord?

5 Then the Angel that talked with me, answered and said unto me, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord.

6 Then he answered and spake unto me, saying, This is the word of the Lord unto ¹Zerubbabel, saying, Neither by ²an army nor strength, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hosts.

7 Who art thou, O ¹great mountain, before Zerubbabel? thou shall be a plain, and ²he shall bring forth the headstone thereof, with shoutings, crying,

3:3 ¹ In respect of the glorious garments and precious stones that the Priests did wear before the captivity: and by this contemptible state the Prophet signifieth, that these small beginnings should be made excellent when Christ shall make the full restitution of his Church.

3:4 ¹ See verse 3.

² He sheweth of what apparel he speaketh, which is, when our filthy sins are taken away, and we are clad with God's mercies, which is meant of the spiritual restitution.

3:5 ¹ The Prophet prayeth, that besides the raiment, the Priest might also have tyre for his head accordingly, that is, that the dignity of the Priesthood might be perfect: and this was fulfilled in Christ, who was both Priest and King: and here all such are condemned, that can content themselves with any mean reformation in religion, seeing the Prophet desireth the perfection, and obtaineth it.

3:7 ¹ That is, have rule and government in my Church, as thy predecessors have had.

² Whereby he meaneth to have the whole charge and ministry of the Church.

³ That is, the Angels, who represented the whole number of the faithful: signifying that all the godly should willingly receive him.

3:8 ¹ Because they follow my word, they are condemned in the world, and esteemed as monsters, Isa. 8:18.

² That is, Christ, who did so humble himself, that not only he became the servant of God, but also the servant of men: and therefore in him they should have comfort, although in the world they were contemned, Isa. 11:1; Jer. 23:5 and 33:14, 15.

3:9 ¹ He sheweth that the ministers cannot build, before God lay the first stone, which is Christ, who is full of eyes, both because he giveth light unto all others, and that all ought to seek light at him, Zech. 4:10.

² That is, I will make perfect in all points, as a thing wrought by the hand of GOD.

³ Though I have punished this land for a time, yet I will even now be pacified, and visit their sins no more.

3:10 ¹ Ye shall then live in peace and quietness, that is, in the kingdom of Christ, Isa. 2:2; Mic. 4:4; Hag. 2:10.

4:2 ¹ Which was ever in the midst of the Temple, signifying that the graces of God's spirit should shine there in most abundance, and in all perfection.

² Which conveyed the oil that dropped from the trees into the lamps, so that the light never failed: and this vision was to confirm the faithful that God had sufficient power in himself to continue his graces, and to bring his promise to pass though he had no help of man.

4:6 ¹ Who was a figure of Christ and therefore this doctrine was directed to all the Church who are his body and members.

² He sheweth that God's power only is sufficient to preserve his Church, though he use not man's help thereunto.

4:7 ¹ He compareth the power of the adversaries to a great mountain, who thought the Jews nothing in respect of them, and would have hindered Zerubbabel, who represented Christ, whom the enemies daily labor to let in the building of his spiritual Temple, but all in vain.

² Though the enemies think to stay this building, yet Zerubbabel shall lay the highest stone thereof, and bring it to perfection, so that all the godly shall rejoice, and pray unto God that he would continue his grace and favor toward the Temple.

Grace, grace unto it.

8 Moreover, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

9 The hands of Zerubbabel have laid the foundation of this house: his hands shall also finish it, and ¹thou shalt know that the Lord of hosts hath sent me unto you.

10 For who hath despised the day of the ¹small things? but they shall rejoice, and shall see the stone of ²tin in the hand of Zerubbabel: ³these seven are the eyes of the Lord, which go through the whole world.

11 Then answered I, and said unto him, What are these two olive trees upon the right and upon the left side thereof?

12 And I spake moreover, and said unto him, What be these two olive branches, which through the two golden pipes empty themselves into the gold?

13 And he answered me, and said, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord.

14 Then said he, These are the two ¹olive branches, that stand with the ruler of the whole earth.

5 ¹ The vision of the flying book, signifying the curse of thieves, and such as abuse the Name of God. ⁶ By the vision of the measure is signified the bringing of Judah's afflictions into Babylon.

1 Then I turned me, and lifted up mine eyes and looked, and behold, a flying book.

2 And he said unto me, What seest thou? And I answered, I see a flying ¹book: the length thereof is twenty cubits, and the breadth thereof ten cubits.

3 Then said he unto me, This is the curse that goeth forth over the whole earth: for everyone that ¹stealeth, shall be cut off, as well on this ²side, as on that: and everyone that ³swareth, shall be cut off, as well on this side, as on that.

4 I will bring it forth, saith the Lord of hosts, and it shall enter into the house of the thief, and into the house of him that falsely sweareth by my Name: and it shall remain in the midst of his house, and shall consume it, with the timber thereof, and stones thereof.

5 Then the Angel that talked with me, went forth, and said unto me, Lift up now thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth forth.

6 And I said, What is it? And he said, This is an ¹Ephah that goeth forth. He said moreover, This is the ²sight of them through all the earth.

7 And behold, there was lifted up a ¹talent of lead: and this is a ²woman that sitteth in the midst of the Ephah.

8 And he said, This is ¹wickedness, and he cast it into the midst of the Ephah, and he cast the weight of lead upon the mouth thereof.

9 Then I lifted mine eyes, and looked: and behold, there came out two ¹women, and the wind was in their wings (for they had wings like the wings of a stork) and they lifted up the Ephah between the earth and the heaven.

10 Then said I to the Angel that talked with me, Whither do these bear the Ephah?

11 And he said unto me, To build it an house in the land of Shinar, and it shall be ¹established and set there upon her own place.

6 By the four chariots he describeth the four Monarchies.

1 Again, I turned and lifted up mine eyes, and looked: and behold, there came four ¹chariots out from between ²two mountains, and the mountains

4:9 ¹ Meaning, the Prophet, that I am Christ sent of my Father for the building and preservation of my spiritual Temple.

4:10 ¹ Signifying, that all were discouraged at the small and poor beginnings of the Temple.

² Whereby he signifieth the plummet and line, that is, that Zerubbabel which represented Christ, should go forward with his building to the joy and comfort of the godly, though the world be against him, and though his for a while be discouraged, because they see not things pleasant to the eye.

³ That is, God hath seven eyes: meaning, a continual providence, so that neither Satan nor any power in the world, can go about to bring anything to pass to hinder his work, Zech. 5:9.

4:14 ¹ Which were ever green and full of oil, so that still they poured forth oil into the lamps: signifying, that God will continually maintain and preserve his Church, and endure it still with abundance and perfection of grace.

5:2 ¹ Because the Jews had provoked God's plagues by contemning his word, and casting off all judgment and equity, he sheweth that God's curses written in this book had justly light both on them and their fathers: but now if they would repent, God would send the same among the Chaldeans their former enemies.

5:3 ¹ That is, useth any injury toward his neighbor.

² Meaning, wheresoever he be in the world.

³ He that transgresseth the first table, and serveth not God aright but abuseth God's Name.

5:6 ¹ Which was a measure in dry things, containing about ten pottels.

² That is, all the wickedness of the ungodly is in God's sight, which he keepeth in a measure, and can shut it or open it at his pleasure.

5:7 ¹ To cover the measure.

² Which representeth iniquity, as in the next verse.

5:8 ¹ Signifying, that Satan should not have such power against the Jews to tempt them, as he had in time past, but that God would shut up iniquity in a measure as in a prison.

5:9 ¹ Which declared that God would execute his judgment by the means of the weak and infirm means.

5:11 ¹ To remove the iniquity and affliction that came from the same from Judah, to place it forever in Babylon.

6:1 ¹ By chariots here, as by horses afore, he meaneth the swift messengers of God to execute and declare his will.

² By the brazen mountains he meaneth the external counsel, and providence of God whereby he hath from before all eternity decreed what shall come to pass, and that which neither Satan nor all the world can alter.

were mountains of brass.

2 In the first chariot were ¹red horses, and in the second chariot ²black horses,

3 And in the third chariot ¹white horses, and in the fourth chariot, horses of ²divers colors, and reddish.

4 Then I answered, and said unto the Angel that talked with me, What are these, my Lord?

5 And the Angel answered, and said unto me, These are the four ¹spirits of the heaven, which go forth from standing with the Lord of all the earth.

6 That with the black horse went forth into the land of the North, and the white went out after them, and they of divers colors went forth toward the ¹South country.

7 And the ¹reddish went out, and required to go, and pass through the world, and he said, Go, pass through the world. So they went throughout the world.

8 Then cried he upon me, and spake unto me, saying, Behold, these that go toward the North country, have pacified my ¹spirit in the North country.

9 And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

10 Take of them of the captivity, even of Heldai, and of Tobijah, and Jedaiah, which are come from Babel, and come thou the same day, and go unto the house of ¹Josiah, the son of Zephaniah.

11 Take even silver, and gold, and make crowns, and set them upon the ¹head of Joshua, the son of Jehozadak the high Priest,

12 And speak unto him, saying, Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, and saith, Behold, the man whose name is the ¹Branch, and he shall grow ²up out of his place, and he shall ³build the Temple of the Lord.

13 Even he shall build the Temple of the Lord, and he shall bear the ¹glory, and shall sit and rule upon his throne, and he shall be a Priest upon his throne, and the counsel of peace shall be between ²them both.

14 And the crowns shall be to ¹Helem, and to Tobijah, and to Jedaiah, and to ²Hen the son of Zephaniah, for a ³memorial in the Temple of the Lord.

15 And they that are ¹far off, shall come and build in the Temple of the Lord, and ye shall know, that the Lord of hosts hath sent me unto you. And this shall come to pass, if ye will ²obey the voice of the Lord your God.

7 ⁵ The true fasting. ¹¹ The rebellion of the people is the cause of their affliction.

1 And in the fourth year of King Darius, the word of the Lord came unto Zechariah in the fourth day of the ninth month, even in ¹Chisleu,

2 For ¹they had sent unto the House of God Sharezer, and Regem-Melech and their men to pray before the Lord,

3 And to speak unto the Priests, which were in the House of the Lord of hosts, and to the Prophets, saying, Should I ¹weep in the fifth month, and ²separate myself as I have done these so many ³years?

4 Then came the word of the Lord of hosts unto me, saying,

6:2 ¹ Which signified the great cruelty and persecution that the Church had endured under divers enemies.

² Signifying, that they had endured great afflictions under the Babylonians.

6:3 ¹ These represented their state under the Persians, which restored them to liberty.

² Which signified, that God would sometimes give his Church rest, and pour his plagues upon their enemies, as he did in destroying Nineveh and Babylon, and others their enemies.

6:5 ¹ Meaning, all the actions and motions of God's Spirit, which according to his unchangeable counsel he causeth to appear through all the world.

6:6 ¹ That is, toward Egypt, and other countries there about.

6:7 ¹ That is, they of divers colors, which ask [...], to signify that Satan hath no power to hurt or afflict, till God gives it him, Job 1:12.

6:8 ¹ By punishing the Chaldeans mine anger ceased, and you were delivered.

6:10 ¹ To receive of him and the other three, money to make the two crowns: which were men of great authority among the Jews, and doubted of the restitution of the kingdom, and of the Priesthood, and hurt others by their example.

6:11 ¹ Because this could not be attributed to anyone according to the Law, therefore it followeth that Joshua must represent the Messiah, who was both Priest and king.

6:12 ¹ Meaning, Christ, of whom Joshua was the figure: for in Greek they were both called Jesus.

² That is, of himself without the help of man.

³ Which declareth, that none could build this Temple whereof Haggai speaketh, but only Christ: and therefore it was spiritual, and not material, Hag. 2:10.

6:13 ¹ Whereof Joshua had but a shadow.

² The two offices of the kingdom, and Priesthood shall be so joined together, that they shall be no more dis severed.

6:14 ¹ Who was also called Heldai.

² He was also called Joshiash.

³ That they may acknowledge their infirmity, which looked that all things should have been restored incontinently: and of this their infidelity these two crowns shall remain as tokens, Acts 1:16.

6:15 ¹ That is, the Gentiles by the preaching of the Gospel, shall help toward the building of the spiritual Temple.

² If ye will believe and remain in the obedience of faith.

7:1 ¹ Which contained part of November and part of December.

7:2 ¹ That is, the rest of the people that remained yet in Chaldea, sent to the Church at Jerusalem, for the resolution of these questions, because these feasts were consented upon by the agreement of the whole Church, the one in the month that the Temple was destroyed, and the other when Gedaliah was slain, Jer. 41:2.

7:3 ¹ By weeping and mourning, appear what exercises they used in their fasting.

² That is, prepare myself with all devotion to his fast.

³ Which was now since the time the Temple was destroyed.

5 Speak unto all the people of the land, and to the ¹Priests, and say, When ye fasted, and mourned in the fifth and seventh month, even the seventy years, did ye fast unto me? ²do I approve it?

6 And when ye did eat, and when ye did drink, did ye not eat ¹for yourselves, and drink for yourselves?

7 Should ye not hear the words which the Lord ¹hath cried by the ministry of the former Prophets when Jerusalem was inhabited, and in prosperity, and the cities thereof round about her, when the South and the plain was inhabited?

8 And the word of the Lord came unto Zechariah, saying,

9 Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, saying, ¹Execute true judgment, and show mercy and compassion, every man to his brother,

10 And oppress not the widow, nor the fatherless, the stranger nor the poor, and let none of you imagine evil against his brother in your heart.

11 But they refused to hearken, and ¹pulled away the shoulder, and stopped their ears, that they should not hear.

12 Yea, they made their hearts as an adamant stone, lest they should hear the Law and the words which the Lord of hosts sent in his ¹Spirit by the ministry of the former Prophets: therefore came a great wrath from the Lord of hosts.

13 Therefore it is come to pass, that as he cried, and they would not hear, so they cried, and I would not hear, saith the Lord of hosts.

14 But I scattered them among all the nations, whom they knew not: thus the land was desolate ¹after them, that no man passed through nor returned: for they laid the pleasant land ²waste.

8 ²Of the return of the people unto Jerusalem, and of the mercy of God toward them. 16 Of good works. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

1 Again the word of the Lord of hosts came to me, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, I was ¹jealous for Zion with great jealousy, and I was jealous for her with great wrath.

3 Thus saith the Lord, I will return unto Zion, and will dwell in the midst of Jerusalem: and Jerusalem shall be called a ¹city of truth, and the Mountain of the Lord of hosts, the holy Mountain.

4 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, There shall yet old ¹men and old women dwell in the streets of Jerusalem, and every man with his staff in his hand for very age.

5 And the streets of the city shall be full of boys and girls, playing in the streets thereof.

6 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Though it be ¹impossible in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these days, should it therefore be impossible in my sight, saith the Lord of hosts?

7 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Behold, I will deliver my people from the East country, and from the West country.

8 And I will bring them, and they shall ¹dwell in the midst of Jerusalem, and they shall be my people, and I will be their God in truth, and in righteousness.

9 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Let your ¹hands be strong, ye that hear in these days these words by the mouth of the Prophets, which were in the day, that the foundation of the house of the Lord of hosts was laid, that the Temple might be built.

10 For before these days there was no hire for ¹man, nor any hire for beast, neither was there any

7:5 ¹For there were both of the people, and of the Priests, which doubted as touching this controversy, besides them which as yet remained in Chaldea, and reason of it, as of one of the chief points of their religion.

²For they thought they had deserved toward God because of this fast, which they invented of themselves: and though fasting of itself be good, yet because they thought it a service toward God, and trusted therein, it is here reproved.

7:6 ¹Did ye not eat and drink for your own commodity and necessity, and so likewise ye did abstain according to your own fantasies, and not after the prescript of my Law.

7:7 ¹Hereby he condemneth their hypocrisy, which thought by their fasting to please God and by such things as they invented, and in the mean season would not serve him as he had commanded.

7:9 ¹He sheweth that they did not fast with a sincere heart, but for hypocrisy, and that it was not done of a pure religion, because that they lacked these offices of charity, which should have declared that they were godly, Matt. 23:23.

7:11 ¹And would not carry the Lord's burden, which was sweet and easy, but would bear their own, which was heavy and grievous to the flesh, thinking to merit thereby: which similitude is taken of oxen, which shrink at the yoke, Neh. 9:29.

7:12 ¹Which declareth that they rebelled not only against the Prophets, but against the Spirit of God that spake in them.

7:14 ¹That is, after they were called captive.

²By their sins whereby they provoked God's anger.

8:2 ¹I loved my city with a singular love, so that I could not abide that any should do her any injury.

8:3 ¹Because she shall be faithful and loyal toward me her husband.

8:4 ¹Though their enemies did greatly molest and trouble them, yet God would come and dwell among them, and so preserve them so long as nature would suffer them to live, and increase their children in great abundance.

8:6 ¹He sheweth wherein our faith standeth, that is, to believe that God can perform that which he hath promised, though it seem never so impossible to man, Gen. 18:14; Rom. 4:20.

8:8 ¹So that their return shall not be in vain: for God will accomplish his promise, and their prosperity shall be sure and stable.

8:9 ¹Let neither respect of your private commodities neither counsel of others, nor fear of enemies discourage you in the going forward with the building of the Temple, but be constant and obey the Prophets, which encourage you thereunto.

8:10 ¹For God cursed your work, so that neither man nor beast had profit of their labors.

peace to him that went out or came in because of the affliction: for I set all men, everyone against his neighbor.

11 But now, I will not entreat the residue of this people as aforetime, saith the Lord of hosts.

12 For the seed shall be prosperous: the vine shall give her fruit, and the ground shall give her increase, and the heavens shall give their dew: and I will cause the remnant of this people to possess all these things.

13 And it shall come to pass, that as ye were a curse among the heathen, O house of Judah, and house of Israel, so will I deliver you, and ye shall be a blessing: fear not, but let your hands be strong.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hosts, As I thought to punish¹ you, when your fathers provoked me unto wrath, saith the Lord of hosts, and repented not,

15 So again have I determined in these days ¹to do well unto Jerusalem, and to the house of Judah: fear ye not.

16 These are the things that ye shall do, Speak ye every man the truth unto his neighbor: execute judgment truly, and uprightly in your gates,

17 And let none of you imagine evil in your hearts against his neighbor, and love no false oath: for all these are the things that I hate, saith the Lord.

18 And the word of the Lord of hosts came unto me, saying,

19 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, The fast of the fourth month, and the fast of the fifth, and the fast of the seventh, and the fast of the ¹tenth, shall be to the house of Judah joy and gladness, and prosperous high feasts: therefore love the truth and peace.

20 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, That there shall yet come ¹people, and the inhabitants of great cities.

21 And they that dwell in one city, shall go to another, saying, ¹Up, let us go and pray before the Lord, and seek the Lord of hosts: I will go also.

22 Yea great people and mighty nations shall come to seek the Lord of hosts in Jerusalem, and to pray before the Lord.

CHAPTER 8

^a Isa. 22
Mic. 4:1

23 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, In those days shall ten men take hold out of all languages of the nations, even take hold of the skirt of him that is a Jew, and say, We will go with you: for we have heard that God is with you.

9 The threatenings of the Gentiles. 9 The coming of Christ.

1 The burden of the word of the Lord in the land of ¹Hadrach: and Damascus shall be his ²rest: when the ³eyes of man, even of all the tribes of Israel shall be toward the Lord.

2 And Hamath also shall border ¹thereby: Tyre also and Sidon, though they be ²very wise.

3 For Tyre did build herself a stronghold, and heaped up silver as the dust, and gold as the mire of the streets.

4 Behold, the Lord will spoil her, and he will smite her ¹power in the sea, and she shall be devoured with fire.

5 Ashkelon shall see it, and fear, and Gaza also shall be very sorrowful, and Ekron: for her countenance shall be ashamed, and the king shall perish from Gaza, and Ashkelon shall not be inhabited.

6 And the ¹stranger shall dwell in Ashdod, and I will cut off the pride of the Philistines.

7 And I will take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from between his ¹teeth: but he that remaineth, even he shall be for our God, and he shall be as a prince in Judah, but ²Ekron shall be as a Jebusite.

8 And I will camp about ¹mine House against the army, against him that passeth by, and against him that returneth, and no oppressor shall come upon them anymore: for now ²have I seen with mine eyes.

9 Rejoice greatly, O daughter Zion: shout for

8:14 ¹ Read Ezek. 18:20.

8:15 ¹ Which declareth that man cannot turn to God till he changes man's heart by his spirit, and so begin to do well, which is to pardon his sins and to give him his graces.

8:19 ¹ Which fast was appointed when the city was besieged, and was the first fast of these four: and here the Prophet sheweth, that if the Jews will repent, and turn wholly to God, they shall have no more occasion to fast, or to show signs of heaviness: for God will send them joy and gladness.

8:20 ¹ He declareth the great zeal that God should give the Gentiles to come to his Church, and to join with the Jews in his true religion, which should be in the kingdom of Christ.

9:1 ¹ Whereby he meaneth Syria.

² God's anger shall abide upon their chief city, and not spare so much as that.

³ When the Jews shall convert and repent, then God will destroy their enemies.

9:2 ¹ That is, by Damascus: meaning, that Hamath or Antioch should be under the same rod and plague.

² He secretly sheweth the cause of their destruction, because they deceived all others by their craft and subtlety, which they cloaked with this name of wisdom.

9:4 ¹ Though they of Tyre think themselves invincible by reason of the sea that compass them round about, yet they shall not escape God's judgments.

9:6 ¹ Meaning, that all should be destroyed, save a very few, that should remain as strangers.

9:7 ¹ He promiseth to deliver the Jews when he shall take vengeance on their enemies for their cruelty and wrongs done to them.

² As the Jebusites had been destroyed, so should Ekron and all the Philistines.

9:8 ¹ He sheweth that God's power only shall be sufficient to defend his Church against all adversaries be they never so cruel, or assemble their power never so often.

² That is, God hath now seen the great injuries and afflictions wherewith they have been afflicted by their enemies.

joy, O daughter Jerusalem: behold, thy king cometh unto thee: ¹he is just, and saved himself, poor and riding upon an ²ass, and upon a colt the foal of an ass.

10 And I will cut off the ¹chariots from Ephraim, and the horse from Jerusalem: the bow of the battle shall be broken, and he shall speak peace unto the heathen, and his dominion shall be from ²sea unto sea, and from the ³River to the end of the land.

11 ¹Thou also shall be saved through the blood of thy covenant. I have loosed thy ²prisoners out of the pit wherein is no water.

12 Turn you to the ¹stronghold, ye ²prisoners of hope: even today do I declare, that I will render the ³double unto thee.

13 For Judah have I bent as a ¹bow for me: Ephraim's hand have I filled, and I have raised up thy sons, O Zion, against thy sons, O Greece, and have made thee as a giant's sword.

14 And the Lord shall be seen over them, and his arrow shall go forth as the lightning: and the Lord God shall blow the trumpet, and shall come forth with the whirlwinds of the South.

15 The Lord of hosts shall defend them, and they shall devour them, ¹and subdue them with sling stones, and they shall drink, and make a noise as through wine, and they shall be filled like bowls, and as the horns of the Altar.

16 And the Lord their God shall deliver them in that day as the flock of his people: for they shall be as the ¹stones of the crown lifted up upon his land.

17 For how great is his goodness! and how great is his beauty! corn shall make the young men cheerful, and new wine the maids.

10 ¹ The vanity of Idolatry. ³ The Lord promiseth to visit and comfort the house of Israel.

1 Ask you of the ¹Lord rain in the time of the latter rain: so shall the Lord make white clouds, and give you showers of rain, and to everyone grass in the field.

2 Surely the ¹idols have spoken vanity, and the soothsayers have seen a lie, and the dreamers have told a vain thing: they comfort in vain: therefore ²they went away as sheep: they were troubled, because there was no shepherd.

3 My wrath was kindled against the shepherds, and I did visit the ¹goats: but the Lord of hosts will visit his flock the house of Judah, and will make them as ²his beautiful horse in the battle.

4 Out ¹of him shall the corner come forth: out of him the nail, out of him ye bow of battle, and out of him every ²appointer of tribute also.

5 And they shall be as the mighty men, which tread down their enemies in the mire of the streets in the battle, and they shall fight, because the Lord is with them, and the riders on horses shall be confounded.

6 And I will strengthen the house of Judah, and I will preserve the ¹house of Joseph, and I will bring 9:9 ¹ That is, he hath righteousness and salvation in himself for the use and commodity of his Church.

² Which declareth that they should not look for such a king as should be glorious in the eyes of man, but should be poor, and yet in himself have all power to deliver his: and this is meant of Christ, as Matt. 21:5.

9:10 ¹ No power of man or creature shall be able to let this kingdom of Christ, and he shall peaceably govern them by his word.

² That is, from the red sea, to the sea, called Syriacum: and by these places which the Jews knew, he meant an infinite space and compass over the whole world.

³ That is, from Euphrates.

9:11 ¹ Meaning, Jerusalem, or the Church which is saved by the blood of Christ whereof the blood of the sacrifices was a figure, and is here called the covenant of the Church, because God made it with his Church: and left it with them for the love that he bare unto them.

² God sheweth that he will deliver his Church out of all dangers, seem they never so great.

9:12 ¹ That is, into the holy land where the city and the Temple are, where God will defend you.

² Meaning the faithful, which seemed to be in danger of their enemies on every side, and yet lived in hope that God would restore them to liberty.

³ That is, double benefits and prosperity, in respect of that which your fathers enjoyed from David's time to the captivity.

9:13 ¹ I will make Judah and Ephraim, that is, my whole Church, victorious against all enemies, which he here meaneth by the Grecians.

9:15 ¹ He promiseth that the Jews shall destroy their enemies, and have abundance and excess of all things, as there is abundance on the altar when the sacrifice is offered: Which things are not to move them to intemperancy, but to sobriety, and a thankful remembrance of God's great liberality.

9:16 ¹ The faithful shall be preserved, and revered of all, that the very enemies shall be compelled to esteem them: for God's glory shall shine in them, as Josephus declareth of Alexander the great when he met Jaddi the high Priest.

10:1 ¹ The Prophet reproveth the Jews, because by their own infidelity they put back God's graces promised, and so famine came by God's just judgment: therefore to avoid this plague, he willet them to turn to God, and to pray in faith to him, and so he will give them abundance.

10:2 ¹ He calleth to remembrance God's punishments in times past, because they trusted not in him, but in their idols and sorcerers who ever deceived them.

² That is, the Jews went into captivity.

10:3 ¹ Meaning, the cruel governors which did oppress the poor sheep, Ezek. 34:16, 17.

² He will be merciful to his Church and cherish them as a king or prince doth his best horse which shall be for his own use in war.

10:4 ¹ Out of Judah shall the chief governor proceed, who shall be as a corner to uphold the building, and as a nail to fasten it together.

² Over their enemies.

10:6 ¹ That is, the ten tribes, which should be gathered under Christ to the rest of the Church.

them again, for I pity them: and they shall be as though I had not cast them off: for I am the Lord their God, and will hear them.

7 And they of Ephraim shall be as a giant: and their heart shall rejoice as through wine: yea, their children shall see it, and be glad: and their heart shall rejoice in the Lord.

8 I will ¹hiss for them: and gather them: for I have redeemed them: and they shall increase, as they have increased.

9 And I will ¹sow them among the people, and they shall remember me in far countries: and they shall live with their children and ²turn again.

10 I will bring them again also out of the land of Egypt, and gather them out of Assyria: and I will bring them into the land of Gilead, and Lebanon, and place shall not be found for them.

11 And he ¹shall go into the sea with affliction, and shall smite the waves in the sea, and all the depths of the river shall dry up: and the pride of Assyria shall be cast down, and the scepter of Egypt shall depart away.

12 And I will strengthen them in the Lord, and they shall walk in his Name, saith the Lord.

11 The destruction of the Temple. 4 The care of the faithful is committed to Christ. 7 A grievous vision against Jerusalem and Judah.

1 Open thy doors, O ¹Lebanon, and the fire shall devour thy cedars.

2 Howl, ¹fir trees: for the cedar is fallen, because all the mighty are destroyed: howl ye, O oaks of Bashan, for the ²defenced forest is cut down.

3 There is the voice of the howling of the shepherds: for their ¹glory is destroyed: the voice of the roaring of lion's whelps: for the pride of Jordan is destroyed.

4 Thus saith the Lord my God, Feed the sheep of the ¹slaughter.

5 They that possess them, slay them ¹and sin not: and they that sell them, say, ²Blessed be the Lord: for I am rich, and their own shepherds spare them not.

6 Surely I will no more spare those that dwell in the land, saith the Lord: but lo, ¹I will deliver the men every one into his neighbor's hand, and into the hand of his ²king: and they shall smite the land, and out of their hands I will not deliver them.

7 For I fed the sheep of slaughter, even the ¹poor of the flock, and I took unto me ²two staves: the one I called Beauty, and the other I called Bands, and I fed the sheep.

8 ¹Three shepherds also I cut off in one month, and my soul loathed ²them, and their soul abhorred me.

9 Then said I, I will not feed you: that that dieth, let it die: and that that perisheth, let it perish: and let the remnant eat, everyone the flesh of his neighbor.

10 And I took my staff, even Beauty, and brake it, that I might disannul my covenant, which I had made with all people.

11 And it was broken in that day: and so the ¹poor of the sheep that waited upon me, knew that it was the word of the Lord.

12 And I said unto them, If ye think it good, give me ¹my wages: and if no, leave off: so they weighed for my wages thirty pieces of silver.

13 And the Lord said unto me, Cast it unto the 10:8 ¹ Whereby he declareth the power of God, who needeth no great preparation when he will deliver his: for with a beck or hiss he can call them from all places suddenly.

10:9 ¹ Though they shall yet be scattered and seem to be lost, yet it shall be profitable unto them: for there they shall come to the knowledge of my Name, which was accomplished under the Gospel, among whom it was first preached.

² Not that they should return into their country, but be gathered and joined in one faith by the doctrine of the Gospel.

10:11 ¹ He alludeth to the deliverance of the people out of Egypt, whereas the Angel smote the floods and rivers.

11:1 ¹ Because the Jews thought themselves so strong by reason of this mountain, that no enemy could come to hurt them, the Prophet sheweth that when God sendeth the enemies, it shall show itself ready to receive them.

11:2 ¹ Showing, that if the strong men were destroyed, the weaker were not able to resist.

² Seeing that Lebanon was destroyed, which was the strongest munition, the weaker places could not think to hold out.

11:3 ¹ That is, the renown of Judah and Israel should perish.

11:4 ¹ Which being now destinate to be slain, were delivered as out of the lion's mouth.

11:5 ¹ Their governors destroy them without any remorse of conscience, or yet thinking that they do evil.

² He noteth the hypocrites, which ever have the Name of God in their mouths, though in their life and doings they deny God, attributing their gain to God's blessings, which cometh of the spoil of their brethren.

11:6 ¹ I will cause one to destroy another.

² Their governors shall execute cruelty over them.

11:7 ¹ That is, the small remnant, whom he thought worthy to show mercy unto.

² God sheweth his great benefits toward his people to convince them of greater ingratitude, which would neither be ruled by his most beautiful order of government, neither continue in the bands of brotherly unity, and therefore he breaketh both the one and the other. Some read, for Bands, Destroyers, but in verse 14 the first reading is confirmed.

11:8 ¹ Whereby he sheweth his care and diligence that he would suffer them to have no evil rulers, because they should consider his great love.

² Meaning, the people, because they would not acknowledge these great benefits of God.

11:11 ¹ He sheweth that the least part ever profit by God's judgments.

11:12 ¹ Besides their ingratitude God accuseth them of malice and wickedness, which did not only forget his benefits, but esteemed them as things of naught.

¹potter: a goodly price, that I was valued at of them. And I took the thirty pieces of silver, and cast them to the potter in the house of the Lord.

14 Then brake I mine other staff: even the Bands, that I might dissolve the brotherhood between Judah and Israel.

15 And the Lord said unto me, Take to thee yet ¹the instruments of a foolish shepherd.

16 For lo, I will raise up a shepherd in the land, which shall not look for the thing that is lost, nor seek the tender lambs, nor heal that that is hurt, nor feed that that ¹standeth up, but he shall eat flesh of the fat, and tear their claws in pieces.

17 O idol shepherd that leaveth the flock: the sword shall be upon his ¹arm, and upon his right eye. His arm shall be clean dried up, and his right eye shall be utterly darkened.

12 Of the destruction and building again of Jerusalem.

1 The burden of the word of the Lord upon ¹Israel, saith the Lord, which spread the heavens, and laid the foundation of the earth, and formed the spirit of man within him.

2 Behold, I will make Jerusalem a ¹cup of poison unto all the people round about: and also with Judah will he be in the siege against Jerusalem.

3 And in that day will I make Jerusalem an heavy stone for all people: all that lift it up, shall be torn, though all the people of the earth be gathered together against it.

4 In that day, saith the Lord, I will smite every horse with astonishment, and his rider with madness, and I will open mine eyes upon the house of Judah, and will smite every horse of the people with blindness.

5 And the princes of Judah shall say in their hearts, The ¹inhabitants of Jerusalem shall be my strength in the Lord of hosts their God.

6 In that day will I make the princes of Judah like coals of fire among the wood, and like a firebrand in the sheaf, and they shall devour all the people round about on the right hand, and on the left: and Jerusalem shall be inhabited again in her own place, even in Jerusalem.

7 The Lord also shall preserve the ¹tents of Judah, as afore time: therefore the glory of the house of David shall not boast, nor the glory of the inhabitants of Jerusalem against Judah.

8 In that day shall the Lord defend the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and he that is feeble among them, in that day shall be as David: and the house of David shall be as God's house, and as the Angel of the Lord before them.

9 And in that day will I seek to destroy all the nations that come against Jerusalem.

10 And I will pour upon the house of David, and upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem, the Spirit of ¹grace and of compassion, and they shall look upon me, whom they have ²pierced, and they shall lament for ³him, as one mourneth for his only son, and be sorry for him as one is sorry for his firstborn.

11 In that day shall there be a great mourning in Jerusalem, as the ¹mourning of ²Hadad Rimmon in the valley of Megiddo.

12 And the ¹land shall bewail every family ²apart, the family of the ³house of David apart, and their wives apart: the family of the house of Nathan apart, and their wives apart:

13 The family of the house of Levi apart, and their wives apart: the family of ¹Shemei apart, and their wives apart:

14 All the families that ¹remain, every family apart, and their wives apart.

11:13 ¹ Showing that it was too little to pay his wages, which could scarce suffice to make a few tiles to cover the Temple.

11:15 ¹ Signifying that they should have a certain kind of regiment and outward show of government: but in effect it should be nothing: for they should be wolves, and devouring beasts instead of shepherds.

11:16 ¹ And is in health and sound.

11:17 ¹ By the arms he signifieth strength, as he doth wisdom and judgments by the eye: that is, the plague of God shall take away both thy strength and judgment.

12:1 ¹ That is, the ten tribes, which neglected God's benefit in delivering their brethren, and had rather remain in captivity, than to return home when God called them.

12:2 ¹ Jerusalem shall be defended against all her enemies: so shall God defend all Judah also, and shall destroy the enemies.

12:5 ¹ Every captain, that had many under him afore, shall now think that the small power of Jerusalem shall be sufficient to defend them against all enemies, because the Lord is among them.

12:7 ¹ The people which are now as it were dispersed by the fields, and lie open to their enemies, shall be no less preserved by my power, than if they were under their kings (which is meant by the house of David) or in their defended cities.

12:10 ¹ They shall have the feeling of my grace by faith, and know that I have compassion on them.

² That is, whom they have continually vexed with their obstinacy, and grieved my Spirit, John 19:37, where it is referred to Christ's body, which here is referred to the Spirit of God.

³ They shall turn to God by true repentance, whom before they had so grievously offended by their ingratitude.

12:11 ¹ They shall lament and repent exceedingly for their offences against God.

² Which was the name of a town and place near to Megiddo where Josiah was slain, 2 Chron. 35:22.

12:12 ¹ That is, in all places where the Jews shall remain.

² Signifying, that this mourning or repentance should not be a vain ceremony: but everyone touched with his own griefs, shall lament.

³ Under these certain families he containeth all the tribes, and sheweth that both the Kings and the Priests had by their sins pierced Christ.

12:13 ¹ Called also Simeon.

12:14 ¹ To wit, which were elected by grace, and preserved from the common destruction.

13 1 Of the fountain of grace. 2 Of the clean riddance of idolatry. 3 The zeal of the godly against false prophets.

1 In that day there ¹shall be a fountain opened to the house of David, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, for sin and for uncleanness.

2 And in that day, saith the Lord of hosts, I will cut off the ¹names of the idols out of the land: and they shall no more be remembered: and I will cause the ²prophets, and the unclean spirit to depart out of the land.

3 And when any shall yet ¹prophesy, his father and his mother that begat him, shall say unto him, Thou shalt not live: for thou speakest lies in the Name of the Lord: and his father and his mother that begat him, ²shall thrust him through, when he prophesieth.

4 And in that day shall the prophets ¹be ashamed everyone of his vision, when he hath prophesied: neither shall they wear a rough garment to deceive.

5 But he shall say, I am no ¹Prophet: I am an husbandman: for man taught me to be an herdsman from my youth up.

6 And one shall say unto him, What are these ¹wounds in thine hands? Then he shall answer, Thus was I wounded in the house of my friends.

7 ¶ Arise, O sword, upon my ¹shepherd, and upon the man, that is my fellow, saith the Lord of hosts: smite the shepherd, and the sheep shall be scattered: and I will turn mine hand upon the little ones.

8 And in all the land, saith the Lord, ¹two parts therein shall be cut off, and die: but the third shall be left therein.

9 And I will bring that third part through the fire, and will fine them as the silver is fined, and will try them as gold is tried: they shall call on my Name, and I will hear them: I will say, It is my people, and they shall say, The Lord is my God.

14 8 Of the doctrine that shall proceed out of the Church, and of the restoration thereof.

1 Behold, the day of the Lord cometh, and thy spoil shall be ¹divided in the midst of thee.

2 For I will gather all nations against Jerusalem to battle, and the city shall be taken, and the houses spoiled, and the women defiled, and half of the city shall go into captivity, and the residue of the people shall not be cut off from the city.

3 Then the Lord shall go forth, and fight against those nations, as when he ¹fought in the day of battle.

4 And his feet shall stand in that day upon the ¹mount of olives, which is before Jerusalem on the Eastside, and the mount of olives shall cleave in the midst thereof: toward the East and toward the West there shall be a very great ²valley, and half of the mountain shall remove toward the North, and half of the mountain toward the South.

5 And ye shall flee unto the ¹valley of the mountains: for the valley of the mountains shall reach unto Azal: yea, ye shall flee like as ye fled from the ²earthquake, in the days of Uzziah king of Judah: and the Lord ³my God shall come, and all the Saints with thee.

6 And in that day shall there be no clear light but dark.

13:1 ¹ He showeth what shall be the fruit of their repentance, to wit, remission of sins by the blood of Christ, which shall be a continual running fountain, and purge them from all uncleanness.

13:2 ¹ He promiseth that God will also purge them from all superstition, and that their religion shall be pure.

² Meaning, the false prophets and teachers, who are the corrupters of all religion, whom the Prophet here calleth unclean spirits.

13:3 ¹ That is, when they shall prophesy lies, and make God, who is the author of truth, a cloak thereunto.

² He showeth what zeal the godly shall have under the kingdom of Christ, Deut. 13:6, 9.

13:4 ¹ God shall make them ashamed of their errors and lies, and bring them to repentance, and they shall no more wear Prophet's apparel to make their doctrine seem more holy.

13:5 ¹ They shall confess their former ignorance, and be content to labor for their living.

13:6 ¹ Hereby he showeth that though their parents and friends dealt more gently with them, and put them not to death, yet they would so punish their children, that became false prophets, that the marks and signs should remain forever.

13:7 ¹ The Prophet warneth the Jews, that before this great comfort should come under Christ, there should be an horrible dissipation among the people: for their governors and pastors should be destroyed, and the people should be as scattered sheep: and the Evangelist applieth this to Christ, because he was the head of all Pastors, Matt. 26:31.

13:8 ¹ The greatest part shall have no portion of these blessings, and yet they that shall enjoy them, shall be tried with great afflictions, so that it shall be known that only God's power and his mercies do preserve them.

14:1 ¹ He armeth the godly against the great tentations that should come, before they enjoyed this prosperous estate promised under Christ, that when these dangers should come, they might know that they were warned of them afore.

14:3 ¹ As your fathers and you have had experience both at the red sea, and at all other times.

14:4 ¹ By this manner of speech the Prophet showeth God's power and care over his Church, and how he will as it were by miracle save it.

² So that out of all the parts of the world, they shall see Jerusalem, which was before hid with this mountain: and this he meaneth of the spiritual Jerusalem the Church.

14:5 ¹ He speaketh of the hypocrites, which could not abide God's presence, but should flee into all places, where they might hide them among the mountains.

² Read Amos 1:1.

³ Because they did not credit the Prophet's words, he turneth to God and comforteth himself in that that he knew that these things should come, and saith, Thou, O God, with thine Angels wilt come to perform this great thing.

7 And there shall be a day (it is known to the Lord) ¹neither day nor night, but about the evening time it shall be light.

8 And in that day shall there ¹waters of life go out from Jerusalem, half of them toward the East sea, and half of them toward the uttermost sea, and shall be, both in summer and winter.

9 And the Lord shall be King over all the earth: in that day shall there be one ¹Lord, and his Name shall be one.

10 All the land shall be turned ¹as a plain from Geba to Rimmon, toward the South of Jerusalem, and it shall be lifted up, and inhabited in her place: from Benjamin's gate unto the place of the first gate, unto the corner gate, and from the tower of Hananiel unto the king's winepresses.

11 And men shall dwell in it, and there shall be no more destruction, but Jerusalem shall be safely inhabited.

12 And this shall be the plague wherewith the Lord will smite all people, that have fought against Jerusalem: their flesh shall consume away, though they stand upon their feet, and their eyes shall consume in their holes, and their tongue shall consume in their mouth.

13 But in that day ¹a great tumult of the Lord shall be among them, and everyone shall take ²the hand of his neighbor, and his hand shall rise up against the hand of his neighbor.

14 And Judah shall fight also against Jerusalem, and the arm of all the heathen shall be gathered round about, with ¹gold and silver, and great abundance of apparel.

15 Yet this shall be the plague of the horse, of the mule, of the camel and of the ass, and of all the beasts that be in these tents at this ¹plague.

16 But it shall come to pass that everyone that is left of all the nations, which came against Jerusalem, shall go up from year to year to worship the King the Lord of hosts, and to keep the feast of Tabernacles.

17 And who so will not come up of all the families of the earth unto Jerusalem to worship the King the Lord of hosts, even upon them shall come no rain.

18 And if the family of ¹Egypt go not up, and come not, it shall not rain upon them. This shall be the plague wherewith the Lord will smite all the heathen, that come not up to keep the feast of tabernacles.

19 This shall be the punishment of Egypt, and the punishment of all the nations that come not up to keep the feast of Tabernacles.

20 In that day shall there be written upon the ¹bridles of the horses, The holiness unto the Lord, and the ²pots in the Lord's house shall be like the bowls before the altar.

21 Yea, every pot in Jerusalem and Judah shall be holy unto the Lord of hosts, ¹and all they that sacrifice, shall come and take of them, and see the therein: and in that day there shall be no more the Canaanite in the house of the Lord of hosts.

14:7 ¹ Signifying, that there should be great troubles in the Church, and that the time hereof is in the Lord's hands, yet at length (which is here meant by the evening) God would send comfort.

14:8 ¹ That is, the spiritual graces of God, which should ever continue in most abundance.

14:9 ¹ All idolatry and superstition shall be abolished, and there shall be one God, one faith, and one religion.

14:10 ¹ This new Jerusalem shall be seen through all the world, and shall excel the first in excellency, wealth, and greatness.

14:13 ¹ God will not only raise up war without, but sedition at home to try them.

² To hurt and oppress him.

14:14 ¹ The enemies are rich, and therefore shall not come for a prey, but to destroy and shed blood.

14:15 ¹ As the men should be destroyed, verse 12.

14:18 ¹ By the Egyptians, which were greatest enemies to true religion, he meaneth all the gentiles.

14:20 ¹ Signifying, that to what service they were put now (whether to labor, or to serve in war) they were now holy, because the Lord had sanctified them.

² As precious the one as the other, because they shall be sanctified.

14:21 ¹ But all shall be pure and clean, and there shall neither be hypocrites, nor any that shall corrupt the true service of God.

MALACHI

1 A complaint against Israel, and chiefly the Priests.

1 The ¹burden of the word of the Lord to Israel by the ministry of Malachi.

2 I have loved you, saith the Lord: yet ye say, ¹Wherein hast thou loved us? Was not Esau Jacob's brother, saith the Lord? Yet I loved Jacob,

3 And I ^{1,2}hated Esau, and made his mountains waste, and his heritage a wilderness for dragons.

4 Though Edom say, We are impoverished, but we will return and build the desolate places: yet saith the Lord of hosts, They shall build, but I will destroy it, and they shall call them, The border of wickedness, and the people, with whom the Lord is angry forever.

5 And your eyes shall see it, and ye shall say, The Lord will be magnified upon the border of Israel.

6 A son honoreth his father, and a servant his master. If then I be a father, where is my honor? and if I be a master, where is my fear, saith the Lord of hosts unto you, ¹O Priests that despise my Name? and ye say, ²Wherein have we despised thy Name?

7 Ye offer ¹unclean bread upon mine altar: and you say, Wherein have we polluted thee? in that ye say, The table of the Lord is not ²to be regarded.

8 And if ye offer the blind for sacrifice, it is ¹not evil: and if ye offer the lame and sick, it is not evil: offer it now unto thy princes: will he be content with thee, or accept thy person, saith the Lord of hosts?

9 And now I pray you, ¹pray before God that he may have mercy upon us: this hath been by your means: will he regard ²your persons, saith the Lord of hosts?

10 Who is there even among you ¹that would shut the doors, and kindle not fire on mine altar in vain? I have no pleasure in you, saith the Lord of hosts, neither will I accept an offering at your hand.

11 For from the rising of the sun unto the going down of the same, my Name is ¹great among the Gentiles, and in every place incense shall be offered unto my Name, and a pure offering: for my Name is great among the heathen, saith the Lord of hosts.

12 But ye have polluted it, in that ye say, ¹The table of the Lord is polluted, and the fruit thereof even his meat is not to be regarded.

13 Ye said also, Behold, it is a ¹weariness, and ye have snuffed at it, saith the Lord of hosts, and ye offered that which was torn, and the lame, and the sick: thus ye offered an offering: should I accept this of your hand, saith the Lord?

14 But cursed be the deceiver, which hath in his

1:1 ¹ Read Isa. 13:1.

1:2 ¹ Which declareth their great ingratitude that did not acknowledge this love, which was so evident, in that he chose Abraham from out of all the world, and next chose Jacob the younger brother of whom they came, and left Esau the elder.

1:3 ¹ For beside here the signs of mine hatred appeared even when he was made servant unto his younger brother, being yet in his mother's belly, and also afterward in that he was put from his birth-right, yet even now before your eyes the signs hereof are evident, in that that his country lieth waste and he shall never return to inhabit.

² Whereas ye my people, whom the enemy hated more than them, are by my grace and love toward you delivered, read Rom. 9:13.

1:6 ¹ Besides the rest of the people he condemneth the Priests chiefly, because they should have reprov'd others for their hypocrisy, and obstinacy against God, and not have hardened them by their example to greater evils.

² He noteth their gross hypocrisy, which would not see their faults, but most impudently covered them, and so were blind guides.

1:7 ¹ Ye receive all manner offerings for your own greediness, and do not examine whether they be according to my Law, or no.

² Not that they said thus, but by their doings they declared no less.

1:8 ¹ You make it no fault: whereby he condemneth them, that think it sufficient to serve God partly as he hath commanded, and partly after man's fantasy: and so come not to the pureness of religion, which he requireth, and therefore in reproach he sheweth them that a mortal man would not be content to be so served.

1:9 ¹ He derideth the Priests who bare the people in hand that they prayed for them, and sheweth that they were the occasion, that these evils came upon the people.

² Will God consider your office and state, seeing you are so covetous and wicked?

1:10 ¹ Because the Levites who kept the doors did not try whether the sacrifices that came in, were according to the Law, God wisheth that they would rather shut the doors, than to receive such as were not perfect.

1:11 ¹ God sheweth that their ingratitude, and neglect of his true service shall be the cause of the calling of the Gentiles: and here the Prophet that was under the Law, framed his words to the capacity of the people, and by the altar and sacrifice he meaneth the spiritual service of God, which should be under the Gospel, when an end should be made to all these legal ceremonies by Christ's only sacrifice.

1:12 ¹ Both the Priests and the people were infected with this error, that they passed not what was offered: for they thought that God was as well content with the lean, as with the fat: but in the mean season they showed not that obedience to God, which he required, and so committed both impiety, and also showed their contempt of God, and covetousness.

1:13 ¹ The Priests and people were both weary with serving God, and passed not what manner of sacrifice and service they gave to God: for that which was least profitable, was thought good enough for the Lord.

flock ¹a male, and voweth, and sacrificeth unto the Lord a corrupt thing: for I am a great king, saith the Lord of hosts, and my Name is terrible among the heathen.

2 ¹Threatenings against the Priests, being seducers of the people.

1 And now, O ye ¹Priests, this commandment is for you.

2 If ye will not hear it, nor consider it in your heart, to give glory ¹unto my Name, saith the Lord of hosts, I will even send a curse upon you, and will curse your ² blessings: yea, I have cursed them already, because ye do not consider it in your heart.

3 Behold, I will corrupt ¹your seed, and cast dung upon your faces, even the ² dung of your solemn feasts, and you shall be like unto it.

4 And ye shall know, that I have ¹sent this commandment unto you, that my covenant, which I made with Levi, might stand, saith the Lord of hosts.

5 My ¹covenant was with him of life and peace, and I ²gave him fear, and he feared me, and was afraid before ³my Name.

6 The Law of ¹truth was in his mouth, and there was no iniquity found in his lips: he walked with me in peace and equity, and did turn many away from iniquity.

7 For the Priest's ¹lips should preserve knowledge, and they should seek the Law at his mouth: for he is the ²messenger of the Lord of hosts.

8 But ye are gone out of the way: ye have caused many to fall by the Law: ye have broken the covenant of Levi, saith the Lord of hosts.

9 Therefore have I also made you to be despised, and vile before all the people, because ye kept not my ways, but have been partial in the Law.

10 Have we not all one ¹father? hath not one God made us? why do we transgress everyone against his brother, and break the covenant of ²our fathers?

11 Judah hath transgressed, and an abomination is committed in Israel and in Jerusalem: for Israel hath defiled the holiness of the Lord, which he loved, and hath married the ¹daughter of a strange god.

12 The Lord will cut off the man that doeth this: both the master and the servant out of the Tabernacle of Jacob, and him that ¹offereth an offering unto the Lord of hosts.

13 And this have ye done again, and ¹covered the altar of the Lord with tears, with weeping and with mourning: because the offering is no more regarded, neither received acceptably at your hands.

14 Yet ye say, ¹Wherein? Because the Lord hath been witness between thee and the wife of thy youth, against whom thou hast transgressed: yet is she thy ²companion, and the wife of thy ³covenant.

15 And did not ¹he make one? yet had he ²abundance of spirit: and wherefore one? because he sought a godly ³seed: therefore keep yourselves in your ⁴spirit, and let none trespass against the wife of his youth.

16 If thou hatest her, ¹put her away, saith the Lord God of Israel, yet he covereth ²the injury under his

1:14 ¹ That is, hath ability to serve the Lord according to his word, and yet will serve him according to his covetous mind.

2:1 ¹ He speaketh unto them chiefly, but under them he containeth the people also.

2:2 ¹ To serve me according to my word.

² That is, the abundance of God's benefits.

2:3 ¹ Your seed sown shall come to no profit.

² You boast of your holiness, sacrifices and feasts, but they shall turn to your shame and be as vile as dung.

2:4 ¹ The Priests objected against the Prophet that he could not reprove them, but he must speak against the Priesthood, and the office established of God by promise, but he sheweth that the office is nothing slandered, when these villains and dung are called by their own names.

2:5 ¹ He sheweth what were the two conditions of the covenant made with the tribe of Levi on God's part, that he would give them long life and felicity, and on their part, that they should faithfully serve him according to his word.

² I prescribed Levi a certain Law to serve me.

³ He served me and set forth my glory with all humil提高 and submission.

2:6 ¹ He sheweth that the Priests ought to have knowledge to instruct others in the word of the Lord.

2:7 ¹ He is as the treasure house of God's word, and ought to give to everyone according to their necessity, and not to reserve it for himself.

² Showing that whosoever doth not declare God's will, is not his messenger, and Priest.

2:10 ¹ The Prophet accuseth the ingratitude of the Jews toward God and man: for seeing they were all born of one father Abraham, and God had elected them to be his holy people, they ought neither to offend God nor their brethren.

² Whereby they had bound themselves to God to be an holy people.

2:11 ¹ They have joined themselves in marriage with them that are of another religion.

2:12 ¹ That is, the Priest.

2:13 ¹ Yet cause the people to lament, because that God doth not regard their sacrifices, so that they seem to sacrifice in vain.

2:14 ¹ This is another fault, whereof he accuseth them, that is, that they broke the laws of marriage.

² As the one half of thyself.

³ She that was joined to thee by a solemn covenant, and by the invocation of God's name.

2:15 ¹ Did not God make man and woman as one flesh and not many?

² By his power and virtue he could have made many women for one man.

³ Such as should be born in lawful and moderate marriage, wherein is no excess of lusts.

⁴ Contain yourselves within your bounds, and be sober in mind, and bridle your affections.

2:16 ¹ Not that he doth allow divorcement, but of two faults he sheweth, which is the less.

² He thinketh it sufficient to keep his wife still, albeit he take others, and so as it were covereth his fault.

garment, saith the Lord of hosts: therefore keep yourselves in your spirit, and transgress not.

17 Ye have ¹wearied the Lord with your words: yet ye say wherein have we wearied him? When ye say, Everyone that doeth ²evil, is good in the sight of the Lord, and he delighteth in them. Or where is the God of ³judgment?

3 ¹ Of the messenger of the Lord, John Baptist, and of Christ's office.

1 Behold, I will send my ¹messenger, and he shall prepare the way before me: and the ²Lord whom ye seek, shall speedily come to his Temple: even the ³messenger of the Covenant, whom ye desire: behold, he shall come, saith the Lord of hosts.

2 But who ¹may abide the day of his coming? and who shall endure, when he appeareth? for he is like a purging fire, and like fuller's soap.

3 And he shall sit down to try and fine the silver: he shall even fine the sons of ¹Levi and purify them as gold and silver, that they may bring offerings unto the Lord in righteousness.

4 Then shall the offerings of Judah and Jerusalem be acceptable unto the Lord, as in old time and in the years afore.

5 And I will come near to you to judgment, and I will be a swift witness against the soothsayers, and against the adulterers, and against false swearers, and against those that wrongfully keep back the hireling's wages, and vex the widow, and the fatherless, and oppress the stranger, and fear not me, saith the Lord of hosts.

6 For I am the Lord: I change not, and ye sons of Jacob ¹are not consumed.

7 From the days of your fathers, ye are gone away from mine ordinances, and have not kept them: ¹return unto me, and I will return unto you, saith the Lord of hosts: but ye said, Wherein shall we return?

8 Will a ¹man spoil his gods? yet have ye spoiled me: but ye say, Wherein have we spoiled thee? In ²tithes and offerings.

9 Ye are cursed with a curse: for ye have spoiled me, even this whole nation.

10 Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in my house, and prove me now herewith, saith the Lord of hosts, if I will not open the windows of heaven unto you, and pour you out a blessing ¹without measure.

11 And I will rebuke the ¹devourer for your sakes, and he shall not destroy the fruit of your ground, neither shall your vine be barren in the field, saith the Lord of hosts.

12 And all nations shall call you blessed: for ye shall be a pleasant land, saith the Lord of hosts.

13 Your words have been stout ¹against me, saith the Lord: yet ye say, What have we spoken against thee?

14 Ye have said, It is in vain to serve God: and what profit is it that we have kept his commandment, and that we walked humbly before the Lord of hosts?

15 Therefore we count the proud blessed: even they that work wickedness, are set up, and they that tempt God, yea, they are ¹delivered.

16 ¹Then spake they that feared the Lord, everyone to his neighbor, and the Lord hearkened and heard it, and a ²book of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought upon his Name.

17 And they shall be to me, saith the Lord of hosts, in that day ¹that I shall do this, for a flock,

2:17 ¹ Ye murmur against God, because he heard not you as soon as ye called.

² In thinking that God favored the wicked, and hath no respect to them that serve him.

³ Thus they blasphemed God in condemning his power and justice, because he judged not according to their fantasies.

3:1 ¹ This is meant of John Baptist, as Christ expoundeth it, Luke 7:27.

² Meaning, Messiah, Ps. 40:1, 7; Dan. 9:17, 25.

³ That is, Christ, by whom the covenant was made and ratified, who is called the Angel or messenger of the covenant, because he reconciled us to his father and is Lord or king, because he hath the government of his Church.

3:2 ¹ He sheweth that the hypocrites which wish so much for the Lord's coming will not abide when he draweth near: for he will consume them, and purge his and make them clean.

3:3 ¹ He beginneth at the Priests that they might be lights, and shine unto others.

3:6 ¹ They murmured against God, because they saw not his help ever present to defend them: and therefore he accuseth them of ingratitude, and sheweth that in that they are not daily consumed, it is a token, that he doth still defend them, and so his mercy toward them never changeth.

3:7 ¹ Read Zech. 1:3.

3:8 ¹ There are none of the heathen so barbarous, that will defraud their gods of their honor, or deal deceitfully with them.

² Whereby the service of God should have been maintained, and the Priests and the poor relieved.

3:10 ¹ Not having respect how much ye need, but I will give you in all abundance: so that ye shall lack place to put my blessings in.

3:11 ¹ Meaning, the caterpillar, and whatsoever destroyeth corn and fruits.

3:13 ¹ The Prophet condemneth them of double blasphemy against God: first, in that they said that God had no respect to them that served him, and next, that the wicked were more in his favor than the godly.

3:15 ¹ They are not only preferred to honor, but also delivered from dangers.

3:16 ¹ After these admonitions of the Prophet, some were lively touched, and encouraged others to fear God.

² Both because the thing was strange that some turned to God in that great and universal corruption, and also that this might be an example of God's mercies to all penitent sinners.

3:17 ¹ When I shall restore my Church according to my promise, they shall be as mine own proper goods.

and I will ²spare them, as a man spareth his own son that serveth him.

18 Then shall you return, and discern between the righteous and wicked, between him that serveth God, and him that serveth him not.

4 The day of the Lord before the which Elijah should come.

1 For behold, the day cometh that shall ¹burn as an oven, and all the proud, yea, and all that do wickedly, shall be stubble, and the day that cometh, shall burn them up, saith the Lord of hosts, and shall leave them neither root nor branch.

2 But unto you that fear my name, shall the ¹sun of righteousness arise, and health shall be under his wings, and ye shall go ²forth and grow up as fat calves.

3 And ye shall tread down the wicked: for they shall be dust under the soles of your feet in the day that I shall do this, saith the Lord of hosts.

4 ¹Remember the Law of Moses my servant, which I commanded unto him in Horeb for all Israel with the statutes and judgments.

5 Behold, I will send you ¹Elijah the Prophet before the coming of the great and ²fearful day of the Lord.

6 And he shall ¹turn the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, lest I come and ²smite the earth with cursing.

3:17 ² That is, forgive their sins, and govern them with my Spirit.

4:1 ¹ He prophesieth of God's judgments against the wicked, who would not receive Christ, when as God should send him for the restoration of his Church.

4:2 ¹ Meaning, Christ, who with his wings or beams of his grace should lighten and comfort his Church, Eph. 5:14, and he is called the sun of righteousness, because in himself he hath all perfection and also the justice of the Father dwelleth in him: whereby he regenerateth us unto righteousness, cleanseth us from the filth of this world, and reformeth us to the image of God.

² Ye shall be set at liberty, and increase in the joy of the Spirit, 2 Cor. 3:17.

4:4 ¹ Because the time was come that the Jews should be destitute of Prophets until the time of Christ, because they should with more fervent minds desire his coming, the Prophet exhorteth them to exercise themselves diligently in studying the Law of Moses in the mean season, whereby they might continue in the true religion, and also be armed against all tentations.

4:5 ¹ This Christ expoundeth of John Baptist, Matt. 11:13, 14, who both for his zeal, and restoring of religion, is aptly compared to Elijah.

² Which as it is true for the wicked, so doth it waken the godly, and call them to repentance.

4:6 ¹ He sheweth wherein John's office should stand: in the turning of men to God, and joining the father and children in one voice of faith: so that the father shall turn to the religion of his son which is converted to Christ, and the son shall embrace the faith of the true fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

² The second point of his office was to denounce God's judgments against them that would not receive Christ.

¹⁵ And Eliud begat Eleazar. And Eleazar begat Matthan. And Matthan begat Jacob.

¹⁶ And Jacob begat Joseph the husband of Mary, of whom was born Jesus, that is called Christ.

¹⁷ So ¹all the generations from Abraham to David, are fourteen generations. And from David until they were carried away into Babylon, fourteen generations: and after they were carried away into Babylon until Christ, fourteen generations.

¹⁹ Then Joseph her husband being a just man, and not willing to ^omake her a public example, was minded to put her away secretly.

²¹ And she shall bring ¹forth a son, and thou shalt ^pcall his name JESUS: for he shall ^qsave his people from their sins.

²² And all this was done that it might be fulfilled, which is spoken of the Lord by the Prophet, saying,

²³ 'Behold, a ¹virgin shall be with child, and shall bear a son, and they shall call his name Emmanuel, which is by interpretation, God with us.

²⁴ ¶ Then Joseph being raised from sleep, did as the Angel of the Lord had enjoined him, and took his wife.

²⁵ But he knew her not, ¹till she had brought forth

1:1 ¹ Jesus Christ came of Abraham of the tribe of Judah, and of the stock of David as God promised.

² Rehearsal: As the Hebrews used to speak: as Gen. 5:1, The book of the generations.

³ Of the ancestors of whom Christ came.

⁴ Which Christ is also the son of Abraham.

1:11 ¹ That is, the captivity fell in the days of Jakim and Jeconiah: for Jeconiah was born before their carrying away into captivity.

1:17 ¹ All those which are reckoned up in this pedigree of David's stock, as they begat one another orderly in their degrees.

1:18 ¹ Christ is the true Emmanuel, and therefore, Jesus (that is, Savior) is conceived in the Virgin by the holy Ghost, as it was foretold by the Prophets.

1:20 ¹ Receive her at her parents' and kinsfolk's hands.

² Which was promised, and made sure to thee to be thy wife.

³ Of the mother's substance by the holy Ghost.

1:21 ¹ Christ is born of the same Virgin which never knew man: and is called Jesus of God himself, by the Angel.

² Deliver, and this sheweth us the meaning of this name Jesus.

1:23 ¹ There is in the Hebrew and Greek text, an article added, to point out the woman, and set her forth plainly: as you would say, that Virgin, or a certain virgin.

1:25 ¹ This little word Till, in the Hebrew tongue, giveth us to understand also, that a thing shall not come to pass in time to come: as Michal had no children Till her death day, 2 Sam. 6:23. And in the last Chapter of this Evangelist: Behold, I am with you till the end of the world.

her first born son, and he called his name JESUS.

2 The wise men, who are the firstfruits of the Gentiles, worship Christ. 14 Joseph fled into Egypt with Jesus and his mother. 16 Herod slayeth the children.

1 When ^aJesus then was born at Bethlehem in ²Judea, in the days of Herod the king, behold, there came ³Wise men from the East to Jerusalem,

2 Saying, Where is the King of the Jews that is born? for we have seen his star in the East, and are come to worship him.

3 When king Herod heard this, he was ¹troubled, and all Jerusalem with him.

4 And gathering together all the ¹chief Priests and ²Scribes of the people, he asked of them, where Christ should be born.

5 And they said unto him, At Bethlehem in Judea: for so it is written by the Prophet,

6 ^bAnd thou Bethlehem in the land of Judah, art not the ¹least among the Princes of Judah: for out of thee shall come the governor that ²shall feed my people Israel.

7 Then Herod privily called the Wise men, and diligently inquired of them the time of the star that appeared,

8 And sent them to Bethlehem, saying, Go, and search diligently for the babe: and when ye have found him, bring me word again, that I may come also, and worship him.

9 ¶ So when they had heard the king, they departed: and lo, the star which they had seen in the East, went before them, till it came and stood over the place where the babe was.

10 And when they saw the star, they rejoiced with an exceeding great joy,

11 And went into the house, and found the babe with Mary his mother, and ¹fell down, and worshipped him, and opened their ²treasures, and presented unto him gifts, even gold, and frankincense, and myrrh.

12 And after they were ¹warned of God in a dream, that they should not go again to Herod, they returned into their country another way.

13 ¶ ¹After their departure, behold, the Angel of the Lord appeareth to Joseph in a dream, saying, Arise, and take the babe and his mother, and flee into Egypt, and be there till I bring thee word, for Herod will seek the babe to destroy him.

14 So he arose and took the babe and his mother by night, and departed into Egypt.

15 And was there unto the death of Herod, that it might be fulfilled, which is spoken of the Lord by the ¹Prophet, saying, Out of Egypt have I called my son.

16 ¶ Then Herod, seeing that he was mocked of the Wise men, was exceeding wroth, and sent forth, and slew all the male children that were in Bethlehem, and in all the coasts thereof from two years old and under, according to the time which he had diligently searched out of the Wise men.

17 Then was that fulfilled which is spoken ¹by the Prophet Jeremiah, saying,

18 ^dIn Ramah was ¹a voice heard, mourning, and weeping, and great howling: ²Rachel weeping for her children, and would not be comforted, because they were not.

19 ¹And when Herod was dead, behold, an Angel of the Lord appeareth in a dream to Joseph in Egypt, 20 Saying, Arise, and take the babe and his mother, and go into the land of Israel: for they are dead which sought the babe's life.

21 Then he arose up, and took the babe and his mother, and came into the land of Israel.

22 But when he heard that Archelaus did reign in Judea instead of his father Herod, he was afraid to go thither: yet after he was warned of God in a dream, he turned aside into the parts of Galilee.

23 And went and dwelt in a city called Nazareth, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Prophets, which was, That he should be called a Nazarite.

2:1 ¹ Christ a poor child, laid down in a crib, and nothing set by of his own people, receiveth notwithstanding a noble witness of his divinity from heaven, and of his kingly estate of strangers: which his own also unwittingly allow of, although they do not acknowledge him.

² For there was another in the tribe of Zebulun.

³ Wise and learned men: It is a Persian word which they use in good part.

2:3 ¹ Was much moved, for he was a stranger, and came to the kingdom by force: and the Jews were troubled: for wickedness is mad and raging.

2:4 ¹ The chief priests, that is, such as were of Aaron's family, which were divided into four and twenty orders, 1 Chron. 14:5 and 2 Chron. 36:14.

² They that expound the Law to the people, for the Hebrews take this word of another, which signifieth as much as to expound and declare.

2:6 ¹ Though thou be a small town, yet shalt thou be very famous and notable through the birth of the Messiah, who shall be born in thee.

² That shall rule and govern: for Kings are fitly called leaders and shepherds of the people.

2:11 ¹ A kind of humble and lovely reverence.

² The rich and costly presents, which they brought him.

2:12 ¹ God warned and told them of it, whereas they asked it not.

2:13 ¹ Christ being yet scarce born, beginneth to be crucified for us, both in himself, and also in his members.

2:17 ¹ For God speaketh by the mouth of the Prophets.

2:18 ¹ A voice of lamenting, weeping, and howling.

² That is to say, All that compass about Bethlehem: for Rachel Jacob's wife, who died in childbirth, was buried in the way that leadeth to this town, which is also called Ephrathah, because of the fruitfulness of the soil, and plenty of corn.

2:19 ¹ Christ is brought up in Nazareth, after the death of the tyrant by God's providence: that by the very name of the place, it might plainly appear to the world, that he is the Lord's true Nazarite.

3 ¹ John preacheth. ⁴ His apparel and meat. ⁵ He baptizeth. ⁸ The fruits of repentance. ¹⁰ The axe at the root of the trees. ¹² The fan and the chaff. ¹³ Christ is baptized.

1 And ^ain ¹those days, ²John the Baptist came and preached in the ³wilderness of Judea,

2 And said, ¹Repent: for the ²kingdom of heaven is at hand.

3 For this is he of whom it is spoken by the Prophet Isaiah, saying, ^bThe voice of him that crieth in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the Lord: ¹make his paths straight.

4 ^cAnd this John had his garment of camel's hair, and a girdle of a skin about his loins, his meat was also ¹locusts and wild honey.

14 But John earnestly put him back, saying, I have need to be baptized of thee, and comest thou to me?

15 Then Jesus answering, said to him, Let be now: for thus it becometh us to fulfill ¹all righteousness. So he suffered him.

16 And Jesus when he was baptized, came straight out of the water. And lo, the heavens were opened unto ¹him, and John saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove, and [lighting] upon him.

17 ¹And lo, a voice came from heaven, saying, ^jThis is my beloved Son, in whom I am ²well pleased.

² John, who through his singular holiness and rare austereness of life caused all men to cast their eyes upon him, prepareth the way for Christ following fast on his heels, as the Prophet Isaiah foretold, and delivereth the sum of the Gospel, which in short space after should be delivered more fully.

³ In a hilly country, which was notwithstanding inhabited, for Zechariah dwelt there, Luke 1:40, and there was Joab's house, 1 Kings 2:34; and besides these, Joshua maketh mention of six towns that were in the wilderness, Josh. 15:62.

² The kingdom of Messiah, whose government shall be heavenly, and nothing but heavenly.

3:4 ¹ Locusts were a kind of meat which certain of the East people use, which were therefore called devourers of Locusts. . . .

3:5 ¹ The people of Jerusalem.

3:6 ¹ Acknowledging that they were saved only by free remission and forgiveness of their sins.

3:7 ¹ There is nothing that stoppeth up the way of mercy and salvation against us so much as the opinion of our own righteousness doth.

3:8 ¹ True repentance is an inward thing which hath its seat in the mind and heart.

3:9 ¹ The faith of the fathers availeth their unbelieving children nothing at all: and yet for all that God playeth not the liar, nor dealeth unfaithfully in his league which he made with the holy fathers.

² Think not that you have any cause to be proud of Abraham.

³ In your hearts.

3:11 ¹ We may neither dwell upon the signs which God hath ordained as means to lead us unto our salvation, neither upon them: but we must climb up to the matter itself, that is to say, to Christ, who inwardly worketh that effectually, which is outwardly signified unto us.

² The outward sign putteth us in mind of this, that we must change our lives and become better, assuring us as by a seal, that we are engrafted into Christ; whereby our old man dieth and the new man riseth up, Rom. 6:4.

3:12 ¹ The triumphs of the wicked shall end in everlasting torment.

² Will cleanse it thoroughly, and make a full riddance.

3:13 ¹ Christ sanctified our baptism in himself.

3:15 ¹ All such things as it hath appointed us to keep.

3:16 ¹ To John.

3:17 ¹ Christ's full consecration and authorizing to the office of mediatorship, is showed by the father's own voice, and a visible sign of the holy Ghost.

² The Greek word betokeneth a thing of great account, and such as highly pleaseth a man. So then the Father saith, that Christ only is the man whom when he beholdeth, look what opinion he had conceived of us, he layeth it clean aside.

4:1 ¹ Christ was tempted all manner of ways and still overcometh, that we also through his virtue may overcome.

2 And when he had fasted ¹forty days, and forty nights, he was afterward hungry.

3 Then came to him the tempter, and said, If thou be the Son of God, command that these stones be made bread.

4 But he answering, said, It is written, ^bMan shall not live by bread only, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God.

5 Then the devil took him up into the holy city, and set him on a ¹pinnacle of the Temple.

6 And said unto him, If thou be the Son of God, cast thyself down, for it is written, ^cthat he will give his Angels charge over thee, and with their hands they shall lift thee up, lest at any time thou shouldst dash thy foot against a stone.

7 Jesus said unto him, It is written again, ^dThou shalt not ¹tempt the Lord thy God.

8 Again the devil took him up into an exceeding high mountain, and showed him all the kingdoms of the world, and the glory of them,

9 And said to him, All these will I give thee, if thou wilt fall down, and worship me.

10 Then said Jesus unto him, Avoid Satan: for it is written, ^eThou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve.

11 ^fThen the devil left him: and behold, the Angels came, and ministered unto him.

12 ¶ ^gAnd when Jesus had heard that John was committed to prison, he returned into Galilee,

13 And leaving Nazareth, went and dwelt in ¹Capernaum, which is near the sea in the borders of Zebulun and Naphtali,

14 That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Isaiah the Prophet, saying, by the way of the ¹sea, beyond Jordan, ²Galilee of the Gentiles:

16 The people which sat in darkness, saw great light: and to them which sat in the region and shadow of death, light is risen up.

17 ¹From that time Jesus began to preach, and to say, Amend your lives: for the kingdom of heaven is at ¹hand.

18 ¶ ¹And Jesus walking by the sea of Galilee saw two brethren, Simon, which was called Peter, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea (for they were fishers.)

19 ¹And he said unto them, Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men.

20 And they straightway leaving the nets, followed him.

21 And when he was gone forth from thence, he saw other two brethren, James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother in a ship with Zebedee their father, mending their nets, and he called them.

22 And they without tarrying, leaving the ship and their father, followed him.

23 So ¹Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in ²their ³Synagogues, and preaching the Gospel of the ⁴kingdom, and healing ⁵every sickness, and every ⁶disease among the people.

24 And his fame spread abroad through all Syria: and they brought unto him all sick people, that were taken with divers diseases, and ¹torments, and them that were possessed with devils, and those which were ²lunatic, and those that had the ³palsy: and he healed them.

25 And there followed him great multitudes out of Galilee, and Decapolis, and Jerusalem, and Judea, and from beyond Jordan.

4:2 ¹ Full forty days.

4:5 ¹ The battlement wherewith the flat roof of the temple was compassed about, that no man might fall down: as was appointed by the Law, Deut. 22:8.

4:7 ¹ Word for word, Thou shalt not go on still in tempting.

4:12 ¹ When the Herald's mouth is stopped, the Lord revealeth himself, and bringeth full light into the darkness of this world, preaching free forgiveness of sins to them that repent.

4:13 ¹ Which was a town a great deal more famous than Nazareth was.

4:15 ¹ Of Tiberias, or because that country bended toward Tyre, which standeth upon the sea that cutteth the midst of the world.

² So called, because it bordered upon Tyre and Sidon, and because Solomon gave the king of Tyre twenty cities in that quarter, 1 Kings 9:11.

4:17 ¹ Is come to you.

4:18 ¹ Christ thinking by time, that he should at length depart from us, even at the beginning of his preaching getteth him disciples after an heavenly sort, men indeed poor, and utterly unlearned, and therefore such as might be least suspected witnesses of the truth of those things which they heard and saw.

4:23 ¹ Christ assureth the hearts of the believers of his spiritual and saving virtue, by healing the diseases of the body.

² Their, that is, the Galileans.

³ Synagogues, the Jews' Churches.

⁴ Of Messiah.

⁵ Diseases of all kinds, but not every one: that is, as we say, some of every one.

⁶ The word signifieth properly the weakness of the stomach: but here it is taken for those diseases which make men faint, and wear away, that have them.

4:24 ¹ The word signifieth properly, the stone wherewith gold is tried: and by a borrowed kind of speech is applied to all kinds of examination by torture, when as by rough dealing and torments, we go about to draw out the truth of men, which otherwise they would not confess: and in this place it is taken for those diseases, which put sick men to great woe.

² Which at every full Moon, or other changes of the Moon, are shrewdly troubled and diseased.

³ Weak and feeble men, who have the parts of their body loosed, and so weakened, that they are neither able to gather them up together, nor put them out as they would.

5 ¹ Who are blessed. ¹³ The Apostles are the salt and light of the world. ¹⁴ The city set on an hill. ¹⁵ The candle. ¹⁶ Good works. ¹⁹ The fulfilling of Christ's commandments. ²¹ What killing is. ²³ Reconciliation is set before sacrifice. ²⁷ Adultery. ²⁹ The plucking out of the eye. ³⁰ Cutting off of the hand. ³¹ The bill of divorcement. ³³ Not to swear. ⁴⁴ To love our enemies. ⁴⁸ Perfection.

1 And when he saw the multitude, he went up into a mountain; and when he was set, his disciples came to him.

2 ¹And he opened his mouth, and taught them, saying,

3 ^aBlessed are the ¹poor in ²spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

4 ^bBlessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted.

5 ^cBlessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth.

6 ^dBlessed are they which hunger and thirst for righteousness: for they shall be filled.

7 Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy.

8 Blessed are the ^epure in heart: for they shall see God.

9 Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God.

10 Blessed are they ^fwhich suffer persecution for righteousness' sake; for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

13 ^bYe ¹are the salt of the ²earth: but if the salt have lost his savor, wherewith shall it be ³salted? It is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be trodden under foot of men.

14 Ye are the ¹light of the world. A city that is set on an hill, cannot be hid.

15 ¹Neither do men light a candle, and put it under a bushel, but on a candlestick, and it giveth light unto all that are in the house.

16 ¹Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your father which is in heaven.

17 ¹Think not that I am come to destroy the Law, or the Prophets. I am not come to destroy them, but to ²fulfill them.

18 ^kFor truly I say unto you, Till heaven and earth perish, one jot or one tittle of the Law shall not escape, till all things be fulfilled.

19 ^{l1}Whosoever therefore shall break one of these least commandments, and teach men so, he shall be called the ²least in the kingdom of heaven: but whosoever shall observe and teach them, the same shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven.

20 For I say unto you, except your righteousness ^mexceed the righteousness of the Scribes and Pharisees, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven.

21 ¹Ye have heard that it was said unto them of the old time, "Thou shalt not kill: for whosoever killeth shall be culpable of judgment.

22 But I say unto you, whosoever is angry with his brother unadvisedly, shall be ¹culpable ²of judgment. And whosoever saith unto his brother, Raca, shall be worthy to be punished by the ³Council.

5:2 ¹ Christ teacheth that the greatest joy and felicity is not in the commodities and pleasures of this life, but is laid up in heaven for them that willingly rest in the good will and pleasure of God, and endeavor to profit all men, although they be cruelly vexed, and troubled of the worldlings, because they will not fashion themselves to their manners.

5:3 ¹ Under the name of poverty are all such miseries meant, as are joined with poverty.

² Whose minds and spirits are brought under, and tamed, and obey God.

5:8 ¹ Fitly is this word Pure, joined with the heart, for as a bright and shining resemblance or image may be seen plainly in a clear and pure looking glass, even so doth the face (as it were) of the everlasting God, shine forth, and clear appears in a pure heart.

5:13 ¹ The ministers of the word, especially (unless they will be the most caitiff of all) must needs lead others both by word and deed to this greatest joy and felicity.

² Your doctrine must be very sound and good, for if it be not so, it shall be naught set by, and cast away as a thing unsavory and vain.

³ What shall you have to salt withal? And so are fools in the Latin tongue called saltless, as you would say, men that have no salt, or savor and taste in them.

5:14 ¹ You shine and give light, by being made partakers of the true light.

5:17 ¹ Christ came not to bring any new way of righteousness and salvation into the world, but to fulfill that in deed which was shadowed by the figures of the Law, by delivering men through grace from the curse of the Law: and moreover to teach the true use of obedience which the Law appointed, and to engrave in our hearts the force of obedience.

² That the prophecies may be accomplished.

5:19 ¹ He beginneth with the true expounding of the Law, and setteth it against the old (but yet false) glosses of the Scribes: So far is he from abolishing the least commandment of his Father.

² He shall have no place in the Church.

5:21 ¹ The true meaning of the first commandment.

5:22 ¹ He speaketh of the judgment of God, and of the difference of sins, and therefore applieth his words to the form of civil judgments, which were then used.

² Of that judgment which was ruled by three men, who had the hearing and deciding of money matters, and such other small causes.

³ By that judgment which stood of 23 Judges, who had the hearing and deciding of weighty affairs and matters of life and death: as the highest Judges of all, were to the number of 71, which had the hearing of most weighty affairs, as the matter of a whole tribe or of an high Priest, or of a false prophet.

And whosoever shall say, Fool, shall be worthy to be punished with ⁴hell ⁵fire.

23 ¹If then thou bring thy gift to the ²altar, and there rememberest that thy brother hath ought against thee,

24 Leave there thine offering before the altar, and go thy way: first be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift.

25 ^{a,1}Agree with thine adversary quickly, while thou art in the way with him, lest thine adversary deliver thee to the Judge, and the Judge deliver thee to the sergeant, and thou be cast into prison.

26 Verily I say unto thee, thou shalt not come out thence, till thou hast ¹paid the utmost farthing.

27 ¶ ¹Ye have heard that it was said to them of old time, ²Thou shalt not commit adultery.

28 But I say unto you, that whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her, hath committed adultery with her already in his heart.

29 ¹Wherefore if thy ¹right eye cause thee ²to offend, pluck it out and cast it from thee: for better it is for thee, that one of thy members perish, than that thy whole body should be cast into hell.

30 Also if thy right hand make thee to offend, cut it off, and cast it from thee: for better it is for thee, that one of thy members perish, than that thy whole body should be cast into hell.

31 It hath been said also, ¹Whosoever shall put away his wife, let him give her a bill of divorcement.

32 But I say unto you, whosoever shall put away his wife (except it be for fornication) causeth her to commit adultery: and whosoever shall marry her that is divorced, committeth adultery.

33 ¹Again, ye have heard that it was said to them of old time, ²Thou shalt not forswear thyself, but shalt perform thine oaths to the Lord.

34 But I say unto you, Swear not at all, neither by heaven, for it is the throne of God:

35 Nor yet by the earth, for it is his footstool: neither by Jerusalem: for it is the city of the great King.

36 Neither shalt thou swear by thine head, because thou canst not make one hair white or black.

37 ¹But let your communication be ¹Yea, yea: Nay, nay. For whatsoever is more than these, cometh of ²evil.

38 ¶ ¹Ye have heard that it hath been said, An ²eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth.

39 But I say unto you, ¹Resist not evil: but whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also.

40 And if any man will sue thee at the law, and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloak also.

41 And whosoever will compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain.

42 ¹Give to him that asketh, and from him that would borrow of thee, turn not away.

43 Ye have heard that it hath been said, ²Thou shalt love thy neighbor, and hate thine enemy.

44 But I say unto you, ¹Love your enemies: bless them that curse you: do good to them that hate you, ²and pray for them which hurt you, and persecute you,

45 ^{a,1}That ye may be the children of your father

5:22 ⁴ Whereas we read here, Hell, it is in the text itself, Gehenna, which is an Hebrew word made of two, and is as much to say, as the Valley of Hinnom, which otherwise the Hebrews called Tophet: it was a place where the Israelites were wont most cruelly to sacrifice their children to false gods, whereupon it was taken for a place appointed to torment the reprobates in Jer. 7:31.

⁵ The Jews used four kinds of punishments, before their government was taken away by Herod, hanging, heading, stoning, and burning: this is it that Christ shot at, because burning was the greatest punishment, therefore in that he maketh mention of a judgment, a council, and a fire, he sheweth that some sins are worse than other sins, but yet they are all such that we must give account for them, and will be punished for them.

5:23 ¹ The covetous Pharisees taught that God was appeased by the sacrifices appointed in the Law, which they themselves devoured. But Christ on the contrary side denieth that God accepteth any man's offering, unless he maketh satisfaction to his brother whom he hath offended: and saith moreover, that these stubborn and stiffnecked despisers of their brethren, shall never escape the wrath and curse of God, before they have made full satisfaction to their brethren.

² He applieth all this speech to the state of his time, when as there was an altar standing in Jerusalem, and therefore they are very foolish, that gather hereupon, that we must build altars, and use sacrifices: but they are more fools, which draw that to purgatory, which is spoken of peacemaking and atonement one with another.

5:25 ¹ Cut off all cause for enmity.

5:26 ¹ Thou shalt be dealt withall to the utmost extremity.

5:27 ¹ He is taken for an adulterer before God, whatsoever he be, that coveteth a woman: and therefore we must keep our eyes chaste, and all the members we have, yea, and we must eschew all occasions which might move us to evil, how dear soever it cost us.

5:29 ¹ He nameth the right eye and the right hand, because the parts of the right side of our bodies are the chiefest, and the readiest to commit any wickedness.

² Word for word, do cause thee to offend: for sins are stumbling blocks as it were, that is to say, rocks which we are cast upon.

5:33 ¹ The meaning of the third commandment against the froward opinion and judgment of the Scribes, which excused by oaths or indirect forms of swearing.

5:37 ¹ Whatsoever you vouch, vouch it barely, and whatsoever you deny, deny it barely without any more words.

² From an evil conscience, or from the devil.

5:38 ¹ He sheweth clean contrary to the doctrine of the Scribes, that the sum of the second table must be understood, that we may in no wise render evil for evil, but rather suffer double injury, and do well to them that are our deadly enemies.

5:45 ¹ A double reason: the one is taken of relatives, that children must be like their father: the other is taken of comparison, The children of God must be better, than the children of this world.

that is in heaven: for he maketh his sun to arise on the evil and the good, and sendeth rain on the just and unjust.

46 For if ye love them, which love you, what reward shall you have? Do not the Publicans even the same?

47 And if ye be friendly to your brethren only, what singular thing do ye? do not even the ¹Publicans likewise?

48 Ye shall therefore be perfect, as your Father which is in heaven, is perfect.

6 ¹ Alms. ⁵ Prayer. ¹⁴ Forgiving our brother. ¹⁶ Fasting. ¹⁹ Our treasure. ²⁰ We must succor the poor. ²⁴ God and riches. ²⁵ Careful seeking for meat and drink, and apparel, forbidden. ³³ The kingdom of God and his righteousness.

1 Take heed that ye give not your ¹alms before men to be seen of them, or else ye shall have no ²reward of your Father which is in heaven.

2 ^aTherefore when thou givest thine alms, thou shalt not make a trumpet to be blown before thee, as the ¹hypocrites do in the Synagogues and in the streets, to be praised of men. Verily I say unto you, they have their reward.

3 But when thou doest thine alms, let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth,

4 That thine alms may be in secret, and thy Father that seeth in secret, he will reward thee openly.

5 ¹And when thou prayest, be not as the hypocrites: for they love to stand and pray in the Synagogues, and in the corners of the streets, because they would be seen of men. Verily I say unto you, they have their reward.

6 But when thou prayest, enter into thy chamber: and when thou hast shut thy door, pray unto thy Father which is in secret, and thy Father which seeth in secret, shall reward thee openly.

7 Also when ye pray, use no ¹vain repetitions as the Heathen: for they think to be heard for their much babbling.

8 Be ye not like them therefore: for your Father knoweth whereof ye have need, before ye ask of him.

9 ¹After this manner therefore pray ye, ^bOur father which art in heaven, hallowed be thy name.

10 Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done even in earth as it is in heaven.

11 Give us this day our ¹daily bread.

12 And forgive us our debts, as we also forgive our debtors.

13 And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us ^cfrom ¹evil: for thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory for ever. Amen.

14 ^dFor if ye do forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you.

15 But if ye do not forgive men their trespasses, no more will your father forgive you your trespasses.

16 ¹Moreover, when ye fast, look not sour as the hypocrites: for they ²disfigure their faces, that they might seem unto men to fast. Verily I say unto you that they have their reward.

17 But when thou fastest, anoint thine head, and wash thy face,

18 That thou seem not unto men to fast, but unto thy Father which is in secret: and thy Father which seeth in secret, will reward thee openly.

19 ¶ ¹Lay not up treasures for yourselves upon the earth, where the moth and canker corrupt, and where thieves dig through and steal.

20 ^cBut lay up treasures for yourselves in heaven, where neither the moth nor canker corrupteth, and where thieves neither dig through nor steal.

21 For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.

22 ¶ ^f¹The light of the body is the eye: if then thine ²eye be single, thy whole body shall be light.

23 But if thine eye be wicked, then all thy body shall be dark. Wherefore if the light that is in thee, be darkness, how great is that darkness?

24 ^g¹No man can serve ²two masters: for either

5:47 ¹ They that were the toll masters, and had the oversight of tributes and customs: a kind of men that the Jews hated to death, both because they served the Romans in these offices, (whose yokeful bondage they could hardly away withall) and also because these toll masters are for the most part given to covetousness.

6:1 ¹ Ambition maketh alms vain.

² This word, Reward, is always taken in the Scriptures for a free recompense, and therefore the schoolmen do fondly set it to be answerable to a deserving, which they call merit.

6:2 ¹ Counterfeits, for Hypocrites were players that played a part in a play.

6:5 ¹ He reprehendeth two foul faults in prayer, ambition, and vain babbling.

6:7 ¹ Long prayers are not condemned, but vain needless, and superstitious.

6:9 ¹ A true sum and form of all Christian prayers.

6:11 ¹ That, that is meet for our nature for our daily food, or such, as may suffice our nature and complexion.

6:13 ¹ From the Devil, or from all adversity.

6:14 ¹ They that forgive wrongs, to them sins are forgiven, but revenge is prepared for them that revenge.

6:16 ¹ Against such as hunt after a name of holiness, by fasting.

² They suffer not their first hue to be seen, that is to say, they mar the natural color of their faces, that they may seem lean and palefaced.

6:19 ¹ Those men's labors are shown to be vain which pass not for the assured treasure of everlasting life, but spend their lives in scraping together frail and vain riches.

6:22 ¹ Men do maliciously and wickedly put out even the little light of nature that is in them.

² The judgment of the mind: that as the body is with the eyes, so our whole life may be ruled with right reason, that is to say, with the Spirit of God wherewith we are lightened.

6:24 ¹ God will be worshipped of the whole man.

² Which be at jar together, for if two agree, they are as one.

he shall hate the one, and love the other, or else he shall lean to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and ³riches.

25 ^{b,1}Therefore I say unto you, be not careful for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink: nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more worth than meat? and the body than raiment?

26 Behold the fowls of the ¹heaven: for they sow not, neither reap, nor carry into the barns, yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they?

27 Which of you by ¹taking care is able to add one cubit unto his stature?

28 And why care ye for raiment? Learn how the Lilies of the field do grow: they ¹are not wearied, neither spin:

29 Yet I say unto you, that even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.

30 Wherefore if God so clothe the grass of the field which is today, and tomorrow is cast into the oven, shall he not do much more unto you, O ye of little faith?

31 Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or what shall we drink? or wherewith shall we be clothed?

32 (For after all these things seek the Gentiles) for your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things.

33 But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness, and all these things shall be ministered unto you.

4 'Or how sayest thou to thy brother, Suffer me to cast out the mote out of thine eye, and behold, a beam is in thine own eye?

5 Hypocrite, first cast out that beam out of thine own eye, and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brother's eye.

6 ¶ ¹Give ye not that which is holy to dogs, neither cast ye your ²pearls before swine, lest they tread them under their feet, and turning again, all to rent you.

7 ¶ ^{d,1}Ask, and it shall be given you: seek, and ye shall find: knock, and it shall be opened unto you.

13 ¶ ^{f,1}Enter in at the strait gate: for it is the wide gate, and broad way that leadeth to destruction: and many there be which go in thereat.

14 Because ¹the gate is strait, and the way narrow that leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it.

15 ¶ ¹Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves.

16 Ye shall know them by their fruits. ^gDo men gather grapes of thorns? or figs of thistles?

17 So every good tree bringeth forth good fruit, and a corrupt tree bringeth forth evil fruit.

6:24 ³ This word is a Syrian word, and signifieth all things that belong to money.

6:25 ¹ The froward carking carefulness for things of this life is corrected in the children of God by an earnest thinking upon the providence of God.

6:26 ¹ Of the air, or that live in the air: for in all tongues almost this word Heaven is taken for the air.

6:27 ¹ He speaketh of care which is joined with thought of mind, and hath for the most part difficult yoke with it.

6:28 ¹ By labor.

7:1 ¹ We ought to find fault one with another, but we must beware we do it not without cause, or to seem holier than they, or in hatred of them.

7:6 ¹ The stiffnecked and stubborn enemies of the Gospel are unworthy to have it preached unto them.

² A pearl hath his name among the Grecians, for the orient brightness that is in it: and a pearl was in ancient time in great estimation among the Latins: for a pearl that Cleopatra had, was valued at two hundred and fifty thousand crowns, and the word is now borrowed from that, to signify the most precious heavenly doctrine.

7:7 ¹ Prayers are a sure refuge in all miseries.

7:12 ¹ A rehearsal of the meaning of the second table.

² That is to say, the doctrine of the Law and Prophets.

7:13 ¹ Example of life must not be taken from a multitude.

7:14 ¹ The way is straight and narrow we must pass through this rough way, and suffer and endure, and be thronged, and to enter into life.

7:15 ¹ False teachers must be taken heed of, and they are known by false doctrine and evil living.

18 A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit, neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit.

19 ^bEvery tree that bringeth not forth good fruit, is hewn down, and cast into the fire.

20 Therefore by their fruits ye shall know them.

21 ¶ ¹Not everyone that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven, ²but he that doeth my Father's will which is in heaven.

22 ³Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not by thy ¹Name prophesied, and by thy name cast out devils? and by thy name done many ²great works?

23 And then will I profess to them, ^{k-1}I never knew you, ¹depart from me ²ye that work iniquity.

24 ¹Whosoever then heareth of me these words, ^mand doeth the same, I will liken him to a wise man, which hath builded his house on a rock:

26 But whosoever heareth these my words, and doeth them not, shall be likened unto a foolish man, which hath builded his house upon the sand:

27 And the rain fell, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house, and it fell, and the fall thereof was great.

5 ¶ ^{c-1}When Jesus was entered into Capernaum, there came unto him a Centurion, beseeching him,

6 And said, Master, my servant lieth sick at home of the palsy, and is grievously pained.

7 And Jesus said unto him, I will come and heal him.

8 But the Centurion answered, saying, Master, I am not worthy that thou shouldst come under my roof: but speak the word only, and my servant shall be healed.

9 For I am a man also under the authority of another, and have soldiers under me: and I say to one, Go, and he goeth: and to another, Come, and he cometh: and to my servant, Do this, and he doeth it.

10 When Jesus heard that, he marveled, and said to them that followed him, Verily, I say unto you, I have not found so great faith, even in Israel.

7:22 ¹ By Name here, is meant that mighty working power of God, which every man witnesseth that calleth upon him.

21 ¶ ¹And another of his disciples said unto him, Master, suffer me first to go, and bury my father.

22 But Jesus said unto him, Follow me, and let the dead bury the dead.

23 ¶ ^{i,1}And when he was entered into the ship, his disciples followed him.

24 And behold, there arose a great tempest in the sea, so that the ship was covered with waves: but he was asleep.

25 Then his disciples came, and awoke him, saying, Master, save us: we perish.

26 And he said unto them, Why are ye fearful, O ye of little faith? Then he arose, and rebuked the winds and the sea: and so there was a great calm.

27 And the men marveled, saying, What man is this, that both the winds and the sea obey him?

28 ¶ ^{j,1}And when he was come to the other side into the country of the Gergesenes, there met him two possessed with devils which came out of the graves very fierce, so that no man might go by that way.

13 But go ye and learn what this is, ^cI will have mercy, and not sacrifice: for I am not come to call the righteous, but the ^dsinner to repentance.

14 ¶ ^{e1}Then came the disciples of John to him, saying, Why do we and the Pharisees fast oft, and thy disciples fast not?

18 ¶ ^{f1}While he thus spake unto them, behold, there came a certain ruler, and worshipped him, saying, My daughter is now deceased: but come and lay thine hand on her, and she shall live.

27 ¹ And as Jesus departed thence, two blind men followed him, crying, and saying, O son of David, have mercy upon us.

28 And when he was come into the house, the blind came to him, and Jesus said unto them, Believe ye that I am able to do this? And they said unto him, Yea, Lord.

29 Then touched he their eyes, saying, According to your faith be it unto you.

30 And their eyes were opened, and Jesus gave them great charge, saying, See that no man know it.

31 But when they were departed, they spread abroad his fame throughout all that land.

32 ¶ ^{g1} And as they went out, behold, they brought to him a dumb man possessed with a devil.

33 And when the devil was cast out, the dumb spake: then the multitude marveled, saying, The like was never seen in Israel.

34 But the Pharisees said, ^hHe casteth out devils, through the prince of devils.

10:34 ¹ Civil dissensions follow the preaching of the Gospel.

10:37 ¹ Nothing without exception is to be preferred before our duty to God.

10:39 ¹ They are said to find their life, which deliver it out of danger: and this is spoken after the opinion of the people which think them clean lost that die, because they think not of the life to come.

16 ^{f1}But whereunto shall I liken this generation?
²It is like unto little children which sit in the markets, and call unto their fellows,

17 And say, We have piped unto you, and ye have not danced, we have mourned unto you, and ye have not lamented.

18 For John came neither eating nor drinking, and they say, He hath a devil.

19 The Son of men came eating and drinking, and they say, Behold a glutton and a drinker of wine, a friend unto Publicans and sinners: ¹but ²wisdom is justified of her children.

20 ¶ ^{g1}Then began he to upbraid the cities, wherein most of his great works were done, because they repented not.

21 Woe be to thee Chorazin: Woe be to thee Bethsaida: for if the great works which were done in you, had been done in Tyre and Sidon, they had repented long ago in sackcloth and ashes.

22 But I say to you, It shall be easier for Tyre and Sidon at the day of judgment, than for you.

23 And thou Capernaum, which art lifted up unto heaven, shalt be brought down to hell: for if the great works, which have been done in thee, had been done among them of Sodom, they had remained to this day.

24 But I say unto you, that it shall be easier for them of the land of Sodom in the day of judgment, than for thee.

25 ^hAt that time Jesus answered and said, I give thee thanks, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, because thou hast hid these things from the wise, and men of understanding, and hast ¹opened them unto babes.

6 But I say unto you, that here is one greater than the Temple.

7 Wherefore if ye knew what this is, ^fI will have mercy and not sacrifice, ye would not have condemned the innocents.

12:9 ¹ The ceremonies of the Law are not against the love of our neighbor.

11 And he said unto them, What man shall there be among you, that hath a sheep, and if it fall on the Sabbath day into a pit, doth not take it and lift it out?

12 How much more then is a man better than a sheep? therefore, it is lawful to do well on a Sabbath day.

13 Then said he to the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he stretched it forth, and it was made whole as the other.

14 ¹Then the Pharisees went out, and consulted against him, how they might destroy him.

5 And some fell upon stony ground, where they had not much earth, and anon they sprung up, because they had no depth of earth.

6 And when the sun was up, they were parched, and for lack of rooting withered away.

7 And some fell among thorns, and the thorns sprung up, and choked them.

8 And some again fell in good ground, and brought forth fruit, one corn an hundredfold, some sixtyfold, and another thirtyfold.

9 He that hath ears to hear, let him hear.

10 ¶ Then the disciples came, and said to him, Why speakest thou to them in parables?

11 ¹And he answered and said unto them, Because it is given unto you to know the secrets of the kingdom of heaven, but to them it is not given.

12 ^bFor whosoever hath, to him shall be given, and he shall have abundance: but whosoever hath not, from him shall be taken away even that he hath.

13 Therefore speak I to them in parables, because they seeing, do not see: and hearing, they hear not, neither understand.

14 So in them is fulfilled the prophecy of Isaiah, which prophecy saith, 'By hearing ye shall hear, and shall not understand, and seeing ye shall see, and shall not perceive.

15 For this people's heart is waxed fat, and their ears are dull of hearing, and with their eyes they have winked, lest they should see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and should understand with their hearts, and should return, that I might heal them.

16 ¹But blessed are your eyes, for they see: and your ears, for they hear.

17 ^dFor verily I say unto you, that many Prophets, and righteous men have desired to see those things which ye see, and have not seen them, and to hear those things which ye hear, and have not heard them.

18 ¶ ¹Hear ye therefore the parable of the Sower.

19 Whensoever any man heareth the word of that kingdom, and understandeth it not, that evil one cometh, and catcheth away that which was sown in his ¹heart: and this is he which hath received the seed by the way side.

20 And he that received seed in the stony ground,

12:42 ¹ He meaneth the Queen of Sheba: whose country is South in respect of the land of Israel, 1 Kings 10.

² For Sheba is situated in the utmost coast of . . . Arabia at the mouth of the Arabian Sea.

12:46 ¹ Christ teacheth by his own example, how that all things ought to be set apart in respect of God's glory.

12:49 ¹ None are more near unto us, than they that are of the household of faith.

13:2 ¹ Christ showeth in putting forth this parable of the Sower, that the seed of life which is sown in the world, cometh not on so well in one as in another, and the reason is, for that men for the most part either do not receive it, or suffer it not to ripen.

13:11 ¹ The gift of understanding and of faith is proper to the elect, and all the rest are blinded through the just judgment of God.

13:16 ¹ The condition of the Church under and since Christ, is better than it was in the time of the Fathers under the Law.

13:19 ¹ Though there be mention made of the heart yet this sowing is referred to hearing without understanding. For whether the seed be received in the heart or no, yet he that soweth, soweth to the heart.

is he which heareth the word, and incontinently with joy receiveth it, 21 Yet hath he no root in himself, and endureth but a season: for as soon as tribulation or persecution cometh because of the word, by and by he is offended.

22 And he that received the seed among thorns, is he that heareth the word: but the care of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches choke the word, and he is made unfruitful.

23 But he that received the seed in the good ground, is he that heareth the word, and understandeth it, which also beareth fruit, and bringeth forth, some an hundredfold, some sixtyfold, and some thirtyfold.

24 ¶¹ Another parable put he forth unto them, saying, The kingdom of heaven is like unto a man which sowed good seed in his field.

25 But while men slept, there came his enemy and sowed tares among the wheat, and went his way.

26 And when the blade was sprung up, and brought forth fruit, then appeared the tares also.

27 Then came the servants of the householder, and said unto him, Master, sowest thou not good seed in thy field? from whence then hath it tares?

28 And he said unto them, Some envious man hath done this. Then the servants said unto him, Wilt thou then that we go and gather them up?

29 But he said, Nay, lest while ye go about to gather the tares, ye pluck up also with them the wheat.

30 Let both grow together until the harvest, and in time of harvest I will say to the reapers, Gather ye first the tares, and bind them in sheaves to burn them: but gather the wheat into my barn.

31 ¶¹ Another parable he put forth unto them, saying, The kingdom of heaven is like unto a grain of mustard seed, which a man taketh and soweth in his field:

32 Which indeed is the least of all seeds: but when it is grown, it is the greatest among herbs, and it is a tree, so that the birds of heaven come and build in the branches thereof.

33 ¶² Another parable spake he to them, The kingdom of heaven is like unto leaven, which a woman taketh and hideth in three pecks of meal, till all be leavened.

not unto them,

36 Then sent Jesus the multitude away, and went into the house. And his disciples came unto him, saying, Declare unto us the parable of the tares of that field.

37 ¹ Then answered he, and said to them, He that soweth the good seed, is the son of man, 38 And the field is the world, and the good seed are the children of the kingdom, and the tares are the children of that wicked one.

39 And the enemy that soweth them, is the devil, and the harvest is the end of the world, and the reapers be the Angels.

40 As then the tares are gathered and burned in the fire, so shall it be in the end of this world.

41 The Son of man shall send forth his Angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdom all things that offend, and them which do iniquity,

42 And shall cast them into a furnace of fire. There shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth.

43 ² Then shall the just men shine as the sun in the kingdom of their father. He that hath ears to hear, let him hear.

44 ¶¹ Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto a treasure hid in the field, which when a man hath found, he hideth it, and for joy thereof departeth, and selleth all that he hath, and buyeth that field.

45 ¶ Again, the kingdom of heaven is like to a merchant man that seeketh good pearls, 46 Who having found a pearl of great price, went and sold all that he had and bought it.

47 ¶¹ Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto a draw net cast into the sea, that gathereth of all kinds of things.

48 Which, when it is full, men draw to land, and sit and gather the good into vessels, and cast the bad away.

49 So shall it be at the end of the world. The Angels shall go forth, and sever the bad from among the just,

50 And shall cast them into a furnace of fire: there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth.

13:24 ¹ Christ sheweth in another parable of the evil seed mixed with the good, that the Church shall never be free and quit from offences, both in doctrine and manners, until the day appointed for the restoring of all things to come, and therefore the faithful have to arm themselves with patience and constancy.

13 ^eAnd when Jesus heard it, he departed thence by ship into a desert place apart. And when the multitude had heard it, they followed him on foot out of the cities.

14 ¹And Jesus went forth and saw a great multitude, and was moved with compassion toward them, and he healed their sick.

15 ¶ And when even was come, ^fhis disciples came to him, saying, This is a desert place, and the time is already past: let the multitude depart, that they may go into the towns, and buy them vittles.

16 But Jesus said to them, They have no need to go away: give ye them to eat.

17 Then said they unto him, We have here but five loaves, and two fishes.

18 And he said, Bring them hither to me.

19 And he commanded the multitude to sit down on the grass, and took the five loaves, and the two fishes, and looked up to heaven, and blessed, and brake, and gave the loaves to his disciples, and the disciples to the multitude.

14:6 ¹ There were three Herods: the first of them was Antipater's son, who is also called Ascalonius, in whose reign Christ was born, and he it was that caused the children to be slain. The second was called Antipas, Magnus his son, whose mother's name was Malthace or Martaca, and this was called Tetrarch, by reason of enlarging his dominion, when Archelaus was banished to Vienna in France. The third was Agrippa, Magnus his nephew by Aristobulus, and he it was that slew James.

and was tossed with waves: for it was a contrary wind.

25 And in the ¹fourth watch of the night, Jesus went unto them, walking on the sea.

26 And when his disciples saw him walking on the sea, they were troubled, saying, It is a ¹spirit, and cried out for fear.

27 But straightway Jesus spake unto them, saying, Be of good comfort, It is I: be not afraid.

28 ¹Then Peter answered him, and said, Master, if it be thou, bid me come unto thee on the water.

29 And he said, Come. And when Peter was come down out of the ship, he walked on the water to go to Jesus.

30 But when he saw a mighty wind, he was afraid: and as he began to sink, he cried, saying, Master, save me.

31 So immediately Jesus stretched forth his hand, and caught him, and said to him, O thou of little faith, wherefore didst thou doubt.

32 And as soon as they were come into the ship, the wind ceased.

33 Then they that were in the ship, came and worshipped him, saying, Of a truth thou art the Son of God.

34 ¶ ^bAnd when they were come over, they came into the land of ¹Gennesaret.

35 ¹And when the men of that place knew him, they sent out into all that country round about, and brought unto him all that were sick, 36 And besought him, that they might touch the hem of his garment only: and as many as touched it were made whole.

1 Then ¹came to Jesus the Scribes and Pharisees, which were of Jerusalem, saying,

2 ^a Why do thy disciples transgress the tradition of the Elders? for they ¹wash not their hands when they eat bread.

3 ¹But he answered and said unto them, Why do ye also transgress the commandment of God by your tradition?

4 ^bFor God hath commanded, saying, ¹Honor thy father and mother: ^cand he that curseth father or mother, let him die the death.

5 But ye say, ¹Whosoever shall say to father or mother, By the gift that is ^doffered by me, thou mayest have profit,

6 Though he honor not his father, or his mother, ^eshall be free: thus have ye made the commandment of God of no ¹authority by your tradition.

7 ¹O hypocrites, Isaiah prophesied well of you, saying,

8 ^fThis people draweth near unto me with their mouth, and honoreth me with the lips, but their heart is far off from me.

9 But in vain they worship me, teaching ^gfor doctrines, men's precepts.

10 ¹Then he called the multitude unto him, and said to them, Hear and understand.

11 ^hThat which goeth into the mouth, defileth not the man, but that which cometh out of the mouth that defileth the man.

12 ¶ Then came his disciples, and said unto him, Perceivest thou not, that the Pharisees are offended in hearing ⁱthis saying?

13 But he answered and said, ^jEvery plant which mine heavenly Father hath not planted, shall be rooted up.

14 Let them alone, they be the ^kblind leaders of the blind: and if the blind lead the blind, both shall 14:25 ¹ By the fourth watch is meant the time near to day breaking: for in old time they divided the night into four watches, in which they scouted.

14:26 ¹ A spirit, as it is here taken, is that which a man imagineth to himself vainly in his mind, persuading himself that he seeth something, and seeth nothing.

14:28 ¹ By faith we tread under our feet even the tempests themselves, but yet by the virtue of Christ, which helpeth that virtue, which he of his mercy hath given.

14:34 ¹ This Gennesaret was a lake nigh to Capernaum, which is also called the Sea of Galilee, and Tiberias, so that the country itself grew to be called by that name.

14:35 ¹ In that that Christ healeth the sick, we are given to understand that we must seek remedy for spiritual diseases at his hands: and that we are bound not only to run ourselves, but also to bring others to him.

15:1 ¹ None commonly are more bold contemners of God, than they whom God appointeth keepers of his law.

15:2 ¹ Which they received of their ancestors from hand to hand, or their elders allowed, which were the governors of the Church.

15:3 ¹ Their wicked boldness, in corrupting the commandments of God, and that upon the pretence of godliness, and usurping authority to make laws, is here reprov'd.

15:4 ¹ By honor is meant all kinds of duties which children owe to their parents.

15:5 ¹ The meaning is this: whatsoever I bestow upon the Temple, is to thy profit, for it is as good as if I gave it thee, for (as the Pharisees of our time say) it shall be meritorious for thee: for under this color of religion, they raked all to themselves, as though that he that had given anything to the Temple, had done the duty of a child.

15:6 ¹ You made it of no power and authority as much as lay in you: for otherwise the commandments of God stand fast in the Church of God, in despite of the world and Satan.

15:7 ¹ The same men are condemned for hypocrisy and superstition, because they made the kingdom of God to stand in outward things.

15:10 ¹ Christ teacheth us that hypocrisy of false teachers which deceive our soul, is not to be borne withall, no not in indifferent matters, and there is no reason why their ordinary vocation should blind our eyes: otherwise we are like to perish with them.

fall into the ditch.

15 ¶^b Then answered Peter, and said to him, Declare unto us this parable.

16 Then said Jesus, Are ye yet without understanding?

17 Perceive ye not yet, that whatsoever entereth into the mouth, goeth into the belly, and is cast out into the draught?

18 But those things which proceed out of the mouth, come from the heart, and they defile the man.

19 For out of the heart ⁱcome evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false testimonies, slanders.

20 These are the things which defile the man: but to eat with unwashed hands, defileth not the man.

21 ^jAnd Jesus went thence, and departed into the ¹coasts of Tyre and Sidon.

22 And behold, a woman a ¹Canaanite came out of the same coasts, and cried, saying unto him, Have mercy on me, O Lord, the son of David: my daughter is miserably vexed with a devil.

23 ¹But he answered her not a word. Then came to him his disciples, and besought him, saying, Send her away, for she crieth after us.

24 But he answered, and said, I am not sent, but unto the ^klost sheep of the ¹house of Israel.

25 Yet she came, and worshipped him, saying, Lord help me.

26 And he answered, and said, It is not good to take the children's bread, and to cast it to whelps.

27 But she said, Truth, Lord: yet indeed the whelps eat of the crumbs, which fall from their master's table.

28 Then Jesus answered, and said unto her, O woman, great is thy faith: be it to thee, as thou desirest. And her daughter was made whole at that hour.

30 And great multitudes came unto him, ^mhaving with them, halt, blind, dumb, ¹maimed, and many others, and cast them down, at Jesus' feet, and he healed them.

31 Insomuch that the multitude wondered, to see the dumb speak, the maimed whole, the halt to go, and the blind to see: and they glorified the God of Israel.

32 ^{n,1} Then Jesus called his disciples unto him, and said, I have compassion on this multitude, because they have ²continued with me already three days, and have nothing to eat: and I will not let them depart fasting, lest they faint in the way.

33 And his disciples said unto him, Whence should we get so much bread in the wilderness, as should suffice so great a multitude!

34 And Jesus said unto them, How many loaves have ye? And they said, Seven, and a few little fishes.

35 Then he commandeth the multitude ¹to sit down on the ground.

36 And took the seven loaves, and the fishes, and gave thanks, and brake them, and gave to his disciples, and the disciples to the multitude.

37 And they did all eat, and were sufficed, and they took up of the fragments that remained, seven ¹baskets full.

16:3 ¹ The outward show and countenance as it were of all things, is called in the Hebrews' tongue, a face.

16:4 ¹ The article sheweth the notableness of the deed.

16:5 ¹ False teachers must be taken heed of.

16:8 ¹ Not by others, but by virtue of his divinity.

16:9 ¹ That five thousand men were filled with so many loaves?

16:11 ¹ A demand or question joined with admiration.

² Said, for commanded.

16:13 ¹ There are divers judgments and opinions of Christ, notwithstanding he is known of his alone.

² There were two Caesareas, the one called Stratonis upon the sea Mediterranean, which Herod built sumptuously in the honor of Octavius, Josephus, lib. 15. The other was Caesarea Philippi, which Herod the great the Tetrarch's son by Cleopatra built in the honor of Tiberius at the foot of Lebanon, Josephus, lib. 15.

16:14 ¹ As Herod thought.

16:17 ¹ Faith is of grace, not of nature.

² By this kind of speech is meant man's natural procreation upon the earth, the creature not being destroyed which was made, but deformed through sin: So then this is the meaning: this was not revealed to thee by any understanding of man, but God showed it thee from heaven.

16:18 ¹ That is true faith, which confesseth Christ, the virtue whereof is invisible.

² Christ spoke in the Syrian tongue, and therefore used not this descanting betwixt Petros, which signifieth Peter, and Petra, which signifieth a rock, but in both places used this word Cephas: but his mind was that wrote in Greek, by the divers termination to make a difference between Peter, who is a piece of the building, and Christ the Petra, that is, the rock and foundation: or else he gave his name Peter, because of the confession of his faith, which is the Church's as well as his, as the old fathers witness: For so saith Theophylact, That confession which thou hast made, shall be the foundation of the believers.

³ The enemies of the Church are compared to a strong kingdom, and therefore by Gates, are meant cities which are made strong with counsels and fortresses, and this is the meaning, whatsoever Satan can do by counsel or strength. So doth Paul, 2 Cor. 10:4, call them strongholds.

16:19 ¹ The authority of the Church is from God.

² A metaphor taken of stewards which carry the keys: and here is set forth the power of the ministers of the word, as Isa. 22:22, and that power is common to all ministers, as Matt. 18:18, and therefore the ministers of the Gospel may rightly be called the key of the kingdom of heaven.

³ They are bound whose sins are retained, heaven is shut against them, because they received not Christ by faith: on the other side, how happy are they, to whom heaven is open, which embrace Christ, and are delivered by him, and become fellow heirs with him.

16:23 ¹ Against a preposterous zeal.

² The Hebrews call him Satan, that is to say, an adversary, whom the Grecians call diabolos, that is to say, slanderer, or tempter: but it is spoken of them, that either of malice, as Judas, John 6:70, or of lightness and pride resist the will of God.

³ By this word we are taught that Peter sinned, through a false persuasion of himself.

16:24 ¹ No men provide worse for themselves, than they that love themselves more than God.

16:25 ¹ Shall gain himself: And this is his meaning, they that deny Christ to save themselves, do not only not gain that which they look for, but also lose the thing they would have kept, that is themselves, which loss is the greatest of all: but as for them that doubt not to die for Christ, it fareth far otherwise with them.

16:27 ¹ Like a King, as Matt. 6:29.

16:28 ¹ By his kingdom is understood the glory of his ascension, and what followeth thereof, Eph. 4:10, or the preaching of the Gospel, Mark 9:1.

17:1 ¹ Christ is in such sort humble in the Gospel, that in the mean season he is Lord both of heaven and earth.

² Luke reckoneth eight days, containing in that number the first and last, and Matthew speaketh but of them that were betwixt them.

17:2 ¹ Changed into another hue.

17:5 ¹ The article or the word, That, severeth Christ from other children. For he is God's natural Son, we by adoption, therefore he is called the first begotten among the brethren, because that although he be of right the only Son, yet is he chief among many in that he is the fountain and head of the adoption.

17:6 ¹ Fell down flat on their faces and worshipped him, as Matt. 2:11.

17:15 ¹ They that at certain times of the moon are troubled with the falling sickness, or any other kind of disease: but in this place, we must so take it, that besides the natural disease, he had a devilish frenzy.

18 And Jesus rebuked the devil, and he went out of him: and the child was healed at that hour.

19 ¹Then came the disciples to Jesus apart, and said, Why could not we cast him out?

20 And Jesus said unto them, Because of your unbelief: for ^fverily I say unto you, if ye have faith as much as is a grain of mustard seed, ye shall say unto this mountain, Remove hence to yonder place, and it shall remove: and nothing shall be impossible unto you.

21 ¹Howbeit this kind goeth not out, but by ²prayer and fasting.

22 ¶ ¹And they ⁴being in Galilee, Jesus said unto them, The Son of Man shall be delivered into the hands of men.

8 ⁴Wherefore, if thy hand or thy foot cause thee to ¹offend, cut them off, and cast them from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life, halt, or maimed, than having two hands, or two feet, to be cast into everlasting fire.

² Lets and hindrances which stop the course of good works. The Greek word importeth thus much, things which we stumble at.

18:8 ¹ See Matt. 5:29.

18:10 ¹ The weaker that a man is, the greater care we ought to have of his salvation, as God teacheth us by his own example.

18:15 ¹ We must labor for concord, not to revenge injuries.

²thee, go and tell him his fault between thee and him alone: if he hear thee, thou hast won thy brother.

16 But if he hear thee not, take yet with thee one or two, that by the ^{i,1}mouth of two or three witnesses, every word may be ²confirmed.

17 ¹And if he ²refuse to hear them, tell it unto the ³Church: and if he refuse to hear the Church also, let him be unto thee as an ⁴heathen man, and a Publican.

18 Verily I say unto you, ^jWhatsoever ye bind on earth, shall be bound in heaven: and ^kwhatsoever ye loose on earth, shall be loosed in heaven.

19 Again, verily I say unto you, that if two of you shall ¹agree in earth upon anything, whatsoever they shall desire, it shall be given them of my Father which is in heaven.

20 For where two or three are gathered together in my Name, there am I in the midst of them.

21 ¹Then came Peter to him, and said, Master, how oft shall my brother sin against me, and I shall forgive him? ^lunto seven times?

22 Jesus said unto him, I say not to thee, Unto seven times, but, Unto seventy times seven times.

23 Therefore is the kingdom of heaven likened unto a certain King, which would take an account of his servants.

18:17 ¹ He that contemneth the judgment of the Church, contemneth God.

² Word for word, do not vouchsafe to hear, or make as though he did not hear.

³ He speaketh not of any kind of policy, but of an Ecclesiastical assembly, for he speaketh afterward of the power of loosing and binding, which belonged to the Church, and he hath regard to the order used in those days, at what time the Elders had the judgment of Church matters in their hands, John 9:22 and 12:42 and 16:2, and used casting out of the Synagogue for a punishment, as we do now excommunication.

⁴ Profane, and void of religion: such men, the Jews called Gentiles:

whose company they shunned as they did the Publicans.

18:19 ¹ This word is translated from the body to the mind, for it belongeth properly to song.

18:21 ¹ They shall find God severe and not to be pleased, which do not forgive their brethren, although they have been diversly and grievously injured by them.

18:24 ¹ Here is set down a very great sum of threescore hundred thousand crowns, and a small sum of ten crowns, that the difference may be the greater, for there is no proportion between them.

22 And when the young man heard that saying, he went away sorrowful: for he had great possessions.

19:5 ¹ The Greek word imported to be glued unto, whereby is signified that straight knot, which is between man and wife, as though they were glued together.

² They which were two, become as it were one: and this word flesh is by a figure taken for the whole man, or the body after the manner of the Hebrews.

19:6 ¹ Hath made them yoke fellows, as the marriage itself is by a borrowed kind of speech called a yoke.

19:7 ¹ Because political Laws are constrained to bear with some things, it followeth not by and by that God alloweth them.

19:8 ¹ Being occasioned by reason of the hardness of your hearts.

² By a political law, not by the moral law: for this law is a perpetual law of God's justice, the other boweth and bendeth as the carpenter's Bevel.

19:9 ¹ Therefore in these days the Laws that were made against adulterers were not regarded: for they should have needed no divorcement, if marriage had been cut asunder with punishment by death.

19:10 ¹ If the matter stands so between man and wife, or in marriage.

19:11 ¹ The gift of continency is peculiar, and therefore no man can set a Law to himself of perpetual continency.

² Receive and admit, as by translation we say, that a straight and narrow place is not able to receive many things.

19:12 ¹ The word Eunuch is a general word, and hath divers kinds under it, as gelded men and barren men.

² Which abstain from marriage, and live continently through the gift of God.

19:13 ¹ Infants and little children are contained in the free covenant of God.

19:16 ¹ They neither know themselves nor the Law, that seek to be saved by the Law.

19:21 ¹ The young man did not answer truly in saying that he had kept all the commandments: and therefore he layeth out an example of true charity before him, to show the disease that lay lurking in his mind.

19:23 ¹ Rich men have need of a singular gift of God, to escape out of the snares of Satan.

19:24 ¹ Word for word, it is of less labor.

² Theophylact noteth, that by this word is meant a cable rope, but Caninius allegeth out of the Talmuds that it is a proverb, and the word Camel, signifieth the beast itself.

19:28 ¹ It is not lost, that is neglected for God's sake.

² The regeneration is taken for that day, wherein the elect shall begin to live a new life, that is to say, when they shall enjoy the heavenly inheritance, both in body and soul.

29 And whosoever shall forsake houses, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands, for my Name's sake, he shall receive an hundredfold more, and shall inherit everlasting life.

17 ^{b,1} And Jesus went up to Jerusalem, and took the twelve disciples apart in the way, and said unto them,

18 ¹ Behold, we go up to Jerusalem, and the Son of man shall be delivered unto the chief Priests, and unto the Scribes, and they shall condemn him to death,

19 ¹ And ¹ shall deliver him to the Gentiles, to mock, and to scourge, and to crucify him, but the third day he shall rise again.

21 And he said unto her, What wouldest thou? She said to him, Grant that these my two sons may sit, the one at thy right hand, and the other at thy left hand in thy kingdom.

23 And he said unto them, Ye shall drink indeed of my cup, and shall be baptized with the baptism, that I am baptized with, but to sit at my right hand, and at my left hand, is ¹ not mine to give: but it shall be given to them for whom it is prepared of my Father.

19:30 ¹ To have begun well, and not to continue unto the end, doth not only not profit, but also hurteth very much.

20:1 ¹ God is bound to no man, and therefore he calleth whomsoever and whensoever he listeth. This only every man ought to take heed of, and hereupon bestow his whole endeavor, that he go forward and come to the mark without all stopping or staggering, and not curiously to examine other men's doings, or the judgments of God.

20:2 ¹ Word for word, fell in time: it is a kind of speech taken from song.

20:6 ¹ The last hour: for the day was twelve hours long, and the first hour began at the Sun rising.

20:15 ¹ Naught, that is, to say, dost thou envy at my goodness towards them? for the Hebrews by an evil eye, meant envy, because such dispositions appear chiefly in the eyes, as above in Matt. 6:23. It is set to answer the word, single, and is taken there for corrupt: for whereas he said there before, verse 22, If thine eye be single, he addeth in verse 23, but if thine eye be wicked, or corrupt, the word being the same in that place, as it is here.

20:18 ¹ They that least ought, are the greatest persecutors of Christ.

20:19 ¹ The ignomy of the cross, is the sure way to the glory of everlasting life.

20:20 ¹ The manner of the heavenly kingdom is quite contrary to the earthly kingdom.

20:22 ¹ This is spoken by a figure, taking the cup, for that which is contained in the cup. And again the Hebrews understand by this word, Cup, sometime the manner of punishment which is rendered to sin, as Ps. 11:6, or the joy that is given to the faithful, as Ps. 23:5, and sometime a lot or condition, as Ps. 16:5.

² This is applied to afflictions, as David commonly useth.

20:23 ¹ The almightiness of Christ his divinity is not shut out by this, but it sheweth the debasing of himself by taking man's nature upon him.

24 ^cAnd when the other ten heard this, they disdained at the two brethren.

27 And whosoever will be chief among you, let him be your servant.

28 ^fEven as the Son of man came not to be served, but to serve, and to give his life for the ransom of many.

29 ¶ ^gAnd as they departed from Jericho, a great multitude followed him.

30 And behold, two blind men, sitting by the way side, when they heard that Jesus passed by, cried, saying, O Lord, the Son of David, have mercy on us.

23:3 ¹ Provided always, that they deliver Moses his doctrine which they profess, which thing the Metaphor of the seat sheweth, which they occupied as teachers of Moses his learning.

23:4 ¹ Hypocrites for the most part are most severe exactors of those things which they themselves chiefly neglect.

23:5 ¹ Hypocrites are ambitious.

² It was a thread, or ribbon of blue silk in the fringe of a corner, the beholding whereof made them to remember the laws and ordinances of God: and therefore was it called a Phylactery, as ye would say, a keeper, Num. 15:38; Deut. 6:8, which order the Jews afterward abused, as they do nowadays, which hang the St. John's Gospels about their necks: a thing condemned many years ago in the Council of Antioch.

³ Word for word, Twisted tassels of thread which hung at the nethermost hems of their garments.

23:6 ¹ When assemblies and Councils are gathered together.

23:7 ¹ This word Rabbi, signifieth one that is above his fellows, and is as good as a number of them: and we may see by the repeating of it, how proud a rule it was. Now they were called Rabbi, which by the laying on of hands were uttered and declared to the world to be wise men.

23:8 ¹ Modesty is a singular ornament of God's minsters.

² Seek not ambitiously after it: for our Lord doth not forbid us to give the Magistrate and our Masters the honor that is due to them, Augustine de sermone verbi Domine ex, Matt. 11.

³ He seemeth to allude to a place of Isaiah, chapter 54:13, and Jer. 31:34.

23:10 ¹ It seemeth that the Scribes did very greedily hunt after such titles, whom verse 16 he calleth blind guides.

23:12 ¹ He seemeth to allude to the name of the Rabbis, for Rabbi signifieth one that is aloft.

23:13 ¹ Hypocrites can abide none to be better than themselves.

² Christ when he reproveth any man sharply, uses this word, to give us to understand that there is nothing more detestable than hypocrisy and falsehood in religion.

³ Which are even at the door.

23:14 ¹ It is a common thing among hypocrites, to abuse the pretence of zeal to covetousness and extortion.

² Word for word, under a color of long praying. And this word, Even, noteth a double naughtiness in them: the one, that they devoured widows' goods: the other, that they did it under a color of godliness.

23:15 ¹ The dry part: now that part of that earth is called dry, which the Lord hath given us to dwell upon.

23:16 ¹ Is a debtor. Sins are called in the Syrian tongue, Debts, and it is certain that Christ spake in the Syrian tongue.

23:17 ¹ Causeth the gold to be counted holy, which is dedicated to an holy use.

³ They shall be in such sorrow, that they shall strike themselves: and it is transferred to the mourning.

⁴ Sitting upon the clouds, as he was taken up into heaven.

24:31 ¹ From the four quarters of the world.

24:32 ¹ If God hath prescribed a certain order to nature, much more hath he done so to his eternal judgments, but the wicked understand it not, or rather make a mock at it: but the godly do mark it, and wait for it.

² When his tenderness sheweth that the sap which is the life of the tree, is come from the root into the bark.

24:34 ¹ This age: this word generation or Age, being used for the men of this age.

24:35 ¹ The Lord doth now begin the judgment, which he will make an end of in the latter day.

24:36 ¹ It is sufficient for us to know that God hath appointed a latter day for the restoring of all things, but when it shall be, it is hidden from us all, for our profit, that we may be so much the more watchful, that we be not taken as they were in old time in the flood.

37 But as the days of Noah were, so likewise shall the coming of the Son of man be.

38 ^aFor as in the days before the flood, they did ¹eat and drink, marry, and give in marriage, unto the day that Noah entered into the Ark,

39 And knew nothing, till the flood came, and took them all away, so shall also the coming of the Son of man be.

40 ^{b,1}Then two shall be in the fields, the one shall be received, and the other shall be refused.

41 ¹Two women shall be grinding at the mill: the one shall be received, and the other shall be refused.

42 ^{a,1}Watch therefore: for ye know not what hour your master will come.

43 ^aOf this be sure, that if the good man of the house knew at what watch the thief would come, he would surely watch, and not suffer his house to be dug through.

44 Therefore be ye also ready: for in the hour that ye think not, will the Son of man come.

45 ^aWho then is a faithful servant and wise, whom his master hath made ruler over his household, to give them meat in season?

46 Blessed is that servant, whom his master when he cometh, shall find so doing.

47 Verily I say unto you, he shall make him ruler over all his goods.

48 But if that evil servant shall say in his heart, My master doth defer his coming,

49 And begin to smite his fellows, and to eat, and to drink with the drunken,

50 That servant's master will come in a day, when he looketh not for him, and in an hour that he is not aware of,

51 And will ¹cut him off, and give him his portion with hypocrites: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

25 ¹ The virgins looking for the Bridegroom. ¹³ We must watch. ¹⁴ The talents delivered unto the servants. ²⁴ The evil servants. ³⁰ After what sort the last judgment shall be. ⁴¹ The cursed.

1 Then ¹the kingdom of heaven shall be likened unto ten virgins, which took their lamps, and ²went forth to meet the bridegroom.

2 And five of them were wise, and five foolish.

3 The foolish took their lamps, but took no oil with them.

4 But the wise took oil in their vessels with their lamps.

5 Now while the bridegroom tarried long, all ¹slumbered and slept.

6 And at midnight there was a cry made, Behold, the bridegroom cometh: go out to meet him.

7 Then all those virgins arose and trimmed their lamps.

8 And the foolish said to the wise, Give us of your oil, for our lamps are out.

9 But the wise answered, saying, Not so, lest there will not be enough for us and you: but go ye rather to them that sell, and buy for yourselves.

10 And while they went to buy, the bridegroom came: and they that were ready, went in with him to the wedding, and the gate was shut.

11 Afterwards came also the other virgins, saying, Lord, Lord, open to us.

12 But he answered, and said, Verily I say unto you, I know you not.

13 ^aWatch therefore: for ye know neither the day, nor the hour, when the son of man will come.

14 ^{b,1}For the kingdom of heaven is as a man that going into a strange country, called his servants, and delivered to them his goods.

15 And unto one he gave five talents, and to another two, and to another one, to every man after his own ¹ability, and straightway went from home.

16 Then he that had received the five talents, went and occupied with them, and gained other

24:38 ¹ The word which the Evangelist useth, expresseth the matter more fully than ours doth: for it is a word which is proper to brute beasts: and his meaning is, that in those days men shall be given to their bellies like unto brute beasts: for otherwise it is no fault to eat and drink.

24:40 ¹ Against them that persuade themselves that God will be merciful to all men, and do by that means give over themselves to sin, that they may in the meanwhile live in pleasure void of all care.

24:41 ¹ The Greek women and the Barbarians did grind and bake. (Plutarch, book Problem)

24:42 ¹ An example of the horrible carelessness of men in those things whereof they ought to be most careful.

24:51 ¹ To wit, from the rest, or will cut him into two parts, which was a most cruel kind of punishment, wherewith as Justin Martyr witnesseth, Isaiah the Prophet was executed by the Jews: the like kind of punishment we read of, 1 Sam. 15:33 and Dan. 3:29.

25:1 ¹ We must desire strength at God's hand, which may serve us as a torch while we walk through this darkness, to bring us to our desired end: otherwise if we become slothful and negligent as weary of our pains and travail, we shall be shut out of the doors.

² The pomp of bridals was wont for the most part to be kept in the night seasons, and that by damsels.

25:5 ¹ Their eyes being heavy with sleep.

25:14 ¹ Christ witnesseth that there shall be a long time between his departure to his father, and his coming again to us, but yet notwithstanding that, he will at that day take an account not only of the rebellious and obstinate, how they have bestowed that which they received of him, but also of his household servants, which have not through slothfulness employed those gifts which he bestowed upon them.

25:15 ¹ According to the wisdom and skill in dealing, which was given them.

five talents.

17 Likewise also he that received two, he also gained other two.

18 But he that received that one, went and dug it in the earth, and hid his master's money.

19 But after a long season, the master of those servants came, and reckoned with them.

20 Then came he that had received five talents, and brought other five talents, saying, Master, thou deliveredst unto me five talents: behold, I have gained with them other five talents.

21 Then his master said unto him, It is well done good servant and faithful, Thou hast been faithful in little, I will make thee ruler over much: ¹enter into thy master's joy.

22 Also he that had received two talents, came, and said, Master, thou deliveredst unto me two talents: behold, I have gained two other talents more.

23 His master said unto him, It is well done good servant, and faithful, Thou hast been faithful in little, I will make thee ruler over much: enter into thy master's joy.

24 Then he that had received the one talent, came, and said, Master, I knew that thou wast an hard man, which reapest where thou sowedst not, and gatherest where thou strawedst not:

25 I was therefore afraid, and went, and hid thy talent in the earth: behold, thou hast thine own.

26 And his master answered, and said unto him, Thou evil servant, and slothful, thou knewest that I reap where I sowed not, and gather where I strawed not.

27 Thou oughtest therefore to have put my money to the ¹exchangers, and then at my coming should I have received mine own with vantage.

28 Take therefore the talent from him, and give it unto him which hath ten talents.

29 ^cFor unto every man that hath, it shall be given, and he shall have abundance, and from him that hath not, even that he hath shall be taken away.

30 Cast therefore that unprofitable servant into utter ^ddarkness: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

33 And he shall set the sheep on his right hand, and the goats on the left.

34 Then shall the king say to them on his right hand, Come ye ¹blessed of my father: take the inheritance of the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world.

35 ^cFor I was an hungered, and ye gave me meat: I thirsted, and ye gave me drink: I was a stranger, and ye took me in unto you.

36 I was naked, and ye clothed me: I was ⁱsick, and ye visited me: I was in prison, and ye came unto me.

37 Then shall the righteous answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee an hungered, and fed thee? or athirst, and gave thee drink?

38 And when saw we thee a stranger, and took thee in unto us? or naked, and clothed thee?

39 Or when saw we thee sick, or in prison, and came unto thee?

40 And the king shall answer, and say unto them, Verily I say unto you, inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it to me.

41 Then shall he say to them on the left hand, ^gDepart from me ye cursed, into everlasting fire, which is prepared for the devil and his angels.

44 Then shall they also answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee an hungered, or athirst, or a stranger, or naked, or sick, or in prison, and did not minister unto thee?

45 Then shall he answer them, and say, Verily I say unto you, inasmuch as ye did it not to one of the least of these, ye did it not to me.

1 And ^ait came to pass, when Jesus had finished all these sayings, he said unto his disciples, 25:21 ¹ Come, and receive the fruit of goodness, now the Lord's joy is doubled, John 15:11, that my joy may remain in you, and your joy be fulfilled.

25:27 ¹ Table mates which have their shop bulks or tables set abroad, where they let out money to usury.

26:1 ¹ Christ witnesseth by his voluntarily going to death, that he will make full satisfaction for the sin of Adam, by his obedience.

2 ¹Ye know that after two days is the Passover, and the Son of man shall be delivered to be crucified.

3 ^bThen assembled together the chief Priests, and the Scribes, and the Elders of the people into the hall of the high Priest called Caiaphas:

17 ¶ ^{j,1}Now ²on the first day of the feast of unleavened bread, the disciples came to Jesus, saying unto him, Where wilt thou that we prepare for thee to eat the Passover?

18 And he said, Go ye into the city to such a man, and say to him, The master saith, My time is at hand: I will keep the Passover at thine house with my disciples.

19 And the disciples did as Jesus had given them charge, and made ready the Passover.

20 ^gSo when the even was come, he ¹sat down with the twelve.

21 And as they did eat, he said, ^bVerily, I say unto you, that one of you shall betray me.

22 And they were exceeding sorrowful, and began every one of them to say unto him, Is it I, Master?

24 Surely the Son of man goeth his way, as it is written of him: but woe be to that man, by whom the Son of man is betrayed: it had been good for that man, if he had never been born.

25 Then Judas ¹which betrayed him, answered, and said, Is it I, master? He said unto him, Thou hast said it.

26 ¶ ^{j,1}And as they did eat, Jesus took the bread,

26:2 ¹ God himself and not men, appointed the time that Christ should be crucified in.

26:5 ¹ By the word Feast, is meant the whole feast of unleavened bread: the first and eighth day whereof were so holy, that they might do no manner of work therein, though the whole company of the Sanhedrin determined otherwise: And yet it came to pass through God's providence, that Christ suffered at that time, to the end that all the people of Israel might be witnesses of his everlasting sacrifice.

26:6 ¹ By this sudden work of a sinful woman, Christ giveth the guests to understand of his death and burial which was nigh: the favor whereof shall bring life to all sinners which flee unto him. But Judas taketh an occasion hereby to accomplish his wicked purpose and counsel.

26:7 ¹ For these things were done before Christ came to Jerusalem: and yet some think that the Evangelists recite two histories.

² These boxes were of alabaster, which in old time men made hollow to put in ointments: for some write, that alabaster keepeth ointment without corruption, Pliny, book 13, chapter 1.

26:8 ¹ This is a figure called Synecdoche: for it is said but of Judas that he was moved thereat, John 12:4.

² Unprofitable spending.

26:10 ¹ We ought not rashly to condemn that which is not orderly done.

26:11 ¹ Christ, who was once anointed in his own person, must always be anointed in the poor.

26:12 ¹ In that she poured this ointment upon my body, she did it to bury me.

26:17 ¹ Christ verily purposing to bring us into our country out of hand, and so to abrogate the figure of the Law, fulfilleth the Law, neglecting the contrary tradition and custom of the Jews, and there withall sheweth that all things shall so come to pass by the ministry of men, that the secret counsel of God shall govern them.

² This was the fourteenth day of the first month: and the first day of unleavened bread should have been the fifteenth, but because this day's evening (which after the manner of the Romans was referred to the day before) did belong by the Jews' manner to the day following, therefore it is called the first day of unleavened bread.

26:20 ¹ Because the Law appointed them to be shod, and have their staffs in their hands, as though they were in haste, thereby it is to be gathered that they sat not down when they did eat the Passover, but stood, for otherwise when they went to meat, they put off their shoes: therefore he speaketh here in this place, not of the Passover, but of the Supper, which was celebrated after that the Passover was solemnly done.

26:23 ¹ That is to say, whom I vouchsafed to come to my table, alluding to the place, Ps. 41:9, which is not so to be understood, as though at the selfsame instant that the Lord spake these words, Judas had had his hand in the dish (for that had been an undoubted token) but it is meant of his tabling and eating with them.

26:25 ¹ Whose head was about nothing then but to betray him.

26:26 ¹ Christ minding forthwith to fulfill the promises of the old covenant, instituteth a new covenant with new figures.

and when he had ²blessed, he brake it, and gave it to the disciples, and said, Take, eat: ³this is my body.

27 Also he took the cup, and when he had given thanks, he gave it them, saying, Drink ye ¹all of it.

28 ¹For this is my blood of the ²new Testament that is shed for many, for the remission of sins.

30 And when they had sung ¹a Psalm, they went out into the mount of Olives.

heavy, even unto the death: tarry ye here, and watch with me.

39 So he went a little further, and fell on his face, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if it be possible, ¹let this ²cup pass from me: nevertheless, not as I will, but as thou wilt.

40 ¹After, he came unto the disciples, and found them asleep, and said to Peter, What? could ye not watch with me one hour?

41 Watch, and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit indeed is ready, but the flesh is weak.

42 Again he went away the second time, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if this cup cannot pass away from me, but that I must drink it, thy will be done.

43 And he came and found them asleep again, for their eyes were heavy.

44 So he left them, and went away again, and prayed the third time, saying the same words.

45 Then came he to his disciples, and said unto them, Sleep henceforth, and take your rest: behold, the hour is at hand, and the Son of man is given into the hands of sinners.

46 ¹Rise, let us go: behold, he is at hand that betrayeth me.

47 ¹And while he yet spake, lo, Judas one of the twelve came, and with him a great multitude with swords and staves, ¹from the high Priests and Elders of the people.

48 Now he that betrayed him, had given them a token, saying, Whomsoever I shall kiss, that is he, lay hold on him.

49 And forthwith he came to Jesus, and said, God save thee, Master, and kissed him.

² Mark saith, Had given thanks: and therefore blessing is not a consecrating, with a conjuring kind of murmuring and force of words: and yet the bread and the wine are changed, not in nature, but in quality, for they become undoubted tokens of the body and blood of Christ, not of their own nature or force of words, but by Christ his institution, which must be recited and laid forth, that faith may find what to lay hold on, both in the word and in the elements.

³ This is a figurative speech, which is called Metonymy: that is to say, the putting of one name for another—so calling the bread his body, which is the sign and sacrament of his body: and yet notwithstanding, it is so a figurative and changed kind of speech, that the faithful do receive Christ indeed with all his gifts (though by a spiritual means) and become one with him.

26:27 ¹ Therefore they which took away the cup from the people, did against Christ his institution.

26:28 ¹ To wit, this cup or wine, is my blood Sacramentally, as Luke 22:20.

² Or covenant, that is to say, whereby the new league and covenant is made, for in making of leagues, they used pouring of wine, and shedding of blood.

26:30 ¹ When they had made an end of their solemn singing, which some think was six Psalms, beginning at Ps. 112 to 117.

26:31 ¹ Christ being more careful of his disciples, than of himself, forewarneth them of their flight, and putteth them in better comfort.

26:36 ¹ Christ having regard to the weakness of his disciples, leaving all the rest in safety, taketh with him but three to be witnesses of his anguish, and goeth of purpose into the place appointed to betray him in.

26:37 ¹ The word which he useth, signifieth great sorrow, and marvelous and deadly grief: which thing, as it betokeneth the truth of man's nature, which shunneth death as a thing that entered in against nature, so it sheweth that though Christ were void of sin, yet he sustained this horrible punishment, because he felt the wrath of God kindled against us for sins, which he revenged and punished in his person.

26:38 ¹ Christ a true man, going about to suffer the punishment which was due unto us, for forsaking of God is forsaken of his own: he hath a terrible conflict with the horror and fear of the curse of God: out of which he escaping as a conqueror, causeth us not to be afraid anymore of death.

26:39 ¹ Let it pass me, and not touch me.

² That is, which is at hand, and is offered and prepared for me: a kind of speech which the Hebrews use, for the wrath of God, and the punishment he sendeth. See also Matt. 20:22.

26:40 ¹ An example of the carelessness of man.

26:46 ¹ Christ offereth himself willingly to be taken, that in so obeying willingly, he might make satisfaction for the willful fall of man.

26:47 ¹ Sent from the high Priests.

50 ¹Then Jesus said unto him, ²Friend, wherefore art thou come? Then came they, and laid hands on Jesus, and took him.

51 And behold, one of them which were with Jesus, stretched out his hand, and drew his sword, and struck a servant of the high Priest, and smote off his ear.

52 ¹Then said Jesus unto him, Put up thy sword into his place: ²for all that ³take the sword, shall perish with the sword.

53 ¹Either thinkest thou, that I cannot now pray to my Father, and he will give me more than twelve legions of Angels?

54 ¹How then should the ²Scriptures be fulfilled, which say, that it must be so?

55 The same hour said Jesus to the multitude, Ye be come out as it were against a thief, with swords and staves to take me: I sat daily teaching in the Temple among you, and ye took me not.

56 But all this was done, that the Scriptures of the Prophets might be fulfilled. ³Then all the disciples forsook him, and fled.

57 ¶ ¹And they took Jesus, and led him to ²Caiaphas the high Priest, where the Scribes and the Elders were assembled.

58 And Peter followed him afar off unto the high Priest's ¹hall, and went in and sat with the servants to see the end.

59 Now ²the chief Priests and the Elders, and all the whole Council sought false witness against Jesus, to put him to death.

60 But they found none, and though many false witnesses came, yet found they none: but at the last came two false witnesses,

61 And said, This man said, ³I can destroy the Temple of God, and build it in three days.

62 Then the chief Priest arose, and said to him, Answerest thou nothing? ¹What is the matter that these men witness against thee?

is taken for the house itself.

26:62 ¹ How cometh it to pass that these men witness against thee?

26:64 ¹ This word distinguisheth his first coming from the latter.

² Sitting with God in like and equal honor at the right hand of his power, that is, in greatest power: for the right hand signifieth among the Hebrews, that that is mighty and of great power.

³ Clouds of heaven, see also Matt. 24:30.

26:65 ¹ This was an usual matter among the Jews: for so were they bound to do, when they heard any Israelite to blaspheme God, and it was a tradition of their Talmud in the book of the Magistrates, in the title, of the four kinds of death.

26:69 ¹ Peter by the wonderful providence of God appointed to be a witness of all these things, is prepared to the example of singular constancy, by the experience of his own incredulity.

² That is, without the place where the Bishop sat, but not without the house, for afterward he went from thence into the porch.

26:74 ¹ He swore and cursed himself.

1 When the "morning was come, all the chief Priests, and the Elders of the people took counsel against Jesus, to put him to death.

2 And led him away bound, and delivered him unto Pontius Pilate the governor.

3 ¶¹Then when Judas which betrayed him, saw that he was condemned, he repented himself, and brought again the thirty pieces of silver to the chief Priests, and Elders,

4 Saying, I have sinned, betraying the innocent blood. But they said, What is that to us? see thou to it.

5 And when he had cast down the silver pieces in the Temple, he ¹departed, and went, ²and hanged himself.

6 And the chief Priests took the silver pieces, and said, It is not lawful for us to put them into the ¹treasure, because it is the price ²of blood.

7 And they took counsel, and bought with them a potter's field, for the burial of ¹strangers.

8 Wherefore that field is called, ^cThe field of blood, until this day.

9 (Then was fulfilled that which was spoken by ¹Jeremiah the Prophet, saying, ^{d,2}And they took thirty silver pieces, the price of him that was valued, whom they of the children of Israel valued.

10 And they gave them for the potter's field, as the Lord appointed me.)

11 ¶^{e,1}And Jesus stood before the governor, and the governor asked him, saying, Art thou that King of the Jews? Jesus said unto him, Thou sayest it.

12 And when he was accused of the chief Priests, and Elders, he answered nothing.

13 Then said Pilate unto him, Hearest thou not how many things they lay against thee?

14 But he answered him not to one word, insomuch that the governor marveled greatly.

15 ¹Now at the feast the governor was wont to deliver unto the people a prisoner whom they would.

16 And they had then a notable prisoner called Barabbas.

17 When they were then gathered together, Pilate said unto them, Whether will ye that I let loose unto you Barabbas, or Jesus which is called Christ?

18 (For he knew well, that for envy they had delivered him.

19 Also when he was set down upon the judgment seat, his wife sent to him, saying, Have thou nothing to do with that just man: for I have suffered many things this day in a dream by reason of him.)

20 ¹But the chief Priests and the elders had persuaded the people that they should ask Barabbas, and should destroy Jesus.

21 Then the governor answered, and said unto them, Whether of the twain will ye that I let loose unto you? And they said, Barabbas.

22 Pilate said unto them, What shall I do then with Jesus, which is called Christ? They all said to him, Let him be crucified.

23 Then said the governor, But what evil hath he done? Then they cried the more, saying, Let him be crucified.

24 ¹When Pilate saw that he availed nothing, but that more tumult was made, he took water and ²washed his hands before the multitude, saying, I am innocent of the ³blood of this just man: look you to it.

25 Then answered all the people, and said, ¹His blood be on us, and on our children.

26 Thus let he Barabbas loose unto them, and scourged Jesus, and delivered him to be crucified.

27 ¶^gThen the soldiers of the governor took Jesus into the common hall, and gathered about him the whole band,

28 ¹And they stripped him, and ²put about him a ³scarlet robe,

29 And platted a crown of thorns, and put it upon his head, and a reed in his right hand, and bowed their knees before him, and mocked him, saying, God save thee, King of the Jews,

27:3 ¹ An example of the horrible judgment of God, as well against them which sell Christ, as against them which buy Christ.

27:5 ¹ Out of men's sights.

27:6 ¹ The treasury of the Temple.

² Of life and death.

27:7 ¹ Strangers and guests, whom the Jews could not abide to be joined unto, no not after they were dead.

27:9 ¹ Seeing this prophecy is read in Zech. 11:12, it cannot be denied, but Jeremiah's name crept into the text, either through the Printer's fault, or some other's ignorance: it may be also that it came out of the margin, by reason of the abbreviation of the letters, the one being iou, and the other zou, which are not much unlike: but in the Syrian text the Prophet's name is not set down at all.

² The Evangelist doth not follow the Prophet's words, but his meaning, which he sheweth to be fulfilled.

27:11 ¹ Christ holdeth his peace when he is accused, that we may not be accused: acknowledging our guiltiness, and therewithall his own innocence.

27:15 ¹ Christ is first quitted of the same Judge, before he be condemned, that we might see how the just died for the unjust.

27:24 ¹ Christ being quit by the testimony of the Judge himself, is notwithstanding condemned by the same to quit us before God.

² It was a manner in old time, when any man was murdered, and in other slaughters, to wash their hands in water, to declare themselves guiltless.

³ Of the murder; an Hebrew kind of speech.

27:25 ¹ If there be any offence committed in slaying him, let us and our posterity smart for it.

27:28 ¹ Christ suffereth that reproach which was due to our sins; notwithstanding in the meantime by the secret providence of God, he is entitled King by them which did him that reproach.

² They cast a cloak about him, and wrapped it about him, for it lacked sleeves.

³ John and Mark make mention of a purple robe, which is also a very pleasant red. But these profane and malapert saucy soldiers clad Jesus in this array, to mock him withall, who was indeed a true King.

30 And spitted upon him, and took a reed, and smote him on the head.

31 Thus when they had mocked him, they took the robe from him, and put his own raiment on him, and let him away to crucify him.

32 ^bAnd as they came out, they found a man of Cyrene, named Simon: him they ¹compelled to bear his cross.

33 ¹And when they came unto the place called Golgotha (that is to say, the place of dead men's skulls)

34 ¹They gave him vinegar to drink, mingled with gall: and when he had tasted thereof, he would not drink.

35 ¶ ¹And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments, and did cast lots, that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by the Prophet, ⁷They divided my garments among them, and upon my vesture did cast lots.

36 And they sat and watched him there.

37 ¶ ¹They set up also over his head his cause written, THIS IS JESUS THE KING OF THE JEWS.

38 ¶ ¹And there were two thieves crucified with him, one on the right hand, and another on the left.

39 ¹And they that passed by, reviled him, wagging their heads,

40 And saying, ^kThou that destroyest the Temple, and buildest it in three days, save thyself: if thou be the Son of God, come down from the cross.

41 Likewise also the high Priests mocking him, with the Scribes, and Elders, and Pharisees, said, 42 He saved others, but he cannot save himself: if he be the king of Israel, let him now come down from the cross, and we will believe in him.

43 ¹He trusted in God, let him deliver him now, if he will have him: for he said, I am the Son of God.

44 The self same thing also the ¹thieves which were crucified with him, cast in his teeth.

45 ¹Now from the sixth hour was there darkness over all the land, unto the ninth hour.

46 And about the ninth hour Jesus cried with loud voice, saying, ^mEli, Eli, lama sabachthani? that is, My God, my God, why hast thou ¹forsaken me?

47 And some of them that stood there, when they heard it, said, This man calleth ¹Elijah.

48 And straightway one of them ran, and took ⁿa sponge and filled it with vinegar, and put it on a reed, and gave him to drink.

49 Others said, Let be: let us see if Elijah will come and save him.

50 ¹Then Jesus cried again with a loud voice, and yielded up the ghost.

51 ¹And behold, ^othe ²veil of the Temple was rent in twain, from the top to the bottom, and the earth did quake, and the stones were cloven.

52 And the ¹graves did open themselves, and many bodies of the Saints, which slept, arose, 53 And came out of the graves after his resurrection, and went into the holy city, and appeared unto many.

54 When the Centurion, and they that were with him, watching Jesus, saw the earth quake, and the things that were done, they feared greatly, saying, Truly this was the Son of God.

55 ¶ And many women were there, beholding him afar off, which had followed Jesus from Galilee, ministering unto him.

56 Among whom was Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James, and Joses, and the mother of Zebedee's sons.

57 ¶ ^{1p}And when the even was come, there came a rich man of Arimathea, named Joseph, who had also himself been Jesus' disciple.

58 He went to Pilate, and asked the body of Jesus.

27:32 ¹ They compelled Simon to bear his burdensome cross, whereby it appeareth that Jesus was so sore handled before, that he fainted by the way, and was not able to bear his cross throughout: for John writeth that he did bear the cross, to wit, at the beginning.

27:33 ¹ He is led out of the city, that we may be brought into the heavenly kingdom.

27:34 ¹ Christ found no comfort anywhere, that in him we might be filled with all comfort.

27:35 ¹ He is made a curse, that in him we may be blessed: he is spoiled of his garments, that we might be enriched by his nakedness.

27:37 ¹ He is pronounced the true Messiah, even of them of whom he is rejected.

27:38 ¹ Christ began then to judge the world, when after his judgment he hung betwixt two thieves.

27:39 ¹ To make full satisfaction for us, Christ suffereth and overcometh, not only the torments of the body, but also the most horrible torments of the mind.

27:44 ¹ This is spoken by the figure Synecdoche, for there was but one of them that did revile him.

27:45 ¹ Heaven itself is darkened for very horror, and Jesus crieth out from the depth of hell, and in the meanwhile he is mocked.

27:46 ¹ To wit, in this misery: and this crying out is proper to his humanity, which notwithstanding was void of sin, but yet felt the wrath of God which is due to our sins.

27:47 ¹ They allude to Elijah's name, not for want of understanding the tongue, but of a profane impudence and sauciness, and he repeated these words, to the end that this better harping upon the name might be understood.

27:50 ¹ Christ after he had overcome other enemies, at length provoked and setteth upon death itself.

27:51 ¹ Christ, when he is dead, sheweth himself to be God almighty, even his enemies confessing the same.

² Which divided the holiest of all.

27:52 ¹ That is to say, the stones clave asunder, and the graves did open themselves, to show by this token, that death was overcome: and the resurrection of the dead followed the resurrection of Christ, as appeareth by the next verse following.

27:57 ¹ Christ is buried, not privately or by stealth, but by the governor's consent by a famous man, in a place not far distant, in a new sepulcher, so that it cannot be doubted of his death.

Then Pilate commanded the body to be delivered.

59 So Joseph took the body, and wrapped it in a clean linen cloth,

60 And put it in his new tomb, which he had hewn out in a rock, and rolled a great stone to the door of the sepulcher, and departed.

61 And there was Mary Magdalene, and the other Mary, sitting over against the sepulcher.

62 ¶ ¹Now the next day that followed the Preparation of the Sabbath, the high Priests and Pharisees assembled to Pilate, 63 And said, Sir, we remember that that deceiver said, while he was yet alive, Within three days I will rise.

64 Command therefore, that the sepulcher be made sure until the third day, lest his Disciples come by night, and steal him away, and say unto the people, He is risen from the dead: so shall the last error be worse than the first.

65 Then Pilate said unto them, Ye have a ¹watch: go, and make it sure, as ye know.

66 And they went, and made the sepulcher sure, with the watch, and sealed the stone.

28 ¹ The women go to the sepulcher. ² The Angel. ⁹ The women see Christ. ¹⁸ He sendeth his Apostles to preach.

1 Now ⁱⁿ ¹the ²end of the Sabbath, when the first day of the week ³began to dawn, Mary Magdalene, and the other Mary, came to see the sepulcher.

2 And behold, there was a great earthquake: for the Angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door, and sat upon it.

3 And his ¹countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snow.

4 And for fear of him, the keepers were astonished, and became as dead men.

5 But the Angel answered, and said to the women, Fear ¹ye not: for I know that ye seek Jesus which was crucified:

7 And go quickly, and tell his disciples that he is risen from the dead: and behold, he goeth before you into Galilee: there ye shall see him: lo, I have told you.

8 So they departed quickly from the sepulcher, with fear and great joy, and did run to bring his disciples word.

9 ¹And as they went to tell his disciples, behold, Jesus also met them, saying, God save you. And they came, and took him by the feet, and worshipped him.

10 Then said Jesus unto them, Be not afraid. Go, and tell my brethren, that they go into Galilee, and there shall they see me.

11 ¶ ¹Now when they were gone, behold, some of the watch came into the city, and showed unto the high Priests all the things that were done.

12 And they gathered them together with the Elders, and took counsel, and gave large money unto the soldiers, 13 Saying, Say, His disciples came by night, and stole him away while we slept.

14 And if this matter ¹come before the governor to be heard, we will persuade him, and so use the matter that you shall not need to care,

15 So they took the money, and did as they were taught: and this saying is noised among the Jews unto this day.

16 ¶ ¹Then the eleven disciples went into Galilee, into a mountain, where Jesus had appointed them.

17 And when they saw him, they worshipped him: but some doubted.

18 And Jesus came, and spake unto them, saying, ^bAll power is given unto me, in heaven, and in earth.

19 ^cGo therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them ²in the Name of the Father, and the Son, and the holy Ghost, 20 Teaching them to observe all things, whatsoever I have commanded you: and lo, ^dI am with you ¹always, until the end of the world, Amen.

27:62 ¹ The keeping of the sepulcher is committed to Christ's own murderers, that there might be no doubt of his resurrection.

27:65 ¹ The soldiers of the garrison, which were appointed to keep the Temple.

28:1 ¹ Christ having put death to flight in the sepulcher, riseth by his own power, as straightway the Angel witnesseth.

² At the going out of the Sabbath, that is, about daybreak after the Roman's count, which reckon the natural day, from the sun rising to the next sun rising: and not as the Hebrews, which count from evening to evening.

³ When the morning after the first day after the Sabbath began to dawn: and that first day is the same, which we now call Sunday or the Lord's day.

28:3 ¹ The beams of his eyes, and by the figure Synecdoche, for the countenance.

28:5 ¹ The word (Ye) is spoken with force to confirm the women, now that the soldiers were afraid.

28:9 ¹ Christ appeareth himself after his resurrection, and sending the women to his disciples, sheweth that he hath not forgotten them.

28:11 ¹ The more the sun shineth, the more are the wicked blinded.

28:14 ¹ For it was to be feared, that it would be brought to the governor's ears.

28:16 ¹ Christ appeareth also to his Disciples, whom he maketh Apostles.

28:19 ¹ The sum of the Apostleship is, the publishing of the doctrine received of Christ throughout all the world, and the ministering of the Sacraments: the efficacy of which things hangeth not of the ministers, but of the Lord.

² Calling upon the name of the Father, the Son, and the holy Ghost.

28:20 ¹ Forever: and this place is meant of the manner of the presence of his spirit, by means whereof he maketh us partakers both of himself and of all his benefits, but is absent from us in body.

THE HOLY GOSPEL OF JESUS CHRIST, ACCORDING TO MARK

1 ⁴ John baptizeth. ⁶ His apparel and meat. ⁹ Jesus is baptized. ¹² He is tempted. ¹⁴ He preacheth the Gospel, ²¹ and ²⁹ he teacheth in the Synagogues. ²³ He healeth one that had a devil. ²⁹ Peter's mother-in-law. ³² Many diseased persons. ⁴⁰ The leper.

4 ¹John did baptize in the wilderness, and preach the ²baptism of amendment of life, for remission of sins.

5 And all the country of Judea, and they of Jerusalem went out unto him, and were all baptized of him in the river Jordan, confessing their sins.

6 ⁴Now John was clothed with camel's hair, and with a girdle of a skin about his loins: and he did eat ⁷locusts and wild honey,

8 Truth it is, I have ¹baptized you with water: but he will baptize you with the holy Ghost.

12 ^{b,1}And immediately the Spirit ²driveth him into the wilderness.

13 And he was there in the wilderness forty days, and was tempted of Satan: he was also with the wild beasts, and the Angels ministered unto him.

14 ¶ ^{i,1}Now after that John was committed to prison, Jesus came into Galilee, preaching the Gospel of the kingdom of God,

15 And saying, The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand: repent and believe the Gospel.

16 ¶ ^{j,1}And as he walked by the sea of Galilee, he saw Simon and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea (for they were fishers.)

17 Then Jesus said unto them, Follow me, and I will make you to be fishers of men.

18 And straightway they forsook their nets, and followed him.

19 ¹And when he had gone a little further thence, he saw James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother, as they were in the ship, mending their nets.

20 And anon he called them: and they left their father Zebedee in the ship with his hired servants, and went their way after him.

21 ¶ So ^kthey entered into ¹Capernaum: and straightway on the Sabbath day he entered into the Synagogue, and taught.

1:2 ¹ John goeth before Christ, as it was forespoken by the Prophets.

² This is the figure Metonymy, whereby is meant the books of the Prophets, Malachi and Isaiah.

³ The Prophet useth the present tense, when he speaketh of a thing to come, being as a sure of it, as if he saw it.

⁴ A metaphor taken from the usage of kings, which used to have ushers go before them.

1:4 ¹ The sum of John's doctrine, or rather Christ's, is remission of sins and amendment of life.

² The Jews used many kinds of washings: but here is spoken of a peculiar kind of washing, which hath all the parts of true baptism, amendment of life, and forgiveness of sins.

1:7 ¹ John and all ministers cast their eyes upon Christ the Lord.

² The Evangelist his meaning was to express the condition of the basest servant.

1:8 ¹ He sheweth that all the force of baptism proceedeth from Christ, who baptizeth within.

1:9 ¹ Christ doth consecrate our baptism in himself.

1:10 ¹ The vocation of Christ from heaven, as head of the Church.

² John that went down into the water with Christ.

² Here is no violent and forcible driving out meant: but the divine power claddeth Christ (who had lived until this time as a private man) with a new person, and prepareth him to the combat that was at hand, and to his ministry.

the Scribes.

23 ¶¹ And there was in their Synagogue a man² in whom was an unclean spirit, and he cried out,

24 Saying, Ah, what have we to do with thee, O¹ Jesus of Nazareth? Art thou come to destroy us? I know thee what thou art, even thou² holy one of God.

25 And Jesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him.

26 And the unclean spirit¹ tare him, and cried with a loud voice, and came out of him.

27 And they were all amazed, so that they demanded¹ one of another, saying, What thing is this? what new doctrine is this? for he² commandeth even the foul spirits with authority, and they obey him.

28 And immediately his fame spread abroad throughout all the region¹ bordering on Galilee.

29 ¶^{m,1} And as soon as they were come out of the Synagogue, they entered into the house of Simon and Andrew, with James and John.

30 And Simon's wife's mother lay sick of a fever, and anon they told him of her.

31 And he came and took her by the hand, and lifted her up, and the fever forsook her by and by, and she ministered unto them.

32 And when even was come, at what time the Sun setteth, they brought to him all that were diseased, and them that were possessed with devils.

33 And the whole city was gathered together at the door.

34 And he healed many that were sick of divers diseases: and he cast out many devils, and¹ suffered not the devils to say that they knew him.

35 And in the morning very early before day, Jesus arose and went out into a solitary place, and there prayed.

41 And Jesus had compassion, and put forth his hand, and touched him, and said to him, I will: be thou clean.

42 And as soon as he had spoken, immediately the leprosy departed from him, and he was made clean.

43 And after he had given him a straight commandment, he sent him away forthwith, 44¹ And said unto him, See thou say nothing to any man, but get thee hence, and show thyself to the^{a,2} Priest, and offer for thy cleansing those things which Moses commanded, for a testimonial unto them.

45 But when he was departed, ^phe began to tell many things, and to publish the matter: so that Jesus could no more openly enter into the city, but was without in desert places: and they came to him from every quarter.

1:23 ¹ He preacheth that doctrine, by which alone Satan is driven out of the world, which also he confirmeth by a miracle.

9 Whether is it easier to say to the sick of the palsy, Thy sins are forgiven thee? or to say, Arise, take up thy bed, and walk?

10 But that ye may know, that the Son of man hath authority in earth to forgive sins, he said unto the sick of the palsy,

3 ¹Hearken: Behold, there went out a sower to sow.

4 And it came to pass as he sowed, that some fell by the wayside, and the fowls of the heaven came, and devoured it up.

5 And some fell on stony ground, where it had not much earth, and by and by sprang up, because it had not depth of earth.

6 But as soon as the Sun was up, it was burnt up, and because it had not root, it withered away.

13 Again he said unto them, Perceive ye not this parable? how then should ye understand all other parables?

14 The sower soweth the word.

15 And these are they that receive the seed by the wayside, in whom the word is sown: but when they have heard it, Satan cometh immediately, and taketh away the word that was sown in their hearts.

16 And likewise they that receive the seed in stony ground, are they, which when they have heard the word, straightway receive it with gladness.

17 Yet have they no root in themselves, and endure but a time: for when trouble and persecution ariseth for the word, immediately they be offended.

18 Also they that receive the seed among the thorns, are such as hear the word:

19 But the cares ¹of this world, and the ⁶deceitfulness of riches, and the lusts of other things enter in, and choke the word, and it is unfruitful.

31 It is like a grain of mustard seed, which when it is sown in the earth, is the least of all seeds that be in the earth:

18 For John said unto Herod, ^kIt is not lawful for thee to have thy brother's wife.

19 Therefore Herodias ¹laid wait against him: and would have killed him, but she could not:

20 For Herod feared John, knowing that he was a just man, and an holy, and revered him, and when he heard him, he did many things, and heard him ¹gladly.

21 But the time being convenient, when Herod on his birthday made a banquet to his princes and captains, and chief estates of Galilee:

22 And the daughter ¹of the same Herodias came in, and danced, and pleased Herod, and them that sat at table together, the King said unto the maid, Ask of me what thou wilt, and I will give it thee.

23 And he swore unto her, Whatsoever thou shalt ask of me, I will give it thee, even unto the half of my kingdom.

24 ¹So ¹she went forth, and said to her mother, What shall I ask? And she said, John Baptist's head.

25 Then she came in straightway with haste unto the King, and asked, saying, I would that thou shouldest give me even now in a charger the head of John Baptist.

26 Then the King was very sorry: yet for his oath's sake, and for their sakes which sat at table with him, he would not refuse her.

27 And immediately the King sent the ¹hangman, and gave charge that his head should be brought in. So he went and beheaded him in the prison, 28 And brought his head in a charger, and gave it to the maid, and the maid gave it to her mother.

29 And when his disciples heard it, they came and took up his body, and put it in a tomb.

30 ¶ ^mAnd the Apostles gathered themselves together to Jesus, and told him all things, both what they had done, and what they had taught.

31 ¹And he said unto them, Come ye apart into the wilderness, and rest a while: for there were many comers and goers, that they had not leisure to eat.

6:4 ¹ Not only that hath that honor which of right is due to him taken from him, but also evil spoken of and misreported.

6:5 ¹ That is, he would not: for we must needs have faith, if we will receive the works of God.

6:7 ¹ The disciples are prepared to that general Apostleship, by a peculiar sending forth.

6:8 ¹ Faithful Pastors ought not to have their minds set, nor not on things that are necessary for this life, if they may be an hindrance unto them, be it never so little.

6:9 ¹ The word signifieth properly women's shoes.

² That is, they should take no change of garments with them, that they might be lighter for this journey, and make more speed.

6:10 ¹ That is, change not your inns in this short journey.

6:11 ¹ The Lord is a most severe revenger of his servants.

6:13 ¹ That oil was a token and a sign of this marvelous virtue: and seeing that the gift of healing is ceased a good while since, the ceremony which is yet retained of some is to no purpose.

6:14 ¹ The Gospel confirmeth the godly, and vexeth the wicked.

² This word signifieth Powers, whereby is meant the power of working miracles.

6:15 ¹ Of the old Prophets.

6:16 ¹ Commanded to be beheaded.

6:19 ¹ Sought all means to do him hurt.

6:20 ¹ The tyrant was very well content to hear sentence pronounced against him, but the seed fell upon stony places.

6:22 ¹ Which the same Herodias had not by Herod Antipas, but by Philip, and Josephus calleth her Salome.

6:24 ¹ For women used not to sit at table with men.

6:27 ¹ The word signifieth one that beareth a dart, and the king's guard was so called, because they did bear darts.

6:31 ¹ Such as follow Christ shall want nothing, no not in the wilderness, but shall have abundance. And how wicked a thing is it, not to look for this transitory life at his hands, who giveth everylast-ing life?

32 "So they went by ship out of the way into a desert place.

33 But the people saw them when they departed, and many knew him, and ran afoot thither out of all cities, and came thither before them, and assembled unto him.

34 "Then Jesus went out, and saw a great multitude, and had compassion on them, because they were like sheep which had no shepherd: [¶]and he began to teach them many things.

35 "And when the day was now far spent, his disciples came unto him, saying, This is a desert place, and now the day is far passed.

36 Let them depart, that they may go into the country and towns about, and buy them bread: for they have nothing to eat.

37 But he answered, and said unto them, Give ye them to eat. And they said unto him, 'Shall we go, and buy ²two hundred pennies worth of bread, and give them to eat?

38 "Then he said unto them, How many loaves have ye? go and look. And when they knew it, they said, Five, and two fishes.

39 So he commanded them to make them all sit down by ¹companies upon the green grass.

40 Then they sat down by ¹rows, by hundreds, and by fifties.

41 And he took the five loaves, and the two fishes, and looked up to heaven, and gave thanks, and broke the loaves, and gave them to his disciples to set before them, and the two fishes he divided among them all.

42 So they did all eat, and were satisfied.

43 And they took up twelve baskets full of the fragments, and of the fishes.

44 And they that had eaten, were about five thousand men.

45 ¶ ¹And straightway he caused his disciples to go into the ship, and to go before unto the other side unto Bethsaida, while he sent away the people.

^a Matt. 15:2

46 Then as soon as he had sent ¹them away, he departed into a mountain to pray.

47 ²And when even was come, the ship was in the midst of the sea, and he alone on the land.

48 And he saw them troubled in rowing, (for the wind was contrary unto them) and about the fourth watch of the night, he came unto them, walking upon the sea, and would have passed by them.

49 And when they saw him walking upon the sea, they supposed it had been a spirit, and cried out.

50 For they all saw him, and were sore afraid: but anon he talked with them, and said unto them, Be ye of good comfort: it is I, be not afraid.

51 Then he went up unto them into the ship, and the wind ceased, and they were ¹much more amazed in themselves, and marveled.

52 For they had not ¹considered the matter of the loaves, because their hearts were hardened.

53 ¶ ¹And they came over, and went into the land of Gennesaret, and arrived.

54 ¹So when they were come out of the ship, straightway they knew him,

55 And ran about throughout all that region round about, and began to carry hither and thither in couches all that were sick, where they heard that he was.

56 And whithersoever he entered into towns, or cities, or villages, they laid their sick in the streets, and prayed him that they might touch at the least the edge of his garment. And as many as touched ¹him, were made whole.

7 ² The Apostles are found fault with, for eating with unwashed hands. 4 The Pharisees' traditions about washings, Hypocrites. 8 Men's traditions more set by than God's. 10 Parents must be honored. 15 The things that do indeed defile a man. 25 The woman of Canaan. 32 The deaf dumb man is healed.

1 Then ^{a,1}gathered unto him the Pharisees, and certain of the Scribes which came from Jerusalem.

6:37 ¹ This declareth that there is an horrible disorder among the people, where the true preaching of God's word wanteth.

² Which is about five pounds sterling.

6:39 ¹ Word for word, by banquets, after the manner of the Hebrews, who have no distributives, as Mark 6:7. Now he calleth the rows of the sitters, banquets.

6:40 ¹ The word signifieth the beds in a garden, and it is word for word, by beds and beds, meaning thereby that they sat down in rows one by another, as beds in a garden.

6:45 ¹ The faithful servants of God after their little labor, are subject to great tempest, which Christ doth so moderate being present in power, although absent in body, that he bringeth them to an happy haven, at such time and by such means, as they looked not for: A lively image of the Church tossed to and fro in this world.

6:46 ¹ His disciples.

6:51 ¹ They were so far from leaving to be amazed, when they knew that it was no spirit, that they were much more astonished than ever they were before, when they saw the wind and the seas obey his commandment.

6:52 ¹ Either they perceived not, or had not well considered that miracle of the five loaves, insomuch that that virtue of Christ was no less strange to them, than if they had not been present at that miracle which was done but a little before.

6:54 ¹ Christ being rejected in his own country, and arriving upon a sudden amongst them of whom he was not looked for, is received to their profit.

6:56 ¹ Or, the hem of the garment.

7:1 ¹ None do more resist the wisdom of God, than they that should be wisest, and that upon a zeal of their own traditions: for men do not please themselves more in anything than in superstition, that is to say, in a worship of God fondly devised of themselves.

2 And when they saw some of his disciples ¹eat meat with ²common hands, (that is to say, unwashen) they complained.

3 (For the Pharisees, and all the Jews, except they wash their hands oft, eat not, ¹holding the traditions of the Elders.

4 And when they come from the ¹market, except they wash, they eat not: and many other things there be, which they have taken upon them to observe, as the washing of cups, and ²pots, and of brazen vessels, and of beds.)

5 Then asked him the Pharisees and Scribes, Why ¹walk not thy disciples according to the tradition of the Elders, but eat meat with unwashen hands?

6 ¹Then he answered and said unto them, Surely ^bIsaiah hath prophesied well of you, hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoreth me with lips, but their heart is far away from me.

7 ¹But they worship me in vain, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men.

8 ¹For ye lay the Commandments of God apart, and observe the tradition of men, as the washing of pots and of cups, and many other such like things ye do.

9 ¹And he said unto them, Well ye reject the commandment of God, that ye may observe your own tradition.

10 For Moses said, 'Honor thy father and thy mother: and ^dWhosoever shall speak evil of father or mother, let him ¹die the death.

11 But ye say, If a man say to father or mother, Corban, that is, By the gift that is offered by me, thou mayest have profit, he shall be free.

12 So ye suffer him no more to do anything for his father, or his mother.

and said unto them, Hearken you all unto me, and understand.

15 There is nothing without a man, that can defile him, when it entereth into him: but the things which proceed out of him, are they which defile the man.

16 If any have ears to hear, let him hear.

17 And when he came into an house, away from the people, his disciples asked him concerning the parable.

18 And he said unto them, What? are ye without understanding also? Do ye not know that whatsoever thing from without entereth into a man, cannot defile him, 19 Because it entered not into his heart, but into the belly, and goeth out into the draught which is the ¹purging of all meats?

20 Then he said, That which cometh out of man, that defileth man.

21 ^fFor from within, even out of the heart of men, proceed evil thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murders, 22 Thefts, ¹covetousness, wickedness, deceit, uncleanness, a ²wicked eye, backbiting, pride, foolishness.

23 All these evil things come from within, and defile a man.

24 ¶ ^gAnd from thence he rose, and went into the ²borders of Tyre and Sidon, and entered into an house, and would that no man should have known: but he could not be hid.

25 For a certain woman, whose little daughter had an unclean spirit, heard of him, and came, and fell at his feet,

26 (And the woman was a ¹Greek, a ²Syro-Phoenician by nation) and she besought him that he would cast out the devil out of her daughter.

27 But Jesus said unto her, Let the children first be fed: for it is not good to take the children's bread, and to cast it unto ¹whelps.

7:2 ¹ Word for word, eat bread: a kind of speech which the Hebrews use, taking bread for all kinds of food.

² For the Pharisees would not eat their meat with unwashed hands, because they thought that their hands were defiled with common handling of things, Matt. 15:11, 12.

7:3 ¹ Observing diligently.

7:4 ¹ That is to say, from civil affairs and worldly, they go not to meat, unless they wash themselves first.

² By these words are understood all kinds of vessels, which are appointed for our daily use.

7:5 ¹ Why live they not? a kind of speech taken from the Hebrews: for amongst them, the way is taken for trade of life.

7:6 ¹ Hypocrisy is always joined with superstition.

7:7 ¹ The more earnest the superstitious are, the more they are mad, in promising themselves God's favor by their deserts.

7:8 ¹ The devices of superstitious men do not only not fulfill the Law of God (as they blasphemously persuade themselves) but also do utterly take it away.

7:9 ¹ True Religion, which is clean contrary to superstition, consisteth in spiritual worship: and all enemies of true Religion, although they seem to have taken deep root, shall be plucked up.

7:10 ¹ Without hope of pardon, he shall be put to death.

28 Then she answered, and said unto him, ¹Truth, Lord: yet indeed the whelps eat under the table of the children's crumbs.

29 Then he said unto her, For this saying go thy way: the devil is gone out of thy daughter.

30 And when she was come home to her house, she found the devil departed, and her daughter lying on the bed.

31 ¶ ¹And he departed again from the coasts of Tyre and Sidon, and came unto the sea of Galilee, through the midst of the coasts of ²Decapolis.

32 And they brought unto him one that was deaf and stammered in his speech, and prayed him to put his hand upon him.

33 Then he took him aside from the multitude, and put his fingers in his ears, and did spit, and touched his tongue.

34 And looking up to heaven, he sighed, and said unto him, Ephphatha, that is, Be opened.

35 And straightway his ears were opened, and the string of his tongue was loosed, and he spake plain.

36 And he commanded them that they should tell no man: but how much soever he forbade them, the more a great deal they published it,

37 And were beyond measure astonished, saying, He hath done all things well: ^bHe maketh both the deaf to hear, and the dumb to speak.

4 Then his disciples answered him, Whence can a man satisfy these with bread here in the wilderness?

5 And he asked them, How many loaves have ye? And they said, Seven.

6 Then he commanded the multitude to sit down on the ground: and he took the seven loaves, and gave thanks, brake them, and gave to his disciples to set before them, and they did set them before the people.

7 They had also a few small fishes: and when he had given thanks, he commanded them also to be set before them,

8 So they did eat, and were sufficed, and they took up of the broken meat that was left, seven baskets full.

9 (And they that had eaten, were about four thousand) so he sent them away.

10 ¶ ^bAnd anon he entered into a ship with his disciples, and came into the parts of Dalmanutha.

11 ^{c1}And the Pharisees ²came forth, and began to dispute with him, seeking of him a sign from heaven, and tempting him.

12 Then he ¹sighed deeply in his spirit, and said, Why doth this generation seek a sign? Verily I say unto you, ²a sign shall not be given unto this generation.

13 ¶ So he left them, and went into the ship again, and departed to the other side.

14 ¶ ^dAnd they had forgotten to take bread, neither had they in the ship with them, but one loaf.

8:15 ¹ We must especially take heed of them which corrupt the word of God, what degree soever they be of, either in the Church, or in civil policy.

8:16 ¹ They that have their minds fixed on earthly things, are utterly blind in heavenly things, although they be never so plainly set forth unto them.

8:21 ¹ How cometh it to pass, that you understand not these things which are so plain and evident?

8:22 ¹ A true image of our regeneration, which Christ separating us from the world, worketh and accomplisheth by little and little in us.

26 ¹Then the spirit cried, and rent him sore, and came out, and he was as one dead, insomuch that many said, He is dead.

27 But Jesus took his hand, and lifted him up, and he arose.

28 ¹And when he was come into the house, his disciples asked him secretly, Why could not we cast him out?

29 And he said unto them, This kind can by no other means come forth, but by prayer and fasting.

30 ¶ ^b And they departed thence, and ¹went together through Galilee, and he would not that any should have known it.

31 ¹For he taught his disciples, and said unto them, The Son of man shall be delivered into the hands of men, and they shall kill him, but after that he is killed, he shall rise again the third day.

32 But they understood not that saying, and were afraid to ask him.

33 ^{i,1} After, he came to Capernaum: and when he was in the ²house, he asked them, What was it that ye disputed among you by the way?

34 And they held their peace: for by the way they reasoned among themselves, who should be the chiefest.

35 And he sat down and called the twelve, and said to them, If any man desire to be first, the same shall be last of all, and servant unto all.

36 And he took a little child, and set him in the midst of them, and took him in his arms, and said unto them,

37 Whosoever shall receive one of such little children in my Name, receiveth me: and whosoever receiveth

9:9 ¹ The Lord hath appointed his time for the publishing of the Gospel.

9:10 ¹ Even very hardly as it were.

² They questioned not together touching the general resurrection which shall be in the latter day, but they understood not what he meant by that which he spake of his own peculiar resurrection.

9:11 ¹ The foolish opinion of the Rabbis is here repelled touching Elijah's coming, which was that either Elijah should rise again from the dead, or that his soul should enter into some other body.

9:14 ¹ Christ sheweth by a miracle even to the unworthy, that he is come to bridle the rage of Satan.

9:18 ¹ Vexed him inwardly, as the colic useth to do.

9:20 ¹ So soon as Jesus had looked upon the boy that was brought unto him, the devil began to rage after his manner.

9:23 ¹ There is nothing but Christ can and will do it, for them that believe in him.

9:26 ¹ The nearer that the virtue of Christ is, the more outrageously doth Satan rage.

9:28 ¹ We have need of faith, and therefore of prayer and fasting, to cast Satan out of his old possession.

9:30 ¹ He and his disciples together.

9:31 ¹ Christ forewarneth us with great diligence, to the end we should not be oppressed with sudden calamities, but the slothfulness of man is wonderful.

38 ¶ ^{j1}Then John answered him, saying, Master, we saw one casting out devils by thy Name, which followeth not us, and we forbade him, because he followeth us not.

39 ¶ ^kBut Jesus said, Forbid him not: for there is no man that can do a miracle by my Name, that can lightly speak evil of me.

40 For whosoever is not against us, is on our part.

41 ^lAnd whosoever shall give you a cup of water to drink for my Name's sake, because ye belong to Christ, verily I say unto you, he shall not lose his reward.

45 Likewise, if thy foot cause thee to offend, cut it off: it is better for thee to go halt into life, than having two feet, to be cast into hell, into the fire that never shall be quenched,

46 Where their worm dieth not, and the fire never goeth out.

47 And if thine eye cause thee to offend, pluck it out: it is better for thee to go into the kingdom of God with one eye, than having two eyes, to be cast into hell fire,

Apostles forsook all things for Christ's sake. ³³ Christ fore-showeth his death. ³⁵ Zebedee's sons' request. ⁴⁶ Blind Bartimaeus healed.

1 And ^hhe ¹arose from thence, and went into the coasts of Judea by the far side of Jordan, and the people resorted unto him again, and as he was wont, he taught them again.

2 Then the Pharisees came and asked him, if it were lawful for a man to put away his wife, and tempted him.

3 And he answered, and said unto them, What did ⁱMoses command you?

4 And they said, Moses suffered to write a bill of divorcement, and to put her away.

5 ¹Then Jesus answered, and said unto them, For the hardness of your heart he wrote this ²precept unto you.

6 But at the beginning of the creation ³God made them male and female:

7 ⁴For this cause shall man leave his father and mother, and cleave unto his wife.

8 And they twain shall be one flesh: so that they are no more twain, but one flesh.

9 ⁵Therefore, what God hath coupled together, let not man separate.

10 And in the house his disciples asked him again of that matter.

11 And he said unto them, ⁶whosoever shall put away his wife and marry another, commiteth adultery ¹against her.

12 And if a woman put away her husband, and be married to another, she commiteth adultery.

13 ¶ ⁸¹Then they brought little children to him, that he should touch them, and his disciples rebuked those that brought them.

14 But when Jesus saw it, he was displeased, and said to them, Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdom of God.

15 Verily I say unto you, Whosoever shall not receive the kingdom of God ¹as a little child, he shall not enter therein.

16 And he took them up in his arms, and put his hands upon them, and blessed them.

9:37 ¹ He doth not only receive me, but also him that sent me.

9:38 ¹ God who is the author of an ordinary vocation, worketh also extraordinarily so oft as it pleaseth him. But an extraordinary vocation is tried by the doctrine and the effects.

9:42 ¹ God is so severe a revenger of offenses, that it is better to suffer any loss, than to be an occasion of offense unto any.

9:44 ¹ Their worm which shall be cast into that flame.

9:49 ¹ We must be seasoned and powdered by God, both that we may be acceptable sacrifices unto him: and also that we being knit together, may season one another.

² That is, shall be consecrated to God, being seasoned with the incorruptible word.

10:1 ¹ That is to say, departed and went from thence: for in the Hebrew tongue, sitting and dwelling are all one, and so are rising and going forth.

10:5 ¹ God did never allow those divorces, which the Law did tolerate.

² See also Matt. 19. For Moses gave them no commandment to put away their wives, but rather made a good provision for the wives against the stubborn hardness of their husbands.

10:11 ¹ Whom he putteth away, for he is an adulterer by keeping company with another.

10:13 ¹ God of his goodness comprehendeth in the covenant not only the fathers, but the children also: and therefore he blesseth them.

10:15 ¹ We must in malice become children, if we will enter into the kingdom of heaven.

17 ¶ ¹And when he was gone out on the way, there came one ^brunning, and kneeled to him, and asked him, Good Master, what shall I do, that I may possess eternal life?

18 Jesus said to him, Why callest thou me good? there is none good but one, even God.

19 Thou knowest the commandments, ^cThou shalt not commit adultery. Thou shalt not kill. Thou shalt not steal. Thou shalt not bear false witness. Thou shalt ^dhurt no man. Honor thy father and mother.

20 Then he answered, and said to him, Master, all these things have I observed from my youth.

21 And Jesus looked upon him, and loved him, and said unto him, One thing is lacking unto thee. Go and sell all that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven, and come, follow me, and take up the cross.

22 But he was sad at that saying, and went away sorrowful: for he had great possessions.

23 And Jesus looked round about, and said unto his disciples, How hardly do they that have riches, enter into the kingdom of God!

24 And his disciples were afraid at his words. But Jesus answered again, and said unto them, Children, how hard is it for them that trust in riches, to enter into the kingdom of God!

25 It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle, than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God.

26 And they were much more astonished, saying with themselves, Who then can be saved?

27 But Jesus looked upon them, and said, With men it is impossible, but not with God: for with God all things are possible.

28 ¶ ^eThen Peter began to say unto him, Lo, we have forsaken all, and have followed thee.

29 Jesus answered, and said, Verily I say unto you, there is no man that hath forsaken house, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands for my sake and the Gospels,

30 But he shall receive an ¹hundredfold, now at this present, houses, and brethren, and sisters, and mothers, and children, and lands ²with persecutions, and in the world to come, eternal life.

32 ¶ ^lAnd they were in the way going up to Jerusalem, and Jesus went before them, and they were troubled, and as they followed, they were afraid, and Jesus took the twelve again, and began to tell them what things should come unto him,

33 Saying, Behold, we go up to Jerusalem, and the Son of man shall be delivered unto the high Priests, and to the Scribes, and they shall condemn him to death, and shall deliver him to the Gentiles.

34 And they shall mock him, and scourge him, and spit upon him, and kill him: but the third day he shall rise again.

35 ¶ ^mThen James and John the sons of Zebedee came unto him, saying, Master, ²we would that thou shouldest do for us that we desire.

36 And he said unto them, What would ye I should do for you?

37 And they said to him, Grant unto us, that we may sit, one at thy right hand, and the other at thy left hand in thy glory.

38 But Jesus said unto them, Ye know not what ye ask. Can ye drink of the cup that I shall drink of, and be baptized with the baptism that I shall be baptized with?

39 And they said unto him, We can. But Jesus said unto them, Ye shall drink indeed of the cup that I shall drink of, and be baptized with the baptism wherewith I shall be baptized:

40 But to sit at my right hand and at my left, is not mine to give, but it shall be given to them for whom it is prepared.

41 And when the ten heard that, they began to disdain at James and John.

42 ¹But Jesus called them unto him, and said to them, ²Ye know that ³they which are princes among the Gentiles, have domination over them, and they that be great among them, exercise authority over them.

43 But it shall not be so among you: but whosoever will be great among you, shall be your servant.

44 And whosoever will be chief of you, shall be the servant of all.

45 For even the Son of man came not to be served, but to serve, and to give his life for the ransom of many.

10:17 ¹ Two things are chiefly to be eschewed of them which earnestly seek eternal life: that is to say, an opinion of their merits or deservings, which is not only understood, but condemned by the due consideration of the Law: and the love of riches, which turneth aside many, from that race wherein they ran with a good courage.

10:19 ¹ Neither by force nor deceit, nor any other means whatsoever.

10:28 ¹ To neglect all things in comparison of Christ, is a sure way unto eternal life, so that we fall not away by the way.

10:30 ¹ An hundredfold as much, if we look to the true use and commodities of this life, so that we measure them after the will of God, and not after the wealth itself, and our greedy desire.

² Even in the midst of persecutions.

10:32 ¹ The disciples are again prepared to patience, not to be overcome by the foretelling unto them of his death, which was at hand, and therewithall of life which should most certainly follow.

10:35 ¹ We must first strive, before we triumph.

² We pray thee.

10:42 ¹ The Magistrates according to God's appointment, rule over their subjects: but the Pastors are not called to rule, but to serve, according to the example of the Son of God himself, who went before them, for so much as he also was a Minister of his Father's will.

46 ¶^{a,1} Then they came to Jericho: and as he went out of Jericho with his disciples, and a great multitude, Bartimaeus the son of Timaeus, a blind man, sat by the wayside, begging.

47 And when he heard that it was Jesus of Nazareth, he began to cry, and to say, Jesus the Son of David, have mercy on me.

48 And many rebuked him, because he should hold his peace: but he cried much more, O Son of David, have mercy on me.

49 Then Jesus stood still, and commanded him to be called: and they called the blind, saying unto him, Be of good comfort: arise, he calleth thee.

50 So he threw away his cloak, and rose, and came to Jesus.

51 And Jesus answered, and said unto him, What wilt thou that I do unto thee? And the blind said unto him, Lord, that I may receive sight.

52 Then Jesus said unto him, Go thy way: thy faith hath saved thee. And by and by he received his sight, and followed Jesus in the way.

1 And ^{a,1} when they came near to Jerusalem, to Bethphage and Bethany unto the mount of Olives, he sent forth two of his disciples,

2 And said unto them, Go your ways into that town that is over against you, and as soon as ye shall enter into it, ye shall find a colt tied, whereon never man sat: loose him, and bring him.

3 And if any man say unto you, Why do ye this? Say that the Lord hath need of him, and straightway he will send him hither.

4 And they went their way, and found a colt, tied by the door without, in a place where two ways met, and they loosed him.

5 Then certain of them, that stood there, said unto them, What do ye loosing the colt?

6 And they said unto them, as Jesus had commanded them: So they let them go.

7 ¶^b And they brought the colt to Jesus, and cast their garments on him, and he sat upon him.

10 1 Blessed be the kingdom that cometh in the Name of the Lord of our father David: Hosanna, O thou which art in the highest heavens.

11 1 So Jesus entered into Jerusalem, and into the Temple: and when he had looked about on all things, and now it was evening, he went forth unto Bethany with the twelve.

12 ^d And on the morrow when they were come out from Bethany, he was hungry.

27 ¶ ^{j,1}Then they came again to Jerusalem: and as he walked in the Temple, there came to him the high Priests, and the Scribes, and the Elders, 28 And said unto him, By what authority doest thou these things? and who gave thee this authority, that thou shouldest do these things?

5 And again he sent another, and him they slew, and many others, beating some, and killing some.

6 Yet had he one son, his dear beloved: him also he sent the last unto them, saying, They will reverence my son.

13 ¶ ^{c,1}And they sent unto him certain of the Pharisees, and of the Herodians, that they might take him in his talk.

18 ¶^{c,1} Then came the Sadducees unto him, (which say, there is no resurrection) and they asked him, saying,

19 Master, ^fMoses wrote unto us, If any man's brother die, and leave his wife, and leave no children, that his brother should take his wife, and raise up seed unto his brother.

20 There were seven brethren, and the first took a wife, and when he died, left no issue.

21 Then the second took her, and he died, neither did he yet leave issue, and the third likewise:

22 So these seven had her, and left no issue: last of all the wife died also.

23 In the resurrection then, when they shall rise again, whose wife shall she be of them? for seven had her to wife.

24 Then Jesus answered, and said unto them, Are ye not therefore deceived, because ye know not the Scriptures, neither the power of God?

25 For when they shall rise again from the dead, neither men marry, nor wives are married, but are as the Angels which are in heaven.

26 And as touching the dead, that they shall rise again, have ye not read in the book of Moses how in the bush God spake unto him, saying, I ^gam the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob?

27 God is not the God of the dead, but the God of the living. Ye are therefore greatly deceived.

28 ¶^{h,1} Then came one of the Scribes that had heard them disputing together, and perceiving that he had answered them well, he asked him, Which is the first commandment of all?

29 Jesus answered him, The first of all the commandments is, ⁱHear, Israel, The Lord our God is the only Lord.

30 Thou shalt therefore love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength: this is the first commandment.

35 ¶^{k,1} And Jesus answered and said teaching in the Temple, How say the Scribes that Christ is the son of David?

36 For David himself said by ^lthe holy Ghost, ⁱThe Lord said to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footstool.

41 ^{o,1} And as Jesus sat over against the treasury, he beheld how the people ²cast money into the treasury, and many rich men cast in much.

42 And there came a certain poor widow, and she threw in two mites, which make a quadran.

43 Then he called unto him his disciples, and said unto them, Verily I say unto you, that this poor widow hath cast more in, than all they which have cast into the treasury.

44 For they all did cast in of their superfluity: but she of her poverty did cast in all that she had, even all her living.

12:18 ¹ The resurrection of the body is avouched against the foolish ignorance and malice of the Sadducees.

12:28 ¹ Sacrifices and outward worship, never pleased God, unless such necessary duties as we owe to God and our neighbors went afore.

12:35 ¹ Christ proveth his Godhead even out of David himself, of whom he came according to the flesh.

12:36 ¹ Word for word, in the holy Ghost, and there is a great force in this kind of speech, whereby is meant that it was not so much David, as the holy Ghost that spake, who did in a manner possess David.

12:38 ¹ The manners of ministers are not rashly to be followed as an example.

² While he taught them.

³ The word is a stole, which is a kind of woman's garment, long even down to the heels, and is taken generally, for any garment made for comeliness, but in this place it seemeth to signify that fringed garment mentioned in Deut. 22:11.

12:41 ¹ The doing of our duties, which God alloweth, is not esteemed according to the outward value, but to the inward affects of the heart.

1 ^aAnd ¹as he went out of the Temple, one of his disciples said unto him, Master, see what manner stones, and what manner buildings are here.

2 ^bThen Jesus answered and said unto him, Seest thou these great buildings? there shall not be left one stone upon a stone, that shall not be thrown down.

3 And as he sat on the mount of Olives, over against the Temple, Peter, and James, and John, and Andrew asked him secretly,

4 Tell us, when shall these things be? and what shall be the sign when all these things shall be fulfilled?

5 And Jesus answered them, and began to say, ^cTake heed lest any man deceive you.

6 For many shall come in my Name, saying, I am Christ, and shall deceive many.

7 Furthermore when ye shall hear of wars, and rumors of wars, be ye not troubled, for such things must needs be: but the end shall not be yet.

8 For nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom, and there shall be earthquakes in divers quarters, and there shall be famine and troubles: these are the beginnings of sorrows.

9 But take ye heed to yourselves: for they shall deliver you up to the Councils, and to the Synagogues: ye shall be beaten, and brought before rulers and kings for my sake, for a ¹testimonial unto them.

10 And the Gospel must first be published among all nations.

11 ^dBut when they lead you, and deliver you up, ¹be not careful before hand, ²neither study what ye shall say: but what is given you at the same time, that speak: for it is not you that speak, but the holy Ghost.

12 Yea, and the brother shall deliver the brother to death, and the father the son, and the children shall rise against their parents, and shall cause them to die.

13 And ye shall be hated of all men ¹for my Name's sake: but whosoever shall endure unto the end, he shall be saved.

down into the house, neither enter therein, to fetch anything out of his house.

16 And let him that is in the field, not turn back again to take his garment.

17 Then woe shall be to them that are with child, and to them that give suck in those days.

18 Pray therefore that your flight be not in the winter.

19 For ¹those days shall be such tribulation, as was not from the beginning of the creation which God created unto this time, neither shall be.

20 And except that the Lord had shortened those days, no flesh should be saved: but for the elect's sake, which he hath chosen, he hath shortened those days.

21 Then ^gif any man say to you, Lo, here is Christ, or lo, he is there, believe it not.

22 For false Christs shall rise, and false prophets, and shall show signs and wonders, to deceive if it were possible the very elect.

23 But take ye heed: behold, I have showed you all things before.

24 ¶ Moreover in those days, after that tribulation, ^hthe sun shall wax dark, and the moon shall not give her light,

25 And the stars of heaven shall fall: and the powers which are in heaven, shall shake.

26 And then shall they see the Son of man, coming in the clouds, with great power and glory.

27 ⁱAnd he shall then send his Angels, and shall gather together his elect from the four winds, and from the utmost part of the earth to the utmost part of heaven.

28 Now learn a parable of the fig tree. When her bough is yet tender, and it bringeth forth leaves, ye know that summer is near.

29 So in like manner, when ye see these things come to pass, know that the kingdom of God is near, even at the doors.

30 Verily I say unto you, that this generation shall not pass, till all these things be done.

31 Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away.

32 ¹But of that day and hour knoweth no man, no, not the Angels which are in heaven, neither the Son himself, but the Father.

13:1 ¹ The destruction of the Temple, city, and whole nation is foretold, and the troubles of the Church, but yet there are annexed many comforts, and last of all, the end of the world is described.

13:9 ¹ The hearing of you preaching shall be a most evident witness against them, so that they shall not be able to pretend ignorance.

13:11 ¹ We are not forbidden to think beforehand, but pensive carefulness whereby men discourage themselves, which proceedeth from distrust, and want of confidence and sure hope of God's assistance: that carefulness we are willing to beware of, see also Matt. 6:27.

13:14 ¹ When the heathen and profane people shall not only enter into the Temple, and defile both it and the city, but also clean destroy it.

13:19 ¹ This is a kind of speech which the Hebrews use, and it hath a great force in it, for it giveth us to understand that in all that time one misery shall so follow upon another, as if the time itself were very misery itself: So the Prophet Amos, 5:20 saith, that the day of the Lord shall be darkness.

13:32 ¹ The latter day is not curiously to be searched for which the Father alone knoweth: but let us rather take heed, that it come not upon us unaware.

33 ^JTake heed: watch, and pray: for ye know not when the time is.

34 For the Son of man is as a man going into a strange country, and leaveth his house, and giveth authority to his servants, and to every man his work, and commandeth the porter to watch.

35 Watch ye therefore, (for ye know not when the master of the house will come, at even, or at midnight, at the cock crowing, or in the dawning,)

36 Lest if he come suddenly, he should find you sleeping.

37 And those things that I say unto you, I say unto all men, Watch.

9 Verily I say unto you, whosoever this Gospel shall be preached throughout the whole world, this also that she hath done, shall be spoken of in remembrance of her.

10 ¶ ^{c,1}Then Judas Iscariot, one of the twelve, went away unto the high Priests, to betray him unto them.

11 And when they heard it, they were glad, and promised that they would give him money: therefore he sought how he might conveniently betray him.

12 ¶ ^{d,1}Now the first day of unleavened bread, ²when ³they sacrificed the ⁴Passover, his disciples said unto him, Where wilt thou that we go and prepare, that thou mayest eat the Passover?

13 Then he sent forth two of his disciples, and said unto them, Go ye into the city, and there shall a man meet you bearing a pitcher of water: follow him.

14 And whithersoever he goeth in, say ye to the good man of the house, The master saith, Where is the lodging where I shall eat the Passover with my disciples?

15 And he will show you an ¹upper chamber which is large, trimmed and prepared: there make it ready for us.

16 So his disciples went forth, and came to the city, and found as he had said unto them, and made ready the Passover.

17 ¶ And at even he came with the twelve.

18 ^{e,1}And as they sat at table and did eat, Jesus said, Verily I say unto you, that one of you shall betray me, which eateth with me.

19 Then they began to be sorrowful and to say to him one by one, Is it I? And another, Is it I?

20 And he answered and said unto them, It is one of the twelve that ¹dippeth with me in the platter.

21 Truly the Son of man goeth his way, as it is written of him: ¹but woe be to that man, by whom the Son of man is betrayed: it had been good for that man, if he had never been born.

22 ^gAnd as they did eat, Jesus took the bread, and when he had given thanks, he brake it and gave it to them, and said, Take, eat, this is my body.

23 Also he took the cup, and when he had given

14:1 ¹ By the will of God, against the counsel of men, it came to pass that Christ should be put to death upon the solemn day of the Passover, that in all respects the truth might agree to the figure.

14:4 ¹ Rash judgments are frustrated before God.

14:5 ¹ Which is about six pounds English.

14:7 ¹ Christ suffered himself to be anointed once or twice for certain considerations: but his will is to be daily anointed in the poor.

14:8 ¹ This woman by the secret instinct of the Spirit, anointing Christ, setteth before men's eyes, his death and burial which were at hand.

14:10 ¹ Covetousness cloaked with a zeal of charity, is an occasion to betray and crucify Christ.

14:12 ¹ Christ being made subject to the Law for us, doth celebrate the Passover according to the Law: and therewithall by a miracle sheweth that notwithstanding he in the flesh shall straightway suffer, yet that he is God.

² That is, upon which day, and at the evening of the same day, which was the beginning of the fifteenth, see also Matt. 26:17.

³ They used to sacrifice.

⁴ This is spoken thus, by the figure Metonymy, which is usual in sacraments, and by the Passover is meant the Paschal lamb.

14:15 ¹ The Greek word signifieth that part of the house that is highest from the ground, to what use soever it be put, but because they used to sup in that part of the house, they called it a supping chamber.

14:18 ¹ The figure of the law, which is by and by to be fulfilled, is abrogated: and in place thereof are put figures of the new covenant answerable unto them, which shall continue to the world's end.

14:20 ¹ That useth to eat meat with me.

thanks, gave it to them: and they all drank of it.

24 And he said unto them, This is my blood of that new Testament which is shed for many.

25 Verily I say unto you, I will drink no more of the fruit of the vine until that day, that I drink it new in the kingdom of God.

26 And when they had sung a Psalm, they went out to the mount of Olives.

27 ¶^{b,17} Then Jesus said unto them, All ye shall be offended by me this night: for it is written, I will smite the shepherd, and the sheep shall be scattered.

28 But after that I am risen, I will go into Galilee before you.

29 And Peter said unto him, Although all men should be offended at thee, yet would not I.

30 Then Jesus said unto him, Verily I say unto thee, this day, even in this night before the cock crow twice, thou shalt deny me thrice.

31 But he said more earnestly, If I should die with thee, I will not deny thee: likewise also said they all.

32 ¶^{k,1} After, they came into a place named Gethsemane: then he said to his disciples, Sit ye here, till I have prayed.

33 And he took with him Peter, and James, and John, and he began to be troubled, and in great heaviness, 34 And said unto them, My soul is very heavy, even unto the death: tarry here, and watch.

35 So he went forward a little, and fell down on the ground, and prayed, that if it were possible, that hour might pass from him,

36 And he said, Abba, Father, all things are possible unto thee: take away this cup from me: nevertheless not that I will, but that thou wilt, be done.

37 Then he came, and found them sleeping, and said to Peter, Simon, sleepest thou? couldest not thou watch one hour?

38 ¶ Watch ye, and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit indeed is ready, but the flesh is weak.

39 And again he went away, and prayed, and spake

41 And he came the third time, and said unto them, Sleep henceforth, and take your rest: it is enough: the hour is come: behold, the Son of man is delivered into the hands of sinners.

42 Rise up: let us go: lo, he that betrayeth me, is at hand.

43 ^{l,1} And immediately while he yet spake, came Judas that was one of the twelve, and with him a great multitude with swords and staves from the high Priests, and Scribes, and Elders.

44 And he that betrayed him, had given them a token, saying, Whomsoever I shall kiss, he it is: take him and lead him away safely.

45 And as soon as he was come, he went straightway to him, and said, Hail Master, and kissed him.

46 Then they laid their hands on him, and took him.

47 And one of them that stood by, drew out a sword, and smote a servant of the high Priest, and cut off his ear.

48 And Jesus answered, and said to them, Ye be come out as against a thief, with swords and with staves, to take me.

49 I was daily with you, teaching in the Temple, and ye took me not: but this is done that the Scriptures should be fulfilled.

50 Then they all forsook him, and fled.

51 And there followed him a certain young man, clothed in linen upon his bare body, and the young men caught him.

52 But he left his linen cloth, and fled from them naked.

53 So they led Jesus away to the high Priest, and to him came together all the high Priests, and the Elders, and the Scribes.

54 And Peter followed him afar off, even into the 14:27 ¹ Christ foretelleth how he shall be forsaken of his, but yet that he will never forsake them.

14:29 ¹ Here is set forth in an excellent person, a most sorrowful example of man's rashness and weakness.

14:31 ¹ That doubling of words, setteth out more plainly Peter's vehement affirmation.

14:32 ¹ Christ suffering for us in that flesh which he took upon him for our sakes, the most horrible terrors of the curse of God, receiveth the cup at his Father's hands, which he being just, doth straightway drink of for the unjust.

14:36 ¹ This doubling of the word was used in those days, when their languages were so mixed together: for this word, Abba, is a Syrian word.

14:37 ¹ An horrible example of the sluggishness of men, even in the disciples whom Christ had chosen.

14:43 ¹ As men did willingly spoil God their Creator of his praise in forsaking and betraying him: so Christ willingly going about to make satisfaction for this ruin, is forsaken for his own, and betrayed by one of his familiars as a thief, that the punishment might be agreeable to the sin, and we who are very traitors, forsakers, and sacrilegers might be delivered out of the devil's snare.

14:44 ¹ So diligently, that he escape not out of your hands.

14:47 ¹ That is, Peter.

14:50 ¹ All his disciples.

14:51 ¹ Under pretence of godliness, all things are lawful to such as do violence against Christ.

² Which he cast about him, when he hearing that stir in the night suddenly ran forth: whereby we may understand with how great licentiousness these villains violently set upon him.

14:53 ¹ The highest council was assembled, because Christ was accused as a blasphemous and a false prophet: for as for the other crime of treason, it was forged against him by the Priests, to enforce Pilate by that means to condemn him.

hall of the high Priest, and sat with the servants, and warmed himself at the fire.

55 ¹And the ^hhigh Priests, and all the Council sought for witness against Jesus, to put him to death, but found none.

56 For many bare false witness against him, but their witness agreed not together.

57 Then there arose certain, and bare false witness against him, saying,

58 We heard him say, ^oI will destroy this Temple made with hands, and within three days I will build another, made without hands.

59 But their witness yet agreed not together.

60 Then the high Priest stood up amongst them, and asked Jesus, saying, Answerest thou nothing? what is the matter that these bear witness against thee?

61 But he held his peace, and answered nothing. Again the high Priest asked him, and said unto him, Art thou that Christ the son of the ¹Blessed?

62 And Jesus said, I am he, ^oand ye shall see the Son of man sit at the right hand of the power of God, and come in the clouds of heaven.

63 Then the high Priest rent his clothes, and said, What have we anymore need of witnesses?

64 Ye have heard the blasphemy: what think ye? And they all condemned him to be worthy of death.

65 ¹And some began to spit at him, and to cover his face, and to beat him with fists, and to say unto him, Prophesy. And the sergeants smote him with their rods.

66 ^{o1}And as Peter was beneath in the hall, there came one of the maids of the high Priest.

67 And when she saw Peter warming himself, she looked on him, and said, Thou wast also with Jesus of Nazareth.

68 But he denied it, saying, I know him not, neither wot I what thou sayest. Then he went out into the porch, and the cock crew.

69 ^oThen ¹a maid saw him again, and began to say to them that stood by, This is one of them.

70 But he denied it again: and anon after, they that stood by, said again to Peter, Surely thou art one of them: for thou art of Galilee, and thy speech is like.

1 And ¹anon in the dawning, the high Priests held a Council with the Elders, and the Scribes, and the whole Council, and bound Jesus, and led him away, and ²delivered him to Pilate.

2 Then Pilate asked him, Art thou the King of the Jews? And he answered, and said unto him, Thou sayest it.

3 And the high Priests accused him of many things.

4 ^oWherefore Pilate asked him again, saying, Answered thou nothing? behold how many things they witness against thee.

5 But Jesus answered no more at all, so that Pilate marvelled.

6 Now at the feast, Pilate ¹did deliver a prisoner unto them, whomsoever they would desire.

7 Then there was one named Barabbas, which was bound with his fellows, that had made insurrection, who in the insurrection had committed murder.

8 And the people cried aloud, and began to desire that he would do as he had ever done unto them.

9 Then Pilate answered them, and said, Will ye that I let loose unto you the King of the Jews?

10 For he knew that the high Priests had delivered him of envy.

11 But the high Priests had moved the people to desire that he would rather deliver Barabbas unto them.

12 And Pilate answered, and said again unto them, What will ye then that I do with him, whom ye call the King of the Jews?

14:55 ¹ Christ, who was so innocent that he could not be oppressed, no not by false witnesses, is at the length, for confessing God to be his father, condemned of impiety before the high Priest: that we, who denied God and were indeed wicked, might be quit before God.

14:61 ¹ Of God, who is most worthy of all praise?

14:65 ¹ Christ suffering all kinds of reproach for our sakes, getteth everlasting glory to them that believe in him.

14:66 ¹ An heavy example of the frailness of man, together with a most comfortable example of the mercy of God, who giveth the spirit of repentance and faith to his elect.

14:69 ¹ If we compare the Evangelists diligently together, we shall perceive that Peter was known of many through the maiden's report:

yea, and in Luke, when the second denial is spoken of, there is a man-servant mentioned, and not a maid.

15:1 ¹ Christ being bound before the judgment seat of an earthly judge, in open assembly is condemned as guilty unto the death of the cross, not for his own sins, (as appeareth by the judge's own words) but for all ours, that we most guilty creatures being delivered from the guiltiness of our sins, might be quitted before the judgment seat of God, even in the open assembly of the Angels.

² It was not lawful for them to put any man to death, for all causes of life and death were taken away from them, first by Herod the great, and afterward by the Romans, about forty years before the destruction of the Temple, and therefore they deliver Jesus to Pilate.

15:6 ¹ Used Pilate to deliver.

13 And they cried again, Crucify him.

14 Then Pilate said unto them, But what evil hath he done? And they cried the more fervently, Crucify him.

15 So Pilate willing to content the people, loosed them Barabbas, and delivered Jesus, when he had scourged him, that he might be crucified.

16 Then the soldiers led him away into the hall, which is the common hall, and called together the whole band,

17 ¹And clad him with purple, and platted a crown of thorns, and put it about his head,

18 And began to salute him, saying, Hail, King of the Jews.

19 And they smote him on the head with a reed, and spat upon him, and bowed the knees, and did him reverence.

20 And when they had mocked him, they took the purple off him, and put his own clothes on him, and led him out to crucify him.

21 ¹And they ¹compelled one that passed by, called Simon of Cyrene (which came out of the country, and was father of Alexander and Rufus) to bear his cross.

22 ^{d,1}And they brought him to a place named Golgotha, which is by interpretation, the place of dead mens' skulls.

23 And they gave him to drink wine mingled with myrrh: but he received it not.

24 ^{e,1}And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments, casting lots for them, what every man should have.

31 Likewise also even the high Priests mocking, said among themselves with the Scribes, He saved other men, himself he cannot save.

32 Let Christ the king of Israel now come down from the cross, that we may see, and believe. They also that were crucified with him, reviled him.

33 ¶ Now when the sixth hour was come, ¹darkness arose over ²all the land until the ninth hour.

34 And at the ¹ninth hour Jesus cried with a loud voice, saying, ^hEloi, Eloi, lama-sabachthani? which is by interpretation, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?

35 And some of them that stood by, when they heard it, said, Behold, he calleth Elijah.

15:17 ¹ Christ going about to take away the sins of men, who went about to usurp the throne of God himself, is condemned as one that hunted after the kingdom, and mocked with a false show of a kingdom, that we on the other side, who shall indeed be eternal kings, might receive the crown of glory at God's own hand.

15:21 ¹ The rage of the wicked hath no measure, but in the mean season, even the weakness of Christ, being in pain under the heavy burden of the cross, doth manifestly show that a lamb is led to be sacrificed.

15:22 ¹ Christ is led out of the walls of the earthly Jerusalem, into a foul place of dead men's carcasses, as a man most unclean, not touching himself, but touching our sins, which were laid upon him, to the end that we being made clean by his blood, might be brought into the heavenly Sanctuary.

15:24 ¹ Christ hangeth naked upon the cross, and as the most wickedest catiff that ever was, most vilely reproved: that we being clothed with his righteousness, and blessed with his curses, and sanctified by his only oblation, may be taken up into heaven.

15:33 ¹ How angry God was against our sin, which he punished in our surety, his son, it appeareth by this horrible darkness.

² By this word, land, he meaneth Palestine: so that the strangeness of the wonder, is so much the more set forth in that, that at the feast of the Passover, and in the full moon, when the Sun shined over all the rest of the world and at midday that corner of the world, wherein so wicked an act was committed, was overcovered with most gross darkness.

15:34 ¹ Christ striving mightily with Satan, with sin, and with death, all three armed with the horrible curse of God, grievously tormented in body hanging upon the cross, and in soul plunged in the depth of hell, yet he riddeth himself, crying with a mighty voice: and notwithstanding the wound which he received of death in that that he died, yet by smiting both things above and things beneath, by renting of the veil of the Temple, and by the testimony wrung out of them which murdered him, he sheweth evidently unto the rest of his enemies which are as yet obstinate, and mock at him, that he shall be known out of hand to be conqueror and Lord of all.

15:40 ¹ Christ to the great shame of men which forsook the Lord, chose women for his witnesses, which beheld all this whole action.

43 ¹Joseph of Arimathea, an ¹honorable counselor, which also looked for the kingdom of God, came, and went in ²boldly unto Pilate, and asked the body of Jesus.

44 And Pilate marveled, if he were already dead, and called unto him the Centurion, and asked of him whether he had been any while dead.

45 And when he knew the truth of the Centurion, he gave the body to Joseph:

46 Who bought a linen cloth, and took him down, and wrapped him in the linen cloth, and laid him in a tomb that was hewn out of a rock, and rolled a stone unto the door of the sepulcher:

ciples, the third, to his Apostles, and therefore he saith, Finally.

16:15 ¹ The Apostles are appointed, and their office is limited unto them, which is to preach that which they heard of him, and to minister the Sacraments, which Christ hath instituted, having besides power to do miracles.

² Not to the Jews only, nor in Judea only, but to all men, and everywhere: and so must all the Apostles do.

1 Forasmuch as ¹many have ²taken in hand to set forth the story of those things, whereof we are fully persuaded,

2 ¹As they have delivered them unto us, which from the beginning saw them themselves, and were ministers of the word,

3 It seemed good also to me (¹most noble Theophilus) as soon as I had searched out perfectly all things ²from the beginning, to write unto thee thereof from point to point,

4 That thou mightest ¹acknowledge the certainty of those things whereof thou hast been instructed.

5 In ¹the ²time of ³Herod King of Judea, there was a certain Priest named Zacharias, of the ^{a,4}course of Abijah: and his wife was of the daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elizabeth.

6 Both were ¹just before God, and ²walked in all the ³commandments and ordinances of the Lord, ⁴without reproof.

7 And they had no child, because that Elizabeth was barren: and both were well stricken in age.

8 And it came to pass, as he executed the Priest's office before God, as his course came in order,

9 ^bAccording to the custom of the Priest's office, his lot was to burn incense, when he went into the ¹Temple of the Lord.

10 And the whole multitude of the people were without in prayer, ^cwhile the incense was burning.

11 Then appeared unto him an Angel of the Lord, standing at the right side of the Altar of incense.

12 And when Zacharias saw him, he was troubled, and fear fell upon him.

13 But the Angel said unto him, Fear not, Zacharias: for thy prayer is heard, and thy wife Elizabeth shall bear thee a son, and thou shalt call his name John.

14 And thou shalt have joy and gladness, and many shall rejoice at his birth.

15 For he shall be great in the ¹sight of the Lord, and shall neither drink wine, nor ²strong drink: and he shall be filled with the holy Ghost, even from his mother's womb.

16 ^dAnd many of the children of Israel shall he ¹turn to their Lord God.

17 ^eFor he shall go ¹before him ²in the spirit and

1:1 ¹ Luke commendeth the witnesses that saw this history.

² Many took it in hand, but did not perform: Luke wrote his Gospel before Matthew and Mark.

1:2 ¹ Luke was not an eyewitness, and therefore it was not he to whom the Lord appeared when Cleopas saw him: and he was taught not only by Paul, but by others of the Apostles also.

1:3 ¹ It is most mighty, and therefore Theophilus was a very honorable man, and in place of great dignity.

² Luke began his Gospel a great deal farther off, than the others did.

1:4 ¹ Have fuller knowledge of those things, which before thou knewest but meanly.

1:5 ¹ John who was another Elijah, and appointed to be herald of Christ, coming of the stock of Aaron, and of two famous and blameless parents, hath showed in his conception, which was against the course of nature, a double miracle, to the end that men should be more readily stirred up to the hearing of his preaching, according to the forewarning of the Prophets.

² Word for word, in the days: so speak the Hebrews, giving us to understand, how short and frail a thing the power of princes is.

³ Herod the great.

⁴ For the posterity of Aaron was divided into courses.

1:6 ¹ The true mark of righteousness is, to be liked and allowed of in the judgment of God.

² Lived, so speak the Hebrews, for our life is as a way, wherein we must walk, until we come to the mark.

³ In all the moral and ceremonial law.

⁴ Whom no man could justly reprove: now so it is, that the fruits of justification are set forth here, and not the cause, which is faith only, and nothing else.

1:9 ¹ The Temple was one, and the Court another, for Zacharias went out of the Court or outward room, where all the people were, and therefore are said to be without, into the temple.

1:15 ¹ So speak the Hebrews when it signified a rare kind of excellency: so is it said of Nimrod, Gen. 10:9. He was a valiant hunter before God.

² Any drink that may make drunken.

1:16 ¹ Shall be a means to bring many to repentance, and turn themselves to the Lord from whom they fell.

1:17 ¹ As they used to go before kings, and when you see them, you know the king is not far off.

power of Elijah, to turn the ³hearts of the fathers to the children, and the disobedient to the ⁴wisdom of the just men, to make ready a people prepared for the Lord.

18 Then Zacharias said unto the Angel, Whereby shall I know this? for I am an old man, and my wife is of a great age.

19 And the Angel answered, and said unto him, I am Gabriel ¹that stand in the presence of God, and am sent to speak unto thee, and to show thee these good tidings.

20 And behold, thou shalt be dumb, and not be able to speak, until the day that these things be done, because thou believest not my words, which shall be fulfilled in their season.

21 Now the people waited for Zacharias, and marveled that he tarried so long in the Temple.

22 And when he came out, he could not speak unto them: then they perceived that he had seen a vision in the Temple: for he made signs unto them, and remained dumb.

23 And it came to pass, when the days of his office were fulfilled, that he departed to his own house.

24 And after those days, his wife Elizabeth conceived, and hid herself five months, saying,

25 Thus hath the Lord dealt with me, in the days wherein he looked on me, to take from me my rebuke among men.

26 ¶ ¹And in the sixth month, the Angel Gabriel was sent from God unto a city of Galilee, named Nazareth, 28 And the Angel went in unto her, and said, Hail thou that art ¹freely beloved: the Lord is with thee: ²blessed art thou among women.

29 And when she saw him, she was ¹troubled at his saying, and thought what manner of salutation that should be.

30 Then the Angel said unto her, Fear not, Mary: for thou hast ¹found favor with God.

31 ⁸For lo thou shalt conceive in thy womb, and bear a son, ^hand shalt call his Name Jesus.

32 He shall be great, and shall be ¹called the Son of the most High, and the Lord God shall give unto him the throne of his father David.

33 ⁱAnd he shall reign over the house of Jacob forever, and of his kingdom shall be none end.

34 Then said Mary unto the Angel, ¹How shall this be, seeing ²I know not man?

41 And it came to pass, as Elizabeth heard the ³ By this figure Synecdoche, he sheweth that he shall take away all kinds of enmities, which used to breed great troubles and turmoils amongst men.

⁴ Wisdom and goodness are two of the chiefest causes which make men to reverence and honor their fathers.

1:19 ¹ That appears, for so the Hebrews use this word (to stand) meaning that they are ready to do his commandment.

1:26 ¹ The Angel serving the Lord which should be born, is sent to the virgin Mary, in whom the Son of the most high promised to David, is conceived by the virtue of the holy Ghost.

1:27 ¹ As much is to be said of Mary, otherwise Christ had not been of the stock, not the son of David.

1:28 ¹ It might be rendered word for word, full of favor and grace, and he sheweth straight after, laying out plainly unto us, what that favor is, in that he saith, the Lord is with thee.

² Of God.

1:29 ¹ Moved at the strangeness of the matter.

1:30 ¹ So speak the Hebrews, saying, that men have found favor, which are in favor.

1:32 ¹ He shall be declared so to be, for he was the Son of God from everlasting, but was made manifest in the flesh in his time.

1:34 ¹ The greatness of the matter causeth the Virgin to ask this question, not that she distrusteth any whit at all, for she asketh only of the manner of the conceiving, so that it is plain she believed all the rest.

² So speak the Hebrews, signifying by this modest kind of speech the company of man and wife together, and this is the meaning of it: how shall this be, forseeing, I shall be Christ his mother, I am very sure. I shall not know any man: for the godly virgin had learned by the Prophets, that the Messiah should be born of a Virgin.

1:35 ¹ That is, the holy Ghost shall cause thee to conceive by his mighty power.

² That pure thing and void of all spot of uncleanness: for he that was to take away sin, must needs be void of sin.

³ Declared and showed to the world, to be the Son of God.

1:36 ¹ Though Elizabeth were of the tribe of Levi, yet she might be Mary's cousin: for whereas it was forbidden by the Law, for maidens to be married to men of other tribes, this could not let, but that the Levites might take them wives out of any tribe: for the Levites had no portion allotted them, when the land was divided among the people.

² This is now the sixth month from the time when she conceived.

1:39 ¹ Elizabeth being great with child with John, and Mary with Christ, by the inspiration of the holy Ghost, do rejoice each for other.

² Which is on the South side of Jerusalem.

³ That is to say, Hebron: which was in times past called Kirjath Arba, which was one of the towns, that was given to the Levites, in the tribe of Judah, and is said to be in the mountains of Judah, Josh. 14:15 and 21:11.

42 And she cried with a loud voice, and said, Blessed art thou among women, because ¹the fruit of thy womb is blessed.

43 And whence cometh this to me, that the mother of my Lord should come to me?

44 For lo, as soon as the voice of thy salutation sounded in mine ears, the babe sprang in my belly for joy.

45 And blessed is she that believed: for those things shall be performed, which were told her from the Lord.

46 ¹Then Mary said, My soul magnifieth the Lord, 47 And my spirit rejoiceth in God my Savior.

48 For he hath ¹looked on the ²poor degree of his servant: for behold, from henceforth shall all ages call me blessed,

60 But his mother answered, and said, Not so, but he shall be called John.

61 And they said unto her, There is none of thy kindred that is named with this name.

1:68 ¹ That he hath showed himself mindful of his people, inasmuch that he came down from heaven himself, to visit us in person, and to redeem us.

² Hath paid the ransom, that is to say, the price of our redemption.

1:69 ¹ This word Horn in the Hebrew tongue signifieth might, and it is a Metaphor, taken from beasts, that fight with their horns: and by raising up the might of Israel, is meant, that the kingdom of Israel was defended, and the enemies thereof laid on the ground, even then when the strength of Israel seemed to be utterly decayed.

1:72 ¹ Declared indeed that he was mindful.

2:21 ¹ Christ the head of the Church, made subject to the Law, to deliver us from the curse of the Law, (as the Name of Jesus doth well declare) being circumcised, doth ratify and seal in his own flesh, the circumcision of the fathers.

before he was conceived in the womb.

22 ^{d,1}And when the days of ²her purification, after the Law of Moses, were accomplished, they brought him to Jerusalem, to present him to the Lord, 24 And to give an oblation, ^fas it is commanded in the Law of the Lord, a pair of turtledoves, or two young pigeons.

25 ¹And behold, there was a man in Jerusalem, whose name was Simeon: this man was just, and feared God, and waited for the consolation of Israel, and the ²holy Ghost was upon him.

26 And it was declared to him from God by the holy Ghost, that he should not see death, before he had seen that Anointed of the Lord.

27 And he came by the motion of the spirit into the Temple, and when the ¹parents brought in the babe Jesus, to do for him after the custom of the Law.

28 Then he took him in his arms, and praised God, and said, seven years from her virginity:

37 And she was widow about fourscore, and four years, and went not out of the Temple, but served God with fastings and prayers night and day.

38 She then coming at the same instant upon them, confessed likewise the Lord, and spake of him to all that looked for redemption in Jerusalem.

39 And when they had performed all things, according to the Law of the Lord, they returned into Galilee to their own city Nazareth.

40 And the child grew, and waxed strong in Spirit, ¹and was filled with wisdom, and the grace of God was with him.

41 ¶ ¹Now his parents went to Jerusalem, every year, ²at the feast of the Passover.

42 And when he was twelve years old, and they were come up to Jerusalem, after the custom of the feast,

43 And had finished the days thereof, as they returned, the child Jesus remained in Jerusalem, and Joseph knew not, nor his mother, 44 But they supposing that he had been in the company, went a day's journey, and sought him among their kinsfolk, and acquaintances.

45 And when they found him not, they turned back to Jerusalem, and sought him.

46 And it came to pass three days after, that they found him in the Temple, sitting in the midst of the doctors, both hearing them, and asking them questions:

47 And all that heard him, were astonished at his understanding and answers.

48 ¹So when they saw him, they were amazed, and his mother said unto him, Son, why hast thou thus dealt with us? behold, thy father and I have sought thee with very heavy hearts.

49 Then said he unto them, How is it that ye sought me? knew ye not that I must go about my Father's business?

50 But they understood not the word that he spake to them.

2:22 ¹ Christ, upon whom all our sins were laid, being offered to God, according to the Law, doth purify both Mary and us all in himself.

² This is meant, for the fulfilling of the Law: for otherwise the virgin was not defiled, nor unclean, by the birth of this child.

2:25 ¹ Simeon doth openly in the Temple foretell the deaf, of the coming of Messiah, of the casting out of the greatest part of Israel, and of the calling of the Gentiles.

² That, wherein thy salvation is contained.

2:31 ¹ As a sign set up in an high place, for all men to look upon.

2:34 ¹ Is appointed and set of God for a mark.

² Fall of the reprobate, which perish through their own default: and for the rising of the elect, unto whom God shall give faith to believe.

³ That is, a mark, which all men shall strive earnestly to hit.

2:35 ¹ Shall wound and grieve most sharply.

2:36 ¹ Another witness besides Simeon, against whom no exception may be brought, inviting all men to the receiving of the Messiah.

2:40 ¹ As Christ grew up in age, so the virtue of his Godhead showed itself more and more.

2:41 ¹ The Scribes and Pharisees are stirred up to hear the wisdom of Christ in his time, by an extraordinary deed.

2:48 ¹ All duties which we owe to men as they were not to be neglected, so are they according to our vocation, not to be preferred before the glory of God.

51 ¹Then he went down with them, and came to Nazareth, and was subject to them: and his mother kept all these sayings in her heart.

52 And Jesus increased in wisdom, and stature, and in favor with God and men.

3 ³ John exhorteth to repentance. ¹⁵ His testimony of Christ. ²⁰ Herod putteth him in prison. ²¹ Christ is baptized. ²³ His pedigree.

1 Now ¹in the fifteenth year of the reign of Tiberius Caesar, Pontius Pilate being governor of Judea, and Herod being Tetrarch of Galilee, and his brother Philip Tetrarch of Iturea, and of the country of Trachonitis, and Lysanias the Tetrarch of Abilene,

2 (^aWhen ¹Annas and Caiaphas were the high Priests) the word of God came unto John, the son of Zacharias in the wilderness.

3 ^bAnd he came into all the coasts about Jordan, preaching the baptism of repentance for the remission of sins,

4 As it is written in the book of the sayings of Isaiah the Prophet, which saith, 'The voice of him that crieth in the wilderness is, Prepare ye the way of the Lord: make his paths straight.

5 Every valley shall be filled, and every mountain and hill shall be brought low, and crooked things shall be made straight, and the rough ways shall be made smooth.

6 And all flesh shall see the salvation of God.

7 Then said he to the people that were come out to be baptized of him, ^dO generations of vipers, who hath forewarned you to flee from the wrath to come?

8 Bring forth therefore fruits worthy amendment of life, and begin not to say with yourselves, We have Abraham to our Father: for I say unto you, that God is able of these stones to raise up children unto Abraham.

9 Now also is the axe laid unto the root of the trees: therefore every tree which bringeth not forth good fruit, shall be hewn down, and cast into the fire.

10 ¶ Then the people asked him, saying, What shall we do then?

14 The soldiers likewise demanded of him, saying, And what shall we do? And he said unto them, Do violence to no man, neither accuse any falsely, and be content with your ¹wages.

15 For he taught in their Synagogues, and was honored of all men.

16 ^{f,1} And he came to Nazareth where he had been brought up, and (as his custom was) went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath day, and stood up to read.

18 ^gThe Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he hath anointed me, that I should preach the Gospel to the poor: he hath sent me, that I should heal the brokenhearted, that I should preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, that I should set at liberty them that are bruised:

19 And that I should preach the acceptable year of the Lord.

20 And he closed the book, and gave it again to the minister, and sat down: and the eyes of all that were in the Synagogue were fastened on him.

21 Then he began to say unto them, This day is the Scripture fulfilled in your ears.

4:1 ¹ Christ being carried away (as it were out of the world, into the desert) after the fast of forty days, and the overcoming of Satan thrice, coming as it were suddenly from heaven, beginneth his office.

4:3 ¹ Christ being stirred up of Satan, first to distrust in God, secondly to the desire of riches and honor, and lastly to a vain confidence of himself, overcometh him thrice by the word of God.

4:17 ¹ Their books in those days were rolled up as scrolls upon a ruler: and so Christ unrolled, or unfolded it, which is here called opened.

22 ¹And all ²bare him witness, and ³wondered at the ⁴gracious words, which proceeded out of his mouth, and said, Is not this Joseph's son?

23 Then he said unto them, Ye will surely say unto me this Proverb, Physician, heal thyself: whatsoever we have heard done in Capernaum, do it here likewise in thine own country.

24 And he said, Verily I say unto you, ^bNo Prophet is accepted in his own country.

25 But I tell you of a truth, many widows were in Israel in the days of ⁱElijah, when heaven was shut three years and six months, when great famine was throughout all the ¹land:

39 Then he stood over her, and rebuked the fever, and it left her, and immediately she arose, and ministered unto them.

40 Now at the Sun setting, all they that had sick folks of divers diseases, brought them unto him, and he laid his hands on everyone of them, and healed them.

41 ^{o,1}And devils also came out of many, crying, and saying, Thou art that Christ that Son of God: but he rebuked them, and suffered them not to say that they knew him to be that Christ.

42 ¹And when it was day, he departed, and went forth into a desert place, and the people sought him, and came to him, and kept him that he should not depart from them.

4:34 ¹ Christ astonisheth not only men, be they never so blockish, but even the demons also, whether they will or no.

4:38 ¹ In that, that Christ healeth the diseases of the body with his word only, he proveth that he is God Almighty, sent for man's salvation.

4:41 ¹ Satan, who is a continual enemy to the truth, ought not to be heard, no not then, when he speaketh the truth.

washing their nets.

3 And he entered into one of the ships, which was Simon's, and required him that he would thrust off a little from the land: and he sat down, and taught the people out of the ship.

4 ¶ Now when he had left speaking, he said unto Simon, Launch out into the deep, and let down your nets to make a draught.

5 Then Simon answered, and said unto him, ¹Master, we have travailed sore all night, and have taken nothing: nevertheless at thy word I will let down the net.

6 And when they had so done, they enclosed a great multitude of fishes, so that their net brake.

7 And they beckoned to their partners, which were in the other ship, that they should come and help them, who came then, and filled both the ships, that they did sink.

8 Now when Simon Peter saw it, he fell down at Jesus knees, saying, Lord, go from me: for I am a sinful man.

9 For he was utterly astonished, and all that were with him, for the draught of fishes which they took.

10 And so was also James and John the sons of Zebedee, which were companions with Simon. Then Jesus said unto Simon, Fear not: from henceforth thou shalt catch men.

11 And when they had brought the ships to land, they forsook all, and followed him.

12 ¶ ^{b,1}Now it came to pass, as he was in a certain city, behold, there was a man full of leprosy, and when he saw Jesus, he fell on his face, and besought him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean.

18 ^dThen behold, men brought a man lying in a bed, which was taken with a palsy, and they sought means to bring him in, and to lay him before him.

19 And when they could not find by what way they might bring him in, because of the press, they went up on the house, and let him down through the tiling, bed and all, in the midst before Jesus.

20 And when he saw their faith, he said unto him, Man, thy sins are forgiven thee.

21 Then the Scribes and the Pharisees began to reason, saying, Who is this that speaketh blasphemies? Who can forgive sins, but God only?

22 But when Jesus perceived their reasoning he answered, and said unto them, What reason ye in your hearts?

23 Whether is easier to say, Thy sins are forgiven thee, or to say, Rise and walk?

24 But that ye may know that the Son of man hath authority to forgive sins in earth, (he said unto the sick of the palsy) I say to thee, Arise: take up thy bed, and go into thine house.

25 And immediately he rose up before them, and took up his bed whereon he lay, and departed to his own house, praising God.

26 And they were all amazed, and praised God, and were filled with fear, saying, Doubtless we have seen strange things today.

27 ¶ ^{e,1}And after that, he went forth and saw a Publican named Levi, sitting at the receipt of custom, and said unto him, Follow me.

10 And he beheld them all in compass, and said unto the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he did so, and his hand was restored again, as whole as the other.

2 And a certain Centurion's servant was sick and ready to die, which was dear unto him.

3 And when he heard of Jesus, he sent unto him the Elders of the Jews, beseeching him that he would come, and heal his servant.

4 So they came to Jesus, and besought him instantly, saying that he was worthy that he should do this for him:

5 For he loveth, said they, our nation, and he hath built us a Synagogue.

6 Then Jesus went with them: but when he was now not far from the house, the Centurion sent friends to him, saying unto him, Lord, trouble not thyself: for I am not worthy that thou shouldest enter under my roof:

7 Wherefore I thought not myself worthy to come unto thee: but say the word, and my servant shall be whole:

8 For I likewise am a man set under authority, and have under me soldiers, and I say unto one, Go, and he goeth: and to another, Come, and he cometh: and to my servant, Do this, and he doeth it.

9 When Jesus heard these things, he marvelled at him, and turned him, and said to the people that followed him, I say unto you, I have not found so great faith, no not in Israel.

10 And when they that were sent, turned back to the house, they found the servant that was sick, whole.

12 Now when he came near to the gate of the city, behold, there was a dead man carried out, who was the only begotten son of his mother, which was a widow, and much people of the city was with her.

13 And when the Lord saw her, he had compassion on her, and said unto her, Weep not.

14 And he went and touched the coffin (and they that bare him, stood still) and he said, Young man, I say unto thee, Arise.

15 And he that was dead, sat up, and began to speak, and he delivered him to his mother.

16 Then there came a fear on them all, and they glorified God, saying, A great Prophet is risen among us, and God hath visited his people.

17 And this rumor of him went forth throughout all Judea, and throughout all the region round about.

26 But what went ye forth to see? A Prophet? yea, I say to you, and greater than a Prophet.

4 ^{b,1}Now when much people were gathered together, and were come unto him out of all cities, he spake by a parable.

39 Return into thine own house, and show what great things God hath done to thee. So he went his way, and preached ¹throughout all the city, what great things Jesus had done unto him.

40 ¶ And it came to pass, when Jesus was come again, that the people ¹received him: for they all waited for him.

41 ¶ ^{k.1} And behold, there came a man named Jairus, and he was the ruler of the Synagogue, who fell down at Jesus' feet, and besought him that he would come into his house.

42 For he had but a daughter only, about twelve years of age, and she lay a dying (and as he went, the people thronged him.

43 And a woman having an issue of blood, twelve years long, which had spent all her ¹substance upon physicians, and could not be healed of any:

44 When she came behind him, she touched the hem of his garment, and immediately her issue of blood stanchd.

45 Then Jesus said, Who is it that hath touched me? When every man denied, Peter said and they that were with him, Master, the multitude thrust thee, and tread on thee, and sayest thou, Who hath touched me?

46 And Jesus said, Someone hath touched me: for I perceive that virtue is gone out of me.

47 When the woman saw that she was not hid, she came trembling, and fell down before him, and told him before all the people: for what cause she had touched him, and how she was healed immediately.

48 And he said unto her, Daughter, be of good comfort: thy faith hath saved thee: go in peace.)

49 While he yet spake, there came one from the ruler of the Synagogue's house, which said to him, Thy daughter is dead: disease not the Master.

50 When Jesus heard it, he answered him, saying, Fear not: believe only, and she shall be saved.

51 And when he went into the house, he suffered no man to go in with him, save Peter, and James, and John, and the father and mother of the maid.

52 And all wept, and ¹sorrowed for her: but he said, Weep not: for she is not dead, but sleepeth.

53 And they laughed him to scorn, knowing that she was dead.

54 So he thrust them all out, and took her by the hand, and cried, saying, Maid, arise.

55 And her spirit came again, and she ¹rose straightway: and he commanded to give her meat.

56 Then her parents were astonished: but he commanded them that they should tell no man what was done.

8:29 ¹ By force and violence, as a horse when he is spurred.

8:39 ¹ To wit, the city of the Gadarenes: and though Mark says that he preached it in Decapolis, they differ not, for Pliny recordeth, lib. 5, chap. 18, that Gadara is a town of Decapolis, so that Decapolis was partly on this side Jordan, and partly on the other side.

8:40 ¹ The multitude was glad he was come again, and rejoiced greatly.

8:41 ¹ Christ sheweth by a double miracle, that he is Lord both of life and death.

8:43 ¹ All that she had to live upon.

8:52 ¹ The word signifieth to beat and strike, and is transferred to the mournings and lamentations, that are at burials, at which times men use such kind of behavior.

8:55 ¹ The corpse was laid out, and the wench received life, and rose out of the bed, that all the world might see, she was not only restored to life, but also void of all sickness.

9 1 The Apostles are sent to preach. 7 and 19 The common people's opinion of Christ. 12 Of the five loaves and two fishes. 20 The Apostle's confession. 24 To lose the life. 35 We must hear Christ. 39 The possessed of a spirit. 46 Strife among the Apostles for the Primacy. 49 One casting out devils in Christ's Name. 52 The Samaritans will not receive Christ. 55 Revenge forbidden. 57, 59, 61 Of three that would follow Christ, but on divers conditions.

1 Then ^acalled he his twelve disciples together, and gave them power and authority over all devils, and to heal diseases.

2 ^bAnd he sent them forth to preach the kingdom of God, and to cure the sick.

3 And he said to them, ^cTake nothing to your journey, neither staves, nor scrip, neither bread, nor silver, neither have two coats apiece.

4 And whatsoever house ye enter into, there ^dabide, and thence depart.

5 And how many soever will not receive you, when ye go out of that city, ^eshake off the very dust from your feet for a testimony against them.

6 And they went out, and went through every town preaching the Gospel, and healing everywhere.

7 ¶ ^fNow Herod the Tetrarch heard of all that was done by him: and he ^gdoubted, because that it was said of some, that John was risen again from the dead:

8 And of some, that Elijah had appeared: and of some, that one of the old Prophets was risen again.

9 Then Herod said, John have I beheaded: who then is this of whom I hear such things? and he desired to see him.

10 ¶ ^hAnd when the Apostles returned, they told him what great things they had done. ⁱThen he took them to him, and went aside into a ^jsolitary place, near to the city called Bethsaida.

11 But when the people knew it, they followed him: and he received them, and spake unto them of the kingdom of God, and healed them that had need to be healed.

12 ^bAnd when the day began to wear away, the twelve came, and said unto him, Send the people away, that they may go into the towns and villages round about, and lodge, and get meat: for we are here in a desert place.

13 But he said unto them, Give ye them to eat. And they said, We have no more but five loaves and two fishes, ¹except we should go and buy meat for all this people.

14 For they were about five thousand men. Then he said to his disciples, Cause them to sit down by fifties in a company.

15 And they did so, and caused all to sit down.

16 Then he took the five loaves, and the two fishes, and looked up to heaven, and ¹blessed them, and brake, and gave to the disciples, to set before the people.

17 So they did all eat, and were satisfied: and there was taken up of that remained to them, twelve baskets full of broken meat.

18 ¶ ⁱAnd it came to pass, as he was ²alone praying, his disciples were with him: and he asked them, saying, Whom say the people that I am?

19 They answered, and said, John Baptist: and others say, Elijah: and some say, that one of the old Prophets is risen again.

20 And he said unto them, But whom say ye that I am? Peter answered, and said: That Christ of God.

21 And he warned and commanded them, that they should tell that to no man,

22 ¹Saying, ^jThe Son of man must suffer many things, and be reproved of the Elders, and of the high Priests and Scribes, and be slain, and the third day rise again.

23 ¶ ^kAnd he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross ¹daily, and follow me.

9:1 ¹ The twelve Apostles are sent forth at the only commandment of Christ, and furnished with the power of the holy Ghost: both that none of the Israelites might pretend ignorance, and also that they might be better prepared to their general embassy.

9:4 ¹ When you depart out of any city, depart from thence where you first took up your lodging: so that in few words, the Lord forbiddeth them to change their lodgings: for this publishing of the Gospel, was as it were a thorough passage, that none of Judea might pretend ignorance, as though he had not heard that Christ was come.

9:7 ¹ So soon as the world heareth tidings of the Gospel, it is divided into divers opinions, and the tyrants especially are afraid.

² He stuck as it were fast in the mire.

9:10 ¹ They shall lack nothing that follow Christ, no not in the wilderness.

² The word signifieth a desert: note this was not in the town Bethsaida, but part of the fields belonging to the town.

9:13 ¹ This is unperfectly spoken, and therefore we must understand something, as this, we cannot give them to eat, unless we go and buy, etc.

9:16 ¹ He gave God thanks for these loaves and fishes, and withall prayed him to feed this so great a multitude with so small a quantity, and to be short, that this whole banquet might be to the glory of God.

9:18 ¹ Although the world be tossed up and down, betwixt divers errors, yet we ought not to contemn the truth, but be so much the more desirous to know it, and be more constant to confess it.

² Alone from the people.

9:22 ¹ Christ himself attained to the heavenly glory by the cross and invincible patience.

9:23 ¹ Even as one day followeth another, so doth one cross follow another, and the cross is by the figure Metonymy, taken for the miseries of this life: for to be hanged, was the sorest and cruellest punishment that was amongst the Jews.

same shall save it.

25 ^mFor what advantageth it a man, if he win the whole world, and destroy himself, or lose himself?

26 ^mFor whosoever shall be ashamed of me, and of my words, of him shall the Son of man be ashamed, when he shall come in his glory, and in the glory of the Father, and of the holy Angels.

27 ^eAnd I tell you of a surety, there be some standing here, which shall not taste of death, till they have seen the kingdom of God.

28 ⁿ¹And it came to pass about an eight days after those words, that he took Peter and John, and James, and went up into a mountain to pray.

29 And as he prayed, the fashion of his countenance was changed, and his garment was white and glistered.

30 And behold, two men talked with him, which were Moses and Elijah:

31 Which appeared in glory, and told of his ¹departing, which he should accomplish at Jerusalem.

32 But Peter and they that were with him, were heavy with sleep, and when they awoke, they saw his glory, and the two men standing with him.

33 And it came to pass, as they departed from him, Peter said unto Jesus, Master, it is good for us to be here: let us therefore make three tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elijah, and wist not what he said.

34 While he thus spake, there came a cloud and overshadowed them, and they feared when they were entering into the cloud.

35 ⁴And there came a voice out of the cloud, saying, This is that my beloved Son, hear him.

36 And when the voice was past, Jesus was found alone: and they kept it close, and told no man in ¹those days any of those things which they had seen.

37 ¶ ¹And it came to pass on the next day, as they came down from the mountain, much people met him.

38 ⁷And behold, a man of the company cried out, saying, Master, I beseech thee, behold my son: for he is all that I have.

40 Now I have besought thy disciples to cast him out, but they could not.

41 Then Jesus answered and said, O generation faithless, and crooked, how long now shall I be with you, and suffer you? bring thy son hither.

42 And while he was yet coming, the devil rent him, and tore him: and Jesus rebuked the unclean spirit, and healed the child, and delivered him to his father.

43 ¶ ¹And they were all amazed at the mighty power of God: and while they all wondered at all things which Jesus did, he said unto his disciples, 44 ¹Mark these words diligently: ²for it shall come to pass, that the son of man shall be delivered into the hands of men.

45 But they understood not that word: for it was hid from them, so that they could not perceive it: and they feared to ask him of that word.

46 ¶ ¹Then there arose a disputation among them, which of them should be the greatest.

47 When Jesus saw the thoughts of their hearts, he took a little child, and set him by him,

48 And said unto them, Whosoever receiveth this little child in my Name, receiveth me: and whosoever shall receive me, receiveth him that sent me: for he that is least among you all, he shall be great.

49 ¶ ^{u1}And John answered and said, Master, we saw one casting out devils in thy Name, and we forbad him, because he followeth thee not with us.

50 Then Jesus said unto him, Forbid ye him not: for he that is not against us, is with us.

51 ¶ ¹And it came to pass, when the days were accomplished, that he should be received up, he ²settled himself fully to go to Jerusalem,

52 And sent messengers before him: and they went and entered into a town of the Samaritans, to prepare him lodging.

53 But they would not receive him, because his behavior was as though he would go to Jerusalem.

54 ¹And when his disciples, James and John saw it, they said, Lord, wilt thou that we command, that fire come down from heaven, and consume them, even as ²Elijah did?

9:28 ¹ Lest the disciples of Christ should be offended at the debasing himself in his flesh, he teacheth them that it is voluntary, showing therewithall for a space the brightness of his glory.

9:31 ¹ What death he should die in Jerusalem.

9:36 ¹ Until Christ was risen again from the dead.

9:37 ¹ Christ is offended with nothing so much as with incredulity, although he bears with it for a time.

9:39 ¹ As it fareth in the falling sickness.

9:43 ¹ We have no cause to promise ourselves rest and quietness in this world, seeing that they themselves which seemed to fawn upon Christ, do shortly after crucify him.

9:44 ¹ Give diligent ear unto them, and when you have once heard them, see that you keep them.

9:46 ¹ The end of ambition is ignomy; but the end of modest obedience is glory.

9:49 ¹ Extraordinary things are neither rashly to be allowed, nor condemned.

9:51 ¹ Christ goeth willingly to death.

² Word for word: he hardened his face, that is, he resolved with himself to die, and therefore ventured upon his journey, and cast away all fear of death, and went on.

9:54 ¹ We must take heed of the immoderateness of zeal, and fond imitation, even in good causes, that whatsoever we do, we do it to God's glory, and the profit of our neighbor.

55 But Jesus turned about, and rebuked them, and said, Ye know not of what ¹spirit ye are.

56 For the Son of man is not come to destroy men's lives, but to save them. Then they went to another town.

57 ¶ ¹And it came to pass that as they went in the way, ^aa certain man said unto him, I will follow thee, Lord, whithersoever thou goest.

58 And Jesus said unto him, The foxes have holes, and the birds of the heaven nests, but the Son of man hath not whereon to lay his head.

59 ¹But he said unto another, Follow me. And the same said, Lord, suffer me first to go and bury my father.

60 And Jesus said unto him, Let the dead bury ¹their dead: but go thou, and preach the kingdom of God.

61 ¹Then another said, I will follow thee, Lord: but let me first go bid them farewell, which are at mine house.

62 And Jesus said unto him, No man that putteth his hand to the plough, and looketh back, is apt to the kingdom of God.

8 ^gBut into whatsoever city ye shall enter, if they receive you, ¹eat such things as are set before you,

14 Therefore it shall be easier for Tyre, and Sidon, at the judgment, than for you.

15 And thou, Capernaum, which art exalted to heaven, shalt be thrust down to hell.

16 ¶ ¹He that heareth you, heareth me: and he that despiseth you, despiseth me: and he that despiseth me, despiseth him that sent me.

17 ¶ ¹And the seventy turned again with joy, saying, Lord, even the devils are subdued to us ²through thy Name.

9:55 ¹ So speak the Hebrews, that is, you know not what will, mind, and counsel you are of: so the gifts of God are called the spirit, because they are given of God's Spirit, and so are they, that are contrary to them, which proceed of the wicked spirit, as the spirit of covetousness, of pride, and madness.

9:57 ¹ Such as follow Christ, must prepare themselves, to suffer all discommodities.

9:59 ¹ The calling of God ought to be preferred, without all controversy before all duties that we owe to men.

9:60 ¹ Who notwithstanding that they live in this frail life of man, yet are strangers from the true life, which is everlasting and heavenly.

9:61 ¹ Such as follow Christ, must at once renounce all worldly cares.

10:1 ¹ The seventy are sent as the second forewarners, of the coming of Christ.

10:3 ¹ The faithful ministers of the word are in this world as lambs among wolves: but if they be diligent to do their duty, he that sent them will also preserve them.

10:4 ¹ This is spoken after the manner of a figure, which men use, when they put down more in words, than is meant: usually among the Hebrews, when they command a thing to be done speedily without delay, as 2 Kings 4:29: for otherwise courteous and gentle salutations, are points of Christian duty: as for the calling it was but for a season.

10:6 ¹ So speak the Hebrews: that is, he that favoreth the doctrine of peace and embraceth it.

10:7 ¹ Take up your lodging in that house, which ye first enter into, that is, be not careful for commodious lodging, as men do which purpose to stay long in a place: for here is not instituted that solemn preaching of the Gospel, which was used afterward, when the Churches were settled: but these are sent abroad to all the coasts of Judea, to give them to understand, that the last Jubilee is at hand.

10:8 ¹ Content yourselves with that meat that is set before you.

10:10 ¹ God is a most severe revenger of the ministry of his Gospel.

10:17 ¹ Neither the gift of miracles, neither what else soever excellent gift, but only our election giveth us occasion of true joy: and the only publishing of the Gospel is the destruction of Satan.

² For Christ's disciples used no absolute authority, but wrought such miracles as they did, by calling upon Christ's Name.

18 And he said unto them, I saw Satan, like lightning, ¹fall down from heaven.

19 Behold, I give unto you power to tread on Serpents, and Scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy, and nothing shall ¹hurt you.

20 Nevertheless, in this rejoice not, that the spirits are subdued unto you: but rather rejoice, because your names are written in heaven.

21 ¶ ¹That same hour rejoiced Jesus in the spirit, and said, I confess unto thee, Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that thou hast hid these things from the ²wise and understanding, and hast revealed them to babes: even so, Father, because it so pleased thee. ³

22 ¹All things are given me of my Father: and no man knoweth who the son is, but the Father: neither who the Father is, save the Son, and he to whom the Son will reveal him.

23 ¶ And he turned to his disciples, and said secretly, ^kBlessed are the eyes, which see that ye see.

24 For I tell you that many Prophets and Kings have desired to see those things, which ye see, and have not seen them: and to hear those things which ye hear, and have not heard them.

25 ¶ ¹Then behold, ²a certain Lawyer stood up, and tempted him, saying, Master, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?

26 And he said unto him, What is written in the Law? how readest thou?

27 And he answered and said, ^mThou shalt love thy Lord God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy thought, ⁿand thy neighbor as thyself.

28 Then he said unto him, Thou hast answered right: this do, and thou shalt live.

29 ¹But he willing to ²justify himself, said unto Jesus, Who is then my neighbor?

30 And Jesus answered, and said, A certain man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and fell among thieves, and they robbed him of his raiment, and wounded him, and departed, leaving him half dead.

31 Now so it fell out, that there came down a certain Priest that same way, and when he saw him, he passed by on the other side.

32 And likewise also a Levite, when he was come near to the place, went and looked on him, and passed by on the other side.

33 Then a certain Samaritan, as he journeyed, came near unto him, and when he saw him, he had compassion on him,

34 And went to him, and bound up his wounds and poured in oil and wine, and put him on his own beast, and brought him to an Inn, and made provision for him.

35 And on the morrow when he departed, he took out two pence, and gave them to the host, and said unto him, Take care of him, and whatsoever thou spendest more, when I come again, I will recompense thee.

36 Which now of these three, thinkest thou, was neighbor unto him that fell among the thieves?

37 And he said, He that showed mercy on him. Then said Jesus unto him, Go, and do thou likewise.

38 ¶ Now it came to pass, as they went, that he entered into a certain town, and a certain woman named Martha, received him into her house.

39 And she had a sister called Mary, which also sat at Jesus' feet, and heard his preaching.

40 But Martha was cumbered about much serving, and came to him, and said, Master, dost thou not care that my sister hath left me to serve alone? bid her therefore, that she help me.

41 And Jesus answered, and said unto her, Martha, Martha, thou carest, and art troubled about many things:

42 But one thing is needful, Mary hath chosen the good part, which shall not be taken away from her.

11 ¹ He teacheth his Apostles to pray. ¹⁴ The dumb devil driven out. ²⁷ A woman of the company lifted up her voice. ²⁹ The Jews require signs. ³⁷ He being feasted of the Pharisee, reproveth the outward show of holiness.

1 And so it was, that as he was praying in a certain place, when he ceased, one of his disciples said unto him, Lord, teach us to pray, as John also taught his disciples.

2 And he said unto them, When ye pray, say, ¹Our Father which art in heaven, hallowed be thy Name. Thy kingdom come: Let thy will be done, even in earth, as it is in heaven:

10:18 ¹ Paul placeth the devil and his angels, in the air, Eph. 6:12, and he is said to be cast down from thence by force when his power is abolished by the voice of the Gospel.

10:19 ¹ Shall do you wrong.

10:21 ¹ The Church is contemptible, if we behold the outward face of it, but the wisdom of God is not so marvelous, in any thing, as in it.

² Of this world.

³ Then he turned to his disciples, and said, Is read in some copies.

10:22 ¹ Whosoever seeketh the Father without the Son, wandereth out of the way.

10:23 ¹ The difference of the old Testament and the new consisteth in the measure of revelation.

10:25 ¹ Faith doth not take away, but establisheth the doctrine of the Law.

² One of them that professed himself to be learned in the rites and laws of Moses.

10:29 ¹ All they are comprehended in the name of our neighbor, by the Law, whomsoever we may help.

² That is, to vouch his righteousness, or show, that he was just, that is, void of all faults: and James 5:1 useth the word of justification in this sense.

10:38 ¹ Christ careth not to be entertained delicately, but to be heard diligently, that is it which he especially requireth.

11:2 ¹ A form of true prayer.

3 Our daily bread give us ¹for the day:
 4 And forgive us our sins: for even we forgive every man that is indebted to us: And lead us not into temptation: but deliver us from evil.
 5 ¶ ¹Moreover he said unto them, Which of you shall have a friend, and shall go to him at midnight, and say unto him, Friend, lend me three loaves?
 6 For a friend of mine is come out of the way to me, and I have nothing to set before him:
 7 And he within should answer, and say, Trouble me not: the door is now shut, and my children are with me in bed: I cannot rise and give them to thee.
 8 I say unto you, Though he would not arise and give him, because he is his friend, yet doubtless because of his ¹importunity, he would rise and give him as many as he needed.
 9 ^bAnd I say unto you, Ask, and it shall be given you: seek, and ye shall find: knock, and it shall be opened unto you.
 10 For everyone that asketh, receiveth: and he that seeketh, findeth: and to him that knocketh, it shall be opened.
 11 ^dIf a son shall ask bread of any of you that is a father, will he give him a stone? or if he ask a fish, will he for a fish give him a serpent?
 12 Or if he ask an egg, will he give him a scorpion?
 13 If ye then which are evil, can give good gifts unto your children, how much more shall your heavenly Father give the holy Ghost to them that desire him?
 14 ¶ ^cThen he cast out a devil which was dumb: and when the devil was gone out, the dumb spake, and the people wondered.
 15 ¹But some of them said, ^fHe casteth out devils through Beelzebub the chief of the devils.
 16 And others tempted him, seeking of him a sign from heaven.
 17 ¹But he knew their thoughts, and said unto them, ^gEvery kingdom divided against itself, shall be desolate, and an house divided against an house, falleth.
 18 So if Satan also be divided against himself, how shall his kingdom stand, because ye say that I cast out devils ¹through Beelzebub?

19 If I through Beelzebub cast out devils, by whom do your children cast them out? Therefore shall they be your judges.

20 But if I by the ¹finger of God cast out devils, doubtless the kingdom of God is come unto you.

21 When a strong man armed keepeth his ¹palace, the things that he possesseth, are in peace.

22 But when a stronger than he cometh upon him, and overcometh him: he taketh from him all his armor wherein he trusted, and divideth his spoils.

23 ¹He that is not with me, is against me: and he that gathereth not with me, scattereth.

24 ^{b,1}When the unclean spirit is gone out of a man, he walketh through dry places, seeking rest: and when he findeth none, he saith, I will return unto mine house whence I came out.

25 And when he cometh, he findeth it swept and garnished.

26 Then goeth he, and taketh to him seven other spirits worse than himself: and they enter in, and dwell there: so the last state of that man is worse than the first.

27 ¶ ¹And it came to pass as he said these things, a certain woman of the company lifted up her voice, and said unto him, Blessed is the womb that bare thee, and the paps which thou hast sucked.

28 But he said, Yea, rather blessed are they that hear the word of God, and keep it.

29 ¶ ^{j,1}And when the people were gathered thick together, he began to say, This is a wicked generation: they seek a sign, and there shall no sign be given them, but the sign of ^kJonah the Prophet.

30 For as Jonah was a sign to the Ninevites: so shall also the son of man be to this generation.

31 ¹The Queen of the South shall rise in judgment, with the men of this generation, and shall condemn them: for she came from the utmost parts of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon, and behold, a greater than Solomon is here.

32 The men of Nineveh shall rise in judgment with this generation, and shall condemn it: for they ^mrepented at the preaching of Jonah: and behold, a greater than Jonah is here.

11:3 ¹ That is, as much as is needful for us this day, whereby we are not debarred to have an honest care for the maintenance of our lives; but that carping care, which killeth a number of men, is cut off and restrained.

11:5 ¹ We must pray with faith.

11:8 ¹ Word for word, impudency: but that impudency which is spoken of here, is not to be found fault withall, but is very commendable before God, for he liketh well of such importunity.

11:15 ¹ An example of horrible blindness, and such as cannot be healed, when as upon an evil conscience, and pretended malice, the power of God is blasphemed.

11:17 ¹ The true way to know the true Christ, from the false, is this, that the true Christ hath no accord or agreement with Satan: And it remaineth that after we know him, we acknowledge him.

11:18 ¹ By the name and power of Beelzebub.

11:20 ¹ That is, by the power of God: so it is said, Exod. 8:19.

11:21 ¹ The word signifieth properly an open and void room before an house, and so by translation is taken for noblemen's houses.

11:23 ¹ Against indifferent men, and such as love to have a mean, which seek means to reconcile Christ and Satan together.

11:24 ¹ He that doth not continue, is in worse case, than he that never began.

11:27 ¹ Christ seeketh not praise in himself, but in our salvation.

11:29 ¹ They that are fond desirers of miracles, instead of miracles shall receive punishment.

33 ¶^{a,1} No man when he hath lighted a candle, putteth it in a privy place, neither under a bushel: but on a candlestick, that they which come in, may see the light.

34 ¶^a The light of the body is the eye: therefore when thine eye is single, then is thy whole body light: but if thine eye be evil, then thy body is dark.

35 Take heed therefore, that the light which is in thee, be not darkness.

36 If therefore thy whole body shall be light, having no part dark, then shall all be light, even as when a candle doth light thee with the brightness.

37 ¶^a And as he spake, a certain Pharisee besought him to dine with him: and he went in, and sat down at the table.

38 And when the Pharisee saw it, he marveled that he had not first washed before dinner.

39 ¶^a And the Lord said to him, Indeed ye Pharisees make clean the outside of the cup, and of the platter: but the inward part is full of ravening and wickedness.

40 Ye fools, did not he that made that which is without, make that which is within also?

41 Therefore, give alms ¹of those things which you have, and behold, all things shall be clean unto you.

42 ¹But woe be to you, Pharisees: for ye ²tithe the mint and the rue, and ³all manner herbs, and pass over ⁴judgment and the love of God: these ought ye to have done, and not to have left the other undone.

43 ¶^{a,1} Woe be to you, Pharisees: for ye love the uppermost seats in the Synagogues, and greetings in the markets.

44 ¹Woe be to you, Scribes and Pharisees hypocrites: ⁷for ye are as graves which appear not, and the men

45 ¶^a Then answered one of the Lawyers, and said unto him, Master, thus saying thou puttest us to rebuke also.

46 And he said, Woe be to you also, ye Lawyers: ⁷for ye lade men with burdens grievous to be borne, and ye yourselves touch not the burdens with one of your fingers.

47 ¹Woe be to you: ⁷for ye build the sepulchers of the Prophets, and your fathers killed them.

48 Truly ¹ye bear witness, and allow the deeds of your fathers: for they killed them, and ye build their sepulchers.

49 Therefore said the wisdom of God, I will send them Prophets and Apostles, and of them they shall slay, and ¹persecute away,

50 That the blood of all the Prophets, ¹shed from the foundation of the world, may be required of this generation,

51 From the blood of "Abel unto the blood of "Zechariah, which was slain between the altar and the Temple: verily I say unto you, it shall be required of this generation.

52 ¹Woe be to you, Lawyers: for ye have ²taken away the key of knowledge: ye entered not in yourselves, and them that came in, ye forbade.

53 ¹And as he said these things unto them, the Scribes and Pharisees began to urge him sore, and to ²provoke him to speak of many things, 54 Laying wait for him, and seeking to catch something of his mouth, whereby they might accuse him.

12 ¹ The leaven of the Pharisee. ⁵ Who is to be feared. ⁸ To confess Christ. ¹⁶ The parable of 11:33 ¹ Our minds are therefore lightened with the knowledge of God, that we should give light unto others, and therefore our chiefest labor ought to be to pray for that light.

11:37 ¹ The service of God consisteth not in outward cleanliness, and devised rites or ceremonies, but in the spiritual righteousness of the heart, and charity.

11:41 ¹ That is, according to your abilities as who would say, instead of your extortions, which hindered you, that you could not eat cleanly, use charity, and accordingly as your ability shall serve you, be good to the poor, and so shall that, that is within the platter, be sanctified though the platter be unwashed.

11:42 ¹ It is the propense of hypocrites, to stand stoutly for little trifles, and let pass greater matters.

² You decide by God's Law that the tenth part is due to be paid.

³ Of all kind of herbs some, as Augustine expoundeth it in his Enchiridion to Laurence, chap. 99, where he sheweth in like sort how that place of Paul, 1 Tim. 2:4, God will have all men to be saved, is to be expoundeth after the same manner.

⁴ That is to say, that that is right and reason to do: for this word, Judgment, containeth the commandments of the second table, and the other words, The love of God, contain the first.

11:43 ¹ Hypocrisy and ambition are commonly joined together.

11:44 ¹ Hypocrites deceive men with an outward show.

11:45 ¹ Hypocrites are very severe against other men, but think all things lawful to themselves.

11:47 ¹ Hypocrites honor those saints when they are dead, whom they most cruelly persecute, when they were alive.

11:48 ¹ When you persecute God's servants, like mad men, even as your fathers did, though you color it with a pretence of godliness, yet notwithstanding, in that you beautify the sepulchers of the Prophets, what do you else, but glory in your fathers' cruelty, and set up monuments (as it were) in glory and triumph of it?

11:49 ¹ They shall so vex them and trouble them, that at length they shall banish them.

11:50 ¹ That you may be called to an account for it, yea, and be punished, for the shedding of that blood of the Prophet.

11:52 ¹ They have of long time chiefly hindered the people, from entering into the knowledge of God, which ought to be the door-keepers of the Church.

² You have hidden and taken away, so that it cannot be found anywhere.

11:53 ¹ The more the world is reprehended, the worse it is, and yet must we not betray the truth.

the rich man whose land was very fertile. 21 Not to care for earthly things. 31 But to seek the kingdom of God. 39 The thief in the night. 51 Debate for the Gospel's sake.

1 In ^{a,1}the meantime, there gathered together ²an innumerable multitude of people, so that they trod one another: and he began to say unto his disciples first, Take heed to yourselves of the leaven of the Pharisees, which is hypocrisy.

2 ^bFor there is nothing covered, that shall not be revealed: neither hid, that shall not be known.

3 Wherefore whatsoever ye have spoken in darkness, it shall be heard in the light: and that which ye have spoken in the ear, in secret places, shall be preached on the houses.

4 ^{c,1}And I say unto you, my friends, be not afraid of them that kill the body, and after that are not able to do anymore.

5 But I will ¹forewarn you, whom ye shall fear: fear him which after he hath killed, hath power to cast into hell: yea, I say unto you, him fear.

6 Are not five sparrows bought for two farthings, and yet not one of them is forgotten before God?

7 ^dYea, and all the hairs of your head are numbered: fear not therefore: ye are more of value than many sparrows.

8 ^{e,1}Also I say unto you, Whosoever shall confess me before men, him shall the Son of man confess also before the Angels of God.

9 But he that shall deny me before men, shall be denied before the Angels of God.

10 ^fAnd whosoever shall speak a word against the Son of man, it shall be forgiven him: but unto him that shall blaspheme the holy Ghost, it shall not be forgiven.

11 ^{g,1}And when they shall bring you unto the Synagogues, and unto the rulers and Princes, take no thought how, or what thing ye shall answer, or what ye shall speak.

12 For the holy Ghost shall teach you in the same hour, what ye ought to say.

13 ¹And one of the company said unto him, Master, bid my brother divide the inheritance with me.

14 And he said unto him, Man, who made me a judge, or a divider over you?

15 Wherefore he said unto them, Take heed, and beware of ¹covetousness: for though a man have abundance, yet his ²life standeth not in his riches.

16 ¹And he put forth a parable unto them, saying, The ²ground of a certain rich man brought forth fruits plenteously.

17 Therefore he ¹thought with himself, saying, What shall I do, because I have no room where I may lay up my fruits?

18 And he said, This will I do, I will pull down my barns, and build greater, and therein will I gather all my fruits, and my goods.

19 And I will say to my soul, Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years, live at ease, eat, drink, and ¹take thy pastime.

20 But God said unto him, O fool, this night will they fetch away thy soul from thee: then whose shall those things be which thou hast provided?

21 So is he that gathereth riches ¹to himself, and is not rich in God.

22 ¹And he spake unto his disciples, Therefore I say unto you, ²Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat: neither for your body, what ye shall put on.

² They proposed many questions to him, to draw something out of his mouth, which they might traitorously carp at.

12:1 ¹ The faithful teachers of God's word, which are appointed by him for his people, must both take good heed of them, which corrupt the purity of doctrine with goodly glosses, and also take pains through the help of God, to set forth sincere doctrine, openly and without fear.

² Word for word, ten thousands of people, a certain number for an uncertain.

12:4 ¹ Although hypocrites have princes to execute their cruelty, yet there is no cause why we could be afraid of them, the least iota that may be, seeing they can do nothing, but what pleaseth God, and God wills not anything that may be against the salvation of his elect.

12:5 ¹ He warneth them of dangers that presently hang over their heads, for those that come upon the sudden, do make the greater wound.

12:8 ¹ Great is the reward of a constant confession: and horrible is the punishment of the denying of Christ, yea impossible to be called back again shall the punishment be, if upon set purpose, both with mouth and heart we blaspheme a known truth.

12:11 ¹ It is a great and hard conflict to confess the truth, yet he that can do all things, and is almighty, will not be wanting to the weakest which strive and contend in his appointed time.

12:13 ¹ Christ would not for three causes be a judge to divide an inheritance. First, for that he would not foster up and cherish the fleshly opinion that the Jews had of Messiah: Secondly for that he would distinguish the civil governance, from the Ecclesiastical: Thirdly, to teach us to beware of them which abuse the show of the gospel, and also the name of ministers, to their own private commodities.

12:15 ¹ By covetousness is meant, that greedy desire to get, commonly with other men's hurt.

² God is the author and preserver of man's life; goods are not.

12:16 ¹ There are none more mad, than rich men which hang upon their riches.

² Or rather country, for here is set forth a man that possesseth not a piece of ground only, but an whole country, as they do, which join house to house, and field to field, Isa. 5:8.

12:17 ¹ Made his reckoning within himself, which is the property of covetous churls that spend their life in those trifles.

12:19 ¹ Be merry and make good cheer.

12:21 ¹ Caring for no man but for himself, and minding to trust in himself.

12:22 ¹ An earnest thinking upon the providence of God, is a present remedy against the most foolish and pining carefulness of men for this life.

23 The life is more than meat: and the body more than the raiment.

24 Consider the ravens: for they neither sow nor reap: which neither have storehouse nor barn, and yet God feedeth them: how much more are ye better than fowls?

25 And which of you with taking thought, can add to his stature one cubit?

26 If ye then be not able to do the least thing, why take ye thought for the remnant?

27 Consider the lilies how they grow: they labor not, neither spin they: yet I say unto you, that Solomon himself in all his royalty was not clothed like one of these.

28 If then God so clothe the grass which is today in the field, and tomorrow is cast into the oven, how much more will he clothe you, O ye of little faith?

29 Therefore ask not what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink, neither ¹hang you in suspense.

30 For all such things the people of the world seek for: and your Father knoweth that ye have need of these things.

31 ¹But rather seek ye after the kingdom of God, and all these things shall be cast upon you.

32 ¹Fear not, little flock: for it is your Father's pleasure to give you the kingdom.

33 ¶ ^{i.1}Sell that ye have, and give ²alms: make you bags which wax not old: a treasure that can never fail in heaven, where no thief cometh neither moth corrupteth.

34 For where your treasure is, there will your hearts be also.

35 ¶ ^{j.1}Let your loins be girded about, and your lights burning,

36 And ye yourselves like unto men that wait for their master, when he will return from the wedding, that when he cometh and knocketh, they may open unto him immediately.

37 Blessed are those servants, whom the Lord when he cometh shall find waking: verily I say unto you, he will gird himself about, and make them to sit down at table, and will come forth, and serve them.

38 And if he come in the second watch, or come in the third watch, and shall find them so, blessed are those servants.

ⁱMatt. 6:20

^kMatt. 24:43

39 ^kNow understand this, that if the good man of the house had known at what hour the thief would have come, he would have watched, and would not have suffered his house to be dug through.

40 ¹Be ye also prepared therefore: for the Son of man will come at an hour when ye think not.

41 Then Peter said unto him, Master, tellest thou this parable unto us, or even to all?

42 And the Lord said, Who is a faithful steward and wise, whom the master shall make ruler over his household, to give them their ¹portion of meat in season?

43 Blessed is that servant, whom his master when he cometh, shall find so doing.

44 Of a truth, I say unto you, that he will make him ruler over all that he hath.

45 But if that servant say in his heart, My master doth defer his coming, and shall begin to smite the servants, and maidens, and to eat and drink, and to be drunken, 46 The master of that servant will come in a day when he thinketh not, and at an hour when he is not aware of, and will cut him off, and give him his portion with the unbelievers.

47 ¶ And that servant that knew his master's will, and prepared not himself, neither did according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes.

48 But he that knew it not, and yet did commit things worthy of stripes, shall be beaten with few stripes: for unto whomsoever much is given, of him shall be much required, and to whom men much commit, ¹the more of him will they ask.

49 ¶ ¹I am come to put fire on the earth, and what is my desire, if it be already kindled?

50 Notwithstanding I must be baptized with a baptism, and how am I grieved till it be ended?

51 ¹Think ye that I am come to give peace on earth? I tell you, nay, but rather debate.

52 For from henceforth there shall be five in one house divided, three against two, and two against three.

12:29 ¹ A Metaphor taken of things that hang in the air, for they that are careful for this worldly life, and hang upon the arm of man, have always wavering and doubtful minds, swaying sometimes this way, and sometimes that way.

12:31 ¹ They shall lack nothing, which are careful for the kingdom of heaven.

12:32 ¹ It is a foolish thing not to look for small things, at his hands, which giveth us freely the greatest things.

12:33 ¹ A godly bountifulness is a ready way to get true riches.

² This is the figure Metonymy, for by this word, Alms, is meant that compassion and friendliness of an heart that tendereth the misery and poor estate of man, and sheweth forth itself by some gift, and hath the name given it in the Greek tongue, of mercy and compassion: and therefore he is said to give alms, who parteth with some thing to another, and giveth to the poor, showing thereby, that he pitieth their poor estate.

12:35 ¹ The life of the faithful servants of God, in this world is a certain watchful peregrination, having the light of the word going before it.

12:40 ¹ None have more need to watch, than they that have some degree of honor in the household of God.

12:42 ¹ That is, every month such measure of corn as was appointed them.

12:48 ¹ More than of him to whom so much was not given.

12:49 ¹ The Gospel is the only cause of peace between the goodly, and so is it the occasion of great trouble among the wicked.

53 The father shall be divided against the son, and the son against the father: the mother against the daughter, and the daughter against the mother: the mother-in-law against her daughter-in-law, and the daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law.

54 ¶^{m,1} Then said he to the people, When ye see a cloud ²rise out of the West, straightway ye say, A shower cometh: and so it is.

55 And when ye see the South wind blow, ye say, that it will be hot: and it cometh to pass.

56 Hypocrites, ye can discern the face of the earth, and of the sky: but why discern ye not this time?

57 ¹Yea, and why judge ye not of yourselves what is right?

58 ¶ "While thou goest with thine adversary to the ruler, as thou art in the way, give diligence in the way, that thou mayest be delivered from him, lest he draw thee to the judge, and the judge deliver thee to the ¹jailer, and the jailer cast thee into prison.

59 I tell thee, thou shalt not depart thence, till thou hast paid the utmost mite.

13 Of the Galileans, 4 and those that were slain under Siloam. 6 The fig tree that bare no fruit. 11 The woman vexed with the spirit of infirmity, that is, with a disease brought on her by Satan, is healed. 19 The parable of the grain of mustard seed. 21 Of leaven. 23 How few shall be saved. 31 Herod that Fox.

1 There ¹were certain men present at the same season, that showed him of the Galileans, whose blood ²Pilate had mingled with their sacrifices.

2 And Jesus answered, and said unto them, Suppose ye, that these Galileans were greater sinners than all the other Galileans, because they have suffered such things?

3 I tell you, nay: but except ye amend your lives, ye shall all likewise perish.

4 Or think you that those eighteen, upon whom the tower in ¹Siloam fell, and slew them, were sinners above all men that dwell in Jerusalem?

5 I tell you, nay: but except ye amend your lives, ye shall all likewise perish.

6 ¶ ¹He spake also this parable, A certain man had a fig tree, planted in his vineyard: and he came and sought fruit thereon, and found none.

7 Then said he to the dresser of his vineyard, Behold, this three years have I come and sought fruit of this fig tree, and find none: cut it down: why keepeth it also the ground ¹barren?

8 And he answered, and said unto him, Lord, let it alone this year also, till I dig round about it, and dung it.

9 And if it bear fruit, well: if not, then after thou shalt cut it down.

10 ¶ ¹And he taught in one of the Synagogues on the Sabbath day.

11 And behold, there was a woman which had a ¹spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could not lift up herself in any wise.

12 When Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said to her, Woman, thou art ¹loosed from thy disease.

13 And he laid his hands on her, and immediately she was made straight again, and glorified God.

14 ¹And the ²ruler of the Synagogue answered with indignation, because that Jesus healed on the Sabbath day, and said unto the people, There are six days in which men ought to work: in them therefore come and be healed, and not on the Sabbath day.

15 Then answered him the Lord, and said, Hypocrite, doth not each one of you on the Sabbath day loose his ox or his ass from the stall, and lead him away to the water?

16 And ought not this daughter of Abraham, whom Satan had bound, lo, eighteen years, be loosed from this bond on the Sabbath day?

17 And when he said these things, all his adversaries were ashamed: but all the people rejoiced at all the excellent things that were done by him.

12:54 ¹ Men which are very quick of sight in earthly things, are blind in those things which pertain to the heavenly life, and that through their own malice.

² Which appeareth, and gathereth itself together in that part of the air.

12:57 ¹ Men that are blinded with the love of themselves, and therefore are detestable and stubborn, shall bear the reward of their folly.

12:58 ¹ To him that had to demand and gather the americiaments which they were condemned unto that had wrongfully troubled men: moreover, the magistrate's officers make them which are condemned, pay that, that they owe, yea, and oftentimes if they be obstinate, they do not only take the cost and charge of them, but also imprison them.

13:1 ¹ We must not rejoice at the just punishment of others, but rather be instructed thereby to repentance.

² Pontius Pilate was governor of Judea, almost ten years, and about the fourth year of his government, which might be about the fifteenth year of Tiberius' reign, Christ finished the work of our redemption by his death.

13:4 ¹ To wit, in the place, or river: for Siloam was a small river, from whence the conduits of the city came, whereof John 9:7 and Isa. 8:6, and therefore it was a tower or castle, built upon the conduit side, which fell down suddenly, and killed some.

13:6 ¹ Great and longsuffering is the patience of God, but yet so that at length he executed judgment.

13:7 ¹ Maketh the ground barren in that part, which otherwise were good for vines.

13:10 ¹ Christ came to deliver us from the bands of Satan.

13:11 ¹ Troubled with a disease which Satan brought.

13:12 ¹ For Satan had the woman bound, as if she had been in chains, inasmuch that for eighteen years space she could not hold up her head.

13:14 ¹ A lively image of hypocrisy, and reward thereof.

² One of the rulers of the Synagogue, for it appeareth by Mark 5:22 and Acts 13:15 that there were many rulers of the Synagogue.

18 ¶^a Then said he, What is the kingdom of God like? or whereto shall I compare it?

19 ^b It is like a grain of mustard seed, which a man took and sowed in his garden, and it grew, and waxed a great tree, and the fowls of the heaven made nests in the branches thereof.

20 ¶^b And again he said, Whereunto shall I liken the kingdom of God?

21 It is like leaven, which a woman took, and hid in three pecks of flour, till all was leavened.

22 ¶^c And he went through all cities and towns, teaching, and journeying towards Jerusalem.

23 Then said one unto him, Lord, are there few that shall be saved? And he said unto them, 24 ^d Strive to enter in at the strait gate: for many, I say unto you, will seek to enter in, and shall not be able.

25 When the good man of the house is risen up, and hath shut to the door, and ye began to stand without, and to knock at the door, saying, Lord, Lord, open to us, and he shall answer and say unto you, I know you not whence ye are,

26 ^e Then shall ye begin to say, We have eaten and drunk in thy presence, and thou hast taught in our streets.

27 ^f But he shall say, I tell you, I know you not whence ye are: depart from me, all ye workers of iniquity.

28 ^g There shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth, when ye shall see Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, and all the Prophets in the kingdom of God, and yourselves thrust out at doors.

29 Then shall come many from the ^h East, and from the West, and from the North, and from the South, and shall sit at Table in the kingdom of God.

30 ⁱ And behold, there are last, which shall be first, and there are first, which shall be last.

34 ⁸ O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, which killest the Prophets, and stonest them that are sent to thee, how often would I have gathered thy children together, as the hen gathered her ¹ brood under her wings, and ye would not.

1 And ¹ it came to pass that when he was entered into the house of ² one of the chief Pharisees on the Sabbath day, to eat bread, they watched him.

2 And behold, there was a certain man before him, which had the dropsy.

3 Then Jesus answering, spake unto the Lawyers and Pharisees, saying, Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath day?

4 And they held their peace. Then he took him, and healed him, and let him go,

5 And answered them, saying, Which of you shall have an ass, or an ox fallen into a pit, and will not straightway pull him out on the Sabbath day?

6 And they could not answer him again to those things.

7 ¶¹ He spake also a parable to the guests, when he marked how they chose out the chief rooms, and said unto them,

8 When thou shalt be bidden of any man to a

³ To wit, when the sacrifice for sin is ended.

13:33 ¹ There are nowhere more cruel enemies of the godly, than they which are within the Sanctuary and Church itself: but God seeth it, and will in his time have an account of it.

13:34 ¹ Word for word, the nest: now the brood of chickens is the nest.

14:1 ¹ The Law of the very Sabbath ought not to hinder the offices of charity.

² Either one of the Elders, whom they called the Sanhedrin, or one of the chiefs of the Synagogue, John 7:48, for this word Pharisee was the name of a sect, though it appears by the whole history that the Pharisees were in great credit.

wedding, set not thyself down in the chiefest place, lest a more honorable man than thou be bidden of him, 9 And he that bade both him and thee, come, and say to thee, Give this man room, and thou then begin with shame to take the lowest room.

10 ^aBut when thou art bidden, go and sit down in the lowest room, that when he that bade thee, cometh, he may say unto thee, Friend, sit up higher: then shalt thou have worship in the presence of them that sit at table with thee.

11 ^bFor whosoever exalteth himself, shall be brought low, and he that humbleth himself, shall be exalted.

12 ¶ ^cThen said he also to him that had bidden him, ^dWhen thou makest a dinner or a supper, call not thy friends, nor thy brethren, neither thy kinsmen, nor the rich neighbors, lest they also bid thee again, and a recompense be made thee.

13 But when thou makest a feast, call the poor, the maimed, the lame and the blind,

14 And thou shalt be blessed, because they cannot recompense thee: for thou shalt be recompensed at the resurrection of the just.

15 ¶ Now when one of them that sat at table heard these things, he said unto him, Blessed is he that eateth bread in the kingdom of God.

16 Then said he to him, ^dA certain man made a great supper, and bade many,

17 And sent his servant at supper time to say to them that were bidden, Come: for all things are now ready.

18 ¹But they all with ²one mind began to make excuse: The first said unto him, I have bought a farm, and I must needs go out and see it: I pray thee have me excused.

19 And another said, I have bought five yoke of oxen, and I go to prove them: I pray thee have me excused.

20 And another said, I have married a wife, and therefore I cannot come.

21 So that servant returned, and showed his master these things. Then was the good man of the house angry, and said to his servant, Go out quickly into the ¹streets and lanes of the city, and bring in ness may have the upper hand and preeminence.

mured, saying, He receiveth sinners, and eateth with them.

3 Then spake he this parable to them, saying,

4 "What man of you having an hundred sheep, if he lose one of them, doth not leave ninety and nine in the wilderness, and go after that which is lost, until he find it?

5 And when he hath found it, he layeth it on his shoulders with joy.

6 And when he cometh home, he calleth together his friends and neighbors, saying unto them, Rejoice with me: for I have found my sheep which was lost.

7 I say unto you, that likewise joy shall be in heaven for one sinner that converteth, more than for ninety and nine just men, which need none amendment of life.

8 Either what woman having ten groats, if she lose one groat, doth not light a candle, and sweep the house, and seek diligently till she find it?

9 And when she hath found it, she calleth her friends, and neighbors, saying, Rejoice with me: for I have found the groat which I had lost.

10 Likewise I say unto you, there is joy in the presence of the Angels of God, for one sinner that converteth.

11 ¶ ¹He said moreover, A certain man had two sons,

12 And the younger of them said to his father, Father, give me the portion of the goods that falleth to me. So he divided unto them his substance.

13 So not many days after, when the younger son had gathered all together, he took his journey into a far country, and there he wasted his goods with riotous living.

14 Now when he had spent all, there arose a great dearth throughout that land, and he began to be in necessity.

15 Then he went and clave to a citizen of that country, and he sent him to his farm, to feed swine.

16 And he would fain have filled his belly with the husks that the swine ate: but no man gave them him.

19 And am no more worthy to be called thy son: make me as one of thine hired servants.

20 So he arose and came to his father, and when he was yet a great way off, his father saw him, and had compassion, and ran and fell on his neck, and kissed him.

21 ¹And the son said unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven, and before thee, and am no more worthy to be called thy son.

22 Then the father said to his servants, Bring forth the best robe, and put it on him, and put a ring on his hand, and shoes on his feet,

23 And bring the fat calf, and kill him, and let us eat, and be merry:

24 For this my son was dead, and is alive again: and he was lost, but he is found. And they began to be merry.

25 ¹Now the elder brother was in the field, and when he came and drew near to the house, he heard melody, and dancing,

26 And called one of his servants, and asked what those things meant.

27 And he said unto him, Thy brother is come, and thy father hath killed the fat calf, because he hath received him safe and sound.

28 Then he was angry, and would not go in: therefore came his father out, and entreated him.

29 But he answered, and said to his father, Lo, these many years have I done thee service, neither brake I at anytime thy commandment, and yet thou never gavest me a kid that I might make merry with my friends.

30 But when this thy son was come, which hath devoured thy goods with harlots, thou hast for his sake killed the fat calf.

31 And he said unto him, Son thou art ever with me, and all that I have, is thine. It was meet that we should make merry, and be glad: for this thy brother was dead, and is alive again: and he was lost, but he is found.

15:11 ¹ Men by their voluntary falling from God, having spoiled themselves of the benefits which they received of him, cast themselves headlong into infinite calamities: but God of his singular goodness, offering himself freely to them, whom he called to repentance, through the greatness of their misery wherewith they were tamed, doth not only gently receive them, but also enricheth them with far greater gifts, and blesseth them with the chiefest bliss.

15:17 ¹ The beginning of repentance is the acknowledging of the mercy of God, which stirreth us to hope well.

15:18 ¹ Against God, because he is said to dwell in heaven.

15:21 ¹ In true repentance there is a feeling of our sins, joined with sorrow and shame, from whence springeth a confession, after which followeth forgiveness.

15:25 ¹ Such as truly fear God, desire to have all men to be their fellows.

16:1 ¹ Seeing that men oftentimes purchase friendship to themselves, by other men's costs, it is a shame for us, if with a free and liberal bestowing of the goods which the Lord hath given us to that purpose, we do not please him, nor procure the good will of our neighbors, seeing that by this only means, riches, which are oftentimes occasions of sin, are turned to another end and purpose.

a certain rich man, which had a steward, and he was accused unto him, that he wasted his goods.

2 And he called him, and said unto him, How is it that I hear this of thee? Give an account of thy stewardship: for thou mayest be no longer steward.

3 Then the steward said within himself, What shall I do? for my master taketh away from me the stewardship. I cannot dig, and to beg I am ashamed.

4 I know what I will do, that when I am put out of the stewardship, they may receive me into their houses.

5 Then called he unto him everyone of his master's debtors, and said unto the first, How much owest thou unto my master?

6 And he said, An hundred measures of oil. And he said to him, Take thy writing, and sit down quickly, and write fifty.

7 Then said he to another, How much owest thou? And he said, An hundred measures of wheat. Then he said to him, Take thy writing and write fourscore.

1 Cor. 7:11

13 ^{a,1}No servant can serve two masters: for either he shall hate the one, and love the other: or else he shall lean to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and riches.

14 All these things heard the Pharisees also which were covetous, and they scoffed at him.

15 ¹Then he said unto them, Ye are they, which justify yourselves before men: but God knoweth your hearts: for that which is highly esteemed among men, is abomination in the sight of God.

16 ^{b,1}The Law and the Prophets endured until John: and since that time the kingdom of God is preached, and every man presseth into it.

17 Now it is more easy that heaven and earth should pass away, than that one tittle of the Law should fall.

18 ¶ ^dWhosoever putteth away his wife, and marrieth another, commiteth adultery: and whosoever marrieth her ¹that is put away from her husband, commiteth adultery.

19 ¶ ¹There was a certain rich man, which was clothed in ²purple and fine linen, and fared well and delicately every day.

20 Also there was a certain beggar named Lazarus, which was laid at his gate full of sores,

21 And desired to be refreshed with the crumbs that fell from the rich man's table: yea, and the dogs came and licked his sores.

22 And it was so that the beggar died, and was carried by the Angels into Abraham's bosom. The rich man also died, and was buried.

23 And being in hell in torments, ¹he lifted up his eyes, and saw Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom.

24 Then he cried, and said, Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus that he may dip the tip of his finger in water, and cool my tongue: for I

16:8 ¹ This parable doth not approve the steward's naughty dealing, for it was every theft: but parables are set forth, to show a thing covertly, and as it were under a figure to represent the truth, though it agree not thoroughly with the matter itself: so that Christ meaneth by this parable to teach us, that worldly men are more heady in the affairs of this world, than the children of God are careful for everlasting life.

² Men that are given to this present life, contrary to whom the children of light are set: St. Paul calls those spiritual, and the other carnal.

16:9 ¹ This is not spoken of goods that are evil gotten, for God will have our bountifulness to the poor, proceed and come from a good fountain: but he calleth those riches of iniquity, which men use naughtily.

² To wit, the poor Christians: for they are the inheritors of these Tabernacles, Theophylact.

16:10 ¹ We ought to take heed that for abusing our earthly function and duty, we be not deprived of heavenly gifts: for how can they use spiritual gifts aright, who abuse worldly things?

16:11 ¹ That is, heavenly and true riches: which are contrary to worldly and flitting substance.

16:12 ¹ In worldly goods, which are called other men's, because they are committed to our credit.

16:13 ¹ No man can love God and riches together.

16:15 ¹ Our sins are not hidden to God, although they be hidden to men, yea although they be hidden to them whose sins they are.

16:16 ¹ The Pharisees despised the excellency of the new Covenant, in respect of the old, being ignorant of the perfect righteousness of the Law, and how false expounders they were of the Law, Christ declareth by the seventh Commandment.

16:18 ¹ They that gather by this place, that a man cannot be married again after that he hath put away his wife for adultery, while she liveth, reason fondly: for Christ speaketh of those divorces which the Jews used, of which sort we cannot take the divorcement for adultery, for adulterers were put to death by the law.

16:19 ¹ The end of the poverty and misery of the godly, shall be everlasting joy: as the end of riotousness and cruel pride of the rich shall be everlasting misery, without all hope of mercy.

² Very gorgeously and sumptuously, for purple garments were costly, and this fine linen which was a kind of linen that came out of Achaia, was as dear as gold.

am tormented in this flame.

25 But Abraham said, Son, remember that thou in thy lifetime receivest thy pleasures, and likewise Lazarus pains: now therefore is he comforted, and thou art tormented.

26 Besides all this, between you and us there is a great gulf set, so that they which would go from hence to you, cannot: neither can they come from thence to us.

27 ¹Then he said, I pray thee therefore father, that thou wouldest send him to my father's house, 29 Abraham said unto him, They have Moses and the Prophets: let them hear them.

2 It is better for him that a great millstone were hanged about his neck, and that he were cast into the sea, then that he should offend one of these little ones.

3 ¶ ¹Take heed to yourselves: if thy brother trespass against thee, rebuke him: and if he repent, forgive him.

7 ¶ ¹Who is it also of you, that having a servant plowing or feeding cattle, would say unto him by and by, when he were come from the field, Go, and sit down at table,

8 And would not rather say to him, Dress wherewith I may sup, and gird thyself, and serve me, till I have eaten and drunken, and afterward eat thou, and drink thou?

9 Doth he thank that servant, because he did that which was commanded unto him? I trow not.

10 ¹So likewise ye, when ye have done all those things, which are commanded you, say, We are unprofitable servants: we have done that which was our duty to do.

11 ¶ ¹And so it was when he went to Jerusalem, that he passed through the midst of Samaria, and Galilee.

12 And as he entered into a certain town, there met him ten men that were lepers, which stood afar off.

13 And they lifted up their voices and said, Jesus, Master, have mercy on us.

14 And when he saw them, he said unto them, ^dGo, show yourselves unto the Priests. And it came to pass, that as they went, they were cleansed.

15 Then one of them, when he saw that he was healed, turned back, and with a loud voice praised God,

16 And fell down on his face at his feet, and gave him thanks: and he was a Samaritan.

17 And Jesus answered, and said, Are there not ten cleansed? but where are the nine?

18 There is none found that returned to give God praise, save this stranger.

19 And he said unto him, Arise, go thy way, thy faith hath saved thee.

20 ¶ ¹And when he was demanded of the Pharisees, when the kingdom of God should come, he answered them, and said, The kingdom of God cometh not with ²observation.

16:27 ¹ Seeing that we have a most sure rule to live by, laid forth unto us in the word of God, rashly and vainly do men seek for other revelation.

17:1 ¹ The Church is of necessity subject to offences, but the Lord will not suffer them unpunished, if any of the least be offended.

17:3 ¹ Our reprehensions must be just, and proceed of love and charity.

17:5 ¹ God will never be utterly lacking to the Godly (although he be not so perfectly with them, as they would) even in those difficulties, which cannot be overcome by man's reason.

17:6 ¹ If you had no more faith, but the quantity of the grain of mustard seed.

17:7 ¹ Seeing that God may challenge unto himself of right, both us and all that is ours, he can be debtor unto us for nothing, although we labor manfully even unto death.

17:10 ¹ The most perfect keeping of the Law, which we can perform, deserves no reward.

17:11 ¹ Christ doeth well even unto such, as will be unthankful, but the benefits of God profit them only to salvation, which are thankful.

17:20 ¹ The kingdom of God is not marked of many, although it be most present before their eyes: because they fondly persuade themselves, that it is joined with outward pomp.

² With any outward pomp and show of majesty, to be known by: for there were otherwise many plain and evident tokens, whereby men might have understood, that Christ was the Messiah, whose kingdom was so long looked for: but he speaketh in this place of those signs which the Pharisees dreamed of, which looked for an earthly kingdom of Messiah.

21 Neither shall men say, Lo here, or lo there: for behold, the kingdom of God is ¹within you.

22 ¹And he said unto the disciples, the days will come, when ye shall desire to see ²one of the days of the Son of man, and ye shall not see it.

23 ^{a,1}Then they shall say to you, Behold here, or behold there: but go not thither, neither follow them.

24 For as the lightning that lighteneth out of the one part under heaven, shineth unto the other part under heaven, so shall the Son of man be in his day.

25 But first must he suffer many things and be reprov'd of this generation.

26 ^{f,1}And as it was in the days of Noah, so shall it be in the days of the Son of man.

27 They ate, they drank, they married wives, and gave in marriage unto the day that Noah went into the Ark: and the flood came, and destroyed them all.

28 ^gLikewise also as it was in the days of Lot: They ate, they drank, they bought, they sold, they planted, they built.

29 But in the day that Lot went out of Sodom, it rained fire and brimstone from heaven, and destroyed them all.

30 After these examples shall it be in the day when the son of man revealed.

31 ¹At that day he that is upon the house, and his stuff in the house, let him not come down to take it out: and he that is in the field likewise, let him not turn back to that he left behind.

32 ^bRemember Lot's wife.

1 And ¹he spake also a parable unto them, to this end, that they ^aought always to pray, and not to ²wax faint,

2 ¹Saying, there was a judge in a certain city, which feared not God, neither revered man.

3 And there was a widow in that city, which came unto him, saying, Do me justice against mine adversary.

4 And he would not of a long time: but afterward he said with himself, Though I fear not God, nor reverence man,

5 Yet because this widow troubleth me, I will do her right, lest at the last she come and ¹make me weary.

6 And the Lord said, Hear what the unrighteous judge saith.

7 Now shall not God avenge his elect, which cry day and night unto him, yea, though ¹he suffer long for them?

8 I tell you he will avenge them quickly: but when the Son of man cometh, shall he find faith on the earth?

9 ¶ ¹He spake also this parable unto certain which trusted in themselves that they were just, and despised others.

10 Two men went up into the Temple to pray: the one a Pharisee, and the other a Publican.

17:21 ¹ You look about for Messiah as though he were absent, but he is amongst you in the midst of you.

17:22 ¹ We oftentimes neglect those things when they be present, which we afterward desire when they are gone, but in vain.

² The time will come that you shall seek for the Son of man, with great sorrow of heart, and shall not find him.

17:23 ¹ Christ forewarneth us that false Christs shall come, and that his glory shall suddenly be spread far and wide through the world, after that the ignomy of the cross is put out and extinguished.

17:26 ¹ The world shall be taken unawares with the sudden judgment of God: and therefore the faithful ought to watch continually.

17:31 ¹ We must take good heed, that neither distrust, nor the enticements of this world, nor any respect of friendship hinder us the least that may be.

17:33 ¹ That is, shall save it, so Matthew expoundeth it: for the life that is here spoken of, is everlasting salvation.

17:37 ¹ The only way to continue is to cleave to Christ.

18:1 ¹ God will have us to continue in prayer, not to weary us, but to exercise us, therefore we must so strive with impatience, that long delay cause us not to break off the course of our prayers.

² Yield to afflictions, and adversities, as they do which are out of heart.

18:2 ¹ He doth not compare things that are equal together, but the less with the greater: If a man get his right at a most unrighteous judge's hands, much more shall the prayers of the godly prevail before God.

18:5 ¹ Word for word, beat me down with her blows, and it is a metaphor taken of wrestlers, who beat their adversaries with their fists or clubs: so do they that are importunate beat the judge's ears with their crying out, even as it were with blows.

18:7 ¹ Though he seems slow in revenging the injury done to his.

18:9 ¹ Two things especially make our prayers void and of none effect: confidence of our own righteousness, and the contempt of others: and an humble heart is contrary to both these.

11 ¹The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himself, O God, I thank thee that I am not as other men, extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even as this Publican.

12 I fast twice in the week: I give tithe of all that ever I possess.

13 But the Publican standing ¹afar off, would not lift up so much as his eyes to heaven, but smote his breast, saying, O God, be merciful to me a sinner.

14 I tell you, this man departed to his house, justified rather than the other: ^bfor every man that exalteth himself shall be brought low, and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted.

15 ¶ ^{c,1}They brought unto him also babes that he should touch them. ²And when his disciples saw it, they rebuked them.

16 ¹But Jesus ²called them unto him, and said, Suffer the babes to come unto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdom of God.

17 ¹Verily I say unto you, whosoever receiveth not the kingdom of God as a babe, he shall not enter therein.

18 ^dThen a certain ruler asked him, saying, Good Master, what ought I do, to inherit eternal life?

19 And Jesus said unto him, Why callest thou me good? none is good, save one, even God.

20 Thou knowest the commandments, ^eThou shalt not commit adultery: Thou shalt not kill: Thou shalt not steal: Thou shalt not bear false witness: Honor thy father and thy mother.

21 ¹And he said, All these have I kept from my youth.

22 Now when Jesus heard that, he said unto him, yet lackest thou one thing, Sell all that ever thou hast, and distribute unto the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven, and come follow me.

23 But when he heard those things, he was very heavy: for he was marvelous rich.

24 ¹And when Jesus saw him very sorrowful, he said, With what difficulty shall they that have riches, enter into the kingdom of God!

26 Then said they that heard it, And who then shall be saved?

27 And he said, The things which are impossible with men, are possible with God.

28 ¶ ¹Then Peter said, Lo, we have left all, and have followed thee.

29 ¹And he said unto them, Verily I say unto you, there is no man that hath left house, or parents, or brethren, or wife, or children for the kingdom of God's sake,

30 Which shall not receive much more in this world, and in the world to come life everlasting.

31 ¶ ¹Then Jesus took unto him the twelve, and said unto them, Behold, we go up to Jerusalem, and all things shall be fulfilled to the Son of man, that are written by the Prophets.

32 For he shall be delivered unto the Gentiles, and shall be mocked, and shall be spiteful entreated, and shall be spitted on.

33 And when they have scourged him, they will put him to death: but the third day he shall rise again.

34 But they understood ¹none of these things, and this saying was hid from them, neither perceived they the things, which were spoken.

35 ¶ ^{h,1}And it came to pass, that as he was come near unto Jericho, a certain blind man sat by the wayside, begging.

36 And when he heard the people pass by, he asked what it meant.

37 And they said unto him, that Jesus of Nazareth passed by.

38 Then he cried, saying, Jesus the Son of David, have mercy on me.

39 ¹And they which went before, rebuked him that he should hold his peace, but he cried much more, O Son of David have mercy on me.

40 And Jesus stood still, and commanded him to be brought unto him. And when he was come near, he asked him, 41 Saying, What wilt thou that I do unto thee? And he said, Lord, that I may receive my sight.

18:11 ¹ Although we confess that whatsoever we have, we have it of God, yet are we despised of God, as proud and arrogant, if we put never so little trust in our own works before God.

18:13 ¹ Far from the Pharisee in a lower place.

18:15 ¹ The children were tender and young, in that they were brought, which appeareth more evidently in that, that they were infants, which is to be marked against them that are enemies to the baptizing of children.

² To judge or think of Christ after the reason of our flesh, is the cause of infinite corruptions.

18:16 ¹ The children also of the faithful are comprehended in the free covenant of God.

² Them that carried the children, whom the disciples drove away.

18:17 ¹ Childlike innocence is an ornament of Christians.

18:21 ¹ The enticement of riches carrieth away many from the right way.

18:24 ¹ To be both rich and godly, is a singular gift of God.

18:29 ¹ They become the richest of all, which refuse not to be poor for Christ's sake.

18:31 ¹ As sure and certain as persecution is, so sure is the glory which remaineth for the conquerors.

18:34 ¹ Hereby we see how ignorant the disciples were.

18:35 ¹ Christ sheweth by a visible miracle, that he is the light of the world.

18:39 ¹ The more stops and lets that Satan layeth in our way, even by them which profess Christ's Name, so much the more ought we to go forward.

42 And Jesus said unto him, Receive thy sight: thy faith hath saved thee.

43 Then immediately he received his sight, and followed him, praising God: and all the people, when they saw this, gave praise to God.

1 Now ¹when Jesus entered and passed through Jericho,

2 Behold, there was a man named Zacchaeus, which was the ¹chief receiver of the tribute, and he was rich.

3 And he sought to see Jesus, who he should be, and could not for the press, because he was of a low stature.

4 Wherefore he ran before, and climbed up into a wild fig tree, that he might see him: for he should come that way.

5 And when Jesus came to the place, he looked up, and saw him, and said unto him, Zacchaeus, come down at once: for today I must abide at thine house.

6 Then he came down hastily, and received him joyfully.

7 ¹And when all they saw it, they murmured, saying, that he was gone in to lodge with a sinful man.

8 ¹And Zacchaeus stood forth, and said unto the Lord, Behold, Lord, the half of my goods I give to the poor: and if I have taken from any man by ²forged cavillation, I restore him fourfold.

9 Then Jesus said to him, This day is salvation come unto this house, forasmuch as he is also become the ¹son of Abraham.

10 ^aFor the son of man is come to seek, and to save that which was lost.

Jerusalem, and because also they thought that the kingdom of God should shortly appear.

12 He said therefore, ^bA certain noble man went into a far country, to receive for himself a kingdom, and so to come again.

13 ¹And he called his ten servants, and delivered them ten pieces of money, and said unto them, Occupy till I come.

14 Now his citizens hated him, and sent an ambassage after him, saying, We will not have this man to reign over us.

15 And it came to pass, when he was come again, and had received his kingdom, that he commanded the servants to be called to him, to whom he gave his money, that he might know what every man had gained.

16 Then came the first, saying, Lord, ¹thy piece hath increased ten pieces.

17 And he said unto him, Well, good servant: because thou hast been faithful in a very little thing, take thou authority over ten cities.

18 And the second came, saying, Lord, thy piece hath increased five pieces.

19 And to the same he said, Be thou also ruler over five cities.

20 ¹So the other came, and said, Lord, behold thy piece, which I have laid up in a napkin:

21 For I feared thee, because thou art a straight man: thou takest up that thou laidst not down, and reapest that thou didst not sow.

22 Then he said unto him, Of thine own mouth will I judge thee, O evil servant. Thou knewest that I am a straight man, taking up that I laid not down, and reaping that I did not sow.

23 Wherefore then gavest not thou my money into the ¹bank, that at my coming I might have required it with vantage?

24 And he said to them that stood by, Take from him that piece, and give it him that hath ten pieces.

25 (And they said unto him, Lord, he hath ten pieces.)

19:1 ¹ Christ preventeth them with his grace especially which seemed to be furthest from it.

19:2 ¹ The overseer and head of the Publicans which were there together: for the Publicans were divided into companies: as we may gather by many places of Cicero his orations.

19:7 ¹ The world forsaketh the grace of God, and yet is unwilling that it should be bestowed upon others.

19:8 ¹ The example of true repentance, is known by the effect.

² By falsely accusing any man: and this agreeth most fitly to the master of the customer's person: for commonly they have this trade among them when they rob and spoil the commonweal, they have nothing in their mouths, but the profit of the commonweal, and under that color they play the thieves, insomuch that if men reprove and go about to redress their robbery, and spoiling, they cry out, the commonwealth is hindered.

19:9 ¹ Beloved of God, one that walketh in the steps of Abraham's faith: and we gather that salvation came to that house, because they received the blessing as Abraham had, for all of the household were circumcised.

19:11 ¹ We must patiently wait for the judgment of God, which shall be revealed in his time.

19:13 ¹ There are three sorts of men in the Church: the one sort fall from Christ whom they see not; the other, which according to their vocation, bestow the gifts which they have received of God, to his glory with great pains and diligence: the third live idly, and do no good. As for the first, the Lord when he cometh will justly punish them in his time: the other he will bless, according to the pains which they have taken: and as for the slothful and idle persons, he will punish them as the first.

19:16 ¹ This was a piece of money, which the Grecians used, and was in value about an hundred pence, which is about ten crowns.

19:20 ¹ Against them which spend their life idly in deliberating, and otherwise, in contemplation.

19:23 ¹ To the bankers and changers.

26 'For I say unto you, that unto all them that have, it shall be given: and from him that hath not, even that he hath, shall be taken from him.

27 Moreover, those mine enemies, which would not that I should reign over them, bring hither, and slay them before me.

28 ¶ And when he had thus spoken, ¹he went forth before, ascending up to Jerusalem.

29 ^{d,1}And it came to pass, when he was come near to Bethphage, and Bethany, besides the mount which is called the mount of Olives, he sent two of his disciples,

30 Saying, Go ye to the town which is before you, wherein as soon as ye are come, ye shall find a colt tied, whereon never man sat: loose him, and bring him hither.

31 And if any ask you, why ye loose him, thus shall ye say unto him, Because the Lord hath need of him.

32 So they that were sent, went their way, and found it as he had said unto them.

33 And as they were loosing the colt, the owners thereof said unto them, Why loose ye the colt?

34 And they said, The Lord hath need of him.

35 ¶ 'So they brought him to Jesus, and they cast their garments on the colt, and set Jesus thereon.

36 And as he went, they spread their clothes in the way.

37 And when he was now come near to the going down of the mount of Olives, the whole multitude of the disciples began to rejoice, and to praise God with a loud voice, for all the great works that they had seen,

38 Saying, Blessed be the King that cometh in the Name of the Lord: peace in heaven, and glory in the highest places.

39 ¹Then some of the Pharisees of the company said unto him, Master, rebuke thy disciples.

40 But he answered, and said unto them, I tell you, that if these should hold their peace, the stones would cry.

46 Saying unto them, It is written, ^bMine house is the house of prayer, ¹but ye have made it a den of thieves.

47 And he taught daily in the Temple. And the high Priests and the Scribes, and the chief of the people sought to destroy him.

1 And ^{a,1}it came to pass, that on one of those days, as he taught the people in the Temple, and preached the Gospel, the high Priests and the Scribes came upon him, with the Elders,

2 And spake unto him, saying, Tell us by what authority thou doest these things, or who is he that hath given thee this authority?

19:39 ¹ When they linger which ought to be the chiefest preachers and setters forth of the kingdom of God, he will raise up others extraordinarily, in despite of them.

19:41 ¹ Christ is not simply delighted with the destruction, no not of the wicked.

19:42 ¹ Christ breaketh off his speech, which showeth partly how he was moved with compassion for the destruction of the city, that was like to ensue: and partly to upbraid them for their treachery and stubbornness against him, such as hath not lightly been heard of.

² At least wise thou, O Jerusalem, to whom this message was properly sent.

³ If after the slaying of so many Prophets, and so oft refusing me the Lord of the Prophets, now especially in this my last coming to thee, thou hadst had any regard to thyself.

⁴ The fit and commodious time is called the day of this city.

⁵ That is, those things wherein thy happiness standeth.

Prophet.

7 Therefore they answered, that they could not tell whence it was.

8 Then Jesus said unto them, Neither tell I you, by what authority I do these things.

9 ¶^{b,1} Then began he to speak to the people this parable, A certain man planted a vineyard, and let it forth to husbandmen: and went into a strange country, for a great time.

10 And at the time convenient he sent a servant to the husbandmen, that they should give him of the fruit of the vineyard: but the husbandmen did beat him, and sent him away empty.

11 Again he sent yet another servant: and they did beat him, and foul entreated him, and sent him away empty.

12 Moreover he sent the third, and him they wounded, and cast out.

13 Then said the Lord of the vineyard, What shall I do? I will send my beloved son: it may be that they will do to reverence when they see him.

14 But when the husbandmen saw him, they reasoned with themselves, saying, This is the heir: come, let us kill him, that the inheritance may be ours.

15 So they cast him out of the vineyard, and killed him. What shall the Lord of the vineyard therefore do unto them?

16 He will come and destroy these husbandmen, and will give out his vineyard to others. But when they heard it, they said, God forbid.

17 ¶ And he beheld them, and said, What meaneth this then that is written, ^cThe stone that the builders refused, that is made the head of the corner?

18 Whosoever shall fall upon that stone, shall be broken: and on whomsoever it shall fall, it will grind him to powder.

19 Then the high Priests, and the Scribes the same hour went about to lay hands on him (but they feared the people) for they perceived that he had spoken this parable against them.

22 Is it lawful for us to give Caesar tribute or no?

23 But he perceived their ¹craftiness, and said unto them, Why tempt ye me?

24 Show me a penny. Whose image and superscription hath it? They answered, and said, Caesars.

25 Then he said unto them, ^cGive then unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's, and to God those which are God's.

26 And they could not reprove his saying before the people: but they marveled at his answer, and held their peace.

27 ^{f,1} Then came to him certain of the Sadducees (which deny that there is any resurrection) and they asked him,

28 Saying, Master, ^gMoses wrote unto us, If any man's brother die having a wife, and he die without children, that his brother should take his wife, and raise up seed unto his brother.

29 Now there were seven brethren, and the first took a wife, and he died without children.

30 And the second took the wife, and he died childless.

31 Then the third took her: and so likewise the seven died, and left no children.

32 And last of all, the woman died also.

33 Therefore at the resurrection, whose wife of them shall she be? for seven had her to wife.

34 Then Jesus answered, and said unto them, The ¹children of this world marry wives, and are married.

35 But they which shall be counted worthy to enjoy that world, and the resurrection from the dead, neither marry wives, neither are married.

36 For they can die no more, forasmuch as they are equal unto the Angels, and are the sons of God, since they are the ¹children of the resurrection.

20:36 ¹ That is, men partakers of the resurrection, for as we say truly, that they shall live indeed, which shall enjoy everlasting bliss, so do they rise indeed, which rise to life, though if this word resurrection, be taken generally, it belongeth also to the wicked which shall rise to condemnation, which is not properly life, but death.

39 Then certain of the Scribes answered, and said, Master, thou hast well said.

40 And after that, durst they not ask him anything at all.

41 ¶ ^{i,1}Then said he unto them, How say they that Christ is David's son?

42 And David himself saith in the book of the Psalms, ^jThe Lord said unto my Lord, Sit at my right hand, 43 Till I shall make thine enemies thy footstool.

44 Seeing David called him Lord, how is he then his son?

45 ¶ Then in the audience of all the people he said unto his disciples,

46 ^{k,1}Beware of the Scribes, which willingly go in long robes, and love salutations in the markets, and the highest seats in the assemblies, and the chief rooms at feasts:

34 ¹Take heed to yourselves, lest at any time your hearts be oppressed with surfeiting and drunkenness, and cares of this life, and lest that day come on you at unawares,

35 For as a snare shall it come ¹on all them that dwell on the face of the whole earth.

36 Watch therefore, and pray continually, that ye may be counted worthy to escape all these things that shall come to pass, and that ye may ¹stand before the son of man.

37 ¶ Now in the daytime he taught in the Temple, and at night he went out, and abode in the mount, that is called the mount of Olives.

38 And all the people came in the morning to him, to hear him in the Temple.

22 ³ Judas selleth Christ. ⁷ The Apostles prepare the Passover. ²⁴ They strive who shall be chiefest. ³¹ Satan desireth them. ³⁵ Christ sheweth that they wanted nothing. ⁴² He prayeth in the mount. ⁴⁴ He sweateth blood. ⁵⁰ Malchus's ear cut off and healed. ^{57, 58, 60} Peter denieth Christ thrice. ⁶³ Christ is mocked and strooken. ⁶⁹ He confesseth himself to be the Son of God.

1 Now ¹the ¹feast of unleavened bread drew near, which is called the Passover.

2 And the high Priests and Scribes sought how they might kill him: for they feared the people.

3 ^{b,1}Then entered Satan into Judas, who was called Iscariot, and was of the number of the twelve.

4 And he went his way, and communed with the high Priests and ¹captains, how he might betray him to them.

5 So they were glad, and agreed to give him money.

6 And he consented, and sought opportunity to betray him unto them, when the people were ¹away.

7 ¶ ^{c,1}Then came the day of unleavened bread, when the Passover ²must be sacrificed.

8 And he sent Peter and John, saying, Go and prepare us the ¹Passover that we may eat it.

9 And they said to him, Where wilt thou, that we prepare it?

10 Then he said unto them, Behold, when ye be entered into the city, there shall a man meet you, bearing a pitcher of water: follow him into the house that he entereth in,

11 And say unto the good man of the house, The Master saith unto thee, Where is the lodging where I shall eat my Passover with my disciples?

12 Then he shall show you a great high chamber trimmed: there make it ready.

13 So they went, and found as he had said unto 21:23 ¹ By wrath, those things are meant, which God sendeth when he is displeased.

21:24 ¹ Word for word, mouth, for the Hebrews call the edge of a sword the mouth, because the edge biteth.

21:25 ¹ When the times are expired, appointed for the salvation of the Gentiles and punishment of the Jews: And so he passeth from the destruction of Jerusalem, to the history of the latter judgment.

21:26 ¹ After divers tempests, the Lord will at the length plainly appear to deliver his Church.

21:29 ¹ We must be sober and watchful both day and night for the Lord's coming, that we be not taken at unawares.

21:35 ¹ On all men wheresoever they be.

21:36 ¹ You may so appear that you will abide the countenance and sentence of the Judge without fear.

22:1 ¹ Christ is taken upon the day of the Passover, rather by the providence of his Father, than by the will of men.

22:3 ¹ God by his wonderful providence, causeth him to be the minister of our salvation, who was the author of our destruction.

22:4 ¹ They that had the charge of keeping the Temple, which were none of the Priests and Bishops, as appeareth by verse 52 of this Chapter.

22:6 ¹ Without tumult, unwitting to the people which used to follow him: and therefore indeed they watched their time, when they knew he was alone in the garden.

22:7 ¹ Christ teacheth his disciples by a manifest miracle, that although he be going to be crucified, yet nothing is hid from him: and therefore that he goeth willingly to death.

² By the order appointed by the Law.

22:8 ¹ The lamb which was the figure of the Passover: And this is spoken by the figure metonymy, which is very usual in the matter of the Sacraments.

them, and made ready the Passover.

14 ^{d,1}And when the ²hour was come, he sat down, and the twelve Apostles with him.

15 Then he said unto them, I have earnestly desired to eat this Passover with you, before I ¹suffer.

16 For I say unto you, Henceforth I will not eat of it anymore, until it be fulfilled in the kingdom of God.

17 And he took the cup, and gave thanks, and said, Take this, and divide it among you:

18 For I say unto you, I will not drink of the fruit of the vine, until the kingdom of God be come.

19 ^{e,1}And he took bread, and when he had given thanks, he brake it, and gave to them, saying, This is my body, which is given for you: do this in the remembrance of me.

20 Likewise also after supper he took the cup, saying, This ¹cup is ²that new Testament in my blood, which is shed for you.

21 ^{f,1}Yet behold, the ²hand of him that betrayeth me, is with me at the table.

22 ¹And truly the Son of man goeth as it is appointed: but woe be to that man by whom he is betrayed.

23 Then they began to inquire among themselves which of them it should be, that should do that.

24 ¶ ^{g,1}And there arose also a strife among them, which of them should seem to be the greatest.

25 But he said unto them, The kings of the Gentiles reign over them, and they that bear rule over them, are called ¹bountiful.

26 But ye shall not be so: but let the greatest among you be as the least: and the chiefest as he that serveth.

29 Therefore I appoint unto you a kingdom, as my Father hath appointed unto me, 30 ^hThat ye may eat, and drink at my table, in my kingdom, and sit on seats, and judge the twelve tribes of Israel.

31 ¶ ¹And the Lord said, Simon, Simon, behold, ⁱSatan hath desired you, ²to winnow you as wheat.

32 ¹But I have prayed for thee, that thy faith fail not: therefore when thou art converted, strengthen thy brethren.

33 ^{j,1}And he said unto him: Lord, I am ready to go with thee into prison, and to death.

37 For I say unto you, That yet the same which is written, must be performed in me, ^lEven with the wicked was he numbered: for doubtless those things which are written of me, have an end.

38 And they said, Lord, behold, here are two swords. And he said unto them, It is enough.

22:14 ¹ Christ having ended the Passover according to the order of the Law, forewarneth them that this shall be his last banquet with them, after the manner and necessity of this life.

² The evening and twilight, at what time this supper was to be kept.

22:15 ¹ I am put to death.

22:19 ¹ Christ establisheth his new Covenant, and his communicating with us with new signs.

22:20 ¹ Here is a double Metonymy: for first the vessel is taken for that which is contained in the vessel, as the cup, for the wine which is within the cup. Then the wine is called the Covenant or Testament, whereas indeed it is but the sign of the Testament, or rather of the blood of Christ, whereby the Testament was made: neither is it a vain sign, though it be not all one with the thing that it representeth.

² This word, that, sheweth the excellency of the Testament, and answereth to the place of Jeremiah, Chapter 31:31, where the new Testament is promised.

22:21 ¹ Christ sheweth again that he goeth to death willingly, although he be not ignorant of Judas's treason.

² That is, his practice, so use the Hebrews to speak, 2 Kings 14:19. Is not the hand of Joab in this matter?

22:22 ¹ Although the decree of God's providence comes necessarily to pass, yet it excuseth not the fault of the instruments.

22:24 ¹ The Pastors are not called to rule, but to serve.

22:25 ¹ Have great titles, for so it was the custom to honor Princes with some great titles.

22:28 ¹ Such as are partakers of the afflictions of Christ, shall also be partakers of his kingdom.

22:31 ¹ We must always think upon the wait that Satan layeth for us.

² To toss you and scatter you, and also to cast you out.

22:32 ¹ It is through the prayers of Christ, that the elect do never utterly fall away from the faith: and that for this cause, that they should stir up one another.

22:33 ¹ Christ sheweth that faith differeth much from a vain security, in setting before us the grievous example of Peter.

22:36 ¹ All this talk is by way of an allegory, as if he said, O my friends and fellow soldiers, you have lived hitherto as it were in peace: but now there is a most sharp battle at hand to be fought, and therefore you must lay all other things aside, and think upon furnishing yourselves in armor. And what this armor is, he sheweth by his own example, when he prayed afterward in the garden, and reproved Peter for striking with the sword.

22:40 ¹ Christ hath made death acceptable unto us, by overcoming in our name, all the horrors of death, which had joined with them the curse of God.

them, Pray, lest ye enter into tentation.

41 ¹And he was drawn aside from them about a stone's cast, and kneeled down, and prayed,

42 Saying, Father, If thou wilt, take away this cup from me: nevertheless, not my will, but thine be done.

43 And there appeared an Angel unto him from heaven, comforting him.

44 But being in an ¹agony, he prayed more earnestly: and his sweat was like ²drops of blood, trickling down to the ground.

45 ¹And he rose up from prayer, and came to his disciples, and found them sleeping for heaviness.

46 And he said unto them, Why sleep ye? rise and pray, lest ye enter into tentation.

47 ¶^{o1}And while he yet spake, behold, a company, and he that was called Judas one of the twelve, went before them, and came near unto Jesus to kiss him.

48 And Jesus said unto him, Judas, betrayest thou the Son of man with a kiss?

49 ¹Now when they which were about him, saw what would follow, they said unto him, Lord, shall we smite with the sword?

50 And one of them smote a servant of the high Priest, and struck off his right ear.

51 Then Jesus answered, and said, Suffer them thus far: and he touched his ear, and healed him.

52 ¹Then Jesus said unto the high Priests, and captains of the Temple, and the Elders which were come to him, Be ye come out as unto a thief with swords and staves?

53 When I was daily with you in the Temple, ye stretched not forth the hands against me: but this is your very hour, and the ¹power of darkness.

54 ¶^pThen took they him, and led him, and brought him to the high Priest's house. ¹And Peter followed afar off.

57 But he denied him, saying, Woman, I know him not.

58 And after a little while, another man saw him, and said, Thou art also of them. But Peter said, Man, I am not.

59 And about the space of an hour after, a certain other affirmed, saying, Verily, even this man was with him: for he is also a Galilean.

60 And Peter said, Man, I know not what thou sayest. And immediately while he yet spake, the cock crew.

61 Then the Lord turned back, and looked upon Peter: and Peter remembered the word of the Lord, how he had said unto him, 'Before the cock crow, thou shalt deny me thrice.

62 And Peter went out, and wept bitterly.

63 ¶^{s1}And the men that held Jesus, mocked him, and struck him.

64 And when they had blindfolded him, they smote him on the face, and asked him, saying, Prophesy who it is that smote thee.

65 And many other things blasphemously spake they against him.

66 ^{u1}And as soon as it was day, the Elders of the people, and the high Priests and the Scribes came together, and led him into their Council, 67 Saying, Art thou that Christ? tell us. And he said unto them, If I tell you, ye will not believe it.

68 And if also I ask you, you will not answer me, nor let me go.

69 Hereafter shall the Son of man sit at the right hand of the power of God.

70 Then said they all, Art thou then the Son of God? And he said to them, Ye say, that I am.

71 Then said they, What need we any further witness? for we ourselves have heard it of his own mouth.

22:41 ¹ Prayers are a sure succor against the most perilous assaults of our enemies.

22:44 ¹ This agony sheweth that Christ strove much, and was in great distress: for Christ strove not only with the fears of death, as other men used to do, for so many martyrs might seem more constant than Christ, but with the fearful judgment of his angry Father, which is the fearfulest thing in the world: and the matter was, for that he took the burden of all our sins upon himself.

² These do not only show that Christ was true man, but other things also which the goodly have to consider of, wherein redemption of all mankind is contained in the son of God his debasing himself to the state of a servant: such things as no man can sufficiently declare.

22:45 ¹ Men are utterly sluggish, even in their greatest dangers until Christ stir them up.

22:47 ¹ Christ is willingly betrayed and taken, that by his obedience he might deliver us which were guilty for the betraying of God's glory.

22:49 ¹ That zeal which carrieth us out of the bounds of our vocation, pleaseth not Christ.

22:52 ¹ Even the very fear of them which took Christ, proveth partly their evil conscience, and partly also that all these things were done by God's providence.

22:53 ¹ The power that was given to darkness, to oppress the light for a season.

22:54 ¹ We have to behold in Peter an example both of the fragility of man's nature, and of the singular goodness of God toward his elect.

22:63 ¹ Christ bare the shame that was due to our sins.

22:66 ¹ Christ is wrongfully condemned of blasphemy before the high Priest's judgment seat, that we might be quit before God from the blasphemy which we deserved.

23 ¹ He is accuseth before Pilate. ⁷ He is sent to Herod. ¹¹ He is mocked. ²⁴ Pilate yieldeth him up to the Jews' request. ²⁷ The women bewail him. ³³ He is crucified. ³⁹ One of the thieves revileth him. ⁴³ The other is saved by faith. ⁴⁵ He dieth. ⁵³ He is buried.

1 Then ¹the whole multitude of them arose, and led him unto Pilate.

2 And they began to accuse him, saying, We have found this man ¹perverting the nation, ^aand forbidding to pay tribute to Caesar, saying, That he is Christ a King.

3 ^bAnd Pilate asked him, saying, Art thou the King of the Jews? And he answered him, and said, Thou sayest it.

4 Then said Pilate to the high Priests, and to the people, I find no fault in this man.

5 But they were the more fierce, saying, He moveth the people, teaching throughout all Judea, beginning at Galilee, even to this place.

6 ¹Now when Pilate heard of Galilee, he asked whether the man were a Galilean.

7 And when he knew that he was of ¹Herod's jurisdiction, he sent him to Herod, which was also at Jerusalem in those days.

8 And when Herod saw Jesus, he was exceedingly glad: for he was desirous to see him of a long season, because he had heard many things of him, and trusteth to have seen some sign done by him.

9 Then questioned he with him of many things: but he answered him nothing.

10 The high Priests also and Scribes stood forth and accused him vehemently.

11 And Herod with his ¹men of war, despised him, and mocked him, and arrayed him in white, and sent him again to Pilate.

12 ¹And the same day Pilate and Herod were made friends together: for before they were enemies one to another.

behold, I have examined him before you, and have found no fault in this man, of those things whereof ye accuse him:

15 No, nor yet Herod: for I sent you to him: and lo, nothing worthy of death is done of him.

16 ¹I will therefore chastise him, and let him loose.

17 (For of necessity he must have let one loose unto them at the feast.)

18 Then all the multitude cried at once, saying, Away with him, and deliver unto us Barabbas:

19 Which for a certain insurrection made in the city, and murder, was cast in prison.

20 Then Pilate spake again to them, willing to let Jesus loose.

21 But they cried, saying, Crucify, crucify him.

22 ¹And he said unto them the third time, But what evil hath he done? I find no cause of death in him: I will therefore chastise him, and let him loose.

23 But they were instant with loud voices, and required that he might be crucified: and the voices of them and of the high Priests prevailed.

24 So Pilate gave sentence, that it should be as they required.

25 And he let loose unto them him that for insurrection and murder was cast into prison, whom they desired, and delivered Jesus to do with him what they would.

26 ¶ ^{d,1} And as they led him away, they caught one Simon of Cyrene, coming out of the field, and on him they laid the cross, to bear it after Jesus.

27 ¹And there followed him a great multitude of people, and of women, which women bewailed and lamented him.

28 But Jesus turned back unto them, and said, Daughters of Jerusalem, weep not for me, but weep for yourselves, and for your children.

29 For behold, the days will come, when men shall say, Blessed are the barren, and the wombs that never bare, and the paps which never gave suck.

30 Then shall they begin to say to the mountains, Fall on us: and to the hills, Cover us.

31 ¹For if they do these things to a ¹green tree,

23:1 ¹ Christ, who is now ready to suffer for the sedition, which we raised in this world, is first of all pronounced guiltless, that it might appear that he suffered not for his own sins (which were none) but for ours.

23:2 ¹ Corrupting the people, and leading them into errors.

23:6 ¹ Christ is a laughingstock to princes, but to their great smart.

23:7 ¹ This was Herod Antipas the Tetrarch, in the time of whose governance, which was almost the space of 22 years, John the Baptist preached and was put to death, and Jesus Christ also died and rose again, and the Apostles began to preach, and divers things were done at Jerusalem almost seven years after Christ's death. This Herod was sent into banishment to Lyons, about the second year of Gaius Caesar. 23:11 ¹ Accompanied with his nobles and soldiers which followed him from Galilee.

23:12 ¹ The hatred of godliness joineth the wicked together.

23:13 ¹ Christ is quit the second time, even of him of whom he is condemned, that it might appear, how he being just, redeemed us which were unjust.

² Those whom the Jews called the Sanhedrin.

23:16 ¹ The wisdom of the flesh, of two evils chooseth the less, but God curseth such counsels.

23:22 ¹ Christ is quit the third time, before he was condemned once, that it might appear, how that our sins were condemned in him.

23:26 ¹ An example of the outrageousness and disorder of the soldiers.

23:27 ¹ The triumph of the wicked hath a most horrible end.

23:31 ¹ As if he said, If they do thus to me that am fruitful, and always flourishing, and who lives forever by reason of my Godhead, what will they do to you, that are unfruitful and void of all lively righteousness?

what shall be done to the dry?

32 ^gAnd there were two others, which were evildoers, led with him to be slain.

33 ¹And when they were come to the place, which is called Calvary, there they crucified him, and the evildoers: one at the right hand, and the other at the left.

34 ¹Then said Jesus, Father, forgive them: for they know not what they do. And they parted his raiment, and cast lots.

35 And the people stood, and beheld: and the rulers mocked him with them, saying, He saved others: let him save himself, if he be that Christ the ¹Chosen of God.

36 The soldiers also mocked him, and came and offered him vinegar, 37 And said, If thou be the King of the Jews, save thyself.

38 ¹And a superscription was also written over him, in Greek letters, and in Latin, and in Hebrew, THIS IS THAT KING OF THE JEWS.

39 ¶ ¹And ²one of the evildoers, which were hanged, railed on him, saying, If thou be that Christ, save thyself and us.

40 But the other answered, and rebuked him, saying, Fearest thou not God, seeing thou art in the same condemnation?

41 We are indeed righteously here: for we receive things worthy of that we have done: but this man hath done nothing ¹amiss.

42 And he said unto Jesus, Lord, remember me, when thou comest into thy kingdom.

43 Then Jesus said unto him, Verily I say unto thee, today shalt thou be with me in ¹Paradise.

the Temple rent through the midst.

46 And Jesus cried with a loud voice, and said, ^bFather, into thine hands I commend my spirit. And when he thus had said, he gave up the ghost.

47 ¶ ¹Now when the Centurion saw what was done, he glorified God, saying, Of a surety this man was just.

48 And all the people that came together to that sight, beholding the things which were done: smote their breasts, and returned.

49 ¹And all his acquaintances stood afar off, and the women that followed him from Galilee, beholding these things.

50 ¶ ¹And behold, there was a man named Joseph, which was a counselor, a good man and a just.

51 He did not consent to the counsel and deed of them, which was of Arimathea, a city of the Jews: who also himself waited for the kingdom of God.

52 He went unto Pilate, and asked the body of Jesus,

53 And took it down, and wrapped it in a linen cloth, and laid it in a tomb hewn out of a rock, wherein was never man yet laid.

54 And that day was the preparation, and the Sabbath ¹drew on.

55 ¹And the women also that followed after, which came with him from Galilee, beheld the sepulchre, and how his body was laid.

56 And they returned and prepared odors, and ointments, and resteth the Sabbath day according to the commandment.

24 The women come to the sepulchre. 9 They report that which they heard of the Angels, unto the Apostles. 13 Christ doth accompany two going to Emmaus. 27 He expoundeth the Scriptures unto them. 39 He offereth himself to his Apostles to be handled. 49 He promiseth the holy Ghost. 51 He is carried up into heaven.

23:33 ¹ Christ became accursed for us upon the Cross, suffering the punishment which they deserved that would be God's.

23:34 ¹ Christ in praying for his enemies, sheweth that he is both the sacrifice and the Priest.

23:35 ¹ Whom God loveth more than all others.

23:38 ¹ Pilate at unawares is made a preacher of the kingdom of Christ.

23:39 ¹ Therefore either we must take that spoken by Synecdoche which Matthew saith, or that both of them mocked Christ. But one of them at length overcome with the great patience of God, brake forth into that confession worthy all memory.

² Christ, in the midst of the humbling of himself upon the cross, sheweth indeed that he hath both power of life to save the believers, and of death to revenge the rebellious.

23:41 ¹ More than he ought.

23:43 ¹ God made the visible paradise to the East part of the world: but that which we behold with the eyes of our mind is the place of everlasting joy and salvation through the goodness and mercy of God, a most pleasant rest of the souls of the godly, and most quiet and joyful dwelling.

23:44 ¹ Christ being even at the point of death, sheweth himself to be God almighty, even to the blind.

23:45 ¹ Christ entereth stoutly into the very darkness of death, for to overcome death even within his most secret places.

23:47 ¹ Christ causeth his very enemies to give honorable witness on his side, so oft as it pleaseth him.

23:49 ¹ Christ gathereth together, and defendeth his little flock in the midst of the tormentors.

23:50 ¹ Christ through his famous burial confirmeth the truth both of his death, and resurrection, by the plain and evident witness of Pilate.

23:54 ¹ Word for word, dawning, as now beginning, for the light of the former day drew toward the going down, and that was the day of preparation for the feast which was to be kept the day following.

23:55 ¹ Christ, being set upon by the devil and all his instruments, and being even, in death's mouth, setteth weak women in his forward, minding straightways to triumph over those terrible enemies without any great endeavor.

1 Now the ^{a,1}first day of the week ²early in the morning, they came unto the sepulcher, and brought the odors which they had prepared, and certain women with them.

2 And they found the stone rolled away from the sepulcher,

3 And went in, but found not the body of the Lord Jesus.

4 And it came to pass, that as they were amazed thereat, behold, two men suddenly stood by them in shining vestures.

5 And as they were afraid, and bowed down their faces to the earth, they said to them, Why seek ye him that liveth, among the dead?

6 He is not here, but is risen: remember ^bhow he spake unto you, when he was yet in Galilee,

7 Saying, that the Son of man must be delivered into the hands of sinful men, and be crucified, and the third day rise again.

8 And they remembered his words,

9 ¹And returned from the sepulcher, and told all these things unto the eleven, and to all the remnant.

10 Now it was Mary Magdalene, and Joanna, and Mary the mother of James, and other women with them which told these things unto the Apostles.

11 But their words seemed unto them as a feigned thing, neither believed they them.

12 ^{c,1}Then arose Peter and ran unto the sepulcher, and ²looked in and saw the linen clothes laid by themselves, and departed wondering in himself at that which was come to pass.

13 ¶ ^{d,1}And behold two of them went that same day to a town which was from Jerusalem about threescore furlongs, called Emmaus.

14 And they talked together of all these things that were done.

munications are these that ye have one to another as ye walk and are sad?

18 And ¹the one (named Cleopas) answered and said unto him, Art thou only a stranger in Jerusalem, and hast not known the things which are come to pass therein in these days?

19 And he said unto them, What things? And they said unto him, Of Jesus of Nazareth, which was a Prophet, mighty indeed and in word before God, and all people, 20 ¹And how the high Priests, and our rulers delivered him to be condemned to death, and have crucified him.

21 But we trusted that it had been he that should have delivered Israel, and as touching all these things, today is the third day, that they were done.

22 Yea, and certain women among us made us astonied, which came early unto the sepulcher.

23 And when they found not his body, they came, saying, that they had also seen a vision of Angels, which said, that he was alive.

24 Therefore certain of them which were with us, went to the sepulcher, and found it even so as the women had said, but him they saw not.

25 Then he said unto them, O fools and slow of heart to believe all that the Prophets have spoken!

26 Ought not Christ to have suffered these things, and to enter into his glory?

27 And he began at Moses, and at all the Prophets, and interpreted unto them in all the Scriptures the things which were written of him.

28 And they drew near unto the town, which they went to, but he made as though he would have gone further.

29 But they constrained him, saying, Abide with us, for it is towards night, and the day is far spent. So he went in to tarry with them.

30 And it came to pass, as he sat at table with them, he took the bread, and blessed, and brake it, and gave it to them.

31 Then their eyes were opened, and they knew him: and he was ¹no more seen of them.

24:1 ¹ Poor silly women, even beside their expectation are chosen to be the first witnesses of the resurrection, that there might be no suspicion either of deceit or violence.

² Very early as Mark saith: or as John saith, while it was yet dark, that is, when it was yet scarce the dawning of the day.

24:9 ¹ The cowardly and dastardly minds of the disciples is upbraided by the stout courage of women, (so wrought by God's great mercy) to show that the kingdom of God consisteth in an extraordinary power.

24:12 ¹ Christ useth the incredulity of his disciples, to the fuller setting forth of the truth of his resurrection, lest they should seem to have believed that too lightly, which they preached afterward to all the world.

² As it were holding down his head, and bowing his neck, looked diligently in.

24:13 ¹ The resurrection is proved by two other witnesses, which saw it, and that it was no forged thing framed of purpose in their own brains, all the circumstances do declare.

24:16 ¹ Were held back and stayed, God so appointing it, no doubt: and therefore his body was not invisible, but their eyes were dimmed.

24:18 ¹ Some of the old fathers think that the other disciple was this our Evangelist, but Epiphanius writing against the Saturnilians, saith it was Nathanael, but all these are uncertainties.

24:20 ¹ It appeareth by the converting of the forewarnings of the Prophets, that all those things are true and certain, which the Evangelists have put down in writing of Christ.

24:31 ¹ Suddenly taken away, and therefore we may not imagine that he was there in such a body as could not be seen, but believe indeed that he changed his place.

32 And they said between themselves, Did not our hearts burn within us, while he talked with us by the way, and when he opened to us the Scriptures?

33 And they rose up the same hour, and returned to Jerusalem, and found the eleven gathered together, and them that were with them, 34 Which said, The Lord is risen indeed, and hath appeared to Simon.

35 Then they told what things were done in the way, and how he was known of them in ¹breaking of bread.

36 ¶ ^{c,1}And as they spake these things, Jesus himself stood in the midst of them, and said unto them, Peace be to you.

37 But they were abashed and afraid, supposing that they had seen a spirit.

38 Then he said unto them, Why are ye troubled? and wherefore do ¹doubts arise in your hearts?

39 Behold mine hands and my feet: for it is I myself: handle me, and see: for a spirit hath not flesh and bones, as ye see me have.

40 And when he had thus spoken, he showed them his hands and feet.

41 And while they yet believed not for joy, and wondered, he said unto them, Have ye here any meat?

42 And they gave him a piece of a broiled fish, and of an honeycomb, 43 And he took it, and did eat before them.

44 ¹And he said unto them, These are the words, which I spake unto you while I was yet with you, that all must be fulfilled which are written of me in the Law of Moses, and in the Prophets, and in the Psalms.

45 Then opened he their understanding, that they might understand the Scriptures,

46 And said unto them, Thus is it written, and thus it behooved Christ to suffer, and to rise again from the dead the third day,

47 And that repentance, and remission of sins should be preached in his Name among all nations, ¹beginning at Jerusalem.

48 Now ye are witnesses of these things.

49 And behold, I do send the ^fpromise of my Father upon you: but tarry ye in the city of Jerusalem, ¹until ye be endued with power from on high.

50 ¹Afterward he lead them out into Bethany, and lifted up his hands, and blessed them.

51 And it came to pass, that as he blessed them, ^ghe departed from them, and was carried up into heaven.

52 And they worshipped him, and returned to Jerusalem with great joy, 53 And were continually in the Temple, praising, and lauding God. Amen.

24:35 ¹ When he brake bread, which that people used, and as the Jews use yet at this day at the beginning of their meals, and say a prayer.

24:36 ¹ The Lord himself sheweth by certain and necessary signs, that he was risen again, and that in the same body which he took upon him.

24:38 ¹ Divers and doubtful thoughts which fall oft into men's heads, when any strange thing falleth out, whereof there is no great likelihood.

24:44 ¹ The preaching of the Gospel, which was promised to the Prophets and performed in his time, is committed unto the Apostles: the sum whereof, is repentance and remission of sins.

24:47 ¹ The Apostles who are the preachers of the Gospel beginning at Jerusalem.

24:49 ¹ Until the holy Ghost comes down from heaven upon you.

24:50 ¹ Christ ascendeth into heaven, and departing bodily from his disciples, filleth their hearts with the holy Ghost.

THE HOLY GOSPEL OF JESUS CHRIST, ACCORDING TO JOHN

1 That Word begotten of God before all worlds, 2 and which was ever with the Father, 14 is made man. 6, 7 For what end John was sent from God. 15 His preaching of Christ's office. 19, 20 The record that he bare given out unto the Priests. 40 The calling of Andrew, 42 of Peter, 43 Philip, 45 and Nathanael.

1 In ¹the ²beginning ³was ⁴that Word, and that Word was ⁵with God, and that ⁶Word was God.

2 This same was in the beginning with God.

3 ^{a,1}All ²things were made by it, and ³without it ⁴was made nothing that was made.

4 ¹In it ²was life, and that life was ³the light of men.

5 ¹And that light shineth in the wilderness, and the darkness ²comprehendeth it not.

6 ¶ ^{b,1}There was a man sent from God, whose name was John.

CHAPTER 1

Luke 3:2

^c Heb. 11:3

7 This same came for a witness, to bear witness of that light, that all men ¹through him might believe.

8 He was not ¹that light, but was sent to bear witness of that light.

9 ¹This was ²that true light, which lighteth every man that cometh into the world.

10 ¹He was in the world, and the world was ^cmade by him: and the world knew him not.

11 He came ¹unto his own, and his own received him not.

12 ¹But as many as received him, to them he gave ²prerogative to be the sons of God, even to them that believe in his Name, 13 Which are born not of blood, nor of the ¹will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God.

1:1 ¹ The Son of God is of one, and the selfsame eternity or everlastingness, and of one and the selfsame essence or nature, with the Father.

² From his beginning, as the Evangelist saith, 1 John 1:1, as though he said, that the world began not then to have his being, when God began to make all that was made: for the word was even then when all things that were made, began to be made, and therefore he was before the beginning of all things.

³ Had his being.

⁴ This word, That, pointeth out unto us a peculiar and choice thing above all other, and putteth a difference between this Word, which is the Son of God, and the Laws of God, which otherwise also are called the word of God.

⁵ This word (With) putteth out the distinction of persons to us.

⁶ This word (Word) is the first in order in the sentence, and is that which the learned call (Subjectum:) and this word (God) is the latter in order, and the same which the learned call (Predicatum.)

1:3 ¹ The son of God declareth that same his everlasting Godhead, both by the creating of all things, and also by the preserving of them, and especially by the excellent gifts of reason and understanding, wherewith he that beautified man above all other creatures.

² Paul expoundeth this place, Col. 1:15 and 16.

³ That is, as the Father did work, so did the Son work with him: for he was fellow worker with him.

⁴ Of all those things which were made, nothing was made without him.

1:4 ¹ That is, by him: and it is spoken after the manner of the Hebrews, meaning thereby that by his force and working power all life cometh to the world.

² To wit, even then, when all things are made by him, for else he would have said, Life is in him, and not life was.

³ That force of reason and understanding, which is kindled in our minds to acknowledge him, the author of so great a benefit.

1:5 ¹ The light of men is turned into darkness, but yet so that there is clearness enough to make them without excuse.

² They could not perceive nor reach unto it, to receive any light of it, no, they did not so much as acknowledge him.

1:6 ¹ There is another more full manifestation of the Son of God, to the consideration whereof men are in good time stirred up, even by John's voice, who is as it were the herald of Christ.

1:7 ¹ Through John.

1:8 ¹ That light which we spake of, to wit, Christ, who only can lighten our darkness.

1:9 ¹ When as the Son of God saw, that man did not acknowledge him by his works, although they were endued with understanding (which he had given to them all) he exhibited himself unto his people to be seen of them with their corporal eyes: yet neither so did they acknowledge him, nor receive him.

² Who only and properly deserveth to be called the light, for he shineth of himself and borroweth light of none.

1:10 ¹ That person of the Word, was made manifest even at that time when the world was made.

1:11 ¹ The Word showed himself again, when he came in the flesh.

1:12 ¹ The Son being shut out of the most of his people, and acknowledged but of a few, doth regenerate them by his own virtue and power, and receiveth them into that honor which is common to all the children of God, that is to be the sons of God.

² He vouchsafed to give them this prerogative to take them to be his children.

1:13 ¹ Of that gross and corrupt nature of man, which is throughout the Scriptures set as enemy to the Spirit.

14 ^{d,1} And that Word was made ²flesh, and ³dwelt among us, (and we ⁴saw the ⁴glory thereof, ⁵as the glory of the only begotten Son of the Father) ⁶full of grace and truth.

15 ¶ ¹John bare witness of him, and cried, saying, This was he of whom I said, He that cometh ²after me, was ³before me: for he was better than I.

16 ^{f,1} And of his fullness have all we received, and ²grace for grace.

17 For the Law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ.

18 ^{g,1} No man hath seen God at any time: that only begotten Son, which is in the ²bosom of the Father, he hath ³declared him.

19 ¶ ¹Then this is the record of John, when the Jews sent Priests and Levites from Jerusalem to ask him, Who art thou?

20 And he ¹confessed and ²denied not, and said plainly, I ¹am not that Christ.

21 And they asked him, What then? Art thou Elijah? And he said, I am not. Art thou ²that Prophet?

23 He said, I am the voice of him that crieth in the wilderness, Make straight the way of the Lord, as said the Prophet Isaiah.

24 ¹Now they which were sent, were of the Pharisees.

25 And they asked him, and said unto him, ¹Why baptizest thou then, if thou be not that Christ, neither Elijah, nor that Prophet?

26 John answered them, saying, I baptize with water: but there is one ¹among you, whom ye know not.

27 ¹He it is that cometh after me, which was before me, whose shoe latchet I am not worthy to unloose.

28 These things were done in Bethabara beyond Jordan, where John did baptize.

29 ¶ ¹The next day John seeth Jesus coming unto him, and saith, Behold ²that Lamb of God, which

1:14 ¹ That Son, who is God from everlasting, took upon him man's nature, that one and the selfsame might be both God and man, which manifestly appeared to many witnesses, that saw him amongst whom he was conversant, and unto whom by sure and undoubted arguments he showed both his natures.

² That is, man: so that the part is taken for the whole, by the figure Synecdoche: for he took upon him all our whole nature, that is to say, a true body, and a true soul.

⁴ The glory which he speaketh of here, is that manifestation of Christ's majesty, which was as it were laid open before our eyes when the Son of God appeared in flesh.

⁶ He was not only a partaker of grace and truth, but was full of the very substance of grace and truth.

1:15 ¹ John is a faithful witness of the excellency of Christ.

² That is, He before whom I am sent to prepare him the way: so that these words are referred to the time of his calling, and not of his age, for John was six months older than he.

³ This sentence hath in it a turning of the reason as we call it, as who would say, a setting of that first which should be last, and that last which should be first: for in plain speech this it is: He that cometh after me, is better than I am, for he was before me. The like kind of turning the reason we find in Luke 7:47: many sins are forgiven her, because she loved much, which is thus much to say, she loved much, because many sins are forgiven her.

1:16 ¹ Christ is the most plentiful fountain of all goodness, but then he poured out his gifts most bountifully, when as he exhibited and showed himself to the world.

² That is grace upon grace, as a man would say graces heaped one upon another.

1:18 ¹ That true knowledge of God proceedeth only from Jesus Christ.

² Who is nearest to his Father, not only in respect of his love towards him, but by the bond of nature, and for that union or oneness that is between them, whereby the Father and the Son are one.

³ Revealed him, and showed him unto us, whereas before he was hid under the shadows of the Law, so that the quickness of the sight of our minds was not able to perceive him: for whosoever seeth him, seeth the Father also.

1:19 ¹ John is neither the Messiah, nor like to any of the other Prophets, but is the herald of Christ, who is now present.

1:20 ¹ He did acknowledge him, and spake of him plainly and openly.

² This repeating of the one and the selfsame thing, though in divers words, is used much of the Hebrews, and it hath great force: for they used to speak one thing twice, to set it out more certainly and plainly.

1:21 ¹ The Jews thought that Elijah should come again before the days of Messiah, and they took the ground of that their opinion out of Mal. 4:5, which place is to be understood of John, Matt. 11:14. And yet John denieth that he is Elijah, answering them indeed according as they meant.

² They inquire of some great Prophet, and not of Christ, for John denied before, that he is Christ, for they thought that some great Prophet should be sent like unto Moses, wresting to that purpose that place of Deut. 18:15, which is to be understood of all the company of the Prophets and ministers, which have been and shall be to the end, and especially of Christ, who is the head of all Prophets.

1:24 ¹ Christ is the author of baptism, and not John: and therefore the force thereof consisteth not in John, who is the minister, but wholly in Christ the Lord.

1:25 ¹ Hereby we may prove that the Jews knew there should be some change in religion under Messiah.

1:26 ¹ Whom all the world seeth not, and is even amongst you.

1:29 ¹ The body and truth of all the sacrifices of the Law, to make satisfaction for the sin of the world, is in Christ.

² This word (That) which is added, hath great force in it, not only to set forth the worthiness of Christ, and so to separate him from the Lamb which was a figure of him, and from all other sacrifices of the Law, but also to bring into our mind the Prophecies of Isaiah and others.

³taketh away the ⁴sin of the world.

30 This is he of whom I said, After me cometh a man, which was before me: for he was better than I.

31 And ¹I knew him not: but because he should be declared to Israel, therefore am I come, baptizing with water.

32 ¹So John bare record, saying, I beheld, ^kthat Spirit come down from heaven, like a dove, and it abode upon him,

33 And I knew him not: but he that sent me to baptize with water, he said unto me, Upon whom thou shalt see that Spirit come down, and tarry still on him, that is he which baptizeth with the holy Ghost.

34 And I saw, and bare record that this is ¹that Son of God.

35 ¶ ¹The next day, John stood again, and two of his disciples.

36 ¹And he beheld Jesus walking by, and said, Behold that Lamb of God.

37 ¹And the two disciples heard him speak, and followed Jesus.

38 Then Jesus turned about, and saw them follow, and said unto them, What seek ye? And they said unto him, Rabbi, (which is to say by interpretation, Master) ¹where dwellest thou?

39 He said unto them, Come, and see. They came and saw where he dwelt, and abode with him that day: for it was about the ¹tenth hour.

40 Andrew, Simon Peter's brother, was one of the two which had heard it of John, and that followed him.

41 The same found his brother Simon first, and said unto him, We have found that Messiah which is by interpretation, that ¹Christ.

42 And he brought him to Jesus. And Jesus beheld him, and said, Thou art Simon the son of Jonah:

43 ¶ The day following, Jesus would go into Galilee, and found Philip, and said unto him, Follow me.

44 Now Philip was of Bethsaida, the city of Andrew and Peter.

45 ¹Philip found Nathanael, and said unto him, We have found him of whom ¹Moses did write in the Law, and the ^mProphets, Jesus that Son of Joseph, that was of Nazareth.

46 ¹Then Nathanael said unto him, Can there any good thing come out of Nazareth? Philip said to him, Come, and see.

47 ¹Jesus saw Nathanael coming to him, and said of him, Behold indeed an Israelite, in whom is no guile.

48 ¹Nathanael said unto him, Whence knewest thou me? Jesus answered, and said unto him, Before that Philip called thee, when thou wast under the fig tree, I saw thee.

49 Nathanael answered, and said unto him, Rabbi, thou art that Son of God: thou art that King of Israel.

50 Jesus answered, and said unto him, Because I said unto thee, I saw thee under the fig tree, believest thou? thou shalt see greater things than these.

51 And he said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Hereafter shall ye see heaven open, and the Angels of God ⁿascending, and descending upon that Son of man.

2 ¹ Christ turneth water into Wine, ¹¹ which was the beginning of his miracles. ¹² He goeth down to Capernaum: ¹³ from thence he goeth up to Jerusalem, ¹⁵ and casteth the merchandise out of the Temple. ¹⁹ He foretelleth that the Temple, that is, his body shall be destroyed of the Jews. ²³ Many believe in him, seeing the miracles which he did.

1 And ¹the ²third day, was there a marriage in

1:29 ³ This word of the present time signifieth a continual act, for the Lamb hath this virtue proper unto him, and forever, to take away the sins of the world.

⁴ That is, that root of sins, to wit, our corruption, and so consequently, the fruits of sin, which are commonly called in the plural number sins.

1:31 ¹ I never knew him by face before.

1:32 ¹ Christ is proved to be the Son of God, by the coming down of the holy Ghost, by the Father's voice, and by John's testimony.

1:34 ¹ This word (That) pointeth out unto us some excellent thing, and maketh a difference between Christ and others, whom Moses and the Prophets commonly call the sons of God, or the sons of the most high.

1:35 ¹ John gathered disciples, not to himself, but to Christ.

1:36 ¹ Christ is set before us to follow not as a vain shadow, but as our Mediator.

1:37 ¹ In this first gathering of the disciples we have shown unto us, that the beginning of salvation is from God, who calleth us unto his Son by the ministry of his servants: whom (so preventing us) we must also hear, and follow him home, that being instructed by him, we may also instruct others.

1:38 ¹ Where is thy lodging?

1:39 ¹ The night grew on.

1:41 ¹ That is, anointed, and King after the manner of the Jewish people.

1:45 ¹ The good endeavors even of the unlearned, God doth so allow, that he maketh them masters to the learned.

1:46 ¹ We must especially take heed of false presumptions, which shut up against us the entrance to Christ.

1:47 ¹ Simple uprightness discerneth the true Israelites from the false.

1:48 ¹ The end of miracles is to set before us Christ the Almighty, and also the only author of our salvation, that we may apprehend him by faith.

1:51 ¹ By these words the power of God is signified which should appear in his ministry by the angels serving him as the head of the Church.

2:1 ¹ Christ declaring openly in an assembly by a notable miracle, that he hath power over the nature of things, to feed man's body, leadeeth the minds of all men, to his spiritual and saving virtue and power.

² After the talk which he had with Nathanael, or after that he departed from John, or after that he came into Galilee.

Cana a town of Galilee, and the mother of Jesus was there.

2 And Jesus was called also, and his disciples unto the marriage.

3 ¹Now when the wine failed, the mother of Jesus said unto him, They have no wine.

4 Jesus said unto her, Woman, what have I to do with thee? mine ¹hour is not yet come.

5 His mother said unto the servants, Whatsoever he saith unto you, do it.

6 And there were set there, six ¹waterpots of stone, after the manner of the purifying of the Jews, containing two or three ²firkins apiece.

7 And Jesus said unto them, Fill the waterpots with water. Then they filled them up to the brim.

8 Then he said unto them, Draw out now, and bear unto the governor of the feast. So they bare it.

9 Now when the governor of the feast had tasted the water that was made wine, (for he knew not whence it was, but the servants, which drew the water, knew) the governor of the feast called the bridegroom,

10 And said unto him, All men at the beginning set forth good wine, and when men have ¹well drunk, then that which is worse: but thou hast kept back the good wine until now.

11 This beginning of miracles did Jesus in Cana a town of Galilee, and showed forth his glory: and his disciples believed on him.

12 After that, he went down into Capernaum, he and his mother, and his ¹brethren, and his disciples: but they continued not many days there.

13 ¹For the Jews' Passover was at hand. Therefore Jesus went up to Jerusalem.

14 ¹And he found in the Temple those that sold oxen, and sheep, and doves, and changers of money sitting there.

15 Then he made a scourge of small cords and drove them all out of the Temple with the sheep and oxen, and poured out the changers' money, and overthrew their tables,

16 And said unto them that sold doves, Take these things hence: make not my father's house, an house of merchandise.

17 And his disciples remembered, that it was written, "The ¹zeal of thine house hath eaten me up.

18 ¹Then answered the Jews, and said unto him, What ²sign showest thou unto us, that thou doest these things?

19 Jesus answered, and said unto them, ^bDestroy this Temple, and in three days I will raise it up again.

20 Then said the Jews, Forty and six years was this Temple a building, and wilt thou rear it up in three days?

21 But he spake of the ¹temple of his body.

22 As soon therefore as he was risen from the dead, his disciples remembered that he thus said unto them: and they believed the Scriptures, and the word which Jesus had said.

23 Now when he was at Jerusalem at the Passover in the feast, many believed in his Name, when they saw his miracles which he did.

24 ¹But Jesus did not commit himself unto them, because he knew them all.

25 ¹And had no need that any should testify of man, for he knew what was in man.

3 ¹Christ teacheth Nicodemus the very principles of Christian regeneration. ¹⁴The serpent in the wilderness. ²³John baptizeth, ²⁷and teacheth his, that he is not Christ.

1 There ¹was now a man of the Pharisees, named Nicodemus, a ²ruler of the Jews.

2 This man came to Jesus by night, and said unto him, Rabbi, we know that thou art a ¹teacher come from God, for no man could do these miracles that thou doest, ²except God were with him.

2:3 ¹ Christ is careful enough of our salvation, and therefore hath no need of others to put him in mind of it.

2:4 ¹ Mine appointed time.

2:6 ¹ These were vessels appointed for water, wherein they washed themselves.

² Every firkin contained an hundred pounds, at twelve ounces the pound: Whereby we gather that Christ helped them with a thousand and eight hundred pounds of wine.

2:10 ¹ Word for word, are drunken. Now this speech, to be drunken, is not always taken in evil part in the Hebrew tongue, but signifieth sometime such store, and plentiful use of wine, as doth not pass measure, as Gen. 43:34.

2:12 ¹ That is, his cousins.

2:13 ¹ Christ being made subject to the Law for us, satisfieth the Law of the Passover.

2:14 ¹ Christ being ordained to purge the Church, doth with great zeal begin his office both of Priest and Prophet.

2:17 ¹ Zeal in this place is taken for a wrathful indignation and displeasure of the mind, conceived of some naughty and evil dealing towards them whom we love well.

2:18 ¹ Against them which so bind God to an ordinary calling which they themselves most shamefully abuse, that they will not admit an extraordinary, which God confirmeth from heaven, (and they although in vain would have it extinguished) unless it be sealed with outward and bodily miracles.

² With what miracle dost thou confirm it, that we may see that heavenly power and virtue, which giveth thee authority to speak and do thus?

2:21 ¹ That is, of his body.

2:24 ¹ It is not good crediting them, which stand only upon miracles.

2:25 ¹ Christ is the searcher of hearts, and therefore true God.

3:1 ¹ There are none sometimes more unlearned, than the learned: but as well the learned as the unlearned must desire wisdom of Christ only.

² A man of great estimation, and a ruler amongst the Jews.

3:2 ¹ We know that thou art sent from God to teach us.

² But he in whom some part of the excellency of God appeareth. And if Nicodemus had known Christ aright, he would not only have said that God was with him, but in him: as Paul doth, 2 Cor. 1:19.

3 ¹Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily verily I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot ²see the ³kingdom of God.

4 Nicodemus said unto him, How ¹can a man be born which is old? can he enter into his mother's womb again, and be born?

5 Jesus answered, Verily, verily I say unto thee, except that a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God.

6 That which is born of the flesh, is ¹flesh: and that that is born of the Spirit, is spirit.

7 Marvel not that I said to thee, Ye must be born again.

8 The wind bloweth where it ¹listeth, and thou hearest the sound thereof, but canst not tell whence it cometh, and whither it goeth: so is every man that is born of the Spirit.

9 ¹Nicodemus answered, and said unto him, How can these things be?

10 Jesus answered, and said unto him, Art thou a teacher of Israel, and knowest not these things?

11 Verily, verily I say unto thee, We speak that we know, and testify that we have seen: but ye receive not our ¹witness.

12 If when I tell you earthly things, ye believe not, how should ye believe, If I shall tell you of heavenly things?

13 For no ¹man ²ascendeth up to heaven, but he that had descended from heaven, ³that Son of man which ⁴is in heaven.

14 ^aAnd as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, so must that Son of man be lifted up, 15 That whosoever believeth in him, should not perish, but have eternal life.

16 ^{b,1}For God so loveth the world, that he hath given his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth ²in him, should not perish, but have everlasting life.

17 ^{c,1}For God sent not his Son into the world, that he should ²condemn the world, but that the ³world through him might be saved.

18 He that believeth in him, is not condemned: but he that believeth not, is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the Name of that only begotten Son of God.

19 ^{d,1}And this is the ²condemnation, that that light came into the world, and men loved darkness rather than that light, because their deeds were evil.

20 For every man that evil doeth, hateth the light, neither cometh to light, lest his deeds should be reproved.

21 But he that ¹doeth truth, cometh to the light, that his deeds might be made manifest, that they are wrought ²according to God.

22 ¶ After these things came Jesus, and his disciples into the land of Judea, and there tarried with them, and ¹baptized.

23 And John also baptized in Aenon besides Salim, because there was much water there: and they came

3:3 ¹ The beginning of Christianity consisteth in this, that we know ourselves not only to be corrupt in part, but to be wholly dead in sin: so that our nature hath need to be created anew, as touching the qualities thereof: which can be done by no other virtue, but by the divine and heavenly, whereby we were first created.

² That is, go in, or enter, as he expounded himself afterward, verse 5.

³ The Church: for Christ sheweth in this place, how we come to be citizens, and to have ought to do in the city of God.

3:4 ¹ How can I that am old, be born again? for he answereth, as if Christ's words belonged to none but to him.

3:6 ¹ That is, fleshly, to wit, wholly unclean and under the wrath of God: and therefore this word (Flesh) signifieth the corrupt nature of man: contrary to which is the Spirit, that is, the man ingrafted into Christ through the grace of the holy Ghost, whose nature is everlasting and immortal, though the strife of the flesh remaineth.

3:8 ¹ With free and wandering blasts, as it listeth.

3:9 ¹ The secret mystery of our regeneration which cannot be comprehended by man's capacity, is perceived by faith, and that in Christ only, because that he is both God on earth, and man in heaven, that is to say, in such sort man, that he is God also, and therefore almighty: and in such sort God, that he is man also, and therefore his power is manifest unto us.

3:11 ¹ You handle doubtful things, and such as you have no certain author for, and yet men believe you: but I teach those things that are of a truth and well known, and you believe me not.

3:13 ¹ Only Christ can teach us heavenly things for no man ascendeth, etc.

² That is, hath any spiritual light and understanding, or ever had, but only that Son of God, which came down to us.

³ Whereas he is said to have come down from heaven, that must be understood of his Godhead, and of the manner of his conception: for Christ's birth upon the earth was heavenly, and not earthly, for he was conceived by the holy Ghost.

⁴ That which is proper to the divinity of Christ, is here spoken of whole Christ, to give us to understand that he is but one person, wherein two natures are united, and this kind of speech men call, the communicating of proprieties.

3:16 ¹ Nothing else but the free love of the Father, is the beginning of our salvation, and Christ is he in whom our righteousness and salvation is resident: and faith is the instrument or mean whereby we apprehend it, and life everlasting is that which is set before us to apprehend.

² It is not all one to believe in a thing, and to believe of a thing, for we may not believe (in anything) save only in God, but we may believe (of anything) whatsoever, this saith Nazianzene in his oration of the Spirit.

3:17 ¹ Not Christ, but the despising of Christ doth condemn.

² That is, to be the cause of the condemning of the world, for indeed sins are the cause of death, but Christ shall judge the quick and the dead.

³ Not only the people of the Jews, but whosoever shall believe in him.

3:19 ¹ Only wickedness is the cause, why men refuse the light that is offered them.

² That is, the cause of condemnation, which sticketh fast in men, unless through God's great benefit they be delivered from it.

3:21 ¹ That is, he that leadeth an honest life, and void of all craft and deceit.

² That is, with God, God as it were going before.

and were baptized.

24 For John was not yet cast into prison.

25 ¹Then there arose a question between John's disciples and the Jews, about purifying.

26 And they came unto John, and said unto him, Rabbi, he that was with thee beyond Jordan, to whom ^fthou barest witness, behold, he baptizeth, and all men come to him.

27 John answered, and said, A man ¹can receive nothing, except it be given him from heaven.

28 Ye yourselves are my witnesses, that ^gI said, I am not that Christ, but that I am sent before him.

29 He that hath the bride, is the bridegroom: but the friend of the bridegroom which standeth and heareth him, rejoiceth greatly, because of the bridegroom's voice. This my joy therefore is fulfilled.

30 He must increase, but I must decrease.

31 He that is come from on high, is above all: he that is of the earth, is of the ¹earth, and ²speaketh of the earth: he that is come from heaven, is above all.

32 And what he hath ¹seen and heard, that he testifieth: but ²no man receiveth his testimony.

33 He that hath receiveth his testimony, hath sealed that ^hGod is true.

34 For he whom God hath sent, speaketh the words of God: for God giveth him not the Spirit by measure.

35 The Father loveth the Son, and hath ^{i,1}given all things into his hand.

36 ²He that believeth in the Son, hath everlasting life, and he that obeyeth not the Son, shall not ¹see life, but the wrath of God abideth on him.

disciples than John,

2 (Though Jesus himself baptized not: but his disciples.)

3 He left Judea, and departed again into Galilee.

4 And he must needs go through Samaria.

5 ¹Then came he to a city of Samaria called Sychar, near unto the possession that ^hJacob gave to his son Joseph.

6 And there was Jacob's Well. Jesus then wearied in the journey, sat ¹thus on the Well: it was about the ²sixth hour.

7 There came a woman of Samaria to draw water. Jesus said unto her, Give me drink.

8 For his disciples were gone away into the city, to buy meat.

9 Then said the woman of Samaria unto him, How is it, that thou being a Jew, askest drink of me, which am a woman of Samaria? For the Jews ¹meddle not with the Samaritans.

10 Jesus answered and said unto her, If thou knewest ¹that gift of God, and who it is that saith to thee, Give me drink, thou wouldest have asked of him, and he would have given thee ²water of life.

11 The woman said unto him, Sir, thou hast nothing to draw with, and the Well is deep: from whence then hast thou that water of life?

12 Art thou greater than our father Jacob, which gave us the Well, and he himself drank thereof, and his sons, and his cattle.

13 Jesus answered, and said unto her, Whosoever drinketh of this water, shall thirst again:

14 But whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him, shall never be more athirst: but the water that I shall give him, shall be in him a well of water, springing up into everlasting life.

15 The woman said unto him, Sir, give me of that water, that I may not thirst, neither come hither to draw.

16 Jesus said unto her, Go, call thine husband, and come hither.

3:25 ¹ Satan inflameth the disciples of John with a fond emulation of their master, to hinder the course of the Gospel: but John being mindful of his office, doth not only break off their endeavors, but also taketh occasion thereby to give testimony of Christ, how that in him only the Father hath set forth life everlasting.

3:27 ¹ What mean you to go about to better my state? this is every man's lot and portion that they cannot better themselves one iota.

3:31 ¹ Is nothing else but man, a piece of work and of the slime of the earth.

² Savoreth of nothing but corruption, ignorance, dullness, etc.

3:32 ¹ What he knoweth fully and perfectly.

² That is, very few.

3:35 ¹ Committed them to his power and will.

3:36 ¹ Shall not enjoy.

4:1 ¹ This measure is to be kept in doing of our duty, that neither by fear we be terrified from going forward, neither by rashness procure or pluck dangers upon our heads.

4:5 ¹ Christ leaving the proud Pharisees, communicateth the treasures of everlasting life with a poor sinful woman, and stranger, refelling the gross errors of the Samaritans, and defending the true service of God, which was delivered to the Jews, but yet so, that he calleth both of them back to himself as one whom only all the fathers, and also all the ceremonies of the Law did regard, and had a respect unto.

4:6 ¹ Even as he was weary, or because he was weary.

² It was almost noon.

4:9 ¹ There is no familiarity nor friendship, between the Jews and the Samaritans.

4:10 ¹ By this word (That) we are given to understand, that Christ speaketh of some excellent gift, that is to say, even of himself, whom his Father offered to this woman.

² This everlasting water, that is to say, the exceeding love of God, is called living, or of life, to make a difference between it, and the water that should be drawn out of a well: and these metaphors are very much used of the Jews, Jer. 2:13; Joel 3:18; Zech. 13:11.

17 The woman answered, and said, I have no husband. Jesus said unto her, thou hast well said, I have no husband.

18 For thou hast had five husbands, and he whom thou now hast, is not thine husband: that saidest thou truly.

19 The woman said unto him, Sir, I see that thou art a Prophet.

20 ¹Our fathers worshipped in this ²mountain, and ye say, that in ³Jerusalem is the place where men ought to worship.

21 Jesus said unto her, Woman, believe me, the hour cometh, when ye shall neither in this mountain, nor at Jerusalem worship the Father.

22 Ye worship that which ye ⁴know not: we worship that which we know: for salvation is of the Jews.

23 But the hour cometh, and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in ¹Spirit and Truth: for the Father requireth even such to worship him.

24 ⁵God is a ¹Spirit, and they that worship him, must worship him in Spirit and Truth.

25 The woman said unto him, I know well that Messiah shall come, which is called Christ: when he is come, he will tell us all things.

26 Jesus said unto her, I am he, that speak unto thee.

27 ¶ And upon that, came his disciples, and marvelled that he talked with a woman: yet no man said unto him, What askest thou? or why talkest thou with her.

28 The woman then left her waterpot, and went her way into the city, and said to the men,

29 Come, see a man which hath told me all things that ever I did: is not he that Christ?

30 Then they went out of the city, and came unto him.

31 ¶ In the meanwhile, the disciples prayed him, saying, Master, eat.

32 ¹But he said unto them, I have meat to eat, that ye know not of.

33 Then said the disciples between themselves, Hath any man brought him meat?

34 Jesus said unto them, My meat is that I may do the will of him that sent me, and finish his work.

35 ¹Say not ye, There are yet four months, and then cometh harvest? Behold, I say unto you, Lift up your eyes, and look on the regions: ²for they are white already unto harvest.

36 ¹And he that reapeth, receiveth reward, and gathered fruit unto life eternal, that both he that soweth, and he that reapeth might rejoice together.

37 For herein is the ³saying true, that one soweth and another reapeth.

38 I sent you to reap that, whereon ye bestowed no labor: other men labored, and ye are entered into their labors.

39 ¹Now many of the Samaritans of that city believed in him, for the saying of the woman which testified, He hath told me all things that ever I did.

40 Then when the Samaritans were come unto him, they besought him, that he would tarry with them: and he abode there two days.

41 And many more believed because of his own word.

42 And they said unto the woman, Now we believe, not because of thy saying: for we have heard him ourselves, and know that this is indeed that Christ the Savior of the world.

43 ¶ ¹So two days after he departed thence, and went into ²Galilee.

44 For Jesus himself had ⁴testified, that a Prophet hath none honor in his own country.

45 Then when he was come into Galilee, the Galileans received him, which had seen all the things that he did at Jerusalem at the feast: for they went also to the feast.

46 ¹And Jesus came again into ^hCana a town of Galilee, where he had made of water wine. And 4:20 ¹ All the religion of superstitious people, standeth for the most part, upon two pillars, but very weak, that is to say upon the examples of the fathers perverted, and a foolish opinion of outward things: against which errors we have to set the word and nature of God.

² The name of this mountain is Gerizim, whereupon Sanaballetta the Cushite built a Temple by Alexander of Macedonia's leave, after the victory of Issica, and made there Manasses his son-in-law high priest, Josephus, book 11.

4:23 ¹ This word (Spirit) is to be taken here, as it is set against that commandment, which is called carnal, Heb. 7:16, as the commandment is considered in itself: and so he speaketh of (Truth) not as we set it against a lie, but as we take it in respect of the outward ceremonies of the Law: which did only shadow that which Christ performed indeed.

4:24 ¹ By the word (Spirit) he meaneth the nature of the Godhead, and not the third person in the Trinity.

4:32 ¹ We may have care of our bodies, but yet so, that we prefer willingly and freely the occasion which is offered us to enlarge the kingdom of God, before all necessities of this life whatsoever.

4:35 ¹ When the spiritual corn is ripe, we must not linger: for so the children of this world would condemn us.

4:36 ¹ The doctrine of the Prophets was as it were a sowing time: and the doctrine of the Gospel, as the harvest, and there is an excellent agreement between them both, and the ministers of them both.

4:37 ¹ That proverb.

4:39 ¹ The Samaritans do most joyfully embrace that which the Jews most stubbornly rejected.

4:43 ¹ The despisers of Christ deprive themselves of his benefit: yet Christ prepareth a place for himself.

² Into the towns and villages of Galilee: for he would not make abode in his country of Nazareth, because they despised him, and where (as the other Evangelists write) the efficacy of his benefits was hindered through their marvelous stiffneckedness.

4:46 ¹ Although Christ be absent in body, yet he worketh mightily in the believers by his word.

there was a certain ²ruler, whose son was sick at Capernaum.

47 When he heard that Jesus was come out of Judea into Galilee, he went unto him, and besought him that he would go down, and heal his son: for he was even ready to die.

48 Then said Jesus unto him, Except ye see signs and wonders, ye will not believe.

49 The ruler said unto him, Sir, go down before my son dies.

50 Jesus said unto him, Go thy way, thy son liveth: and the man believed the word that Jesus had spoken unto him, and went his way.

51 And as he was now going down, his servants met him, saying, Thy son liveth.

52 Then inquired he of them the hour when he began to amend. And they said unto him, Yesterday the seventh hour the fever left him.

53 Then the father knew that it was the same hour in the which Jesus had said unto him, Thy son liveth. And he believed, and all his household.

54 This second miracle did Jesus again, after he was come out of Judea into Galilee.

5 2 One lying at the pool, 5 is healed of Christ on the Sabbath. 10 The Jews that rashly find fault with that his deed, 17 he convinceth with the authority of his Father, 19, 20 He proveth his divine power by many reasons, 45 and with Moses' testimony.

1 After ^athat, there was a feast of the Jews, and Jesus went to Jerusalem.

2 ¹And there is at Jerusalem by the place of the sheep, a ²pool called in Hebrew ³Bethesda, having five porches:

3 In the which lay a great multitude of sick folk, of blind, halt, and withered, waiting for the moving of the water.

4 For an Angel went down at a certain season into the pool, and troubled the water: whosoever then first, after the stirring of the water, stepped in, was made whole of whatsoever disease he had.

5 And a certain man was there, which had been diseased eight and thirty years.

6 When Jesus saw him lie, and knew that he now long time had been diseased, he said unto him, Wilt thou be made whole?

7 The sick man answered him, Sir, I have no man, when the water is troubled, to put me into the pool: but while I am coming, another steppeth down before me.

8 Jesus said unto him, Rise: take up thy bed, and walk.

9 And immediately the man was made whole, and took up his bed, and walked: and the same day was the Sabbath.

10 ¹The Jews therefore said to him that was made whole, It is the Sabbath day: ⁴it is not lawful for thee to carry thy bed.

11 He answered them, He that made me whole he said unto me, Take up thy bed, and walk.

12 Then asked they him, What man is that which said unto thee, Take up thy bed, and walk?

13 And he that was healed, knew not who it was: for Jesus had conveyed himself away from the multitude that was in that place.

14 And after that, Jesus found him in the Temple, and said unto him, Behold, thou art made whole: sin no more, lest a worse thing come unto thee.

15 ¶ The man departed, and told the Jews that it was Jesus that had made him whole.

16 And therefore the Jews did persecute Jesus, and sought to slay him, because he had done these things on the Sabbath day.

17 ¹But Jesus answered them, My father worketh hitherto, and I work.

18 ¹Therefore the Jews sought the more to kill him: not only because he had broken the Sabbath: but said also that God was ¹his Father, and made himself equal with God.

19 Then answered Jesus, and said unto them, Verily, verily I say unto you, The Son can do nothing ¹of himself, save that he ²seeth the Father do: for whatsoever things he doeth, the same things doeth the Son ³in like manner.

² Some of Herod's courtiers, for though Herod was not a king, but a Tetrarch, yet the lofty name only except, he was a king, or at least the people called him a king.

5:2 ¹ There is no disease so old, which Christ cannot heal.

² Whereof cattle drank, and used to be plunged in; whereof there could not be but great store at Jerusalem.

³ That is to say, the house of pouring out, because great store of water was poured out into that place.

5:10 ¹ True religion is no more cruelly assaulted by any means, than by the pretence of religion itself.

5:17 ¹ The work of God was never the breach of the Sabbath: but the works of Christ are the works of the Father, both because they are one God, and also because the Father doth not work but in the Son.

5:18 ¹ That is, his only and no man's else, which they gather by that, that he saith, (And I work) applying this word (work) to himself, which is proper to God, and therefore maketh himself equal to God.

5:19 ¹ Not only without his Father's authority, but also without his mighty working and power.

² This must be understood of Christ's person, which consisteth of two natures, and not simply of his Godhead: so then he saith that his Father moveth and governeth him in all things, but yet notwithstanding, when he saith he worketh with his Father, he voucheth his Godhead.

³ In like sort, jointly and together. Not for that the Father doeth some things, and then the son worketh after him, and doeth the like, but because the might and power of the Father and the Son do work equally and jointly together.

20 For the Father loveth the Son, and sheweth him all things, whatsoever he himself doeth, and he will show him greater works than these, that ye should marvel.

21 ¹For likewise as the Father raiseth up the dead, and quickeneth them, so the Son quickeneth whom he will.

22 For the Father ¹judgeth ²no man, but hath committed all judgment unto the Son, 23 Because that all men should honor the Son, as they honor the Father: he that honoreth not the Son, the same honoreth not the Father which hath sent him.

24 ¹Verily, verily I say unto you, he that heareth my word, and believeth him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation, but hath passed from death to life.

25 ¹Verily, verily I say unto you, the hour shall come, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God: and they that hear it shall live.

26 For as the Father hath life in himself, so likewise hath he given to the Son to have life in himself.

27 And hath given him ¹power also to execute judgment, in that he is the ²Son of man.

28 ¹Marvel not at this: for the hour shall come, in the which all that are in the graves, shall hear his voice.

29 ¹And they shall come ²forth, ^dthat have done good, unto the ³resurrection of life: but they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of condemnation.

30 ¹I can ²do nothing of mine own self: ³as I hear, I judge: and my judgment is just, because I seek not mine own will, but the will of the Father who hath sent me.

34 But I receive not the record of man: nevertheless these things I say, that ye might be saved.
35 He was a burning and a shining candle: and ye would for ^{1a} season have rejoiced in his light.
36 But I have greater witness than the witness of John: for the works which the Father hath given me to finish, the same works that I do, bear witness of me, that the Father sent me.
37 And the ^bFather himself, which hath sent me, beareth witness of me. Ye have not heard his voice at any time, ⁱneither have ye seen his shape.
38 And his word have you not abiding in you: for whom he hath sent, him ye believed not.
39 ^jSearch the Scriptures: for in them ye think to have eternal life, and they are they which testify of me.
40 But ye will not come to me, that ye might have life.
41 I receive not the praise of men.
42 But I know you, that ye have not the ¹love of God in you.
43 I am come in my Father's Name, and ye receive me not: if another shall come in his own name, him will ye receive.
44 How can ye believe, which receive ^khonor one of another, and seek not the honor that cometh of God alone?
45 ¹Do not think that I will accuse you to my Father: there is one that accuseth you, even Moses, in whom ye trust.
46 For had ye believed Moses, ye would have believed me: for he ^lwrote of me.
47 But if ye believe not his writings, how shall ye believe my words.

5:21 ¹ The Father maketh no man partaker of everlasting life, but in Christ, in whom only also he is truly worshipped.
5:22 ¹ This word (judgeth) is taken by the figure Synecdoche, for all government.
² These words are not so to be taken, as though they simply denied that God governeth the world, but as the Jews imagined it, which separate the Father from the Son, whereas indeed, the Father doth not govern the world but only in the person of his Son, being made manifest in the flesh: so saith he afterward, verse 30, that he came not to do his own will: that his doctrine is not his own, John 7:16, that the blind man and his parents sinned not, etc., John 9:3.
5:24 ¹ The Father is not worshipped but by his Son's word apprehended by faith, which is the only way that leadeth to eternal life.
5:25 ¹ We are all dead in sin and cannot be quickened by any other means, than by the word of Christ apprehended by faith.
5:27 ¹ That is, high and sovereign power to rule and govern all things, insomuch that he hath power of life and death.
² That is, he shall not only judge the world as he is God, but also as he is man, he received this of his Father to be judge of the world.
5:28 ¹ All shall appear before the judgment seat of Christ at length to be judged.

5:29 ¹ Faith and infidelity shall be judged by their fruits.
² Of their graves.
³ To that resurrection which had life everlasting following it: against which is set the resurrection of condemnation: that is, which condemnation followeth.
5:30 ¹ The father is the author and approver of all things which Christ doeth.
² See verse 22.
³ As my father directeth me, who dwelleth in me.
5:31 ¹ Faithful, that is, worthy to be credited, see John 8:14.
5:33 ¹ Christ is declared to be the only Savior by John's voice, and infinite miracles, and by the testimonies of all the Prophets. But the world notwithstanding being addicted to false prophets, and desirous to seem religious, seeth none of all these things.
5:35 ¹ A little while.
5:42 ¹ Love toward God.
5:45 ¹ This denial doth not put away that which is here said, but correcteth it, as if Christ said, the Jews shall have no sorer an accuser than Moses.

6 ⁵ Five thousand are fed with five loaves and two fishes. ¹⁵ Christ goeth apart from the people. ¹⁷ As his disciples were rowing, ¹⁹ he cometh to them walking on the water. ²⁶ He reasoneth of the true ²⁷ and everlasting, ³⁵ bread of life. ^{42, 52} The Jews murmur, ⁶⁰ and many of the disciples, ⁶⁶ depart from him. ⁶⁹ The Apostles confess him to be the Son of God.

1 After these things, Jesus went his way ¹ over the sea of Galilee, which is Tiberias.

2 And a great multitude followed him, because they saw his miracles, which he did on them that were diseased.

3 Then Jesus went up into a mountain, and there he sat with his disciples.

4 Now the Passover a ^afeast of the Jews was near.

5 ^{b, 1} Then Jesus lift up his eyes, and seeing that a great multitude came unto him, he said unto Philip, Whence shall we buy bread, that these might eat?

6 (And this he said to prove him: for he himself knew what he would do.)

7 Philip answered him, Two hundred pennyworth of bread is not sufficient for them, that everyone of them may take a little.

8 Then said unto him one of his disciples, Andrew, Simon Peter's brother, 9 There is a little boy here, which hath five barley loaves, and two fishes: but what are they among so many?

10 And Jesus said, Make the people sit down. (Now there was much grass in that place.) Then the men sat down, in number about five thousand.

11 And Jesus took the bread, and gave thanks, and gave to the disciples, and the disciples to them that were set down: and likewise of the fishes as much as they would.

12 And when they were satisfied, he said unto his disciples, Gather up the broken meat which remaineth, that nothing be lost.

13 Then they gathered it together, and filled twelve baskets with the broken meat of the five barley loaves, which remained unto them that had eaten.

14 Then the men, when they had seen the miracle that Jesus did, said, This is of a truth that Prophet that should come into the world.

15 ¹ When Jesus therefore perceived that they would come, and take him to make him a king, he departed again into a mountain himself alone.

16 ¶ ¹ When even was now come, his disciples went down unto the sea,

17 And entered into a ship, and went over the sea, ¹ towards Capernaum: and now it was dark, and Jesus was not come to them.

18 And the Sea arose with a great wind that blew.

19 And when they had rowed about five and twenty, or thirty furlongs, they saw Jesus walking on the sea, and drawing near unto the ship: so they were afraid.

20 But he said unto them, It is I: be not afraid.

21 Then ¹ willingly they received him into the ship, and the ship was by and by at the land, whither they went.

22 ¶ The day following, the people which stood on the other side of the sea, saw that there was none other ship there, save that one, where into his disciples were entered, and that Jesus went not with his disciples in the ship, but that his disciples were gone alone,

23 And that there came other ships from Tiberias near unto the place where they ate the bread, after the Lord had given thanks.

24 Now when the people saw that Jesus was not there, neither his disciples, they also took shipping, and came to Capernaum, seeking for Jesus.

25 And when they had found him on the other side of the sea, they said unto him, Rabbi, when camest thou hither?

26 ¹ Jesus answered them, and said, Verily, verily I say unto you, Ye seek me not, because ye saw the miracles, but because ye ate of the loaves, and were filled.

27 ¹ Labor not for the meat which perisheth, but for the meat that endureth unto everlasting life, which the Son of man shall give unto you: for him hath ⁴ God the Father ² sealed.

28 Then said they unto him, What shall we do, that we might work the ¹ works of God?

6:1 ¹ Not that he cut over the lake of Tiberias, but by reason of the large creeks, his sailing made his journey the shorter: therefore he is said to have gone over the sea, when as he passed over from one side of the creek to the other.

6:5 ¹ They that follow Christ do sometimes hunger, but they are never destitute of help.

6:15 ¹ Christ is not only not delighted, but also greatly offended with a preposterous worship.

6:16 ¹ The godly are often in peril and danger, but Christ cometh to them in time, even in the midst of the tempests, and bringeth them to the heaven.

6:17 ¹ In Mark 6:45 they are willed to go before to Bethsaida, for Bethsaida was in the way to Capernaum.

6:21 ¹ They were afraid at the first, but when they knew his voice, they became new men, and took him willingly into the ship, whom they had shunned and fled from before.

6:26 ¹ They that seek the kingdom of heaven lack nothing: notwithstanding the Gospel is not the food of the belly, but of the mind.

6:27 ¹ Bestow your labor and pain.

² That is, whom God the Father hath distinguished from all other men by planting his own virtue in him, as though he had sealed him with his seal, that he might be a lively pattern and representer of him: and that more is, installed him to this office, to reconcile us men to God, and bring us to everlasting life, which is only proper to Christ.

6:28 ¹ Which please God: for they think that everlasting life hangeth upon the condition of fulfilling the Law: therefore Christ calleth them back to faith.

29 ¹Jesus answered, and said unto them, ^{c,2}This is the work of God, that ye believe in him, whom he hath sent.

30 ¹They said therefore unto him, What sign showest thou then, that we may see it, and believe thee? what dost thou work?

31 Our fathers did eat Manna in the desert, as it is ^fwritten, He gave them bread from heaven to eat.

32 ¹Then Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily I say unto you, Moses gave you not ²that bread from heaven, but my Father giveth you that true bread from heaven.

33 For the bread of God is he which cometh down from heaven, and giveth life unto the world.

34 Then they said unto him, Lord, evermore give us this bread.

35 And Jesus said unto them, I am that bread ¹of life: he that cometh to me, shall not hunger, and he that believeth in me, shall never thirst.

36 But I said unto you, that ye also have seen me, and believe not.

37 ¹All that the Father giveth me, shall come to me: and him that cometh to me, I cast not away.

38 For I came down from heaven, not to do mine ¹own will, but his will which hath sent me.

39 And this is the Father's will which hath sent me, that of all which he hath given me, I should lose nothing, but should raise it up again at the last day.

40 And this is the will of him that sent me, that every man which ¹seeth the Son, and believeth in him, should have everlasting life: and I will raise him up at the last day.

41 ¹The Jews then murmured at him because he said, I am that bread, which is come down from heaven.

42 And they said, ^gIs not this Jesus that son of Joseph, whose father and mother we know? how then saith he, I came down from heaven?

43 Jesus then answered, and said unto them, Murmur not among yourselves.

44 No man can come to me, except the Father, which hath sent me, draw him: and I will raise him up at the last day.

45 It is written in the ^{h,1}Prophets, And they shall be all ²taught of God. Every man therefore that hath heard, and hath learned of the Father, cometh unto me:

46 ¹Not that any man hath seen the Father, ¹save he which is of God, he hath seen the Father.

47 Verily, verily I say unto you, he that believeth in me, hath everlasting life.

48 ¹I am that bread of life.

49 ¹Your fathers did eat Manna in the wilderness, and are dead.

50 ¹This is that bread, which cometh down from heaven, that he which eateth of it, should not die.

51 ¹I am that ²living bread, which came down from heaven: if any man ³eat of this bread, he shall live forever: and the bread that I will give is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world.

52 ¹Then the Jews strove among themselves, saying, How can this man give us his flesh to eat?

6:29 ¹ Men torment themselves in vain, when they go about to please God without faith.

² That is, this is the work that God requireth, that you believe in me, and therefore he calleth them back to faith.

6:30 ¹ The spiritual virtue of Christ is contemned of them which are desirous of earthly miracles.

6:32 ¹ Christ, who is the true and only author and giver of eternal life, was signified unto the fathers, in Manna.

² He denieth that Manna was that true heavenly bread, and saith that he himself is that true bread, because he feedeth unto the true and everlasting life. And as for that, that Paul 1 Cor. 10 calleth Manna spiritual food, it maketh nothing against this place, for he joineth the thing signified with the sign: but in this whole disputation, Christ dealeth with the Jews after their own opinion and conceit of the matter, and they had no further consideration of the Manna, but in that it fed the belly.

6:35 ¹ Which have life, and give life.

6:37 ¹ The gift of faith proceedeth from the free election of the Father in Christ, after which followeth necessarily everlasting life: Therefore faith in Christ Jesus is a sure witness of our election, and therefore of our glorification, which is to come.

6:38 ¹ See John 5:22.

6:40 ¹ Seeing and believing are joined together: for there is another kind of seeing, which is general, which the devils have, for they see: but here he speaketh of that kind of seeing, which is proper to the elect.

6:41 ¹ Flesh cannot perceive spiritual things, and therefore the beginning of our salvation cometh from God, who changeth our nature, so that we being inspired of him, may abide to be instructed and saved by Christ.

6:45 ¹ In the book of the Prophets, for the old Testament was divided by them into three several parts, into the Law the Prophets, and the Holy writ.

² To wit, they shall be children of the Church, for so the Prophet Isaiah expoundeth it, Isa. 54:13, that is to say, ordained to life, Acts 13:48, and therefore the knowledge of the heavenly truth, is the gift and work of God, and standeth not in any power of man.

6:46 ¹ If the son only hath seen the Father, then it is he only that can teach and instruct us truly.

6:48 ¹ The true use of Sacraments, is to ascend from them to the thing itself, that is to Christ: and by the partaking of whom only, we get everlasting life.

6:50 ¹ He pointed out himself when he spake these words.

6:51 ¹ Christ being sent from the Father, is the selfsame unto us for the getting and keeping of everlasting life, that bread and flesh, yea meat and drink are to the use of this transitory life.

² Which giveth life to the world.

³ That is to say, whosoever is partaker of Christ indeed, who is our food.

6:52 ¹ Flesh cannot put a difference between fleshly eating which is done by the help of the teeth, and spiritual eating which consisteth in faith, and therefore is condemneth that which it understandeth not: yet notwithstanding the truth must be preached and taught.

53 Then Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily I say unto you, Except ye eat the flesh of the Son of man, and drink his blood, ye have ¹no life in you.

54 Whosoever ^keateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, hath eternal life, and I will raise him up at the last day.

55 For my flesh is meat indeed, and my blood is drink indeed.

56 He that eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, dwelleth in me, and I in him.

57 As ¹that living Father hath sent me, so live I by the ²Father, and he that eateth me, even he shall live by me.

58 This is that bread which came down from heaven: not as your fathers have eaten Manna, and are dead. He that eateth of this bread, shall live forever.

59 These things spake he in the Synagogue, as he taught in Capernaum.

60 ¹Many therefore of his disciples (when they heard this) said, This is an hard saying: who can hear it?

61 But Jesus knowing in himself, that his disciples murmured at this, said unto them, Doth this offend you?

62 What then if ye should see that Son of man ascend up ¹where he was before?

63 ¹It is the ²spirit that quickeneth: the flesh profiteth nothing: the words that I speak unto you, are spirit and life.

64 But there are some of you that believe not: for Jesus knew from the beginning, which they were that believed not, and who should betray him.

65 And he said, Therefore said I unto you, that no man can come unto me, except it be given unto him of my Father.

66 ¹From that time, many of his disciples went back, and walked no more with him.

67 Then said Jesus to the twelve, Will ye also go away?

68 Then Simon Peter answered him, Master, to whom shall we go? thou hast the words of eternal life:

69 And we believe and know that thou art that Christ that Son of the living God.

70 ¹Jesus answered them, Have not I ^mchosen you twelve, and one of you is a devil?

71 Now he spake it of Judas Iscariot the son of Simon: for he it was that should betray him, though he was one of the twelve.

7 2 Christ, after his cousins were gone up to the feast of Tabernacles, 10 goeth thither privily. 12 The people's sundry opinions of him. 14 He teacheth in the Temple. 32 The Priests command to take him. 41 Strife among the multitude about him, 47 and between the Pharisees and the officers that were sent to take him, 50 and Nicodemus.

1 After these things, Jesus walked in Galilee, and would not walk in Judea: for the Jews sought to kill him.

2 Now the Jews' ^{a-1}feast of the Tabernacles was at hand.

3 ¹His brethren therefore said unto him, Depart hence, and go into Judea, that thy disciples may see thy works that thou doest.

4 For there is no man that doeth anything secretly, and he himself seeketh to be famous. If thou doest these things, show thyself to the world.

5 For as yet his ¹brethren believed not in him.

6 ¹Then Jesus said unto them, My time is not yet come: but your time is always ready.

7 The world cannot hate you: but me it hateth, because I testify of it, that the works thereof are evil.

8 Go ye up unto this feast: I will not go up yet unto this feast: ¹for my time is not yet fulfilled.

9 ¶ These things he said unto them, and abode still in Galilee.

6:53 ¹ If Christ be present, life is present, but when Christ is absent, then is death present.

6:57 ¹ In that that Christ is man, he receiveth that power which quickeneth and giveth life to them that are his, of his Father: and he addeth this word (That) to make a difference between him and all other fathers.

² Christ his meaning is, that though he be man, yet his flesh can give life, not of the own nature, but because that flesh of his liveth by the Father, that is to say, death suck and draw out of the Father, that power which it hath to give life.

6:60 ¹ The reason of man cannot comprehend the uniting of Christ and his members: therefore let it worship and reverence that which is better than itself.

6:63 ¹ The flesh of Christ doth therefore quicken us, because that he that is man, is God: which mystery is only comprehended by faith, which is the gift of God, properly only to the elect.

² Spirit, that is, that power which floweth from the Godhead, causeth the flesh of Christ, which otherwise were nothing but flesh, but to live in itself, and to give life to us.

6:66 ¹ Such is the malice of men, that they take occasion of their own destruction, even of the very doctrine of salvation (unless it be a few, which believe through the singular gift of God.)

6:70 ¹ The number of the professors, of Christ is very small, and among them also there be some hypocrites, and worse than all others.

7:2 ¹ This feast was so called, because of the booths and tents which they pight of divers kinds of boughs, and sat under them seven days together; all which time the feast lasted.

7:3 ¹ The grace of God cometh not by inheritance, but it is a gift that cometh other ways, whereby it cometh to pass, that oftentimes the children of God suffer more affliction by their own kinsfolk than by strangers.

7:5 ¹ His kinsfolk: for so use the Hebrews to speak.

7:6 ¹ We must not follow the foolish desires of our friends.

10 ¹But as soon as his brethren were gone up, then went he also up unto the feast, not openly, but as it were privily.

11 Then the Jews sought him at the feast, and said, Where is he?

12 And much murmuring was there of him among the people. Some said, He is a good man: others said, Nay: but he deceiveth the people.

13 Howbeit no man spake ¹openly of him for fear of the Jews.

14 ¹Now when ²half the feast was done, Jesus went up into the Temple, and taught.

15 And the Jews marveled, saying, How knoweth this man the Scriptures, seeing that he never learned!

16 ¹Jesus answered them, and said, ²My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me.

17 If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself.

18 ¹He that speaketh of himself, seeketh his own glory: but he that seeketh his glory that sent him, the same is true, and no unrighteousness is in him.

19 ¹Did not Moses give you a Law, and yet none of you keepeth the Law? ⁴Why go ye about to kill me?

20 The people answered, and said, Thou hast a devil: who goeth about to kill thee?

21 ¹Jesus answered, and said unto them, I have done one work, and ye all marvel.

22 ¹Moses therefore gave unto you circumcision, (not because it is of Moses, but of the ²fathers) and ye on the Sabbath day circumsise a man.

23 If a man on the Sabbath receive circumcision, that the ¹Law of Moses should not be broken, be ye angry with me, because I have made a man every whit whole on the Sabbath day?

24 ¹Judge not ²according to the appearance, but judge righteous judgment.

25 ¶ ¹Then said some of them of Jerusalem, Is not this he whom they go about to kill?

26 And behold, he speaketh openly, and they say nothing to him: do the rulers know indeed that this is indeed that Christ?

27 ¹Howbeit we know this man whence he is: but when that Christ cometh, no man shall know whence he is.

28 ¶ ¹Then cried Jesus in the Temple as he taught, saying, Ye both know me, and know whence I am: yet am I not come of myself, but he that sent me, is true, whom ye know not.

29 But I know him: for I am of him, and he hath sent me.

30 ¹Then they sought to take him, but no man laid hands on him, because his hour was not yet come.

31 Now many of the people believed on him, and said, When that Christ cometh, will he do more miracles than this man hath done?

32 ¹The Pharisees heard that the people murmured these things of him, and the Pharisees, and high Priests sent officers to take him.

33 Then said Jesus unto them, Yet am I a little while with you, and then go I unto him that sent me.

34 ¹Ye shall seek me, and shall not find me, and where I am, can ye not come.

35 Then said the Jews among themselves, Whither will he go, that we shall not find him? Will he go unto them that are ¹dispersed among the Greeks,

7:10 ¹ An example of horrible confusion in the very bosom of the Church. The Pastors oppress the people with terrors and fear: the people seek Christ, when he appeareth not: when he offereth himself, they neglect him. Some also that know him condemn him rashly: a very few think well of him, and that in secret.

7:13 ¹ Or, boldly and freely: for the chief of the Jews sought nothing so much, as to bury his fame and name.

7:14 ¹ Christ striveth with goodness against the wickedness of the world: in the mean season the most part of men take occasion of offense even by that fame, whereby they ought to have been stirred up to embrace Christ.

² About the fourth day of the feast.

7:16 ¹ Therefore are there few to whom the Gospel favoreth well, because the study of godliness is very rare.

² See John 5:22, and he speaketh this after the opinion of the Jews, as if he said, My doctrine is not mine, that is, it is not his whom you take to be a man as others are, and therefore set light by him, but it is his that sent me.

7:18 ¹ The true doctrine of salvation differeth from the false in this, that the same setteth forth the glory of God, and this by puffing up of men darkeneth the glory of God.

7:19 ¹ None do more confidently boast themselves to be the defenders of the Law of God, than they that do most impudently break it.

7:21 ¹ The Sabbath day (which is here set before us for a rule of all ceremonies) was not appointed to hinder but to further and practice God's works: amongst which the love of our neighbor is the chiefest.

7:23 ¹ That is to say, if the law of circumcision which Moses gave, be of so great accept amongst you, that you doubt not to circumsise upon the Sabbath, do you rightly reprove me for healing a man thoroughly?

7:24 ¹ We must judge according to the truth of things, lest the persons of men do turn us and carry us away.

² By the show that I make: for I seem to be but an abject and rascal of Galilee, and a carpenter's son, whom no man maketh account of: but mark the matter itself well, and judge the tree by the fruit.

7:25 ¹ Many do marvel that the endeavors of the enemies of God have no success: yet in the mean season they do not acknowledge the virtue and power of God.

7:27 ¹ Men are very wise to procure stops and stays to themselves.

7:28 ¹ The truth of Christ doth not hang upon the judgment of man.

7:30 ¹ The wicked cannot do what they list, but what God hath appointed.

7:32 ¹ As the kingdom of God increaseth, so increaseth the rage of his enemies, till at length they in vain seek for those blessings absent, which they despised when they were present.

7:35 ¹ Word for word, (to the dispersion of the Gentiles or Greeks) and under the name of the Greeks he understandeth the Jews which were dispersed amongst the Gentiles.

and teach the Greeks?

36 What saying is this that he said, Ye shall seek me, and shall not find me? and where I am, can ye not come?

37 ¹Now in the ²last and ³great day of the feast, Jesus stood and cried, saying, If any man thirst, let him come unto me, and drink.

38 He that believeth in me, ⁴as saith the ⁵Scripture, out of his belly shall flow rivers of water of life.

39 (⁶This spake he of the Spirit, which they that believed in him, should receive: for the ⁷holy Ghost was not yet given, because that Jesus was not yet ⁸glorified.)

40 ¹So many of the people, when they heard this saying, said, ²Of a truth this is that Prophet:

41 Others said, This is that Christ: and some said, But shall that Christ come out of Galilee?

42 ³Saith not the Scripture that that Christ shall come of the seed of David, and out of the town of Bethlehem, where David was?

43 So was there dissension among the people for him.

44 And some of them would have taken him, but no man laid hands on him.

45 ¹Then came the officers to the high Priests and Pharisees, and they said unto them, Why have ye not brought him?

46 The officers answered, Never man spake like this man.

47 Then answered them the Pharisees, Are ye also deceived?

48 ¹Doth any of the rulers, or of the Pharisees believe in him?

49 But this people, which know not the Law, are cursed,

50 Nicodemus said unto them, (¹he that came to Jesus by night, and was one of them.)

51 Doth our Law judge a man before it hear him, ²and know ³what he hath done?

52 They answered, and said unto him, Art thou also of Galilee? Search and look: for out of Galilee

1 And Jesus went unto the mount of Olives,

2 And early in the morning came again into the Temple, and all the people came unto him, and he sat down and taught them.

3 ¹Then the Scribes and the Pharisees brought unto him a woman taken in adultery, and set her in the midst,

4 And said unto him, Master, we found this woman committing adultery even in the very act.

5 ²Now Moses in our Law commanded, that such should be stoned: what sayest thou therefore?

6 And this they said to tempt him, that they might have, whereof to accuse him. But Jesus stooped down, and with his finger wrote on the ground,

7 ¹And while they continued asking him, he lifted himself up, and said unto them, ²Let him that is among you without sin, cast the first stone at her.

8 And again he stooped down, and wrote on the ground.

9 And when they heard it, being accused by their own conscience, they went out, one by one, beginning at the eldest even to the last: so Jesus was left alone, and the woman standing in the midst.

10 ¹When Jesus had lifted up himself again, and saw no man, but the woman, he said unto her, Woman, where are those thine accusers? hath no man condemned thee?

11 She said, No man, Lord. And Jesus said, Neither do I condemn thee: go and sin no more.

12 ¹Then spake Jesus again unto them, saying, I ²am that light of the world: he that followeth me, shall not walk in darkness, but shall have that light

7:37 ¹ There are two principles of our salvation: the one is to be thoroughly touched with a true feeling of our extreme poverty: the other to seek in Christ only (whom we catch hold on by faith) the abundance of all good things.

² The last day of the feast of Tabernacles, that is, the eighth day, was as high a day, as the first.

7:38 ¹ This is not read word for word in any place, but it seemeth to be taken out of many places where mention is made of the gifts of the holy Ghost, as Joel 2; Isa. 44, but especially in Isa. 55.

7:39 ¹ What is meant by the holy Ghost, he expressed a little before, speaking of the Spirit which they that believed in him should receive. So that by the name of holy Ghost, are meant the virtues and mighty workings of the holy Ghost.

² That is, those things were not yet seen and perceived, which were to show and set forth the glory of the only begotten.

7:40 ¹ There is contention even in the Church itself about the chief point of religion: neither hath Christ any more cruel enemies than those that occupy the seat of truth: yet can they not do what they would.

7:45 ¹ God from heaven scorneth such as are his son's enemies.

7:48 ¹ False Pastors are so fond and foolish that they esteem the Church of God according to the multitude and outward show.

7:51 ¹ What he hath committed, who is accused.

7:53 ¹ There is no counsel against the Lord.

8:3 ¹ While the wicked go about to make a snare for good men, they make a snare for themselves.

8:7 ¹ Against hypocrites which are very severe judges against other men, and flatter themselves in their own sins.

8:10 ¹ Christ would not take upon him the civil Magistrates office: he contented himself to bring sinners to faith and repentance.

8:12 ¹ The world which is blind in itself cannot come to have any light but in Christ only.

of life.

13 ¹The Pharisees therefore said unto him, ²Thou bearest record of thyself: thy record is not true.

14 ¹Jesus answered, and said unto them, ¹Though I bear record of myself, yet my record is true: for I know whence I come, and whither I go: but ye cannot tell whence I came, and whither I go.

15 Ye judge after the flesh: I ¹judge no man.

16 And if I also judge, my judgment is true, for I am not alone, but I, and the Father, that sent me.

17 And it is also written in your Law, ^cthat the testimony of two men is true.

18 ¹I am one that bear witness of myself, and the Father that sent me beareth witness of me.

19 ¹Then said they unto him, Where is that Father of thine? Jesus answered, Ye neither know me, nor the Father of mine. If ye had known me, ye should have known that Father of mine also.

20 These words spake Jesus in the ¹treasury, as he taught in the Temple, and no man laid hands on him: ²for his hour was not yet come.

21 ¹Then said Jesus again unto them, I go my way, and ye shall seek me, and shall die in your sins, Whither I go, can ye not come.

22 Then said the Jews, Will he kill himself, because he saith, Whither I go, can ye not come?

23 And he said unto them, Ye are from beneath, I am from above: ye are of this world, I am not of this world.

27 ¹They understood not that he spake to them of the Father.

28 Then said Jesus unto them, When ye have lifted up the Son of man, then shall ye know that I am he, and that I do nothing of myself, but as my Father hath taught me, so I spake these things.

29 For he that sent me, is with me: the Father hath not left me alone, because I do always those things that please him.

30 ¶ As he spake these things, many believed in him.

31 ¹Then said Jesus to the Jews which believed in him, If ye continue in my word, ye are verily my disciples, 32 And shall know the truth, and the truth shall ¹make you free.

33 ¹They answered him, We be ²Abraham's seed, and were never bond to any man: why sayest thou then, Ye shall be made free?

34 Jesus answered them, Verily, verily I say unto you, that whosoever commiteth sin, is the ¹servant of sin.

35 And the servant abideth not in the house forever: but the Son abideth forever.

36 If that Son therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed.

37 ¹I know that ye are Abraham's seed, but ye seek to kill me, because my word hath no place in you.

8:13 ¹ Christ is without all exception the best witness of the truth, for he was sent by his Father for that purpose, and was by him approved to the world by infinite miracles.

² Thou bearest witness of thyself which thing by all men's opinion, is naught: and for a man to commend himself is very discommendable.

8:14 ¹ That which he denied afore, John 5:31, must be taken by a manner of granting, for in that place he framed himself somewhat to the humor of his hearers, which acknowledged nothing in Christ but his humanity, and therefore he was content they should set light by his own witness, unless it were otherwise confirmed. But in this place he standeth for the maintenance of his Godhead, and praiseth his Father, who is his witness, and agreeth with him.

8:15 ¹ I do now only teach you, I condemn no man: but yet if I list to do it, I might lawfully do it, for I am not alone, but my Father is with me.

8:18 ¹ The Godhead is plainly distinguished from the manhood, else there were not two witnesses: for the party accused is not taken for a witness.

8:19 ¹ No man can know God, but in Christ only.

8:20 ¹ This was some place appointed for the gathering of the offerings.

² We live and die at the pleasure of God and not of men: Therefore this one thing remaineth that we go forward constantly in our vocation.

8:21 ¹ Because that men do naturally abhor heavenly things, no man can be a fit disciple of Christ, unless the Spirit of God frame him: in the mean season notwithstanding, the world must of necessity perish, because it refuseth the life that is offered unto it.

8:25 ¹ He shall at length know who Christ is, which will diligently hear, what he saith.

² That is, I am Christ, and the savior, for so I told you from the beginning that I was.

8:26 ¹ God is the revenger of Christ's doctrine despised.

8:27 ¹ Even the contempt of Christ maketh for his glory: which thing his enemies shall feel at length to their great smart.

8:31 ¹ The true disciples of Christ continue in his doctrine, that profiting more and more in the knowledge of the truth, they may be delivered from the most grievous burden of sin, into the true liberty of righteousness and life.

8:32 ¹ From the slavery of sin.

8:33 ¹ Some of the multitude, not they that believed: for this is not the speech of men that consent unto him but of men that are against him.

² Born and begotten of Abraham.

8:37 ¹ Our wicked manners declare, that we are plainly born of a devilish nature, But we are changed, and made of the household of God, according to the covenant which he made with Abraham by Christ only, apprehended and laid hold on by faith: which faith is known by a godly and honest life.

38 I speak that which I have seen with my Father: and ye do that which ye have seen with your Father.

39 They answered, and said unto him, Abraham is our father. Jesus said unto them, If ye were Abraham's children, ye would do the works of Abraham.

40 But now ye go about to kill me, a man that have told you the truth, which I have heard of God: this did not Abraham.

41 Ye do the works of your father. Then said they to him, We are not born of fornication: we have one Father, which is God.

42 Therefore Jesus said unto them, If God were your Father, then would ye love me: for I proceeded forth, and came from God, neither came I of myself, but he sent me.

43 Why do ye not understand my ¹talk? because ye cannot hear my word.

44 ^aYe are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do: he hath been a murderer from the ^bbeginning, and ²abode not in the ³truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, then speaketh he of his ⁴own: for he is a liar, and the ⁵father thereof.

45 And because I tell you the truth, ye believe me not.

46 ¹Which of you can rebuke me of sin? and if I say the truth, why do ye not believe me?

47 ^bHe that is of God heareth God's words: ye therefore hear them not, because ye are not of God.

48 ¹Then answered the Jews, and said unto him, Say we not well that thou art a Samaritan, and hast a devil?

49 Jesus answered, I have not a devil, but I honor my Father, and ye have dishonored me.

50 And I seek not mine own praise: but there is one that ¹seeketh it, and judgeth.

^a 1 John 3:8

^b John 4:6

51 ¹Verily, verily I say unto you, If a man keep my word, he shall never ²see death.

52 ¹Then said the Jews to him, Now know we that thou hast a devil. Abraham is dead, and the Prophets: and thou sayest, If a man keep my word, he shall never taste of death.

53 Art thou greater than our father Abraham, which is dead? and the Prophets are dead: whom makest thou thyself?

54 ¹Jesus answered, If I honor myself, mine honor is ²nothing worth: it is my Father that honoreth me, whom ye say, that he is your God.

55 ¹Yet ye have not known him: but I know him, and if I should say I know him not, I should be a liar like unto you: but I know him, and keep his word.

56 ¹Your father Abraham ²rejoiced to see my ³day, and he ⁴saw it, and was glad.

57 Then said the Jews unto him, Thou art not yet fifty years old, and hast thou seen Abraham?

58 Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily I say unto you, before Abraham was, I ¹am.

59 ¹Then took they up stones to cast at him, but Jesus hid himself, and went out of the Temple: And he passed through the midst of them, and so went his way.

9 ¹Christ giveth sight on the Sabbath day, to him that was born blind. 13 Whom, after he had long reasoned against the Pharisees, 22, 35 and was cast out of the Synagogue, 36 Christ endueth with the knowledge of the everlasting light.

1 And ¹as Jesus passed by, he saw a man which was blind from his birth.

2 And his disciples asked him, saying, Master,

8:43 ¹ Or, language: as though he said, you do no more understand what I say, than if I spake in a strange and unknown language to you.

8:44 ¹ From the beginning of the world: for as soon as man was made, the devil cast him headlong into death.

² That is, continued not constantly, or remained not.

³ That is, in faithfulness, and uprightness, that is, kept not his creation.

⁴ Even of his own head, and of his own brain or disposition.

⁵ The author thereof.

8:46 ¹ Christ did thoroughly execute the office, that his Father enjoined him.

8:48 ¹ The enemies of Christ make their bravery for a while, but the Father will appear at his time to revenge the reproach that is done unto him in the person of his son.

8:50 ¹ That is, that will revenge both your despising of me, and of him.

8:51 ¹ The only doctrine of the Gospel apprehended by faith, is a sure remedy against death.

² That is, he shall not feel it: for even in the midst of death, the faithful see life.

8:52 ¹ Against them which abuse the glory of the Saints, to darken

Christ's glory.

8:54 ¹ There is nothing farther off from all ambition than Christ, but his Father hath set him above all things.

² This is spoken by manner of [a grant]: as if he had said, Be it so, let this report which I give of myself, be of no force: yet there is another that glorifieth me, that is, that honoreth my Name.

8:55 ¹ There is no right knowledge of God, without Christ, neither any right knowledge of Christ without his word.

8:56 ¹ The virtue of Christ showed itself through all former ages in the Fathers, for they saw in the promises, that he should come, and did very joyfully lay hold on him with a lively faith.

² Was very desirous.

³ A day is a space that a man liveth in, or doeth any notable act, or suffereth any great thing.

⁴ With the eyes of faith, Heb. 11:13.

8:58 ¹ Christ as he was God, was before Abraham: and he was the Lamb slain from the beginning of the world.

8:59 ¹ Zeal without knowledge, breaketh out at length into a most open madness: and yet the wicked cannot do what they list.

9:1 ¹ Sin is the beginning even of all bodily diseases, and yet doth it not follow, that God always respecteth their sins, whom he most sharply punisheth.

who did sin, this man, or his parents, that he was born blind?

3 Jesus answered, ¹Neither hath this man sinned, nor his parents, but that the works of God should be showed on him.

4 ¹I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is ²day: the night cometh when no man can work.

5 As long as I am in the world, ⁴I am the light of the world.

6 ¹As soon as he had thus spoken, he spat on the ground, and made clay of the spittle, and anointed the eyes of the blind with the clay,

7 And said unto him, Go wash in the pool of Siloam (which is by interpretation, Sent.) He went his way therefore and washed, and came again seeing.

8 ¹Now the neighbors and they that had seen him before, when he was blind, said, Is not this he that sat and begged?

9 Some said, This is he: and others said, He is like him: but he himself said, I am he.

10 Therefore they said unto him, How were thine eyes ¹opened?

11 He answered, and said, The man that is called Jesus, made clay, and anointed mine eyes, and said unto me, Go to the pool of Siloam and wash. So I went and washed, and received sight.

12 Then they said unto him, Where is he? He said, I cannot tell.

13 ¶ They brought to the Pharisees him that was once blind.

14 And it was the Sabbath day, when Jesus made the clay, and opened his eyes.

15 Then again the Pharisees also asked him, how he had received sight. And he said unto them, He laid clay upon mine eyes, and I washed, and do see.

16 ¹Then said some of the Pharisees, This man is not of God, because he keepeth not the Sabbath day. Others said, How can a man that is a sinner, do such miracles? and there was a dissension among them.

CHAPTER 9
^a John 1:9
John 8:12
John 12:35

17 Then spake they unto the blind again, What sayest thou of him, because he hath opened thine eyes? And he said, He is a Prophet.

18 Then the Jews did not believe him (that he had been blind, and received his sight) until they had called the parents of him that had received sight.

19 And they asked them, saying, Is this your son, whom ye say was born blind? How doth he now see then?

20 His parents answered them, and said, We know that this is our son, and that he was born blind:

21 But by what means he now seeth, we know not: or who hath opened his eyes, can we not tell: he is old enough: ask him: he shall answer for himself.

22 These words spake his parents, because they feared the Jews: for the Jews had ordained already, that if any man did confess that he was Christ, he should be excommunicated out of the Synagogue.

23 Therefore said his parents, He is old enough: ask him.

24 Then again called they the man that had been blind, and said unto him, ¹Give glory unto God: we know that this man is a ²sinner.

25 Then he answered, and said, Whether he be a sinner or no, I cannot tell: one thing I know, that I was blind, and now I see.

26 Then said they to him again, What did he to thee? how opened he thine eyes?

27 He answered them, I have told you already, and ye have not heard it: wherefore would ye hear it again? will ye also be his disciples?

28 ¹Then reviled they him, and said, Be thou his disciple: we be Moses' disciples.

29 We know that God spake with Moses: but this man we know not from whence he is.

30 The man answered, and said unto them, Doubtless, this is a marvelous thing, that ye know not whence he is, and yet he hath opened mine eyes.

31 Now we know that God heareth not sinners: but if any man be a worshipper of God, and doeth

9:3 ¹ Christ reasoneth here, as his disciples thought, which presuppose that there come no diseases but for sins only: whereupon he answereth that there was another cause of this man's blindness, and that was, that God's his work might be seen.

9:4 ¹ The works of Christ are as it were a light, which lighten the darkness of the world.

² By (day) is meant the light, that is, the lightsome, doctrine of the heavenly truth: and by (night) is meant the darkness which cometh by the obscurity of the same doctrine.

9:6 ¹ Christ healing the man born blind, by taking the sign of clay, and afterward the sign of the fountain of Siloam (which signifieth Sent) sheweth that as he at the beginning made man, so doth he again restore both his body and soul: and yet so, that he himself cometh first of his own accord to heal us.

9:8 ¹ A true image of all men, who as they are of nature blind, do neither themselves receive the light that is offered unto them, nor suffer it in others, and yet make a great ado amongst themselves.

9:10 ¹ This is an Hebrew kind of speech, for they call a man's eyes shut, when they cannot receive any light: And therefore they are said to have their eyes opened, which of blind men are made to see.

9:16 ¹ Religion is not assaulted by any means more than by pretence of Religion: but the more it is pressed down, the more it riseth up.

9:24 ¹ A solemn order, whereby men were constrained in old time to acknowledge their fault before God, as if they should say, Consider thou art before God, who knoweth the whole matter, and therefore see thou reverence his majesty, and do him this honor, rather to confess the whole matter openly, than to lie before him, Josh. 7:19; 1 Sam. 6:5.

² He is called a sinner in the Hebrew tongue, which is a wicked man, and maketh as it were an art of sins.

9:28 ¹ Proud wickedness must needs at length break forth, which in vain lieth hid under a zeal of godliness.

his will, him heareth he.

32 Since the world began, was it not heard, that any man opened the eyes of one that was born blind.

33 If this man were not of God, he could have done nothing.

34 They answered, and said unto him, ¹Thou art altogether born in sins, and dost thou teach us? so they cast him out.

35 ¹Jesus heard that they had cast him out: and when he had found him, he said unto him, Dost thou believe in the Son of God?

36 He answered, and said, Who is he, Lord, that I might believe in him?

37 And Jesus said unto him, Both thou hast seen him, and he it is that talketh with thee.

38 Then he said, Lord, I believe, and worshipped him.

39 ¹And Jesus said, I am come unto ²judgment into this world, that they ³which see not, might see: and that they ⁴which see, might be made blind.

40 And some of the Pharisees which were with him, heard these things, and said unto him, Are we blind also?

41 Jesus said unto them, If ye were blind, ye should not have sin: but now ye say, We see: therefore your sin remaineth.

10 ¹ Christ proveth that the Pharisees are the evil shepherds, ⁸ and by many reasons, that himself ^{11, 14} is the good shepherd: ¹⁹ And thereof dissension ariseth. ³¹ They take up stones, ³⁹ and go about to take him, but he escapeth.

1 Verily, ¹verily I say unto you, He that entereth not in by the door into the sheepfold, but climbeth up another way, he is a thief and a robber.

2 But he that goeth in by the door, is the shepherd

^b John 3:17
John 12:47

CHAPTER 10

^a Isa. 40:11
Ezek. 34:23

of the sheep.

3 To him the ¹porter openeth, and the sheep hear his voice, and he calleth his own sheep by name, and leadeth them out.

4 And when he hath sent forth his own sheep, he goeth before them, and the sheep follow him: for they know his voice.

5 And they will not follow a stranger, but they flee from him: for they know not the voice of strangers.

6 This ¹parable spake Jesus unto them: but they understood not what things they were which he spake unto them.

7 Then said Jesus unto them again, Verily, verily I say unto you, I am that door of the sheep.

8 ¹All that ²ever came before me, are thieves and robbers: but the sheep did not hear them.

9 ¹I am that door: by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved, and shall ²go in, and go out, and find pasture.

10 The thief cometh not, but for to steal, and to kill, and to destroy: I am come that they might have life, and have it in abundance.

11 ¹I am that good shepherd: that good shepherd giveth his life for his sheep.

12 But an hireling, and he which is not the shepherd, neither the sheep are his own, seeth the wolf coming, and he leaveth the sheep, and fleeth, and the wolf catcheth them, and scattereth the sheep.

13 So the hireling fleeth, because he is an hireling, and careth not for the sheep.

14 I am that good shepherd, and know mine, and am known of mine.

15 As the Father ¹knoweth me, so know I the Father: and I lay down my life for my sheep.

16 ¹Other sheep I have also, which are not of this

9:34 ¹ Thou art naught even from the cradle, and as we use to say, there is nothing in thee but sin.

9:35 ¹ Most happy is their state, which are cast furthest out of the Church of the wicked (which proudly boast themselves of the name of the Church) that Christ may come never to them.

9:39 ¹ Christ doth lighten all them by the preaching of the Gospel, which acknowledge their own darkness, but such as seem to themselves to see clearly enough, those he altogether blindeth: of which sort are they oftentimes, which have the highest place in the Church.

² With great power and authority, to do what is righteous and just: as if he said, These men take upon them to govern the people of God after their own lusts, as though they saw all things, and no man but they: but I will rule far otherwise than these men do: for whom they account for blind men, them I will lighten, and such as take themselves to be wisest, them will I drown in most gross darkness of ignorance.

³ In these words (of seeing and not seeing) there is a secret taunting and check to the Pharisees: for they thought all men blind but themselves.

10:1 ¹ Seeing that by Christ only we have access to the Father, there are neither other true shepherds, than those which come to Christ themselves, and bring others thither also, neither is any to be thought the true sheepfold, but that which is gathered to Christ.

10:3 ¹ In those days they used to have a servant always sitting at the door, and therefore he speaketh after the manner of those days.

10:6 ¹ This word (parable) which the Evangelist useth here, signifieth a dark kind of speech, when words are taken from their natural meaning, to signify another thing to us.

10:8 ¹ It maketh no matter, how many, neither how old the false teachers there have been.

² These large terms must be applied to the matter he speaketh of. And therefore when he calleth himself the door, he calleth all them thieves and robbers which take upon them this name of Door, which none of the Prophets can, for they showed the sheep, that Christ was the door.

10:9 ¹ Only Christ is the true Pastor, and that only is the true Church, which acknowledgeth him to be properly their only Pastor: To him are opposite thieves which feed not the sheep, but kill them: and hirelings also, which forsake the flock in time of danger, because they feed it only for their own profit and gains.

² That is, shall live safely: so use the Jews to speak, as Deut. 26:6, and yet there is a peculiar alluding to the shepherd's office.

10:15 ¹ Loveth me, alloweth me.

10:16 ¹ The calling of the Gentiles.

fold: them also must I bring, and they shall hear my voice: and ^bthere shall be ²one sheepfold, and one shepherd.

17 ¹Therefore doth my Father love me, because ^{c2}I lay down my life, that I might take it again.

18 No man taketh it from me, but I lay it down of myself: I have power to lay it down, and have power to take it again: this ^dcommandment have I received of my Father.

19 ¶ ¹Then there was a dissension again among the Jews for these sayings.

20 And many of them said, He hath a devil, and is mad: why hear ye him?

21 Others said, These are not the words of him that hath a devil: can the devil open the eyes of the blind?

22 And it was at Jerusalem the feast of the ¹Dedication, and it was winter.

23 ¹And Jesus walked in the Temple, in Solomon's porch.

24 Then came the Jews round about him, and said unto him, How long dost thou make us to doubt? If thou be that Christ, tell us plainly.

25 ¹Jesus answered them, I told you, and ye believe not: the works that I do in my Father's Name, they bear witness of me.

26 ¹But ye believe not: ²for ye are not of my sheep, as I said unto you.

27 My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me,

28 And I give unto them eternal life, and they shall never perish, neither shall any pluck them out of mine hand.

29 My Father which gave them me, is greater than all, and none is able to take them out of my Father's hand.

30 I and my Father are one.

31 ^{c1}Then the Jews again took up stones, to stone him.

CHAPTER 11
Matt. 26:7

32 Jesus answered them, Many good works have I showed you from my ¹Father: for which of these works do ye stone me?

33 The Jews answered him, saying, For the good work we stone thee not, but for blasphemy, and that thou being a man, makest thyself God.

34 Jesus answered them, Is it not written in your Law, ^fI said, Ye are gods?

35 If he called them gods, unto whom the word of God was given, and the Scripture cannot be ¹broken, 36 Say ye of him, whom the Father hath sanctified, and sent into the world, Thou blasphemest, because I said, I am the Son of God?

37 If I do not the works of my Father, believe me not.

38 But if I do, then though ye believe not me, yet believe the works, that ye may know and believe, that the Father is in me, and I in him.

39 ¹Again they went about to take him: but he escaped out of their hands,

40 And went again beyond Jordan, into the place where John first baptized, and there abode.

41 And many resorted unto him, and said, John did no miracle: but all things that John spake of this man, were true.

42 And many believed in him there.

11 ¹ Christ, to show that he is, ²⁵ the life and the resurrection, ¹⁴ cometh to Lazarus being dead, ^{17, 34} and buried, ⁴³ and raiseth him up. ⁴⁷ As the Priests were consulting together, ⁴⁹ Caiaphas ⁵⁰ prophecieth that one must die for the people. ^{56, 57} They command to seek Christ out, and to take him.

1 And ^{1a} a certain man was sick, named Lazarus of Bethany, the ²town of Mary, and her sister Martha.

2 (And it was that ^aMary which anointed the Lord with ointment, and wiped his feet with her hair, whose brother Lazarus was sick.)

10:16 ² The certain mark of the Catholic Church throughout all the world, which hath one head, that is Christ, the only keeper and only shepherd of it.

10:17 ¹ Christ is by the decree of the Father, the only true shepherd of the true Church, for he willingly gave his life for his sheep, and by his own power rose again to life.

² He speaketh in the time that now is because Christ's whole life was as it were a perpetual death.

10:19 ¹ The Gospel discovereth hypocrisy, and therefore the world must needs rage when it cometh forth.

10:22 ¹ The feast of the Dedication was instituted by Judas Macca-beus and his brethren, after the restoring of God's true religion, by the casting out of Antiochus his garrison, 1 Macc. 4:59.

10:23 ¹ The unbelievers and proud men accuse the Gospel of dark-ness, which darkness indeed is within themselves.

10:25 ¹ The doctrine of the Gospel is proved from heaven by two witnesses: both by the purity of the doctrine, and by miracles.

10:26 ¹ It is no marvel that there do but a few believe, seeing that all men are by nature untamed beasts: yet notwithstanding God hath his, which he turneth into sheep, and commiteth them unto his Son, and preserveth them against the cruelty of all wild beasts.

² He giveth a reason why they believed not, to wit, because they are none of his sheep.

10:31 ¹ Christ proveth his dignity by divine works.

10:32 ¹ Through my Father's authority and power.

10:35 ¹ Void and of none effect.

10:39 ¹ Christ fleeth danger, not of mistrust, nor for fear of death, nor that he would be idle, but to gather a Church in another place.

11:1 ¹ Christ in restoring the stinking carcass of his friend to life, sheweth an example both of his mighty power, and also of his singular good will toward men: which is also an image of the resurrection to come.

² Where his sisters dwelt.

3 Therefore his sisters sent unto him, saying, Lord, behold, he whom thou lovest, is sick.

4 When Jesus heard it, he said, This sickness is not unto ¹death, but for the glory of God, that the Son of God might be glorified thereby.

5 ¶ Now Jesus loved Martha and her sister, and Lazarus.

6 ¹And after he had heard that he was sick, yet abode he two days still in the same place where he was.

7 Then after that, said he to his disciples, Let us go into Judea again.

8 ¹The disciples said unto him, Master, the Jews lately sought to ¹stone thee, and dost thou go thither again?

9 Jesus answered, Are there not ¹twelve hours in the day? If a man walk in the day, he stumbleth not, because he seeth the light of this world.

10 But if a man walk in the night, he stumbleth, because there is no light in him.

11 These things spake he, and after, he said unto them, Our friend Lazarus ¹sleepeth: but I go to wake him up.

12 Then said his disciples, Lord, if he sleep, he shall be safe.

13 Howbeit, Jesus spake of his death: but they thought that he had spoken of the natural sleep.

14 Then said Jesus unto them plainly, Lazarus is dead.

15 And I am glad for your sakes, that I was not there, that ye may believe: but let us go unto him.

16 Then said Thomas (which is called Didymus) unto his fellow disciples, Let us also go, that we may die with him.

17 ¶ Then came Jesus, and found that he had lain in the grave four days already.

18 (Now Bethany was near unto Jerusalem, about fifteen furlongs off.)

19 ¹And many of the Jews were come to Martha and Mary to comfort them for their brother.

20 Then Martha, when she heard that Jesus was coming, went to meet him: but Mary sat still in the house.

21 Then said Martha unto Jesus, Lord, if thou hadst been here, my brother had not been dead.

22 But now I know also, that whatsoever thou askest of God, God will give it thee.

^e John 9:6

23 Jesus said unto her, Thy brother shall ¹rise again.

24 Martha said unto him, I know that he shall rise again ¹in the resurrection at the last day.

25 Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection and the life: ¹he that believeth in me, though he were dead yet shall he live.

26 And whosoever liveth, and believeth in me, shall never die: Believest thou this?

27 She said unto him, Yea, Lord, I believe that thou art that Christ that Son of God, which should come into the world.

28 ¶ And when she had so said, she went her way, and called Mary her sister secretly, saying, The Master is come, and calleth for thee.

29 And when she heard it, she arose quickly, and came unto him.

30 For Jesus was not yet come into the town, but was in the place where Martha met him.

31 The Jews then which were with her in the house, and comforted her, when they saw Mary, that she rose up hastily, and went out, followed her, saying, She goeth unto the grave, to weep there.

32 Then when Mary was come where Jesus was, and saw him, she fell down at his feet, saying unto him, Lord, if thou hadst been here, my brother had not been dead.

33 ¹When Jesus therefore saw her weep, and the Jews also weep which came with her, he ²groaned in the spirit, and was troubled in himself, 34 And said, Where have ye laid him? They said unto him, Lord, come and see.

35 And Jesus wept.

36 Then said the Jews, behold, how he loved him.

37 And some of them said, ¹Could not he which opened the eyes of the blind, have made also, that this man should not have died?

38 Jesus therefore again groaned in himself, and came to the grave. And it was a cave, and a stone was laid upon it.

39 Jesus said, Take ye away the stone. Martha the sister of him that was dead, said unto him, Lord, he stinketh already for he hath been dead four days.

40 Jesus said unto her, Said I not unto thee, that if thou didst believe, thou shouldest see the glory of God?

41 Then they took away the stone from the place

11:4 ¹ That is to say, sent for the purpose to kill him.

11:6 ¹ In that, that God seemeth sometimes to linger in helping of us, he doeth it both for his glory, and for our salvation, as the falling out of the matter in the end, plainly proveth.

11:8 ¹ This only is the sure and right way to life, to follow God boldly without fear, who calleth us and shineth before us in the darkness of this world.

11:9 ¹ All things are fitly wrought and brought to pass in their season.

11:11 ¹ The Jews used a milder kind of speech, and called death a sleep, whereupon in other languages the place of burial where the dead are laid, waiting for the resurrection, is called a sleeping place.

11:19 ¹ God who is the maker of nature, doth not condemn natural affections, but sheweth that they ought to be examined by the rule of faith.

11:23 ¹ That is, shall recover life again.

11:33 ¹ Christ took upon him together with our flesh all affections of man (sin only excepted) and amongst them especially mercy and compassion.

² These are tokens that he was greatly moved, but yet they were without sin: and these affections are proper to man's nature.

where the dead was laid. And Jesus lifted up his eyes, and said, Father, I thank thee, because thou hast heard me.

42 I know that thou hearest me always, but because of the people that stand by, I said it, that they may believe, that thou hast sent me.

43 As he had spoken these things, he cried with a loud voice, Lazarus, come forth.

44 Then he that was dead, came forth, bound hand and foot with bands, and his face was bound with a napkin. Jesus said unto them, Loose him, and let him go.

45 ¶ Then many of the Jews, which came to Mary, and had seen the things, which Jesus did, believed in him.

46 ¹But some of them went their way to the Pharisees, and told them what things Jesus had done.

47 Then gathered the high Priests, and the Pharisees a ¹council, and said, What shall we do? For this man doeth many miracles.

48 If we let him thus alone, all men will believe in him, and the Romans will come and ¹take away both our place, and the nation.

49 ¹Then one of them named Caiaphas, which was the high Priest that same year, said unto them, Ye perceive nothing at all,

50 ¹Nor yet do you consider that it is expedient for us, that one man die for the people, and that the whole nation perish not.

51 ¹This spake he not of himself: but being high Priest that same year, he prophesied that Jesus should die for that nation:

52 And not for that nation only, but that he should gather together in one the children of God, which ¹were scattered.

53 Then from that day forth they consulted together, to put him to death.

54 ¹Jesus therefore walked no more openly among the Jews, but went thence unto a country near to the wilderness, into a city called Ephraim, and there

55 ¶ And the Jews' Passover was at hand, and many went out of the country up to Jerusalem before the Passover, to purify themselves.

56 Then sought they for Jesus, and spake among themselves, as they stood in the Temple, What think ye, that he cometh not to the feast?

57 Now both the high Priests and the Pharisees had given a commandment, that if any man knew where he were, he should show it, that they might take him.

12 ² As Christ is at supper with Lazarus, ³ Mary anointeth his feet. ⁵ Judas findeth fault with her. ⁷ Christ defendeth her. ¹⁰ The Priests would put Lazarus to death. ¹² As Christ cometh to Jerusalem. ¹⁸ The people meet him. ²² The Greeks desire to see him. ⁴² The chief rulers that believe in him, but for fear do not confess him, ⁴⁴ he exhorteth to faith.

1 Then ^aJesus, six days before the Passover, came to Bethany, where Lazarus was, who died, whom he had raised from the dead.

2 There they made him a supper, and Martha served: but Lazarus was one of them that sat at the table with him.

3 Then took Mary a pound of ointment of Spikenard very costly, and anointed Jesus' feet, and wiped his feet with her hair, and the house was filled with the savor of the ointment.

4 Then said one of his disciples, even Judas Iscariot, Simon's son, which should betray him:

5 ¹Why was not this ointment sold for three hundred pence, and given to the poor?

6 Now he said thus, not that he cared for the poor, but because he was a thief, and ^bhad the bag, and bore that which was given.

7 ¹Then said Jesus, Let her alone: against the day of my burying she kept it.

8 For the poor always ye have with you, but me ye shall not have always.

11:46 ¹ The last point of hard and iron-like stubbornness is this, to proclaim open war against God, and yet ceaseth not to make a presence both of godliness and of the profit of the commonwealth.

11:47 ¹ The Jews called the council Sanhedrin: and the word that John useth is Synedri.

11:48 ¹ That is, take away from us by force: for at that time, though the high Priest's authority was greatly lessened and decayed, yet there was some kind of government left among the Jews.

11:49 ¹ The raging and mad company of the false Church, persuade themselves that they cannot be in safety, unless he is taken away, who only upholdeth the Church: And so likewise judgeth the wisdom of the flesh in worldly affairs, which is governed by the spirit of giddiness or madness.

11:51 ¹ Christ doth sometimes so turn the tongues, even of the wicked, that in cursing, they bless.

11:52 ¹ For they were not gathered together in one country, as the Jews were, but to be gathered from all quarters, from the East to the West.

11:54 ¹ We may give place to the rage of the wicked, when it is expedient so to do, but yet in such sort, that we swerve not from God's vocation.

12:5 ¹ An horrible example in Judas of a mind blinded with covetousness, and yet pretending godliness.

12:7 ¹ This Extraordinary anointing, which was for a sign, is so allowed of God, that he witnesseth how he will not be worshipped with outward pomp, or costly service, but with alms.

12:9 ¹ When the light of the Gospel sheweth itself, some are found to be curious, and others (which left ought) to be open enemies: others in a rage honor him, whom they will straightway fall from: and very few do so reverently receive him as they ought: Notwithstanding Christ beginneth his spiritual kingdom in the midst of his enemies.

9 ¹Then much people of the Jews knew that he was there: and they came, not for Jesus' sake only, but that they might see Lazarus also, whom he had raised from the dead.

10 The high Priests therefore consulted, that they might put Lazarus to death also,

11 because that for his sake many of the Jews went away, and believed in Jesus.

12 ¶ On the morrow a great multitude that were come to the feast, when they heard that Jesus should come to Jerusalem, 13 Took branches of palm trees, and went forth to meet him, and cried, Hosanna, Blessed is the King of Israel that cometh in the Name of the Lord.

14 And Jesus found a young ass, and sat thereon, as it is written,

15 ^dFear not, daughter of Zion: behold, thy King cometh sitting on an ass's colt.

16 But his disciples understood not these things at the first: but when Jesus was glorified, then remembered they, that these things were written of him, and that they had done these things unto him.

17 The people therefore that was with him, bare witness that he called Lazarus out of the grave and raised him from the dead.

18 Therefore met him the people also, because they heard that he had done this miracle.

19 ¹And the Pharisees said among themselves, Perceive ye how ye prevail nothing? Behold, the world goeth after him.

20 ¶ Now there were certain Greeks among them that ¹came up to worship at the feast.

21 And they came to Philip, which was of Bethsaida in Galilee, and desired him, saying, Sir, we would see that Jesus.

22 Philip came and told Andrew: and again Andrew and Philip told Jesus.

23 And Jesus answered them, saying, The hour is come, that the Son of man must be glorified.

corn fall into the ground and ²die, it abideth alone: but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit.

25 ¹He that loveth his life, shall lose it, and he that hateth his life in this world, shall keep it unto life eternal.

26 ¹If any man serve me, let him follow me: for where I am, there shall my servant be: and if any man serve me, him will my father honor.

27 ¹Now is my soul troubled: and what shall I say? Father, save me from this ²hour: but therefore came I unto this hour.

28 Father, ¹glorify thy Name. Then came there a voice from heaven, saying, I have both glorified it, and will glorify it again.

29 Then said the people that stood by, and heard, that it was a thunder: others said, An Angel spake to him.

30 ¹Jesus answered, and said, This voice came not because of me, but for your sakes.

31 Now is the judgment of this world: now shall the prince of this world be cast out.

32 ^gAnd I, if I were ¹lift up from the earth, will draw ²all men unto me.

33 Now this said he, signifying what death he should die.

34 The people answered him, We have heard out of the ^hLaw, that that Christ bideth forever: and how sayest thou, that that Son of man must be lift up? Who is that Son of man?

35 ¹Then Jesus said unto them, Yet a little while is ⁱthe light with you: walk while ye have that light, lest the darkness come upon you: for he that walketh in the dark, knoweth not whither he goeth.

36 While ye have that light, believe in that light, that ye may be the ¹children of the light. These things spake Jesus, and departed, and hid himself from them.

37 ¶ ¹And though he had done so many miracles before them, yet believed they not on him,

12:19 ¹ Even they which go about to oppress Christ, are made instruments of his glory.

12:20 ¹ After the solemn custom: the Greeks were first so called by the name of the country of Greece, where they dwelt: but afterward, all that were not of the Jew's religion, but worshipped false gods, and were also called Heathens, were called by this name.

12:24 ¹ The death of Christ is as it were a sowing, which seemeth to be a dying to the corn, but indeed is the cause of a far greater harvest: and such as is the condition of the head, so shall it be of the members.

² A wheat corn dieth when it is changed by virtue of the ground, and becometh a root of a fruitful blade.

12:27 ¹ Whilst Christ went about to suffer all the punishment which is due to our sins, and whilst his divinity did not yet show his might and power so far as this satisfaction might thoroughly wrought, now when he is stricken with the great fear of the curse of God, he crieth out and prayeth, and desireth to be released:

yet notwithstanding he preferreth the will and glory of his Father before all things, whose obedience the Father alloweth even from heaven.

² To wit, of death that is now at hand.

12:28 ¹ So then the Father's glory is Christ's glory.

12:30 ¹ Christ foretelleth to the deaf, the manner of his death, the overcoming of the devil and the world, and in conclusion his triumph.

12:32 ¹ Christ used a word, which hath a double meaning: for it signifieth either to lift up, or to rid out of the way, for his meaning was to put them in mind of his death, but the Jews seem to take it another way.

² Chrysostom and Theophylact refer this word, All, to all nations: that is, not to the Jews only.

12:35 ¹ Unmeasurable is the mercy of God, but an horrible judgment followed, if it be contemned.

12:36 ¹ That is, partakers of light.

12:37 ¹ Faith is not of nature, but of grace.

fulfilled, that he said, ¹Lord, who believed our report? and to whom is the ¹arm of the Lord revealed?

39 Therefore could they not believe, because that Isaiah saith again,

40 ¹He hath blinded their eyes, and hardened their heart, that they should not see with their eyes, nor understand with their heart, and should be converted, and I should heal them.

41 These things said Isaiah when he saw his glory, and spake of him.

42 ¹Nevertheless, even among the chief rulers, many believed in him: but because of the Pharisees they did not confess him, lest they should be cast out of the Synagogue.

43 ¹For they loved the praise of men, more than the praise of God.

44 ¹And Jesus cried, and said, He that believeth in me, believeth ²not in me, but in him that sent me.

45 And he that seeth me, seeth him that sent me.

46 I ^mam come a light into the world, that whosoever believeth in me, should not abide in darkness.

47 ^aAnd if any man hear my words, and believe not, I judge him not: for I came not to judge the world, but to save the world.

48 He that refuseth me, and receiveth not my words, hath one that judgeth him: ^othe word that I have spoken, it shall judge him in the last day.

49 For I have not spoken of myself: but the father which sent me, he gave me a commandment what I should say, and what I should speak.

50 And I know that his commandment is life everlasting: the things therefore that I speak, I speak them so as the Father said unto me.

depart out of this world unto the Father, forasmuch as he loved his ²own which were in the world, unto the end he loved them.

2 And when supper was done (and that the devil had now put in the heart of Judas Iscariot, Simon's son, to betray him.)

3 Jesus knowing that the Father had given all things into his ¹hands, and that he was come forth from God, and went to God,

4 He ¹riseth from Supper, and layeth aside his upper garments, and took a towel, and girded himself.

5 After that, he poured water into a basin, and began to wash the disciples' feet, and to wipe them with the towel, wherewith he was girded.

6 Then came he to Simon Peter, who said to him, Lord, dost thou wash my feet?

7 Jesus answered and said unto him, What I do, thou knowest not now: but thou shalt know it hereafter.

8 Peter said unto him, Thou shalt never wash my feet. Jesus answered him, If I wash thee not, thou shalt have ¹no part with me.

9 Simon Peter said unto him, Lord, not my feet only, but also the hands and the head.

10 Jesus said to him, He that is washed, needeth not, save to wash his feet, but is clean every whit: and ye are ^bclean, but not all.

11 For he knew who should betray him: therefore said he, Ye are not all clean.

12 ¶ So after he had washed their feet, and had taken his garments, and was set down again, he said unto them, Know ye what I have done to you?

13 Ye call me Master, and Lord, and ye say well: for so am I.

14 If I then your Lord, and Master, have washed your feet, ye also ought to wash one another's feet.

15 For I have given you an example, that ye should do, even as I have done to you.

16 Verily, verily I say unto you, ^cThe servant is not greater than his master, neither the ¹ambassador

12:38 ¹ The arm of the Lord, is the Gospel, which is the power of God to salvation to all that believe: And therefore the arm of the Lord is not revealed to them, whose hearts the Lord hath not opened.

12:42 ¹ Such as believe, are not only few in number, if they be compared with the unbelievers, but also the most of those few (yea and that especially the chiefest) do fear men more than God.

12:44 ¹ The sum of the Gospel, and therefore of salvation, which Christ witnessed in the midst of Jerusalem, by his crying out, is this: to rest upon Christ through faith, as the only Savior appointed and given us of the Father.

² This word Not, doth not take any whit of this from Christ which is here spoken of, but is in way of correction rather, as if he said, He that believeth in me, doth not so much believe in me, as in him that sent me. So is it in Mark 9:37.

13:1 ¹ Christ no less certain of the victory, than of the combat which was at hand, using the sign of washing the feet, doth partly thereby give an example of singular modesty, and his great love toward his Apostles in this notable act, being like very shortly to depart from them: and partly witnesseth unto them, that it is he only which washeth away the filth of his people, and that by little and little, in their time and season.

² Them of his household, that is, his Saints.

13:3 ¹ Into his power.

13:4 ¹ In that he is said to rise, it argueth that there was a space between the ceremonies of the Passover, and this washing of feet, at what time it seemeth that the Supper was instituted.

13:8 ¹ Unless thou suffer me to wash thee, thou shalt have no part in the kingdom of heaven.

13:16 ¹ The word signifieth an Apostle which is anyone that is sent from another.

greater than he that sent him.

17 If ye know these things, blessed are ye if ye do them.

18 ¶ I speak not of you all: I know whom I have chosen: but it is that the Scripture might be fulfilled, ^dHe that eateth bread with me, hath lift up his heel against me.

19 From henceforth tell I you before it come, that when it is come to pass, ye might believe that I am he.

20 ^eVerily, verily I say unto you, If I send any, he that receiveth him, receiveth me, and he that receiveth me, receiveth him that sent me.

21 When Jesus had said these things, he was troubled in the Spirit, and ¹testified, and said, Verily, verily I say unto you, that one of you shall betray me.

22 ^fThen the disciples looked one on another, doubting of whom he spake.

23 Now there was one of his disciples, which ¹leaned on Jesus' bosom, whom Jesus loved.

24 To him beckoned therefore Simon Peter, that he should ask who it was of whom he spake.

25 He then as he leaned on Jesus' breast, said unto him, Lord, who is it?

26 Jesus answered, He it is, to whom I shall give a sop, when I have dipped it: and he wet a sop, and gave it to Judas Iscariot, Simon's son.

27 And after the sop, Satan entered into him. Then said Jesus unto him, That thou doest, do quickly.

28 But none of them that were at table, knew, for what cause he spake it unto him.

29 For some of them thought because Judas had the bag, that Jesus had said unto him, Buy those things that we have need of against the feast: or that he should give something to the poor.

30 As soon then as he had received the sop, he went immediately out, and it was night.

31 ¶ ¹When he was gone out, Jesus said, ²Now is the 34 ^kA new commandment give I unto you, that ye love one another: as I have loved you, that ye also love one another.

37 Peter said unto him, Lord, why can I not follow thee now? I will lay down my life for thy sake.

38 Jesus answered him, Wilt thou lay down thy life for my sake? Verily, verily I say unto thee, The cock shall not crow, till thou have denied me thrice.

3 ¹And if I go to prepare a place for you, I will ²come again, and receive you unto myself, that where I am, there may ye be also.

4 ¹And whither I go, ye know, and the way ye know.

5 Thomas said unto him, Lord, we know not whither thou goest: how can we then know the way?

6 Jesus said unto him, I am ¹that Way, and that

13:18 ¹ The betraying of Christ was not casual, or a thing that happened by chance, but the Father so ordained the cause of our salvation, to reconcile us unto himself in his Son, and the Son did willingly and voluntarily obey the Father.

13:21 ¹ He affirmed it openly, and sealed it.

13:23 ¹ John's leaning was such, that sitting down in his bed, his head was toward Jesus' head: so that it was an easy matter for him to touch Jesus' bosom: for it is certain that in old time men used not to sit at the table, but to lie down: on the one side.

13:31 ¹ We have to consider the glorifying of Christ in his ignominy. ² This verse and the next following, are a most plain and evident testimony of the divinity of Christ.

13:33 ¹ The eternal glory shall flow by little and little from the head into the members. But in the meantime, we must take good heed that we pass over the race of this life in brotherly love.

13:36 ¹ An heavy example of rash trust and confidence.

14:1 ¹ He believeth in God that believeth in Christ, and there is no other way to confirm our minds in greatest distresses.

14:2 ¹ That is, if it were not so as I tell you, to wit, unless there were place enough not only for me, but for you also in my father's house, I would not thus deceive you with a vain hope, but I would have told you so plainly.

² All the speech is by way of an allegory, whereby the Lord comforteth his own, declaring unto them his departure into heaven, which is, not to reign there alone, but to go before, and prepare a place for them.

14:3 ¹ Christ went not away from us: to the end to forsake us, but rather that he might at length take us up with him into heaven.

² These words are to be referred to the whole Church, and therefore the Angels said to the disciples when they were astonished, What stand ye gazing up into heaven? This Jesus shall so come as you saw him go up, Acts 1:11, and in all places of the Scripture, the full comfort of the Church is referred to that day when God shall be all in all, and is therefore called the day of redemption.

14:4 ¹ Christ only is the way to true and everlasting life, for he it is in whom the Father hath revealed himself.

14:6 ¹ This saying sheweth unto us both the nature, the will and office of Christ.

Truth, and that Life. No man cometh unto the Father, but by me.

7 ¹If ye had known me, ye should have known my Father also: and from henceforth ye know him, and have seen him.

8 Philip said unto him, Lord, show us thy Father, and it sufficeth us.

9 Jesus said unto him, I have been so long time with you, and hast thou not known me, Philip? he that hath seen me, hath seen my Father: how then sayest thou, Show us thy Father?

10 ¹Believest thou not, that I am in the Father, and the Father is in me? The words that I speak unto you, I speak not of myself: but the Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works.

11 Believe me, that I am in the Father, and the Father is in me: at the least, believe me for the very works' sake.

12 ¹Verily, verily I say unto you, he that believeth in me, the works that I do, he shall do also, and ²greater than these shall he do: for I go unto my Father.

13 ^aAnd whatsoever ye ask in my Name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son.

14 If ye shall ask anything in my Name, I will do it.

17 Even the ¹Spirit of truth, whom the ²world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him: for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you.

18 I will not leave you fatherless: but I will come to you.

no more, but ye shall see me: because I live, ye shall live also.

20 At that day shall ye know that I am ¹in my Father, and you in me, and I in you.

21 He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them: is he that loveth me: and he that loveth me, shall be loved of my Father: and I will love him, and will ¹show mine own self to him.

22 ¹Judas said unto him, (not Iscariot) Lord, what is the cause that thou wilt show thyself unto us, and not unto the world?

23 Jesus answered, and said unto him, If any man love me, he will keep my word, and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and will dwell with him.

24 He that loveth me not, keepeth not my words, and the word which ye hear, is not mine, but the Father's which sent me.

25 ¹These things have I spoken unto you, being present with you.

26 ^bBut the Comforter, which is the holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my Name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, which I have told you.

27 ¹Peace I leave with you: my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, nor fear.

28 ¹Ye have heard how I said unto you, I go away, and will come unto you. If ye loved me, ye would verily rejoice, because I said, I go unto the Father: for the Father ²is greater than I.

29 And now have I spoken unto you, before it come, that when it is come to pass, ye might believe.

30 ¹Hereafter will I not speak many things unto you: for the prince of this world cometh, and hath 14:7 ¹ It is plain by this place, that to know God, and to see God, is all one: Now whereas he said before, that no man saw God at any time, that it is to be understood thus, without Christ: or were it not through Christ, no man could ever see, nor saw God at any time: for as Chrysostom saith, the Son is a very short and easy setting forth of the father's nature unto us.

14:10 ¹ The majesty of God sheweth itself most evidently, both in Christ's doctrine and deeds.

14:12 ¹ The approving of the virtue of Christ is not included within his own person, but it is spread through the body of his whole Church.

² That is, not I only do them, but I can also give other men power to do greater.

14:15 ¹ He loveth Christ aright, which obeyeth his commandments: and because the same is accompanied with an infinite sort of miseries, although he be absent in body, yet doth he comfort his with the present virtue of the holy Ghost, whom the world despiseth, because it knoweth him not.

14:17 ¹ The holy Ghost is called the Spirit of truth, of the effect which he worketh, because he inspirieth the truth into us, whereas otherwise he hath truth in himself.

² Worldly men.

14:20 ¹ The Son is in the Father after such sort, that he is of one self-same substance with the Father, but he is in his disciples in a certain respect as an aider and helper of them.

14:21 ¹ I will show myself to him, and be known of him, as if he saw me with his eyes: but this showing of himself is not bodily, but spiritually, yet so plain as none can be more.

14:22 ¹ We must not ask why the Gospel is revealed to some rather than to others, but we must rather take heed, that we embrace Christ who is offered unto us, and that we truly love him, that is to say, that we give ourselves wholly to his obedience.

14:25 ¹ It is the office of the holy Ghost to imprint in the midst of the elect in their times and seasons, that which Christ once spake.

14:27 ¹ All true felicity cometh to us by Christ alone.

14:28 ¹ So far is it, that we should be sorry for the departing of Christ, from us according to the flesh, that we should rather rejoice for it, seeing that all the blessing of the members dependeth upon the glorifying of the head.

² This is spoken in that, that he is Mediator, for so the Father is greater than he, inasmuch as the person to whom request is made, is greater than he that maketh the request.

14:30 ¹ Christ goeth to death not unwillingly, but willingly, not as yielding to the devil, but obeying his Father's decree.

²nought in me,

31 But it is that the world may know that I love my Father: and as the Father hath commanded me, so I do. Arise, let us go hence.

15 1 By the parable of the vine, 2 and the branches, 5, 6 he declareth how the disciples may bear fruit. 12, 17 He commendeth mutual love. 18 He exhorteth them to bear afflictions patiently, 20 by his own example.

1 I ¹am that true vine, and my Father is that husbandman.

2 ^aEvery branch that beareth not fruit in me, he taketh away: and everyone that beareth fruit, he purgeth it, that it may bring forth more fruit.

3 ^bNow are ye clean through the word, which I have spoken unto you.

4 Abide in me, and I in you: as the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine, no more can ye, except ye abide in me.

5 I am that vine: ye are the branches: he that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit: for without me can ye do nothing.

6 ^cIf a man abide not in me, he is cast forth as a branch, and withereth: and men gather them, and cast them into the fire, and they burn.

7 ^{d,1}If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ask what ye will, and it shall be done to you.

8 ¹Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit, and be made my disciples.

9 ¹As the father hath loved me, so have I loved you: ²continue in that my love.

10 If ye shall keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love, as I have kept my Father's commandments, and abide in his love.

11 These things have I spoken unto you, that my joy might remain in you, and that your joy might 12 ^cThis is my commandment, that ye love one another, as I have loved you.

13 Greater love than this hath no man, when any man bestoweth his life for his friends.

14 Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you.

15 ¹Henceforth call I you not servants: for the servant knoweth not what his master doeth: but I have called you friends: for all things that I have heard of my Father, have I made known to you.

16 ¹Ye ²have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, ³that ye go and bring forth fruits, and that your fruit remain, that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my Name, he may give it you.

17 These things command I you, that ye love one another.

18 ¹If the world hate you, ye know that it hated me before you.

19 If ye were of the world, the world would love his own: but because ye are not of the world, but I have chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you.

20 Remember the word that I said unto you, ^gThe servant is not greater than his master. ^hIf they have persecuted me, they will persecute you also: if they have kept my word, they will also keep yours.

21 ¹But ²all these things will they do unto you for my Name's sake, because they have not known him that sent me.

22 ¹If I had not come and spoken unto them, they should not have had sin: but now have they no cloak for their sin.

23 He that hateth me, hateth my Father also.

24 If I had not done works among them which none other man did, they had not had sin: but now have they both seen, and have hated both me, and

² As who would say, Satan will by and by set upon me with all the might he can, but he hath no power over me, neither shall he find any such thing in me as he thinketh he shall.

15:1 ¹ We are of nature dry and fit for nothing but the fire: Therefore that we may live and be fruitful, we must first be grafted into Christ, as it were into a vine by the Father's hand: and then be daily shred with a continual meditation of the word and the cross; otherwise it shall not avail any man at all to have been grafted, unless he cleave fast unto the vine, and so draw juice out of it.

15:7 ¹ He abideth in Christ, which resteth in his doctrine, and therefore bringeth forth good fruit: And the Father will deny such an one nothing.

15:8 ¹ As who would say, Herein shall my Father be glorified, and herein also shall you be my disciples, if you bring forth much fruit.

15:9 ¹ The love of the Father towards the Son, and of the Son towards us, and ours towards God and our neighbor, are joined together with an inseparable knot: and there is nothing more sweet and pleasant than it is. Now this love sheweth itself by its effects: a most perfect example whereof, Christ himself exhibited unto us.

² That is, in that love, wherewith I love you: which love is on both parts.

15:15 ¹ The doctrine of the Gospel (as it is uttered by Christ's own mouth) is a most perfect and absolute declaration of the counsel of God, which pertaineth to our salvation, and is committed unto the Apostles.

15:16 ¹ Christ is the author and preserver of the ministry of the Gospel, even to the world's end, but the ministers have above all things need of prayer and brotherly love.

² This place teacheth us plainly, that our salvation cometh from the only favor and gracious goodness of the everlasting God towards us, and of nothing that we do or can deserve.

15:18 ¹ It ought not only not to fear, but rather confirm the faithful ministers of Christ, when they shall be hated of the world as their Master was.

15:21 ¹ The hatred that the world beareth against Christ, proceedeth of the blockishness of the mind, which notwithstanding is voluntary blind, so that the world can pretend no excuse to cover their fault.

15:22 ¹ As who would say, If I had not come, these men would not have stuck to have said still before God's judgment seat, that they are religious, and void of sin: but seeing I came to them, and they clean refuse me, they can have no cloak for their wickedness.

my Father.
25 But it is that the word might be fulfilled, that is written in their ¹Law,^jThey hated me without a cause.
26 ¹But when that Comforter shall come, ^kwhom I will send unto you from the Father, even the Spirit of truth, which proceedeth of the Father, he shall testify of me.
27 And ye shall witness also, because ye have been with me from the beginning.

16 ¹He foretelleth the disciples of persecution. ⁷He promiseth the Comforter, and declareth his office. ²¹He compareth the affliction of his, to a woman that travaileth with child.

1 These ¹things have I said unto you, that ye should not be offended.
2 They shall excommunicate you: yea the time shall come, that whosoever killeth you, will think that he doeth God service.
3 And these things will they do unto you, because they have not known the Father, nor me.
4 ¹But these things have I told you, that when the hour shall come, ye might remember, that I told you them. And these things said I not unto you from the beginning, because I was with you.
5 But now I go my way to him that sent me, and none of you asketh me, Whither goest thou?
6 But because I have said these things unto you, your hearts are full of sorrow.
7 ¹Yet I tell you the truth, It is expedient for you that I go away: for if I go not away, that Comforter will not come unto you: but if I depart, I will send him unto you,

CHAPTER 16
^aJohn 15:21

8 ¹And when he is come, he will ²reprove the ³world of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment.
9 Of sin, because they believed not in me:
10 Of ¹righteousness, because I go to my Father, and ye shall see me no more.
11 Of ¹judgment, ²because the prince of this world is judged.
12 ¹I have yet many things to say unto you, but ye cannot bear them now.
13 Howbeit, when he is come which is the spirit of truth, he will lead you into all truth: for he shall not speak of himself, but whatsoever he shall hear, shall he speak, and he will show you the things to come.
14 ¹He shall glorify me: for he shall receive of mine, and shall show it unto you.
15 All things that the Father hath, are mine: therefore said I, that he shall take of mine, and show it unto you.
16 ¹A ²little while, and ye shall not see me: and again a little while, and ye shall see me: ³for I go to the Father.
17 Then said some of his disciples among themselves, What is this that he saith unto us, A little while, and ye shall not see me, and again a little while, and ye shall see me, and, For I go to the Father.
18 They said therefore, What is this that he saith, A little while? we know not what he saith.
19 Now Jesus knew that they would ask him, and said unto them, Do ye inquire among yourselves, of that I said, A little while, and ye shall not see me: and again, a little while, and ye shall see me?
20 Verily, verily I say unto you, that ye shall weep and lament, and the world shall rejoice, and ye shall 15:25 ¹ Sometime by this word, Law, are meant the five books of Moses, but in this place, the whole Scripture: for the place alleged is in the Psalms.

15:26 ¹ Against the rage of the wicked, we shall stand surely by the inward testimony of the holy Ghost: But the holy Ghost speaketh no otherwise, than he spake by the mouth of the Apostles.
16:1 ¹ The ministers of the Gospel must look for all manner of reproaches, not only of them which are open enemies, but even of them also which seem to be of the same household, and the very pillars of the Church.
16:7 ¹ The absence of Christ, according to the flesh, is profitable to the Church, that we may wholly depend upon his spiritual power.
16:8 ¹ The Spirit of God worketh so mightily by the preaching of the word, that he constraineth the world, will it, nill it, to confess its own unrighteousness, and Christ's righteousness and almightiness.
² He will so reprove the world, that the worldlings shall be able to present no excuse.
³ He respecteth the time that followed his ascension, when as all gainsayers were manifestly reprov'd through the pouring out of the holy Ghost upon the Church: So that the very enemies of Christ were reprov'd of sin, in that they were constrained to confess that they were deceived, in that they believed not, and therefore they said to Peter, Acts 2, Men and brethren, what shall we do?
16:10 ¹ Of Christ himself: For when the world shall see, that I have poured out the holy Ghost, they shall be constrained to confess that I was just, and was not condemned of my Father, when I went out of this world.

16:11 ¹ Of that authority and power, which I have both in heaven and earth.
² That is, because they shall then understand and know indeed, that I have overcome the devil, and do govern the world, when all men shall see, that they set themselves against you in vain, for I will arm you with that heavenly power, whereby you may destroy every high thing which is lifted up against the knowledge of God, 2 Cor. 10:12.
16:12 ¹ The doctrine of the Apostles proceeded from the holy Ghost, and is most perfect.
16:14 ¹ The holy Ghost bringeth no new doctrine, but teacheth that which was uttered by Christ's own mouth, and imprinteth it in our minds.
16:16 ¹ The grace of the holy Ghost is a most lively glass, wherein Christ is truly beholden with the most sharpsighted eyes of faith, and not with the bleared eyes of the flesh: whereby we feel a continual joy even in the midst of sorrows.
² When a little time is once past.
³ For I pass to eternal glory, so that I shall be much more present with you, than I was before: for then you shall feel indeed what I am, and what I am able to do.

sorrow, but your sorrow shall be turned to joy.

21 A woman when she travaileth hath sorrow because her hour is come: but as soon as she is delivered of the child, she remembereth no more the anguish, for joy that a man is born into the world.

22 And ye now therefore are in sorrow: but I will see you again, and your hearts shall rejoice, and your joy shall no man take from you.

23 And in that day shall ye ask me nothing.^b Verily, verily I say unto you, whatsoever ye shall ask the Father in my Name, he will give it you.

24 Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my Name: ask, and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full.

25 ¹These things have I spoken unto you in parables: but the time will come, when I shall no more speak to you in parables: but I shall show you plainly of the Father.

26 ¹At that day shall ye ask in my Name, and I say not unto you, that I will pray unto the Father for you:

27 For the Father himself loveth you, because ye have loved me, and have believed that I came out from God.

28 I am come out from the Father, and came into the world: again I leave the world, and go to the Father.

29 ¹His disciples said unto him, Lo, now speakest thou plainly, and thou speakest no parable.

30 Now know we that thou knowest all things, and needest not that any man should ask thee. By this we believe, that thou art come out from God.

31 Jesus answered them, Do you believe now?

32 ^{a,1}Behold, the hour cometh, and is already come, that ye shall be scattered every man into his own, and shall leave me alone: But I am not alone:

for the Father is with me.

33 ¹These things have I spoken unto you, that ²in me ye might have peace: in the world ye shall have affliction, but be of good comfort: I have overcome the world.

17 ¹ Christ prayeth that his glory together with his Father's may be made manifest. 9 He prayeth for his Apostles, 20 and for all believers.

1 These ¹things spake Jesus, and lift up his eyes to heaven, and said, ²Father, that hour is come: glorify thy Son, that thy Son also may glorify thee,

2 "As thou hast given him power over ¹all flesh, that he should give eternal life to all them that thou hast given him.

3 And this is life eternal, that they know thee to be the ¹only very God, and whom thou hast sent, Jesus Christ.

4 I have glorified thee on the earth: I have finished the work which thou gavest me to do.

5 And now glorify me, thou Father, with thine own self, with the glory which I had with thee before the world was.

6 ¹I have declared thy Name unto the men which thou gavest me out of the world: ²thine they were, and thou ³gavest them me, and they have kept thy word.

7 ¹Now they know that all things whatsoever thou hast given me, are of thee.

8 For I have given unto them the words which thou gavest me, and they have received them, and have known surely that I came out from thee, and have believed that thou hast sent me.

9 I pray for them: I pray not for the world, but for them which thou hast given me: for they are thine.

16:25 ¹ The holy Ghost which was poured upon the Apostles after the Ascension of Christ, instructed both them in all chiefest mysteries and secrets of our salvation, and also by them the Church, and will also instruct it to the end of the world.

16:26 ¹ The sum of the worship of God, is the invocation of the Father in the Name of the Son the Mediator, who is already heard for us, for whom he hath abased himself, and is now also glorified.

16:29 ¹ Faith and foolish security differ very much.

16:32 ¹ Neither the wickedness of the world, neither the weakness of his own can diminish anything of the virtue of Christ.

16:33 ¹ The surety and stay of the Church dependeth only upon the victory of Christ.

² That in me you might be thoroughly quieted. For by (peace) is meant in this place, that quiet state of mind, which is clean contrary to disquietness and heaviness.

17:1 ¹ Jesus Christ the everlasting high Priest being ready straightway to offer up himself, doth by solemn prayers consecrate himself to God the Father as a sacrifice: and us together with himself. Therefore this prayer was from the beginning, is, and shall be to the end of the world, the foundation and ground of the Church of God.

² He first declareth, that as he came into the world to the end that the Father might show in him, being apprehended by faith, his glory in saving his elect, so he applied himself to that only: and therefore desireth of the Father, that he would bless the work which he hath finished.

17:2 ¹ Over all men.

17:3 ¹ He calleth the Father the only very God, to set him against all false gods, and not to shut out himself and the holy Ghost, For straightway he joineeth the knowledge of the Father and the knowledge of himself together, and according to his accustomed manner, setteth forth the whole Godhead in the person of the father: So is the Father alone said to be King, immortal, wise, and dwelling in the light which no man can attain unto, invisible, Rom. 16:17; 1 Tim. 1:17.

17:6 ¹ First of all he prayeth for those his disciples, by whom he would have the rest to be gathered together, commendeth them unto the Father, (having once rejected the whole company of the reprobate) because he received them of him into his custody, and for that they embracing his doctrine, shall have so many and so mighty enemies, that there is no way for them to be in safety, but by his help only.

² He sheweth hereby that everlasting election and choice, which was hidden in the good will and pleasure of God, which is the groundwork of our salvation.

³ He sheweth how the everlasting and hidden purpose of God is declared in Christ, by whom we are justified and sanctified, if we lay hold of him by faith, that at length we may come to the glory of the election.

10 And all mine are thine, and thine are mine, and I am glorified in them.

11 And now am I no more in the world, but these are in the world, and I come to thee. Holy Father, keep them in thy Name, even them whom thou hast given me, that they may be ¹one as we are.

12 While I was with them in the world, I kept them in thy Name: those that thou gavest me, have I kept, and none of them is lost, but the child of perdition, that the ^cScripture might be fulfilled.

13 And now come I to thee, and these things speak I in the world, that they might have my joy fulfilled in themselves.

14 I have given them thy word, and the world hath hated them, because they are not of the world, as I am not of the world.

15 ¹I pray not that thou shouldest take them out of the world, but that thou keep them from evil.

16 They are not of the world, as I am not of the world.

17 ¹Sanctify them with thy truth: thy word is truth.

18 ¹As thou didst send me into the world, so have I sent them into the world.

19 And for their sakes sanctify I myself, that they also may be sanctified through the ¹truth.

20 ¹I pray not for these alone, but for them also which shall believe in me, through their word, 21 That they all may be one, as thou, O Father, art in me, and I in thee: even that they may be also one in us, that the world may believe that thou hast sent me.

22 And the glory that thou gavest me, I have given them, that they may be one, as we are one,

23 I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one, and that the world may know that thou hast sent me, and hast loved them as thou hast loved me.

24 ⁴Father, I will that they which thou hast given me, be with me even where I am, that they may behold that my glory, which thou hast given me: for thou

25 O righteous Father, the world also hath not known thee, but I have known thee, and these have known, that thou hast sent me.

26 ¹And I have declared unto them thy Name, and will declare it, that the love wherewith thou hast loved me, may be in them, and I in them.

18 By Christ's power, whom Judas betrayeth, 6 the soldiers are cast down to the ground. 13 Christ is led to Annas, and from him to Caiaphas. 22, 23 His answer to the officer that smote him with a rod. 28 Being delivered to Pilate, 36 he declareth his kingdom.

1 When ¹Jesus had spoken these things, he went forth with his disciples over the brook ^aKidron, where was a garden, into the which he entered, and his disciples.

2 And Judas which betrayed him knew also the place: for Jesus oftentimes resorted thither with his disciples.

3 ^{b,1}Judas then, after he had received a band of men and officers of the high Priests, and of the Pharisees, came thither with lanterns and torches, and weapons.

4 ¹Then Jesus, knowing all things that should come unto him, went forth and said unto them, Whom seek ye?

5 They answered him, Jesus of Nazareth. Jesus said unto them, I am he. Now Judas also which betrayed him, stood with them.

6 As soon then as he had said unto them, I am he, they went away backwards, and fell to the ground.

7 Then he asked them again, Whom seek ye? And they said, Jesus of Nazareth.

8 ¹Jesus answered, I said unto you, that I am he: therefore if ye seek me, let these go their way.

9 This was that the word might be fulfilled which he spake, ^cOf them which thou gavest me, have I lost none.

17:11 ¹ He prayeth that his people may peaceably agree and be joined together in one, that as the Godhead is one, so they may be of one mind and one consent together.

17:15 ¹ He sheweth what manner of deliverance he meaneth: not that they should be in no danger, but that they being preserved from all, might prove by experience that the doctrine of salvation is true, which they received at his mouth to deliver to others.

17:17 ¹ That is, make them holy: and that is said to be holy, which is dedicated and made proper to God only.

17:18 ¹ He addeth moreover, that the Apostles have a vocation common with him, and therefore that they must be holden up by the selfsame virtue to give up themselves wholly to God, whereby he being first, did consecrate himself to the Father.

17:19 ¹ The true and substantial sanctification of Christ, is set against the outward purifying.

17:20 ¹ Secondly he offereth to God the Father, all his, that is, how many soever shall believe in him by the doctrine of the Apostles: that as he cleaveth unto the Father receiving from him all fullness, so they being joined with him, may receive life from him, and at length being together beloved in him, may also with him enjoy everlasting glory.

17:26 ¹ He communicateth with his by little and little, the knowledge of the Father, which is most full in Christ the Mediator, that they may in him be beloved of the Father, with the selfsame love wherewith he loveth the Son.

18:1 ¹ Christ goeth of his own accord into a garden, which his betrayer knew, to be taken: that by his obedience he might take away the sin that entered into the world by one man's rebellion, and that in a garden.

18:3 ¹ Christ, who was innocent, was taken as a wicked person, that we which are wicked might be let go as innocent.

18:4 ¹ Christ's person (but not his virtue) was bound of the adversaries, when and how he would.

18:8 ¹ Christ doth not neglect the office of a good pastor, no not in his greatest danger.

10 ¹Then Simon Peter having a sword, drew it, and smote the high Priest's servant, and cut off his right ear. Now the servants name was Malchus.

11 Then said Jesus unto Peter, Put up thy sword into the sheath: shall I not drink of the cup which my Father hath given me?

12 Then the band and the captain, and the officers of the Jews took Jesus, and bound him.

13 ¹And led him away to ^dAnnas first (for he was father-in-law to Caiaphas, which was the high Priest that same year.)

14 ^eAnd Caiaphas was he, that gave counsel to the Jews, that it was expedient that one man should die for the people.

15 ¶ ^{f1}Now Simon Peter followed Jesus, and another disciple, and that disciple was known of the high Priest: therefore he went in with Jesus into the hall of the high Priest.

16 But Peter stood at the door without. Then went out the other disciple which was known unto the high Priest, and spake to her that kept the door, and brought in Peter.

17 Then said the maid that kept the door, unto Peter, Art not thou also one of this man's disciples? He said, I am not.

18 And the servants and officers stood there, which had made a fire of coals: for it was cold, and they warmed themselves. And Peter also stood among them, and warmed himself.

19 ¶ (¹The high Priest then asked Jesus of his disciples, and of his doctrine, 20 Jesus answered him, I spake openly to the world: I ever taught in the Synagogue and in the Temple, whither the Jews resort continually, and in secret have I said nothing.

21 Why askest thou me? ask them which heard me what I said unto them: behold, they know what I said.

22 When he had spoken these things, one of the officers which stood by, smote Jesus with his rod, saying, Answerest thou the high Priest so?

25 ^{h,1}And Simon Peter stood and warmed himself, and they said unto him, Art not thou also of his disciples? He denied it, and said, I am not.

26 One of the servants of the high Priest, his cousin whose ear Peter smote off, said, Did not I see thee in the garden with him?

27 Peter then denied again, and immediately the cock crew.

28 ^{i,1}Then led they Jesus from ²Caiaphas into the common hall. Now it was morning, and they themselves went not into the common hall, lest they should be ^jdefiled, but that they might eat the Passover.

29 Pilate then went out unto them, and said, What accusation bring ye against this man?

30 They answered, and said unto him, If he were not an evil doer, we would not have delivered him unto thee.

31 Then said Pilate unto them, Take ye him, and judge him after your own Law. Then the Jews said unto him, ¹It is not lawful for us to put any man to death.

32 It was that the word of Jesus ^kmight be fulfilled which he spake, ¹signifying what death he should die.

33 ¹So Pilate entered into the common hall again, and called Jesus, and said unto him, Art thou the king of the Jews?

34 Jesus answered him, Sayest thou that of thyself, or did others tell it thee of me?

35 Pilate answered, Am I a Jew? Thine own nation, and the high Priest have delivered thee unto me. What hast thou done?

36 ¹Jesus answered, My kingdom is not of this world: if my kingdom were of this world, my servants would surely fight, that I should not be delivered to the Jews: but now is my kingdom not from hence.

37 Pilate then said unto him, Art thou a King then? Jesus answered, Thou sayest that I am a King: for this cause am I born, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should bear witness unto the truth: everyone that is of the truth, heareth my voice.

18:10 ¹ We ought to contain the zeal we bear to God, within the bounds of our vocation.

18:13 ¹ Christ is brought before an earthly high Priest to be condemned for our blasphemies, that we might be acquitted of the everlasting high Priest himself.

18:15 ¹ A lively example of the fragility of man even in the best, when they be once left to themselves.

18:19 ¹ Christ defendeth his cause but slenderly, not that he would withdraw himself from death, but to show that he was condemned as an innocent.

18:25 ¹ After that men have once fallen, they cannot only not lift themselves by their own strength, but also they fall more and more into worse, until they be raised up again, by a new virtue of God.

18:28 ¹ The Son of God is brought before the judgment seat of an earthly and profane man, in whom there is found much less wickedness, than in the princes of the people of God: A lively image of the wrath of God against sin, and therewithal of his great mercy, and least of all, of his most severe judgment against the stubborn contemners of his grace when it is offered unto them.

² From Caiaphas's house.

18:31 ¹ For judgments of life and death were taken from them forty years before the destruction of the temple.

18:32 ¹ For Christ had foretold that he should be crucified.

18:36 ¹ Christ avoucheth his spiritual kingdom, but rejecteth a worldly.

38 ¹Pilate said unto him, ²What is truth? And when he had said that, he went out again unto the Jews, and said unto them, I find in him no cause at all.

39 ^mBut you have a custom that I should deliver you one loose at the Passover: will ye then that I loose unto you the King of the Jews?

40 ⁿThen ¹cried they all again, saying, Not him, but Barabbas: now this Barabbas was a murderer.

19 Pilate, when Christ was scourged, 2 and crowned with thorns, 4 was desirous to let him loose: 8 but being overcome with the outrage of the Jews, 16 he delivereth him to be crucified. 26 Jesus committeth his mother to the disciple. 30 Having tasted vinegar, he dieth: 34 and being dead, his side is pierced with a spear. 40 He is buried.

- 1 Then ^aPilate took Jesus and ¹scourged him.
- 2 And the soldiers platted a crown of thorns, and put it on his head, and they put on him a purple garment,
- 3 And said, Hail King of the Jews. And they smote him with their rods.
- 4 ¹Then Pilate went forth again, and said unto them, Behold, I bring him forth to you, that ye may know, that I find no fault in him at all.
- 5 Then came Jesus forth wearing a crown of thorns, and a purple garment. And Pilate said unto them, Behold the man.
- 6 Then when the high Priests and officers saw him, they cried, saying, ¹Crucify, crucify him. Pilate said unto them, Take ye him, and crucify him: for I find no fault in him.
- 7 The Jews answered him, We have a law, and by our law he ought to die, because he made himself the Son of God.
- 8 ¶ ¹When Pilate then heard that word, he was the more afraid,
- 9 And went again into the common hall, and said unto Jesus, Whence art thou? But Jesus gave him none answer.
- 10 Then said Pilate unto him, Speakest thou not unto me? Knowest thou not that I have power to crucify thee, and have power to loose thee?

11 Jesus answered, Thou couldest have no power at all against me, except it were given thee from above: therefore he that delivered me unto thee, hath the greater sin.

12 From thenceforth Pilate sought to loose him, but the Jews cried, saying, If thou deliver him, thou art not Caesar's friend: for whosoever maketh himself a King, speaketh against Caesar.

13 ¶ ¹When Pilate heard this word, he brought Jesus forth, and sat down in the judgment seat in a place called the pavement, and in Hebrew, ²Gabbatha.

14 And it was the Preparation of the Passover, and about the sixth hour: and he said unto the Jews, Behold your King.

15 But they cried, Away with him, away with him, crucify him. Pilate said unto them, Shall I crucify your King? The high Priests answered, We have no King but Caesar.

16 ¹Then delivered he him unto them, to be crucified. ^bAnd they took Jesus, and led him away.

17 And he bare his own cross, and came into a place named of dead men's skulls, which is called in Hebrew, Golgotha:

18 Where they crucified him, and two other with him, on either side one, and Jesus in the midst.

19 ¶ ¹And Pilate wrote also a title, and put it on the cross, and it was written, JESUS OF NAZARETH THE KING OF THE JEWS.

20 This title then read many of the Jews: for the place where Jesus was crucified, was near to the city: and it was written in Hebrew, Greek, and Latin.

21 Then said the high Priests of the Jews to Pilate, Write not, The King of the Jews, but that he said, I am the King of the Jews.

22 Pilate answered, What I have written, I have written.

23 ¶ ¹Then the 'soldiers, when they had crucified Jesus, took his garments (and made four parts, to every soldier a part) and his coat: and the coat was without seam woven from the top throughout.

24 ¶ Therefore they said one to another, Let us not divide it, but cast lots for it, whose it shall be.

18:38 ¹ It was requisite that Christ should be pronounced innocent, but notwithstanding (in that that he took upon him our person) was to be condemned as a most wicked man.
² He speaketh this disdainfully and scoffingly, and not by way of asking a question.
18:40 ¹ Word for word, made a great and foul voice.
19:1 ¹ The wisdom of the flesh, chooseth of two evils the least, but God curseth that same wisdom.
19:4 ¹ Christ is again acquitted by the same mouth wherewith he is afterward condemned.
19:6 ¹ They will have him crucified, whom by an old custom of theirs, they should have stoned and hanged up as convict of blasphemy: but they desire to have him crucified after the manner of the Romans.

19:8 ¹ Pilate's conscience fighteth for Christ, but straightway it yieldeth, because it is not upholden with the singular virtue of God.
19:13 ¹ Pilate condemneth himself first, with the same mouth wherewith he afterward condemneth Christ.
² Gabbatha signifieth an high place, as judgment seats are.
19:16 ¹ Christ fasteneth Satan, sin and death to the cross.
19:19 ¹ Christ sitting upon the throne of the cross, is openly written everlasting king of all people, with his own hand, whose mouth condemned him for usurping a kingdom.
19:23 ¹ Christ signifieth by the division of his garments amongst the bloody butchers (his coat except, that hath no seam) that it shall come to pass, that he will shortly divide his benefits, and enrich his very enemies throughout the world: but so notwithstanding that the treasure of his Church shall remain whole.

This was that the Scripture might be fulfilled, which saith, ^d“They parted my garments among them, and on my coat did cast lots. So the soldiers did these things indeed.

25 ¶ ^eThen stood by the cross of Jesus his mother, and his mother’s sister, Mary the wife of Clopas, and Mary Magdalene.

26 And when Jesus saw his mother, and the disciple standing by, whom he loved, he said unto his mother, Woman, behold thy son.

27 Then said he to the disciple, Behold thy mother: and from that hour, the disciple took her home unto him.

28 ¶ ^fAfter, when Jesus knew that all things were performed, that the Scripture might be fulfilled, he said, I thirst.

29 And there was set a ^gvessel full of vinegar: and they filled a sponge with vinegar: and put it about an Hyssop stalk, and put it to his mouth.

30 Now when Jesus had received of the vinegar, he said, It is finished, and bowed his head, and gave up the ghost.

31 ^hThe Jews then (because it was the Preparation, that the bodies should not remain upon the cross on the Sabbath day: for that Sabbath was an high day) besought Pilate that their legs might be broken, and that they might be taken down.

32 Then came the soldiers and brake the legs of the first, and of the other, which was crucified with Jesus.

33 But when they came to Jesus, and saw that he was dead already, they brake not his legs.

34 ⁱBut one of the soldiers with a spear ^jpierced his side, and forthwith came there out blood and water.

35 And he that saw it, bare record, and his record is true: and he knoweth that he saith true, that ye might believe it.

see him whom they have thrust through.

38 ^{b,1}And after these things, Joseph of Arimathea (who was a disciple of Jesus, but secretly for fear of the Jews) besought Pilate that he might take down the body of Jesus. And Pilate gave him license. He came then and took Jesus’ body.

39 And there came ⁱalso Nicodemus (which first came to Jesus by night) and brought of myrrh and aloes mingled together about an hundred pounds.

40 Then took they the body of Jesus, and wrapped it in linen clothes with the odors, as the manner of the Jews is to bury.

41 And in that place where Jesus was crucified, was a garden, and in the garden a new sepulcher, wherein was ¹never man yet laid.

42 There then laid they Jesus, because of the Jews’ Preparation day, for the sepulcher was near.

20 ¹ Mary bringeth word that Christ is risen: ³ Peter and John ⁴ run to see it. ¹⁵ Jesus appeareth to Mary. ¹⁹ and to the disciples that were together in the house, ²⁵ Thomas, before faithless, ²⁹ now believeth.

1 Now ^{a,1}the first day of the week came Mary Magdalene, early when it was yet dark, unto the sepulcher, and saw the stone taken away from the tomb.

2 Then she ran, and came to Simon Peter, and to the other disciple, whom Jesus loved, and said unto them, They have taken away the Lord out of the sepulcher, and we know not where they have laid him.

3 Peter therefore went forth, and the other disciple, and they came unto the sepulcher.

4 So they ran both together, but the other disciple did outrun Peter, and came first to the sepulcher.

5 And he stooped down, and saw the linen clothes lying: yet went he not in.

6 Then came Simon Peter following him, and went into the sepulcher, and saw the linen clothes lie,

7 And the kerchief that was upon his head, not lying with the linen clothes, but wrapped together in a place by itself.

19:25 ¹ Christ is a perfect example of all righteousness, not only in the keeping of the first, but also of the second table.

19:28 ¹ Christ, when he hath taken the vinegar, yieldeth up the Ghost, drinking up indeed that most bitter and sharp cup of his Father’s wrath in our name.

19:29 ¹ Galatinus witnesseth out of the book called Sanhedrin, that the Jews were wont to give them that were executed, vinegar mixed with frankincense to drink, to make their brains somewhat troubled: so charitably the Jews provided for the poor men’s consciences which were executed.

19:31 ¹ The body of Christ which was dead for a season (because it so pleased him) is wounded, but the least bone of it is not broken: and such is the state of his mystical body.

19:34 ¹ Christ being dead upon the cross, witnesseth by a double sign, that he only is the true satisfaction, and the true washing for the believers.

² This wound was a most manifest witness of the death of Christ: for the water that issued out by this wound, gave us plainly to understand, that the weapon pierced the very skin that compasseth the heart, which is the vessel that containeth that water, and that being once wounded, that creature which is so pierced and stricken, cannot choose but die.

19:38 ¹ Christ is openly buried, and in a famous place, Pilate writing and suffering it, and that by men which did favor Christ, in such wise, that yet before that day, they never openly followed him: so that by his burial, no man can justly doubt either of his death, or resurrection.

19:41 ¹ That no man might cavil at his resurrection, as though some other that had been buried there, had risen, Theophylact.

20:1 ¹ Mary Magdalene, Peter and John are the first witnesses of the resurrection: and such as cannot justly be suspected, for that they themselves could scarcely be persuaded of it, so far is it off, that they should invent it of set purpose.

8 Then went in also the other disciple, which came first to the sepulcher, and he saw it, and believed.

9 For as yet they knew not the Scripture, That he must rise again from the dead.

10 And the disciples went away again unto their own home.

11 ¶^b But Mary stood ¹without at the sepulcher weeping; and as she wept, she bowed herself into the sepulcher, 12 ¹And saw two Angels in ²white, sitting, the one at the head, and the other at the feet, where the body of Jesus had lain.

13 And they said unto her, Woman, why weepest thou? She said unto them, They have taken away ¹my Lord, and I know not where they have laid him.

14 ¹When she had thus said, she turned herself back, and saw Jesus standing, and knew not that it was Jesus.

15 Jesus saith unto her, Woman, why weepest thou? whom seekest thou? She supposing that he had been the gardener, said unto him, Sir, if thou hast borne him hence, tell me where thou hast laid him, and I will take him away.

16 Jesus saith unto her, Mary. She turned herself, and said unto him, Rabboni, which is to say, Master.

17 ¹Jesus saith unto her, Touch me not: for I am not yet ascended to my Father: but go to my ²brethren, and say unto them, I ascend unto ³my Father, and to your Father, and to my God, and your God.

18 Mary Magdalene came and told the disciples that she had seen the Lord, and that he had spoken these things unto her.

19 ¶^{c,1} The same day then at night, which was the first day of the week, and when the ²doors were shut where the disciples were assembled for fear of the Jews, came Jesus and stood in the midst, and said to them, Peace be unto you.

20 And when he had so said, he showed unto them his hands, and his side. Then were the disciples glad when they had seen the Lord.

22 And when he had said that, he breathed on them, and said unto them, Receive the holy Ghost.

23 ¹Whosoever's sins ye remit, they are remitted unto them: and whosoever's sins ye retain, they are retained.

24 ¶¹ But Thomas one of the twelve, called Didymus, was not with them when Jesus came.

25 The other disciples therefore said unto him, We have seen the Lord: but he said unto them, Except I see in his hands the print of the nails, and put my finger into the print of the nails, and put mine hand into his side, I will not believe it.

26 ¶ And eight days after, again his disciples were within, and Thomas with them. Then came Jesus, when the doors were shut, and stood in the midst, and said, Peace be unto you.

27 After said he to Thomas, Put thy finger here, and see mine hands, and put forth thine hand, and put it into my side, and be not faithless, but faithful.

28 Then Thomas answered, and said unto him, Thou art my Lord, and my God.

29 ¹Jesus said unto him, Thomas, because thou hast seen me, thou believest: blessed are they that have not seen, and have believed.

30 ^{e,1} And many other signs also did Jesus in the presence of his disciples, which are not written in this book.

31 But these things are written that ye might believe, that Jesus is that Christ that Son of God, and that in believing ye might have life through his Name.

21 ¹ Jesus appeareth to his disciples as they were fishing. 6, 7 whom they know by a miraculous draught of fishes. 15 He committeth the charge of the sheep to Peter, 18 and foretelleth him of the manner of his death.

1 After these things, ¹Jesus showed himself again to his disciples at the sea of Tiberias: and thus 20:11 ¹ That is, without the cave, which the sepulchre was cut out of.

20:12 ¹ Two Angels are made witnesses of the Lord's resurrection.
² In white clothing.

20:13 ¹ Many speak as the common people use to speak: for they speak of a dead carcass, as they do of a whole man.

20:14 ¹ Jesus witnesseth by his presence, that he is truly risen.

20:17 ¹ Christ which is risen, is not to be sought in this world according to the flesh, but in heaven by faith, whither he is gone before us.

² By his brethren he meaneth his disciples: for in the next verse following, it is said, that Mary told his disciples.

³ He calleth God his Father because he is his Father naturally in the Godhead, and he saith your Father, because he is our Father by grace, through the adoption of the sons of God: that is, by taking us of his free grace to be his sons, Epiphanius.

20:19 ¹ Christ in that that he presented himself before his disciples suddenly through his divine power, when the gates were shut, doth fully assure them both of his resurrection, and also of their Apostleship, inspiring them with the holy Ghost, who is the director of the ministry of the Gospel.

² Either the doors opened to him of their own accord, or the very walls themselves were a passage for him.

20:23 ¹ The publishing of the forgiveness of sins by faith in Christ, and the setting forth and denouncing the wrath of God in retaining the sins of the unbelievers, is the sum of the preaching of the Gospel.

20:24 ¹ Christ draweth out of the unbelief of Thomas, a certain and sure testimony of his resurrection.

20:29 ¹ True faith dependeth upon the mouth of God, and not upon fleshly eyes.

20:30 ¹ To believe in Christ, the Son of God, and our only Savior, is the end of the doctrine of the Gospel, and especially of the history of the resurrection.

21:1 ¹ In that, that Christ here is not only present, but also eateth with his disciples, he giveth a most full assurance of his resurrection.

showed he himself:

2 There were together Simon Peter, and Thomas, which is called Didymus, and Nathanael of Cana in Galilee, and the sons of Zebedee, and two others of his disciples.

3 Simon Peter said unto them, I go a fishing. They said unto him, We also will go with thee. They went their way and entered into a ship straightway, and that night caught they nothing.

4 But when the morning was now come, Jesus stood on the shore: nevertheless the disciples knew not that it was Jesus.

5 Jesus then said unto them, Sirs, have ye any meat? They answered him, No.

6 Then he said unto them, Cast out the net on the right side of the ship, and ye shall find. So they cast out, and they were not able at all to draw it, for the multitude of fishes.

7 Therefore said the disciple whom Jesus loved, unto Peter, It is the Lord. When Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he girded his ¹coat to him (for he was naked) and cast himself into the sea.

8 But the other disciples came by ship, (for they were not far from land, but about two hundred cubits) and they drew the net with fishes.

9 As soon then as they were come to land, they saw hot coals, and fish laid thereon, and bread.

10 Jesus said unto them, Bring of the fishes, which ye have now caught.

11 Simon Peter stepped forth and drew the net to land full of great fishes, an hundred, fifty and three: and albeit there were so many, yet was not the net broken.

12 Jesus said unto them, Come, and dine. And none of the disciples durst ask him, Who art thou? seeing they knew that he was the Lord.

13 Jesus then came and took bread and gave them, and fish likewise.

14 This is now the third time that Jesus showed himself to his disciples, after that he was risen again from the dead.

15 ¶ ¹So when they had dined, Jesus said to Simon Peter, Simon the son of Jonah, lovest thou me more than these? He said unto him, Yea, Lord, thou knowest that I love thee. He said unto him, Feed my lambs.

16 He said to him again the second time, Simon the son of Jonah, lovest thou me? He said unto him, Yea, Lord, thou knowest that I love thee. He said unto him, Feed my sheep.

17 He said unto him ¹the third time, Simon the son of Jonah, lovest thou me? Peter was sorry because he said to him the third time, Lovest thou me? and said unto him, Lord, thou knowest all things: thou knowest that I love thee. Jesus said unto him, Feed my sheep.

18 ¹Verily, verily I say unto thee, When thou wast young, thou ²girdedst thyself, and walkedst whither thou wouldst: but when thou shalt be old, thou shalt stretch forth thine hands, and another shall ³gird thee, and lead thee without thou wouldst ⁴not.

19 And this spake he signifying by what ¹death he should glorify God. And when he had said this, he said to him, Follow me.

20 ¹Then Peter turned about, and saw the disciple whom JESUS loved, following, which had also ^aleaned on his breast at supper, and had said, Lord, which is he that betrayeth thee?

21 When Peter therefore saw him, he said to Jesus, Lord, what shall this man do?

22 Jesus said unto him, If I will that he tarry till I come, what is it to thee? follow thou me.

23 Then went this word abroad among the brethren, that this disciple should not die. Yet Jesus said not to him, He shall not die: but if I will that he tarry till I come, what is it to thee?

24 ¹This is that disciple, which testifieth of these things, and wrote these things, and we know that his testimony is true.

25 ^bNow there are also many other things which Jesus did, the which if they should be written every one, I suppose the world could not contain the books that should be written, Amen.

21:7 ¹ It was a linen garment, which could not let his swimming.

21:15 ¹ Peter by his triple confession is restored into his former degree from whence he fell by his triple denial: and therewithal is advertised, that he is indeed a pastor, which sheweth his love to Christ in feeding his sheep.

21:17 ¹ It was meet that he that had denied him thrice, should confess him thrice, that Peter might neither doubt of the forgiveness of his so grievous a sin, nor of his restoring to the office of the Apostleship.

21:18 ¹ The violent death of Peter is foretold.

² They that took far journeys, especially in the East country, and in those places [where] the people used long garments, had need to be girded and trussed up.

³ He meant that kind of girding which is used toward captives, when they are bound fast with cords and chains, as who would say, Now thou girdest thyself as thou thinkest best, to go whither thou listest, but the time will be, when thou shalt not gird thee with a girdle, but another shall bind thee with chains, and carry thee whither thou wouldst not.

⁴ Not that Peter suffered ought for the truth of God against his will: for we read that he came with joy and gladness when he returned from the Council where he was whipped: but because this will cometh not from the flesh, but from the gift of the Spirit which is given us from above, therefore he sheweth there should be a certain striving and conflict or repugnancy, which also is in us, in all our sufferances as touching the flesh.

21:19 ¹ That is, that Peter should die by a violent death.

21:20 ¹ We must take heed, that while we cast our eyes upon others, we neglect not that which is enjoined us.

21:24 ¹ The history of Christ is true and warily written: not for the curiosity of men, but for the salvation of the godly.

1:1 ¹ A passing over from the history of the Gospel, that is, from the history of the sayings and doings of Christ, unto the acts of the Apostles.

² The acts of Jesus are the miracles and doings which showed his Godhead, and his most perfect holiness and example of his doctrine.

1:3 ¹ Christ did not straightway ascend into heaven after his resurrection: because he would thoroughly prove his resurrection: and with his presence confirm his Apostles in the doctrine, which they had heard.

² He calleth those infallible tokens, which are otherwise [termed] necessary: now in that Christ spake, and walked, and ate, and was felt of many, these are sure signs and tokens that he truly rose again.

1:4 ¹ They were dispersed here and there, but he gathereth them together that they might altogether be witnesses of his resurrection.

1:5 ¹ Either of the Father, or of me: so that either the Father or Christ is set here against John, as the holy Ghost is against the water, as things answerable the one to the other.

1:6 ¹ We must fight before we triumph: and we ought not curiously to search after those things, which God hath not revealed.

² To the old and ancient state.

1:7 ¹ That is, the fit occasions that serve to doing of matters which the Lord hath appointed to bring things to pass in.

1:9 ¹ After that Christ had promised the full virtue of the holy Ghost, wherewith he would govern his Church, although he should be absent in body, he took up his body from us into heavenly tabernacles, there to continue until the latter day of judgment, as the Angels witness.

1:11 ¹ That is, out of your sight.

1:13 ¹ Ecclesiastical assemblies to hear the word, and to make common prayer, were first instituted and kept in private houses by the Apostles.

² They went into the house, which the Church hath chosen at that time to be a receipt for the whole assembly.

1:14 ¹ The Greek word signified an invincible constancy, and steadiness.

² It is to good purpose, that this concord is mentioned: for those prayers are most acceptable to God which are made with agreeing minds and wills.

³ The disciples prayed for the sending of the holy Ghost, and also to be delivered from present dangers wherewith they were beset.

⁴ For it was behoovable to have the wives confirmed, who were afterward to be partakers of the dangers with their husbands.

15 ¹And in those days Peter stood up in the midst of the disciples, and said (now the number of ²names that were in one place were about an hundred and twenty.)

16 ¹Ye men and brethren, this scripture must needs have been fulfilled, Which the ¹holy Ghost by the mouth of David spake before of Judas, which was ⁸guide to them that took Jesus.

17 For he was numbered with us, and had obtained fellowship in this ministration.

18 He therefore hath ¹purchased a field with the reward of iniquity: and when ¹he had ²thrown down himself headlong, he brast asunder in the midst, and all his bowels gushed out.

19 And it is known unto all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, insomuch, that that field is called in their own language, Akel Dama, that is, The field of blood.

20 For it is written in the book of Psalms, ¹Let his habitation be void, and let no man dwell therein: ¹also, Let another take his ¹charge.

21 ¹Wherefore of these men which have companied with us, all the time that the Lord Jesus was ²conversant among us,

24 And they prayed, saying, Thou Lord, which knowest the hearts of all men, show whether of these two thou hast chosen,

25 That he may take the ¹room of this ministration and Apostleship, from which Judas hath ²gone astray, to go to his own place.

26 Then they gave forth their lots: and the lot fell on Matthias, and he was by a common consent counted with the eleven Apostles.

2 ¹The Apostles ⁴filled with the holy Ghost ⁸speak with divers tongues: ¹²They are thought to be drunk, ¹⁵but Peter disproveth that. ³⁴He teacheth that Christ is the Messiah: ³⁷And seeing the hearers astonished, ³⁸he exhorteth them to repentance.

1 And ¹when the day of Pentecost was ²come, they were ³all with one accord in one place.

2 And suddenly there came a sound from heaven, as of a rushing and mighty wind, and it filled all the house where they sat.

3 And there appeared unto them cloven tongues, like fire, and it sat upon each of them.

4 And they were all filled with the holy Ghost, and began to speak with ¹other tongues, as the ²Spirit gave them utterance.

5 And there were dwelling at Jerusalem Jews, men that feared God, of every nation under heaven.

6 Now when this was noised, the multitude came

⁵ With his kinfolks.

1:15 ¹ Peter is made the mouth and interpreter of the whole company of the Apostles, either by secret revelation of the holy Ghost, or by express judgment of the Congregation.

² Because men are commonly billed and enrolled by their names.

1:16 ¹ Peter preventeth the offense that might be taken of the falling away of Judas the betrayer, showing that all things which came unto him, were foretold by God.

1:18 ¹ Luke considered not Judas's purpose, but that that followed of it, and so we used to say, that a man hath procured himself harm, not that his will and purpose was so, but in respect of that which followed.

² The Greek words signify thus much, that Judas fell down flat and was rent in sunder in the middle, with a marvelous huge noise.

1:20 ¹ His office and ministry David wrote these words against Doeg the King's herdsman: And these words, Shepherd, Sheep, and Flock, are put over to the Church office and ministry, so that the Church and the offices thereof are called by these names.

1:21 ¹ The Apostles deliberate upon nothing, but first they consult and take advisement by God's word: and again they do nothing that concerneth and is behoovable for the whole body of the Congregation, without making the Congregation privy unto it.

² Word for word, went in and out, which kind of speech betokeneth as much in the Hebrew tongue, as the exercising of a public and painful office, when they speak of such as are in any public office, Deut. 31:2; 1 Chron. 27:1.

1:22 ¹ From our company.

1:23 ¹ Apostles must be chosen immediately from God, and therefore after prayers, Matthias is chosen by lot, which is as it were GOD'S own voice.

² Openly, and by the voices of all the whole company.

1:25 ¹ That he may be fellow and partaker of this ministry.

² Departed from, or fallen from: And it is a Metaphor taken from the way: For callings are signified by the name of ways, with the Hebrews.

2:1 ¹ The Apostles being gathered together on a most solemn feast day in one place, that it might evidently appear to all the world, that they had all one office, one Spirit, one faith, are by a double sign from heaven authorized, and anointed with all the most excellent gifts of the holy Ghost and especially with an extraordinary and necessary gift of tongues.

² Word for word, was fulfilled: that is, was begun, as Luke 2:21. For the Hebrews say that a day, or a year is fulfilled or ended, when the former days or years are ended, and the other begun, Jer. 25:12. And it shall come to pass, that when seventy years are fulfilled, I will visit, etc. For the Lord did not bring home his people after the seventieth year was ended, but in the seventieth year. Now the day of Pentecost was the fiftieth day after the feast of the Passover.

³ The twelve Apostles, which were to be the Patriarchs as it were of the Church.

2:4 ¹ He calleth them other tongues, which were not the same which the Apostles used commonly, and Mark calleth them new tongues.

² Hereby were understood that the Apostles used not now one tongue, and then another by haphazard and at all adventure, or as fantastical men used to do, but with good consideration of their hearers: and to be short, that they spake nothing but as the holy Ghost governed their tongues.

together and were astonished, because that every man heard them speak his own language.

7 And they wondered all, and marvelled, saying among themselves, Behold, are not all these which speak, of Galilee?

8 ¹How then hear we every man our own language, wherein we were born?

9 Parthians, and Medes, and Elamites, and the inhabitants of Mesopotamia, and of Judea, and of Cappadocia, of Pontus, and Asia,

10 And of Phrygia, and Pamphylia, of Egypt, and of the parts of Libya, which is beside Cyrene, and strangers of Rome, and ¹Jews, and Proselytes, 11 Cretes, and Arabians: we heard them speak in our own tongues the wonderful works of God.

12 ¹They were all then amazed, and doubted, saying one to another, What may this be?

13 And others ¹mocked, and said, They are full of new wine.

14 ¶ But Peter standing with the eleven, ¹lifted up his voice, and said unto them, Ye men of Judea, and ye all that inhabit Jerusalem, be this known unto you, and hearken unto my words.

15 For these are not drunken, as ye suppose, since it is but the ¹third hour of the day.

16 But this is that, which was spoken by the ¹Prophet ²Joel,

17 ¹And it shall be in the last days, saith God, I will pour out of my Spirit upon ²all ³flesh, and your sons, and your daughters shall prophesy, and your young men shall see visions, and your old men shall dream dreams.

18 And on my servants, and on mine handmaids I will pour out of my Spirit in those days, and they shall prophesy.

19 And I will show wonders in heaven above, and tokens in the earth beneath, blood, and fire, and the vapors of smoke.

20 The Sun shall be turned into darkness, and the moon into blood, before that great and notable day of the Lord come.

21 ¹And it shall be, that whosoever shall ²call on the Name of the Lord, shall be saved.

22 ¹Ye men of Israel, hear these words, JESUS of Nazareth, a man ²approved of God among you with great works, and wonders, and signs, which God did by him in the midst of you, as ye yourselves also know:

23 Him, I say, being delivered by the determinate counsel, and ⁴foreknowledge of God, after you had taken, with wicked ²hands you have crucified and ³slain.

24 ¹Whom God hath raised up, and loosed the ²sorrows of death, because it was impossible that he should be holden of it.

25 For David saith concerning him, ^bI beheld the Lord always before me: for he is at my right hand, that I should not be shaken.

26 Therefore did mine heart rejoice, and my tongue was glad, and moreover also my flesh shall rest in hope, 27 Because thou wilt not ¹leave my soul in grave, neither wilt suffer thine Holy one to see corruption.

28 Thou hast ¹showed me the ways of life, and

2:8 ¹ Not that they spake with one voice, and many languages were heard, but that the Apostles spake with strange tongues: for else the miracle had rather been in the hearers, whereas now it is in the speakers, Nazianzen in his oration of Whitsunday.

2:10 ¹ By Jews, he meaneth them that were both Jews by birth, and Jews by profession of religion though they were born in other places: and they were Proselytes, which were Gentiles born and embraced the Jews' religion.

2:12 ¹ God's word pierceth some so, that it driveth them to seek out the truth, and it doth so choke others, that it forceth them to be witnesses of their own impudency.

2:13 ¹ The word which he useth here, signifieth such a kind of mocking which is reproachful and contumelious: And by this reproachful mocking we see, that there is no miracle so great and excellent, which the wickedness of man dareth not speak evil of.

2:14 ¹ Peter's boldness is to be marked, wherein the grace of the holy Ghost is to be seen, even straight after the beginning.

2:15 ¹ After the sun rising, which may be about seven or eight of the clock with us.

2:16 ¹ There is nothing that can dissolve questions and doubts, but testimonies taken out of the Prophets: for men's reasons may be overturned, but God's voice cannot be overturned.

2:17 ¹ Peter setting the truth of God against the false accusations of men, sheweth in himself and in his fellows, that that is fulfilled which Joel spake concerning the full giving of the holy Ghost in the latter days: which grace also is offered to the whole Church, to their certain and undoubted destruction, which do condemn it.

² All without exception, both upon the Jews and Gentiles.

³ That is, men.

2:21 ¹ The chiefest use of all the gifts of the holy Ghost, is to bring men to salvation by faith.

² This word, Call on, signifieth in holy Scriptures, an earnest praying and craving for help at God's hand.

2:22 ¹ Christ being innocent, was by God's providence crucified of wicked men.

² Who is by those works which God wrought by him, so manifestly approved and allowed of, that no man can gainsay him.

2:23 ¹ God's everlasting knowledge going before, which can neither be separated from his determinate counsel, as the Epicureans say, neither yet be the cause of evil: for God in his everlasting and unchangeable counsel, appointed the wicked act of Judas to an excellent end: and God doeth that well which the instruments do ill.

² God's counsel doth not excuse the Jews, whose hands were wicked.

³ The fault is said to be theirs, by whose counsel and egging forward it is done.

2:24 ¹ Christ (as David foretold) did not only rise again, but also was in the grave void of all corruption.

² The dead that was full of sorrow both of body and mind: therefore when death appeared conqueror and victor over those sorrows, Christ is rightly said to have overcome those sorrows of death, when as being dead, he overcame death, to live forever with his Father.

2:27 ¹ Thou wilt not suffer me to remain in grave.

2:28 ¹ Thou hast opened me the way to the true life.

shalt make me full of joy with thy countenance.

29 Men and brethren, I may boldly speak unto you of the Patriarch David, ^cthat he is both dead and buried, and his sepulcher remaineth with us unto this day.

30 Therefore, seeing he was a Prophet, and knew that God had ^{d,1}sworn with an oath to him, that of the fruit of his loins he would raise up Christ concerning the flesh, to set him upon his throne.

31 He knowing this before, spake of the resurrection of Christ, that ^ehis soul should not be left in grave, neither his flesh should see corruption.

32 ^fThis Jesus hath God raised up, whereof we all are witnesses.

33 Since then that he by the ¹right hand of God hath been exalted, and hath received of his Father the promise of the holy Ghost, he hath shed forth this which ye now see and hear.

34 For David is not ascended into heaven, but he saith, ^gThe Lord said to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, 35 Until I make thine enemies thy footstool.

36 Therefore, let all the house of Israel know for a surety, that God hath ¹made him both Lord, and Christ, this Jesus, I say, whom ye have crucified.

37 Now when they heard it, they were pricked in their hearts, and said unto Peter and the other Apostles, Men and brethren, what shall we do?

38 ¹Then Peter said unto them, Amend your lives, and be baptized every one of you in the Name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins: and ye shall receive the gift of the holy Ghost.

39 For the ¹promise is made unto you, and to your children, and to all that are afar off, even as many as the Lord our God shall call.

40 ¹And with many other words he besought and exhorted them, saying, Save yourselves from this [froward] generation.

41 ¹Then they that gladly received his word, were baptized, and the same day there were added to the Church about three thousand souls.

42 ¹And they continued in the Apostles' doctrine, and ²fellowship, and ³breaking of bread, and prayers.

43 ¶ ¹And fear came upon every soul: and many wonders and signs were done by the Apostles.

44 ¹And all that believed, were in one place, and had all things common.

45 And they sold their possessions, and goods, and parted them to all men, as everyone had need.

46 ¹And they continued daily with one accord in the Temple, and breaking bread at home, did eat their meat together with gladness and singleness of heart, 47 Praising God, and had favor with all the people: and the Lord added to the Church from day to day, such as should be saved.

3 ¹ Peter goeth into the Temple with John, ² healeth the cripple. ⁹ To the people gathered together to see the miracle, ¹² he expoundeth the mystery of our salvation through Christ, ¹⁴ accusing their ingratitude, ¹⁹ and requiring the repentance.

1 Now ¹Peter and John went up together into the Temple, at the ninth hour of prayer.

2 And a certain man which was a cripple from his mother's womb was carried, whom they laid daily at the gate of the Temple called Beautiful, to ask alms of them that entered into the Temple,

3 Who seeing Peter and John, that they would enter into the Temple, desiring to receive an alms.

4 And Peter earnestly beholding him with John, said, Look on us.

5 And he ¹gave heed unto them, trusting to receive some thing of them.

2:30 ¹ Had sworn solemnly.

2:32 ¹ Peter witnesseth that Jesus Christ is the appointed everlasting King, which he proveth manifestly by the gifts of the holy Ghost, and the testimony of David.

2:33 ¹ Might and power of God.

2:36 ¹ Christ is said to be made, because he was advanced to that dignity: and therefore it is not spoken of his nature, but of his state and dignity.

2:38 ¹ Repentance and remission of sins in Christ, are two principles of the Gospel, and therefore of our salvation: and they are obtained by the promises apprehended by faith, and are ratified in us by Baptism, wherewith is joined the virtue of the holy Ghost.

2:39 ¹ The word that is used here, giveth us to understand that it was a free gift.

2:40 ¹ He is truly joined to the Church which separateth himself from the wicked.

2:41 ¹ A notable example of the virtue of the holy Ghost: but such as are of age, are not baptized before they make confession of their faith.

2:42 ¹ The marks of the true Church of the doctrine of the Apostles, the duties of charity, the pure and simple administration of the Sacraments, and true invocation used of all the faithful.

² Communicating of goods, and all other duties of charity, as is showed afterward.

³ The Jews used thin loaves, and therefore they did rather brake them than cut them: So by breaking of bread, they understood that living together and the banquets which they used to keep. And when they kept their love feasts, they used to celebrate the Lord's Supper, which even in these days began to be corrupted, and Paul amendeth it, 1 Cor. 11.

2:43 ¹ So oft as the Lord thinketh it expedient, he bridleth the rage of strangers that the Church may be planted, and have some refreshing.

2:44 ¹ Charity maketh all things common concerning the use, according as necessity requireth.

2:46 ¹ The faithful came together at the beginning with great fruit, not only to the hearing of the word, but also to meat.

3:1 ¹ Christ in healing a man that was born lame, and well known to all men, both in place and time very famous, by the hands of his Apostles, doth partly confirm them which believed, and partly also calleth others to believe.

3:5 ¹ Both with heart and eyes.

6 Then said Peter, Silver and gold have I none, but such as I have, that give I thee: In the Name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, rise up and walk.

7 And he took him by the right hand, and lifted him up, and immediately his feet and ankle bones received strength.

8 And he leaped up, stood, and walked, and entered with them into the temple, walking and leaping, and praising God.

9 And all the people saw him walk, and praising God.

10 And they knew him, that it was he which sat for the alms at the Beautiful gate of the Temple: and they were amazed, and sore astonished at that which was come unto him.

11 ¶ And as the cripple which was healed, ¹held Peter and John, all the people ran amazed unto them in the porch which is called Solomon's.

12 ¹So when Peter saw it, he answered unto the people, Ye men of Israel, why marvel ye at this? or why look ye so steadfastly on us, as though by our own power or godliness, we had made this man go?

13 The God of Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, the "God of our fathers hath glorified his Son Jesus, whom ye betrayed, and denied in the presence of Pilate, when he had judged him to be delivered.

14 But ye denied the Holy one and the just, and desired a murderer to be given you, 15 And killed the Lord ¹of life, whom God hath raised from the dead, whereof we are witnesses.

16 And his Name hath made this man sound, whom ye see and know, through faith in his Name: ¹and the faith which is by him, hath given to him this perfect health of his whole body in the presence of you all.

17 ¹And now brethren, I know that through ignorance ye did it, as did also your governors.

18 But those things, which God before had showed ¹by the mouth of all his Prophets, that Christ should suffer, he hath thus fulfilled.

19 Amend your lives therefore, and turn, that your sins may be put away, when the time of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord.

20 And he shall send Jesus Christ, which before was preached unto you.

21 ¹Whom the heaven must contain until the time that all things be restored, which God had spoken by the mouth of all his holy Prophets since the world began.

22 ¹For Moses said unto the Fathers, The Lord your God shall raise up unto you ^{1a} a Prophet, even of your brethren, like unto me: ye shall hear him in all things whatsoever he shall say unto you.

23 For it shall be that every person which shall not hear that Prophet, shall be destroyed out of the people.

24 Also all the Prophets ¹from Samuel, and thenceforth as many as have spoken, have likewise foretold of these days.

25 ¹Ye are the ²children of the Prophets, and of the covenant, which God hath made unto our fathers, saying to Abraham, 'Even in thy seed shall all the kindreds of the earth be blessed.

26 First unto you hath God ¹raised up his Son Jesus, and him he hath sent to bless you, in turning everyone of you from your iniquities.

4 ¹ Peter and John, ³ are taken and brought before the council, ⁷ and ¹⁹ They speak boldly in Christ's cause. ²⁴ The disciples pray unto God. ³² Many sell their possessions. ³⁶ Of whom Barnabas is one.

1 And ¹as they spake unto the people, the Priests and the ²Captain of the Temple, and the Sadducees came upon them.

3:11 ¹ Either because he loved them, who had healed him: or because he feared that if he once let them go out of his sight, he should be lame again.

3:12 ¹ Miracles are appointed to convince the unbelievers, and therefore they do wickedly abuse them, who standeth amazed either at the miracles themselves, or at the instruments and means which it pleaseth God to use, take an occasion to establish idolatry and superstition by that, which God hath provided for the knowledge of his true worship, that is, Christianity.

3:15 ¹ Who hath life in himself, and giveth life to others.

3:16 ¹ Because he believed on him being raised from the dead, whose Name he heard of by us.

3:17 ¹ It is best of all to receive Christ so soon as he is offered unto us: but such as have neglected so great a benefit through man's weakness, have yet repentance for a means. As for the ignominy of the cross, we have to set against that, the decree and purpose of God, foretold by the Prophets, of Christ, how that first of all he should be crucified here upon earth, and then he should appear from heaven the judge and restorer of all things, that all believers might be saved, and all unbelievers utterly perish.

3:18 ¹ Though there were many Prophets, yet he speaketh but of one mouth, to show unto us the consent and agreement of the Prophets.

3:21 ¹ Or, be taken up into heaven.

3:22 ¹ This promise was of an excellent and singular Prophet.

3:24 ¹ At what time the kingdom of Israel was established.

3:25 ¹ The Jews that believe are the first begotten in the kingdom of God.

² For whom the Prophets were specially appointed.

3:26 ¹ Given to the world, or raised from the dead, and advanced to his kingdom.

4:1 ¹ None are commonly more diligent or bolder enemies of the Church, than such as profess themselves to be head builders: but the more they rage, the more constantly the faithful servants of God do continue.

² The Jews had certain garrisons for the guard and safety of the Temple and holy things, Matt. 26:65. These garrisons had a Captain, such as Eleazarus Ananias, the high Priest's son was, in the time of the war that was in Judea, being a very impudent and proud young man, Josephus, lib. 2, of the taking of Judea.

2 Taking it grievously that they taught the people, and preached in Jesus' Name the resurrection from the dead.

3 And they laid hands on them, and put them in hold, until the next day, for it was now eventide.

4 Howbeit many of them which heard the word, believed, and the ¹number of the men was about five thousand.

5 ¶ And it came to pass on the morrow, that their ¹rulers, and Elders, and Scribes, were gathered together at Jerusalem,

6 And Annas the chief Priest, and Caiaphas, and John, and Alexander, and as many as were of the ¹kindred of the high Priest.

7 ¹And when they had set them before them, they asked, By what power, or in what ²Name have ye done this?

8 Then Peter full of the holy Ghost, said unto them, Ye rulers of the people, and Elders of Israel,

9 ¹For as much as we this day are examined, of the good deed done to the impotent man, to wit, by what means he is made whole,

10 ¹Be it known unto you all, and to all the people of Israel, that by the Name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, whom ye have crucified, whom God raised again from the dead, even by him doth this man stand here before you, whole.

11 "This is the stone cast aside of you builders, which is become the head of the corner.

12 Neither is there salvation in any other: for among men there is ¹given none other ²Name ³under heaven, whereby we must be saved.

and without ²knowledge, they marveled, and knew them, that they had been with Jesus:

14 And beholding also the man which was healed standing with them, they had nothing to say against it.

15 Then they commanded them to go aside out of the Council, and ¹conferred among themselves,

16 ¹Saying, What shall we do to these men? for surely a manifest sign is done by them, and it is openly known to all them that dwell in Jerusalem: and we cannot deny it.

17 But that it be noised no farther among the people, let us threaten and charge them, that they speak henceforth to no man in this Name.

18 So they called them, and commanded them, that in no wise they should speak or teach in the Name of Jesus.

19 ¹But Peter and John answered unto them, and said, Whether it be right in the sight of God, to obey you rather than God, judge ye.

20 For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard.

21 ¹So they threatened them, and let them go, and found nothing how to punish them, because of the people: for all men praised God for that which was done.

22 For the man was above forty years old, on whom this miracle of healing was showed.

23 ¹Then as soon as they were let go, they came to their fellows, and showed all that the high Priests and Elders had said unto them.

24 ¹And when they heard it, they lifted up their voices to God with one accord, and said, O Lord, thou art the God which had made the heaven, and 4:4 ¹ While they thought to diminish the number, they increased them.

4:5 ¹ These were they that made the Sanhedrin, which were all of the tribe of Judah, until Herod used that cruelty against David's stock.

4:6 ¹ Of whom the high Priests were wont to be chosen and made, the execution of the yearly office being now changed them.

4:7 ¹ Against such as brag of a succession of persons, without a succession of doctrine, and by that means beat down the true ministers of the word, so far forth as they are able.

² By what authority.

4:9 ¹ Wolves which succeed true pastors plead their own cause, and not God's neither the Churches'.

4:10 ¹ He is indeed a true Shepherd, that teacheth his sheep to hang upon Christ only, as upon one that is not dead, but hath conquered death, and hath all rule in his own hand.

4:12 ¹ Of God.

² There is no other man, or no other power and authority whatsoever: which kind of speech being usual among the Jews, rose upon this, that when we are in danger, we call upon them at whose hands we look for help.

³ Anywhere: and this setteth forth unto us the largeness of Christ's kingdom.

4:13 ¹ The good liberty and boldness of the servants of God doeth yet thus much good that such as lay hid under a vizard of zeal, do at length bewray themselves to be indeed wicked men.

² The word used here, is Idiot, which being spoken in comparison had to a Magistrate, betokeneth a private man, but when we speak of sciences and studies, it signifieth one that is unlearned: and in accompt of honor and estimation it importeth one of base degree, and no estimation.

4:15 ¹ Laid their heads together.

4:16 ¹ He that flattereth himself in ignorance, cometh at length to do open wickedness, and that against his own conscience.

4:19 ¹ We must so obey men to whom we are subject, that especially and before all things we obey God.

4:21 ¹ So far off are the wicked from doing what they list, that contrariwise God useth even that to the setting forth of his glory, which he giveth them leave to do.

4:23 ¹ The Apostles communicate their troubles with the Congregation.

4:24 ¹ We ought neither to be afraid of the threatenings of our enemies, neither yet foolishly condemn their rage and madness against us: but we have to set against their force and malice, an earnest thinking upon the power and good will of God (both which we do manifestly behold in Christ) and so flee to the aid and succor of our Father.

the earth, the sea, and all things that are in them.

25 Which by the mouth of thy servant David hast said, ^bWhy did the Gentiles rage, and the people imagine vain things?

26 The kings of the earth assembled, and the rulers came together against the Lord, and against his Christ.

27 For doubtless, against thine holy Son Jesus, whom thou hadst anointed, both Herod and Pontius Pilate, with the Gentiles and the ¹people of Israel gathered themselves together.

28 To ¹do whatsoever ²thine hand, and thy counsel had determined before to be done.

29 And now, O Lord, behold their threatenings, and grant unto thy servants with all boldness to speak thy word, 30 So that thou stretch forth thine hand that healing, and signs, and wonders may be done by the Name of thine holy Son Jesus.

31 ¹And when as they had prayed, the place was shaken where they were assembled together, and they were all filled with the holy Ghost, and they spake the word of God boldly.

32 ¹And the multitude of them that believed, were of ²one heart, and of one soul: neither any of them said, that anything of that which he possessed, was his own, but they had all things ^ccommon.

33 And with great power gave the Apostles witness of the resurrection of the Lord Jesus: and great grace was upon them all.

34 ¹Neither was there any among them, that lacked: for as many as were possessors of lands or houses, sold them, and brought the price of the things that were sold,

35 And laid it down at the Apostles' feet, and it was distributed unto every man, according as he had need.

36 Also Joses which was called of the Apostles, Barnabas (that is by interpretation, the son of consolation) being a Levite, and of the country of 37 Where as he had land, sold it, and brought the money, and laid it down at the Apostles' feet.

Cyprus,

5 ¹ Ananias for his deceit in keeping back part of price, ⁵ falleth down dead, ¹⁰ and likewise Sapphira his wife. ¹² Through divers the Apostles' miracles, ¹⁴ the faith is increased. ¹⁸ The Apostles that were imprisoned, ¹⁹ are delivered by an Angel, ²⁶ and being before the Synod of the Priests, ³⁶ through Gamaliel's counsel they are kept alive, ⁴⁰ and beaten: ⁴¹ They glorify God.

1 But ¹a certain man named Ananias, with Sapphira his wife, sold a possession,

2 And ¹kept away part of the price, his wife also being of counsel, and brought a certain part, and laid it down at the Apostles' feet.

3 Then said Peter, Ananias, why hath Satan ¹filled thine heart, that thou shouldst ²lie unto the holy Ghost, and keep away part of the price of this possession?

4 While it remained, appertained it not unto thee? and after it was sold, was it not in thine own power? how is it that thou hast ¹conceived this thing in thine heart? thou hast not lied unto men, but unto God.

5 Now when Ananias heard these words, he fell down, and gave up the ghost. Then great fear came on all them that heard these things.

6 And the young men rose up, and took him up, and carried him out, and buried him.

7 And it came to pass about the space of three hours after, that his wife came in, ignorant of that which was done.

8 And Peter said unto her, Tell me, sold ye the land for so much? And she said, Yea, for so much.

9 Then Peter said unto her, Why have ye agreed together, to ¹tempt the Spirit of the Lord? behold, the feet of them which have buried thine husband, are at the ²door, and shall carry thee out.

10 Then she fell down straightway at his feet, and 4:27 ¹ Although the people of Israel was but one people, yet the plural number is here used, not so much for the twelve tribes, every one of which made a people, as for the great multitude of them, as though many nations had assembled themselves together, as Judg. 5:14.

4:28 ¹ The wicked execute God's counsel, though they think nothing of it, but they are not therefore without fault.

² Thou hadst determined of thine absolute authority and power.

4:31 ¹ God witnesseth to his Church by a visible sign, that it is he that will establish it by shaking the powers both of heaven and earth.

4:32 ¹ An example of the true Church, wherein there is consent as well in doctrine as in charity one towards another: And the Pastors deliver true doctrine both sincerely, and constantly.

² They agreed both in counsel, will, and purposes.

4:34 ¹ True charity helpeth the necessity of the poor with its own loss: but so, that all things be done well and orderly.

5:1 ¹ Luke sheweth by contrary examples, how great a sin hypocrisy is, especially in them which under a false pretence and cloak of zeal would seem to shine and be chief in the Church.

5:2 ¹ Craftily took away.

5:3 ¹ Fully possessed.

² For when they had appointed that farm or possession for the Church, they stuck not at it to keep away a part of the price, as though they had had to do with men, and not with God, and therefore he saith afterward that they tempted God.

5:4 ¹ Hereby is declared an advised and purposed deceit, and the fault of the man in admitting the devil's suggestions.

5:9 ¹ Look how oft men do things with an evil conscience; so oft they pronounce sentence against themselves, and as much as in them lieth, provoke God to anger, as of set purpose, minding to try whether he be just and almighty or no.

² Are at hand.

yielded up the ghost: and the young men came in, and found her dead, and carried her out, and buried her by her husband.

11 ¹And great fear came on all the Church, and on as many as heard these things.

12 Thus by the hands of the Apostles were many signs and wonders showed among the people (and they were all with one accord in Solomon's porch.

13 And of the other durst no man join himself to them: nevertheless the people ¹magnified them.

14 Also the number of them that believed in the Lord, both of men and women, grew more and more)

15 Insomuch that they brought the sick into the streets, and laid them on beds and couches, that at the leastway the shadow of Peter, when he came by, might shadow some of them.

16 There came also a multitude out of the cities round about unto Jerusalem, bringing sick folks, and them which were vexed with unclean spirits, who were all healed.

17 ¶ ¹Then the chief Priest rose up, and all they that were with him (which was the ²sect of the Sadducees) and were full of indignation, 18 And laid hands on the Apostles, and put them in the common prison.

19 ¹But the Angel of the Lord by night opened the prison doors, and brought them forth, and said, 20 ¹Go your way, and stand in the Temple, and speak to the people, all the ²words of this life.

21 ¹So when they heard it, they entered into the Temple early in the morning, and taught. And the chief Priest came, and they that were with him, and called the Council together, and all the Elders of the children of Israel, and sent to the prison, to cause them to be brought.

22 But when the officers came, and found them not in the prison, they returned and told it,

23 Saying, Certainly we found the prison shut

^a Acts 3:13

as sure as was possible, and the keepers standing without, before the doors: but when we had opened, we found no man within.

24 Then when the chief Priest and the captain of the Temple, and the high Priests heard these things, they doubted of them, whereunto this would grow.

25 ¹Then came one and showed them, saying, Behold, the men that ye put in prison, are standing in the Temple, and teach the people.

26 ¹Then went the captain with the officers, and brought them without violence (for they feared the people, lest they should have been stoned.)

27 And when they had brought them, they set them before the Council, and the chief Priest asked them,

28 ¹Saying, Did we not straightly command you, that ye should not teach in this name? and behold, ye have filled Jerusalem with your doctrine, and ye would ²bring this man's blood upon us.

29 ¹Then Peter and the Apostles answered, and said, We ought rather to obey God than men.

30 ¹The "God of our fathers hath raised up Jesus whom ye slew, and hanged on a tree.

31 Him hath God lifted up with his right hand, to be a Prince and a Savior, to give repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins.

32 ¹And we are his witnesses concerning these things which we say: yea, and the holy Ghost, whom God hath given to them that obey him.

33 Now when they heard it, they ¹brast for anger, and consulted to slay them.

34 ¹Then stood there up in the Council a certain Pharisee named Gamaliel, a doctor of the Law, honored of all the people, and commanded to put the Apostles forth a little space, 35 And said unto them, Men of Israel, take heed to yourselves, what ye intend to do touching these men.

5:11 ¹ The Lord by his marvelous virtue bridleth some, that they may not hurt the Church: other some he awe and fear: and other some he allureth unto him.

5:13 ¹ Highly praised them.

5:17 ¹ The more that the Church increaseth, the more increaseth the rage of Satan, and therefore they proceed from threatenings, to prisoning.

² The word which is used here, is Heresy, which signifieth a choice, and so is taken for a right form of learning, or faction, or study and course of life, which the Latins call a sect: at the first this word was indifferently used, but at length, it came to be taken only in evil part, whereupon came the name of Heretic, which is taken for one that goeth astray from sound and wholesome doctrine after such sort, that he setteth light by the judgment of God and his Church, and continueth in his opinion, and breaketh the peace of the Church.

5:19 ¹ Angels are made servants of the servants of God.

5:20 ¹ God doth therefore deliver his, that they may more stoutly provoke his enemies.

² Words, whereby the way unto life is showed.

5:21 ¹ God mocketh his enemies' attempts from above.

5:25 ¹ The more openly that Christ's virtue sheweth itself, the more increaseth the madness of his enemies which conspire against him.

5:26 ¹ Tyrants which fear not God, are constrained to fear his servants.

5:28 ¹ It is the property of tyrants to set out their own commandments as right and reason, be they never so wicked.

² Make us guilty of murdering, that man whom yet they will not vouchsafe to name.

5:29 ¹ We ought to obey no man, but so far forth as obeying him, we may obey God.

5:30 ¹ Christ is appointed and indeed declareth Prince and preserver of his Church in despite of his enemies.

5:32 ¹ It is not sufficient for us that there is a right end, but we must also according to our vocation go on forward till we come unto it.

5:33 ¹ This reckoneth that they were in a most vehement rage, and marvelously disquieted in mind, for it is a borrowed kind of speech taken from them which are harrishly cut in sunder with a saw.

5:34 ¹ Christ findeth defenders of his cause even in the very routs of his enemies, so oft as he thinketh it needful.

36 ¹For before these times, rose up Theudas ²boasting himself, to whom resorted a number of men, about a four hundred, who was slain: and they all which obeyed him were scattered, and brought to naught.

37 After this man, arose up Judas of Galilee, in the days of the tribute, and drew away much people after him: he also perished, and all that obeyed him, were scattered abroad.

38 And now I say unto you, ¹Refrain yourselves from these men, and let them alone: for if this counsel, or this work be of ²men, it will come to naught:

39 But if it be of God, ye cannot destroy it, lest ye be found even fighters against God.

40 And to him they agreed, and called the Apostles: and when they had beaten them, they commanded that they should not speak in the Name of Jesus, and let them go.

41 ¹So they departed from the Council, rejoicing, that they were counted worthy to suffer rebuke for his Name.

42 And daily in the ¹Temple, and from house to house they ceased not to teach, and preach Jesus Christ.

6 ¹ The Apostles, ³ appoint the office of Deaconship, ⁵ to seven chosen men: ⁸ Of whom Stephen, full of faith, is one: ¹² He is taken, ¹³ and accused as a transgressor of Moses' Law.

1 And ¹in those days, as the number of the disciples grew, there arose a murmuring of the ²Grecians towards the Hebrews, because their widows were neglected in the ³daily ministering.

CHAPTER 6
^a Acts 21:8

2 ¹Then the twelve called the multitude of the disciples together, and said, It is not ²meet that we should leave the word of God to serve the ³tables.

3 ¹Wherefore brethren, look you out among you seven men of honest report, and full of the holy Ghost, and of wisdom, which we may appoint to this business.

4 And we will give ourselves continually to prayer, and to the ministration of the word.

5 And the saying pleased the whole multitude: and they chose Stephen a man full of faith and of the holy Ghost, and ⁴Philip, and Prochorus, and Nicanor, and Timon, and Parmenas, and Nicolas a Proselyte of Antioch,

6 ¹Which they set before the Apostles: and they prayed, and ²laid their hands on them.

7 ¹And the word of God increased, and the number of the disciples was multiplied in Jerusalem greatly, and a great company of the Priests were obedient to the ²faith.

8 ¶ ¹Now Stephen full of faith and ²power, did great wonders and miracles among the people.

9 ¹Then there arose certain of the ²Synagogue, which are called Libertines, and Cyrenians, and of Alexandria, and of them of Cilicia, and of Asia, and disputed with Stephen.

10 ¹But they were not able to resist the wisdom, and the Spirit by the which he spake.

11 Then they suborned men, which said, We have heard him speak blasphemous words against Moses, and God.

5:36 ¹ In matters of religion we must take good heed that we attempt nothing under a color of zeal, beside our vocation.

² To be of some fame.

5:38 ¹ He dissuadeth his fellows from murdering the Apostles, neither doth he think it good to refer the matter to the Roman Magistrate, for the Jews could abide nothing worse, than to have the tyranny of the Romans confirmed.

² If it be counterfeit and devised.

5:41 ¹ The Apostles, accustomed to suffer and bear words, are at length injured to bear stripes, yet so, that by that means they become stronger.

5:42 ¹ Both publicly and privately.

6:1 ¹ When Satan has assailed the Church without, and that to small purpose and in vain, he assaileth it within, with civil dissension and strife betwixt themselves: but the Apostles take occasion thereby to set order in the Church.

² Of their parts which of Grecians became religious Jews.

³ In the bestowing of alms according to their necessity.

6:2 ¹ The office of preaching the word and dispensing the goods of the Church, are different one from another, and not rashly to be joined together, as the Apostles do here institute: And the Apostles do not choose so much as the Deacons without the consent of the Church.

² It is such a matter, as we may in no wise accept of it.

³ Banquets though by the name of tables, other offices are also meant, which are annexed to it, such as pertain to the care of the poor.

6:3 ¹ In choosing of Deacons (and much more of Ministers) there must be examination both of their learning and manners of life.

6:6 ¹ The ancient Church did with laying on of hands, as it were consecrate to the Lord, such as were lawfully elected.

² This ceremony of laying on of hands came from the Jews, who used this order both in public affairs, and offering of sacrifices, and also in private prayers and blessings, as appeareth Gen. 28, and the Church observed this ceremony, 1 Tim. 5:22; Acts 8:17, but here is no mention made either of cream, or shaving, or raising, or crossing, etc.

6:7 ¹ An happy end of temptation.

² This is the figure Metonymy, meaning by faith, the doctrine of the Gospel which engendereth faith.

6:8 ¹ God exerciseth his Church first with evil words and slanders, then with imprisonments, afterward with scourgings, and by these means prepareth it in such sort, that at length he causeth it to encounter with Satan and the world, even to bloodshed and death, and that with good success.

² Excellent and singular gifts.

6:9 ¹ Schools and Universities were of old time addicted to false pastors, and were the instruments of Satan to blow abroad and defend false doctrines.

² Of the company and College as it were.

6:10 ¹ False teachers, because they will not be overcome, flee from disputations to manifest and open slandering and false accusations.

12 ¹Thus they moved the people and the Elders, and the Scribes: and running upon him, caught him, and brought him to the Council, 13 ¹And set forth false witnesses, which said, This man ceaseth not to speak blasphemous words against this holy place, and the Law.

14 For we have heard him say, that this Jesus of Nazareth shall destroy this place, and shall change the ordinances which Moses gave us.

15 And as all that sat in the Council looked steadfastly on him, they ¹saw his face as it had been the face of an Angel.

7 ¹ Stephen pleading his cause, sheweth that God chose the Fathers, ²⁰ before Moses was born, ⁴² and before the Temple was built: ⁴⁴ And that all outward ceremonies were ordained according to the heavenly Pattern. ⁵⁴ The Jews gnashing their teeth, ⁵⁹ stone him.

1 Then ¹said the chief Priest, Are these things so?

2 ¹And he said, Ye men, brethren, and Fathers, hearken, ⁴That God of ²glory appeared unto our father Abraham, while he was in ³Mesopotamia, before he dwelt in Haran,

3 And said unto him, Come out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and come into the land which I shall show thee.

4 Then came he out of the land of the Chaldeans, and dwelt in Haran. And after that his father was dead, God brought him from thence into this land, wherein ye now dwell,

5 And he gave him none inheritance in it, ¹no not the breadth of a foot: yet he ²promised that he would give it to him for a possession, and to his seed after him, when as yet he had no child.

6 But God spake thus, that his ¹seed should be a sojourner in a strange land: and that they should keep it in bondage, and entreat it evil ¹four hundred years.

7 But the nation to whom they shall be in bondage, will I judge, saith God: and after that, they shall come forth and serve me in this place.

8 ¹He gave him also the covenant of circumcision: and to Abraham begat ^dIsaac, and circumcised him the eighth day: and Isaac begat ^eJacob, and Jacob the twelve ^fPatriarchs.

9 ¹And the Patriarchs moved with envy, sold ^gJoseph into Egypt: but God was ²with him,

10 And delivered him out of all his afflictions, and ^hgave him ¹favor and wisdom in the sight of Pharaoh king of Egypt, who made him governor over Egypt, and over his whole house.

11 ¶ Then came there a famine over all the land of Egypt and Canaan, and great affliction, that our fathers found no sustenance.

12 But when Jacob heard that there was corn in Egypt, he sent our fathers first:

13 ¹And at the second time Joseph was known of his brethren, and Joseph's kindred was made known unto Pharaoh.

14 Then sent Joseph and caused his father to be brought, and all his kindred, even threescore and fifteen souls.

15 So ^hJacob went down into Egypt, and he ⁱdied, and our fathers,

16 And were ¹removed into Shechem, and were put in the sepulcher, that Abraham had bought ^mfor money of the sons of Hamor, son of Shechem.

17 But when the time of the promise drew near, which God had sworn to Abraham, the people ⁿgrew and multiplied in Egypt, 18 Till another King arose, which knew not Joseph.

6:12 ¹ The first bloody persecution of the Church of Christ began and sprang from a Council of Priests by the suggestion of the University doctors.

6:13 ¹ An example of cavillers or false accusers, which gather false conclusions of things that are well uttered and spoken.

6:15 ¹ Hereby it appeareth that Stephen had an excellent and goodly countenance, having a quiet and settled mind, a good conscience, and sure persuasion that his cause was just: for seeing he was to speak before the people, God beautified his countenance, to the end that with the very beholding of him, the Jews' minds might be pierced and amazed.

7:1 ¹ Stephen is admitted to plead his cause, but to this end and purpose, that under a cloak, and color of Law, he might be condemned.

7:2 ¹ Stephen witnesseth unto the Jews, that he acknowledgeth the true fathers, and the only true God: and sheweth moreover, that they are more ancient than the Temple, with all that service appointed by the Law, and therefore they ought to lay another foundation of true religion, that is to say, the free covenant that God made with the fathers.

² That mighty God full of glory and majesty.

³ When he saith afterward, verse 4, that Abraham came out of Chaldea, it is evident that Mesopotamia contained Chaldea which was near unto it, and bordering upon it, and so writeth Plinius, book 6, chap. 27.

7:5 ¹ Not so much ground as to set his foot upon.

² The promise of the possession was certain and belonged to Abraham, though his posterity enjoyed it a great while after his death: and this is the figure Synecdoche.

7:6 ¹ There are reckoned four hundred years, from the beginning of Abraham's progeny, which was at the birth of Isaac: and four hundred and thirty years which are spoken of by Paul, Gal. 3:17, from the time that Abraham and his father departed together out of Ur of the Chaldeans.

7:9 ¹ Stephen reckoneth up diligently the horrible mischiefs of some of the Fathers, to teach the Jews that they ought not rashly to rest in the authority or examples of the Fathers.

² By this kind of speech, is meant the peculiar favor that God sheweth men: for he seemeth to be away from them, whom he helpeth not, and on the other side, he is with them whom he delivereth out of whatsoever great troubles.

7:10 ¹ Gave him favor in Pharaoh's sight for his wisdom.

7:16 ¹ The Patriarchs the sons of Jacob, though there be mention made of no more than Joseph, Josh. 24:32.

19 The same ¹dealt subtly with our kindred, and evil entreated our fathers, and made them to cast out their young children, that they should not remain alive.

20 ²The same time was Moses born and was ¹acceptable unto God: which was nourished up in his father's house three months.

21 And when he was cast out, Pharaoh's daughter took him up, and nourished him for her own son.

22 And Moses was learned in all the wisdom of the Egyptians, and was mighty in words and in deeds.

23 Now when he was full forty years old, it came into his heart to visit his brethren, the children of Israel.

24 ³And when he saw one of them suffer wrong, he defended him, and avenged his quarrel that had the harm done to him, and smote the Egyptian.

25 For he supposed his brethren would have understood, that God by his hand should give them deliverance: but they understood it not.

26 ⁴And the next day, he showed himself unto them as they strove, and would have set them at one again, saying, Sirs, ye are brethren: why do ye wrong one to another?

27 But he that did his neighbor wrong, thrust him away, saying, Who made thee a prince, and a judge over us?

28 Wilt thou kill me, as thou didst the Egyptian yesterday?

29 Then fled Moses at that saying, and was a stranger in the land of Midian, where he begat two sons.

30 And when forty years were expired, there appeared to him in the ⁵wilderness of mount Sinai, an ¹Angel of the Lord in a flame of fire, in a bush.

31 And when Moses saw it, he wondered at the sight: and as he drew near to consider it, the voice of the Lord came unto him, saying, 32 I am the God of thy fathers, the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob. Then Moses trembled, and durst not behold it.

33 Then the Lord said to him, Put off thy shoes from thy feet: for the place where thou standest, is holy ground.

34 I have seen, I have seen the affliction of my people, which is in Egypt, and I have heard their groaning, and am come down to deliver them: and now come, and I will send thee into Egypt.

35 This Moses whom they forsook, saying, Who made thee a prince and a judge? the same God sent for a prince, and a deliverer by the ¹hand of the Angel which appeared to him in the bush.

36 He ²brought them out, doing wonders, and miracles in the land of Egypt, and in the Red Sea, and in the wilderness ³forty years.

37 ¹This is that Moses, which said unto the children of Israel, "A Prophet shall the Lord your God raise up unto you, even of your brethren, like unto me: him shall ye hear.

38 ²This is he that was in the Congregation, in the wilderness with the Angel, which spake to him in mount Sinai, and with our fathers, who received the lively oracles to give unto us.

39 To whom our fathers would not obey, but refused, and in their hearts turned back again into Egypt, 40 Saying unto Aaron, "Make us gods that may go before us: for we know not what is become of this Moses that brought us out of the land of Egypt.

41 And they made a ¹calf in those days, and offered sacrifice unto the idol, and rejoiced in the works of their own hands.

42 Then God turned himself away, and ¹gave them up to serve the ²host of heaven, as it is written in the book of the Prophets, "O house of Israel, have ye offered to me slain beasts and sacrifices by the space of forty years in the wilderness?

43 And ye ¹took up the Tabernacle of Moloch, and the star of your god Remphan, figures, which ye made to worship them: therefore I will carry you away beyond Babylon.

44 ¹Our fathers had the Tabernacle of ²witness in the wilderness, as he had appointed, speaking unto ³Moses, that he should make it according to the fashion that he had seen.

45 ²Which tabernacle also our fathers ¹received, and brought in with Jesus into the ²possession of the Gentiles, which God drove out ³before our fathers,

7:19 ¹ He devised a subtle invention against our stock, in that he commanded all the males to be cast out.

7:20 ¹ That child was born through God's merciful goodness and favor, to be of a goodly and fair countenance.

7:30 ¹ Now he calleth the Son of God an Angel, for he is the Angel of great counsel, and therefore, straightway after he sheweth him, saying to Moses, I am that God of thy Fathers, etc.

7:35 ¹ By the power.

7:37 ¹ He acknowledgeth Moses for the lawgiver, but so that he proveth by his own witness, that the Law had respect to a more perfect thing, that is to say, to the prophetic office which tended to Christ, the head of all Prophets.

7:41 ¹ This was the superstition of the Egyptians' idolatry: for they worshipped Apis a strange and marvelous calf, and made goodly images of Kine, Herodias, lib. 2.

7:42 ¹ Being destitute and void of his Spirit, he gave them up to Satan, and wicked lusts to worship stars.

² By the host of heaven, here he meaneth not the Angels, but the moon and sun and other stars.

7:43 ¹ You took it upon your shoulders and carried it.

7:44 ¹ Moses indeed erected a Tabernacle, but that was to call them back to that form which he had seen in the mountain.

² That is, of the covenant.

7:45 ¹ Delivered from hand to hand.

59 And they stoned Stephen, who called on God, and said, Lord Jesus receive my spirit.

8 ² The godly make lamentation for Stephen. ³ Saul maketh havoc of the Church. ⁵ Philip preacheth Christ at Samaria. ⁹ Simon Magus, ¹³ his covetousness reproveth. ²⁶ Philip ²⁷ cometh to the Ethiopian Eunuch, ³⁸ and baptizeth him.

1 And ¹Saul consented to his death. And at that time, there was a great persecution against the Church which was at Jerusalem, and they were all scattered abroad throughout the regions of Judea and of Samaria, except the Apostles.

2 ¹Then certain men fearing God, ²carried Stephen among them, to be buried, and made great lamentation for him.

3 ¹But Saul made havoc of the Church, and entered into every house, and drew out both men and women, and put them into prison.

4 Therefore they that were scattered abroad, went to and fro preaching the word.

5 ¶ ¹Then came Philip into the city of Samaria, and preached Christ unto them.

6 And the people gave heed unto those things which Philip spake, with one accord, hearing and seeing the miracles which he did.

7 For unclean spirits crying with a loud voice, came out of many that were possessed of them: and many taken with palsies, and that halted, were healed.

² By the figure Metonymy, for the countries which the Gentiles possessed.

³ God drove them out, that they should yield up the possession of those countries to our fathers, when they entered into the land.

7:47 ¹ Solomon built a Temple, according to God's commandment, but not with any such condition, that the Majesty of God should be enclosed therein.

7:51 ¹ Stephen moved with the zeal of God, at length judgeth his own judges.

² They are of uncircumcised hearts, which lie drowned still in the sins of nature, and stick fast in them: for otherwise all the Jews were circumcised as touching the flesh, and therefore there were two kinds of circumcision, Rom. 2:28.

7:53 ¹ By the ministry of Angels.

7:54 ¹ The more Satan is pressed, the more he brasteth out into an open rage.

7:55 ¹ The nearer that the Martyrs approach to death, the nearer they beholding Christ, do rise up even into heaven.

² Ready to confirm him in the confession of the truth, and to receive him to him.

7:57 ¹ The zeal of hypocrites and superstitious people, breaketh out at length into most open madness.

² This was done in a rage and fury: for at that time the Jews could put no man to death by law, as they confess before Pilate, saying that it was not lawful for them to put any man to death, and therefore it is reported by Josephus, lib. 20, that Ananus a Sadducee slew James the brother of the Lord, and for so doing, was accused before Albinus the President of the country.

7:58 ¹ It was appointed by the Law, that the witnesses should cast the first stones, Deut. 17:7.

7:60 ¹ Faith and charity never forsake the true servants of God, even to the last breath.

² The word which he useth here noteth out such a kind of imputing or laying to one's charge, as remaineth firm, and steady forever, never to be remitted.

³ See 1 Thess. 4:13.

8:1 ¹ Christ useth the rage of his enemies to the spreading forth and enlarging of his kingdom.

8:2 ¹ The godly mourn for Stephen after his death, and bury him, showing therein an example of singular faith and charity: but no man prayeth to him.

² Amongst all the duties of charity which the godly use, there is no mention made of shricing up of relics.

8:3 ¹ The dispersion or scattering abroad of the faithful, is the joining together of Churches.

8:5 ¹ Philip, who was before a Deacon in Jerusalem, is made of God extraordinarily an Evangelist.

8 And there was great joy in that city.

9 ¹And there was before in the city, a certain man called Simon, which used ²witchcraft, and ³bewitched the people of Samaria, saying that he himself was some great man,

10 To whom they gave heed from the least to the greatest, saying, This man is that great power of God.

11 And they gave heed unto him, because that of long time he had bewitched them with sorceries.

12 But as soon as they believed Philip, which preached the things that concerned the kingdom of God, and the Name of Jesus Christ, they were baptized both men and women.

13 ¹Then Simon himself believed also, and was baptized, and continued with Philip, and wondered, when he saw the signs and great miracles which were done.

14 ¶ ¹Now when the Apostles, which were at Jerusalem, heard say, that Samaria had received the word of God, they sent unto them Peter and John.

15 Which when they were come down, prayed for them, that they might receive the ¹holy Ghost.

16 (For as yet he was fallen down on none of them, but they were baptized only in the Name of the Lord Jesus.)

17 Then laid they their hands on them, and they received the holy Ghost.

18 ¹And when Simon saw that through laying on of the Apostles' hands the holy Ghost was given, he offered them money, 19 Saying, Give me also this power, that on whomsoever I lay the hands, he may receive the holy Ghost.

20 ¹Then said Peter unto him, Thy money perish with thee, because thou thinkest that the gift of God may be obtained with money.

CHAPTER 8
^a Isa. 53:7

21 Thou hast neither part nor fellowship in this ¹business: for thine heart is not ²right in the sight of God.

22 ¹Repent therefore of this thy wickedness, and pray God, that if it be possible, the thought of thine heart may be forgiven thee.

23 For I see that thou art in the ¹gall of bitterness, and in the ²bond of iniquity.

24 Then answered Simon, and said, Pray ye to the Lord for me, that none of these things which ye have spoken, come upon me.

25 ¶ So they, when they had testified and preached the word of the Lord, returned to Jerusalem, and preached the Gospel in many towns of the Samaritans.

26 ¹Then the Angel of the Lord spake unto Philip, saying, Arise, and go toward the South unto the way that goeth down from Jerusalem unto Gaza, which is waste.

27 And he arose and went on: and behold, a certain Eunuch of Ethiopia, Candace the Queen of the Ethiopians' ¹chief Governor, who had the rule of all her treasure, and came to Jerusalem to worship.

28 And as he returned sitting in his chariot, he read Isaiah the Prophet.

29 Then the Spirit said unto Philip, Go near and join thyself to yonder chariot.

30 And Philip ran thither, and heard him read the Prophet Isaiah, and said, But understandest thou what thou readest?

31 And he said, How can I, except I had ¹a guide? And he desired Philip, that he would come up and sit with him.

32 ¹Now the place of the Scripture which he read, was this, "He was lead as a sheep to the slaughter: and like a lamb dumb before his shearer, so opened he not his mouth.

8:9 ¹ Christ overcometh Satan so oft as he listeth, and carrieth him about as it were in a triumph in the sight of them, whom he deceived and bewitched.

² The word which is used in this place was at the first taken in good part, and is borrowed out of the Persians' language, who call their wise men by that name, but afterward it was taken in evil part.

³ He had so allured the Samaritans with his witchcrafts, that as blind and mad harebrains they were wholly addicted to him.

8:13 ¹ The wicked and the very reprobate are constrained oftentimes to taste of the good gift of God, but they cast it up again forthwith.

8:14 ¹ Peter not chief, but as an ambassador sent from the whole company of the Apostles, and John his companion according to the authority which was committed unto them, confirm and build up the Churches of Samaria, whose foundation had been laid afore by Philip.

8:15 ¹ Those excellent gifts, which are necessary, especially for them that were to be appointed rulers and governors of the Church.

8:18 ¹ Ambition and covetousness do at length pluck the hypocrites out of their dens.

8:20 ¹ They are the successors of Simon Magus, and not of Simon

Peter, which either buy or sell holy things.

8:21 ¹ In this doctrine which I preach.

² Is not upright in deed, and without dissembling.

8:22 ¹ We must hope well even of the vilest sinners, so long and so far forth as we may.

8:23 ¹ He calleth the inward malice of the heart, and that venomous and devilish wickedness wherewith this Magician was wholly replenished, the gall of bitterness: and he is said to be in the gall as though he were wholly overwhelmed with gall, and buried in it.

² Entangled in the bonds of iniquity.

8:26 ¹ Christ who calleth freely whom he listeth, doth now use Philip who thought on no such matter, to instruct and baptize the Eunuch at unawares, and by this means extendeth the limits of his kingdom even into Ethiopia.

8:27 ¹ A man of great wealth and authority with Candaces: Now this word Candaces is a common name to all the Queens of Ethiopia.

8:31 ¹ To show me the way how to understand it.

8:32 ¹ Those things which seem most to come by chance or fortune (as men term it) are governed by the secret providence of God.

33 In his ¹humility his judgment hath been exalted: but who shall declare his ²generation? for his life is taken from the earth.

34 Then the Eunuch answered Philip, and said, I pray thee, of whom speaketh the Prophet this? of himself, or of some other man?

35 Then Philip opened his mouth, and began at the same Scripture, and preached unto him Jesus.

36 And as they went on their way, they came unto a certain water, and the Eunuch said, See, here is water: what doth let me to be baptized?

37 ¹And Philip said unto him, If thou believest with all thine heart, thou mayest. Then he answered, and said, ²I believe that that Jesus Christ is that Son of God.

38 Then he commanded the chariot to stand still: and they went down both into the water, both Philip and the Eunuch, and he baptized him.

39 And as soon as they were come up out of the water, the Spirit of the Lord caught away Philip, that the Eunuch saw him no more: so he went on his way rejoicing.

40 But Philip was found at Azotus, and he walked to and fro preaching in all the cities, till he came to Caesarea.

9 ² Saul going towards Damascus, ⁴ is stricken down to the ground of the Lord: ¹⁰ Ananias is sent ¹⁸ to baptize him. ²³ The laying away of the Jews, ²⁵ he escapeth, being let down through the wall. ³³ Peter cureth Aeneas of the palsy, ³⁶ and by him Tabitha being dead, ⁴⁰ is restored to life.

1 And ^{a,1} Saul yet ² breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, went unto the high Priest,

2 And desired of him letters to Damascus to the Synagogues, that if he found any that were of that ¹ way, (either men or women) he might bring them bound unto Jerusalem.

CHAPTER 9

^a Rom. 9:3
Gal. 1:13

^b Acts 22:6
1 Cor. 15:8

3 Now as he journeyed, it came to pass that as he was come near to Damascus, ^b suddenly there shined round about him a light from heaven.

4 And he fell to the earth, and heard a voice saying to him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?

5 And he said, Who art thou, Lord? And the Lord said, I am Jesus whom thou persecutest: it is ¹ hard for thee to kick against pricks.

6 He then both trembling and astonished, said, Lord, what wilt thou that I do? And the Lord said unto him, Arise, and go into the city, and it shall be told thee what thou shalt do.

7 The men also which journeyed with him, ¹ stood amazed, hearing his ² voice, but seeing no man.

8 And Saul arose from the ground, and opened his eyes, but saw no man. Then led they him by the hand, and brought him into Damascus, 9 Where he was three days without sight, and neither ate nor drank.

10 And there was a certain disciple at Damascus named Ananias, and to him said the Lord in a vision, Ananias. And he said, Behold, I am here Lord.

11 Then the Lord said unto him, Arise, and go into the street which is called Straight, and seek in the house of Judas after one called Saul of ¹ Tarsus: for behold, he prayeth.

12 (And he saw in a vision a man named Ananias coming in to him, and putting his hands on him, that he might receive his sight.)

13 Then Ananias answered, Lord, I have heard by many of this man, how much evil he hath done to thy saints at Jerusalem.

14 Moreover here he hath authority of the high Priests, to bind all that call on thy Name.

15 Then the Lord said unto him, Go thy way: for he is a ¹ chosen vessel unto me, to bear my Name before the Gentiles, and Kings, and the children of Israel.

16 For I will ¹ show him, how many things he must

8:33 ¹ The Hebrew text readeth it thus, Out of a narrow strait, and out of judgment was he taken: whereby the narrow strait, he meaneth the grave and the very bands of death, and by judgment, the punishment which was laid upon him, and the miserable state which Christ took upon him for our sakes, in bearing his Father's wrath.

² How long his age shall last: for Christ having once risen from the dead, dieth no more, Rom. 6:9.

8:37 ¹ Profession of faith is requisite in baptizing of them which are of years, and therefore it is evident that we are not then first ingrafted into Christ, when we are baptized, but being already ingrafted are then confirmed.

² The sum of the confession which is necessary for baptism.

9:1 ¹ Saul (who is also Paul) persecuting Christ most cruelly, who did as it were flee before him, falleth into his hands, and is overcome: and with a singular example of the goodness of God, instead of punishment which he justly deserved for his cruelty, is not only received to favor, but is also even by the mouth of God appointed an Apostle, and is confirmed by the ministry and witness of Ananias.

² This is a token that Saul's stomach boiled and cast out great threatenings to murder the disciples.

9:2 ¹ Any trade of life which a man taketh himself unto, the Jews call a way.

9:5 ¹ This is a proverb which is spoken of them that through their own stubbornness hurt themselves.

9:7 ¹ Stood still and could not go one step forward, but abode amazed as if they had been very stones.

² They heard Paul's voice: for afterwards it is said in flattering, that they heard not his voice that speak: as beneath, Acts 22:9. But others go about to set these places at one which seem to be at ajar, after this sort, to wit, that they heard a sound of a voice, but no perfect voice.

9:11 ¹ Tarsus was a city of Cilicia near unto Anchiala, which two cities Sardapanalus is said to have built in one day.

9:15 ¹ To bear my name in.

9:16 ¹ I will show him plainly.

suffer for my Name's sake.

17 Then Ananias went his way, and entered into ¹that house, and put his hands on him, and saith, Brother Saul, the Lord hath sent me (even Jesus that appeared unto thee in the way as thou camest) that thou mightest receive thy sight, and be filled with the holy Ghost.

18 And immediately there fell from his eyes as it had been scales, and suddenly he received sight, and arose, and was baptized,

19 And received meat, and was strengthened. So was Saul certain days with the disciples which were at Damascus.

20 ¹And straightway he preached Christ in the Synagogues, that he was that Son of God.

21 So that all that heard him were amazed, and said, Is not this he, that made havoc of them which called on this Name in Jerusalem, and came hither for that intent, that he should bring them bound unto the high Priests?

22 ¹But Saul increased the more in strength, and confounded the Jews which dwelt at Damascus, ²confirming that this was that Christ.

23 ¹And after that many days were fulfilled, the Jews took counsel to kill him, 24 But their laying await was known of Saul: now they ¹watched the gates day and night, that they might kill him.

25 ¹Then the disciples took him by night, and put him through the wall, and let him down by a rope in a basket.

26 ¹And when Saul was come to Jerusalem, he assayed to join himself with the disciples: but they were all afraid of him, and believed not that he was a disciple.

27 But Barnabas took him, and brought him to the Apostles, and declared to them, how he had seen the Lord in the way, and that he had spoken unto him, and how he had spoken boldly at Damascus in the Name of Jesus.

^c2 Cor. 11:31

28 ¹And he was conversant ²with them at Jerusalem,

29 And spake boldly in the Name of the Lord Jesus, and spake and disputed against the ¹Grecians: but they went about to slay him.

30 ¹But when the brethren knew it, they brought him to Caesarea, and sent him forth to Tarsus.

31 ¹Then had the Churches rest through all Judea, and Galilee, and Samaria, and were ²edified, and walked in the fear of the Lord, and were multiplied by the comfort of the holy Ghost.

32 ¹And it came to pass, as Peter walked throughout all quarters, he came also to the saints which dwelt at Lydda.

33 And there he found a certain man named Aeneas, which had kept his couch eight years, and was sick of the palsy.

34 Then said Peter unto him, Aeneas, Jesus Christ maketh thee whole: arise and truss thy couch together. And he arose immediately.

35 And all that dwelt at ¹Lydda and Sharon, saw him, and turned to the Lord.

36 ¹There was also at Joppa a certain woman, a disciple named Tabitha (which by interpretation is called Dorcas) she was full of good works and alms which she did.

37 And it came to pass in those days, that she was sick and died: and when they had washed her, they laid her in an upper chamber.

38 Now forasmuch as Lydda was near to Joppa, and the disciples had heard that Peter was there, they sent unto him two men, desiring that he would not delay to come unto them.

39 Then Peter arose and came with them: and when he was come, they brought him into the upper chamber, where all the widows stood by him weeping, and showing the coats and garments, which Dorcas made, while she was with them.

9:17 ¹ Into Judas's house.

9:20 ¹ Paul beginneth straightways to execute the office which was enjoined him, never consulting with flesh and blood.

9:22 ¹ Paul striveth not with his own authority alone, but with the testimonies of the Prophets.

² By conferring places of the Scripture together, as cunning craftsman do, when they make up anything, they use to gather all parts together, to make them agree fitly one with another.

9:23 ¹ Paul, who was before a persecutor, hath now persecution laid before himself, but yet afar off.

9:25 ¹ We are not forbidden to avoid and eschew the dangers and conspiracies that the enemies of God lay for us, so that we swerve not from our vocation.

9:26 ¹ In ancient times no man was rashly or lightly received into the number of and amongst the sheep of Christ, much less to be a pastor.

9:28 ¹ The constant servants of God must look for danger after danger: yet God watcheth for them.

² With Peter and James, for he saith that he saw none of the Apostles but them, Gal. 1:18-19.

9:29 ¹ See Acts 6:1.

9:30 ¹ The ministers of the word may change their place, by the advice and counsel of the congregation and Church.

9:31 ¹ The end of persecution is the building of the Church, so that we will patiently wait for the Lord.

² This is a borrowed kind of speech, which signifieth establishment and increase.

9:32 ¹ Peter's Apostleship is confirmed by healing of the man that was sick of the palsy.

9:35 ¹ Lydda was a city of Palestine, and Sharon a Champion country and a place of good pasturage between Caesarea of Palestine and the mountain Tabor, and the lake of Gennesaret, which extendeth itself in great length beyond Joppa.

9:36 ¹ Peter declareth evidently by raising up a dead body through the Name of Christ, that he preacheth the glad tidings of life.

40 But Peter put them all forth, and kneeled down, and prayed, and turned him to the body, and said, Tabitha, arise. And she opened her eyes, and when she saw Peter, sat up.

41 Then he gave her the hand and lifted her up, and called the Saints and widows, and restored her alive.

42 And it was known throughout all Joppa, and many believed in the Lord.

43 And it came to pass, that he tarried many days in Joppa with one Simon a Tanner.

10 ¹*Cornelius* ⁴*at the Angel's commandment,* ⁵*sendeth for Peter.* ¹¹*Who also by a vision,* ^{15, 20}is taught not to despise the Gentiles. ³⁴*He preacheth the Gospel to Cornelius and his household.* ⁴⁵*Who having received the holy Ghost,* ⁴⁷*are baptized.*

1 Furthermore ¹there was a certain man in Caesarea called Cornelius, a captain of the band called the Italian band,

2 A ¹devout man, and one that feared God with ²all his household, which gave much alms to the people, and prayed God continually.

3 He saw in a vision evidently (about the ninth hour of the day) an Angel of God coming in to him, and saying unto him, Cornelius.

4 But when he looked on him, he was afraid, and said, ¹What is it, Lord? and he said unto him, Thy prayers and thine alms are ²come up into ³remembrance before God.

5 Now therefore send men to Joppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter.

6 He lodgeth with one Simon a Tanner, whose house is by the sea side: he shall tell thee what thou oughtest to do.

7 And when the Angel which spake unto Cornelius, was departed, he called two of his servants, and a soldier that feared God, one of them that waited on him,

8 And told them all things, and sent them to Joppa.

9 On the morrow as they went on their journey, and drew near unto the city, Peter went up upon the house to pray, about the sixth hour.

10 Then waxed he an hungered, and would have eaten: but while they made something ready, he fell into a ¹trance.

11 And he saw heaven opened, and a certain vessel come down unto him, as it had been a great sheet, knit at the ¹four corners, and was let down to the earth.

12 Wherein were ¹all manner of ²four footed beasts of the earth, and wild beasts and ³creeping things, and fowls of the heaven.

13 And there came a voice to him, Arise, Peter: kill, and eat.

14 ¹But Peter said, Not so, Lord: for I have never eaten anything that is polluted, or unclean.

15 And the voice spake unto him again the second time, The things that God hath purified, ¹pollute thou not.

16 This was so done thrice: and the vessel was drawn up again into heaven.

17 ¶ Now while Peter doubted in himself what this vision which he had seen, meant, behold, the men which were sent from Cornelius, had inquired for Simon's house, and stood at the gate,

18 And called, and asked, whether Simon, which was surnamed Peter, were lodged there.

19 And while Peter thought on the vision, the Spirit said unto him, Behold, three men seek thee.

20 Arise therefore, and get thee down, and go with them, and doubt nothing: For I have sent them.

21 ¶ Then Peter went down to the men, which were sent unto him from Cornelius, and said, Behold, I am he whom ye seek: what is the cause wherefore ye are come?

22 And they said, Cornelius the captain, a just man, and one that feareth God, and of good report among all the nation of the Jews, was warned from heaven by an holy Angel to send for thee into his house, and to hear thy words.

10:1 ¹ Peter consecrateth the firstfruits of the Gentiles to God by the means of two miracles.

10:2 ¹ So that he worshipped one God, and was no idolater, and neither could be void of faith in Christ, because he was a devout man but as yet he knew not that he was come.

² This is a great commendation to this man, that he labored to have all his household and familiar friends and acquaintances to be religious and godly.

10:4 ¹ What wilt thou with me, Lord? for he setteth himself to hear.

² This is a borrowed kind of speech, which the Hebrews use very much, taken from sacrifices, and applied to prayers: for it is said of whole burnt sacrifices, that the smoke and savor of them goeth up into God's nostrils: so do our prayers as a sweet-smelling sacrifice which the Lord taketh great pleasure in.

³ That is, insomuch that they will not suffer God as it were, to forget thee: for so doth the Scripture use oftentimes to prattle with us as nurses do with little children, when they frame their tongues to speak.

10:10 ¹ For though Peter stand not amazed as one that is tongue tied, but talketh with God, and is instructed in his mysteries, yet his mind was far otherwise than it was wont to be, but shortly returned to the old bent.

10:11 ¹ So that it seemed to be a foursquare sheet.

10:12 ¹ Here is this word (All) which is general, plainly put for an indefinite and uncertain, that is to say, for some of all sorts, not for all of every sort.

² That is, such as were meet for men's use.

³ What is meant by the creeping things, see Lev. 11.

10:14 ¹ Peter profiteth daily in the knowledge of the benefit of Christ, yea, after that he had received the holy Ghost.

10:15 ¹ Do not thou hold them as unprofitable.

23 Then called he them in, and lodged them: and the next day, Peter went forth with them, and certain brethren from Joppa accompanied him.

24 ¶ And the day after, they entered into Caesarea. Now Cornelius waited for them, and had called together his kinsmen, and special friends.

25 ¹And it came to pass as Peter came in, that Cornelius met him, and fell down at his feet, and worshipped him.

26 But Peter took him up, saying, Stand up: for even I myself am a man.

27 And as he talked with him, he came in, and found many that were come together.

28 And he said unto them, Ye know that it is an unlawful thing for a man that is a Jew, to company, or come unto one of another nation: but God hath showed me, that I should not call any man polluted, or unclean.

29 Therefore came I unto you without saying nay, when I was sent for. I ask therefore, for what intent have ye sent for me?

30 Then Cornelius said, Four days ago, about ¹this hour, I fasted, and at the ninth hour I prayed in mine house, and behold, a man stood before me in bright clothing, 31 ¹And said, Cornelius, thy prayer is heard, and thine alms are had in remembrance in the sight of God.

32 ¹Send therefore to Joppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter (he is lodged in the house of Simon a Tanner by the Seaside) who when he cometh, shall speak unto thee.

33 Then sent I for thee immediately, and thou hast well done to come. Now therefore are we all here present before God to hear all things that are commanded thee of God.

34 ¹Then Peter opened his mouth, and said, Of a truth

I perceive, that ^{a2}God is no [respector] of persons.

35 But in every nation he that ¹feareth him, and worketh righteousness, is accepted with him.

36 Ye ¹know the word which God hath sent to the children of Israel, preaching peace by Jesus Christ, which is Lord of all:

37 ¹Even the word which came through all Judea, ^bbeginning in Galilee, after the Baptism which John preached:

38 To wit, how God ¹anointed Jesus of Nazareth with the holy Ghost, and with power: who went about doing good, and healing all that were oppressed of the devil: for God was with him.

39 And we are witnesses of all things which he did both in the land of the Jews, and in Jerusalem, whom they slew, hanging him on a tree.

40 Him God raised up the third day, and caused that he was showed openly:

41 Not to all the people, but unto the witnesses ¹chosen before of God, even to us which did eat and drink with him, after he arose from the dead.

42 And he commanded us to preach unto the people, and to testify, that it is he that is ordained of God a judge of quick and dead.

43 To him also give all the ¹Prophets witness, that through his Name all that believe in him, shall receive remission of sins.

44 ¹While Peter yet spake these words, the holy Ghost fell on all them which heard the word.

45 So they of the circumcision, which believed, were astonished, as many as came with Peter, because that on the Gentiles also was poured out the gift of the holy Ghost.

46 For they heard them speak with tongues, and magnify God. Then answered Peter,

47 ¹Can any man forbid water, that these should

10:25 ¹ Religious adoration or worship agreeth only to God: but civil worship is given to the Ministers of the word, although not without danger.

10:30 ¹ He meaneth not the selfsame hour, but the like, that is, about nine of the clock the other day, as it was then nine when he spake to Peter.

10:31 ¹ Cornelius's faith sheweth forth itself by prayer and charity.

10:32 ¹ As faith cometh by hearing, so is it nourished and groweth up by the same.

10:34 ¹ Distinction of nations is taken away by the coming of Christ: And it is evidently seen by faith and righteousness, who is agreeable to him, or whom he accepteth.

² That God judgeth not after the outward appearance.

10:35 ¹ By the fear of God, the Hebrews understand the whole service of God: whereby we perceive that Cornelius was not void of faith, no more than they were which lived before Christ's time: and therefore they deal foolishly, which build preparative works and free will upon this place.

10:36 ¹ God gave the Israelites to understand, that whosoever liveth godly, is acceptable to God, of what nation soever he be, for he preached peace to men through Jesus Christ, who is Lord not of one nation only, that is, of the Jews, but of all.

10:37 ¹ The sum of the Gospel (which shall be made manifest at the latter day when Christ himself shall sit as judge both of the quick and the dead) is this, that Christ promised to the Fathers, and exhibited in his time with the mighty power of God, (which was by all means showed) and at length crucified to reconcile us to God, did rise again the third day, that whosoever believeth in him should be saved through the remission of sins.

10:38 ¹ This style is taken from an old custom of the Jews, who used to anoint their Kings and Priests, whereupon it grew, to call them anointed, upon whom God bestowed gifts and virtues.

10:41 ¹ This choosing of the Apostles is properly given to God: for though God be president in the lawful election of ministers, yet there is in this place a secret opposition and setting of God's choosing, and men voice the one against the other, for the Apostles are immediately appointed of God, and the Church Ministers by means.

10:44 ¹ The Spirit of God sealeth that in the heart of the hearers, which the minister of the word speaketh by the commandment of God, as it appeareth by the effects.

10:47 ¹ Baptism doth not sanctify or make them holy which receive it, but sealeth up and confirmeth their sanctification.

not be baptized, which have received the holy Ghost, as well as we?

48 So he commanded them to be baptized in the Name of the Lord. Then prayed they him to tarry certain days.

11 ² Peter being accused for going to the Gentiles, defendeth himself. ²² Barnabas is sent to Antioch, ²⁶ where the disciples are called Christians: ²⁸ and there Agabas foretelleth a famine to come.

1 Now ¹the Apostles and the brethren that were in Judea, heard, that the Gentiles had also received the word of God.

2 And when Peter was come up to Jerusalem, they of the circumcision contended against him,

3 Saying, Thou wentest into men uncircumcised, and hast eaten with them.

4 Then Peter began, and expounded the thing in order to them, saying,

5 I was in the city of Joppa, praying, and in a trance I saw this vision, A certain vessel coming down as it had been a great sheet, let down from heaven by the four corners, and it came to me,

6 Toward the which when I had fastened mine eyes, I considered, and saw four footed beasts of the earth, and wild beasts, and creeping things, and fowls of the heaven.

7 Also I heard a voice, saying unto me, Arise, Peter: slay and eat.

8 And I said, God forbid, Lord: for nothing polluted or unclean hath at anytime entered into my mouth.

9 But the voice answered me the second time from heaven, The things that God hath purified, pollute thou not.

10 And this was done three times, and all were taken up again into heaven.

11 Then behold, immediately there were three men already come unto the house where I was, sent from Caesarea unto me.

12 And the Spirit said unto me, that I should go with them, without doubting: moreover these six brethren came with me, and we entered into the man's house.

13 And he showed us, how he had seen an Angel in his house, which stood and said to him, Send men to Joppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter.

thou and all thine house shall be saved.

15 And as I began to speak, the holy Ghost fell on them, ^aeven as upon us at the beginning.

16 Then I remembered the word of the Lord, how he said, ^bJohn baptized with water, but ye shall be baptized with the holy Ghost.

17 For as much then as God gave them a like gift, as he did unto us, when we believed in the Lord Jesus Christ, who was I, that I could let God?

18 ¹When they heard these things, they held their peace, and glorified God, saying, Then hath God also to the Gentiles granted repentance unto life.

19 ¶ ¹And they which were 'scattered abroad because of the affliction that arose about Stephen, went throughout till they came unto Phonicia and Cyprus, and ²Antioch, preaching the word to no man, but unto the Jews only.

20 ¹Now some of them were men of Cyprus and of Cyrene, which when they were come into Antioch, spake unto the Grecians, and preached the Lord Jesus.

21 And the hand of the Lord was with them, so that a great number believed and turned unto the Lord.

22 ¹Then tidings of those things came unto the ears of the Church, which was in Jerusalem, and they sent forth Barnabas, that he should go unto Antioch.

23 Who when he was come and had seen the grace of God, was glad, and exhorted all, that with purpose of heart they would continue in the Lord.

24 For he was a good man, and full of the holy Ghost, and faith and much people joined themselves unto the Lord.

25 ¶ ¹Then departed Barnabas to Tarsus to seek Paul:

26 And when he had found him, he brought him unto Antioch: and it came to pass that a whole year they were conversant with the Church, and taught much people, insomuch that the disciples were first called Christians in Antioch.

27 ¹In those days also came Prophets from Jerusalem unto Antioch.

28 And there stood up one of them named Agabus, and signified by the Spirit, that there should be great famine throughout all the world, which also came to pass under Claudius Caesar.

29 ¹Then the disciples every man according to his

11:1 ¹ Peter being without cause reprehended of the unskillful and ignorant, doth not object that he ought not to be judged of any, but openly giveth an account of his doing.

11:18 ¹ Such as ask a question of the truth which they know not, ought to be quietly heard, and must also quietly yield to the declaration thereof.

11:19 ¹ The scattering abroad of the Church of Jerusalem is the cause of the gathering together of many other Churches.

² He speaketh of Antioch which was in Syria and bordered upon Cilicia.

11:20 ¹ The Church of Antioch, the new Jerusalem of the Gentiles was extraordinarily called.

11:22 ¹ The Apostles do not rashly condemn an extraordinary vocation, but yet they judge it by the effects.

11:25 ¹ There was no contention amongst the Apostles either of usurping, or of holding places and degrees.

11:27 ¹ God doth so wrap up his Church with the wicked, in his scourges and plagues which he sendeth upon the earth, that notwithstanding he provideth for it conveniently.

11:29 ¹ All Congregations or Churches make one body.

ability, purposed to send ²succor unto the brethren which dwelt in Judea.

30 Which thing they also did, and sent it to the Elders by the hand of Barnabas and Saul.

12 Herod killeth James with the sword, 4 And imprisoneth Peter, 8 whom the Angel delivereth. 20 Herod being offended with them of Tyrus, 21 is pacified: 22 And taking the honor due to God, to himself. 23 he is eaten with worms, and so dieth.

1 Now ¹about that time, ²Herod the king stretched forth his hand to vex certain of the Church,

2 And he ¹killed James the brother of John with the sword.

3 ¹And when he saw that it pleased the Jews, he proceeded further, to take Peter also (then were the days of unleavened bread.)

4 ¹And when he had caught him, he put him in prison, and delivered him to four quaternions of soldiers to be kept, intending after the Passover to bring him forth to the people.

5 ¹So Peter was kept in prison, but earnest prayer was made of the Church unto God for him.

6 And when Herod would have brought him out unto the people, the same night slept Peter between two soldiers, bound with two chains, and the keepers before the door, kept the prison.

7 ⁴And behold the Angel of the Lord came upon them, and a light shined in the ¹house, and he smote Peter on the side, and raised him up, saying, Arise quickly. And his chains fell off from his hands.

8 And the Angel said unto him, Gird thyself, and bind on thy sandals. And so he did. Then he said unto him, Cast thy garment about thee, and follow me.

9 So Peter came out and followed him, and knew not that it was true, which was done by the Angel, but thought he had seen a vision.

10 Now when they were past the first and the second watch, they came unto the iron gate that leadeth unto the city, which opened to them by its own accord, and they went out, and passed through one street, and by and by the Angel departed from him.

11 ¶ And when Peter was come to himself, he said, Now I know for a truth, that the Lord hath sent his Angel, and hath delivered me out of the hand of Herod, and from all the waiting for of the people of the Jews.

12 ¹And as he considered the thing, he came to the house of Mary, the mother of John, whose surname was Mark, where many were gathered together, and prayed.

13 ¹And when Peter knocked at the entry door, a maid ²came forth to hearken, named Rhoda, 14 But when she knew Peter's voice, she opened not the entry door for gladness, but ran in, and told how Peter stood before the entry.

15 But they said unto her, Thou art mad. Yet she affirmed it constantly, that it was so. Then said they, It is his Angel.

16 But Peter continued knocking, and when they had opened it, and saw him, they were astonished.

17 ¹And he beckoned unto them with the hand, to hold their peace, and told them how the Lord had brought him out of the prison. And he said, Go show these things unto James and to the brethren: and he departed and went into another place.

18 ¶ ¹Now as soon as it was day, there was no small trouble among the soldiers, what was become of Peter.

19 And when Herod had sought for him, and found him not, he examined the keepers, and commanded them to be led to be punished. And he went down from Judea to Caesarea, and there abode.

20 ¹Then Herod was angry with them of Tyre and Sidon, but they came all with one accord unto him, and persuaded Blastus the King's Chamberlain, and they desired peace, because their country was nourished by the King's land.

21 And upon a day appointed, Herod arrayed

11:29 ² That is, that thereof the Deacons might succor the poor: for it behooved to have all these things done orderly, and decently, and therefore it is said, that they sent these things to the Elders, that is, to the governors of the Church.

12:1 ¹ God giveth his Church a truce, but for a little time.

² This name Herod was common to all them that came of the stock of Herod Ascalonites, whose surname was Magnus: but he that is spoken of here, was nephew to Herod the great son to Aristobulus, and father to that Agrippa who is spoken of afterward.

12:2 ¹ Violently, his cause being not once heard.

12:3 ¹ It is an old fashion of tyrants to procure the favor of the wicked, with the blood of the godly.

12:4 ¹ The tyrants and wicked make a gallows for themselves, even then when they do most according to their own will and fantasy.

12:5 ¹ The prayers of the godly overturn the counsel of tyrants, obtain Angels of God, break the prison, loose chains, put Satan to flight and preserve the Church.

12:7 ¹ In the prison.

12:12 ¹ Holy meeting in the night as well of men as women (when they cannot be suffered in the day time) are allowable by the example of the Apostles.

12:13 ¹ We obtain more of God, than we dare well hope for.

² Out of the place where they were assembled, but not out of the house.

12:17 ¹ We may sometimes give place to the rage of the wicked, but yet so that our diligence which ought to be used in God's business, be not a whit slackened.

12:18 ¹ Evil counsel falleth out in the end to the hurt of the devisers of it.

12:20 ¹ A miserable and shameful example of the end of the enemies of the Church.

himself in royal apparel, and sat on the judgment seat, and made an oration unto them.

22 ¹And the people gave a shout, saying, The voice of God, and not of man.

23 ¹But immediately the Angel of the Lord smote him, because he ²gave not glory unto God, so that he was eaten of worms, and gave up the ghost.

24 ¹And the ²word of God grew, and multiplied.

25 So Barnabas and Saul returned from Jerusalem, when they had fulfilled their office, and took with them John, whose surname was Mark.

13 2 The holy Ghost commandeth that Paul and Barnabas be separated unto him. 6 At Paphos, 8 Elymas the sorcerer 11 is stricken blind: 14 From whence being come to Antioch, 17 They preach the Gospel, 45 the Jews vehemently withstanding them.

1 There ¹were also in the Church that was at Antioch, certain Prophets and teachers, as Barnabas, and Simeon called Niger, and Lucius of Cyrene, and Manaen (which had been brought up with ²Herod the Tetrarch) and Saul.

2 Now as they ¹ministered to the Lord, and fasted, the holy Ghost said, Separate me Barnabas and Saul, for the work whereunto I have ²called them.

3 ¹Then fasted they and prayed, and laid their hands on them, and let them go.

4 ¹And they after they were sent forth of the holy Ghost, came down unto ²Seleucia, and from thence they sailed to Cyprus.

5 And when they were at Salamis, they preached the word of God in the Synagogues of the Jews: and they had also John to their minister.

6 So when they had gone throughout the isle unto Paphos, they found a certain sorcerer, a false prophet, being a Jew, named Bar-Jesus,

7 Which was with the Deputy Sergius Paulus, a prudent man. He called unto him Barnabas and Saul, and desired to hear the word of God.

8 ¹But Elymas the sorcerer, (for so is his name by interpretation) withstood them, and sought to turn away the Deputy from the faith.

9 Then Saul (which also is called Paul) being full of the holy Ghost, set his eyes on him,

10 ¹And said, O full of all subtlety and all ²mischief, the child of the devil, and enemy of all righteousness, wilt thou not cease to pervert the straight ways of the Lord?

11 Now therefore behold, the ¹hand of the Lord is upon thee, and thou shalt be blind, and not see the sun for a season. And immediately there fell on him a mist and a darkness, and he went about, seeking some to lead him by the hand.

12 Then the Deputy when he saw what was done, believed, and was astonished at the doctrine of the Lord.

13 ¹Now when Paul and they that were with him were departed by ship from Paphos, they came to Perga a city of Pamphylia: then John departed from them, and returned to Jerusalem.

14 But when they departed from Perga, they came to Antioch a city of ¹Pisidia, and went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath day, and sat down.

15 ¹And after the lecture of the Law and Prophets, the rulers of the Synagogue sent unto them, saying, Ye men and brethren, if ye ²have any word of 12:22 ¹ The flattery of the people, maketh fools fain.

12:23 ¹ God resisteth the proud.

² Josephus recordeth, that this king did not repress those flatterers' tongues, and therefore at his death he complained and cried out of their vanity.

12:24 ¹ Tyrants build up the Church by plucking it down.

² They that heard the word of God.

13:1 ¹ Paul with Barnabas is again the second time appointed Apostle of the Gentiles, not of man, neither by man, but by an extraordinary commandment of the holy Ghost.

² The same was Antipas, which put John Baptist to death.

13:2 ¹ While they were busy doing their office, that is, as Chrysostom expoundeth it, while they were preaching.

² The Lord is said to call (whereof this word (calling) cometh, which is usual in the Church) when he causeth that to be, which was not, whether you refer it to the matter itself or to any quality or thing about the matter: and it groweth of this, because when things begin to be, then they have some name: as God's mighty power is also declared thereby, who spake the word, and things were made.

13:3 ¹ Fast, and solemn prayers were used before the laying on of hands.

13:4 ¹ Paul and his companions do at the first bring Cyprus to the subjection and obedience of Christ.

² Seleucia was a city of Cilicia, so called of Seleucus one of Alexander's successors.

13:8 ¹ The devil maketh the conquest of Christ more glorious, in that that he setteth himself against him.

13:10 ¹ The sorcerer which was stricken of Paul with a corporal punishment (although extraordinarily) sheweth an example to lawful magistrates, how they ought to punish them which wickedly and obstinately hinder the course of the Gospel.

² He noteth out such a fault, as whoso hath it, runneth headlong and with great desire to all kinds of wickedness with the least motion in the world.

13:11 ¹ His power which he sheweth in striking and beating down his enemies.

13:13 ¹ An example in one and the selfsame company both of singular constancy, and also of great weakness.

13:14 ¹ This putteth a difference betwixt it, and Antioch which was in Syria.

13:15 ¹ In the Synagogue of the Jews (according to the pattern whereof Christian Congregations were instituted) first the Scriptures were read, then such as were learned were licensed by the rulers of the Synagogue to speak and expound.

² Word for word, If there be any word in you: and this is a kind of speech taken from the Hebrews, whereby is meant, that the gifts of God's grace are in us, as it were in treasure houses, and that they are not ours, but God's: In like sort saith David, Thou hast put a new song in my mouth, Ps. 40:1.

exhortation for the people, say on.

16 ¹Then Paul stood up and beckoned with the hand, and said, Men of Israel, and ye that fear God, hearken.

17 The God of this people of Israel chose our fathers, and ¹exalted the people when they dwelt in the land of ^aEgypt, and with an ^{b,2}high arm brought them out thereof.

18 And about the time ^cof forty years, suffered he their manners in the wilderness.

19 And he destroyed seven nations in the land of Canaan, and ^ddivided their land to them by lot.

20 Then afterward he gave unto them ^eJudges about ¹four hundred and fifty years, unto the time of Samuel the Prophet.

21 So after that, they desired a ^fKing, and God gave unto them ^gSaul, the son of Cis, a man of the tribe of Benjamin, by the space of ¹forty years.

22 And after he had taken him away, he raised up ^hDavid to be their King, of whom he witnessed, saying, I have found David the son of Jesse, a man after mine own heart, which will do all things that I will.

23 ¹Of this man's seed hath God ⁱaccording to his promise raised up to Israel, the Savior Jesus:

24 When ^jJohn had first preached ¹before his coming the baptism of repentance to all the people of Israel.

25 And when John had fulfilled his course, he said, ^kWhom ye think that I am, I am not he: but behold, there cometh one after me, whose shoe of his feet I am not worthy to loose.

26 ¹Ye men and brethren, children of the generation of Abraham, and whosoever among you feareth God, to you is the word of this salvation sent.

27 ¹For the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and their rulers, because they knew him not, nor yet the words of the Prophets, which are read every Sabbath day, they have fulfilled them in condemning him.

28 And though they found no cause of death in him, ¹yet desired they Pilate to kill him.

29 And when they had fulfilled all things that were written of him, they took him down from the tree, and put him in a sepulcher.

30 ¹But God ^mraised him up from the dead.

31 And he was seen many days of them, which came up with him from Galilee to Jerusalem, which are his witnesses unto the people.

32 And we declare unto you, that touching the promise made unto the fathers, 33 God hath fulfilled it unto us their children, in that he ¹raised up Jesus, ²even as it is written in the second Psalm, "Thou art my Son: this day have I begotten thee.

34 Now as concerning that he raised him up from the dead, no more to return to corruption, he hath said thus, ^eI will give you the holy things of David, ¹which are faithful.

35 ¹Wherefore he saith also in another place, ^fThou wilt not suffer thine holy one to see corruption.

36 Howbeit, David after he had served his time by the counsel of God, he ^gslept, and was laid with his fathers, and saw corruption.

37 But he whom God raised up, saw no corruption.

38 ¹Be it known unto you therefore, men and brethren, that through this man is preached unto you the forgiveness of sins.

39 And from ¹all things, from which ye could not be justified by the Law of Moses, by him everyone

13:16 ¹ God bestowed many peculiar benefits upon his chosen Israel, but this especially, that he promised them the everlasting redeemer.

13:17 ¹ Advanced and brought to honor.

² Openly and with [much] force, breaking in pieces the enemies of his people.

13:20 ¹ There were from the birth of Isaac unto the destruction of the Canaanites under the governance of Joshua four hundred and seven and forty years, and therefore he addeth in this place, this word, About, for there want three years, but the Apostle useth the whole greater number.

13:21 ¹ In this space of forty years must the time of Samuel be reckoned with the days of Saul: for the kingdom did as it were swallow up his government.

13:23 ¹ He proveth by the witness of John, that Jesus is that Savior which should come of David.

13:24 ¹ John as an Herald, did not show Christ's coming afar off as the other Prophets did, but hard at hand, and entered on his journey.

13:26 ¹ Christ was promised and sent properly to the Jews.

13:27 ¹ All things came to pass to Christ, which the Prophets foretold of Messiah: so that hereby also it appeareth that he is the true and only Savior: and yet notwithstanding they are not to be excused which did not only not receive him, but also persecute him most cruelly although he was innocent.

13:30 ¹ We must set the glory of the resurrection against the shame of the cross, and grave. And the resurrection is proved as well by witnesses which saw it, as by the testimonies of the Prophets.

13:33 ¹ For then he appeared plainly and manifestly as that only Son of God, when as he left off his weakness, and came out of the grave, having conquered death.

² If Christ had tarried in death, he had not been the true Son of God, neither had the covenant, which was made with David, been sure.

13:34 ¹ The Greeks call those holy things, which the Hebrews call gracious bounties: and they are called David's bounties in the passive signification, because God bestowed them upon David: Moreover, they are termed faithful, after the manner of speech which the Hebrews use, who terms those things faithful, which are steady and sure such as never alter nor change.

13:35 ¹ The Lord was so in grave, that he felt no corruption.

13:38 ¹ Christ was sent to give them free remission of sins, which were condemned by the Law.

13:39 ¹ Whereas the ceremonies of the Law could not absolve you from your sins, this man doth absolve you, if you lay hold on him by faith.

that believeth, is justified.

40 ¹Beware therefore lest that come upon you, which is spoken of in the Prophets,

41 ¹Behold, ye despisers, and wonder, and vanish away: for I work a work in your days, a work which ye shall not believe, if a man would declare it you.

42 ¶ ¹And when they were come out of the Synagogue of the Jews, the Gentiles besought, that they would preach these words to them the next Sabbath day.

43 Now when the congregation was dissolved, many of the Jews and ¹Proselytes that feared God, followed Paul and Barnabas, which spake unto them, and exhorted them to continue in the grace of God.

44 And the next Sabbath day came almost the whole city together, to hear the word of God.

45 ¹But when the Jews saw the people, they were full of envy, and spake against those things, which were spoken of Paul, contrariety them, and railing on them.

46 ¹Then Paul and Barnabas spake boldly, and said, It was necessary that the word of God should first have been spoken unto you: but seeing ye put it from you, and ²judge yourselves unworthy of everlasting life, lo, we turn to the Gentiles.

47 For so hath the Lord commanded us, saying, ¹I have made thee a light of the Gentiles, that thou shouldest be the salvation unto the end of the world.

48 And when the Gentiles heard it, they were glad, and glorified the word of the Lord: and as many as were ¹ordained unto eternal life, believed.

49 Thus the word of the Lord was published throughout the whole country.

50 ¹But the Jews stirred certain ²devout and honorable women, and the chief men of the city, and raised persecution against Paul and Barnabas, and expelled them out of their coasts.

51 ¹But they ¹shook off the dust of their feet against them, and came unto Iconium.

52 And the disciples were filled with joy, and with the holy Ghost.

14 ¹ Paul and Barnabas ⁵ are persecuted at Iconium: ⁶ At Lystra Paul ¹⁰ healeth a cripple: ¹³ They are about to do sacrifice unto them, ¹⁸ but they forbid it. ¹⁹ Paul by the persuasion of certain Jews, is stoned: ²³ From thence passing through divers Churches, ²⁶ they return to Antioch.

1 And ¹it came to pass in ²Iconium, that they went both together into the Synagogue of the Jews, and so spake, that a great multitude both of the Jews and of the Grecians believed.

2 And the ¹unbelieving Jews stirred up, and corrupted the minds of the Gentiles against the brethren.

3 ¹So therefore they abode there a long time, and spake boldly in the Lord, which gave testimony unto the word of his grace, and caused signs and wonders to be done by their hands.

4 But the multitude of the city was divided: and some were with the Jews, and some with the Apostles.

5 And when there was an assault made both of the Gentiles, and of the Jews with their rulers, to do them violence, and to stone them,

6 They were ware of it, and ¹fled unto Lystra, and Derbe, cities of Lycaonia, and unto the region round about,

7 And there preached the Gospel.

8 ¶ ¹Now there sat a certain man at Lystra, impotent in his feet, which was a cripple from his mother's womb, who had never walked.

9 He heard Paul speak: who beholding him and perceiving that he had faith to be healed,

10 Said with a loud voice, Stand upright on thy 13:40 ¹ The benefits of God turn to the utter undoing of them that condemn them.

13:42 ¹ The Gentiles go before the Jews into the kingdom of heaven.

13:43 ¹ Which had forsaken their heathenish religion, and embraced the religion set forth by Moses.

13:45 ¹ The favor of one selfsame Gospel is unto the reprobate and unbelievers, death, and to the elect and such as believe, life.

13:46 ¹ The Gospel is published to the Gentiles by the express commandment of God.

² By this your doing you do as it were, pronounce sentence against yourselves, and judge yourselves.

13:48 ¹ Therefore either all were not appointed to everlasting life, or else all should have believed: but because that is not so, it followeth, that some certain were ordained, and therefore God did not only foreknow, but also foreordain, that neither faith nor the effects of faith should be the cause of his ordaining or appointment, but his ordaining the cause of faith.

13:50 ¹ Such is the craft and subtlety of the enemies of the Gospel, that they abuse the simplicity of some which are not altogether evil men, to execute their cruelty.

² Such as embraced Moses' Law.

13:51 ¹ The wickedness of the world cannot let God to gather his Church together, and to foster and cherish it, when it is gathered together.

14:1 ¹ We ought to be no less constant in preaching of the Gospel, than the perverseness of the wicked is obstinate in persecuting of it.

² Iconium was a city of Lycaonia.

14:2 ¹ Which obeyed not the doctrine.

14:3 ¹ We ought not to leave our places and give place to threatenings, neither to open rage, but when there is no other remedy, and that not for our own quietness' sake, but that the Gospel of Christ may be spread further abroad.

14:6 ¹ It is lawful sometimes to flee dangers, in time convenient.

14:8 ¹ It is an old subtlety of the devil, either to cause the faithful servants of God to be banished at once, or to be worshipped for idols: and that chiefly taking occasion by miracles wrought by them.

feet. And he leaped up, and walked.

11 Then when the people saw what Paul had done, they lifted up their voices, saying in the speech of Lycaonia, Gods are come down to us in the likeness of men.

12 And they called Barnabas, Jupiter: and Paul Mercurius, because he was the chief speaker.

13 Then Jupiter's Priest, which was before their city, brought bulls with garlands unto the ¹gates, and would have sacrificed with the people.

14 But when the Apostles, Barnabas and Paul heard it, they rent their clothes, and ran in among the people, crying,

15 ¹And saying, O men, why do ye these things? We are even men subject to the ²like passions that ye be, and preach unto you, that ye should turn from these ³vain things unto the living God, ⁴which made heaven and earth, and the sea, and all things that in them are:

16 ¹Who in times past ^{b,2}suffered all the Gentiles to walk in their own ways.

17 Nevertheless, he left not himself without witness, in that he did good and gave us rain from heaven, and fruitful seasons, filling our hearts with food, and gladness.

18 And speaking these things, scarce appeased they the multitude, that they had not sacrificed unto them.

19 ¹Then there came certain Jews from Antioch and Iconium, which when they had persuaded the people, ^cstoned Paul, and drew him out of the city, supposing he had been dead.

20 Howbeit, as the disciples stood round about him, he arose up, and came into the city, and the next day he departed with Barnabas to Derbe.

21 ¹And after they had preached the glad tidings of the Gospel to that city, and had taught many, they returned to Lystra, and to Iconium, and to 22 ¹Confirming the disciples hearts, and exhorting them to continue in the faith, affirming that we must through many afflictions enter into the kingdom of God.

23 ¹And when they had ordained them Elders by election in every Church, and prayed, and fasted, they commended them to the Lord in whom they believed.

24 ¹Thus they went throughout Pisidia, and came to Pamphylia.

25 And when they had preached the word in Perga, they came down to ¹Attalia,

26 And thence sailed to ¹Antioch, ^dfrom whence they had been commended unto the grace of God, to the work, which they had fulfilled.

27 And when they were come and had gathered the Church together, they rehearsed all the things that God had done by them, and how he had opened the door of faith unto the Gentiles.

28 So there they abode a long time with the disciples.

15 ¹ Certain go about to bring in circumcision at Antioch: ⁶ About which matter the Apostles consult: ¹⁹ and what must be done ²³ they declare by letters. ³⁶ Paul and Barnabas ³⁹ are at great variance.

1 Then ¹came down ²certain from Judea, and taught the brethren, saying, Except ye be circumcised after the manner of Moses, ye cannot be saved.

2 ¹And when there was great dissension, and disputation by Paul and Barnabas against them, they ordained that Paul and Barnabas, and certain others of them, should go up to Jerusalem unto the Apostles and Elders about this question.

3 Thus ¹being brought forth by the Church, they passed through Phoenicia and Samaria, declaring the 14:15 ¹ That is also called idolatry, which giveth to creatures, be they never so holy and excellent, that which is proper to the only one God, that is invocation or calling upon.

² Men, as ye are, and partakers of the selfsame nature of man as you.

³ He calleth idols vain things, after the manner of the Hebrews.

14:16 ¹ Custom, be it never so old, doth not excuse the idolaters.

14:19 ¹ The devil when he is brought to the last cast, at length rageth openly, but in vain, even then when he seemeth to have the upper hand.

14:21 ¹ We must go forward in our vocation through a thousand deaths.

14:22 ¹ It is the office of the ministers, not only to teach, but also to confirm them that are taught, and prepare them to the cross.

14:23 ¹ The Apostles committed the Churches which they had planted, to proper and peculiar Pastors, which they made not rashly, but with prayers and fastings going before: neither did they thrust them upon Churches through bribery or lordly superiority, but chose and placed them by the voice of the congregation.

14:24 ¹ Paul and Barnabas having made an end of their peregrination, and being returned to Antioch, do render an account to the Congregation or Church.

14:25 ¹ Attalia was a sea city of Pamphylia, near to Lycia.

14:26 ¹ Antioch of Syria.

15:1 ¹ The Church is at length troubled with dissension within itself, and the trouble riseth of the proud and stubborn wits of certain evil men: The first strife was concerning the office of Christ, whether we be saved by his only righteousness apprehended by faith, or we have need also to observe the Law.

² Epiphanius is of opinion that this was Cerinthus.

15:2 ¹ Meetings of Congregations were instituted to suppress heresies, whereunto certain were sent by common consent in the name of all.

15:3 ¹ Courteously and lovingly brought on their way by the Church, that is, by certain appointed by the Church.

conversion of the Gentiles, and they brought great joy unto all the brethren.

4 And when they were come to Jerusalem, they were received of the Church, and of the Apostles and Elders, and they declared what things God had done by them.

5 But said they, certain of the sect of the Pharisees, which did believe, rose up, saying that it was needful to circumcise them, and to command them to keep the Law of Moses.

6 ¹Then the Apostles and Elders came together to look to this matter.

7 And when there had been great disputation, Peter rose up, and said unto them, ^{a,1}Ye men and brethren, ye know that a ²good while ago, among us God chose out me, that the Gentiles by my mouth should hear the word of the Gospel, and believe.

8 And God which knoweth the hearts, bare them witness, in giving unto them the holy Ghost even as he did unto us.

9 And he put no ¹difference between us and them, after that ^{b,2}by faith he had purified their hearts.

10 ¹Now therefore, why ²tempt ye God, to 'lay a yoke on the disciples' necks, which neither our fathers, nor we were able to bear?

11 But we believe, through the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ to be saved, even as they do.

12 ¹Then all the multitude kept silence, and heard Barnabas and Paul, which told what signs and wonders God had done among the Gentiles by them.

13 And when they held their peace, ¹James answered, saying, Men and brethren, hearken unto me.

14 ¹Simeon hath declared, how God first did visit the Gentiles, to take of them a people unto his Name.

^a Acts 10:20

Acts 11:13

^b Acts 10:43

1 Cor. 1:2

^c Matt. 23:4^d Amos 9:11

15 And to this agree the words of the Prophets, as it is written,

16 ⁴After this I will return, and will build again the Tabernacle of David, which is fallen down, and the ruins thereof will I build again, and I will set it up.

17 That the residue of men might seek after the Lord, and all the Gentiles upon whom my Name is called, saith the Lord which doeth all these things.

18 From the beginning of the world, God ¹knoweth all his works.

19 ¹Wherefore my sentence is, that we trouble not them of the Gentiles that are turned to God,

20 But that we send unto them, that they abstain themselves from ¹filthiness of idols, and fornication, and that is strangled, and from blood.

21 For Moses of old time hath in every city them that preach him, seeing he is read in the Synagogues every Sabbath day.

22 ¹Then it seemed good to the Apostles and Elders with the whole Church to send chosen men of their own company to Antioch with Paul and Barnabas: to wit, Judas whose surname was Barsabas, and Silas, which were chief men among the brethren, 23 And wrote letters by them after this manner, THE APOSTLES, and the Elders, and the brethren, Unto the brethren which are of the Gentiles in Antioch, and in Syria, and in Cilicia, send greeting.

24 ¹Forasmuch as we have heard, that certain which ²went out from us, have troubled you with words, and ³cumbered your minds, saying, Ye must be circumcised and keep the Law: to whom we gave no such commandment,

25 It seemed therefore good to us, when we were come together with one accord, to [send] chosen men

15:6 ¹ The matter is first handled, both parts being heard in the assembly of the Apostles and ancients, and after is communicated with the people.

15:7 ¹ God himself in calling of the Gentiles which are uncircumcised, did teach that our salvation doth consist in faith without the worship appointed by the Law.

² Word for word, of old time, that is, even from the first time that we were commanded to preach the Gospel, and straightways after that the holy Ghost came down upon us.

15:9 ¹ He put no difference between us and them, as touching the benefit of his free favor.

² Christ pronounceth them Blessed, which are pure of heart: and here we are plainly taught that men are made such by faith.

15:10 ¹ Peter passing from the Ceremonies to the Law itself in general, sheweth that none could be saved, if salvation were to be sought for by the Law, and not by grace only in Jesus Christ; because that no man could ever fulfil the Law, neither Patriarch, nor Apostle.

² Why tempt ye God, as though he could not save by faith?

15:12 ¹ A true pattern of a lawful Council, where God's truth only reigneth.

15:13 ¹ The son of Alphaeus, who is called the Lord's brother.

15:14 ¹ James confirmeth the calling of the Gentiles, out of the word of God, therein agreeing to Peter.

15:18 ¹ And therefore nothing cometh to pass by fortune, but by God's appointment.

15:19 ¹ In matters indifferent we may so far bear with the weakness of our brethren, as they may have time to be instructed.

15:20 ¹ From sacrifices or from feasts which were kept in idols' Temples.

15:22 ¹ In a lawful Synod, neither they which are appointed and chosen Judges, appoint and determine anything tyrannously or upon a lordliness, neither doth the common multitude set themselves tumultuously against them, which sit as Judges by the word of God: as the like order also is held in publishing and ratifying those things which have been so determined and agreed upon.

15:24 ¹ The Council of Jerusalem concludeth, that they trouble men's consciences, which teach us to seek salvation in any other means than in Christ only, apprehended by faith, from whence soever they come, and whomsoever they pretend to be author of their vocation.

² From our congregation.

³ A borrowed kind of speech taken of them which pull down that that was built up: and it is a very usual metaphor in the Scriptures: to say the Church is built, for, the Church is planted and stablished.

unto you, with our beloved Barnabas and Paul.

26 Men that have ¹given up their lives for the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ.

27 We have therefore sent Judas and Silas, which shall also tell you the same things by mouth.

28 ¹For it seemed good to the ²holy Ghost, and ³to us, to lay no more burden upon you, than these ⁴necessary things.

29 ¹*That is*, that ye abstain from things offered to idols, and blood, and that that is strangled, and from fornication: from which if ye keep yourselves, ye shall do well. Fare ye well.

30 ¹Now when they were departed, they came to Antioch, and after that they had assembled the multitude, they delivered the Epistle, 31 And when they had read it, they rejoiced for the consolation.

32 And Judas and Silas being Prophets, exhorted the brethren with many words, and strengthened them.

33 And after they had tarried there a space, they were let go in ¹peace of the brethren unto the Apostles.

34 Notwithstanding Silas thought good to abide there still.

35 Paul also and Barnabas continued in Antioch, teaching and preaching with many others the word of the Lord.

36 ¶ ¹But after certain days, Paul said unto Barnabas, Let us return and visit our brethren in every city, where we have preached the word of the Lord, and see how they do.

37 ¹And Barnabas counseled to take with them John, called Mark.

38 But Paul thought it not meet to take him unto their company, which departed from them from Pamphylia, and went not with them to the work.

39 ¹Then were they so ²stirred, that they departed asunder one from the other, so that Barnabas took Mark, and sailed unto Cyprus.

40 And Paul chose Silas and departed, being commended of the brethren unto the grace of God.

41 And he went through Syria and Cilicia, establishing the Churches.

16 ¹ Paul having circumcised Timothy, ¹² being at Philippi, ¹⁴ instructed Lydia in the faith. ¹⁶ The spirit of divination, ¹⁸ is by him cast out: ²⁰ and for that cause ²² they are whipped, ²⁴ and imprisoned. ²⁶ Through an earthquake, ²⁷ the prison doors are opened. ^{31, 32} The Gaoler receiveth the faith.

1 Then ¹came he to Derbe and to Lystra: and behold, a certain disciple was there, named ^aTimothy, a woman's son, which was a ²Jewess and believed, but his father was a Grecian,

2 Of whom the brethren which were at Lystra and Iconium, ¹reported well.

3 ¹Therefore Paul would that he should go forth with him, and took and circumcised him, because of the Jews, which were in those quarters: for they knew all that his father was a Grecian.

4 ¹And as they went through the cities, they delivered them ²the decrees to keep, ordained of the Apostles and Elders which were at Jerusalem.

5 And so were the Churches established in the faith, [and] increased in number daily.

6 ¶ ¹Now when they had gone throughout Phrygia, and the region of Galatia, they were ²forbidden of the holy Ghost, to preach the word in Asia.

7 Then came they to Mysia, and sought to go

15:26 ¹ Have greatly hazarded their lives.

15:28 ¹ That is, a lawful Council, which the holy Ghost ruleth.

² First they made mention of the holy Ghost, that it may not seem to be any man's work.

³ Not that men have any authority of themselves, but to show the faithfulness that they used in their ministry and labor.

⁴ This was no precise necessity, but in respect of the state of that time, that the Gentiles and the Jews might more peaceably live together with less occasion of quarrel.

15:29 ¹ Charity is required even in things indifferent.

15:30 ¹ It is requisite for all people to know certainly what to hold in matters of faith and religion, and not that the Church by ignorance and knowing nothing, should depend upon the pleasure of a few.

15:33 ¹ This is an Hebrew kind of speech, which is as much to say, as the brethren wished them all prosperous success, and the Church dismissed them with good leave.

15:36 ¹ Congregations or Churches do easily degenerate, unless they be diligently seen unto, and therefore went these Apostles to oversee such as they had planted, and for this cause also Synods were instituted and appointed.

15:37 ¹ A lamentable example of discord between excellent men and very great friends, yet not for profane or their private affairs, neither yet for doctrine.

15:39 ¹ God useth the faults of his servants to the profit and building of his Church, yet we have to take heed, even in the best matters that we pass not measure in our heat.

² They were in great heat: but herein we have to consider the force of God's counsel: for by this means it came to pass, that the doctrine of the Gospel was exercised in many places.

16:1 ¹ Paul himself doth not receive Timothy into the ministry without sufficient testimony, and allowance of the brethren.

² Paul in his latter Epistle to Timothy, commendeth the godliness of Timothy's mother and grandmother.

16:2 ¹ Both for his godliness and honesty.

16:3 ¹ Timothy is circumcised, not simply for any necessity, but in respect of the time only to win the Jews.

16:4 ¹ Charity is to be observed in things indifferent so that regard be had both of the weak, and the quietness of the Church.

² These decrees which he spake of in the former chapter.

16:6 ¹ God appointeth certain and determinate times to open and set forth his truth, that both the election and the calling may proceed of grace.

² He sheweth not why they were forbidden, but only that they were forbidden, teaching us to obey and not to inquire.

into Bithynia: but the Spirit suffered them not.

8 Therefore they passed through Mysia, and came down to Troas,

9 ¹Where a vision appeared to Paul in the night. There stood a man of Macedonia, and prayed him, saying, Come into Macedonia, and help us.

10 ¹And after he had seen the vision, immediately we prepared to go into Macedonia, being assured that the Lord had called us to preach the Gospel unto them.

11 Then went we forth from Troas, and with a straight course came to Samothrace, and the next day to Neapolis.

12 ¶ And from thence to Philippi, which is the chief city in the parts of Macedonia, and whose inhabitants came from Rome to dwell there: and we were in that city abiding certain days.

13 ¹And on the Sabbath day we went out of the city, besides a river, where they were wont to ²pray: and we sat down, and spake unto the women, which were come together.

14 ¹And a certain woman named Lydia, a seller of purple, of the city of the Thyatirians, which worshipped God, heard us: whose heart the Lord opened, that she attended unto the things, which Paul spake.

15 ¹And when she was baptized, and her household, she besought us, saying, If ye have judged me to be faithful to the Lord, come into mine house, and abide there: and she constrained us.

16 ¹And it came to pass that as we went to prayer, a certain maid having a spirit ²of divination, met us, which gat her masters much vantage with divining.

17 She followed Paul and us, and cried, saying, These men are the servants of the most high God, which show unto you the way of salvation.

18 And this did she ¹many days: but Paul being grieved, turned about, and said to the spirit, I command thee in the Name of Jesus Christ, that thou come out of her. And he came out the same hour.

19 ¹Now when her masters saw that the hope of their gain was gone, they caught Paul and Silas, and drew them into the marketplace unto the Magistrates.

20 ¹And brought them to the governors, saying, These men which are Jews trouble our city, 21 ¹And preach ordinances, which are not lawful for us to receive, neither to observe, seeing we are Romans.

22 ¹The people also rose up together against them, and the governors rent their clothes, and commanded them to be beaten with rods.

23 And when they had beaten them sore, they cast them into prison, commanding the Gaoler to keep them surely,

24 Who having received such commandment, cast them into the inner prison, and made their feet ¹fast in the stocks.

25 ¹Now at midnight Paul and Silas prayed, and sung Psalms unto God: and the prisoners heard them.

26 And suddenly there was a great earthquake, so that the foundation of the prison was shaken: and by and by all the doors opened, and every man's bands were loosed.

27 ¹Then the keeper of the prison waked out of his sleep, and when he saw the prison doors open, he drew out his sword and would have killed himself, supposing the prisoners had been fled.

28 ¹But Paul cried with a loud voice, saying, Do thyself no harm: for we all are here.

29 Then he called for a light, and leaped in, and came trembling, and fell down before Paul and Silas.

30 And brought them out, and said, Sirs, what must I do to be saved?

31 And they said, Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved, and thine household.

32 And they preached unto him the word of the Lord, and to all that were in the house.

16:9 ¹ They are the ministers of the Gospel, by whom he helpeth such as were like to perish.

16:10 ¹ The Saints did not easily believe every vision.

16:13 ¹ God beginneth his kingdom in Macedonia by the conversion of a woman, and so sheweth that there is no [exception] of persons in the Gospel.

² Where they were wont to assemble themselves.

16:14 ¹ The Lord only openeth the heart to hear the word which is preached.

16:15 ¹ An example of a godly housewife.

16:16 ¹ Satan transformeth himself into an Angel of light, and coveteth to enter by undermining, but Paul openly letteth him, and casteth him out.

² This is a proper note of Apollo, which was wont to give answers to them that asked him.

16:18 ¹ Paul made no haste to this miracle, for he did all things as he was led by the Spirit.

16:19 ¹ Covetousness of lucre and gain is an occasion of persecuting the truth. In the mean season, God sparing Timothy, calleth Paul and Silas as the stronger, to battle.

16:20 ¹ Covetousness pretendeth a desire of common peace and godliness.

16:21 ¹ It is an argument of the devil, to urge the authority of ancestors without any distinction.

16:22 ¹ An Example of evil Magistrates to obey the fury and rage of the people.

16:24 ¹ Because he would be more sure of them, he set them fast in the stocks.

16:25 ¹ The prayers of the godly do shake both heaven and earth.

16:27 ¹ The merciful Lord, so oft as he listeth, draweth men to life, even through the midst of death, and whereas justly they deserved great punishment, he sheweth them great mercy.

16:28 ¹ In means which are especially extraordinary, we ought not to move our foot forward, unless that God goes before us.

33 ¹Afterward he took them the same hour of the night, and washed their stripes, and was baptized with all that belonged unto him straightway.

34 And when he had brought them into his house, he set meat before them, and rejoiced that he with all his household believed in God.

35 ¹And when it was day, the governors sent the sergeants, saying, Let those men go.

36 Then the keeper of the prison told these words unto Paul, saying, The governors have sent to loose you: now therefore get you hence, and go in peace.

37 ¹Then said Paul unto them, After that they have beaten us openly uncondemned, which are Romans, they have cast us into prison, and now would they put us out privily? nay verily: but let them come and bring us out.

38 ¹And the sergeants told these words unto the governors, who feared when they heard that they were Romans.

39 Then came they and prayed them, and brought them out, and desired them to depart out of the city.

40 ¹And they went out of the prison, and entered into the house of Lydia: and when they had seen the brethren, they comforted them, and departed.

17 ¹*Paul at Thessalonica 3 preaching Christ, 6, 7 is entertained of Jason: 10 He is sent to Berea: 15 from thence coming to Athens, 19 in Mars' street 23 he preacheth the living God to them unknown, 34 and so many are converted unto Christ.*

1 Now ¹as they passed through Amphipolis, and Apollonia, they came to Thessalonica, where was a Synagogue of the Jews.

2 And Paul, as his manner was, went in unto them, and three Sabbath days disputed with them by the Scriptures,

3 ¹Opening, and alleging that Christ must have suffered, and risen again from the dead, and this is Jesus Christ, whom said he, I preach to you.

4 And some of them believed, and joined in company with Paul and Silas: also of the Grecians that feared God a great multitude, and of the chief women not a few.

5 ¹But the Jews which believed not, moved with envy, took unto them certain ²vagabonds and wicked fellows, and when they had assembled the multitude, they made a tumult in the city, and made assault against the house of Jason, and sought to bring them out to the people.

6 But when they found them not, they drew Jason and certain brethren unto the heads of the city, crying, These are they which have subverted the state of the ¹world, and here they are,

7 Whom Jason hath received, and these all do against the decrees of Caesar, saying, that there is another King one Jesus.

8 Then they troubled the people, and the heads of the city, when they heard these things.

9 Notwithstanding when they had received sufficient ¹assurance of Jason and of the others, they let them go.

10 ¹And the brethren immediately sent away Paul and Silas by night unto Berea, which when they were come thither, entered into the Synagogue of the Jews.

11 ¹These were also more ²noble men than they which were at Thessalonica, which received the word with all readiness, and searched the Scriptures daily, whether those things were so.

12 Therefore many of them believed, and of honest women, which were Grecians, and men not a few.

13 ¶ ¹But when the Jews of Thessalonica knew, that the word of God was also preached of Paul at Berea, they came thither also, and moved the people.

14 ¹But by and by the brethren sent away Paul to 16:33 ¹ God with one selfsame hand woundeth and healeth, when it pleaseth him.

16:35 ¹ Shame and confusion is in process of time, the reward of wicked and unjust Magistrates.

16:37 ¹ We must not render injury for injury, and yet notwithstanding it is lawful for us to use such helps as God giveth us, to bridle the outrageousness of the wicked, that they hurt not others in like sort.

16:38 ¹ The wicked are not moved with the fear of God, but with the fear of men: and by that means also God provideth for his, when it is needful.

16:40 ¹ We may eschew dangers, so that we never neglect our duty.

17:1 ¹ The casting out of Silas and Paul, was the saving of many others.

17:3 ¹ Christ is therefore the Mediator, because he was crucified and rose again: much less is he to be rejected, because the cross is ignominious.

17:5 ¹ Although the zeal of the unfaithful seems never so goodly, yet at length it is found to have neither truth nor equity: But yet the wicked cannot do what they list, for even among themselves God stirreth up some, whose help he useth to the deliverance of his.

² Certain companions which do nothing but walk the streets, wicked men, to be hired for every man's money, to do any mischief, such as we commonly call the rascals and very sinks and dunghill knaves of all towns and cities.

17:6 ¹ Into what country and place soever they come, they cause sedition and tumult.

17:9 ¹ When Jason had put them in good assurance that they should appear.

17:10 ¹ That is indeed the wisdom of the Spirit, which always setteth the glory of God before itself as a mark whereunto it directeth itself, and never swerveth from it.

17:11 ¹ The Lord setteth out in one moment, and in one people, divers examples of his unsearchable wisdom, to cause them to fear him.

² He compareth the Jews, with the Jews.

17:13 ¹ Satan hath his, who are zealous for him, and that even such, as least of all ought.

17:14 ¹ There is neither counsel, nor fury, nor madness, against the Lord.

go as it were to the sea: but Silas and Timothy abode there still.

15 ¹And they that did conduct Paul, ²brought him unto Athens: and when they had received a commandment unto Silas and Timothy that they should come to him at once, they departed.

16 ¶ ¹Now while Paul waited for them at Athens, his spirit was ²stirred in him, when he saw the city subject to ³idolatry.

17 Therefore he disputeth in the Synagogue with the Jews, and with them that were religious, and in the market daily with ¹whomsoever he met.

18 ¹Then certain Philosophers of the Epicureans, and of the Stoics, disputed with him, and some said, What will this ²babbler say? Others said, He seemeth to be a setter forth of strange gods (because he preached unto them Jesus, and the resurrection.)

19 And they took him, and brought him into ¹Mars' street, saying, May we not know, what this new doctrine, whereof thou speakest, is?

20 For thou bringest certain strange things unto our ears: we would know therefore what these things mean.

21 ¹For all the Athenians and strangers which dwelt there, gave themselves to nothing else, but either to tell, or to hear some news.

22 ¹Then Paul stood in the midst of Mars' street, and said, Ye men of Athens, I perceive that in all things ye are too ²superstitious.

23 For as I passed by, and beheld your ¹devotions, I found an altar wherein was written, UNTO THE

CHAPTER 17

^a Acts 7:48^b Ps. 50:8^c Isa. 40:19

²UNKNOWN GOD. Whom ye then ignorantly worship, him show I unto you.

24 ¹God that made the world, and all things that are therein, seeing that he is Lord of heaven and earth, ^adwelleth not in temples made with hands.

25 ^bNeither is worshipped with men's hands, as though he needed anything, seeing he giveth to all life and breath and all things,

26 ¹And hath made of ²one blood all mankind, to dwell on all the face of the earth, and hath assigned the seasons which were ordained before, and the bounds of their habitation,

27 That they should seek the Lord, if so be they might have ¹groped after him, and found him, though doubtless he be not far from every one of us.

28 For in him we live, and move, and have our being, as also certain of your own Poets have said: For we are also his generation.

29 Forasmuch then, as we are the generation of God, we ought not to think that the Godhead is like unto gold, or silver, or stone ¹graven by art and the invention of man.

30 ¹And the time of this ignorance God regarded not: but now he admonisheth all men everywhere to repent.

31 Because he hath appointed a day in the which he will judge the world in righteousness, by that man whom he hath appointed, whereof he hath given an ¹assurance to all men, in that he hath raised him from the dead.

17:15 ¹ The sheep of Christ do also watch for their pastor's health and safety, but yet in the Lord.

² It is not for nought that the Jews of Berea were so commended, for they brought Paul safe from Macedonia to Athens, and there is in distance betwixt those two, all Thessalia, and Boeotia, and Attica.

17:16 ¹ In comparing the wisdom of God with man's wisdom, men scoff and mock at that which they understand not: And God useth the curiosity of fools to gather together his elect.

² He could not forbear.

³ Slavishly given to Idolatry: Pausanias writeth that there were more Idols in Athens, than in all Greece, yea they had altars dedicated to Shame, and Fame, and Lust, whom they made goddesses.

17:17 ¹ Whomsoever Paul met with, that would suffer him to talk with him, he reasoned with him, so thoroughly did he burn with the zeal of God's glory.

17:18 ¹ Two sects especially of the Philosophers do set themselves against Christ: the Epicureans, which make a mock and scoff at all religions, and the Stoics, which determine upon matters of religion according to their own brains.

² Word for word, seed gatherer: a borrowed kind of speech taken of birds which spoil corn, and is applied to them which without all art bluster out such knowledge as they have gotten by hearing this man and that man.

17:19 ¹ This was a place called as you would say, Mars hill, where the judges sat which were called Areopagus, upon weighty affairs, which in old time arraigned Socrates, and afterward condemned him of impiety.

17:21 ¹ The wisdom of man is vanity.

17:22 ¹ The idolaters themselves minister most strong and forcible arguments against their own superstition.

² To stand in too peevish and servile a fear of your gods.

17:23 ¹ Whatsoever men worship for religion's sake, that we call devotion.

² Pausanias in his Atticis, maketh mention of the altar which the Athenians had dedicated to unknown gods: and Laertius in his Epimenides maketh mention of an altar that had no name entitled.

17:24 ¹ It is a most foolish and vain thing to compare the Creator with the creature, to limit him within a place, which can be comprehended in no place, and to think to allure him with gifts, of whom all men have received all things whatsoever they have: And these are the fountains of all idolatry.

17:26 ¹ God is wonderful in all his works, but especially in the work of man: not that we should stand amazed at his works, but that we should lift up our eyes to the workman.

² Of one stock and one beginning.

17:27 ¹ For as blind men we could not seek out God, but only by groping wise, before the true light came and lightened the world.

17:29 ¹ Which stuff, as gold, silver, stones, are customably graven as a man's wit can devise, for men will not worship that gross stuff as it is, unless by some art it have gotten some shape upon it.

17:30 ¹ The oldness of the error doth not excuse them that err, but it commendeth and setteth forth the patience of God: who notwithstanding will be a just judge to such as condemn him.

17:31 ¹ By declaring Christ to be the judge of the world through the resurrection from the dead.

32 ¹Now when they had heard of the resurrection from the dead, some mocked, and others said, We will hear thee again of this thing.

33 And so Paul departed from among them.

34 Howbeit certain men clave unto Paul, and believed: among whom was also Dionysius Areopagite, and a woman named Damaris, and others with them.

18 As Paul at Corinth 6 taught the Gentiles, 9 the Lord comforteth him. 12 He is accused before Gallio, 16 but in vain: 18 From thence he saileth to Syria, 19 and so to Ephesus. 23 At Galatia and Phrygia he strengtheneth the disciples. 24 Apollos being more perfectly instructed by Aquila, 28 preacheth Christ with great efficacy.

1 After ¹these things, Paul departed from Athens, and came to Corinth,

2 And found a certain Jew named ^aAquila, born in Pontus, lately come from Italy, and his wife Priscilla (because that ¹Claudius had commanded all Jews to depart from Rome) and he came unto them.

3 And because he was of the same craft, he abode with them and wrought (for their craft was to make tents.)

4 ¹And he disputed in the Synagogue every Sabbath day, and ²exhorted the Jews, and the Grecians.

5 Now when Silas and Timothy were come from Macedonia, Paul, ¹forced in spirit, testified to the Jews that Jesus was the Christ.

6 ¹And when they resisted and blasphemed, he ^bshook his raiment, and said unto them, Your ²blood be upon your own head: I am clean: from henceforth will I go unto the Gentiles.

7 So he departed thence, and entered into a certain man's house, named Justus, a worshipper of God, whose house joined hard to the Synagogue.

CHAPTER 18
^a Rom. 16:3
^b Acts 13:51
Matt. 10:14
^c 1 Cor. 1:14
^d Num. 16:18
Acts 21:24

8 And ^cCrispus the chief ruler of the Synagogue, believed in the Lord with all his household: and many of the Corinthians hearing it, believed and were baptized.

9 ¹Then said the Lord to Paul in the night by a vision, Fear not, but speak, and hold not thy peace.

10 For I am with thee, and no man shall lay hands on thee to hurt thee: for I have much people in this city.

11 So he ¹continued there a year and six months, and taught the word of God among them.

12 ¶ ¹Now when Gallio was deputy of ²Achaia, the Jews arose with one accord against Paul, and brought him to the judgment seat, 13 Saying, This fellow persuadeth men to worship God otherwise than the Law appointeth.

14 And as Paul was about to open his mouth, Gallio said unto the Jews, If it were a matter of wrong, or an evil deed, O ye Jews, I would according to ¹reason maintain you.

15 But if it be a question of ¹words and ²names, and of your Law, look ye to it yourselves: for I will be no judge of those things.

16 And he drove them from the judgment seat.

17 Then took all the Grecians Sosthenes the chief ruler of the Synagogue, and beat him before the judgment seat: but Gallio cared nothing for those things.

18 ¹But when Paul had tarried there yet a good while, he took leave of the brethren, and sailed into Syria, (and with him Priscilla and Aquila) after that ²he had shorn his head in ³Cenchrea: for he had made a ^dvow.

19 Then he came to Ephesus, and left them there: but he entered into the Synagogue and disputed with the Jews.

17:32 ¹ Men, to show forth their vanity, are diversely affected and moved with one selfsame Gospel, which notwithstanding ceaseth not to be effectual in the elect.
18:1 ¹ The true ministers are so far from seeking their own profit, that they do willingly depart from their right, rather than the course of the Gospel should be hindered in the least wise that might be.
18:2 ¹ Suetonius recordeth that Rome banished the Jews, because they were always at disquiet, and that by Christ's means.
18:4 ¹ The truth ought always to be freely uttered, yet notwithstanding the doctrine may be so moderated, as occasion of the profit that the people take thereby, shall require.
² Exhorted so that he persuaded, and so the word signifieth.
18:5 ¹ Was very much grieved in mind: whereby is signified the great earnestness of his mind, which was greatly moved: for Paul was so zealous, that he clean forgot himself, and with a wonderful courage gave himself to preach Christ.
18:6 ¹ Although we have assayed all means possible, and yet in vain, we must not leave off from our work, but forsake the rebellious, and go to them that be more obedient.
² This is a kind of speech taken from the Hebrews, whereby he meaneth, that the Jews are cause of their own destruction: and as for him, that he is without fault in forsaking them and going to other nations.

18:9 ¹ God doth avouch and maintain the constancy of his servants.
18:11 ¹ Word for word, sat, whereupon they in former time, took the name of their Bishop's seat: but Paul sat, that is, continued teaching the word of God: and this kind of seat belongeth nothing to them which never saw their seats with a mind to teach in them.
18:12 ¹ The wicked are never weary of evil doing, but the Lord mocketh their endeavors marvelously.
² That is, of Greece, yet the Romans did not call him Deputy of Greece, but of Achaia, because the Romans brought the Greeks into subjection by the Achaians, which in those days were Princes of Greece, as Pausanias recordeth.
18:14 ¹ As much as in right I could.
18:15 ¹ As if a man have not spoken well, as the case of your religion standeth.
² For this profane man thinketh that the controversy of religion, is but a brawl about words, and for no matter of substance.
18:18 ¹ Paul is made all to all, to win all to Christ.
² That is, Paul.
³ Cenchrea was an haven of the Corinthians.

20 ¹Who desired him to tarry a longer time with them: but he would not consent,

21 But bade them farewell, saying, I must needs keep this feast that cometh, in Jerusalem: but I will return again unto you, ^cif God will. So he sailed from Ephesus.

22 ¶ And when he came down to Caesarea, he went up to Jerusalem: and when he had saluted the Church, he went down unto Antioch.

23 Now when he had tarried there a while, he departed, and went through the country of Galatia and Phrygia by order, strengthening all the disciples.

24 ¹And a certain Jew named ¹Apollos, born at Alexandria, came to Ephesus, an eloquent man, and ²mighty in the Scriptures.

25 The same was instructed in the way of the Lord, and he spake fervently in the Spirit, and taught diligently the things of the Lord, and knew but the baptism of John only.

26 And he began to speak boldly in the Synagogue. Whom when ⁸Aquila and Priscilla had heard, they took him unto them, and expounded unto him the ¹way of God more perfectly.

27 And when he was minded to go into Achaia, the brethren exhorting him, wrote to the disciples to receive him: and after he was come thither, he helped them much which had believed through ¹grace.

28 For mightily he confuted publicly the Jews, with great vehemency, showing by the Scriptures, that Jesus was that Christ.

19 Certain disciples at Ephesus, ³ having only received John's baptism, ² and know not the visible gifts of the holy Ghost, wherewith God had beautified his Son's kingdom, ⁵ are baptized in the Name of Jesus. ¹³ The Jewish exorcists ¹⁶ are beaten of the devil. ¹⁹ Conjuring books are burnt. ²⁴ Demetrius ²⁹ raiseth sedition against Paul.

disciples,

2 And said unto them, Have ye received the ¹holy Ghost since ye believed? And they said unto him, We have not so much as heard whether there be an holy Ghost.

3 ¹And he said unto them, Unto ²what were ye then baptized? And they said, Unto ³John's baptism.

4 Then said Paul, ^aJohn verily baptized with the baptism of repentance, saying unto the people, that they should believe in him, which should come after him, that is, in Christ Jesus.

5 And when they heard it, they were baptized in the Name of the Lord Jesus.

6 So Paul laid his hands upon them, and the holy Ghost came on them, and they spake the tongues, and prophesied.

7 And all the men were about twelve.

8 ¶ Moreover he went into the Synagogue, and spake boldly for the space of three months, disputing and exhorting to the things that appertain to the kingdom of God.

9 ¹But when certain were hardened, and disobeyed, speaking evil of the ²way of God before the multitude, he departed from them, and separated the disciples, and disputed daily in the school of one ³Tyrannus.

10 And this was done by the space of two years, so that all they which dwelt in Asia, heard the word of the Lord Jesus, both Jews and Grecians.

11 And God wrought no small miracles by the hands of Paul,

12 So that from his body were brought unto the sick, kerchiefs, or handkerchiefs, and the diseases departed from them, and the evil spirits went out of them.

13 ¹Then certain of the vagabond Jews, ²exorcists took in hand to name over them which had evil spirits, the name of the Lord Jesus, saying, We adjure you by Jesus, whom Paul preacheth.

14 (And there were certain sons of Sceva a Jew,

18:20 ¹ The Apostles were carried about not by the will of man, but by the leading of the holy Ghost.

18:21 ¹ So we should promise nothing without this clause, for we know not what the day following will bring forth.

18:24 ¹ Apollos, a godly and learned man, refuseth not to profit in the school of a base and abject handicraftsman, and also of a woman: and so becometh an excellent minister of the Church.

² Very well instructed in the knowledge of the Scriptures.

18:26 ¹ The way that leadeth to God.

18:27 ¹ Through God's gracious favor, or by those excellent gifts which God hath bestowed upon him.

19:1 ¹ Paul being nothing offended at the rudeness of the Ephesians, planted a Church among them.

19:2 ¹ Those excellent gifts of the holy Ghost, which were in those days in the Church.

19:3 ¹ John did only begin to instruct the disciples whom Christ should make perfect.

² In what doctrine then are you taught and instructed?

³ To be baptized into John's baptism, is to profess the doctrine which John preached and sealed with his baptism.

19:9 ¹ For a man to separate himself and others from infidels which are utterly desperate, it is not to divide the Church, but rather to unite it and make it one.

² By this word Way, the Hebrews understand any kind of life, and here it is taken for Christianity.

³ This was a man's proper name.

19:13 ¹ Satan is constrained to give witness against himself.

² So were they called which cast out devils by conjuring them in the Name of God: and in the beginning of the Church, they which had the gift of working miracles, and laid their hands on them that were possessed with devils, were also so called.

the Priest, about seven which did this.)

15 And the evil spirit answered, and said, Jesus I acknowledge, and Paul I know: but who are ye?

16 And the man in whom the evil spirit was, ran on them, and overcame them, and ¹prevailed against them, so that they fled out of that house, naked and wounded.

17 And this was known to all the Jews and Grecians also which dwelt at Ephesus, and fear came on them all, and the Name of the Lord Jesus was magnified, 18 ¹And many that believed, came and ²confessed, and showed their works.

19 Many also of them which used curious arts, brought their books, and burned them before all men: and they counted the price of them, and found it ¹fifty thousand pieces of silver.

20 So the word of God grew mightily, and prevailed.

21 ¶ ¹Now when these things were accomplished, Paul purposed by the ²Spirit to pass through Macedonia and Achaia, and to go to Jerusalem, saying, After I have been there, I must also see Rome.

22 So sent he into Macedonia two of them that ministered unto him, Timothy, and Erastus, but he remained in Asia for a season.

23 ¹And the same time there arose no small trouble about that way.

24 For a certain man named Demetrius a silversmith, which made silver ¹temples of Diana, brought great gains unto the craftsmen,

25 Whom he called together, with the workmen of like things, and said, Sirs, ye know that by this craft we have our goods:

26 Moreover ye see and hear, that not alone at Ephesus, but almost throughout all Asia this Paul hath persuaded, and turned away much people, saying, That they be not Gods which are made with hands.

27 So that not only this thing is dangerous unto us, that this our ¹portion shall be reprov'd, but also that the temple of the great goddess Diana should be nothing esteemed, and that it would come to pass that her magnificence, which all Asia and the world worshippeth, should be destroyed.

28 Now when they heard it, they were full of wrath, and cried out, saying, Great is Diana of the Ephesians.

29 And the whole city was full of confusion, and they rushed into the common place with one assent, and caught ^bGaius, and ^cAristarchus, men of Macedonia, and Paul's companions of his journey.

30 And when Paul would have entered in unto the people, the disciples suffered him not.

31 ¹Certain also of the chief of Asia, which were his friends, sent unto him, desiring him that he would not present himself in the Common place.

32 Some therefore cried one thing, and some another: for the assembly was out of order, and the more part knew not wherefore they were come together.

33 And some of the company drew forth Alexander, the Jews thrusting him forwards. Alexander then beckoned with the hand, and would have excused the matter to the people.

34 ¹But when they knew that he was a Jew, there arose a shout almost for the space of two hours, of all men, crying, Great is Diana of the Ephesians.

35 ¹Then the town clerk when he had stayed the people, said, Ye men of Ephesus, what man is it that knoweth not how that the city of the Ephesians is a worshipper of the great goddess Diana, and of the image, which ²came down from Jupiter?

36 Seeing then that no man can speak against these things, ye ought to be appeased, and to do nothing rashly.

37 For ye have brought hither these men, which have neither committed sacrilege, neither do blaspheme your goddess.

38 Wherefore, if Demetrius and the craftsmen which are with him, have a ¹matter against any man, the ²law is open, and there are ³Deputies: let them

19:16 ¹ He prevailed against them, though they strove never so much.

19:18 ¹ Conjuring and sorcery is condemned by open testimony, and by the authority of the Apostle.

² Confessed their errors, and detested them openly, being terrified with the fear of the judgment of God: and what is this to ear shrift?

19:19 ¹ They that make the least value of it, reckon it to be about eight hundred pounds English.

19:21 ¹ Paul is never weary.

² By the motion of God's Spirit: therefore we may not say that Paul ran hand over head to death, but as the Spirit of God led him.

19:23 ¹ Gain cloaked with a show of religion is the very cause wherefore idolatry is stoutly and stubbornly defended.

19:24 ¹ These were certain counterfeit temples with Diana's picture in them which they bought that worshipped her.

19:27 ¹ As if he said, If Paul go on thus as he hath begun to confute the opinion which men have of Diana's image, all this our gain will come to nought.

19:31 ¹ There ought to be in all Christians and especially in the Ministers, an invincible constancy, which may not by any storms or assaults be overcome, which notwithstanding must suffer itself modestly to be governed by wisdom.

19:34 ¹ Instead of reason, the idolaters are sufficiently contented with their own madness and outcries, and those are the greatest defenses that they have.

19:35 ¹ An example of a political man who redeemeth peace and quietness with lies, which Paul would never have done.

² The Ephesians believed superstitiously, that the image of Diana came down from heaven to them.

19:38 ¹ Have ought to accuse any man of.

² For there are certain days appointed for civil causes and matters of judgment, and the Deputies sit.

³ By the Deputies are meant also the Deputies' Substitutes, that is, such as did sit for them.

accuse one another.

39 But if ye inquire anything concerning other matters, it may be determined in a ¹lawful assembly.

40 For we are even in jeopardy to be accused of this day's sedition, forasmuch as there is no cause, whereby we may give a reason of this concourse of people.

41 And when he had thus spoken, he let the assembly depart.

20 ¹Paul appointed to go to Macedonia: ⁷In Troas preaching until midnight, ⁹Eutychus fell down dead out of a window, ¹⁰he raised him to life: ¹⁵At Miletus, ¹⁷Having called the Elders of Ephesus together, ²³he declareth what things shall come upon himself, ²⁸and others.

1 Now ¹after the tumult was appeased, Paul called the disciples unto him, and embraced them, and departed to go into Macedonia.

2 And when he had gone through those parts, and had exhorted them with ¹many words, he came into Greece.

3 ¹And having tarried there three months, because the Jews laid wait for him, as he was about to sail into Syria, he purposed to return through Macedonia.

4 And there accompanied him into Asia, Sopater of Berea, and of them of Thessalonica, Aristarchus, and Secundus, and Gaius of Derbe, and Timothy, and of them of Asia, Tychicus, and Trophimus.

5 These went before, and tarried us at Troas.

6 And we sailed forth from Philippi, after the days of unleavened bread, and came unto them to Troas in five days, where we abode seven days.

7 ¹And the ²first day of the week, the disciples being come together to break bread, Paul preached unto them, ready to depart on the morrow, and continued the preaching unto midnight.

8 ¹And there were many lights in an upper chamber, where they were gathered together.

9 And there sat in a window a certain young man, named Eutychus, fallen into a dead sleep:

and as Paul was long preaching, he overcome with sleep, fell down from the third loft, and was taken up dead.

10 But Paul went down, and laid himself upon him, and embraced him, saying, Trouble not yourselves: for his life is in him.

11 Then when Paul was come up again, and had broken bread, and eaten, having spoken a long while till the dawning of the day, he so departed.

12 And they brought the boy alive, and they were not a little comforted.

13 ¶ Then we went before to ship, and sailed unto the city Assos, that we might receive Paul there: for so had he appointed, and would himself go afoot.

14 Now when he was come unto us to Assos, and we had received him, we came to Mitylene.

15 And we sailed thence, and came the next day over against Chios, and the next day we arrived at Samos, and tarried at Trogyllium: the next day we came to Miletus.

16 ¹For Paul had determined to sail by Ephesus, because he would not spend the time in Asia: for he hasted to be, if he could possible, at Jerusalem, at the day of Pentecost.

17 ¶ Wherefore from ¹Miletus, he sent to Ephesus, and called the Elders of the Church.

18 ¹Who when they were come to him, he said unto them, Ye know from the first day that I came into Asia, after what manner I have been with you at all seasons,

19 Serving the Lord with all modesty, and with many tears, and temptations, which came unto me by the layings await of the Jews,

20 And how I kept ¹back nothing that was profitable, but have showed you, and taught you openly and throughout every house.

21 Witnessing both to the Jews, and to the Grecians the repentance toward God, and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ.

22 ¹And now behold, I go ²bound in the Spirit

19:39 ¹ He speaketh of a lawful assembly, not only to except against the disordered hurly-burly of the people, but also against all meeting and coming together which was not by order: for there were certain days appointed to call the people together in.

20:1 ¹ Paul departed from Ephesus by the consent of the Church, not to be idle or at rest, but to take pains in another place.

20:2 ¹ For after so great trouble there was need of a long exhortation.

20:3 ¹ A froward zeal is the guider and instructor to murders: and we are not debarred by the wisdom of God to prevent the endeavors of wicked men.

20:7 ¹ Assemblies in the nighttime cannot be justly condemned, neither ought, when the cause is good.

² Word for word, the first day of the Sabbath, that is upon the Lord's day: so that by this place, and by 1 Cor. 16:2, it is not amiss gathered, that in those days the Christians were wont to assemble themselves solemnly together upon that day.

20:8 ¹ The devil minding to trouble the Church with a great offense, giveth Paul a singular occasion to confirm the Gospel.

20:16 ¹ Paul an earnest and diligent follower of Christ, making haste to his bonds without any ceasing or stopping in his race, doth first of all as it were make his testament, wherein he giveth an account of his former life, defendeth the doctrine which he taught, and exhorteth the Pastors of the Church to persevere and go forward with continuance in their office.

20:17 ¹ According as the situation of these places is set forth, that distance between Ephesus and Miletus was about 400 furlongs, which maketh almost fifty Dutch miles.

20:18 ¹ A lively image of a true pastor.

20:20 ¹ I refrained not to speak, neither dissembled in any respect whatsoever, either for fear or lucre's sake.

20:22 ¹ He testifieth that he goeth to his bonds by the commandment of God.
² He calleth that motion of the holy Ghost, which forced him to take his journey to Jerusalem, the bond of the Spirit, whom he followed with all his heart.

unto Jerusalem, and know not what things shall come unto me there, 23 Save that the holy Ghost witnesseth in every city, saying, that bonds and afflictions abide me.

24 But I pass not at all, neither is my life dear unto myself, so that I may fulfill my course with joy, and the ministration which I have received of the Lord Jesus, to testify the Gospel of the grace of God.

25 And now behold, I know that henceforth ye all, through whom I have gone preaching the kingdom of God, shall see my face no more.

26 Wherefore I take you to record this day, that I am ¹pure from the blood of all men.

27 ¹For I have kept nothing back, but have showed you all the counsel of God.

28 Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, whereof the holy Ghost hath made you Overseers to ¹feed the Church of God which ²he hath purchased with ³that his own blood.

29 ¹For I know this, that after my departing shall grievous wolves enter in among you, not sparing the flock.

30 Moreover of your own selves shall men arise speaking perverse things, to ¹draw disciples after them.

31 Therefore watch, and remember, that by the space of three years I ceased not to warn everyone, both night and day with tears.

32 ¹And now brethren, I commend you to God, and to the word of his grace, which is able to build further, and to give you an ²inheritance, among all them, which are sanctified.

33 ¹I have coveted no man's silver, nor gold, nor apparel.

34 Yea, ye know, that these hands have ministered unto my ⁴necessities, and to them that were with me.

35 I have showed you all things, how that so laboring, ye ought to ¹support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how that he said, It is a blessed thing to give, rather than to receive.

36 And when he had thus spoken, he kneeled down, and prayed with them all.

37 ¹Then they wept all abundantly, and fell on Paul's neck, and kissed him, 38 Being chiefly sorry for the words which he spake, That they should see his face no more. And they accompanied him unto the ship.

21 ¹ Paul goeth toward Jerusalem: ⁸ at Caesarea he talketh with Philip the Evangelist: ¹⁰ Agabus foretelleth him of his bonds. ¹⁷ After he came to Jerusalem, ²⁶ and into the Temple, ²⁷ The Jews laid hands on him: ³² Lysias the captain taketh him from them.

1 And ¹as we launched forth, and were departed from them, we came with a straight course unto Cos, and the day following unto the Rhodes, and from thence unto Patara.

2 And we found a ship that went over unto Phoenicia, and went aboard, and set forth.

3 And when we had discovered Cyprus, we left it on the left hand, and sailed toward Syria, and arrived at Tyre: for there the ship unladed the burden.

4 And when we had found disciples, we tarried there seven days. And they told Paul through the ¹Spirit, that he should not go up to Jerusalem.

5 But when the days were ended, we departed and went our way, and they all accompanied us with their wives and children, even out of the city: and we kneeled down on the shore, prayed.

6 Then when we had embraced one another, we took ship, and they returned home.

7 And when we had ended the course from Tyre, we arrived at Ptolemais, and saluted the brethren, and abode with them one day.

8 And the next day, Paul and we that were with him, departed, and came unto Caesarea: and we entered into the house of ⁴Philip the Evangelist, which was one of the ¹seven Deacons, and abode with him.

20:26 ¹ If you do perish, yet there shall be no fault in me, see Acts 18:6.

20:27 ¹ The doctrine of the Apostles is most perfect and absolute.

20:28 ¹ To keep it, to feed it, and govern it.

² A notable sentence for Christ's Godhead: which sheweth plainly in his person, how that by reason of the joining together of the two natures in his own person, that which is proper to one is spoken of the other being taken in the derivative, and not in the primitive: which in old time the godly fathers termed a communicating or fellowship of proprieties, that is to say, a making common of that to two, which belongeth but to one.

³ This word, That sheweth the excellency of this blood.

20:29 ¹ A prophecy of pastors that should straightway degenerate into wolves against such as boast and brag only of a succession of persons.

20:30 ¹ This is a great misery, to want the presence of such a shepherd, but greater to have wolves enter in.

20:32 ¹ The power of God, and his free promises revealed in his word, are the props and upholders of the ministry of the Gospel.

² As children, and therefore of free love and good will.

20:33 ¹ Pastors must before all things beware of covetousness.

20:35 ¹ As it were by reaching out the hand to them, which otherwise are about to slip and fall away, and so to stay them.

20:37 ¹ The Gospel doth not take away natural affections, but ruleth and bridleth them in good order.

21:1 ¹ Not only men simply, but even our friends, and such as are endued with the Spirit of God, do sometimes go about to hinder the course of our vocation: but it is our part to go forward without all stopping or staggering, after that we are sure of our calling from God.

21:4 ¹ They foretold through the Spirit what danger hanged over Paul's head, and this they did as Prophets: but of a fleshly affection they frayed him from going to Jerusalem.

21:8 ¹ He speaketh of the seven Deacons which he mentioned before, Acts 6.

9 Now he had four daughters, virgins, which did ¹prophesy.

10 And as we tarried there many days, there came a certain Prophet from Judea, named Agabus.

11 And when he was come unto us, he took Paul's girdle, and bound his own hands and feet, and said, Thus saith the holy Ghost, So shall the Jews at Jerusalem bind the man that owneth this girdle, and shall deliver him into the hands of the Gentiles.

12 And when we had heard these things, both we and others of the same place besought him that he would not go up to Jerusalem.

13 Then Paul answered, and said, What do ye weeping and breaking mine heart? For I am ready not to be bound only, but also to die at Jerusalem for the Name of the Lord Jesus.

14 ¹So when he would not be persuaded, we ceased, saying, The will of the Lord be done.

15 And after those days we trussed up our fardels, and went up to Jerusalem.

16 There went with us also certain of the disciples of Caesarea, and brought with them one Mnason of Cyprus, an old disciple, with whom we should lodge.

17 And when we were come to Jerusalem, the brethren received us gladly.

18 And the next day Paul went in with us unto James: and all the Elders were there assembled.

19 ¹And when he had embraced them, he told by order all things, that God had wrought among the Gentiles by his ministration.

20 ¹So when they heard it, they glorified God, and said unto him, Thou seest, brother, how many thousand Jews there are which believe, and they are all zealous of the Law:

21 Now they are informed of thee, that thou teachest all the Jews, which are among the Gentiles, to forsake Moses, and sayest that they ought not to circumcise their sons, neither to live after the customs.

22 What is then to be done? the multitude must needs come together: for they shall hear that thou art come.

23 Do therefore this that we say to thee. We have four men, which have made a vow,

^b Acts 18:18
Num. 6:18

24 Them take, and ¹purify thyself with them, and ²contribute with them, that they may ^bshave their heads: and all shall know, that those things, whereof they have been informed concerning thee, are nothing, but that thou thyself also walkest and keepest the Law.

25 For as touching the Gentiles, which believe, we have written, and determined that they observe no such thing, but that they keep themselves from things offered to idols, and from blood, and from that that is strangled, and from fornication.

26 Then Paul took the men, and the next day was purified with them, and entered into the Temple, ¹declaring the accomplishment of the days of the purification, until that an offering should be offered for everyone of them.

27 ¹And when the seven days were almost ended, the Jews which were of Asia (when they saw him in the Temple) moved all the people, and laid hands on him,

28 Crying, Men of Israel, help: this is the man that teachest all men everywhere against the people, and the Law, and this place: moreover, he hath brought Grecians into the Temple, and hath polluted this holy place.

29 For they had seen before Trophimus an Ephesian with him in the city, whom they supposed that Paul had brought into the Temple.

30 Then all the city was moved, and the people ran together: and they took Paul, and drew him out of the Temple, and forthwith the doors were shut.

31 ¹But as they went about to kill him, tidings came unto the chief captain of the band, that all Jerusalem was on an uproar.

32 Who immediately took soldiers and Centurions, and ran down unto them: and when they saw the chief captain and the soldiers, they left beating of Paul.

33 Then the chief Captain came near and took him, and commanded him to be bound with two chains, and demanded who he was, and what he had done.

34 And one cried this, another that, among the people. So when he could not know the certainty for the tumult, he commanded him to be led into the castle.

35 And when he came unto the griesces, it was so

21:9 ¹ They had a peculiar gift of foretelling things to come.

21:14 ¹ The will of God bridleth all affections in them which earnestly seek the glory of God.

21:19 ¹ God is to be praised, who is the Author of all good sayings and deeds.

21:20 ¹ In things indifferent (of which sort were not the traditions of the Pharisees, but the ceremonies of the Law, until such time as Christian liberty was more fully revealed to the Jews) charity willeth us to conform or apply ourselves willingly so far as we may, to our brethren which do not stubbornly, and maliciously, resist the truth, but are not thoroughly instructed especially if the question be of a whole multitude.

21:24 ¹ That is, consecrate thyself: for he speaketh not here of the unclean, but of such as were subject to the vow of the Nazarites.

² That it may be known, that thou wast not only present at the vow, but also a chief man in it: and therefore it is said afterwards, that Paul declared the days of purification: for although the charges for the Nazarites' offerings were appointed, yet they might add somewhat unto them, Num. 6:21.

21:26 ¹ The Priests were to be advertised of the accomplishment of the days of the purification, because there were sacrifices to be offered the same day that their vow was ended.

21:27 ¹ A preposterous zeal is the cause of great confusion, and great mischiefs.

21:31 ¹ God findeth some even amongst the wicked and profane themselves, to hinder the endeavors of the rest.

that he was borne of the soldiers, for the violence of the people.

36 For the multitude of the people followed after, crying, Away with him.

37 And as Paul should have been led into the castle, he said unto the chief captain, May I speak unto thee? Who said, Canst thou speak Greek?

38 Art not thou the ¹Egyptian who before these days raised a sedition, and led out into the wilderness four thousand men that were murderers?

39 Then Paul said, Doubtless, I am a man which am a Jew, and citizen of Tarsus, a famous city of Cilicia, and I beseech thee, suffer me to speak unto the people.

40 And when he had given him license, Paul stood on the grieces, and beckoned with the hand unto the people, and when there was made great silence, he spake unto them in the Hebrew tongue, saying,

22 1 Paul yieldeth a reason of his faith, 22 and the Jews heard him awhile: 23 But so soon as they cried out, 24 He is commanded to be scourged and examined, 27 and so declareth that he is citizen of Rome.

1 Ye men, brethren and fathers, hear my defense now towards you.

2 (And when they heard that he spake in the Hebrew tongue to them, they kept the more silence, and he said,)

3 ¹I am verily a man, which am a Jew, born in Tarsus in Cilicia, but brought up in this city at the ²feet of Gamaliel, and instructed according to the perfect manner of the Law of the fathers, and was zealous toward God, as ye all are this day.

4 And I persecuted this way unto the death, binding and delivering into prison both men and women.

5 As also the chief Priest doth bear me witness, and all the company of the Elders: of whom also I received letters unto the brethren, and went to Damascus to bring them which were there, bound unto Jerusalem, that they might be punished.

6 ¶ And so it was, as I journeyed, and was come near unto Damascus about noon, that suddenly there shone from heaven a great light round about me.

7 So I fell unto the earth, and heard a voice, saying unto me, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?

8 Then I answered, Who art thou, Lord? And he said to me, I am Jesus of Nazareth, whom thou persecutest.

9 Moreover they that were with me, saw indeed a light and were afraid: but they heard not the voice of him that spake unto me.

10 Then I said, What shall I do, Lord? And the Lord said unto me, Arise, and go into Damascus: and there it shall be told thee of all things, which are appointed for thee to do.

11 So when I could not see for the glory of that light, I was led by the hand of them that were with me, and came into Damascus.

12 And one Ananias a godly man, as pertaining to the Law, having good report of all the Jews which dwelt there, 13 Came unto me, and stood, and said unto me, Brother Saul, receive thy sight: and that same hour I looked upon him.

14 And he said, The God of our fathers hath appointed thee, that thou shouldest know his will, and shouldest see that Just one, and shouldest hear the voice of his mouth.

15 For thou shalt be his witness unto all men, of the things which thou hast seen and heard.

16 Now therefore why tarriest thou? Arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sins, in calling on the Name of the Lord.

17 ¶ And it came to pass, that when I was come again to Jerusalem, and prayed in the Temple, I was in a trance, 18 And saw him, saying unto me, Make haste, and get thee quickly out of Jerusalem: for they will not receive thy witness concerning me.

19 Then I said, Lord, they know that I prisoned, and beat in every Synagogue them that believed in thee.

20 And when the blood of thy martyr Stephen was shed, I also stood by, and consented unto his death, and kept the clothes of them that ¹slew him.

21 Then he said unto me, Depart: for I will send thee far hence unto the Gentiles.

22 ¶ ¹And they heard him unto this word, but then they lifted up their voices, and said, Away with such a fellow from the earth: for it is not meet that he should live.

23 And as they ¹cried and cast off their clothes, and threw dust into the air, into the castle, and bade that he should be scourged, and examined, that he might know wherefore they cried so on him.

25 ¹And as they bound him with thongs, Paul said unto the Centurion that stood by, Is it lawful for you to scourge one that is a Roman, and not condemned?

26 Now when the Centurion heard it, he went, and told the chief captain, saying, Take heed what thou doest: for this man is a Roman.

27 Then the chief captain came, and said to him, Tell me, art thou a Roman? And he said, Yea.

28 And the chief captain answered, With a great sum obtained I this freedom. Then Paul said, But I was so born.

29 Then straightway they departed from him, which should have examined him: and the chief captain also was afraid, after he knew that he was a ¹Roman, and that he had bound him.

30 On the next day, because he would have known the certainty wherefore he was accused of the Jews, he loosed him from his bonds, and commanded the high Priests and all their Council to come together: and he brought Paul, and set him before them.

commandest thou me to be smitten?

4 And they that stood by, said, Revilest thou God's high Priest?

5 ¹Then said Paul, I knew not brethren, that he was the high Priest: for it is written, ^aThou shalt not speak evil of the ruler of thy people.

6 ¹But when Paul perceived that the one part were of the Sadducees, and the other of the Pharisees, he cried in the Council, Men and brethren, ^bI am a Pharisee, the son of a Pharisee: I am accused of the hope and resurrection of the dead.

7 ¹And when he had said this, there was a dissension between the Pharisees and the Sadducees, so that the multitude was divided.

8 ^cFor the Sadducees say that there is no resurrection, neither ²Angel, nor spirit: but the Pharisees confess both.

9 ¹Then there was a great cry: and the ²Scribes of the Pharisees' part rose up, and strove, saying, We find none evil in this man: but if a spirit or an Angel hath spoken to him, let us not fight against God.

10 ¹And when there was a great dissension, the chief captain, fearing lest Paul should have been pulled in pieces of them, commanded the soldiers to go down, and take him from among them, and to bring him into the castle.

11 Now the night following, the Lord stood by him, and said, Be of good courage, Paul, for as thou hast testified of me in Jerusalem, so must thou bear witness also at Rome.

12 ¹And when the day was come, certain of the Jews made an assembly, and bound themselves ²with a curse, saying, that they would neither eat nor drink till they had killed Paul.

13 And they were more than forty, which had made this conspiracy.

14 And they came to the chief Priests and Elders, and said, We have bound ourselves with a solemn curse, that we will eat nothing, until we have slain

23:1 ¹ Paul against the false accusations of his enemies, setteth a good conscience, for proof whereof, he repeateth the whole course of his life.

23:2 ¹ Hypocrites are constrained at length to betray themselves by their intemperance.

23:3 ¹ It is lawful for us to complain of injuries, and to summon the wicked to the judgment seat of God, so that we do it without hatred, and with a quiet and peaceable mind.

² It appeareth plainly by the Greek plural, that Paul did not curse the high Priest, but only pronounce the punishment of God against him.

³ This is a vehement and sharp speech, but yet not reproachful: For the godly may speak roundly, and yet be void of the bitter affection of a sharp and angry mind.

⁴ For the Law commandeth the judge to hear the person that is accused patiently, and to pronounce the sentence advisedly.

23:5 ¹ We must willingly and from the heart give honor to Magistrates, although they be tyrants.

23:6 ¹ We may lawfully sometimes set the wicked together by the ears, that they may leave off to assault us, so that it be with no hindrance of the truth.

23:7 ¹ The concord of the wicked is weak although they conspire together to oppress the truth.

15 Now therefore, ¹ye and the Council, signify to the chief captain, that he bring him forth unto you tomorrow, as though you would know something more perfectly of him, and we, or ever he come near will be ready to kill him.

16 But when Paul's sister's son heard of their laying await, he went, and entered into the castle, and told Paul.

17 ¹And Paul called one of the Centurions unto him, and said, Take this young man hence unto the chief captain: for he hath a certain thing to show him.

18 So he took him, and brought him to the chief captain, and said, Paul the prisoner called me unto him, and prayed me to bring this young man unto thee, which hath something to say unto thee.

19 Then the chief captain took him by the hand, and went apart with him alone, and asked him, What hast thou to show me?

20 And he said, The Jews have conspired to desire thee, that thou wouldest bring forth Paul tomorrow into the Council, as though they would inquire somewhat of him more perfectly:

21 But let them not persuade thee: for there lie in wait for him of them, more than forty men, which have bound themselves with a curse, that they will neither eat nor drink, till they have killed him: and now are they ready, and wait for thy promise.

22 ¹The chief captain then let the young man depart, after he had charged him to utter it to no man, that he had ²showed him these things.

23 And he called unto him two certain Centurions, saying, Make ready two hundred soldiers, that they may go to Caesarea, and horsemen threescore and ten, and two hundred with darts, at the third hour of the night:

24 And let them make ready an horse, that Paul being set on, may be brought safe unto Felix the governor.

25 And he wrote an Epistle in this manner:

26 ¹Claudius Lysias unto the most noble governor Felix sendeth greeting.

27 As this man was taken of the Jews, and should have been killed of them, I came upon them with a garrison, and rescued him, perceiving that he was a Roman.

28 And when I would have known the cause wherefore they accused him, I brought him forth into their Council.

29 There I perceived that he was accused of questions of their Law, but had no crime worthy of death, or of bonds.

30 And when it was showed me, how that the Jews laid wait for the man, I sent him straightway to thee, and commanded his accusers to speak before thee the things that they had against him. Farewell.

31 Then the soldiers as it was commanded them, took Paul, and brought him by night to Antipatris, 32 And the next day, they left the horsemen to go with him, and returned into the Castle.

33 Now when they came to Caesarea, they delivered the Epistle to the governor, and presented Paul also unto him.

34 So when the Governor had read it, he asked of what province he was: and when he understood that he was of Cilicia, 35 I will hear thee, said he, when thine accusers also are come, and commanded him to be kept in Herod's judgment hall.

24 2 Tertullus accuseth Paul: 10 He answereth for himself: 21 He preacheth Christ to the governor and his wife. 26 Felix hopeth, but in vain, to receive a bribe, 27 who going from his office, leaveth Paul in prison.

1 Now ¹after five days, Ananias the high Priest came down with the Elders, and with Tertullus a certain orator, which appeared before the governor against Paul.

2 And when he was called forth, Tertullus began to accuse him, saying, Seeing that we have obtained great quietness ¹through thee, and that many ²worthy things are done unto this nation through thy providence,

3 We acknowledge it wholly, and in all places, most noble Felix, with all thanks.

4 But that I be not tedious unto thee, I pray thee, that thou wouldest hear us of thy courtesy a few words.

5 Certainly we have found this man a ¹pestilent fellow, and a mover of sedition among all the Jews throughout the world, and a ²chief maintainer of the sect of the ³Nazarenes:

23:15 ¹ Ye and the Senate requiring the same to be done, lest that the Tribune should think that it was demanded of him at some private man's suit.

23:17 ¹ The wisdom of the Spirit must be joined with simplicity.

23:22 ¹ There is no counsel against the Lord and his servants.

² Greek, that thou hast showed these things to me.

23:26 ¹ Lysias is suddenly made by the Lord Paul's patron.

24:1 ¹ Hypocrites, when they cannot do what they would do by force and deceit, at length they go about to compass it by a show of Law.

24:2 ¹ Felix ruled that province with great cruelty and covetousness, and yet Josephus recordeth that he did many worthy things, as that he took Eleazar the captain of certain cutthroats, and put that deceiving wretch the Egyptian to flight, which caused great troubles in Judea.

² He useth a word which the Stoics defined to be a perfect duty and behavior.

24:5 ¹ Word for word, a plague.

² As you would say, a ringleader, or ensign bearer.

³ So they called the Christians scoffingly of the town's name where they thought that Christ was born, whereupon it came that Julian the Apostate called him Galilean.

6 And hath gone about to pollute the Temple: therefore we took him, and would have judged him according to our Law:

7 But the chief captain Lysias came upon us, and with great violence took him out of our hands,

8 Commanding his accusers to come to thee: of whom thou mayest (if thou wilt inquire) know all these things whereof we accuse him.

9 And the Jews likewise ¹affirmed, saying that it was so.

10 ¹Then Paul, after that the governor had beckoned unto him that he should speak, answered, I do the more gladly answer for myself, forasmuch as I know that ²thou hast been oft many years a judge unto this nation,

11 Seeing that thou mayest know, that there are but twelve days since I came up to worship in Jerusalem.

12 And they neither found me in the Temple, disputing with any man, neither making uproar among the people, neither in the Synagogues, nor in the city.

13 Neither can they ¹prove the things, whereof they now accuse me.

14 ¹But this I confess unto thee, that after the way (which they call ²heresy) so worship I the God of my fathers, believing all things which are written in the Law and the Prophets,

15 And have hope towards God, that the resurrection of the dead, which they themselves look for also, shall be both of just and unjust.

16 And herein I endeavor myself to have always a clear conscience toward God and toward men.

17 ¹Now after many years, I came and brought alms to my nation and offerings,

18 At ¹what time, certain Jews of ²Asia found me purified in the Temple, neither with multitude, nor with tumult.

19 Who ought to have been present before thee, and accuse me, if they had ought against me.

20 Or let these themselves say, if they have found any unjust thing in me, while I stood in the ¹Council, 21 Except it be for this one voice, that I cried standing among them, Of the resurrection of the dead am I accused of you this day.

22 ¹Now when Felix heard these things, he deferred them, and said, When I shall more ²perfectly know the things which concern this way, by the coming of Lysias the chief Captain, I will decide your matter.

23 ¹Then he commanded a Centurion to keep Paul, and that he should have ease, and that he should forbid none of his acquaintance to minister unto him, or to come unto him.

24 ¶ And after certain days, came Felix with his wife ¹Drusilla, which was a Jewess, and he called forth Paul, and heard him of the faith in Christ.

25 And as he disputed of righteousness and temperance, and of the judgment to come, Felix trembled, and answered, Go thy way for this time, and when I have convenient time, I will call for thee.

26 He hoped also that money should have been given him of Paul, that he might loose him: wherefore he sent for him the oftener, and communed with him.

27 ¹When two years were expired, Porcius Festus came into Felix's room, and Felix willing to ²get favor of the Jews, left Paul bound.

25 ¹ Festus succeeding Felix, ⁶ commandeth Paul to be brought forth. ¹¹ Paul appealeth unto Caesar. ¹⁴ Festus openeth Paul's matter to king Agrippa, ²³ and 24:9 ¹ Confirmed Tertullus's saying.

24:10 ¹ Tertullus by the devil's rhetoric beginneth with flattery, maketh an end with lies: but Paul using heavenly eloquence, and but a simple beginning casteth off from himself the crime of sedition, wherewith he was burdened, with a simple denial.

² Paul pleaded his cause two years before Felix departed out of the province, Acts 27, but he had governed Trachonite, and Batanea, and Galavnite, before that Claudius made him governor of Judea: Josephus in the History of the Jewish War, lib. 2, chap. 11.

24:13 ¹ They cannot lay forth before thee and prove by good reasons.

24:14 ¹ Paul goeth in the cause of Religion from a state conjectural to a state of quality not only not denying that objected against him, but also proving it to be true, to be heavenly and from God, and to be the oldest of all religions.

² Here this word, Heresy, or sect, is taken in good part.

24:17 ¹ Paul in conclusion telleth the thing which was done, truly, which Tertullus had before divers ways corrupted.

24:18 ¹ And while I was busy about those things.

² Hereby it appeareth that these of Asia were Saul's enemies, and those that stirred up the people against him.

24:20 ¹ Whither the Tribune brought me.

24:22 ¹ The Judge suspendeth his sentence, because the matter is doubtful.

² Felix could not judge whether he had done wickedly in the matters of his religion or no, until he had better understanding of that way which Paul professed: and as for other matters touching the sedition, he thinketh good to defer it till he hears Lysias, and therefore he gave Paul somewhat more liberty.

24:23 ¹ God is a most faithful keeper of his servants, and the force of the truth is wonderful, even amongst men which are otherwise profane.

24:24 ¹ This Drusilla was Agrippa's sister, of whom Luke speaketh afterward, a very harlot and licentious woman, and being the wife of Azizus king of the Emesens, who was circumcised, departed from him, and went to Felix, the brother of one Pallas, who was sometime Nero's bondman.

24:27 ¹ In a naughty mind that is guilty to itself, although, sometimes there be some show of equity, yet by and by, it will be extinguished: but in the mean season we have need to patience, and that continual.

² For whereas he had behaved himself very wickedly in the province, had it not been for favor of his brother Pallas, he should have died for it: so that we may gather hereby why he would have pleased the Jews.

bringeth him before him, 27 that he may understand his cause.

1 When ¹Festus was then come into the province, after three days he went up from Caesarea unto Jerusalem.

2 Then the high Priest, and the chief of the Jews appeared before him against Paul: and they besought him,

3 And desired favor against him, that he would send for him to Jerusalem: and they laid wait to kill him by the way.

4 But Festus answered, that Paul should be kept at Caesarea, and that he himself would shortly depart thither.

5 Let them therefore, said he, which among you are able, come down with us: and if there be any wickedness in the man, let them accuse him.

6 ¶ ¹Now when he had tarried among them no more than ten days, he went down to Caesarea, and the next day sat in the judgment seat, and commanded Paul to be brought.

7 And when he was come, the Jews which were come from Jerusalem, stood about him and laid many and grievous complaints against Paul, whereof ¹they could make no plain proof,

8 Forasmuch as he answered, that he had neither offended anything against the law of the Jews, neither against the temple, nor against Caesar.

9 ¹Yet Festus willing to get favor of the Jews, answered Paul and said, Wilt thou go up to Jerusalem, and there be judged of these things before me?

10 Then said Paul, I stand at Caesar's judgment seat, where I ought to be judged: to the Jews I have done no wrong, as thou very well knowest.

11 For if I have done wrong, or committed anything worthy of death, I refuse not to die: but if there be none of these things, whereof they accuse me, no man, to pleasure them, can deliver me to them: I appeal unto Caesar.

12 Then when Festus had spoken with the Council, he answered, Hast thou appealed unto Caesar? unto Caesar shalt thou go.

13 ¶ ¹And after certain days, King ²Agrippa and Bernice came down to Caesarea to salute Festus.

14 And when they had remained there many days, Festus declared Paul's cause unto the king, saying, There is a certain man left in prison by Felix,

15 Of whom when I came to Jerusalem, the high Priests and Elders of the Jews informed me, and desired to have judgment against him.

16 To whom I answered, that it is not the manner of the Romans for favor to ¹deliver any man to the death, before that he which is accused, have the accusers before him, and have place to defend himself, concerning the crime.

17 Therefore when they were come hither, without delay the day following I sat on the judgment seat, and commanded the man to be brought forth.

18 Against whom when the accusers stood up, they brought no crime of such things as I supposed:

19 ¹But had certain questions against him of their own ²superstitions, and of one Jesus which was dead, whom Paul affirmed to be alive.

20 And because I doubted of such manner of question, I asked him whether he would go to Jerusalem, and there be judged of these things.

21 But because he appealed to be reserved to the examination of Augustus, I commanded him to be kept, till I might send him to Caesar.

22 ¹Then Agrippa said unto Festus, I would also hear the man myself. Tomorrow, said he, thou shalt hear him.

23 And on the morrow when Agrippa was come, and Bernice with great ¹pomp, and were entered into the Common hall with the chief captains and chief men of the city, at Festus's commandment Paul was brought forth.

24 And Festus said, King Agrippa, and all men which are present with us, ye see this man, about whom all the multitude of the Jews have called upon me, both at Jerusalem, and here, crying, that he ought not to live any longer.

25 Yet have I found nothing worthy of death, that he hath committed: nevertheless, seeing that he hath appealed to Augustus, I have determined to send him.

25:1 ¹ Satan's Ministers are subtle and diligent in seeking all occasions: but God who watcheth for his, hindereth all their counsels easily.

25:6 ¹ We may repel an injury justly, but not with injury.

25:7 ¹ They could not prove them certainly and with undoubted reasons.

25:9 ¹ God doth not only turn away the counsel of the wicked, but also turneth it upon their own heads.

25:13 ¹ Festus thinking no such thing, even before kings, bringing to light the wickedness of the Jews, and Paul's innocence, doth marvelously confirm the Church of God.

² This Agrippa was Agrippa's son, whose death Luke spake of before, and Bernice was his sister.

25:16 ¹ The Romans used not to deliver any man to be punished before, etc.

25:19 ¹ The profane and wicked take an occasion to condemn the true doctrine by reason of private controversies and contentions of men betwixt themselves: but the truth nevertheless abideth in the mean season safe and sure.

² This profane man calleth the Jews' religion, superstition, and that before king Agrippa, but no marvel: for the rulers of provinces by reason of the majesty of the empire of Rome, used to prefer themselves before kings.

25:22 ¹ That is fulfilled in Paul, which the Lord before had told to Ananias of him, Acts 9:15.

25:23 ¹ Gorgeously like a Prince.

26 Of whom I have no certain thing to write unto my ¹lord: wherefore I have brought him forth unto you, and especially unto thee, King Agrippa, that after examination had, I might have somewhat to write.

27 For me thinketh it unreasonable to send a prisoner, and not to show the causes which are laid against him.

26 2 Paul in the presence of Agrippa, 4 declareth his life from his childhood, 16 and his calling. 21 with such efficacy of words 28 that almost he persuaded him to Christianity. 30 But he and his company depart doing nothing in Paul's matter.

1 Then Agrippa said unto Paul, Thou art permitted to speak for thyself. So Paul stretched forth the hand, and answered for himself.

2 ¹I think myself happy, King Agrippa, because I shall answer this day before thee of all the things whereof I am accused of the Jews:

3 Chiefly, because thou hast knowledge of all customs, and questions which are among the Jews: wherefore I beseech thee to hear me patiently.

4 ¹As touching my life from my childhood, and what it was from the beginning among mine own nation at Jerusalem, know all the Jews,

5 Which ¹knew me heretofore, even from my ²Elders (if they would testify) that after the ³most straight sect of our religion, I lived a Pharisee.

6 ¹And now I stand and am accused for the hope of the promise made of God unto our fathers.

7 Whereunto our twelve tribes instantly serving God day and night, hope to come: for the which hope's sake, O King Agrippa, I am accused of the Jews.

8 ¹Why should it be thought a thing incredible unto you, that God should raise again the dead?

9 I also verily thought in myself, that I ought to do many contrary things against the Name of Jesus of Nazareth.

10 ^aWhich thing I also did in Jerusalem: for many of the Saints I shut up in prison, having received authority of the High Priests, and when they were put to death, I gave my ¹sentence.

11 And I punished them throughout all the Synagogues, and ¹compelled them to blaspheme and being more mad against them, I persecuted them, even unto strange cities.

12 At which time, even as I went to ^bDamascus with authority, and commission from the high Priests,

13 At midday, O king, I saw in the way a light from heaven passing the brightness of the sun, shine round about me, and them which went with me.

14 So when we were all fallen to the earth, I heard a voice speaking unto me, and saying in the Hebrew tongue, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? It is hard for thee to kick against pricks.

15 Then I said, Who art thou, Lord? And he said, I am Jesus whom thou persecutest.

16 But rise and stand up on thy feet: for I have appeared unto thee for this purpose to appoint thee a minister and a witness, both of the things which thou hast seen, and of the things in the which I will appear unto thee,

17 Delivering thee from this people, and from the Gentiles, unto whom now I send thee,

18 ¹To open their eyes, that they may turn from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan unto God, that they may receive forgiveness of sins, and inheritance among them, which are sanctified by faith in me.

19 ¹Wherefore, King Agrippa, I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision, 20 ^cBut showed first unto them of Damascus, and at Jerusalem, and throughout all the coasts of Judea, and then to the Gentiles, that they should repent and turn to God, and do works worthy amendment of life.

21 For this cause the Jews caught me in the ^dTemple, and went about to kill me.

22 ¹Nevertheless, I obtained help of God, and continue unto this day, witnessing both to ²small and to great, saying none other things, than those which the Prophets and Moses did say should come,

23 To wit, that Christ should ¹suffer, and that he

25:26 ¹ To Augustus. Good Princes refused this name at the first, to wit, to be called Lords, but afterwards they admitted it, as we read of Traianus.

26:2 ¹ To have a skillful judge, is a great and singular gift of God.

26:4 ¹ Paul divideth the history of his life into two times: for the first [he] calleth his adversaries witnesses: for the latter, the fathers and prophets.

26:5 ¹ What I was, and where, and how I lived.

² That my parents were Pharisees.

³ The sect of the Pharisees was the most exquisite amongst all the sects of the Jews, for it was better than all the rest.

26:6 ¹ There are three chief and principal witnesses of true doctrine, God, the true Fathers, and the consent of the Church.

26:8 ¹ He proveth the resurrection of the dead, first by the power of God, then by the resurrection of Christ: whereof he is a sufficient witness.

26:10 ¹ I consented to, and allowed of their doing: for he was not a judge.

26:11 ¹ By extreme punishment.

26:18 ¹ The end of the Gospel is to save them which are brought to the knowledge of Christ, and are justified and sanctified in him being laid hold on by faith.

26:19 ¹ Paul allegeth God to be author of the office of his Apostleship, and his grace as a witness.

26:22 ¹ Christ is the end of the Law and the Prophets.

² To everyone.

26:23 ¹ That Christ should not be such a king as the Jews dreamed of, but one appointed to bear our miseries, and the punishment of our sins.

should be the ²first that should rise from the dead, and should show ³light unto this people, and to the Gentiles.

24 ¹And as he thus answered for himself, Festus said with a loud voice, Paul, thou art beside thyself, much learning doth make thee mad.

25 But he said, I am not mad, O noble Festus, but I speak the words of truth, and soberness.

26 For the king knoweth of these things, before whom also I speak boldly: for I am persuaded that none of these things are hidden from him: for this thing was [not] done in a ¹corner.

27 ¹O King Agrippa, believest thou the Prophets? I know that thou believest.

28 Then Agrippa said unto Paul, Almost thou persuadest me to become a Christian.

29 Then Paul said, ¹I would to God that [not] only thou, but also all that hear me today, were both almost, and altogether such as I am, except these bonds.

30 ¹And when he had thus spoken, the king rose up, and the governor, and Bernice, and they that sat with them.

31 And when they were gone apart, they talked between themselves, saying, This man doeth nothing worthy of death, nor of bonds.

32 Then said Agrippa unto Festus, This man might have been loosed, if he had not appealed unto Caesar.

27 ¹Paul 7, 9 foretelleth the peril of the voyage, 11 but he is not believed. 14 They are tossed to and fro with the tempest, 22, 41 and suffer shipwreck: 34 Yet all safe and sound 44 escape to land.

1 Now ¹when it was concluded, that we should sail into Italy, they delivered both Paul, and certain other prisoners unto a Centurion, named Julius, of the band of Augustus.

2 And ¹we entered into a ship of Adramyttium, purposing to sail by the coasts of Asia, and launched forth, and had Aristarchus of Macedonia, a Thes-salonian, with us.

3 And the next day we arrived at Sidon: and Julius courteously entreated Paul, and gave him liberty to go unto his friends, that they might refresh him.

4 And from thence we launched, and sailed hard by Cyprus, because the winds were contrary.

5 Then sailed we over the sea by Cilicia, and Pamphilia, and came to Myra, a city in Lycia.

6 And there the Centurion found a ship of Alexandria, sailing into Italy, and put us therein.

7 And when we had sailed slowly many days, and scarce were come against Cnidus, because the wind suffered us not, we sailed hard by Candia, near to ¹Salmone,

8 And with much ado sailed beyond it, and came unto a certain place called the Fair Havens, near unto the which was the city Lasea.

9 ¹So when much time was spent, and sailing was now jeopardous, because also the ²Fast was now passed, Paul exhorted them,

10 And said unto them, Sirs, I see that this voyage will be with hurt, and much damage, not of the lading and ship only, but also of our lives.

11 ¹Nevertheless the Centurion believed rather the governor and the master of the ship, than those things which were spoken of Paul.

12 And because the haven was not commodious to winter in, many took counsel to depart thence, if by any means they might attain to Phoenix, there to winter, which is an haven of Crete, and lieth toward the Southwest and by West, and Northwest and by West.

13 And when the Southern wind blew softly, they supposing to attain their purpose, loosed nearer, and sailed by Crete.

14 But anon after, there arose by ¹it a stormy wind called ²Euroclydon.

15 And when the ship was caught, and could not resist the wind, we let her go, and were carried away.

16 And we ran under a little Isle named Claudia,

26:23 ² The first of them which are raised from the dead.

³ Life, yea, and that a most blessed life which shall be endless: and this is set against darkness, which almost in all tongues signifieth sometimes death, and sometimes misery and calamity.

26:24 ¹ The wisdom of God is madness to fools, yet notwithstanding we must boldly avouch the truth.

26:26 ¹ Secretly, and privately.

26:27 ¹ Paul as it were forgetting himself that he stood a prisoner to defend his cause, he forgetteth not the office of his Apostleship.

26:29 ¹ I would to God that not only almost, but thoroughly and altogether both thou and all that hear me this day, might be made as I am, my bonds only except.

26:30 ¹ Paul is solemnly quit, and yet not dismissed.

27:1 ¹ Paul with many other prisoners, and through the midst of many deaths, is brought to Rome, but yet by God's own hand as it were, and set forth and commended unto the world with many singular testimonies.

27:7 ¹ Which was an high hill of Candia.

27:9 ¹ God's providence taketh not away the causes which God useth as means, but rather ordereth and disposeth their right use even then when he openeth an extraordinary issue.

² This is meant of the Jews' fast, which they keep in the feast of expiation, as we read Lev. 23:27, which fell in the seventh month which we call October, and is not good for navigation, or sailing.

27:11 ¹ Men cast themselves willingly into an infinite sort of dangers, when they choose to follow their own wisdom, rather than God speaking by the mouth of his servants.

27:14 ¹ By Candia, from whose shore our ship was driven by that means.

² Northeast wind.

and had much ado to get the boat.

17 Which they took up and used all help, undergirding the ship, fearing lest they should have fallen into Syrtis, and they strake sail, and so were carried.

18 ¹The next day when we were tossed with an exceeding tempest, they lightened the ship.

19 And the third day we cast out with our own hands the tackling of the ship.

20 And when neither sun nor stars in many days appeared, and no small tempest lay upon us, all hope that we should be saved, was then taken away.

21 ¹But after long abstinence, Paul stood forth in the midst of them, and said, Sirs, ye should have hearkened to me, and not have loosed from Candia: so should ye have gained this hurt and loss.

22 But now I exhort you to be of good courage: for there shall be no loss of any man's life among you, save of the ship only.

23 For there stood by me this night the Angel of God, whose I am, and whom I serve.

24 Saying, Fear not, Paul: for thou must be brought before Caesar: and lo, God hath given unto thee freely, all that sail with thee.

25 ¹Wherefore, Sirs, be of good courage: for I believe God, that it shall be so as it hath been told me.

26 Howbeit, we must be cast into a certain Island.

27 ¹And when the fourteenth night was come, as we were carried to and fro in the ²Adriatic sea about midnight, the shipmen deemed that some country ³approached unto them.

28 And sounded, and found it twenty fathoms: and when they had gone a little further, they sounded again, and found fifteen fathoms.

29 Then fearing lest they should have fallen into some rough places, they cast four anchors out of the stern, and wished that the day were come.

30 ¹Now as the mariners were about to flee out of the ship, and had let down the boat into the sea under a color as though they would have cast anchors out of the foreship.

31 ¹Paul said unto the Centurion and the soldiers, Except these abide in the ship, ye cannot be safe.

32 Then the soldiers cut off the ropes of the boat, and let it fall away.

33 ¹And when it began to be day, Paul exhorted them all to take meat, saying, This is the fourteenth day that ye have tarried, and continued fasting, receiving nothing:

34 Wherefore I exhort you to take meat: for this is for your safeguard: for there shall not an ¹hair fall from the head of any of you.

35 And when he had thus spoken, he took bread, and gave thanks to God in presence of them all, and brake it, and began to eat.

36 Then were they all of good courage, and they also took meat.

37 Now we were in the ship in all two hundred threescore and sixteen souls.

38 And when they had eaten enough, they lightened the ship, and cast out the wheat into the sea.

39 ¹And when it was day, they knew not the country, but they spied a certain ²creek with a bank, into the which they were minded (if it were possible) to thrust in the ship.

40 So when they had taken up the anchors, they committed the ship unto the sea, and loosed the rudder bonds, and hoisted up the main sail to the wind, and drew to the shore.

41 And when they fell into a place, where ¹two seas met, they thrust in the ship: and the forepart stuck fast, and could not be moved, but the hinder part was broken with the violence of the waves.

42 ¹Then the soldiers' counsel was to kill the prisoners, lest any of them, when he had swam out, should flee away.

43 ¹But the Centurion willing to save Paul, stayed them from this counsel, and commanded that they that could swim, should cast themselves first into the sea, and go out to land:

27:18 ¹ The end proveth that none provide worse for themselves, than they which commit themselves to be governed only by their own wisdom.

27:21 ¹ God spareth the wicked for a time, for his elect and chosen's sake.

27:25 ¹ The promise is made effectual through faith.

27:27 ¹ We attain and come to the promised and sure salvation through the midst of tempests and death itself.

² For Ptolemy writeth, that the Adriatic Sea beateth upon the East shore of Cilicia.

³ That they drew near to some country.

27:30 ¹ There is none so foul an act, whereupon distrust and an evil conscience do not enforce men.

27:31 ¹ Although the performing of God's promises doth not simply depend upon second causes, yet they make themselves unworthy of God's bountifulness, which do not embrace those means which God offereth them, either upon rashness or distrust.

27:33 ¹ When the world trembleth, the faithful alone be not only quiet, but confirm others by their example.

27:34 ¹ This is a proverb which the Hebrews use, whereby is meant, that they shall be safe, and not one of them perish.

27:39 ¹ Then are tempests most of all to be feared and looked for, when the port or haven is nearest.

² A creek is a sea within land, as the Adriatic Sea, and the Persian Sea.

27:41 ¹ So is Isthmus called, because the sea toucheth it on both sides.

27:42 ¹ There is nowhere more unfaithfulness and unthankfulness than in unbelievers.

27:43 ¹ God findeth even amongst his enemies them whose help he useth to preserve his.

44 ¹And the others, some on boards, and some on certain pieces of the ship: and so it came to pass, that they came all safe to land.

28 ² The Barbarians' courtesy towards Paul and his company. ³ A viper on Paul's hand: ⁶ He shaketh it off without harm: ⁸ Publius ⁹ and others are by him healed. ¹¹ They depart from Malta, ¹⁶ and come to Rome. ¹⁷ Paul openeth to the Jews, ²⁰ the cause of his coming: ²² He preacheth Jesus ³⁰ two years.

1 And when they were come safe, then they knew that the Isle was called ¹Malta.

2 And the Barbarians showed us no little kindness, for they kindled a fire, and received us everyone, because of the present shower, and because of the cold.

3 ¹And when Paul had gathered a number of sticks, and laid them on the fire, there came a viper out of the heat, and leaped on his hand.

4 ¹Now when the Barbarians saw the worm hang on his hand, they said among themselves, This man surely is a murderer, whom, though he hath escaped the sea, yet ²Vengeance hath not suffered to live.

5 But he shook off the worm into the fire, and felt no harm.

6 Howbeit they waited when he should have ¹swollen, or fallen down dead suddenly: ²but after they had looked a great while, and saw no inconvenience come to him, they changed their minds, and said, That he was a God.

7 ¹In the same quarters, the chief man of the Isle (whose name was Publius) had possessions: the same received us, and lodged us three days courteously.

8 And so it was, that the father of Publius lay sick of the fever, and of a bloody flux: to whom Paul entered in, and when he prayed, he laid his hands on him, and healed him.

9 ¹When this then was done, others also in the Isle, which had diseases, came to him, and were healed,

10 ¹Which also did us great honor: and when we departed, they laded us with things necessary.
11 ¶ ¹Now after three months we departed in a ship of Alexandria, which had wintered in the Isle, whose ²badge was Castor and Pollux.
12 And when we arrived at Syracuse, we tarried there three days.
13 And from thence we set a compass, and came to Rhegium: and after one day, the South wind blew, and we came the second day to Puteoli:
14 ¹Where we found brethren, and were desired to tarry with them seven days, and so we went toward Rome.
15 ¶ ¹And from thence when the brethren heard of us, they came to meet us at the ²Market of Appius, and at the three taverns, whom when Paul saw, he thanked God, and waxed bold.
16 So when we came to Rome, the Centurion delivered the prisoners to the general Captain: but Paul was suffered to dwell by ¹himself with a soldier that kept him.
17 ¹And the third day after, Paul calleth the chief of the Jews together, and when they were come, he said unto them, Men and brethren, though I have committed nothing against the people, or Laws of the fathers, yet was I delivered prisoner from Jerusalem into the hands of the Romans.
18 Who when they had examined me, would have let me go, because there was no cause of death in me.
19 ¹But when the Jews spake contrary, I was constrained to appeal unto Caesar, not because I had ought to accuse my nation of.
20 For this cause therefore have I called for you to see you, and to speak with you: for that hope of Israel's sake, I am bound with this chain.
21 Then they said unto him, We neither received letters out of Judea concerning thee, neither came any of the brethren that showed or spake any evil

27:44 ¹ The goodness of God overcometh man's malice.
28:1 ¹ That is it which at this day we call Malta.
28:3 ¹ The godly are sure to have danger upon danger, but they have always a glorious issue.
28:4 ¹ Although adversity be the punishment of sin, yet seeing that God in punishing of men doth not always respect sin, they judge rashly, which either do not wait for the end, or do judge and esteem of men according to prosperity or adversity.
28:6 ¹ The Greek word signifieth, to be inflamed, or to swell: more-over Dioscorides in book 6, chap. 38, witnesseth, that the biting of a viper causeth a swelling of the body, and so saith Nicander, in his remedies against poisons.
² There is nothing more unconstant, every way, than they which are ignorant of true religion.
28:7 ¹ It never yet repented any man, that received the servant of God, were he never so miserable and poor.
28:9 ¹ Although Paul were a captive, yet the virtue of God was not captive.

28:10 ¹ God doeth well to strangers for his children's sake.
28:11 ¹ Idols do not defile the Saints, which do in no wise consent unto them.
² So they used to deck the forepart of their ships, whereupon the ships were called by such names.
28:14 ¹ God boweth and bendeth the hearts even of profane men, as it pleaseth him to favor his.
28:15 ¹ God never suffereth his to be afflicted above their strength.
² Appius way, was a pavement made by Appius the blind with the help of his soldiers, long and broad, and running out toward the sea, and there were three taverns in it.
28:16 ¹ Not in a common prison, but in a house which he hired for himself.
28:17 ¹ Paul in every place remembereth himself to be an Apostle.
28:19 ¹ We may use the means which God giveth us, but so that we seek the glory of God, and not ourselves.

of thee.

22 But we will hear of thee what thou thinkest: for as concerning this sect, we know that everywhere it is spoken against.

23 ¹And when they had appointed him a day, there came many unto him into his lodging, to whom he expounded, ²testifying the kingdom of God, and persuading them those things that concern Jesus, both out of the Law of Moses, and out of the Prophets, from morning to night.

24 ¹And some were [persuaded] with the things which were spoken, and some believed not.

25 Therefore when they agreed not among themselves, they departed, after that Paul had spoken one word, to wit, Well spake the holy Ghost by Isaiah the Prophet unto our fathers,

26 ¹Saying, "Go unto this people, and say, By hearing ye shall hear, and shall not understand, and seeing ye shall see, and not perceive.

27 For the heart of this people is waxed fat, and their ears are dull of hearing, and with their eyes have they ¹winked, lest they should see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and understand with their hearts, and should return that I might heal them.

28 ¹Be it known therefore unto you, that this salvation of God is sent to the Gentiles, and they shall hear it.

29 ¹And when he had said these things, the Jews departed, and had great reasoning among themselves.

30 ¹And Paul remained two years full in an house hired for himself, and received all that came in unto him,

31 Preaching the kingdom of God, and teaching those things which concern the Lord Jesus Christ, with all boldness of speech, without let.

28:23 ¹ The law and the Gospel agree well together.

² By good reasons, and proved that the kingdom of God foretold them by the Prophets, was come.

28:24 ¹ The Gospel is a savor of life to them that believe, and a savor of death to them that be disobedient.

28:26 ¹ The unbelievers do willingly resist the truth, and yet not by chance.

28:27 ¹ They made as though they saw not that which they saw against their wills: yea they did see, but they would not see.

28:28 ¹ The unbelief of the reprobate and castaways cannot cause the truth of God to be of none effect.

28:29 ¹ Not the Gospel, but the contempt of the Gospel is the cause of strife and debate.

28:30 ¹ The word of God cannot be bound.

THE EPISTLE OF THE APOSTLE PAUL TO THE ROMANS

1 1 He first showeth on what authority his Apostleship standeth. 15 Then he commendeth the Gospel, 16 by which God setteth out his power to those that are saved, 17 by faith, 21 but were guilty of wicked unthankfulness to God: 26 For which his wrath was worthily powered on them, 29 so that they ran headlong to all kinds of sin.

1 PAUL ^{1a} ^{2,3}servant of JESUS Christ called to be an ⁴Apostle, ^{4,5}put apart to preach the Gospel of God,

2 (Which he had promised afore by his Prophets in the holy Scriptures)

3 ¹Concerning his ²Son Jesus Christ our Lord (which was ³made of the seed of David ⁴according to the flesh,

4 And ¹declared ²mightily to be the Son of God, touching the Spirit of sanctification by the resurrection from the dead)

5 ¹By whom we have received ²grace and Apostleship (that ³obedience might be given unto the faith) for his name ⁴among all the Gentiles,

6 Among whom ye be also the ¹called of Jesus Christ:

7 To all you that be at Rome beloved of God,

CHAPTER I
^a Acts 13:1

called to be Saints: ¹Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

8 ¹First I thank my God through Jesus Christ for you all, because your faith is ²published throughout the ³whole world.

9 For God is my witness (whom I serve in my ¹spirit in the ²Gospel of his Son) that without ceasing I make mention of you.

10 Always in my prayers, beseeching that by some means, one time or other I might have a prosperous journey by the will of God, to come unto you.

11 For I long to see you, that I might bestow among you some spiritual gift, that you might be strengthened:

12 That is, that ¹I might be comforted together with you, through our mutual faith, both yours and mine.

13 Now my brethren, I would that ye should not be ignorant, how that I have oftentimes purposed to come unto you (but have been let hitherto) that I might have some fruit also among you, as I have among the other Gentiles.

14 I am debtor both to the Grecians, and to the Barbarians, both to the wise men and to the unwise.

1:1 ¹ The first part of the Epistle containing a most profitable preface unto verse 16.

² He moving the Romans to give diligent ear unto him in that he showeth that he cometh not in his own name, but as God's messenger unto the Gentiles, entreateth with them of the weightiest matter, that is promised long since by God, by many fit witnesses, and now at length performed indeed.

³ A Minister, for this word servant, is not taken in this place, as set against this word, Freeman, but declareth his ministry and office.

⁴ Whereas he said before in a general term, that he was a minister, now he cometh to a more special name, and saith that he is an Apostle, and that he took not upon him this office of his own lead, but being called of God, and therefore in this his writing to the Romans, doeth nothing but his duty.

⁵ Appointed of God to preach the Gospel.

1:3 ¹ By declaring the sum of the doctrine of the Gospel, he stirreth up the Romans to good consideration of the matter whereof he entreateth: So then he showeth that Christ (who is the very substance and sum of the Gospel) is the only son of God the Father, who as touching his humanity, is made of the seed of David, but touching his divine and spiritual nature, whereby he sanctified himself, is begotten of the Father from everlasting, as by his mighty resurrection manifestly appeareth.

² This is a plain testimony of the person of Christ, that he is but one, and of his two natures, and their properties.

³ Which took flesh of the virgin, David's daughter.

⁴ As he is man: for this word Flesh, by the figure Synecdoche, is taken for man.

1:4 ¹ Showed and made manifest.

² The divine and mighty power is set against the weakness of the flesh, for that overcame death.

1:5 ¹ Of whom.

² This marvelous liberal and gracious gift, which is given me, the least of all the Saints, to preach, etc., Eph. 3:8.

³ That men through faith might obey God.

⁴ For his Name's sake.

1:6 ¹ Which through God's goodness, are Christ's.

1:7 ¹ God's free good will: by peace, the Hebrews mean a prosperous success in all things.

1:8 ¹ He procureth their favorable patience, in that he reckoneth up their true commendation, and his true Apostolic good will toward them, confirmed by taking God himself to witness.

² Because your faith is such, that it is commended in all Churches.

³ In all Churches.

1:9 ¹ Very willingly and with all my heart.

² In preaching his Son.

1:12 ¹ Though Paul were never so excellent, yet by teaching the Church, he might be instructed by it.

15 Therefore, as much as in me is, I am ready to preach the Gospel to you also that are at ¹Rome.

16 For I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ: ¹for it is the ²power of God unto salvation to everyone that believeth, to the Jew first, and also to the ³Grecian.

17 ¹For by it the righteousness of God is revealed from ²faith to faith: ³as it is written, ⁴The just shall live by faith.

18 ¹For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against ²all ungodliness, and unrighteousness of men, which withhold the ³truth in unrighteousness.

19 ¹Forasmuch as that, which may be known of God, is manifest in ²them, for God hath showed it unto them.

20 For the invisible things of him, that is, his eternal power and Godhead, are seen by the creation of the world, being ¹considered in his works, to the intent that they should be without excuse:

21 Because that when they knew God, they ¹glorified him not as God, neither were thankful, but became ²vain in their thoughts, and their foolish heart was full of darkness.

22 When they ¹professed themselves to be wise, they became fools.

23 For they turned the glory of the ¹incorruptible God to the similitude of the image of a corruptible man, and of birds, and four footed beasts, and of creeping things.

24 ¹Wherefore ²also God ³gave them up to their hearts lusts, unto uncleanness, to defile their own bodies between themselves:

25 Which turned the truth of God unto a lie, and worshipped and served the creature, forsaking the Creator which is blessed forever, Amen.

26 For this cause God gave them up to vile affections: for even their women did change the natural use into that which is against nature.

27 And likewise also the men left the natural use of the woman, and burned in their lust one toward another, and man with man wrought filthiness, and received in themselves such ¹recompense of their error, as was meet.

28 ¹For as they regarded not to acknowledge God, even so God delivered them up unto a ²reprobate mind, to do those things which are not convenient,

29 Being full of all unrighteousness, fornication, wickedness, covetousness, maliciousness, full of envy, of murder, of debate, of deceit, taking all things in the evil part, whisperers,

30 Backbiters, haters of God, doers of wrong, proud, boasters, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents, without understanding, ¹covenant breakers, without natural affection, such as can never be appeased, merciless.

31 Which men, though they knew the ¹Law of God, how that they which commit such things are worthy of death, yet not only do the same, but also ²favor them that do them.

1:15 ¹ He meaneth all them that dwelt in Rome, though some of them were not Romans, see the end of the epistle.

1:16 ¹ The second part of the Epistle unto the beginning of Chap. 9. Now the whole end and purpose of the disputation is this: that is to say: to show that there is but one way to attain unto salvation (which is set forth unto us of God in the Gospel, without any difference of nations) and that is Jesus Christ apprehended by faith.

² God's mighty and effectual instrument to save men by.

³ When this word Grecian, is set against this word Jew, then doth it signify a Gentile.

1:17 ¹ The confirmation of the former proposition: we are taught in the Gospel that we are justified before God by faith which increaseth daily: and therefore also saved.

² From faith which increaseth daily.

³ The proof as well of the first as the second proposition, out of Habakkuk, who attributeth and giveth unto faith both justice and life before God.

1:18 ¹ Another confirmation of that principal question: All men being considered in themselves or without Christ, are guilty both of [ungodliness], and also unrighteousness, and therefore are subject to condemnation: Therefore must they needs seek righteousness in some other.

² Against all kinds of ungodliness.

³ By truth, Paul meaneth all the light that is left in man since his fall, not as though they being led thereby were able to come into favor with God, but that their own reason might condemn them of wickedness both against God and man.

1:19 ¹ Their ungodliness he proveth hereby, that although all men have a most clear and evident glass wherein to behold the everlasting and almighty nature of God, even in his creatures, yet have they fallen away from those principles to most foolish and sound devices of their own brains, in constituting and appointing the service of God.

² In their hearts.

1:20 ¹ Thou seest not God, and yet thou acknowledgest him as God by his works, Cicero.

1:21 ¹ They did not honor him with that honor, and service, which was meet for his everlasting power and Godhead.

² As if he said, became so mad of themselves.

1:22 ¹ Or thought themselves.

1:23 ¹ For the true God they took another.

1:24 ¹ The unrighteousness of men he setteth forth first, in this, that even against nature following their lusts, they defiled themselves one with another, by the just judgment of God.

² The contempt of religion, is the fountain of all mischief.

³ As a just judge.

1:27 ¹ A meet reward for their deserts.

1:28 ¹ He proveth the unrighteousness of man by a large rehearsal of many kinds of wickedness, from which (if not from all, yet at the least from many of them) no man is altogether free.

² Into a mad and froward mind, whereby it cometh to pass, that the conscience being once put out, and having almost no more remorse of sin, men run headlong into all kinds of mischief.

1:30 ¹ Unmindful of their covenants and bargains.

1:31 ¹ By the Law of God he meaneth that which the Philosophers called the Law of nature, and the Lawyers themselves termed the Law of nations.

² Are fellows and partakers with them in their wickedness, and besides that, commend them which do amiss.

2 ¹He bringeth all before the judgment seat of God. ¹²The excuse the Gentiles might pretend, ¹⁴of ignorance, he taketh quite away. ¹⁷He urgeth the Jews with the written Law, ²³in which they boasted. ²⁷And so maketh both Jew and Gentile alike.

1 Therefore ¹thou art inexcusable, O man, who-soever thou art that condemnest: for in that thou condemnest another, thou condemnest thyself: for thou that condemnest, doest the same things.

2 But we ¹know that the judgment of God is according to ²truth, against them which commit such things.

3 And thinkest thou this, O thou man, that condemnest them which do such things, and doest the same, that thou shalt escape the judgment of God?

4 ¹Or despisest thou the riches of his bountifulness, and patience, and long sufferance, not knowing that the bountifulness of God leadeth thee to repentance?

5 But thou, after thine hardness, and heart that cannot repent, ^{a,1}heapest up as a treasure unto thyself wrath against the day of wrath, and of the declaration of the just judgment of God,

6 ^{b,1}Who will reward every man according to his works:

7 That is, to them which through patience in well doing, seek ¹glory, and honor, and immortality, everlasting life:

CHAPTER 2

^a James 5:3^b Ps. 62:12

Matt. 16:27

Rev. 22:12

8 But unto them that are contentious, and disobey the ¹truth, and obey unrighteousness, shall be ²indignation and wrath.

9 Tribulation and anguish shall be upon the soul of every man that doeth evil: of the Jew first, and also of the Grecian.

10 But to every man that doeth good, shall be glory, and honor, and peace: to the Jew first, and also to the Grecian.

11 For there is ¹no respect of persons with God.

12 ¹For as many as have sinned without the Law, shall perish also without the Law: and as many as have sinned in the Law, shall be judged by the Law, 13 ¹(For the hearers of the Law are not righteous before God: but the doers of the Law shall be ²justified.

14 ¹For when the Gentiles which have ²not the Law, do by ³nature the things contained in the Law, they having not the Law, are a Law unto themselves,

15 Which show the effect of the Law ¹written in their hearts, their conscience also bearing witness and their thoughts accusing one another, or excusing.)

16 ¹At the day when God shall judge the secrets of men by Jesus Christ, according to ²my Gospel.

17 ¶ ¹Behold, thou art called a Jew, and retest in the Law, and gloriest in God,

18 And knowest his will, and ^{1,2}triest the things that dissent from it, in that thou art instructed by

2:1 ¹ He convinceth them which would seem to be exempt out of the number of other men, because they reprehend other men's faults, and saith that they are least of all to be excused, for if they were well and narrowly searched (as God surely doth) they themselves would be found guilty in those things which they reprehend, and punish in others: so that in condemning others they pronounce sentence against themselves.

2:2 ¹ Paul allegeth no places of Scripture, for he reasoneth generally against all men: but he bringeth such reasons as every man is persuaded of in his mind, so that the devil himself is not able to pluck them clean out.

² Considering and judging things aright, and not by any outward show.

2:4 ¹ A vehement and grievous crying out against them that please themselves, because they see more than others do, and yet are no whit better than others are.

2:5 ¹ Whilst thou givest thyself to pleasures, thinking to increase thy goods, thou shalt find God's wrath.

2:6 ¹ The ground of the former disputation, That both the Jews and Gentiles have together need of righteousness.

2:7 ¹ Glory which followeth good works, which he layeth not out before us, as though there were any that could attain to salvation by his own strength, but, by laying this condition of salvation before us, which no man can perform, to bring men to Christ, who alone justified the believers, as he himself concludeth, Rom. 2:21-22, following.

2:8 ¹ By truth, he meaneth that knowledge which we have of nature.

² God's indignation against sinners, which shall quickly be kindled.

2:11 ¹ God doth not measure men either by their blood, or by their country, either to receive them, or to cast them away.

2:12 ¹ He applieth that general accusation of mankind particularly both to the Gentiles, and to the Jews.

2:13 ¹ He preventeth an objection which might be made by the Jews, whom the Law doth not excuse, but condemns, because that not the hearing of the Law, but the keeping of the Law doth justify.

² Shall be pronounced just before God's judgment seat: which is true indeed, if any such could be found that had fulfilled the law: but seeing Abraham was not justified by the Law, but by faith, it followeth that no man can be justified by works.

2:14 ¹ He preventeth an objection which might be made by the Gentiles, who although they have not the Law of Moses, yet they have no reason whereby they may excuse their wickedness in that they have somewhat written in their hearts instead of a Law, as men that forbid, and punish some things as wicked, and command and commend other some as good.

² Not simply, but in comparison of the Jews.

³ Command honest things, and forbid dishonest.

2:15 ¹ This knowledge is a natural knowledge.

2:16 ¹ God deferreth many judgments, which notwithstanding he will execute at their convenient time by Jesus Christ, with a most straight examination, not only of words and deeds, but of thoughts also, be they never so hidden or secret.

² As this my doctrine witnesseth, which I am appointed to preach.

2:17 ¹ He proveth by the testimony of David, and the other Prophets, that God bestowed greatest benefits upon the Jews, in giving them also the Law, but that they are the most unthankful and unkindest of all men.

2:18 ¹ Canst try and discern what things swerve from God's will.

² Or allowest the things that are excellent.

the Law:

19 And persuadest thyself that thou art a guide of the blind, a light of them which are in darkness,

20 An instructor of them which lack discretion, a teacher of the unlearned, which hast the ¹form of knowledge, and of the truth in the ²law.

21 Thou therefore, which teachest another, teachest thou not thyself? thou that preachest, A man should not steal, dost thou steal?

22 Thou that sayest, A man should not commit adultery, dost thou commit adultery? thou that abhorrest idols, committest thou sacrilege?

23 Thou that gloriest in the Law, through breaking the Law, dishonorest thou God?

24 For the Name of God is blasphemed among the Gentiles through you, ^{as it is written.}

25 ¹For circumcision verily is profitable, if thou do the Law: but if thou be a transgressor of the Law, thy circumcision is made uncircumcision.

26 Therefore ¹if the uncircumcision keep the ordinances of the Law, shall not his ²uncircumcision be counted for circumcision?

27 And shall not ¹uncircumcision which is by nature (if it keep the Law) condemn thee which by the ²letter and circumcision art a transgressor of the Law?

28 For he is not a Jew, which is one ¹outward: neither is that circumcision, which is outward in the flesh:

29 But he is a Jew which is one within, and the circumcision is of the heart, in the ¹spirit, not in the letter, whose praise is not of men, but of God.

^c Isa. 52:5

3 ¹ He giveth the Jews some ²preferment, for the covenant's sake, ⁴ but yet such, as wholly dependeth on God's mercy. ⁹ That both Jews and Gentiles are sinners, ¹¹ he proveth by Scriptures: ¹⁹ and showing the use of the Law, ²⁸ he concludeth that we are justified by faith.

1 What ¹is then the preferment of the Jew? or what is the profit of circumcision?

2 Much every manner of way: for ¹chiefly, because unto them were of credit committed the ²oracles of God.

3 For what, though some did not ¹believe? shall their unbelief make the ²faith of God without effect?

4 God forbid: yea, let God be true, and every man a liar, as it is written, That thou mightest be ¹justified in thy words, and overcome, ²when thou art judged.

5 ¹Now if our ²unrighteousness commend the righteousness of God, what shall we say? is God unrighteous which punisheth? (I speak as ³a man.)

6 God forbid: (else how shall God judge the world?)

7 ¹For if the ²verity of God hath more abounded through my lie unto his glory, why am I yet condemned as a sinner?

8 And (as we are blamed, and as some affirm, that we say) why do we not evil, that good may come thereof? whose damnation is just.

2:20 ¹ The way to teach and frame others in the knowledge of the truth.

² As though he said, that the Jews under a color of an outward serving of God, challenged all to themselves, when as indeed, they did nothing less than observe the Law.

2:25 ¹ He precisely preventeth their objection, which set an holiness in circumcision, and the outward observation of the Law: So that he sheweth that the outward circumcision, if it be separated from the inward, doth not only not justify, but also condemns them that are indeed circumcised, of whom requireth that, which is signifieth, that is to say, cleanness of the heart and the whole life, according to the commandment of the Law, so that if there be a man uncircumcised according to the flesh, who is circumcised in heart, he is far better and more to be more accounted of, than any Jew that is circumcised according to the flesh only.

2:26 ¹ This is the figure Metonymy, for, if the uncircumcised.

² The state and condition of the uncircumcised.

2:27 ¹ He which is uncircumcised by nature and blood.

² Paul useth oftentimes to set the letter against the Spirit: but in this place, the circumcision which is according to the letter, is the cutting off of the foreskin, but the circumcision of the Spirit, is the circumcision of the heart, that is to say, the spiritual end of the ceremony, is true holiness and righteousness whereby the people of God is known from profane and heathenish men.

2:28 ¹ By the outward ceremony only.

2:29 ¹ Whose force is inward, and in the heart.

3:1 ¹ The first meeting with, or preventing an objection of the Jews: what then, have the Jews no more preferment than the Gentiles? yes, that have they, saith the Apostle, on God's behalf: for he committed the tables of the covenant to them, so that the unbelief of a few, cannot cause the whole nation without exception to be cast away of God, who is true, and who also useth their unworthiness to commend and set forth his goodness.

3:2 ¹ The Jews' state and condition was chiefest.

² Words.

3:3 ¹ Break the covenant.

² The faith that God gave.

3:4 ¹ That thy justice might be plainly seen.

² Forasmuch as thou shonest forth an evident token of thy righteousness, constancy and faith, by preserving him who had broken his covenant.

3:5 ¹ Another prevention, issuing out of the former answer: that the justice of God is in such sort commended and set forth by our unrighteousness, that therefore God forgetteth not that he is the judge of the world, and therefore a most severe revenger of unrighteousness.

² Treachery, and all the fruits thereof.

³ Therefore I speak not these words in mine own person, as though I thought so, but this is the talk of man's wisdom, which is not subject to the will of God.

3:7 ¹ A third objection which addeth somewhat to the former, If sins do turn to the glory of God, they are not only not to be punished, but we ought rather to give ourselves to them: which blasphemy Paul contending himself to curse and detest, pronounceth just punishment against such blasphemers.

² The truth and constancy.

9 ¹What then? are we more excellent? No, in no wise: for we have already proved, that all, both Jews and Gentiles are ²under sin, 10 As it is written, "There is none righteous no not one.

11 There is none that understandeth: there is none that seeketh God.

12 They have all gone out of the way: they have been made altogether unprofitable: there is none that doeth good, no not one.

13 ⁶Their throat is an open sepulcher: they have used their tongues to deceit: ⁷the poison of asps is under their lips.

14 ⁴Whose mouth is full of cursing and bitterness.

15 ⁵Their feet are swift to shed blood.

16 Destruction and calamity are in their ways:

17 And the ¹way of peace they have not known.

18 ⁷The fear of God is not before their eyes.

19 ¹Now we know that whatsoever the ²law saith, it saith it to them which are under the law, that ³every mouth may be stopped, and all the world be ⁴subject to the judgment of God.

CHAPTER 3

^a Ps. 14:1-3

^b Ps. 53:1-3

^c Ps. 5:10

^d Ps. 140:3

^e Ps. 10:7

^f Isa. 59:7

^g Ps. 36:1

20 Therefore by the ¹works of the Law shall no ²flesh be ³justified in his ⁴sight: for by the Law cometh the knowledge of sin.

21 ¹But now is the righteousness of God made manifest without the Law, having witness of the Law, and of the Prophets, 22 ¹To wit, the righteousness of God by the faith of ²Jesus Christ, unto all, and upon all that believe.

23 For there is no difference: for all have sinned, and are deprived of the ¹glory of God,

24 ¹And are justified ²freely by his grace, through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus,

25 ¹Whom God hath set forth to be a reconciliation through faith in his ²blood to declare his righteousness, by the forgiveness of the sins that ³are passed,

26 Through the ¹patience of God, to show at ²this time his righteousness, that he might be ³just, and a ⁴justifier of him which is of the ⁵faith of Jesus.

27 ¹Where is then the rejoicing? It is excluded. By what ²Law? of works? Nay: but by the Law of faith.

28 Therefore we conclude, that a man is justified by faith, without the works of the Law.

3:9 ¹ Another answer to the first objection: that the Jews, if they be considered in themselves, are no better than other men are: as it has been long since pronounced by the mouth of the Prophets.

² Are guilty of sin.

3:17 ¹ An innocent and peaceable life.

3:19 ¹ He proveth that this grievous accusation which is uttered by David and Isaiah, doth properly concern the Jews.

² The law of Moses.

³ A conclusion of all the former disputation, from verse 8 of the first Chapter. Therefore saith the Apostle, No man can hope to be justified by any Law, whether it be that general Law, or the particular Law of Moses, and therefore to be saved: seeing it appeareth (as we have already proved) by comparing the Law and man's life together, that all men are sinners, and therefore worthy of condemnation in the sight of God.

⁴ Be found guilty before God.

3:20 ¹ By that that the Law can by us be performed.

² Flesh is here taken for man, as in many other places, and furthermore hath here a greater force: for it is put to show the contrariety betwixt God and man: as if you would say, Man who is nothing else but a piece of flesh defiled with sin, and God who is most pure and most perfect in himself.

³ Absolved before the judgment seat of God.

⁴ A secret setting of the righteousness which is before men, be they never so just, against the justice which can stand before God: now there is no righteousness can stand before God, but the righteousness of Christ only.

3:21 ¹ Therefore saith the Apostle, Lest that men should perish, God doth now exhibit that, which he promised of old, that is to say, a way whereby we may be justified and saved before him without the Law.

3:22 ¹ The matter, as it were of this righteousness, is Christ Jesus apprehended by faith, and for this end offered to all people, as without him all people are shut out from the kingdom of God.

² Which we give to Jesus Christ, or which resteth upon him.

3:23 ¹ By the Glory of God, is meant that mark which we all shoot at, that is, everlasting life, which standeth in that we are made partakers of the glory of God.

3:24 ¹ Therefore this righteousness touching us, is altogether freely given, for it standeth upon those things which we have not done ourselves, but such as Christ hath suffered for our sakes, to deliver us from sin.

² Of his free gift, and mere liberality.

3:25 ¹ God then is the author of that free justification, because it pleaseth him: and Christ is he, which suffered punishment for our sins, and in whom we have remission of them: and the means whereby we apprehend Christ, is faith. To be short, the end is the setting forth of the goodness of God, that by this means it may appear, that he is merciful indeed, and constant in his promises, as he that freely, and of mere grace justifieth the believers.

² This name of Blood, calleth us back to the figure of the old sacrifices, the truth and substance of which sacrifices is in Christ.

³ Of those sins which we committed when we were his enemies.

3:26 ¹ Through his patience, and suffering nature.

² To wit, when Paul wrote this.

³ That he might be found exceeding true and faithful.

⁴ Making him just, and without blame by imputing Christ's righteousness unto him.

3:27 ¹ An argument to prove this conclusion, that we are justified by faith without works, taken from the end of Justification. The end of Justification is the glory of God alone: therefore we are justified by faith without works: for if we were justified either by our own works only, or partly by faith, and partly by works, the glory of this justification should not be wholly given to God.

² By what doctrine? now the doctrine of works hath [this] condition joined with it, If thou doest: and the doctrine of faith hath this condition, If thou believest.

29 ¹God, is he the God of the ²Jews only, and not of the Gentiles also? Yes, even of the Gentiles also.

30 For it is one God, who shall justify ¹circumcision of faith, and uncircumcision through faith.

31 ¹Do we then make the Law of ²none effect through faith? God forbid: yea, we ³establish the Law.

4 ¹He proveth that which he said before of faith, by the example of Abraham, 3, 6 and the testimony of the Scripture: and ten times in the Chapter he beateth upon this word, Imputation.

1 What ¹shall we say then, that Abraham our father hath found concerning the ²flesh?

2 ¹For if Abraham were justified by works, he hath wherein to rejoice, but not with God.

3 ¹For what saith the Scripture? Abraham believed God, and it was counted to him for righteousness.

4 ¹Now to him that ²worketh, the wages is not ³counted by favor, but by debt:

5 But to him that worketh not, but believeth in him that ¹justifieth the ungodly, his faith is counted for righteousness.

6 ¹Even as David declareth the blessedness of the man, unto whom God imputeth righteousness without works, saying,

7 Blessed are they whose iniquities are forgiven, and whose sins are covered.

8 Blessed is the man to whom the Lord imputeth not sin.

9 ¹Came this ²blessedness then upon the circumcision only, or upon the uncircumcision also? For we say, that faith was imputed unto Abraham for righteousness.

10 ¹How was it then imputed? when he was circumcised, or uncircumcised? not when he was circumcised, but when he was uncircumcised.

11 ¹After, he received the ²sign of circumcision, as the ³seal of the righteousness of the faith which he had, when he was uncircumcised, ⁴that he should be the father of all them that believe, not being circumcised, that righteousness might be imputed to them also.

12 ¹And the father of circumcision, not unto them only which are of the circumcision, but unto them also that walk in the steps of the faith of our father Abraham which he had when he was uncircumcised.

13 ¹For the promise that he should be the ²heir of the world, was not given to Abraham, or to his seed, through the ³Law, but through the righteousness of faith.

3:29 ¹ Another argument of an absurdity: if justification depended upon the Law of Moses, then should God be a Savior to the Jews only. Again: if he should save the Jews after one sort, and the Gentiles after another, he should not be one and like himself. Therefore he will justify both of them after one selfsame manner, that is to say, by faith. Moreover, this argument must be joined to that which followeth next, that this conclusion may be firm and evident.

² God is said to be their God, after the manner of the Scripture, whom he loveth and tendereth.

3:30 ¹ The circumcised.

3:31 ¹ The taking away of an objection: yet it is not the Law taken away therefore, but is rather established, as it shall be declared in [its] proper place.

² Vain, void, to no purpose, and of no force.

³ We make it effectual and strong.

4:1 ¹ A new argument of great weight, taken from the example of Abraham the father of all believers: And this is the proposition: if Abraham be considered in himself by his works, he hath deserved nothing wherein to rejoice with God.

² By works, as appeareth in the next verse.

4:2 ¹ A preventing of an objection: Abraham may well rejoice and extol himself amongst men, but not with God.

4:3 ¹ A confirmation of the proposition: Abraham was justified by imputation of faith, therefore freely without any respect of his works.

4:4 ¹ The first proof of the confirmation, taken of contraries: to him that deserveth anything by his labor, the wages is not counted by favor, but by debt: but to him that hath done nothing, but believeth in him which promiseth freely, faith is imputed.

² To him that hath deserved anything by his work.

³ Is not reckoned nor given him.

4:5 ¹ That maketh him which is wicked in himself, just in Christ.

4:6 ¹ Another proof of the same confirmation: David putteth blessedness in free pardon of sins, therefore justification also.

4:9 ¹ A new proposition: that this manner of justification belongeth both to uncircumcised, and also to the circumcised, as is declared in the person of Abraham.

² This saying of David, wherein he pronounceth them blessed.

4:10 ¹ He proveth that it belongeth to the uncircumcised (for there was no doubt of the circumcised) in this sort: Abraham was justified in uncircumcision, therefore this justification belongeth also to the uncircumcised. Nay, it does not appertain to the circumcised in respect of the circumcision, much less are the uncircumcised shut out for their uncircumcision.

4:11 ¹ A preventing of an objection: why then was Abraham circumcised, if he were already justified? That the gift of righteousness (saith he) might be confirmed in him.

² Circumcision, which is a sign: as we say, the Sacrament of Baptism, for Baptism which is a Sacrament.

³ Circumcision was called before a sign, in respect of the outward ceremony: now Paul sheweth the force and substance of that sign, that is, to what end it is used, to wit, not only to signify, but also to seal up the righteousness of faith, whereby we come to possess Christ himself: for the holy Ghost worketh that inwardly indeed, which the Sacraments being joined with the word, do represent.

4:12 ¹ An applying of the same example, to the circumcised believers, whose father Abraham is, but yet by faith.

4:13 ¹ A reason why the seed of Abraham is to be esteemed by faith, because that Abraham himself through faith was made partaker of that promise, whereby he was made the father of all nations.

² That all the nations of the world should be his children: or by the world may be understood the land of Canaan.

³ For works that he had done, or upon this condition that he should fulfill the Law.

14 ¹For if they which are of the ²Law, be heirs, faith is made void, and the promise is made of none effect.

15 ¹For the Law causeth wrath: for where no Law is, there is no transgression.

16 ¹Therefore it is by faith, that it might come by grace, and the promise might be sure to all the ²seed, ³not to that only which is of the Law: but also to that which is of the faith of Abraham who is the father of us all,

17 (As it is written, I have made thee a ¹father of many nations) even before ²God whom he believed, who ³quickeneth the dead, and ⁴calleth those things which be not, as though they were.

18 ¹Which Abraham above hope, believed under hope, that he should be the father of many nations: according to that which was spoken to him, So shall thy seed be.

19 And he ¹not weak in the faith, considered not his own body, which was now ²dead, being almost an hundred years old, neither the deadness of Sarah's womb.

20 Neither did he doubt of the promise of God through unbelief, but was strengthened in the faith, and gave ¹glory to God,

21 Being ¹fully assured that he which had promised,

CHAPTER 5

^a Eph. 2:18^b James 1:2

was also able to do it.

22 And therefore it was imputed to him for righteousness.

23 ¹Now is it not written for him only, that it was imputed to him for righteousness,

24 But also for us, to whom it shall be imputed for righteousness, which believe in him that raised up Jesus our Lord from the dead,

25 Who was delivered to death for our ¹sins, and is risen again for our justification.

5 ¹He amplifieth ²Christ's righteousness, which is laid hold on by faith, ⁵who was given for the weak, ⁸and sinful. ¹⁴He compareth Christ with Adam. ¹⁷Death with Life, ²⁰and the Law with Grace.

1 Then being ¹justified by faith, we have peace toward God through our Lord Jesus Christ.

2 ^{a,1}By whom also through faith we have ²had this access into this grace ³wherein we ⁴stand, ⁵and ⁶rejoice under the hope of the glory of God.

3 ¹Neither that only, but also we ¹rejoice in tribulations, ²knowing that tribulation bringeth forth patience.

4 And patience experience, and experience hope.

5 ¹And hope maketh not ashamed, because the 4:14 ¹A double confirmation of that reason: the one is, that the promise cannot be apprehended by the Law, and therefore it should be frustrated: the other, that the condition of faith should be joined in vain to that promise which should be apprehended by works.

² If they be heirs which have fulfilled the Law.

4:15 ¹A reason of the first confirmation, why the promise cannot be apprehended by the Law: because that the Law doth not reconcile God and us, but rather denounceth his anger against us, forso much as no man can observe it.

4:16 ¹The conclusion of this argument. The salvation and justification of all the posterity of Abraham (that is, of the Church which is gathered together of all people) proceedeth of faith, which layeth hold on the promise made unto Abraham, and which promise Abraham himself first of all laid hold on.

² To all the believers.

³ That is to say, not only of them which believe and are also circumcised according to the Law, but of them also which without circumcision, and in respect of faith only, are counted amongst the children of Abraham.

4:17 ¹This fatherhood is spiritual, depending only upon the virtue of God, who made the promise.

² Before God, that is, by a spiritual kindred, which had place before God, and maketh us acceptable to God.

³ Who restored to life.

⁴ With whom these things are already, which as yet are not in deed, as he that can with a word make what he will of nothing.

4:18 ¹A description of true faith, wholly resting in the power of God, and his good will, set forth in the example of Abraham.

4:19 ¹Very strong and constant.

² Void of strength, and unmeet to get children.

4:20 ¹Acknowledged and praised God, as most gracious and true.

4:21 ¹A description of true faith.

4:23 ¹The rule of justification is always one, both in Abraham and in all the faithful: that is to say, faith in God, who after that there was made a full satisfaction for our sins in Christ our mediator, raised him from the dead, that we also being justified, might be saved in him.

4:25 ¹To pay the ransom for our sins.

5:1 ¹Another argument taken of the effects: we are justified with that, which truly appeaseth our conscience before God but faith in Christ doth appease our conscience, and not the Law, as it was before said, therefore by faith we are justified, and not by the Law.

5:2 ¹Whereas quietness of conscience is attributed to faith, it is to be referred to Christ, who is the giver of faith itself, and in whom faith itself is effectual.

² We must here know, that we have yet still this same effect of faith.

³ By which grace, that is, by which gracious love and good will, or that state whereto we are graciously taken.

⁴ We stand steadfast.

⁵ A preventing of an objection against them which beholding the daily miseries and calamities of the Church, think that the Christians dream, when they brag of their felicity: to whom the Apostle answereth, that their felicity is laid up under hope of another place: which hope is so certain and sure, that they do not less rejoice for that happiness, than if they did presently enjoy it.

⁶ Our minds are not only quiet and settled, but also we are marvelously glad and conceive great joy for that heavenly inheritance which waiteth for us.

5:3 ¹Tribulation itself giveth us divers and sundry ways occasion to rejoice, much less doth it make us miserable.

² Afflictions accustom us to patience, and patience assureth us of the goodness of God, and this experience confirmeth, and fostereth our hope, which never deceiveth us.

5:5 ¹The ground of hope is an assured testimony of the conscience, by the gift of the holy Ghost, that we are beloved of God, and this is nothing else but that which we call faith: whereof it followeth, that through faith our consciences are quieted.

²love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the holy Ghost, which is given unto us.

6 ¹For Christ, when we were yet of no strength, at his ²time died for the ‘ungodly.

7 ¹Doubtless one will scarce die ²for a righteous man: but yet for a good man it may be that one dare die.

8 But God ¹setteth out his love towards us, seeing that while we were yet ²sinner, Christ died for us.

9 Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from ¹wrath through him.

10 For if when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life,

11 ¹And not only so, but we also rejoice in God through our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom we have now received the atonement.

12 ¹Wherefore, as by ²one man ³sin entered into the world, and death by sin, and so death went over all men: ⁴in whom all men have sinned.

13 ¹For unto the ²time of the Law was sin in the world, but sin is not ³imputed, while there is no law.

14 ¹But death reigned from Adam to Moses, even over ²them also that sinned not after the like ³manner of the transgression of Adam, ⁴which was the figure of him that was to come.

15 ¹But yet the gift is not so as is the offense: for if through the offense of ²that one, many be dead, much more the grace of God, and the gift by grace, which is by one man Jesus Christ, hath abounded unto many.

16 ¹Neither is the gift so, as that which entered in by one that sinned: for the fault came of one offense unto condemnation: but the gift is of many offenses to ²justification.

17 ¹For if by the offense of one, death reigned through one, much more shall they which receive that abundance of grace, and of that gift of that righteousness, ²reign in life through one, that is, Jesus Christ.

18 ¹Likewise then, as by the offense of one, the fault came on all men to condemnation, so by the

² Wherewith he loveth us.

5:6 ¹ A sure comfort in adversity, that our peace and quietness of conscience be not troubled: for he that so loved them that were of no strength, and while they were yet sinners, that he died for them, how can he neglect them being now sanctified and living in him?

² In time fit and convenient, which the father hath appointed.

5:7 ¹ An amplifying of the love of God towards us, so that we cannot doubt of it, who delivereth Christ to death for the unjust, and for them of whom he could receive no commodity, and (that more is) for his very enemies. How can it be then that Christ being now alive, should not save them from destruction, whom by his death he justifieth and reconcileth?

² In the stead of some just man.

5:8 ¹ He setteth out his love unto us, that in the midst of our afflictions we may know assuredly, he will be present with us.

² While sin reigned in us.

5:9 ¹ From affliction and destruction.

5:11 ¹ He now passeth over to the other part of justification, which consisteth in the free imputation of the obedience of Christ: so that to the remission of sins there is added moreover and besides, the gift of Christ's righteousness imputed or put upon us by faith, which swalloweth up that unrighteousness which flowed from Adam into us, and all the fruits thereof: so that in Christ we do not only cease to be unjust, but we begin also to be just.

5:12 ¹ From Adam, in whom all have sinned, both guiltiness and death (which is the punishment of the guiltiness) came upon all.

² By Adam, who is compared with Christ, like to him in this, that both of them make those who are theirs, partakers of that they have into: but they are unlike in this, that Adam deriveth sin into them that are his, even of nature, and that to death: but Christ maketh them that are his, partakers of his righteousness by grace, and that unto life.

³ By sin is meant that disease which is ours by inheritance, and men commonly call it original sin: for so he useth to call that sin in the singular number, whereas, if he speaks of the fruits of it, he useth the plural number, calling them sins.

⁴ That is, in Adam.

5:13 ¹ That this is so, that both guiltiness and death began not after the giving and transgressing of Moses' Law, it appeareth manifestly by that, that men died before that Law was given: for in that they died, sin, which is the cause of death, was then: and in such sort, that it was also imputed: whereupon it followeth that there was then some Law, the breach whereof was the cause of death.

² Even from Adam to Moses.

³ Where there is no Law made, no man is punished as faulty and guilty.

5:14 ¹ But that this Law was not that universal Law, and that death did not proceed from any actual sin of everyone particularly, it appeareth hereby, that the very infants which neither could ever know nor transgress that natural Law, are notwithstanding dead as well as Adam.

² Our infants.

³ Not after that sort as they sin that are of more years, following their lusts: but yet the whole posterity was corrupt in Adam, when as he wittingly and willingly sinned.

⁴ Now the first Adam answereth the latter, who is Christ, as it is afterward declared.

5:15 ¹ Adam and Christ are compared together in this respect, that both of them do give and yield to theirs, that which is their own: but herein first they differ, that Adam by nature hath spread his fault to the destruction of many, but Christ's obedience hath by grace overflowed many.

² That is, Adam.

5:16 ¹ Another inequality consisteth in this, that by Adam's one offense men are made guilty, but the righteousness of Christ imputed unto us freely, doth not only absolve us from that one fault, but from all others.

² To the sentence of absolution, whereby we are quit, and pronounced righteous.

5:17 ¹ The third difference is, that the righteousness of Christ being imputed unto us by grace, is of greater power to bring life, than the offense of Adam is to addict his posterity to death.

² Be partakers of true and everlasting life.

5:18 ¹ Therefore to be short, as by one man's offense, the guiltiness came on all men, to make them subject to death: so on the contrary side, the righteousness of Christ, which by God's mercy is imputed to all believers, justifieth them, that they may become partakers of everlasting life.

justifying of one, the benefit abounded toward all men to the justification of life.

19 ¹For as by one man's ²disobedience ³many were made sinners, so by that obedience of that one, shall many also be made righteous.

20 ¹Moreover, the Law ²entered thereupon, that the offense should abound: nevertheless, where sin abounded, there grace ³abounded much more:

21 That as sin had reigned unto death, so might grace also reign by righteousness unto eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

6 ¹He cometh to sanctification, without which, that no man putteth on Christ's righteousness, he proveth ⁴by an argument taken of Baptism, ¹²and thereupon exhorteth to holiness of life, ¹⁶briefly making mention of the Law transgressed.

1 What ¹shall we say then? Shall we continue still in ²sin, that grace may abound? God forbid.

2 ¹How shall we, that are ²dead to sin, live yet therein?

3 ¹Know ye not, that ⁴all we which have been baptized into ²Jesus Christ, have been baptized into his death?

4 ^bWe are buried then with him by baptism into his death, that like as Christ was raised up from the dead ¹to the glory of the Father, so ²we also should ⁴walk in newness of life.

5 ^{d1}For if we be planted with him to the ²similitude of his death, even so shall we ³be to the similitude of his resurrection,

6 Knowing this, that our ¹old man is crucified with ²him, that the body of ³sin might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not ⁴serve sin,

7 ¹For he that is dead, is freed from sin.

8 Wherefore, if we be dead with Christ, we believe that we shall live also with him,

9 Knowing that Christ being raised from the dead, dieth no more: death hath no more dominion over him.

10 For in that he died, he died ¹once to sin: but in that he liveth, he liveth to ²God.

11 Likewise think ye also, that ye are dead to sin, but are alive to God in Jesus Christ our Lord.

12 ¹Let not sin ²reign therefore in your mortal body, that ye should obey it in the lusts thereof:

5:18 ²Not only because our sins are forgiven us, but also because the righteousness of Christ is imputed unto us.

5:19 ¹The ground of this whole comparison is this, that these two men are set as two stocks or roots, so that out of the one, sin by nature, out of the other, righteousness by grace doth spring forth upon others.

²So then, sin entered not into us only by following the steps of our forefather, but we take corruption of him by inheritance.

³This word, Many, is set against this word, A few.

5:20 ¹A preventing of an objection: why then did the Law of Moses enter thereupon? that men might be so much the more guilty, and the benefit of God in Christ Jesus be so much the more glorious.

²Beside that disease which all men were infected withall by being defiled with one man's sin, the Law entered.

³Grace was poured so plentifully from heaven, that it did not only countervail sin, but above measure passed it.

6:1 ¹He passeth now to another benefit of Christ, which is called sanctification or regeneration.

²In that corruption: for though the guiltiness of sin be not imputed to us, yet the corruption remaineth still in us: the which Sanctification that followeth Justification killeth by little and little.

6:2 ¹The benefits of Justification and Sanctification, are always joined together inseparably, and both of them proceed from Christ, by the grace of God: Now sanctification is the abolishing of sin, that is, of our natural corruption, into whose place succeedeth the cleanness and pureness of nature reformed.

²They are said of Paul to be dead to sin, which are in such sort made partakers of the virtue of Christ, that that natural corruption is dead in them, that is, the force of it is put out, and it bringeth not forth his bitter fruits: and on the other side, they are said to live to sin, which are in the flesh, that is, whom the spirit of God hath not delivered from the slavery of the corruption of nature.

6:3 ¹There are three parts of this Sanctification, to wit, the dead of the old man or sin, his burial, and the resurrection of the new man, descending into us from the virtue of the death, burial, and resurrection of Christ, of which benefit our baptism is the sign and pledge.

²To the end that growing up in one with him, we should receive his strength to quench sin in us, and to make us new men.

6:4 ¹That Christ himself being discharged of his infirmity and weakness, might live in glory with God forever.

²And we which are his members rise for this end, that being made partakers of the selfsame virtue, we should begin to lead a new life, as though we were already in heaven.

6:5 ¹The death of sin and the life of righteousness, or our ingrafting into Christ, and growing up into one with him, cannot be separated by any means, neither in death nor life, whereby it followeth, that no man is sanctified, which lived still to sin, and therefore is no man made partaker of Christ by faith, which repenteth not, and turneth not from his wickedness: for as he said before, the Law is not subverted, but established by faith.

²Insomuch as by the means of the strength which cometh from him to us, we so die to sin as he is dead.

³For we become every day more perfect than others: for we shall never be perfectly sanctified, as long as we live here.

6:6 ¹All our whole nature, as we are conceived and born into this world with sin, which is called old, partly by comparing that old Adam with Christ, and partly also in respect of the deformation of our corrupt nature, which we change with a new.

²Our corrupt nature is attributed to Christ, not in deed, but by imputation.

³That naughtiness which sticketh fast in us.

⁴The end of sanctification which we shoot at, and shall at length come to, to wit when God shall be all in all.

6:7 ¹He proveth it by the effects of death, using a comparison of Christ the head with his members.

6:10 ¹Once for all.

²With God.

6:12 ¹An exhortation to contend and strive with corruption and all the effects thereof.

²By reigning, Saint Paul meaneth that chieftest and high rule, which no man striveth against, and if any do, yet it is in vain.

13 Neither ¹give ye your ²members, as ³weapons of unrighteousness unto sin: but give yourselves unto God, as they that are alive from the dead, and give your members as weapons of righteousness unto God.

14 ¹For sin shall not have dominion over you: for ye are not under the Law, but under grace.

15 ¹What then? shall we sin, because we are not under the Law, but under grace? God forbid.

16 ¹Know ye not, that to whomsoever ye give yourselves as servants to obey, his servants ye are to whom ye obey, whether it be of sin unto death, or of obedience unto righteousness?

17 ¹But God be thanked, that ye have been the servants of sin, but ye have obeyed from the heart unto the ²form of the doctrine, whereunto ye were delivered.

18 Being then made free from sin, ye are made the servants of righteousness.

19 I speak after the manner of man, because of the infirmity of your flesh: for as ye have given your members servants to uncleanness and to iniquity, to commit iniquity, so now give your members servants unto righteousness in holiness.

20 For when ye were the servants of sin, ye were ¹freed from righteousness.

21 ¹What fruit had ye then in those things, whereof ye are now ashamed? For the ²end of those things is death.

22 But now being freed from sin, and made servants unto God, ye have your fruit in holiness, and the end, everlasting life.

23 ¹For the wages of sin is death: but the gift of God is eternal life, through Jesus Christ our Lord.

7 ¹ He declareth what it is, to be no more under the Law, ² by an example taken of the Law of marriage, ^{7, 12} And lest the Law should seem faulty, ¹⁴ he proveth, that our sin is the cause, ^{2, 5} that the same is an occasion of death, ¹⁷ which was given us unto life. ²¹ He setteth out the battle between the flesh and the spirit.

1 Know ¹ye not, brethren, (for I speak to them that know the Law) that the Law hath dominion over a man as long as he liveth?

2 ¹For the woman which is in subjection to a man, is bound by the Law to the man, while he liveth: but if the man be dead, she is delivered from the Law of the man.

3 So then, if while the man liveth, she taketh another man, she shall be ¹called an ^badulteress: but if the man be dead, she is free from the Law, so that she is not an adulteress, though she take another man.

4 ¹So ye, my brethren, are dead also to the Law by the ²body of Christ, that ye should be unto another, even unto him that is raised up from the dead, that we should bring forth ³fruit unto ⁴God.

5 ¹For when we ²were in the flesh, the ³affections of sins, which were by the ⁴law, had ⁵force in our members, to bring forth fruit unto death,

6 But now we are delivered from the Law, he

6:13 ¹ To sin, as to a Lord or tyrant.

² Your mind and all the powers of it.

³ As instruments to commit wickedness withal.

6:14 ¹ He granteth that sin is not yet so dead in us that it is utterly extinct: but he promised victory to them that contend manfully, because we have the grace of God given us which worketh so, that the Law is not now in us the power and instrument of sin.

6:15 ¹ To be under the law and under sin, signify all one, in respect of them which are not sanctified, as on the contrary side, to be under grace and righteousness, agree to them that are regenerate. Now these are contraries, so that one cannot agree with the other: Therefore let righteousness expel sin.

6:17 ¹ By nature we are slaves to sin, and free from righteousness, but by the grace of God we are made servants to righteousness, and therefore free from sin.

² This kind of speech hath a force in it: for he meaneth thereby that the doctrine of the Gospel is like a certain mold which we are cast into to be framed and fashioned like unto it.

6:20 ¹ Righteousness had no rule over you.

6:21 ¹ An exhortation to the study of righteousness and hatred of sin, the contrary ends of both, being set down before us.

² The reward or payment.

6:23 ¹ Death is the punishment due to sin, but we are sanctified freely, unto life everlasting.

7:1 ¹ By propounding the similitude of a marriage, he compareth the state of man both before and after regeneration together. The law of matrimony, saith he, is this, that so long as the husband liveth, the marriage abideth in force, but if he be dead, the woman may marry again.

7:3 ¹ That is, she shall be an adulteress, by the consent and judgment of all men.

7:4 ¹ An application of the similitude thus. So, saith he, doth it fare with us: for now we are joined to the spirit as it were to the second husband, by whom we must bring forth new children: we are dead in respect of the first husband, but in respect of the latter we are as it were raised from the dead.

² That is, in the body of Christ, to give us to understand how straight and near that fellowship is betwixt Christ and his members.

³ He calleth the children, which the wife hath by her husband, fruit.

⁴ Which are acceptable to God.

7:5 ¹ A declaration of the former saying: for the concupiscences (saith he) which the law stirred up in us, were in us as it were an husband, of whom we brought forth very deadly and cursed children. But now since that husband is dead, and so consequently being delivered from the force of that killing law, we have passed into the governance of the spirit, so that we bring forth now, not those rotten and dead, but lively children.

² When we were in the state of the first marriage, which he calleth in the next verse following the oldness of the letter.

³ The motions that egged us to sin, which show their force even in our minds.

⁴ He saith not, of the law, but by the law, because they spring of sin which dwelleth within us, and take occasion to work thus in us, by reason of the restraint that the law maketh, not that the fault is in the law, but in ourselves.

⁵ Wrought their strength.

¹being dead ²in whom we were ³holden, that we should serve in ⁴newness of Spirit, and not in the oldness of the ⁵letter.

7 ¹What shall we say then? Is the Law sin? God forbid. Nay, I knew not sin, but by the Law: for I had not known ²lust, except the Law had said, "Thou shalt not lust."

8 But sin took an occasion by the commandment, and wrought in me all manner of concupiscence: for without the Law sin is ¹dead.

9 ¹For I once was alive, without the ²law: but when the commandment ³came, sin revived,

10 But I ¹died: and the same commandment which was ordained unto life, was found to be unto me unto death.

11 For sin took occasion by the commandment, and deceived me, and thereby slew me.

^c Exod. 20:17
Deut. 5:21
^d 1 Tim. 1:8

12 ¹Wherefore the Law is ⁴holy, and that ²commandment is holy, and just, and good.

13 ¹Was that then which is good, ²made death unto me? God forbid: but sin, that it might ³appear sin, wrought death in me by that which is good, that sin might be ⁴out of measure sinful by the commandment.

14 ¹For we know that the Law is spiritual, but I am carnal, sold under sin.

15 ¹For I ²allow not that which I do: for what I ³would, that do I not: but what I hate, that do I.

16 If I do then that which I would not, I consent to the Law, that it is good.

17 Now then, it is no more I, that do it, but ¹sin that dwelleth in me.

18 ¹For I know, that in me, that is, in my flesh, dwelleth no good thing: for to will is present with me: but I find ²no means to perform that which is

7:6 ¹ As if he said, The bond which bound us, is dead, and vanished away, insomuch, that sin which held us, hath not now wherewith to hold us.

² For this husband is within us.

³ Satan is an unjust possessor, for he brought us in bondage of sin and himself deceitfully: and yet notwithstanding so long as we are sinners, we sin willingly.

⁴ As becometh them, which after the death of their old husband are joined to the spirit: as whom the spirit of God hath made new men.

⁵ By the letter he meaneth the law, in respect of that old condition: for before that our will be framed by the holy Ghost, the law speaketh but to deaf men, and therefore it is dumb and dead to us, as touching the fulfilling of it.

7:7 ¹ An objection: what then? are the law and sin all one, and do they agree together? nay, saith he: Sin is reprov'd and condemned by the law. But because sin cannot abide to be reprov'd, and was not in a manner felt until it was provok'd and stirr'd up by the law, it taketh occasion thereby to be more outrageous, and yet by no fault of the law.

² By the word, Lust, in this place he meaneth not evil lusts themselves, but the fountain from whence they spring: for the very heathen philosophers themselves condemned wicked lusts, though somewhat darkly, but as for the fountain of them, they could not so much as suspect it, and yet it is the very seat of the natural and unclean spot and filth.

7:8 ¹ Though sin be in us, yet it is not known for sin, neither doth it so rage, as it rageth after that the law is known.

7:9 ¹ He setteth himself before us for an example, in whom all men may behold, first what they are of nature before they earnestly think upon the law of God: to wit, blockish, and ready to sin and wickedness, without all true sense and feeling of sin, then what manner of persons they become, when their conscience is reprov'd by the testimony of the law, to wit, stubborn, and more inflamed with the desire of sin, than ever they were before.

² When I knew not the law, then me thought I lived in deed: for my conscience never troubled me, because it knew not my disease.

³ When I began to understand the commandment.

7:10 ¹ In sin, or by sin.

7:12 ¹ The conclusion: That the law of itself is holy, but all the fault is in us which abuse the law.

² Touching not coveting.

7:13 ¹ The proposition: That the Law is not the cause of death, but our corrupt nature, being therewith not only discovered, but also stirred up, and took occasion thereby to rebel, as which, the more that things are forbidden it, the more it desireth them, and from hence cometh guiltiness, and occasion of death.

² Beareth it the blame of my death?

³ That sin might show itself to be sin, and bewray itself to be that, which is in deed.

⁴ As evil as it could, showing all the venom it could.

7:14 ¹ The cause of this matter, is this: Because that the Law requireth a heavenly pureness, but men, such as they be born, are bondslaves of corruption, which they willingly serve.

7:15 ¹ He setteth himself, being regenerate, before us, for an example, in whom may easily appear the strife of the Spirit and the flesh, and therefore of the Law of God, and our wickedness. For since that the Law in a man not regenerate bringeth forth death only, therefore in him it may easily be accused: but seeing that in a man which is regenerate, it bringeth forth good fruit, it doth better appear that evil actions proceed not from the Law, but from sin, that is, from our corrupt nature: And therefore the Apostle teacheth also, what the true use of the Law is, in reprov'ing sin in the regenerate, unto the end of the chapter, as a little before (to wit, from the seventh verse unto this fifteenth) he declared the use of it in them which are not regenerate.

² The deeds of my life, saith he, answer not, nay they are contrary to my will: Therefore by the consent of my will with the Law, and repugnancy with the deeds of my life, it appeareth evidently, that the Law and a right ruled do persuade one thing, but corruption which hath her seat also in the regenerate, another thing.

³ It is to be noted, that one selfsame man is said to will and not to will, in divers respects: to wit, he is said to will, in that, that he is regenerate by grace: and not to will, in that, that he is not regenerate, or in that, that he is such an one as he was born. But because the part which is regenerate, at length becometh conqueror, therefore Paul sustaining the part of the regenerate, speaketh in such sort as if the corruption which sinneth willingly, were something without a man: although afterward he granteth that this evil is in his flesh, or in his members.

7:17 ¹ That natural corruption, which cleaveth fast even to them that are regenerate, and not clean conquered.

7:18 ¹ This vice, or sin, or law of sin, doth wholly possess those men which are not regenerate, and hindereth them or holdeth them back that are regenerate.

² This doth indeed agree to that man, whom the grace of God hath made a new man: for where the Spirit is not, how can there be any strife there.

good,

19 For I do not the good thing, which I would, but the evil, which I would not, that do I.

20 Now if I do that I would not, it is no more I that do it, but the sin that dwelleth in me.

21 ¹I find then that when I would do good, I am thus yoked, that evil is present with me.

22 For I delight in the Law of God, concerning the ¹inner man.

23 But I see another Law in my members, rebelling against the law of my ¹mind, and leading me captive unto the law of sin, which is in my members.

24 ¹O ²wretched man that I am, who shall deliver me from the body of this death!

25 I ¹thank God through Jesus Christ our Lord. Then I ²myself in my mind serve the Law of God, but in my flesh the law of sin.

7:21 ¹ The conclusion: As the Law of God exhorteth to goodness, so doth the Law of sin (that is, the corruption wherein we are born) force us to wickedness: but the Spirit, that is, our mind, in that that it is regenerate, consenteth with the Law of God: but the flesh, that is, the whole natural man, is bondsman to the Law of sin. Therefore to be short, wickedness and death are not of the Law, but of sin, which reigneth in them that are not regenerate: for they neither will, nor do good, but will, and do evil: But in them that are regenerate, it striveth against the Spirit or law of the mind, so that they cannot either live so well as they would, or be so void of sin as they would.

7:22 ¹ The inner man, and the new man are all one, and are answerable and set as contrary to the old man: neither doth this word, Inner man, signify man's mind and reason, and the old man, the powers that are under them, as the Philosophers imagine, but by the outward man is meant whatsoever is either without or within a man, from top to toe, so long as that man is not born anew by the grace of God.

7:23 ¹ The law of the mind in this place, is not to be understood of the mind as it is naturally, and as our mind is from our birth, but of the mind which is renewed by the Spirit of God.

7:24 ¹ It is a miserable thing to be yet in part subject to sin, which of its own nature maketh us guilty of death: but we must cry to the Lord, who will by death itself at length make us conquerors as we are already conquerors in Christ.

² Wearied with miserable and continual conflict.

7:25 ¹ He recovereth himself, and sheweth us that he resteth only in Christ.

² This is the true perfection of them that are born anew, to confess that they are imperfect.

8:1 ¹ A conclusion of all the former disputation from Rom 1:16 even to this place: Seeing that we being justified by faith in Christ, do obtain remission of sins and imputation of righteousness, and are also sanctified, it followeth hereof, that they that are grafted into Christ by faith, are out of all fear of condemnation.

² The fruits of the Spirit, or effects of sanctification, which is begun in us, do not ingraft us into Christ, but do declare that we are grafted into him.

³ Follow not the flesh for their guide: for he is not said to live after the flesh, that hath the holy Ghost for his guide, though sometimes he step away.

8:2 ¹ A preventing of an objection: seeing that the virtue of the spirit which is in us, is so weak, how may we gather thereby, that there is no condemnation to them that have that virtue? because saith he, that

8 ¹ He concludeth that there is no condemnation to them, who are grafted in Christ through his Spirit, ³ howsoever they be as yet burdened with sins: ⁹ For they live through that Spirit, ¹⁴ Whose testimony, ¹⁵ driveth away all fear, ²⁸ and relieveth our present miseries.

1 Now ¹then there is no condemnation to them that are in Christ Jesus, which ²walk not after the ³flesh, but after the Spirit.

2 ¹For the ²Law of the Spirit of ³life which is in ⁴Christ Jesus, hath ⁵freed me from the Law of sin and of death.

3 ¹For (that that was ²impossible to the Law, inasmuch as it was weak, because of the ³flesh) God sending his own Son, in the similitude of ⁴sinful flesh, and for ⁵sin, ⁶condemned sin in the flesh,

4 That that ¹righteousness of the Law might be fulfilled ²in us, which walk not after the flesh, but virtue of the quickening spirit which is so weak in us, is most perfect and most mighty in Christ, and being imputed unto us which believe, causeth us to be so accounted of, as though there were no relics of corruption, and death in us. Therefore hitherto Paul disputed of remission of sins, and imputation of fulfilling the Law, and also of sanctification which is begun in us: but now he speaketh of the perfect imputation of Christ's manhood, which part was necessarily required to the full appeasing of our consciences: for our sins are defaced by the blood of Christ, and the guiltiness of our corruption is covered with the imputation of Christ's obedience: and the corruption itself (which the Apostle calleth sinful sin) is healed in us by little and little, by the gift of sanctification, but yet it lacketh besides that another remedy, to wit, the perfect sanctification of Christ's own flesh, which also is to us imputed.

² The power and authority of the spirit, against which is set the tyranny of sin.

³ Which mortifieth the old man, and quickeneth the new man.

⁴ To wit, absolutely and perfectly.

⁵ For Christ's sanctification being imputed unto us, perfecteth our sanctification which is begun in us.

8:3 ¹ He useth no argument here, but expoundeth the mystery of sanctification, which is imputed unto us: for because, that the virtue of the law was not such (and that by reason of the corruption of our nature) that it could make man pure and perfect: and for that it rather kindled the disease of sin, than did put it out and extinguish it, therefore God clothed his Son with flesh like unto our sinful flesh, wherein he utterly abolished our corruption, that being accounted thoroughly pure and without fault in him apprehended and laid hold on by faith, we might be found to have fully that singular perfection which the Law requireth, and therefore that there might be no condemnation in us.

² Which is not proper to the Law, but cometh by our fault.

³ In man not born anew, whose disease the law could not heal it.

⁴ Of man's nature which was corrupt through sin, until he sanctified it.

⁵ To abolish sin in our flesh.

⁶ Showed that sin hath no right in us.

8:4 ¹ The very substance of the law of God might be fulfilled, or that same which the law requireth, that we may be found just before God: for if with our justification there be joined that sanctification which is imputed to us, we are just: according to the perfect form which the Lord requireth.

² He returneth to that which he said, that the sanctification which is begun in us, is a sure testimony of our ingrafting into Christ, which is a most plentiful fruit of a godly and honest life.

after the Spirit.

5 ¹For they that are after the ²flesh, savor the things of the flesh: but they that are after the Spirit, the things of the Spirit.

6 ¹For the wisdom of the flesh is death: but the wisdom of the Spirit is life and peace,

7 ¹Because the wisdom of the flesh is enmity against God: ²for it is not subject to the Law of God, neither indeed can be.

8 ¹So then they that are in the flesh, cannot please God.

9 ¹Now ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, because the spirit of God dwelleth in you: but if any man hath not the Spirit of Christ, the same is not his.

10 ¹And if Christ be in you, the ²body is dead, because of sin: but the Spirit is life for righteousness sake.

11 ¹But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead, dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead, shall also quicken your mortal bodies, by his Spirit that ²dwelleth in you.

12 ¹Therefore brethren, we are debtors not to the flesh, to live after the flesh:

13 ¹For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye mortify the deeds of the body by the Spirit, ye shall live.

14 ¹For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God.

15 ¹For ye have not received the ²Spirit of bondage, to ³fear again: but ye have received the Spirit of ⁴adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father.

16 The same Spirit beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God.

17 ¹If we be children, we are also ²heirs, even the heirs of God, and heirs annexed with Christ: ³if so be that we suffer with him, that we may also be glorified with him.

18 ¹For I ²count that the afflictions of this present time are not worthy of the glory, which shall be showed unto us.

19 ¹For the fervent desire of the ²creature waiteth

8:5 ¹ A reason why to walk after the flesh, agreeth not to them which are grafted in Christ, but to walk after the spirit agreeth and is meet for them: because, saith he, that they which are after the flesh, savor the things of the flesh, but they that are after the spirit, the things of the spirit.

² They that live as the flesh leadeth them.

8:6 ¹ He proveth the consequent: because that whatsoever the flesh savoreth, that engendereth death: and whatsoever the spirit savoreth, that tendeth to joy and life everlasting.

8:7 ¹ A reason and proof, why the wisdom of the flesh is death: because, saith he, it is the enemy of God.

² A reason why the wisdom of the flesh is enemy to God: because it neither will neither can be subject to him. And by flesh he meaneth a man not regenerate.

8:8 ¹ The conclusion: therefore they that walk after the flesh, cannot please God: whereby it followeth, that they are not ingrafted into Christ.

8:9 ¹ He cometh to the others, to wit, to them which walk after the spirit, of whom we have to understand contrary things to the former: and first of all he defineth what it is to be in the spirit, or to be sanctified: to wit, to have the spirit of God dwelling in us; then he declareth, that sanctification is so joined and knit to our grafting in Christ, that it can by no means be separated.

8:10 ¹ He confirmeth the faithful against the relics of flesh and sin, granting that they are yet (as appeareth by the corruption which is in them) touching one of their parts (which he calleth the body, that is to say, a lump) which is not yet purged from the earthly filthiness in death: but therewithall willing them to doubt nothing of the happy success of their combat, because that even the little spark of the Spirit, (that is, of the grace of regeneration) which appeareth to be in them by the fruits of righteousness, is the seed of life.

² The flesh, or all that which as yet sticketh fast in the clefts of sin, and death.

8:11 ¹ A confirmation of the former sentence. You have the selfsame Spirit, which Christ hath: Therefore at length it shall die the same in you, that it did in Christ, to wit, when all infirmities being utterly laid aside, and death overcome, it shall clothe you with heavenly glory.

² By the virtue and power of it, which showed the same might first in our head, and daily worketh in his members.

8:12 ¹ An exhortation to oppress the flesh daily more and more by the virtue of the Spirit of regeneration, because (saith he) you are debtors unto God, forso much as you have received so many benefits of him.

8:13 ¹ Another reason of the profit that ensueth: for such as strive and fight valiantly, shall have everlasting life.

8:14 ¹ A confirmation of this reason: they be the children of God, which are governed by his Spirit, therefore shall they have life everlasting.

8:15 ¹ He declareth and expoundeth by the way, in these two verses, by what right this name, to be called the children of God, is given to the believers: because saith he, they have received the grace of the Gospel, wherein God showeth himself, not (as before in the publishing of the Law) terrible and fearful, but a most benign and loving father in Christ, so that with great boldness we call him Father, that holy Ghost sealing this adoption in our hearts by faith.

² By the Spirit is meant the holy Ghost, whom we are said to receive, when he worketh in our minds.

³ Which fear is stirred up in our minds, by the preaching of the Law.

⁴ Which sealeth our adoption in our minds, and therefore openeth our mouths.

8:17 ¹ A proof of the consequent of the confirmation: because that he which is the Son of God, doth enjoy God with Christ.

² Partakers of our father's goods, and that freely, because we are children by adoption.

³ Now Paul teacheth by what way the sons of God do come to that felicity, to wit, by the cross, as Christ himself did: and therewithall openeth unto them fountains of comfort: as first, that we have Christ a companion and fellow of our afflictions: secondly, that we shall be also his followers in that everlasting glory.

8:18 ¹ Thirdly that this glory which we look for, doth a thousand parts surmount the misery of our afflictions.

² All being well considered, I gather.

8:19 ¹ Fourthly, he plainly teacheth us that we shall certainly be renewed from that confusion and horrible deformation of the whole world, which cannot be continual, as it was not at the beginning: But as it had a beginning by the sin of man, for whom it was made by the ordinance of God, so shall it at length be restored with the elect.

² All this world.

when the sons of God shall be revealed,

20 Because the creature is subject to ¹vanity, not of its ²own will, but by reason ³of him, which hath subdued it under ⁴hope,

21 Because the creature also shall be delivered from the ¹bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the sons of God.

22 For we know that every creature groaneth with us also, and ¹travaileth in pain together unto this present.

23 ¹And not only the creature, but we also which have the firstfruits of the Spirit, even we do sigh in ²ourselves, waiting for the adoption, even ^{3,a}the redemption of our body.

24 ¹For we are saved by hope: but ²hope that is seen, is not hope: for how can a man hope for that which he seeth?

25 But if we hope for that we see not, we do with patience abide for it.

26 ¹Likewise the Spirit also ²helpeth our infirmities: for we know not what to pray as we ought: but the Spirit itself maketh ³request for us with sighs, which cannot be expressed.

27 But he that searcheth the hearts, knoweth what is the ¹meaning of the Spirit: for he maketh request for the Saints, ²according to the will of God.

CHAPTER 8

^a Luke 21:28

^b Ps. 44:22

28 ¹Also we know that ²all things work together for the best unto them that love God, even to them that are called of his ³purpose.

29 For those which he knew before, he also predestinated to be made like to the image of his Son, that he might be the firstborn among many brethren.

30 Moreover, whom he ¹predestinated, them also he called, and whom he called, them also he justified, and whom he justified, them he also glorified.

31 ¹What shall we then say to these things? If God be on our side, who can be against us?

32 Who spared not his own Son, but gave him for us all to death, how shall he not with him ¹give us all things also?

33 ¹Who shall lay anything to the charge of God's chosen? it is ²God that justifieth.

34 Who shall condemn? it is Christ which is dead: yea, or rather, which is risen again, who is also at the right hand of God, and maketh request also for us.

35 Who shall separate us from the love of ¹Christ? shall tribulation or anguish, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword?

36 As it is written, ^bFor thy sake are we killed all day long: we are counted as sheep for the slaughter:

37 ¹Nevertheless, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him that loved us.

8:20 ¹ Is subject to a vanishing and flitting state.

² Not by their natural inclination.

³ That they should obey the Creator's commandment, whom it pleased to show by their fickle estate, how greatly he was displeased with man.

⁴ God would not make the world subject to everlasting curse, for the sin of man, but gave it hope that it should be restored.

8:21 ¹ From the corruption which they are now subject to, they shall be delivered and changed into that blessed state of incorruption, which shall be revealed when the sons of God shall be advanced to glory.

8:22 ¹ By this word is meant, not only exceeding sorrow, but also the fruit that followeth of it.

8:23 ¹ Fifthly, if the rest of the world looks for a restoring, groaning as it were for it, and that not in vain, let it not grieve us also to sigh, yea, let us be more certainly persuaded of our redemption to come, forasmuch as we have the firstfruits of the Spirit.

² Even from the bottom of our hearts.

³ That last restoring, which shall be the accomplishment of our adoption.

8:24 ¹ Sixthly, hope is necessarily joined with faith: seeing then that we believe those things, which we are not yet in possession of, and hope respected not the thing that is present, we must therefore hope and patiently wait for that which we believe shall come to pass.

² This is spoken by the figure Metonymy: Hope, for that which is hoped for.

8:26 ¹ Seventhly, There is no cause why we should faint under the burden of afflictions, seeing that prayers minister unto us a most sure help, which cannot be frustrated, seeing they proceed from the spirit of God which dwelleth in us.

² Beareth our burden, as it were that we faint not under it.

³ Provoketh us to prayers, and telleth us as it were within, what we shall say, and how we shall groan.

8:27 ¹ What sobs and sighs proceed from the instinct of his Spirit.

² Because he teacheth the godly to pray according to God's will.

8:28 ¹ Eighthly, we are not afflicted, either by chance or to our harm, but by God's providence for our great profit, who as he chose us from the beginning, so hath he predestined us to be made like to the image of his Son: and therefore will bring us in his time, being called and justified, to glory, by the cross.

² Not only afflictions, but whatsoever else.

³ He calleth that, Purpose, which God hath from everlasting appointed with himself according to his good will and pleasure.

8:30 ¹ He useth the time past, for the time present, as the Hebrews use, who sometimes set down the thing that is to come, by the time that is past, to signify the certainty of it: and he hath also regard to God's continual working.

8:31 ¹ Ninthly, we have no cause to fear that the Lord will not give us whatsoever is profitable for us, seeing that he hath not spared his own Son to save us.

8:32 ¹ Give us freely.

8:33 ¹ A most glorious and comfortable conclusion of the whole second part of this Epistle, that is, of the treatise of justification. There are no accusers that we have need to be afraid of before God, seeing that God himself absolveth us as just: and therefore much less need we to fear damnation, seeing that we rest upon the death and resurrection, the almighty power and defense of Jesus Christ. Therefore what can there be so weighty in this life, or of so great force and power, that might seize us, as though we might fall from the love of God, where-with he loveth us in Christ: Surely nothing. Seeing that it is in itself most constant and sure, and also in us being confirmed by steadfast faith.

² Who pronounceth us not only guiltless, but also perfectly just in his Son.

8:35 ¹ Wherewith Christ loveth us.

8:37 ¹ We are not only not overcome with so great and many miseries and calamities, but also more than conquerors in all of them.

38 For I am persuaded that neither death, nor life, nor Angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come,

39 Nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord.

9 ¹ He answereth an objection, that might be brought on the Jews' behalf, 7 and telleth of two sorts of Abraham's children, 15 and that God worketh all things in this matter according to his will, 20 even as the potter doth. 24, 30 He proveth as well the calling of the Gentiles, 31 as also the rejecting of the Jews, 25, 27 by the testimony of the Prophets.

1 I say ¹the truth in Christ, I lie not, my conscience bearing me witness in the holy Ghost,

2 That I have great heaviness, and continual sorrow in mine heart.

3 For I would wish myself to be ¹separate from Christ, for my brethren that are my kinsmen according to the ²flesh,

4 Which are the Israelites, to whom pertaineth the adoption, and the ¹glory, and the ^{a,2}Covenants, and the giving of the ³Law, and the ⁴service of God, and the ⁵promises.

5 Of whom are the fathers, and of whom concerning the flesh, Christ came, who is ¹God over all, blessed forever, Amen.

6 ^{b,1}Notwithstanding it cannot be that the word of God should take none effect: for all they are not ²Israel, which are of Israel:

7 Neither are they all children, because they are the seed of Abraham: ^{c,1}but, In ²Isaac shall thy seed be called:

8 ¹That is, they which are the children of the ²flesh, are not the children of God: but the ^dchildren of the ³promise, are counted for the seed.

9 ¹For this is a word of promise, ¹In this same time will I come, and Sarah shall have a son.

10 ¹Neither he only felt this, but also ²Rebecca, when she had conceived by one, even by our father Isaac.

11 For ere the children were born, and when they had neither done good nor evil (that the ¹purpose of God might ²remain according to election, not by works, but by him that calleth.)

12 ¹It was said unto her, ^gThe Elder shall serve the younger.

13 As it is written, ^hI have loved Jacob, and have hated Esau.

9:1 ¹ The third part of this Epistle, even to the twelfth Chapter, wherein Paul ascendeth to the higher causes of faith: and first of all because he purposed to speak much of the casting off of the Jews, he useth an insinuation, declaring by a double or triple oath, and by witnessing of his great desire towards their salvation, his singular love towards them, and therewithall granting unto them all their prerogatives.

9:3 ¹ The Apostle loved his brethren so entirely, that if it have been possible he would have been ready to have redeemed the casting away of the Israelites, with the loss of his own soul forever: for this word separate, betokeneth as much in this place.

² Being brethren by flesh, as of one nation and country.

9:4 ¹ The ark of the covenant, which was a token of God's presence.

² The tables of the covenant: and this is spoken by the figure Metonymy.

³ Of the judicial Law.

⁴ The ceremonial Law.

⁵ Which were made to Abraham and to his posterity.

9:5 ¹ A most manifest testimony of the Godhead and divinity of Christ.

9:6 ¹ He entereth into the handling of predestination by a kind of preventing an objection: How may it be, that Israel is cast off, but that therewithall we must also make the covenant which God made with Abraham and his seed, frustrate and void? He answereth therefore, that God's word is true, although that Israel be cast off: for the election of the people of Israel is so general and common, that notwithstanding the same, God chooseth by his secret counsel, such as it pleaseth him. So then this is the proposition and state of this Treatise: The grace of salvation is offered generally in such sort, that notwithstanding it, the efficacy thereof pertaineth only to the elect.

² Israel in the first place, is taken for Jacob: and in the second, for the Israelites.

9:7 ¹ The first proof is taken from the example of Abraham's own house, wherein Isaac only was counted the son, and that by God's ordinance: although that Ishmael also was born of Abraham, and circumcised before Isaac.

² Isaac shall be thy true and natural son, and therefore heir of thy blessing.

9:8 ¹ A general application of the former proof or example.

² Which are born of Abraham by the course of nature.

³ Which are born by virtue of the promise.

9:9 ¹ A reason of that application: Because that Isaac was born by the virtue of the promise, and therefore he was not chosen, nay he was not at all, but by the free will of God: whereby it followeth that the promise is the fountain of predestination, and not the flesh from which promise the particular election proceedeth: that is, that the elect be born elect: and not that they be first born and then afterward elected, in respect of God who doth predestinate.

9:10 ¹ Another forcible proof, taken from the example of Esau and Jacob, which were both born of the same Isaac, which was the son of promise, of one mother, and at one birth, and not at divers as Ishmael and Isaac were: and yet notwithstanding, Esau being cast off, only Jacob was chosen: and that before their birth, that neither any goodness of Jacob's might be thought to be the cause of his election, neither any wickedness of Esau, of his casting away.

9:11 ¹ God's decree, which proceedeth of his mere good will, whereby it pleased him to choose one, and refuse the other.

² Paul saith not, might be made, but being made, might remain. Therefore they are deceived which make foreseen faith the cause of election, and foreknown infidelity, the cause of reprobation.

9:12 ¹ He proveth the casting away of Esau by that, that he was made servant to his brother: and proveth the choosing of Jacob by that that he was made Lord of his brother, although his brother were the first begotten. And lest that any man might take this saying of God, and refer it to external things, the Apostle sheweth out of Malachi, who is a good interpreter of Moses, that the servitude of Esau was joined with the hatred of God, and the Lordship of Jacob with the love of God.

14 ¹What shall we say then? Is there ²unrighteousness with God? God forbid.

15 ¹For he saith to Moses, ⁱI will ²have mercy on him, to whom I will show mercy: and will have ³compassion on him, on who I will have compassion.

16 ¹So then it is not in him that ²willeth, nor in him that runneth, but in God that sheweth mercy.

17 ¹For the ²Scripture saith unto Pharaoh, ^jFor this same purpose have ³I stirred thee up, that I might ⁴show my power in thee, and that my Name might

ⁱExod. 33:19

^jExod. 9:16

^kIsa. 45:9

be declared throughout all the earth.

18 ¹Therefore he hath mercy on whom he ²will, and whom he will he hardeneth.

19 ¹Thou wilt say then unto me, Why doth he yet complain? for who hath resisted his will?

20 ¹But, O man, who art thou which pleadest against God? ²shall the ³thing ⁴formed say to him that formed it, Why hast thou made me thus?

21 ¹Hath not the potter power of the clay to make of the same lump one ²vessel to ³honor, and another unto ⁴dishonor?

9:14 ¹ The first objection: If God doth love or hate upon no consideration of worthiness or unworthiness, then [is] he unjust, because he may love them which are unworthy, and hate them that are worthy. The Apostle detesteth this blasphemy, and afterward answereth it severally, point by point.

² Man's will knoweth no other causes of love or hatred, but those that are in the persons, and thereupon this objection riseth.

9:15 ¹ He answereth first touching them which are chosen to salvation in choosing of whom, he denieth that God may seem unjust, although he choose and predestinate to salvation, them that are not yet born, without any respect of worthiness: because he bringeth not the chosen to the appointed end, but by the means of his mercy, which is a cause next under predestination. Now mercy presupposeth misery, and again misery presupposeth sin or voluntary corruption of mankind, and corruption presupposeth a pure and perfect creation. Moreover mercy is showed by her degrees: to wit, by calling, by faith, by justification and sanctification, so that at length we come to glorification, as the Apostle will show afterward. Now all these things, orderly following the purpose of God, do clearly prove that he can by no means seem unjust in loving and saving his.

² I will be merciful and favorable to whom I list to be favorable.

³ I will have compassion on whomsoever I list to have compassion.

9:16 ¹ The conclusion of the answer: Therefore God is not unjust in choosing and saving of his free goodness, such as it pleaseth him: as he also answered Moses, when he prayed for all the people.

² By will, he meaneth the thought and endeavor of heart, and by running, good works: to neither of which he giveth the praise, but only to the mercy of God.

9:17 ¹ Now he answereth concerning the reprobate or them whom God hateth being not yet born, and hath appointed to destruction, without any respect of unworthiness. And first of all he proveth this to be true, by alleging the testimony of God himself touching Pharaoh, whom he stirred up to this purpose, that he might be glorified in his hardening and just punishing.

² God so speaketh unto Pharaoh in the Scripture, or, the Scripture bringeth in God, so speaking to Pharaoh, Exodus 9:16.

³ Brought thee into this world.

9:18 ¹ A conclusion of the full answer to the first objection: therefore seeing that God doth not save them whom he freely chose according to his good will and pleasure, but by justifying and sanctifying them by his grace, his counsel in saving them cannot seem unjust. And again, there is not injustice in the everlasting counsel of God touching the destruction of them whom he listeth to destroy, for that he hardeneth before he destroyeth: Therefore the third answer for the maintenance of God's justice is the everlasting counsel of reprobation, consisteth in this word

Hardening: which notwithstanding he concealed in the former verse, because the History of Pharaoh was well known. But the force of the word is great: for Hardening, which is set against Mercy, presupposeth the same things that mercy did, to wit, a voluntary corruption, wherein the reprobate are hardened: and again corruption presupposeth a perfect state of creation. Moreover, this hardening also is voluntary, for God so hardeneth being offended with corruption, that he useth their own will whom he hardeneth, to the executing of that judgment. Then follow the fruits of Hardening, to wit, unbelief and sin, which are the true and proper causes of the condemnation of the reprobate. Why doth he then appoint to destruction? because he will: why doth he harden? because they are corrupt: why doth he condemn? because they are sinners. Where is then unrighteousness? Nay, if he should destroy all after this same sort, to whom should he do injury?

² Whom it pleased him to appoint, to show his favor upon.

9:19 ¹ Another objection but only for the reprobate, rising upon the former answer. If God do appoint to everlasting destruction, such as he listeth, and if that cannot be hindered notwithstanding that he hath once decreed, how doth he justly condemn them, which perish by his will?

9:20 ¹ The Apostle doth not answer that it is not God's will, or that God doth not either reject or elect according to his pleasure, which thing the wicked call blasphemy, but he rather granteth, his adversary both the antecedents, to wit, that it is God's will, and that it must of necessity so fall out, yet he denieth that God is therefore to be thought an unjust revenger of the wicked: for seeing it appeareth by manifest proof that this is the will of God and his doing, what impudency is it for man, which is but dust and ashes to dispute with God, and as it were to call him into judgment? Now if any man say that the doubt is not so dissolved and answered, I answer, that there is no surer demonstration in any matter, because it is grounded upon this principle, That the will of God is the rule of righteousness.

² An amplification of the former answer, taken from a comparison, whereby also it appeareth that God's determined counsel is set of Paul the highest of all causes, so that it dependeth not upon any respect of second causes, but doth rather frame and direct them.

³ This similitude agreeth very fitly in the first creation of mankind.

9:21 ¹ Alluding to the creation of Adam, he compareth mankind not yet made (but in the Creator's mind) to a lump of clay: whereof afterward God made and doth daily make, according as he purposed from everlasting both such as should be elect, and such as should be reprobate, as also this word, making, declareth.

² Whereas in the objection propounded, mention was only made of vessels to dishonor: yet he speaketh of the other also in this answer, for that he proveth the Creator to be just in either of them, as the rule of contraries doth require.

³ To honest uses.

⁴ Seeing then, that in the name of dishonor, the ignomy of everlasting death is signified, they speak with Paul, which say, that some are made of God to most just destruction: and they [that] are offended with this kind of speech bewray their own folly.

22 ¹What and if God would, to show his wrath, and to make his power known, suffer with long patience the ²vessels of wrath, prepared to ³destruction?

23 And that he might declare the ¹riches of his glory upon the vessels of mercy, which he hath prepared unto glory?

24 Even us whom he hath called, not of the ²Jews only, but also of the Gentiles.

25 As he saith also in Hosea, ¹"I will call them, My people, which were not my people: and her, Beloved, which was not beloved.

26 And it shall be in the place where it was said unto them, ²"Ye are not my people, that there they shall be called, The children of the living God.

27 ¹Also Isaiah crieth concerning Israel, ²"Though the number of the children of Israel were as the sand of the sea, yet shall but a remnant be saved.

28 For he will make his account, and gather it into a ¹short sum with righteousness: for the Lord will make a short count in the earth.

29 ¹And as Isaiah said before, Except the Lord of ¹hosts had left us a ²seed, we had been made as Sodom, and had been like to Gomorrah.

30 ¹What shall we say then? That the Gentiles which followed ²not righteousness, have attained unto righteousness, even the righteousness which is of faith.

31 ¹But Israel which followed the Law of righteousness, could not attain unto the Law of righteousness.

32 Wherefore? Because they sought it not by faith, but as it were by the ¹works of the Law: for they have stumbled at the stumbling stone, 33 As it is written, ¹"Behold, I lay in Zion a stumbling stone, and a rock to make men fall: and everyone that believeth in him, shall not be ashamed.

10 ¹He handleth the effects of election, ³that some refuse, and some embrace. ⁴Christ, who is the end of the Law. ¹⁵He showeth that Moses foretold the calling of the Gentiles, ²⁰and Isaiah the hardening of the Jews.

1 Brethren, ¹mine hearts desire and prayer to God for Israel is, that they might be saved.

2 For I bear them record that they have the zeal of God, but not according to knowledge.

3 ¹For they, ²being ignorant of the righteousness of God, and going about to ³establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves to the righteousness of God.

4 ^{a,1}For Christ is the ²end of the Law for righteousness unto ³everyone that believeth.

9:22 ¹ The second answer is this, that God, moreover and besides that he doth justly decree whatsoever he doth decree, useth that moderation in executing of his decrees, as declareth his singular lenity even in the reprobate in that, that he suffereth them a long time, and permitteth them to enjoy many and singular benefits, until at length he justly condemns them: and that to good end and purpose, to wit, to show himself to be an enemy and revenger of wickedness, that it may appear what power he is of by these severe judgments, and finally by comparison of contraries to set forth indeed, how great his mercy is towards the elect.

² By vessels, the Hebrews understand all kinds of instruments.

³ Therefore again, we may say with Paul that some men are made of God the Creator to destruction.

9:23 ¹ The unmeasurable and marvelous greatness.

9:24 ¹ Having established the doctrine of the eternal predestination of God on both parts: that is, as well of the reprobate, as of the elect, he cometh now to show the use of it, teaching us that we ought not to seek the testimony of it in the secret counsel of God, but by the vocation which is made manifest and set forth in the Church, propounding unto us the example of the Jews and Gentiles, that the doctrine may be better perceived.

² He saith not that all and every one of the Jews are called, but some of the Jews, and some of the Gentiles.

9:25 ¹ Our vocation or calling is free and of grace, even as our predestination is: and therefore there is no cause why either our own unworthiness, or the unworthiness of our ancestors should cause us to think that we are not the elect and chosen of God, if we be called of him, and so embrace through faith the salvation that is offered us.

9:27 ¹ Contrariwise, Neither any outward general calling, neither any worthiness of our ancestors is a sufficient witness of election, unless by faith and belief we answer God's calling: which thing came to pass in the Jews, as the Lord had forewarned.

9:28 ¹ God purposeth to bring the unkind and unthankful people to an extreme fewness.

9:29 ¹ Armies, by which word the chiefest power that is, is given to God.

² Even a very few.

9:30 ¹ The declaration and manifestation of our election, is our calling apprehended by faith, as it came to pass in the Gentiles.

² So then, the Gentiles had no works to prepare and procure God's mercy beforehand: and as for that, that the Gentiles attained to that which they sought not for, the mercy of God is to be thanked for it: and in that the Jews attained not that which they sought after, they can thank none for it but themselves, because they sought it not aright.

9:31 ¹ The pride of men is the cause that they condemn vocation, so that the cause of their damnation need not to be sought for any other where but in themselves.

9:32 ¹ Seeking to come by righteousness, they followed the Law of righteousness.

10:1 ¹ Purposing to set forth in the Jews an example of marvelous obstinacy, he useth an insinuation.

10:3 ¹ The first entrance into the vocation unto salvation, is to renounce our own righteousness: the next is, to embrace that righteousness by faith, which God freely offereth us the Gospel.

² The ignorance of the Law which we ought to know, excuseth none before God, especially it excuseth not them that are of his household.

³ Ignorance hath always pride joined with it.

10:4 ¹ The proof: The Law itself hath respect unto Christ, that such as believe in him should be saved. Therefore the calling to salvation by the works of the law is vain and foolish, but Christ is offered for salvation to every believer.

² The end of the Law is to justify them that keep the Law: but seeing we do not observe the Law through the fault of our flesh, we attain not unto this end: but Christ saveth this disease, for he fulfilled the Law for us.

³ Not only to the Jews, but also to the Gentiles.

5 ¹For Moses thus describeth the righteousness which is of the Law, ^bThat the man which doeth these things, shall live thereby.

6 But the righteousness which is of faith, speaketh on this wise, ^c"Say not in thine heart, Who shall ascend into heaven? (that is to bring Christ from above.)

7 Or, Who shall descend into the deep? (that is to bring Christ again from the dead.)

8 ¹But what saith it? ^dThe ²word is near thee, even in thy mouth, and in thine heart. This is the word of faith which we preach.

9 ¹For if thou shalt ²confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart, that ³God raised him up from the dead, thou shalt be saved:

10 For with the heart man ¹believeth unto righteousness, and with the mouth man confesseth to salvation.

11 ¹For the Scripture saith, ^eWhosoever ²believeth in him, shall not be ashamed.

12 For there is no difference between the Jew and the Grecian: for he that is Lord over all, is rich unto all that call on him.

13 ^f¹For whosoever shall call upon the Name of the Lord, shall be saved.

have not believed? ¹and how shall they believe in him, of whom they have not heard? and how shall they hear without a preacher?

15 And how shall they preach, except they be sent? as it is written, ^gHow beautiful are the feet of them which bring glad tidings of peace, and bring glad tidings of good things!

16 ¹But they have not ²all obeyed the Gospel: for Isaiah saith, ^hLord, who hath believed our report?

17 ¹Then faith is by hearing, and hearing by the ²word of God.

18 ¹But I demand, Have they not heard? ²No doubt their sound went out through all the earth, and their words into the ends of the world.

19 ¹But I demand, Did not Israel know God? First Moses saith, ⁱI will provoke you to envy by a ²nation that is not my nation, and by a foolish nation I will anger you.

20 ^kAnd Isaiah is ¹bold, and saith, I was found of them that sought me not, and have been made manifest to them that asked not after me.

21 And unto Israel he saith, All the day long have I stretched forth mine hand unto a disobedient, and gainsaying people.

11 ¹ Lest the casting off of the Jews should be limited according to the outward appearance, ⁴ he sheweth

10:5 ¹ That the Law regardeth and tendeth to Christ, that is a manifest proof, for that is propoundeth such a condition, as can be and is fulfilled of none but Christ only: which being imputed unto us by faith, our conscience is quieted, so that now no man can ask, Who can ascend up into heaven, or bring us from hell, seeing the Gospel teacheth that both of these is done by Christ, and that for their sakes, which with true faith embrace him which calleth them.

10:6 ¹ Think not with thyself, as men that are staggering use to do.

10:8 ¹ Vocation cometh by the word preached.

² By the word, Moses understood the Law which the Lord published with his own voice: and Paul applied it to the preaching of the Gospel which was the perfection of the Law.

10:9 ¹ That is indeed true faith which is settled not only in the head, but also in the heart of man, whereof also we give testimony, by our outward life, and which tendeth to Christ as to our alone and only Savior, even as he setteth forth himself in his word.

² If thou profess plainly, sincerely, and openly, that thou takest Jesus only to be thy Lord and Savior.

³ The Father, who is said to have raised the Son from the dead: and this is not spoken to shut out the divinity of the Son, but to set forth the Father's counsel touching our redemption in the resurrection of the Son.

10:10 ¹ Faith is said to justify, and furthermore seeing the confession of the mouth is an effect of faith, and confession is the way to come to salvation, it followeth that faith is also said to save.

10:11 ¹ Now he proveth the other part which he propounded afore in the fourth verse, to wit, that Christ calleth whomsoever he listeth without any difference, and this he confirmeth by a double testimony.

² To believe in God is to yield and consent to God's promise of our salvation by Christ, and that not only in general, but when we know that the promises pertain to us whereupon riseth a sure trust.

10:13 ¹ True calling upon the Name of God is the testimony of true faith, and true faith of true vocation or calling, and true calling, of true election.

10:14 ¹ That is, true faith which seeketh God in his word, and that preached according as God hath appointed in the Church.

10:16 ¹ Wheresoever faith is, there is also the word, but not contrariwise, wheresoever the word is, there is faith also: for many refuse and reject the word.

² He speaketh this because of the Jews.

10:17 ¹ A conclusion of the former gradation: we must ascend from faith, to our vocation, as by our vocation we came to the testimony of our election.

² By God's Commandment.

10:18 ¹ An objection: If calling be a testimony of election, were not the Jews called? why should I not ... that, saith the Apostle, seeing that there is no nation which hath not been called? much less can I say, that the Jews were not called.

10:19 ¹ The defender and maintainer of the Jews' cause goeth on still to ask, whether the Jews also knew not God which called them. Isaiah (saith the Apostle) denieth it: and witnesseth that the Gospel was translated from them to the Gentiles, because the Jews neglected it. And therewithall the Apostle teacheth, that that outward and universal calling, which is set forth by the creation of the world, sufficeth not to the knowledge of God: yea, and that the particular also which is by the word of God, is of itself of small or no efficacy, unless it be apprehended or laid hold on by faith, by the gift of God: otherwise by unbelief it is made unprofitable, and that by the only fault of man, who can pretend no ignorance.

² He calleth all profane people, a nation that is no nation, that they are not said to live but to die, which are appointed for everlasting condemnation.

10:20 ¹ Speaketh without fear.

that Elijah was in times past deceived: 16 and that, seeing they have an holy root, 23 many of them likewise shall be holy. 18, 24 He exhorteth the Gentiles to be humble, 33 and crieth out, that God's judgments are unsearchable.

1 I Demand then, ¹Hath God cast away his people? God forbid: for ²I also am an Israelite, of the seed of Abraham, of the tribe of Benjamin.

2 ¹God hath not cast away his people which he ²knew before. ³Know ye not what the Scripture saith of Elijah, how he communeth with God against Israel, saying,

3 ⁴Lord, they have killed thy Prophets, and dug down thine Altars: and I am left alone, and they seek my life?

4 But what saith the answer of God to him? ^bI have ¹reserved unto myself seven thousand men, which have not bowed the knee to ²Baal.

5 Even so then, at this present time is there a remnant according to the ¹election of grace.

6 ¹And if it be of grace, it is ²no more of works: or else were grace no more grace: but if it be of works, it is no more grace: or else were work no more work.

John 12:40

Acts 28:26

^d Ps. 69:23

7 What then? Israel hath not obtained that he sought: but the election hath obtained it, and the rest have been ¹hardened,

8 ¹According as it is written, 'God hath given them the spirit of ²slumber: eyes that they ³should not see, and ears that they should not hear unto this day.

9 And David saith, ^{d,1}Let their table be made a snare, and a net, and a stumbling block, even for a recompense unto them.

10 Let their eyes be darkened that they see not, and bow down their back always.

11 ¹I demand then, Have they stumbled, that they should fall? God forbid: but through their fall, salvation cometh unto the Gentiles, to provoke them to follow them.

12 Wherefore if the fall of them be the ¹riches of the world, and the diminishing of them the riches of the Gentiles, how much more shall their ²abundance be?

13 ¹For in that I speak to you Gentiles, inasmuch as I am the Apostle of the Gentiles, I ²magnify mine

11:1 ¹ Now the Apostle sheweth how this doctrine is to be applied to others, abiding still in his propounded cause. Therefore he teacheth us that all the Jews in particular are not cast away, and therefore we ought not to pronounce rashly of private persons, whether they be of the number of the elect or not.

² The first proof, I am a Jew, and yet elected, therefore we may and ought fully to resolve upon our election, as hath been before said: but of another man's we cannot be so certainly resolved, and yet ours may cause us to hope well of others.

11:2 ¹ The second proof: Because that God is faithful in his league or Covenant, although men be unfaithful: So then seeing that God hath said, that he will be the God of his unto a thousand generations, we must take heed, that we think not that the whole race and offspring is cast off, by reason of the unbelief of a few, but rather, that we hope well of every member of the Church, because of God's league and Covenant.

² Which he loved and chose from everlasting.

³ The third proof, taken from the answer that was made to Elijah: even then also, when there appeared openly to the face of the world no elect, yet God knew his elect and chosen, and of them also good store and number. Whereupon this also is concluded, that we ought not rashly to pronounce of any man as of a reprobate, seeing that the Church is oftentimes brought to that state, that even the most watchful and sharp-sighted pastors think it to be clean extinct and put out.

11:4 ¹ He speaketh of remnants and reserved people which were chosen from everlasting, and not of remnants that should be chosen afterward: for they are not chosen, because they were not idolaters, but therefore they were not idolaters, because they were chosen and elect.

² Baal signifieth as much as Master or patron, or one in whose power another is, which name the idolaters at this day give their idols, naming them patrons, and patronesses or Ladies.

11:5 ¹ The election of grace, is not whereby men chose grace, but whereby God chose us of his grace and goodness.

11:6 ¹ Although that all be not elect and chosen, yet let them that are elected, remember that they are freely chosen, and let them that stubbornly refuse the grace and free mercy of God, impute it unto themselves.

² This saying beateeth down flat to the ground all the doctrine of all kinds and manner of works, whereby our justifiers of themselves do teach, that works are either wholly or partly the cause of our justification.

11:7 ¹ See Mark 3:5.

11:8 ¹ And yet this hardness of heart cometh not but by God's just decree and judgment, and yet without fault, whom as he so punisheth the unthankful by taking from them all sense and perseverance and by doubling their darkness, that the benefits of God which are offered unto them, do redound to their just destruction.

² A very dead sleep which taketh away all sense.

³ That is, eyes unjust to see.

11:9 ¹ As unhappy birds are enticed to death by that which is their sustenance, so did that only thing turn to the Jews' destruction, out of which they sought life, to wit, the Law of God, for the preposterous zeal whereof they refused the Gospel.

11:11 ¹ God appointed this casting out of the Jews, that it might be an occasion to call the Gentiles: and again might turn this calling of the Gentiles, to be an occasion to restore the Jews, to wit, that they being inflamed and provoked by emulation of the Gentiles, might themselves at length embrace the Gospel. And hereby we may learn, that the severity of God serveth as well for the setting forth of his glory as his mercy doth, and also that God prepares himself a way to mercy, by his severity, so that we ought not rashly to despair of any man, nor proudly triumph over other men, but rather provoke them to an holy emulation, that God may be glorified in them also.

11:12 ¹ By riches he meaneth the knowledge of the Gospel to everlasting life: and by the world, all nations dispersed throughout the whole world.

² Of the Jews, when the whole nation without exception shall come to Christ.

11:13 ¹ He witnesseth by his own example, that he goeth before all others in this behalf.

² I make noble and famous.

office,

14 To try if by any means I might provoke them of my flesh to follow them, and might save some of them.

15 For if the casting away of them be the reconciling of the world, what shall the receiving be, ¹but life from the dead?

16 ¹For if the ²firstfruits be holy, so is the whole lump: and if the ³root be holy, so are the branches.

17 ^{c,1}And though some of the branches be broken off, and thou being a wild Olive tree, wast grafted in ²for them, and made ³partaker of the root and fatness of the Olive tree:

18 ¹Boast not thyself against the branches: and if thou boast thyself, thou bearest not the root, but the root thee.

19 Thou wilt say then, The branches are broken off, that I might be grafted in.

20 Well: through unbelief they are broken off, and thou standest by faith: be not high-minded, but ¹fear.

21 For if God spared not the ¹natural branches, take heed, lest he also spare not thee.

^c Jer. 11:6

^g Isa. 27:9

22 ¹Behold therefore the ²bountifulness, and severity of God: toward them which have fallen, severity: but toward thee, bountifulness, if thou continue in his ³bountifulness: or else thou shalt also be cut off.

23 ¹And they also, if they abide not still in unbelief, shall be grafted in: for God is able to graft them in again.

24 For if thou wast cut out of the Olive tree, which was wild by ¹nature, and was grafted contrary to nature in a ²right Olive tree, how much more shall they that are by nature, be grafted in their own Olive tree?

25 ¹For I would not, brethren, that ye should be ignorant of this secret (lest ye should be arrogant in ²yourselves) that partly obstinacy is come to Israel, until the fullness of the Gentiles be ³come in.

26 And so all Israel shall be saved, as it is written, ^fThe deliverer shall come out of Zion, and shall turn away the ungodliness from Jacob.

27 And this is my covenant to them, ^gWhen I shall take away their sins.

28 ¹As concerning the ²Gospel, they are enemies for your sakes: but as touching the ³election, they

11:15 ¹ It shall come to pass that when the Jews come to the Gospel, the world shall as it were come quicken again, and rise up from death to life.

11:16 ¹ The nation of the Jews being considered in their stock and root, that is, in Abraham, is holy, although that many of the branches be cut off. Therefore in judging of our brethren, we must not stick in their unworthiness, to think that they are at once all cast off, but we ought to consider the root of the Covenant, and rather go back to their ancestors which were faithful, that we may know that the blessing of the Covenant resteth in some of their posterity, as we also find proof hereof in ourselves.

² He alludeth to the firstfruits of the loaves by the offering whereof all the whole crop of corn was sanctified, and they might vie the rest of the year following with good conscience.

³ Abraham.

11:17 ¹ There is no cause why the Gentiles which have obtained mercy, should triumph over the Jews which condemn the grace of God, seeing they are grafted into the Jews' ancestors. But let them rather take heed that that also be not found in them which is worthily condemned in the Jews. And hereof also this general doctrine may be gathered and taken, that we ought to be studious of God's glory, even in respect of our neighbors: so far ought we to be from bragging and glorying, for that, that we are preferred before others by a singular grace.

² In place of those boughs which are broken off.

³ It is against the common course of husbandry, that the barren juice of the imp is changed with the juice of the good tree.

11:18 ¹ We may rejoice in the Lord, but so that we despise not the Jews, whom we ought rather to provoke to that good striving with us.

11:20 ¹ See that thou stand in awe of God modestly and carefully.

11:21 ¹ He calleth them natural, not because they had any holiness of nature, but because they were born of them, whom the Lord set apart for himself from, other nations, by his league and covenant which he freely made with them.

11:22 ¹ Seeing the matter itself declareth that election cometh not by inheritance (although the fault be in men, and not in God, why the blessing of God is not perpetual) we must take good heed, that that be not found in ourselves, which we think blameworthy in others, for the election is sure, but they that are truly elect and ingrafted, are not proud in themselves with contempt of others, but with due reverence to God, and love towards their neighbor, run to the mark which is set before them.

² The tender and loving heart.

³ In that state which God's bountifulness hath advanced thee unto: and we must mark here, that he speaketh not of the election of every private man, which remaineth steadfast forever, but of the election of the whole nation.

11:23 ¹ Many are now for a season cut off, that is, are without the root, which in their time shall be grafted in: and again there are a great sort, which after a sort, and touching the outward show, seem to be ingrafted, which notwithstanding through their own fault afterward are cut off and clean cast away: which thing is especially to be considered in nations and peoples, as in the Gentiles and Jews.

11:24 ¹ Understand nature, not as it was first made, but as it was corrupted in Adam, and so derived from him to his posterity.

² Into the people of the Jews which God had sanctified of his mere grace: and he speaketh of the whole nation, not of every one part.

11:25 ¹ The blindness of the Jews is neither so universal that the Lord hath no elect in that nation, neither shall it be continual: for there shall be a time wherein they also (as the Prophets have forewarned) shall effectually embrace that which they do now so stubbornly for the most part reject and refuse.

² That ye be not proud within yourselves.

³ Into the Church.

11:28 ¹ Again, that he may join the Jews and Gentiles together as it were in one body, and especially may teach what duty the Gentiles owe to the Jews, he beateth this into their heads, that the nation of the Jews is not utterly cast off without hope of recovery.

² Forasmuch as they received it not.

³ In that, that God respecteth not what they deserve, but what he promised to Abraham.

are beloved for the fathers' sakes.

29 ¹For the gifts and calling of God are without repentance.

30 ¹For even as ye in times past have not believed God, yet have now obtained mercy through their unbelief:

31 Even so now have they not believed by the mercy showed unto you, that they also may obtain mercy.

32 For God hath shut up ¹all in unbelief, that he might have mercy on all.

33 ¹O the deepness of the riches, both of the wisdom, and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his ²judgments, and his ³ways past finding out!

34 ^{b1}For who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who was his counselor?

35 Or who hath given unto him ¹first, and he shall be recompensed?

36 For of him, and through him, and for ¹him are all things: to him be glory forever. Amen.

Eph. 4:7

12 ¹ He exhorteth ² to that worship which is acceptable to God, ⁹ to love unfained, ¹⁴, ²⁰ even towards our enemies.

1 I Beseech ¹you therefore brethren, ²by the mercies of God, that ye ³give up your ⁴bodies a ⁵living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your ⁶reasonable serving of God.

2 ¹And fashion not yourselves like unto this world, but be ye changed by the renewing of your ²mind, that ye may ^aprove what that good, and acceptable and perfect will of God is.

3 ¹For I ²say through the grace that is given unto me, to everyone that is among you, that no man ³presume to understand above that which is meet to understand, but that he understand according to ⁴sobriety, as God hath dealt to every man the ^bmeasure of ⁵faith.

4 ¹For as we have many members in one body, and all members have not one office,

5 So we being many, are one body in Christ, and every one, one anothers members.

11:29 ¹ The reason or proof: because the covenant made with that nation of life everlasting, cannot be frustrate and vain.

11:30 ¹ Another reason, because that although that they which are hardened, are worthily punished, yet hath not this stubbornness of the Jews so come to pass properly for an hatred to that nation, but that an entry might as it were be opened to bring in the Gentiles, and afterward the Jews being inflamed with emulation of this mercy which is showed to the Gentiles, might themselves also be partakers of the same benefit, and so it might appear that both Jews and Gentiles are saved, only by the free mercy and grace of God, which could not have been so manifest, if at the beginning, God had brought all together into the Church, or if he had saved the nation of the Jews without this interruption.

11:32 ¹ Both Jews and Gentiles.

11:33 ¹ The Apostle crieth not as astonished with this wonderful wisdom of God, which he teacheth us, ought to be religiously revered, and not curiously and profanely to be searched beyond the compass of that that God hath revealed unto us.

² The course that he holdeth in governing all things both generally and particularly.

³ The order of his counsels and doings.

11:34 ¹ He bridlETH three manner of ways, the wicked boldness of man: First, because that God is above all, most wise, and therefore it is very absurd, and plainly godless to measure him by our folly. Moreover, because he is debtor to no man, and therefore no man can complain of injury done unto him. Thirdly, because all things are made for his glory, and therefore we must refer all things to his glory, much less may we contend and debate the matter with him.

11:35 ¹ This saying overthroweth the doctrine of foreseen works and merits.

11:36 ¹ To wit, for God, to whose glory all things are referred, not only things that were made, but especially his new works which he worketh in his elect.

12:1 ¹ The fourth part of this Epistle, which after the finishing of the chief points of Christian doctrine, consisteth in declaring of precepts of Christian life. And first of all he giveth general precepts and grounds: the chiefeſt whereof is this that every man consecrate himself wholly to the spiritual service of God, and do as it were sacrifice himself, trusting to the grace of God.

² By this preface he sheweth that God's glory is the utmost end of all our doings.

³ In times past the sacrifices were presented before the altar, but now the altar is everywhere.

⁴ Yourselves: in times past, other bodies than our own, now our own must be offered.

⁵ In times past, dead sacrifices were offered, but now we must offer such as have the spirit of life in them.

⁶ Spiritual.

12:2 ¹ The second precept is this, That we take not other men's opinions or manners for a rule of life, but that we wholly renouncing this world, set before us as our mark, the will of God, as it is manifested and opened unto us in his word.

² Why then there is no place left for reason, which the heathen Philosophers place as a Queen in a Castle, nor for man's free will, which the Popish Schoolmen dream on, if the mind must be renewed. See Eph. 1:18 and 2:5 and 4:17 and Col. 1:21.

12:3 ¹ Thirdly he admonisheth us very earnestly, that every man keep himself within the bounds of his vocation, and that every man be wise according to the measure of grace that God hath given him.

² I charge.

³ That he please not himself too much, as they do, which persuade themselves they know more than indeed they do.

⁴ We will be sober if we take not that upon us, which we have not, and if we brag not of that we have.

⁵ By faith he meaneth the knowledge of God in Christ, and the gifts which the holy Ghost poureth upon the faithful.

12:4 ¹ There is a double reason of the precept going afore: the one is because God hath not committed everything to be done of every man: and therefore, he doeth backwardly, and not only unprofitably, but also to the great disprofit of others, wearieſt himself and others, which passeth the bounds of his vocation: the other is, for that this diversity and inequality of vocations and gifts, redoundeth to our commodity seeing that the same is therefore instituted and appointed, that we should be bound one to another. Whereupon it followeth that no man ought to be grieved thereat, seeing that the use of every private gift is common.

6 ^c“Seeing then that we have gifts that are divers, according to the grace that is given unto us, whether we have prophecy, let us prophesy according to the ²portion of faith.

7 Or an office, let us wait on the office: or he that ¹teacheth, on teaching:

8 Or he that ¹exhorteth, on exhortation: he that ²distributeth, let him do it ⁴with simplicity: he that ³ruleth, with diligence: he that ⁴showeth mercy, with cheerfulness.

9 ¹Let love be without dissimulation. ⁴Abhor that which is evil, and cleave unto that which is good.

10 ²Be affectioned to love one another with brotherly love. In giving honor, go one before another.

11 Not slothful to do service, fervent in spirit ¹serving the Lord, 12 ¹Rejoicing in hope, patient in tribulation, ⁸continuing in prayer.

13 ^{b,1}Distributing unto the ²necessities of the Saints: ¹giving yourselves to hospitality.

14 ²Bless them which persecute you: bless, I say, and curse not.

15 Rejoice with them that rejoice, and weep with them that weep.

the ¹lower sort: be not ²wise in yourselves.

17 ¹Recompense to no man evil for evil: procure things honest in the sight of all men.

18 ^mIf it be possible, as much as in you is, have peace with all men.

19 Dearly beloved, “avenge not yourselves, but give place unto wrath: for it is written, ^oVengeance is mine: I will repay, saith the Lord.

20 ^pTherefore if thine enemy hunger, feed him: if he thirst, give him drink: for in so doing thou shalt heap ¹coals of fire on his head.

21 Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with goodness.

13 ¹ He willeth that we submit ourselves to Magistrates: ⁸ To love our neighbor: ¹³ To love uprightly, ¹⁴ and to put on Christ.

1 Let ^{a,1}every ²soul be subject unto the higher ³powers: ⁴for there is no power but of God: and the powers that be, are ⁵ordained of God.

2 Whosoever therefore resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinance of God: and they that resist, shall receive to themselves condemnation.

3 ¹For Magistrates are not to be feared for good works, but for evil. ²Wilt thou then be without fear

12:6 ¹ That which he spake before in general, he applieth particularly to the holy functions, wherein men offend with greater danger. And he divideth them into two sorts, to wit, into Prophets, and Deacons, and again he divideth the Prophets into doctors, and Pastors. And of Deacons he maketh three sorts: to wit, the one to be such as are (as it were) treasurers of the Church coffers, whom he calleth properly Deacons: the other to be the governors of discipline, who are called Seniors or Elders: the third to be such as properly served in the help of the poor, of which sort the company of widows were.

² That every man observe the measure of that which is revealed unto him.

12:7 ¹ Whose office only is to expound the Scriptures.

12:8 ¹ Who in other places is called the Pastor.

² To wit, the alms, that he distribute them faithfully, and without respect of person.

³ The Elders of the Church.

⁴ They that are busied about tending on the poor, must do it with cheerfulness, lest they add sorrow to sorrow.

12:9 ¹ Now he cometh to the duties of the second Table, which he deriveth from charity, which is as it were the fountain of them all. And he defineth Christian charity by sincerity, hatred of evil, earnest study of good things, good affection to help our neighbor, and whose final end is, the glory of God.

12:11 ¹ This piece is well put in, for it maketh difference between Christian duties, and Philosophical duties.

12:12 ¹ He reckoneth up divers other virtues together with their effects, to wit, hope, patience in tribulation, equanimity, continuance in prayer, liberality towards the saints, hospitality, moderation of mind, even in helping our enemies, a selfsame feeling with others as well in adversity as prosperity, modesty, endeavor to maintain honest concord so nigh as we may with all men, which cannot be extinguished by any man's injuries.

12:13 ¹ A true rule of charity, when we are no less touched with other men's wants, than with our own, and having that feeling, help them as much as we can.

² Not upon pleasure, and needless duties, but upon necessary uses.

12:16 ¹ There is nothing that doth so much break concord as ambition, when as every man loatheth a base estate, and seeketh ambitiously to be aloft.

² Be not puffed up, with opinion of your own wisdom.

12:20 ¹ After this sort doth Solomon point out the wrath of God which hangeth over a man.

13:1 ¹ Now he showeth severally, what subjects owe to their Magistrates, to wit, obedience: From which he sheweth that no man is free: and in such sort that it is not only due to the highest Magistrate himself, but also even to the basest, which hath any office under him.

² Yea, though an Apostle, though an Evangelist, though a Prophet: Chrysostom. Therefore the tyranny of the Pope over all kingdoms must down to the ground.

³ A reason taken of the nature of the thing itself: For to what purpose are they placed in higher degree, but that the inferior should be subject unto them?

⁴ Another argument of great force: Because God is author of this order: so that such as are rebels ought to know, that they make war with God himself: wherefore they cannot but purchase to themselves great misery and calamity.

⁵ Be distributed: for some are greater, some smaller.

13:3 ¹ The third argument taken from the end wherefore they were made, which is most profitable: for that God by this means preserveth the good and bridleth the wicked: by which words the Magistrates themselves are put in mind of that duty which they owe to their subjects.

² An excellent way to bear this yoke, not only without grief, but also with great profit.

of the power? do well: so shalt thou have praise of the same.

4 For he is the minister of God for thy wealth: ¹but if thou do evil, fear: for he beareth not the sword for nought: for he is the minister of God to ²take vengeance on him that doeth evil.

5 ¹Wherefore ye must be subject, not because of wrath only, but ²also for conscience sake.

6 ¹For, for this cause ye pay also tribute: for they are God's ministers, applying themselves for the same thing.

7 ⁶Give to all men therefore their duty: tribute, to whom ye owe tribute: custom, to whom custom: fear, to whom ¹fear: honor, to whom ye owe ²honor.

8 ¹Owe nothing to any man, but to love one another: ²for he that loveth another, hath fulfilled the ³Law.

9 For this, ^cThou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not bear false witness, Thou shalt not covet: and if there be any other commandment, it is ¹briefly comprehended in this saying, even in this, ^dThou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.

10 Love doeth not evil to his neighbor: therefore is love the ^efulfilling of the Law.

11 ¹And that, considering the season, that it is now time that we should arise from sleep: for now is our salvation nearer, than when we believed it.

12 The night is past, and the day is ¹at hand, let us therefore cast away the works ²of darkness, and let us put on the armor of light,

13 So that we walk honestly, as in the day: not in ^fgluttony, and drunkenness, neither in chambering and wantonness, nor in strife and envying.

14 ^gBut ¹put ye on the Lord JESUS CHRIST, and take no thought for the flesh, to fulfill the lust of it.

14 ¹ He willeth that we so deal with the weak in faith, 2, 5 that through our fault they be not offended. 10 And on the other side he commandeth them not rashly to judge of the stronger: 19 That within the bounds of edification 20 and charity. 22 Christian liberty may conflict.

1 Him ¹that is weak in the faith, ²receive unto you, but not for ³controversies of disputations.

2 ¹One ²believeth that he may eat of all things: and another, which is weak, eateth herbs.

3 ¹Let not him that eateth, despise him that eateth not: and let not him which eateth not, condemn him that eateth: for ²God hath received him.

4 ^{a,1}Who art thou that condemnest another man's servant? he standeth or falleth to his own master:

13:4 ¹ God hath armed the Magistrate even with a revenging sword.

² By whom God avengeth the wicked.

13:5 ¹ The conclusion: We must obey the magistrate, not only for fear of punishment, but much more because that (although the Magistrate have no power over the conscience of man, yet seeing he is God's minister) he cannot be resisteth by any good conscience.

² So far as lawfully we may: for if unlawful things be commanded us, we must answer as Peter teacheth us, It is better to obey God than men.

13:6 ¹ He reckoneth up the chiefest things wherein consisteth the obedience of subjects.

13:7 ¹ Obedience, and that from the heart.

² Reverence, (which as reason is) we must give to the Magistrate.

13:8 ¹ He sheweth how very few judgments need to be executed, to wit, if we so order our life, as no man may justly require anything of us, besides that only that we owe one to another, by the perpetual law of charity.

² He commendeth charity, as an abridgement of the whole Law.

³ He hath not only done one commandment, but performed generally that which the Law commandeth.

13:9 ¹ For the whole Law commandeth nothing else, but that we love God and our neighbor. But seeing Paul speaketh here of the duties we owe one to another, we must restrain this word, Law to the second Table.

13:11 ¹ An application taken of the circumstance of the time: which also itself putteth us in mind of our duty, seeing that this remaineth after that the darkness of ignorance and wicked affections by the knowledge of God's truth be driven out of us, that we order our life according to that certain and sure rule of all righteousness and honesty, being fully grounded upon the virtue of the Spirit of Christ.

13:12 ¹ In other places we are said to be in the light, but yet so, that it appeareth not as yet what we are, for as yet we see but as it were in the twilight.

² That kind of life, which they lead, that flee the light.

13:14 ¹ To put on Christ, is to possess Christ, to have him in us, and us in him.

14:1 ¹ Now he sheweth how we ought to behave ourselves toward our brethren in matters and things indifferent, offending in the use of them, not of malices or damnable superstition, but for lack of knowledge of the benefit of Christ. And thus he teacheth that they are to be instructed gently and patiently, and so that we apply ourselves to their ignorance in such matters according to the rule of charity.

² Do not for a matter or thing that is indifferent, and such as you may do or not do, shun his company, but take him to you.

³ To make him by your doubtful and uncertain disputations go away more in doubt than he came, or start back with a troubled conscience.

14:2 ¹ He propoundeth for an example, the difference of meats, which some thought was necessarily to be observed as a thing prescribed by the Law (not knowing that it was taken away) whereas on the contrary side, such as had profited in the knowledge of the Gospel, knew well that this schoolmastership of the Law was abolished.

² Knows by faith.

14:3 ¹ In such a matter, saith the Apostle, Let neither them which know their liberty, proudly despise their weaker brother, neither let the unlearned crabbedly or frowardly condemn that, that they understand not.

² The first reason: Because that seeing both he that eateth and he that eateth not, is notwithstanding the member of Christ, neither he which eateth not, can justly be condemned, neither he which eateth be justly condemned: Now the first proposition is declared in the sixth verse following.

14:4 ¹ Another reason which hangeth upon the former: why the ruder and more unlearned ought not to be contemned of the more skillful, as men without hope of salvation: Because, saith the Apostle, he that is ignorant today, may be ended tomorrow with further knowledge, so that he also may stand sure: Therefore it belongeth to God, and not unto man, to pronounce the sentence of condemnation.

yea, he shall be established: for God is able to make him stand.

5 ¹This man esteemeth one day above another day, and another man counteth every day alike: ²let ³every man be fully persuaded in his mind.

6 ¹He that ²observeth the day, observeth it to the Lord: and he that observeth not the day, observeth it not to the ³Lord. He that ⁴eateth, eateth to the Lord: ⁵for he giveth God thanks: and he that eateth ⁶not, eateth not to the Lord, and giveth God thanks.

7 ¹For none of us liveth to ²himself, neither doth any die to himself.

8 For whether we live, we live unto the Lord: or whether we die, we die unto the Lord: whether we live therefore, or die, we are the Lords.

9 For Christ therefore died and rose again, and revived, that he might be Lord both of the dead and the quick.

10 ¹But why dost thou condemn thy brother? or

^b 2 Cor. 1:10

^c Isa. 45:23
Phil. 2:10

^d 1 Cor. 8:11

why dost thou despise thy brother? ^bfor we shall all appear before the judgment seat of Christ.

11 For it is written, ¹I live, saith the Lord, and every knee shall bow to me, and all tongues shall ²confess unto God.

12 So then everyone of us shall give accounts of himself to God.

13 ¹Let us not therefore judge one another anymore: but use your judgment rather in ²this that no man put an occasion to fall, or a stumbling block before his brother.

14 ¹I know, and am persuaded through the ²Lord Jesus, that there is nothing unclean of ³itself: but unto him that judgeth anything to be unclean, to him it is unclean.

15 But if thy brother be grieved for the meat, now walkest thou not charitably: ^{d,1}destroy not him with thy meat, for whom ²Christ died.

14:5 ¹ Another example of the difference of days according to the law.

² He setteth against this contempt, and hasty or rash judgments, a continual desire to profit, that the strong may be certainly persuaded of their liberty, of what manner and sort it is, and how they ought to use it: and again the weak may daily profit, lest either they abuse the gift of God, or these please themselves in their infirmity.

³ That he may say in his conscience, that he knoweth and is persuaded by Jesus Christ, that nothing is unclean of itself, and this persuasion must be grounded upon the word of God.

14:6 ¹ A reason taken from the nature of indifferent things, which a man may with good conscience do and omit: for seeing that the difference of days and meats was appointed by God, how could they, which as yet understood not the abrogating of the Law, and yet otherwise acknowledged Christ as their Savior, with good conscience neglect that which they knew was commanded of God? And on the contrary side, they that knew the benefit of Christ in this behalf, did with good conscience neither observe days nor meats. Therefore saith the Apostle, verse 10, Let not the strong condemn the weak for these things, seeing that the weak brethren are brethren notwithstanding. Now if any man would draw this doctrine to these our times and ages, let them know that the Apostle speaketh of such things indifferent, as they which thought them not to be indifferent, had a ground in the Law, and were deceived by simple ignorance: and not of malice (for to such the Apostles yielded not, nor for a moment) nor superstition, but of a religious fear of God.

² Observeth precisely.

³ God shall judge whether he do well or no: And therefore you should rather strive about this, how every one of you will be allowed of God, than to think upon other men's doings.

⁴ He that maketh no difference of meats.

⁵ So the Apostle sheweth that he speaketh of the faithful, both strong and weak. But what if we have to do with infidels? Then must we here take heed of two things, as also is declared in the Epistle to the Corinthians. The one is, that we count not their superstitions among things indifferent, as they did which sat down to meat in Idols/Temples: the other is, that then also when the matter is indifferent (as to buy a thing offered to idols, in the butcher's shambles, and to eat it at home in a private banquet) we woud not the conscience of our weak brother.

⁶ He that toucheth not meats which he taketh to be unclean by the Law.

14:7 ¹ We must not stick, saith he, in the meat itself, but in the use of the meat, so that he is justly to be reprehended that liveth so, that he casteth not his eyes upon God. For both our life and our death is dedicated to him, and for this cause Christ hath properly died, and not simply, that we might eat this meat or that.

² Hath respect to himself only, which the Hebrews utter after this sort, Doeth well to his own soul.

14:10 ¹ The conclusion: we must leave to God his right: and therefore in matters, which according as the conscience if affected, are either good or evil, the strong must not despise their weak brethren, much less condemn them. But this consequent cannot be taken of equal force in the contrary, to wit, that the weak should not judge the strong, because the weak do not know, that they which do not observe a day, and eat, observe it not to the Lord, and eat to the Lord, as the strong men know, that the weak which observe a day and eat not, observe the day to the Lord, and eat not to the Lord.

14:11 ¹ This is a form of an oath, proper to God only, for he and none but he liveth, and hath his being of himself.

² Shall acknowledge me from God.

14:13 ¹ After that he hath concluded what is not to be done, he sheweth what is to be done: to wit, we must take heed that we do not utterly cast down with abusing our liberty, our brother who is not yet strong.

² He rebuketh by this way, these malicious judgers of others, which occupy their heads about nothing, but to find fault with their brethren's life, whereas they should rather bestow their wits upon this, that they do not with their disdainfulness either cast their brethren clean down, or give them some offense.

14:14 ¹ The preventing of an objection: It is true that the schoolmastership of the Law is taken away by the benefit of Christ, to such as know it, but yet notwithstanding we have to consider in the use of this liberty what is expedient, that we may have regard of our weak brother, seeing that our liberty is not lost thereby.

² By the Spirit of the Lord Jesus, or by the Lord Jesus, who I am sure brake down the wall at his coming.

³ By nature.

14:15 ¹ It is the part of a cruel mind to make more account of meat, than of our brother's salvation. Which thing they do, that presume to eat with offense of any brother, and so give him occasion to go back from the Gospel.

² Another argument: We must follow Christ's example: who was so far from destroying the weak with meat, that he gave his life for them.

16 ¹Cause not your commodity to be evil spoken of.
 17 ¹For the kingdom of God, is not meat nor drink, but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the holy Ghost.

18 For whosoever in ¹these things serveth Christ, is acceptable unto God, and is approved of men.

19 ¹Let us then follow those things which concern peace, and wherewith one may edify another.

20 Destroy not the work of God for meat's sake: ¹all things indeed are pure: but it is evil for the man which eateth with offense.

21 ¹*It is good neither to eat flesh, nor to drink wine, nor anything whereby thy brother stumbleth, or is offended, or made weak.*

22 ¹Hast thou ²faith? have it with thyself before God: blessed is he that condemneth not himself in that thing which he ³alloweth.

23 For he that ¹doubteth, is condemned if he eat, because he eateth not of faith: and whatsoever is not of faith, is sin.

15 ¹*The stronger must employ their strength to strengthen the weak. 5 By Christ's example, 7 who received 8 not only the Jews, 10 but also the Gentiles. 15 The cause why he wrote this Epistle.*

1 We ¹which are strong, ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to ²please ourselves.

2 Therefore let every man please his neighbor in that that is ¹good to edification.

3 ¹For Christ also would not please himself, but as it is written, ⁴*The rebukes of them which rebuke thee, fell on me.*

4 ¹For whatsoever things are written ²aforetime, are written for our learning, that we through patience, and comfort of the ³Scriptures might have hope.

5 ¹Now the God of patience and consolation give you that ye be ²like-minded one towards another, according to Christ Jesus,

6 That ye with one mind, and with one mouth may praise God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.

7 Wherefore receive ye one another, as Christ also ¹received us to the glory of God.

8 ¹Now I say, that Jesus Christ was a minister of the ²circumcision, for the ³truth of God, to confirm the promises made unto the fathers.

9 ¹And let the Gentiles praise God, for his mercy, as it is written, ²*For this cause I will confess thee among the Gentiles, and sing unto thy Name.*

10 And again he saith, ⁴*Rejoice, ye Gentiles with his people.*

11 And again, ¹*Praise the Lord, all ye Gentiles, and laud ye him all people together.*

12 And again Isaiah saith, ²*There shall be a root of Jesse, and he that shall rise to reign over the Gentiles, in him shall the Gentiles trust.*

13 ¹Now the God of ²hope fill you with ³all joy,

14:16 ¹ Another argument: for that by this means the liberty of the Gospel is evil spoken of, as though it openeth the way to attempt any thing whatsoever, and boldeneth us to all things.

14:17 ¹ A general reason, and the ground of all the other arguments: The kingdom of heaven consisteth not in these outward things, but in the study of righteousness, and peace, and comfort of the holy Ghost.

14:18 ¹ He that liveth peaceably, and doeth righteously, through the holy Ghost.

14:19 ¹ A general conclusion: The use of this liberty, yea and our whole life, ought to be referred to the edifying of one another, inso-much that we esteem that thing unlawful by reason of the offense of our brother, which is of itself pure and lawful.

14:22 ¹ He giveth a double warning in these matters, one, which pertaineth to the strong, that he which hath obtained a sure knowledge of this liberty, keep that treasure to the end he may use it wisely and profitably as hath been said: the other which respecteth the weak, that they do nothing rashly by other men's example with a wavering conscience, for that cannot be done without sin, whereof we are not persuaded by the word of God, that he liketh, and approveth it.

² He showed before verse 14 what he meaneth by faith, to wit, for a man to be certain and out of doubt in matters and things indifferent.

14:23 ¹ Reasoneth with himself.

15:1 ¹ Now the Apostle reasoneth generally of tolerating or bearing with the weak by all means, so far forth as may be for their profit.

² And despise others.

15:2 ¹ For his profit and edification.

15:3 ¹ A confirmation taken of the example of Christ, who suffered all things to bring not only the weak, but also his most cruel enemies, overcoming them with patience, to his Father.

15:4 ¹ The preventing of an objection: Such things as are cited out of the examples of the ancients, are propounded unto us to this end and purpose, that according to the example of our Fathers, we should in patience and hope bear one with another.

² By Moses and the Prophets.

³ The Scriptures are said to teach and comfort, because God useth them to teach and comfort his people withall.

15:5 ¹ We must take an example of patience, of God that both the weak and the strong serving God with a mutual consent, may bring one another to God, as Christ also received us unto himself, although we were never so unworthy.

15:7 ¹ He did not disdain us, but received us of his own accord, to make us partakers of God's glory.

15:8 ¹ An applying of the example of Christ to the Jews, whom he vouchsafed this honor for the promises which he made unto their fathers, although they were never so unworthy, that he executed the office of a minister amongst them with marvelous patience. Therefore much less ought the Gentiles despise them for certain faults, whom the Son of God so much esteemed.

² Of the circumcised Jews, for as long as he lived, he never went out of their quarters.

³ That God might be seen to be true.

15:9 ¹ An applying of the same to the Gentiles, whom also the Lord of his incomprehensible goodness had regard of, so that they are not to be condemned of the Jews as strangers.

² I will openly profess, and set forth thy Name.

15:13 ¹ He sealeth up as it were all the former treatise with prayers, wishing all that to be given them of the Lord, that he had commanded them.

² In whom we hope.

³ Abundantly and plentifully.

and peace in believing, that ye may abound in hope, through the power of the holy Ghost.

14 ¹And I myself also am persuaded of you, my brethren, that ²ye also are full of goodness, and filled with all knowledge, and are able to admonish one another.

15 Nevertheless, brethren, I have somewhat boldly after a sort written unto you, as one that putteth you in remembrance, through the grace that is given me of God,

16 That I should be the minister of Jesus Christ toward the Gentiles, ministering the Gospel of God, that the ¹offering up of the Gentiles might be acceptable, being sanctified by the holy Ghost.

17 ¹I have therefore whereof I may rejoice in Christ Jesus in those things which pertain to God.

18 For I dare not speak of anything, which ¹Christ hath not wrought by me, to make the Gentiles obedient in word and deed,

19 With the ¹power of signs and wonders, by the power of the spirit of God: so that from Jerusalem, and round about unto Illyricum, I have caused to abound the Gospel of Christ.

20 Yea, so I enforced myself to preach the Gospel, not where Christ was named, lest I should have built on another man's foundation.

21 But as it is written,^g To whom he was not spoken of, they shall see him, and they that heard not, shall understand him.

22 ^{h,1}Therefore also I have been oft let to come unto you:

25 But now go I to Jerusalem, to ¹minister unto the Saints.

26 For it hath pleased them of Macedonia and Achaia, to make a certain distribution unto the poor Saints which are at Jerusalem.

27 ¹For it hath pleased them, and their debtors are they: ²for if the Gentiles be made partakers of their spiritual things, their duty is also to ²minister unto them in carnal things.

28 When I have therefore performed this, and have ¹sealed them this ²fruit, I will pass by you into Spain.

29 ¹And I know when I come, that I shall come to you with abundance of the blessing of the Gospel of Christ.

30 Also brethren, I beseech you for our Lord Jesus Christ's sake, and for the ¹love of the spirit, that ye would strive with me by prayers to God for me,

31 That I may be delivered from them which are disobedient in Judea, and that my service which I have to do at Jerusalem, may be accepted of the Saints,

32 That I may come unto you with joy by the will of God, and may with you be refreshed.

33 Thus the God of peace be with you all. Amen.

16 ¹ He commendeth Phoebe. ³ He sendeth greeting to many. ¹⁷ And warneth to beware of them which are the causes of division.

1 ¹Commend unto you Phoebe our sister, which is a servant of the Church of Cenchrea:

2 That ye receive her in the ¹Lord, as it becometh

15:14 ¹ The conclusion of the Epistle, wherein he first excuseth himself, that he hath written somewhat at large unto them, rather to warn them, than to teach them, and that of necessity, by reason of his vocation, which bindeth him peculiarly to the Gentiles.

² Of your own accord, and of yourselves.

15:16 ¹ By the offering up of the Gentiles, he meaneth the Gentiles themselves, whom he offered to God as a sacrifice.

15:17 ¹ He commendeth his Apostleship highly by the effects, but yet so that moreover and besides that he speaketh all things truly, he giveth all the glory to God as the only author: and doth not properly respect himself, but this rather: that men might less doubt of the truth of the doctrine which he propoundeth unto them.

15:18 ¹ Christ was so with me in all things, and by all means, that if I would never so fain, yet I cannot say, what he hath done by me to bring the Gentiles to obey the Gospel.

15:19 ¹ In the first place this word, Power, signifieth the force, and working of the wonders in piercing men's minds: and in the latter, it signifieth God's mighty power which was the worker of those wonders.

15:22 ¹ He writeth at large to the Romans, and that familiarly, his singular good will towards them, and the state of his affairs, but so, that he swerveth not an iota from the end of Apostolical doctrine: for he declareth nothing but that which appertaineth to his office, and is godly: and commending by a little digression as it were, the liberality of the Churches of Macedonia, he provoketh them modestly to follow their godly deed.

15:25 ¹ Doing, his duty for the Saints, to carry them that money which was gathered for their use.

15:27 ¹ Alms are voluntary, but yet such as we owe by the law of charity.

² To serve the turns.

15:28 ¹ Performed it faithfully, and sealed it as it were with my ring.

² This money which was gathered for the use of the poor: which alms is very fitly called fruit.

15:29 ¹ He promiseth them through the blessing of God, not to come empty unto them: and requiring of them the duty of prayers, he sheweth what thing we ought chiefly to rest upon in all difficulties and adversities.

15:30 ¹ For that mutual communion, wherewith the holy Ghost hath tied our hearts and minds together.

16:1 ¹ Having made an end of the whole disputation, he cometh now to familiar commendations and salutations, and that to good consideration and purpose, to wit, that the Romans might know, who are most to be honored and made account of amongst them, and also whom they ought to set before them to follow: and therefore he attributeth unto every of them peculiar and singular testimonies.

16:2 ¹ For Christ's sake, which is proper to the Christians, for the heathen Philosophers have resemblances of the same virtues.

Saints, and that ye assist her in whatsoever business she needeth of your aid: for she hath given hospitality unto many, and to me also.

Written to the Romans from Corinth, and sent by Phoebe, servant of the Church which is at Cenchrea.

16:5 ¹ The company of the faithful, for in so great a city as that was, there were divers companies.

² For he was the first of Achaia that believed in Christ: and this kind of speech is an allusion to the ceremonies of the Law.

16:7 ¹ Ingrafted by faith.

16:16 ¹ He calleth that an holy kiss, which proceedeth from an heart that is full of that holy love: now this is to be referred to the manner used in those days.

16:17 ¹ As by namely describing them, which were worthy of commendation, he sufficiently declared when they ought to hear and follow, so doth he now point out unto them whom they ought to take heed of, yet he nameth them not, for that it was not needful.

² Warily and diligently, as though you should scout out for your enemies in a watch tower.

16:18 ¹ The word which he useth, signifieth a promising which performeth nothing, and if thou hearest any such, thou mayest assure thyself that he that promiseth thee is more careful of thy matters, than of his own.

16:19 ¹ Simplicity must be joined with wisdom.

² Furnished with the knowledge of the truth, and wisdom, that you may embrace good things, and eschew evil, beware of the deceits and snares of false prophets, and resist them openly: and this place doth plainly destroy the Papists' faith of credit, whereas they maintain it to be sufficient for one man to believe as another man believeth, without further knowledge, or examination what the matter is, or what ground it hath: using these daily speeches, We believe as our fathers believed, and we believe as the Church believeth.

³ As men that know no way to deceive, much less to deceive in deed.

16:20 ¹ We must fight, with a certain hope of victory.

16:21 ¹ He annexeth salutations, partly to renew mutual friendship, and partly to the end that this Epistle might be of some weight with the Romans, having the confirmation of so many that subscribed unto it.

16:22 ¹ Wrote it as Paul uttered it.

16:24 ¹ Now taking his leave of them this third time, he wisheth that unto them, whereupon dependeth all the force of the former doctrine.

16:25 ¹ He setteth forth the power and wisdom of God with great thanksgiving, which especially appears in the Gospel, and maketh mention also of the calling of the Gentiles to confirm the Romans in the hope of this salvation.

² That secret and hidden thing, that is to say, the calling of the Gentiles.

16:26 ¹ Offered and exhibited to all nations to be known.

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF PAUL TO THE CORINTHIANS

1 After the salutation, 10 which in effect is an exhortation. 12 He reprehendeth the Corinthians' sects and divisions, 17 and calleth them from pride to humility: 20 For overthrowing all worldly wisdom. 23, 25 he advanceth only the preaching of the cross.

1 Paul ¹called to be an ²Apostle of Jesus Christ, through the will of God, and our brother ³Sosthenes,

2 ¹Unto the Church of God, which is at Corinth, to them that are ^{a,2}sanctified in ³Christ Jesus, ⁴Saints by ⁴calling, with all that ⁵call on the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ in every place, both their Lord, and ours:

3 ¹Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

4 ¹I thank my God always on your behalf for the grace of God, which is given you in Jesus Christ.

8 ¹Who shall also confirm you unto the end, that ye may be ²blameless in the day of our Lord Jesus Christ.

9 ¹God is ¹faithful, by whom ye are called unto the fellowship of his son Jesus Christ our Lord.

10 ¹Now I beseech you, brethren, by the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ²ye all speak one thing, and that there be no dissensions among you: but be ye ³knit together in one mind, and in one judgment.

11 ¹For it hath been declared unto me, my brethren, of you by them that are of the house of Chloe, that

1:1 ¹ The inscription of the Epistle, wherein he chiefly goeth about to procure the good will of the Corinthians towards him, yet notwithstanding so, that always he letteth them to wit, that he is the servant of God, and not of men.

² If he be an Apostle, then he must be heard, although he sometimes reprehend them sharply, seeing he hath not his own cause in hand, but is a messenger that bringeth the commandments of Christ.

³ He joineth Sosthenes with himself, that this doctrine might be confirmed by two witnesses.

1:2 ¹ It is a Church of God, although it hath great faults in it, so that it obey them which admonish it.

² A true definition of the Catholic Church, which is one.

³ The father sanctifieth us, that is to say, separateth us from the wicked, in giving us to his Son, that he may be in us, and we in him.

⁵ He is said properly to call on God, who crieth unto the Lord when he is in danger, and craveth help at his hands: and by the figure Synecdoche it is taken for all the service of God: and therefore to call upon Christ's Name, is to acknowledge and take him for very God.

1:3 ¹ The foundation and the life of the Church, is Christ Jesus given of the Father.

1:4 ¹ Going about to condemn many vices, he beginneth with a true commendation of their virtues, lest he might seem after to descend to chiding being moved with malice or envy: yet so, that he referreth all to God as the author of them, and that in Christ. That the Corinthians might be more ashamed to profane and abuse the holy gifts of God.

1:5 ¹ He toucheth that by name, which they most abused.

² Seeing that while we live here, we know but in part and prophesy in part, this word (All) must be refrained to the present state of the faithful: and by speech he meaneth not a vain kind of babbling, but the gift of holy eloquence, which the Corinthians abused.

1:6 ¹ He sheweth that the true use of these gifts consisteth herein that the mighty power of Christ might thereby be set forth in them, that hereafter it might evidently appear how wickedly they abused them to glory and ambition.

² By those excellent gifts of the holy Ghost.

1:7 ¹ He saith by the way, that there is no cause why they should please themselves so much in those gifts which they had received, seeing that those were nothing in comparison of them which are to be looked for.

² He speaketh of the last coming of Christ.

1:8 ¹ He testifieth that he hopeth well of them hereafter, that they may more patiently abide his reprehension afterward. And yet together therewithall sheweth, that as well the beginning as the accomplishing of our salvation is only the work of God.

² He calleth them blameless, not whom man never found fault with, but with whom no man can justly find fault, that is to say, them which are in Christ Jesus, in whom there is no condemnation. See Luke 1:6.

1:9 ¹ True and constant, who doth not only call us, but giveth us the gift of perseverance also.

1:10 ¹ Having made an end of the preface, he cometh to the matter itself, beginning with the most grave obtestation, as though they should hear Christ himself speaking and not Paul.

² The first part of this Epistle, wherein his purpose is to call back the Corinthians to brotherly concord, and to take away all occasion of discord. So then this first part concerneth the taking away of schisms. Now a schism is when men which otherwise agree and consent together in doctrine, do yet separate themselves one from another.

³ Knit together, as a body that consisteth of all his parts fitly knit together.

1:11 ¹ He beginneth his reprehension and chiding by taking away of there are contentions among you.

12 Now ¹this I say, that every one of you saith, I am Paul's, and I am ²Apollos's, and I am Cephas's and I am Christ's.

13 ¹Is Christ divided? was ²Paul crucified for you? either were ye ³baptized into the name of Paul?

14 ¹I thank God, that I baptized none of you, but ^bCrispus, and Gaius, 15 Lest any should say, that I had baptized into mine own name.

16 I baptized also the household of Stephanas: furthermore know I not, whether I baptized any other.

17 ¹For CHRIST sent me not to baptize, but to preach the Gospel, ²not with ⁱ³wisdom of words, lest the ⁴cross of Christ should be made of none effect.

18 For that ¹preaching of the cross is to them that perish, foolishness: but unto us, which are saved, it is the ^{j2}power of God.

19 ¹For it is written, ^kI will destroy the wisdom of the wise, and will cast away the understanding of the prudent.

20 Where is the wise? where is the ¹Scribe? where is the ²disputer of this world? hath not God made the wisdom of this world foolishness?

21 ¹For seeing the ²world by wisdom knew not God in the ³wisdom of GOD, ⁴it pleased God by the an objection: for that be understood by good witnesses, that there were many factions among them. And therewithall he openeth the cause of dissensions, because that some did hang on one doctor, some on another, and some were so addicted to themselves, that they neglected all doctors and teachers, calling themselves the disciples of Christ only, shutting forth their teachers.

1:12 ¹ The matter I would say to you, is this.

1:13 ¹ The first reason why schisms ought to be eschewed: because Christ formeth by that means, to be divided and torn in pieces, who cannot be the head of two divers and disagreeing bodies, being himself one.

² Another reason: Because they cannot without great injury to God so hang of men as of Christ: which thing no doubt they do, which allow whatsoever some man speaketh, even for his person's sake: as these men allowed one selfsame Gospel being uttered of one man, and did loathe it being uttered of another man. So that these factions were called by the names of their teachers. Now Paul setteth down his own name not only to grieve no man, but also to sheweth it he pleadeth not his own cause.

³ The third reason taken of the form and end of Baptism, wherein we make a promise to Christ, calling on also the Name of the Father and the holy Ghost. Therefore although a man does not fall from the doctrine of Christ, yet if he hang upon some certain teachers, and despise others, he forsaketh Christ: for if he hold Christ his only master, he would hear him, teaching by whomsoever.

1:14 ¹ He protesteth that he speaketh so much the more boldly of these things, because that through God's providence he is void of all suspicion of challenging disciples unto himself, and taking them from others. Whereby we may understand that not the scholars only, but the teachers also are here reprehended, which gathered themselves flocks apart.

1:17 ¹ The taking away of an objection: that he gave not himself to baptize many amongst them: not for the contempt of Baptism, but because he was chiefly occupied in delivering the doctrine, and committed them that received his doctrine to others to be baptized, whereof he had store. And so he declared sufficiently how far he was from all ambition: whereas on the other side they whom he reprehendeth, as though they gathered disciples unto themselves and not to Christ, bragged most ambitiously of numbers, which they had baptized.

² Now he turneth himself to the doctors themselves, which pleased themselves in brave and ambitious eloquence, to the end that they might draw more disciples after them. He confesseth plainly that he was unlike unto them, opposing gravely as it became an Apostle, his example against their perverse judgments: So that this is another place of this Epistle, touching the observing of a godly simplicity, both in words and sentences in teaching of the Gospel.

³ With eloquence: which Paul casteth off from him not only, as not necessary, but also as flat contrary to the office of his Apostleship: and yet had Paul his kind of eloquence, but it was heavenly, not of man, and void of painted words.

⁴ The reason why he used not the pomp of words and painted speech: because it was God's will to bring the world to his obedience by that way, whereby the most idiots amongst men might understand, that this work was done of God himself without the art of man. Therefore as salvation is set forth unto us in the Gospel by the cross of Christ, then which nothing is more contemptible, and more far from life, so God would have the manner of the preaching of the cross most different from those means, with which men do use to draw and entice others, either to hear or believe: therefore it pleased him by a certain kind of most wise folly, to triumph over the most foolish wisdom of the world, as he had said before by Isaiah: that he would. And hereby this we may gather, that both those doctors which were puffed up with ambitious eloquence, and also their hearers strayed far away from the end and mark of their vocation.

1:18 ¹ The preaching of Christ crucified, or the kinds of speech which we use.

² It is that wherein he declareth his marvelous power in saving his elect, which would not so evidently appear, if it hanged upon any help of man: for so man might attribute that to himself, which is proper only to the cross of Christ.

1:19 ¹ The Apostle proveth that this ought not only not to seem strange, seeing that it was foretold so long before, but declareth further, that God is wont to punish the pride of the world in such sort, which so pleaseth itself in its own wisdom: and therefore that that is vain, yea a thing of nothing, and such as God rejecteth as unprofitable, which they so carefully labored for, and made so great account of.

1:20 ¹ Where art thou, O thou learned fellow, and thou that spendest thy days in turning thy books?

² Thou that spendest all thy time in seeking out the secret things of this world, and in expounding all hard questions: and thus triumpheth he against all the men of this world, for there was not one of them that could so much as dream upon this secret and hidden mystery.

1:21 ¹ He sheweth that the pride of men was worthily punished of GOD, because they would not behold God, as meet was they should; in the most clear glass of the wisdom of the world, which is the workmanship of the world.

² By the world he meaneth all men which are not born anew, but remain as they were, when they were first born.

³ In the workmanship of this world, which hath the marvelous wisdom of God engraved in it, so that every man may behold it.

⁴ The goodness of God is wonderful, for while he goeth about to punish the pride of the world, he is very provident and careful, for the salvation of it, and teacheth men to become fools, that they may be wise to God.

⁵foolishness of preaching to save them that believe:

22 ¹Seeing also that the Jews require a sign, and the Grecians seek after wisdom.

23 But we preach Christ crucified: unto the Jews, even a stumbling block, and unto the Grecians, foolishness:

24 But unto them which are called, both of the Jews and Grecians, we preach Christ, the power of God, and the wisdom of God.

25 For the foolishness of God is wiser than men, and the weakness of God is stronger than men.

26 ¹For brethren, you see your ²calling, how that not many wise men ³after the flesh, not many mighty, not many noble are called.

27 But God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise, and God hath chosen the weak things of the world, to confound the mighty things,

28 And vile things of the world, and things which are despised, hath God chosen, and things which ¹are not, to bring to ²nought things that are.

31 That, according as it is written, ^m¹He that rejoiceth, let him rejoice in the Lord.

2 ¹He setteth down a platform of his preaching, ⁴which was base in respect of man's wisdom, ^{7, 13}but noble in respect of the spiritual power and efficacy. ¹⁴And so concludeth that flesh and blood cannot rightly judge thereof.

1 And ¹I, brethren, when I came to you, came not with ^eexcellency of words, or of wisdom, showing unto you the ²testimony of God.

3 ^bAnd I was among you in ¹weakness, and in fear, and in much trembling.

4 Neither ^{stood} my word, and my preaching in the ^eenticing speech of man's wisdom, ¹but in plain ²evidence of the Spirit and of power.

5 ¹That your faith should not be in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God.

6 ¹And we speak wisdom among them that are

1:22 ¹ A declaration of that which he said that the preaching of the Gospel, is foolish. It is foolish, saith he, to them whom God had not endued with new light, that is to say, to all men, being considered in themselves: for the Jews require miracles, and the Greeks arguments, which they may comprehend by their wit and wisdom: and therefore they do not only not believe the Gospel, but also they mock at it. Notwithstanding in this foolish preaching, there is the great virtue and wisdom of God, but such as those only which are called, do perceive. God showing most plainly, that even then when mad men think him most foolish, he is far wiser than they are: and that he surmounteth all their might and power, when he useth most vile and abject things, as it hath appeared in the fruit of the preaching of the Gospel.

1:26 ¹ A confirmation taken of those things which came to pass at Corinth, where the Church especially consisted of the basest and common people, insomuch that the philosophers of Greece were driven to shame, when they saw that they could do nothing with their wisdom and eloquence, in comparison of the Apostles, whom notwithstanding they called idiots and unlearned. And herewithall doth he beat down their pride, for God did not prefer them before those noble and wise men because they should be proud, but that they might be constrained even whether they would or not, to rejoice in the Lord, by whose mercy, although they were, the most abject of all, they had obtained in Christ, both this wisdom, and all things necessary to salvation.

² What way the Lord hath taken in calling you.

³ After that kind of wisdom which men make account of, as though there were none else: who because they are carnal, know not spiritual wisdom.

1:28 ¹ Which in man's judgment are almost nothing.

² To show that they are vain and unprofitable, and nothing worth, see Rom. 3:31.

1:29 ¹ Flesh is oft as we see, taken for the whole man: and he ruleth this word flesh, very fitly, to set the weak and miserable condition of man with the majesty of God, one against the other.

1:30 ¹ Whom he cast down before, now he lifteth up, yea, higher then all men: yet so, that he sheweth them all their worthiness without themselves, that is, standeth in Christ, and that of God.

² He teacheth that especially and above all things, the Gospel ought not to be contemned, seeing it containeth the chieft things that are to be desired, to wit, true wisdom, the true way to obtain righteousness, the true way to live honestly and godly, the true deliverance from all miseries and calamities.

1:31 ¹ Let him yield all to God and give him thanks: and so by this place is man's free will beaten down, which the Papist so dream of.

2:1 ¹ He returneth to 1 Cor. 1:17, that is to say, to his own example: confessing that he used not amongst them either excellency of words, or enticing speech of man's wisdom, but with great simplicity of speech, both knew and preached Jesus Christ crucified, humble and abject, as touching the flesh.

² The Gospel.

2:2 ¹ I purposed not to profess any other knowledge, but the knowledge of Christ and him crucified.

2:3 ¹ He setteth weakness, against excellency of words, and therefore joineth with it fear and trembling, which are the companions of true modesty, not such fear and trembling as terrify the conscience, but such as are contrary to vanity and pride.

2:4 ¹ He turneth that now to the commendation of his ministry, which he had granted to his adversaries: for his virtue and power which they knew well enough, was so much the more excellent, because it had no worldly help joined with it.

² By plain evidence he meaneth such a proof, as is made by certain and necessary reasons.

2:5 ¹ And he telleth the Corinthians, that he did it for their great profit, because they might thereby know manifestly, that the Gospel was from heaven. Therefore he privately rebuketh them, because that in seeking vain ostentation, they willingly deprived themselves of the greatest help of their faith.

2:6 ¹ Another argument taken of the nature of the thing, that is, of the Gospel, which is true wisdom, but known to them only which are desirous of perfection: and is unsavory to them which otherwise excel in the world, but yet vainly and frailly.

²perfect: not the wisdom of this world, neither of the ³princes of this world, which come to nought.

7 ¹But we speak the wisdom of God in a ²mystery, even the hid wisdom, ³which God had determined before the world, unto our glory.

8 ¹Which none of the princes of this world hath known: for had they known it, they would not have crucified the ²Lord of glory.

9 ¹But as it is written, ^dThe things which eye hath not seen, neither ear hath heard, neither came into ²man's heart, are, which God hath prepared for them that love him.

10 ¹But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the spirit ²searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God.

11 ¹For what man knoweth the things of a man, save

^dIsa. 64:4

^e1 Cor. 1:17
²Pet. 1:16

^fIsa. 40:13
Rom. 11:34

the ²spirit of a man, which is in him? even so the things of God knoweth no man, but the Spirit of God.

12 Now we have receiveth not the ¹spirit of the world, but the Spirit, which is of God, ²that we might ³know the things that are given to us of God.

13 ¹Which things also we speak, not in the ^cwords which man's wisdom teacheth, but which the holy Ghost teacheth, ²comparing spiritual things with spiritual things.

14 ¹But the ²natural man perceiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him, neither can he know them, because they are ³spiritually discerned.

15 ¹But he that is spiritual, ²discerneth all things: yet ³he himself is judged of ⁴no man.

16 ^{f1}For who hath known the mind of the Lord,

2:6 ²Those are called perfect here, not which had gotten perfection already, but such as tend to it, as Phil. 3:15, so that perfect, is set against weak.

³ They that are wiser, richer, or mightier than other men are.

2:7 ¹ He sheweth the cause why this wisdom cannot be perceived of those excellent worldly wites: to wit, because indeed it is so deep that they cannot attain unto it.

² Which men could not so much as dream of.

³ He taketh away an objection: if it be so hard, when and how is it known? God, saith he, determined with himself from the beginning, that which his purpose was to bring forth at this time out of his secrets for the salvation of men.

2:8 ¹ He taketh away another objection: why then, how cometh it to pass, that this wisdom was so rejected of men of highest authority, that they crucified Christ himself? Paul answereth: because they knew not Christ such as he was.

² That mighty God, full of true majesty and glory: Now this place hath in it a most evident proof of the divinity of Christ, and of his joining of the two natures in one, which hath this in it, that that which is proper to the manhood alone, is vouched of the Godhead joined with the manhood: which kind of speech is called of the old fathers, a making common of things belonging to someone, with other to whom they do not belong.

2:9 ¹ Another objection: But how could it be that those witty men could not perceive this wisdom? Paul answereth: Because we preach those things which pass all man's understanding.

² Man cannot so much as think of them, much less conceive them with his senses.

2:10 ¹ A question: if it surmount the capacity of men, how can it be understood of any man, or how can you declare and preach it? by a peculiar lightening by God's Spirit, wherewith whosoever is inspired, he can enter even to the very secrets of God.

² There is nothing so secret and hidden in God, but the Spirit of God peereth into it.

2:11 ¹ He setteth that forth by a similitude, which he spake of the inspiration of the Spirit. As the force of man's wit searcheth out things pertaining to man, so doth our mind by that power of the holy Ghost, understand heavenly things.

² The mind of man, which is endued with ableness to understand and judge.

2:12 ¹ The Spirit which we have received, doth not teach us things of this world, but lifteth us up to God, and this place teacheth us against the Papists, what faith is, from whence it cometh, and what force it is of.

² That which he spake generally, he restraineth now to those things which God hath opened unto us of our salvation in Christ: lest that any man should separate the Spirit from the preaching of the word and Christ: or should think that those fantastical men are governed by the Spirit of God, which wandering besides the word, thrust upon us their vain imaginations for the secrets of God.

³ This word (know) is taken here in his proper sense, for true knowledge, which the Spirit of God worketh in us.

2:13 ¹ Now he returneth to his purpose, and concludeth the argument which he began verse 6, and it is thus: the words must be applied to the matter, and the matter must be set forth with words which are meet and convenient for it: now this wisdom is spiritual and not of man, and therefore it must be delivered by a spiritual kind of teaching, and not by enticing words of man's eloquence, that the simple, and yet wonderful majesty of the holy Ghost may therein appear.

² Applying the words unto the matter, to wit, that as we teach spiritual things, so [must] our kind of teaching be spiritual.

2:14 ¹ Again he preventeth an offence or stumbling block: how cometh it to pass that so few allow these things? This is not to be marvelled at, sayeth the Apostle, seeing that men in their natural powers (as they termed them) are not endued with that faculty, whereby spiritual things are discerned (which faculty cometh another way) and therefore they accompt spiritual wisdom as folly: and it is as if he should say, It is no marvel that blind men cannot judge of colors, seeing that they lack the light of their eyes, and therefore light is to them as darkness.

² The man that hath no further light of understanding than that which he brought with him, even from his mother's womb, as Jude defineth it, Jude 19.

³ By the virtue of the holy Ghost.

2:15 ¹ He amplifieth the matter by contraries.

² Understandeth and discerneth.

³ The wisdom of the flesh, saith Paul, determined nothing certainly, no not in its own affairs, much less can it discern strange, that is, spiritual things. But the Spirit of God, wherewith spiritual men are endued, can be deceived by no means, and therefore be reprov'd of no man.

⁴ Of no man: for when the Prophets are judged of the Prophets, it is the Spirit that judges, and not the man.

2:16 ¹ A reason of the former saying: for he is called spiritual, which hath learned that by the virtue of the Spirit, which Christ hath taught us. Now if that which we have learned of that Master, could be reprov'd of any man, he must needs be wiser than God: whereupon it followeth, that they are not only foolish, but also wicked, which think that they can devise something that is either more perfect, or that they can teach the wisdom of God a better way than they knew or taught, which undoubtedly, were endued with God's Spirit.

that he might ²instruct him? But we have the ³mind of Christ.

3 ¹ He yieldeth a reason why he preached small matters unto them: ⁴ He sheweth how they ought to esteem of Ministers: ⁶ The minister's office. ¹⁰ A true form of edifying. ¹⁶ He warneth the Corinthians, that they be not drawn away to profane things, ¹⁸ through the proud wisdom of the flesh.

1 And ¹I could not speak unto you, brethren, as unto spiritual men, but as unto ²carnal, even as unto babes in Christ.

2 I gave you milk to drink, and not ¹meat: for ye were not yet ²able to bear it, neither yet now are ye able.

3 For ye are yet carnal: for whereas there is among you envying, and strife, and divisions, are ye not carnal, and walk as ¹men?

4 For when one saith, I am Paul's, and another, I am Apollos's, are ye not carnal?

CHAPTER 3

^a Ps. 62:12
Gal. 6:5

5 ¹Who is Paul then? and who is Apollos, but the ministers by whom ye believed, and as the Lord gave to every man?

6 ¹I have planted, Apollos watered, but God gave the increase.

7 So then, neither is he that planteth anything, neither he that watereth, but God that giveth the increase.

8 And he that planteth, and he that watereth, are one, ^aand every man shall receive his wages, according to his labor.

9 For we together are God's ¹laborers: ye are God's husbandry, and God's building.

10 According to the grace of God given to me, as a skillful master builder, I have laid the foundation, and another buildeth thereon: ¹but let every man take heed how he buildeth upon it.

11 ¹For other foundation can no man lay, than that which is laid, which is Jesus Christ.

12 ¹And if any man build on this foundation, gold, silver, precious stones, timber, hay, or stubble,

² Lay his head to his, and teach him what he should do.

³ We are endued with the Spirit of Christ, who openeth unto us those secrets, which by all other means are unsearchable, and also all truth whatsoever.

3:1 ¹ Having declared the worthiness of heavenly wisdom, and of the Gospel, and having generally condemned the blindness of man's mind, now at length he applyeth it particularly to the Corinthians, calling them carnal, that is, such in whom as yet the flesh prevaileth against the spirit. And he bringeth a double testimony of it: first, for that he had proved them to be such, insomuch that he dealt with them no otherwise than with ignorant men, and such as are almost babes in the doctrine of godliness; and secondly, because they showed indeed by these dissensions, which sprang up by reason of the ignorance of the virtue of the Spirit, and heavenly wisdom, that they had profited very little or nothing.

² He calleth them carnal, which are as yet ignorant, and therefore to express it the better, he termeth them babes.

3:2 ¹ Substantial meat, or strong meat.

² To be fed by me with substantial meat: therefore as the Corinthians grew up in age, so the Apostle nourished them by teaching first with milk, then with strong meat, which difference was only but in the manner of teaching.

3:3 ¹ By the square and compass of man's wit and judgment.

3:5 ¹ After that he hath sufficiently reprehended ambitious teachers, and their foolish esteemers, now he sheweth how the true ministers are to be esteemed, that we attribute not unto them, more or less than we ought to do. Therefore he teacheth us, that they are they by whom we are brought to faith and salvation, but yet as the ministers of God, and such as do nothing of themselves, but God so working by them as it pleaseth him to furnish them with his gifts. Therefore we have not to mark or consider what minister it is that speaketh, but what is spoken: and we must depend only upon him which speaketh by his servants.

3:6 ¹ He beautifieth the former sentence, with two similitudes: first comparing the company of the faithful, to a field which God maketh fruitful, when it is sowed and watered through the labor of his servants: next, by comparing it to a house, which indeed the Lord buildeth, but by the hands of his workmen, some of whom, he useth in laying the foundation, others in building of it up. Now, both these similitudes tend to this purpose, to show that all things are wholly accomplished by God's only authority and might, so that we must only have an eye to him. Moreover, although that God useth some in the better part of the work, we must not therefore condemn others, in respect of them, and much less may we divide, or set them apart, (as these factious men did) seeing that all of them labor in God's business, and in such sort, that they serve to finish one selfsame work, although by a divers manner of working, insomuch that they need one another's help.

3:9 ¹ Serving under him: Now they which serve under another, do nothing by their own strength, but as it is given them by grace, which grace maketh them fit to that service. See 1 Cor. 15:10; 2 Cor. 3:6, and all the increase that cometh by their labor, doth so proceed from God, that no part of the praise of it may be given to the under servant.

3:10 ¹ Now he speaketh to the teachers themselves, who succeeded him in the Church of Corinth, and in their person, to all that were after or shall be Pastors of Congregations, seeing that they succeed into the labor of the Apostles, which were planters and chief builders. Therefore he warneth them first, that they persuade not themselves that they may build after their own fantasy, that is, that they may propound and set forth anything in the Church, either in matter, or in kind of teaching, different from the Apostles which were the chief builders.

3:11 ¹ Moreover, he sheweth what this foundation is, to wit, Christ Jesus, from which they may not turn away one iota in the building up of this building.

3:12 ¹ Thirdly, he sheweth that they must take heed that the upper part of the building be answerable to the foundation, that is, that admonitions, exhortations, and whatsoever pertaineth to the edifying of the flock, be answerable to the doctrine of Christ, as well in matter as in form: which doctrine is compared to gold, silver, and precious stones: of which matter, Isaiah also and John in the Revelation build the heavenly city. And to these are opposite, wood, hay, stubble, that is to say, curious and vain questions or decrees: and besides to be short, all that kind of teaching which serveth to ostentation. For false doctrines, whereof he speaketh not here, are not said properly to be built upon this foundation, unless peradventure in show only.

13 ¹Every man's work shall be made manifest: for the day shall declare it, because it shall be revealed by the fire: and the fire shall try every man's work of what sort it is.

14 If any man's work, that he hath built upon, abide, he shall receive wages.

15 If any man's work burn, he shall lose, but ¹he shall be saved himself: nevertheless yet as it were by the fire.

16 ^{b,1}Know ye not that ye are the Temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?

17 If any man ¹destroy the Temple of God, him shall God destroy: for the Temple of God is holy, which ye are.

18 ¹Let no man deceive himself: If any man among you seem to be wise in this world, let him be a fool, that he may be wise.

19 For the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God: for it is written, ¹He ¹catcheth the wise in their own craftiness.

20 ^dAnd again, The Lord knoweth that the thoughts of the wise be vain.

21 ¹Therefore let no man ²rejoice in men: for all things are ³yours.

22 Whether it be Paul, or Apollos, or Cephas, or the ¹world, or life, or death, whether they be things present, or things to come, even all are yours, 23 And ye Christ's, and Christ God's.

4 ¹Bringing in the definition of a true Apostle, ⁷he showeth that humility ought rather to be an honor than a shame unto him. ⁹He bringeth in proof, whereby it may evidently appear, ¹⁰that he neither had care of glory, ¹¹nor of his belly. ¹⁷He commendeth Timothy.

1 Let ^{1a} ²man so think of us, as of the ministers of Christ, and disposers of the secrets of God:

2 ¹And as for the rest, it is required of the disposers, that every man be found faithful.

3 ¹As touching me, I pass very little to be judged of you, ²or of man's ³judgment: no, ⁴I judge not mine own self.

4 For I know nothing by myself, yet am I not

3:13 ¹He testifieth, as indeed the truth is, that all are not good builders, no not some of them which stand upon this one and only foundation: but howsoever this work of evil builders, saith he, stand for a season, yet shall it not always deceive, because that the light of the truth appearing at length, as day shall dissolve this darkness, and show what it is. And as that stuff is tried by the fire, whether it be good or not, so will God in his time by the touch of his Spirit and word, try all buildings, and so shall it come to pass, that such as be found pure and sound, shall still continue so, to the praise of the workman; but they that are otherwise, shall be consumed, and vanish away, and so shall the workman be frustrated of the hope of his labor, which pleased himself in a thing of nought.

3:15 ¹He taketh not away hope of salvation from the unskillful and foolish builders, which hold fast the foundation, of which sort were those Rhetoricians rather than pastors of Corinth: but he addeth an exception, that they must notwithstanding suffer this trial of their work, and also abide the loss of their vain labors.

3:16 ¹Continuing still in the metaphor of a building, he teacheth us that this ambition is not only vain, but also sacrilegious: For he saith that the Church is as it were the Temple of God, which God hath as it were consecrated unto himself by his Spirit. Then turning himself to these ambitious men: he showeth that they profane the Temple of God, because those vain arts wherein they please themselves so much, are as he teacheth, so many pollutions of the holy doctrine of God, and the purity of the Church. Which wickedness shall not be suffered unpunished.

3:17 ¹Defileth it, and maketh it unclean, being holy: and surely they do defile it, by Paul's judgment, which by fleshly eloquence defile the purity of the Gospel.

3:18 ¹He concludeth by the contrary, that they profess pure wisdom in the Church of God, which refuse and cast away all those vanities of men, and if they be mocked of the world, it is sufficient for them that they be wise according to the wisdom of God, and as he will have them to be wise.

3:19 ¹Be they never so crafty, yet the Lord will take them when he shall discover their treachery.

3:21 ¹He returneth to the proposition of verse 2, first warning the hearers, that henceforward they esteem not as lords, those whom

God hath appointed to be ministers, and not lords of their salvation, which thing they do, that depend upon men, and not upon God, that speaketh by them.

² Please himself.

³ Helps, appointeth for your benefit.

3:22 ¹He passeth from the persons to the things themselves, that his argument may be more forcible, yea, he ascendeth from Christ to the Father, to show us that we rest ourselves no not in Christ himself, in that that he is man, but because he carrieth us up even to the Father, as Christ witnesseth of himself everywhere, that he was sent of his Father, that by this band we may be all knit with God himself.

4:1 ¹He concludeth the duty of the hearers towards their ministers: that they esteem them not as lords: and yet notwithstanding, that they give ear unto them, as to them that are sent from Christ, sent I say to this end and purpose, that they may receive as it were at their hands, the treasure of salvation which is drawn out of the secrets of God.

4:2 ¹Last of all, he warneth the ministers that they also behave themselves not as lords, but as faithful servants, because they must render an account of their stewardship unto God.

4:3 ¹Because in reprehending others, he set himself for an example, he useth a preoccupation or preventing of an objection, and using the gratuity of an Apostle, he showeth that he careth not for the contrary judgments that they have of him, in that they esteemed him as a vile person, because he did not set forth himself as they did. And he bringeth good reasons why he was nothing moved with the judgments which they had of him.

² First, because that that which men judge in these cases of their own brains, is no more to be accounted of, than when the unlearned do judge of wisdom.

³ Word for word, Day, after the manner of speech of the Cilicians.

⁴ Secondly, saith he, how can you judge how much or how little I am to be accounted of, seeing that I myself which know myself better than you do, and which dare profess that I have walked in my vocation with a good conscience, dare not yet notwithstanding challenge anything to myself? for I know that I am not unblameable, all this notwithstanding: much less therefore should I please myself as you do.

thereby justified: but he that judgeth me, is the ¹Lord.

5 ¹Therefore "judge nothing before the time, until the Lord come, who will lighten things that are hid in darkness, and make the counsels of the hearts manifest: and then shall every man have ²praise of God.

6 ¹Now these things, brethren, I have figuratively applied unto mine own self and Apollos, for your sakes, that ye might learn ²by us, that no man presume above that which is written, that one swell not against another for any man's cause.

7 ¹For who separateth thee? and what hast thou, that thou hast not received? if thou hast received it, why rejoicest thou, as though ²thou hadst not received it?

8 ¹Now ye are full: now ye are made rich: ye reign as kings without us, and would to God ye did reign, that we also might reign with you.

9 For I think that God hath set forth us the last Apostles, as men appointed to death, for we are made a ¹gassing stock unto the world, and to the Angels, and to men.

10 We are fools for Christ's sake, and ye are wise in Christ: we are weak, and ye are strong: ye are honorable, and we are despised.

11 Unto this hour we both hunger, and thirst, and are naked, and are buffeted, and have no certain dwelling place, 12 ^bAnd labor, working with our own hands: we are reviled, and yet we bless: we are persecuted, and suffer it.

13 'We are evil spoken of, and we pray: we are made as the ¹filth of the world, the offscouring of all things, unto this time.

14 ¹I write not these things to shame you, but as my beloved children I admonish you.

15 For though ye have ten thousand instructors in Christ, yet have ye not many fathers: for in Christ Jesus I have begotten you through the Gospel.

16 Wherefore, I pray you, be followers of me.

17 For this cause have I sent unto you Timothy, which is my beloved son, and faithful in the Lord, which shall put you in remembrance of my ¹ways in Christ as I teach everywhere in every Church.

18 ¹Some are puffed up as though I would not come unto you.

19 But I will come to you shortly, ⁴if the Lord will, and I will know, not the ¹words of them which are puffed up, but the power.

20 For the kingdom of God is not in word, but in power.

21 ¹What will ye? shall I come unto you with a rod, or in love, and in the ²spirit of meekness?

5 ¹ That they have winked at him who committed incest with his mother-in-law, 2, 6 he sheweth should cause them rather to be ashamed, than to rejoice: 10 Such kind of wickedness is to be punished with excommunication, 12 lest others be infected with it.

1 It ¹is heard certainly that there is fornication among you: and such fornication as is not once named among the Gentiles, that one should have his father's wife.

4:4 ¹ I permit myself to the Lord's judgment.

4:5 ¹ A third reason proceeding of a conclusion as it were, out of the former reasons. It is God's office, to esteem every man according to his value, because he knoweth the secrets of the heart, which men for the most part are ignorant of. Therefore this judgment pertaineth not to you.

² One could not be praised above the rest, but the other should be blamed: and he mentioneth praise rather than dispraise, for that the beginning of this sore was this, that they gave more to some men than meet was.

4:6 ¹ Having rejected their judgment, he setteth forth himself again as a singular example of modesty, as one which concealing in this Epistle those factious teacher's names, doubted not to put down his own name and Apollos' in their place, and took upon him, as it were, their shame: so far was he from preferring himself to any.

² By our example, which chose rather to take other men's faults upon us, than to carve any by name.

4:7 ¹ He sheweth a good means to bridle pride: first, if thou consider how rightly thou exemptest thyself out of the number of others, seeing thou art a man thyself: again, if thou consider that although thou have something more than other men have, yet thou hast it not but by God's bountifulness. And what wise man is he that will brag of another's goodness, and that against God?

² There is nothing then in us of nature, that is worthy of commendation: but all that we have, we have it of grace, which the Pelagians and half Pelagians will not confess.

4:8 ¹ He descendeth to a most grave mock, to cause these ambitious men to blush even against their wills.

4:9 ¹ He that will take a right view how like Paul and the Pope are, who lyingly boasteth that he is his successor, let him compare the delicacies of the Popish court with Saint Paul's state, as we see it here.

4:13 ¹ Such as by sweeping is gathered together.

4:14 ¹ Moderating the sharpness of his mock, he putteth them in mind to remember of whom they were begotten in Christ, and that they should not doubt to follow him for an example, although he seem vile according to the outward show, in respect of others, yet mighty by the efficacy of God's Spirit, as they had trial thereof in themselves.

4:17 ¹ What way and rule I follow everywhere in teaching the Churches.

4:18 ¹ Last of all he descendeth also to Apostolic threatenings, but yet chiding them as a father, lest by their disorder he be constrained to come to punish some among them.

4:19 ¹ By words, he meaneth their painted and colored kind of eloquence, against which he setteth the virtue of the Spirit.

4:21 ¹ A passing over to another part of this Epistle, wherein he reprehended more sharply a very heinous offence, showing the use of ecclesiastical correction.

² Meekly affected towards you.

5:1 ¹ They are greatly to be reprehended which by suffering of wickedness, set forth the Church of God to be mocked and scorned as the infidels.

2 ¹And ye are puffed up, and have not rather sorrowed, that he which hath done this deed, might be put from among you.

3 ¹For I verily as absent in body, but present in ²spirit, have determined already as though I were present, that he that hath thus done this thing,

4 When ye are gathered together, and my spirit, in the ¹Name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that such one, I say, ²by the power of our Lord Jesus Christ,

5 ¹Be ²delivered unto Satan, for the ³destruction of the flesh, that the spirit may be saved in the day of the Lord Jesus.

6 ¹Your rejoicing ²is not good: know ye not that a little leaven leaveneth the whole lump?

7 ¹Purge out therefore the old leaven, that ye may be a new ²lump, as ye are unleavened: for Christ our ³Passover is sacrificed for us.

8 Therefore let us keep the ¹feast, not with old leaven, neither in the leaven of maliciousness and wickedness: but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth.

9 ¹I wrote unto you in an Epistle, that ye should not company together with fornicators,

10 And not ¹altogether with the fornicators of this world, or with the covetous, or with extortioners, or with idolaters: for then ye must go out of the world.

11 But now I have written unto you, that ye company not together: if any that is called a brother, be a fornicator, or covetous, or an idolater, or a railer, or a drunkard, or an extortioner, with such one eat not.

12 ¹For what have I to do to judge them also which are without? do ye not judge them that are within?

13 But God judgeth them that are without. Put away therefore from among yourselves that wicked man.

6 ¹He inveigheth against their contention in law matters, ⁶wherewith they vexed one another under judges that were infidels, to the reproach of the Gospel, ⁹and then sharply threateneth fornicators.

1 Dare ^{1,2}any of you, having business against another, be judged ³under the unjust, ⁴and not under the Saints?

2 ¹Do ye not know that the Saints shall judge the 5:2 ¹ There are none more proud, than they that least know themselves.

5:3 ¹ Excommunication ought not to be committed to one man's power, but must be done by the authority of the whole Congregation, after that the matter is diligently examined.

² In mind, thought, and will.

5:4 ¹ Calling upon Christ his Name.

² There is no doubt but that judgment is ratified in heaven, wherein Christ himself sitteth as Judge.

5:5 ¹ The excommunicate is delivered to the power of Satan, in that, that he is cast out of the house of God.

² What it is to be delivered to Satan, the Lord himself declareth when he saith, Let him be unto thee as an Heathen and Publican, Matt 18:17, that is to say, to be disfranchised, and put out of the right and liberty of the city of Christ, which is the Church, without which Satan is lord and master.

³ The end of excommunication is not to cast away the excommunicate, that he should utterly perish, but that he may be saved, to wit, that by this means his flesh may be tamed, that he may learn to live to the Spirit.

5:6 ¹ Another end of excommunication is, that others be not infected, and therefore it must of necessity be retained in the Church, that the one be not infected by the other.

² Is naught, and not grounded upon good reason, as though you were excellent, and yet there is such wickedness found amongst you.

5:7 ¹ By alluding to the ceremony of the Passover, he exhorteth them to cast out that unclean person from amongst them. In times past, saith he, it was not lawful for them which did celebrate the Passover, to eat leavened bread: insomuch that he was holden as unclean and unworthy to eat the Passover, whosoever had but tasted of leaven. Now our whole life must be as it were the feast of unleavened bread, wherein all they that are partakers of that immaculate Lamb which is slain, must cast out both of themselves, and also out of their houses and Congregations all impurity.

² By lump he meaneth the whole body of the Church, every member whereof must be unleavened bread, that is, be renewed in spirit, by plucking away the old corruption.

³ The Lamb of our Passover.

5:8 ¹ Let us lead our whole life, as it were a continual feast, honestly and uprightly.

5:9 ¹ Now he speaketh more generally; and that which he spake before of the incestuous person, he sheweth that it pertaineth to others, which are known to be wicked, and such as through their naughty life are a slander to the Church, which ought also by lawful order be cast out of the community of the Church. And making mention of eating meat, either he meaneth those feasts of love whereat the Supper of the Lord was received, or else their common usage and manner of life which is rightly to be taken, lest any man should think that either matrimony were broken by excommunication, or such duties hindered and cut off thereby, as we owe one to another: children to their parents, subjects to their rulers, servants to their masters, and neighbor to neighbor, to win one another to God.

5:10 ¹ If you should utterly abstain from such men's company, you should go out of the world: therefore I speak of them which are in the very bosom of the Church, which must be called home by discipline, and not of them which are without, with whom we must labor by all means possible, to bring them to Christ.

5:12 ¹ Such as are false brethren, ought to be cast out of the Congregation: as for them which are without, they must be left to the judgment of God.

6:1 ¹ The third question is of civil judgments: Whether it be lawful for one faithful to draw another faithful before the judgment seat of an infidel? He answereth that it is not lawful, for offense sake, for it is not evil of itself.

² As if he said, Are ye become so impudent, that you are not ashamed to make the Gospel a laughingstock to profane men?

³ Before the unjust.

⁴ He addeth that he doth not forbid that one neighbor may go to law with another, if need so require, but yet under holy judges.

6:2 ¹ He gathereth by a comparison that the faithful cannot seek to infidels to be judged, without great injury done to the Saints, seeing that God himself will make the Saints judges of the world, and of the devils, with his Son Christ: much more ought they to judge these light and small causes: which may be by equity, and good conscience, determineth.

world? If the world then shall be judged by you, are ye unworthy to judge the smallest matters?

3 Know ye not that we shall judge the Angels? how much more things that pertain to this life?

4 ¹If then ye have ²judgments of things pertaining to this life, set them up which are ³least esteemed in the Church.

5 ¹I speak it to your shame. Is it so that there is not a wise man among you? no, not one, that can judge between his brethren?

6 But a brother goeth to law with a brother, and that under the infidels.

7 ¹Now therefore there is altogether ²infirmity in you, that ye go to law one with another: ^{a,3}why rather suffer ye not wrong? why rather sustain ye not harm?

8 ^bNay, ye yourselves do wrong, and do harm, and that to your brethren.

9 Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God? ¹Be not deceived: neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor wantons, nor buggerers,

12 ¶ ^{d,1,2}All things are lawful unto me, but all things are not profitable. I may do all things, but I will not be brought under the ³power of any thing.

13 ¹Meats are ordained for the belly, and the belly for the meats: but God shall destroy both it, and them. Now the body is not for fornication, but for the Lord, and the Lord for the body.

14 And God hath also raised up the Lord, and 'shall raise us up by his power.

15 ¹Know ye not, that your bodies are the members of Christ? shall I then take the members of Christ, and make them the members of an harlot? God forbid.

16 ¹Do ye not know, that he which coupleth himself

6:4 ¹ The conclusion, wherein he prescribeth a remedy for this mischief: to wit, if they end their private affairs betwixt themselves by chosen arbiters out of the Church: for which matter and purpose, the least of you, saith he, is sufficient. Therefore he condemneth not judgment seats, but sheweth what is expedient for the circumstance of the time, and that without any diminishing of the right of the magistrate: for he speaketh not of judgments which are practiced between the faithful and the infidels, neither of public judgments, but of controversies which may be ended by private arbiters.

² Courts and places of judgments.

³ Even the most abject among you.

6:5 ¹ He applieth the general proposition to a particular, always calling them back to this, to take away from them that false opinion of their own excellency, from whence all these mischiefs sprang.

6:7 ¹ Now he goeth further also, and although by granting them private arbiters out of the Congregation of the faithful, he doth not simply condemn, but rather establish private judgments, so that they be exercised without offense, yet he sheweth that if they were such as they ought to be, and as it were to be wished, they should not need to use that remedy neither.

² A weakness of mind which is said to be in them that suffer themselves to be overcome of their lusts, and it is a fault that squareth greatly from temperance and moderation, so that he nippeth them which could not put up an injury done unto them.

³ This pertaineth chiefly to the other part of the reprehension, to wit, that they went to law even under infidels, whereas they should rather have suffered any loss, than to have given that offense. But yet this is generally true, that we ought rather depart from our right, than try the uttermost of the Law hastily, and upon an affection to revenge an injury. But the Corinthians cared for neither, and therefore he saith that they must repent, unless they will be shut out of the inheritance of God.

6:9 ¹ Now he prepareth himself to pass over to the fourth treatise of this Epistle, which concerneth matters indifferent: debating this matter first, how men may well use women or not: which question hath three branches, fornication, matrimony, and a single life. As for fornication, he utterly condemneth it. And marriage he commandeth to some, as a good and necessary remedy for them, to others he leaveth it free: And others some he dissuadeth from it, not as unlawful, but as discommodious, and that not without exception. As for singleness of life (under which also I comprehend virginity) he enjoineth it to no man: yet he persuadeth men unto it, but not for itself, but for another respect, neither all men nor without exception. And being about to speak against fornication, he beginneth with a general reprehension of those vices, wherewith that rich and riotous city most abounded: warning and teaching them earnestly, that repentance is unseparably joined with forgiveness of sins, and sanctification with justification.

6:11 ¹ In Jesus.

6:12 ¹ Secondly, he sheweth that the Corinthians do simply offend in matters indifferent. First, because they abused them: next, because they used indifferent things, without any discretion, seeing the use of them ought to be brought to the rule of charity: and that he doth not use them aright, which immoderately abuseth them, and so becometh a slave unto them.

² Whatever: but this general word must be restrained to things that are indifferent.

³ He is in subjection to things that are indifferent, whatsoever he be that thinketh he may not be without them, which is a flattering kind of slavery under a color of liberty, which sealeth upon such men.

6:13 ¹ Secondly, because they counted many things for indifferent which were of themselves unlawful, as fornication, which they numbered amongst mere natural and lawful desires, as well as meat and drink: Therefore the Apostle sheweth, that they are utterly unlike: for meats, saith he, were made for the necessary use of man's life, which is not perpetual. For both meats, and all this manner of nourishing are quickly abolished. But we must not so think of the uncleanness of fornication, for which the body is not made, but on the contrary side is ordained to pureness, as appeareth by this, that is consecrated to Christ, even as Christ also is given us of his Father, to quicken our bodies with that virtue wherewith he also rose again.

6:15 ¹ A declaration of the former argument by contraries, and the applying of it.

6:16 ¹ A proof of the same argument: a harlot and Christ are clean contrary, so are the flesh and the Spirit: therefore he that is one with an harlot (which is done by carnal copulation of their bodies) cannot be one with Christ, which unity is pure and spiritual.

with an harlot, is one body? ²for two, saith he, shall be one flesh.

17 But he that is joined unto the Lord, is one spirit.

18 ¹Flee fornication: every sin that a man doeth, is without the body: but he that commiteth fornication, sinneth against his own body.

19 ¹Know ye not, that ⁴your body is the temple of the holy Ghost, which is in you, whom ye have of God? and ²ye are not your own.

20 ¹For ye are bought for a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit: for they are God's.

7 Entreating here of marriage, 4 which is a remedy against fornication, 10 and may not be broken, 18, 20 he willeth every man to live contented with his lot. 25 He sheweth what the end of virginity should be, 35 and who ought to marry.

1 Now ¹concerning the things ²whereof ye wrote unto me, It were ³good for a man not to touch a woman.

2 Nevertheless, to avoid fornication, let every man have his wife, and let every woman have her own husband.

3 ^{a,1}Let the husband give unto the wife ²due benevolence, and likewise also the wife unto the husband.

but the husband: and likewise also the husband hath not the power of his own body, but the wife.

5 Defraud not one another, ¹except it be with consent for a time, that ye may ²give yourselves to fasting and prayer, and again come together, that Satan tempt you not for your incontinency.

6 ¹But I speak this by permission, not by commandment.

7 For I ¹would that all men were even as I myself am: but every man hath his proper gift of God, one after this manner, and another after that.

8 ¹Therefore I say unto the ²unmarried, and unto the widows, It is good for them if they abide even as I do.

9 But if they cannot abstain, let them marry: for it is better to marry than to ¹burn.

10 ^{b,1}And unto the married I command, not I, but the Lord, Let not the wife depart from her husband.

11 But and if she depart, let her remain unmarried, or be reconciled unto her husband, and let not the husband put away his wife.

12 ¹But to the remnant I speak, and not the Lord, If any brother have a wife that believeth not, if she be content to dwell with him, let him not forsake her.

13 And the woman which hath an husband that believeth not, if he be content to dwell with her, let her not forsake him.

6:16 ² Moses doth not speak these words of fornication, but of marriage: but seeing that fornication is the corrupting of marriage, and both of them is a carnal and fleshly copulation, we cannot say that the Apostle abuseth his testimony. Again, Moses hath not this word (Two) but it is very well expresseth both here and in Matt. 29:5, because he speaketh only but of man and wife: whereupon the opinion of them that vouch it to be lawful to have many wives, is beaten down: for he that companieth with many, is sundered as it were into many parts.

6:18 ¹ Another argument why fornication is to be eschewed, because it defileth the body with a peculiar kind of filthiness.

6:19 ¹ The third argument: Because a fornicator is sacrilegious, for that our bodies are consecrate to God.

² The fourth argument: Because we are not our own men, to give ourselves to any other, much less to Satan and the flesh, seeing that God himself hath bought us, and that with a great price, to the end that both in body and soul, we should serve to his glory.

7:1 ¹ He teacheth concerning marriage, that although a single life hath his commodities, which he will declare afterwards, yet that marriage is necessary for the avoiding of fornication: but so that neither one man may have many wives, or any wife many husbands.

² Touching those matters whereof you wrote unto me.
³ Commodious, and (as we say) expedient. For marriage bringeth many griefs with it, and that by reason of the corruption of our first estate.

7:3 ¹ Secondly, he sheweth that the parties married, must with singular affection entirely love one the other.

² This word (due) containeth all kind of benevolence, though he speak more of one sort than of the other, in that that followeth.

7:4 ¹ Thirdly, he warneth them that they are each in other's power, as touching the body, so that they may not defraud one another.

7:5 ¹ He addeth an exception: unless the one abstain from the other by mutual consent, that they may the better give themselves to prayer, wherein notwithstanding, he warneth them to consider what is expedient, lest by this long breaking off as it were from marriage, they bestirred up to incontinency.

² Do nothing else.

7:6 ¹ Fifthly, he teacheth that marriage is not simply necessary for all men, but for them which have not the gift of continency, and this gift is by a peculiar grace of God.

7:7 ¹ I wish.

7:8 ¹ Sixthly, he giveth the selfsame admonition touching the second marriage, to wit, that a single life is to be allowed, but for such as have the gift of continency: otherwise they ought to marry again, that their conscience may be at peace.

² This whole place is flat against them which condemn second marriages.

7:9 ¹ So to burn with lust, that either the will yieldeth to the temptation, or else we cannot call upon God with a quiet conscience.

7:10 ¹ Seventhly, he forbiddeth contentions and the publishing of divorces (for he speaketh not here of the fault of whoredom, which was then death even by the law of the Romans also) whereby he affirmeth that the hand of marriage is not dissolved, and that from Christ's mouth.

7:12 ¹ Eighthly, he affirmeth that those marriages which are already contracted between a faithful and an unfaithful or infidel, are firm, so that the faithful may not forsake the unfaithful.

14 ¹For the unbelieving husband is ²sanctified to the ³wife, and the unbelieving wife is sanctified to the ⁴husband, else were your children unclean: but now are they ⁵holy.

15 ¹But if the unbelieving depart, let him depart: a brother or a sister is not in subjection in ²such things: ³but God hath called us in peace.

16 For what knowest thou, O wife, whether thou shalt save thine husband? Or what knowest thou, O man, whether thou shalt save thy wife?

17 ¹But as God hath distributeth to every man, as the Lord ²hath called every one, so let him walk: and so ordain I in all Churches.

18 ¹Is any man called being circumcised? let him not ²gather his uncircumcision: is any called uncircumcised? let him not be circumcised.

19 Circumcision is nothing, and uncircumcision is nothing, but the keeping of the commandments of God.

20 ¹Let every man abide in the same vocation wherein he was called.

^c 1 Tim. 6:1

^d 1 Cor. 6:20
1 Pet. 18:19

21 Art thou called being a servant? ¹care not for it: but if yet thou mayest be free, use it rather.

22 For he that is called in the ¹Lord, being a servant, is the Lord's freeman: likewise also he that is called being free, is Christ's servant.

23 ¹Ye are bought with a price: be not the servants of men.

24 ¹Brethren, let every man, wherein he was called, therein abide with ²God.

25 ¹Now concerning virgins, I have no commandment of the Lord: but I give mine ²advise, as ³one that hath obtained mercy of the Lord to be faithful.

26 I suppose then ¹this to be good for the ²present necessity: I mean that it is good for a man so to be.

27 Art thou bound unto a wife? seek not to be loosed: art thou loosed from a wife? seek not a wife.

28 But if thou takest a wife, thou sinnest not: and if a virgin marry, she sinneth not: nevertheless, such shall have trouble in the ¹flesh: but I ²spare you.

29 And this I say, brethren, because the time is 7:14 ¹ He answereth an objection: But the faithful is defiled by the society of the unfaithful. The Apostle denieth that, and proveth that the faithful man with good conscience may use the vessel of his unfaithful wife, by this that their children which are born of them, are accounted holy (that is, contained within the promise) for it is said to all the faithful, I will be thy God, and the God of thy seed.

² The godliness of the wife is of more force, to cause their coupling together to be accounted holy, than the infidelity of the husband is, to profane the marriage.

³ The infidel is not sanctified or made holy in his own person, but in respect of his wife, he is sanctified to her.

⁴ To the faithful husband.

⁵ This place destroyeth the opinion of them that would not have children to be baptized, and their opinion also, that make baptism the very cause of salvation. For the children of the faithful are holy, by virtue of the covenant, even before Baptism, and baptism is added as the seal of that holiness.

7:15 ¹ He answereth to a question: what if the unfaithful forsake the faithful? then is the faithful free, saith he, because he is forsaken of the unfaithful.

² When any such thing falleth out.

³ Lest any man upon pretence of this liberty should give occasion to the unfaithful to depart, he giveth to understand, that marriage contracted with an infidel, ought peaceably to be kept, that if it be possible the infidel may be won to the faith.

7:17 ¹ Taking occasion by that which he said of the bondage and liberty of matrimony, he digresseth to a general doctrine concerning the outward state and condition of man's life, as Circumcision and uncircumcision, servitude and liberty: warning every man generally to live with a contented mind in the Lord, what state or condition forever he be in, because that those outward things, as to be circumcised or uncircumcised, to be bond or free, are not of the substance (as they term it) of the kingdom of heaven.

² Hath bound him to a certain kind of life.

7:18 ¹ Notwithstanding he giveth us to understand, that in these examples all are not like sort: because that circumcision is not simply of itself to be desired, but such as are bound may desire to be free. Therefore herein only they are equal, that the kingdom of God consisteth not in them, and therefore these are no hindrance to obey God.

² He is said to gather his uncircumcision, who by the help of a Chirurgeon recovereth an upper skin: which is done by the drawing the skin with an instrument, to make it to cover the nut. Celsus in book 7, chapter 25.

7:21 ¹ As though this calling were too unworthy a calling for Christ.

7:22 ¹ He that is in state of a servant, and is called to be a Christian.

7:23 ¹ He sheweth the reason of the unlikeness, because that he that desireth to be circumcised, maketh himself subject to man's tradition, and not to God. And this may be much more understood of superstitions, which some do foolishly accompt for things indifferent.

7:24 ¹ A repetition of the general doctrine.

² So purely and from the heart, that your doings may be approved before God.

7:25 ¹ He enjoineth virginity to no man, yet he persuadeth and praiseth it for another respect, to wit, both for the necessity of the present time, because the faithful could scarce abide in any place, and use the commodities of this present life, and therefore such as were not troubled with families, might be the readier: and also for the cares of this life, which marriage draweth with it necessity, so that they cannot but have their minds distracteth: and this hath place in women especially.

² The circumstances considered, this I counsel you.

³ It is I that speak this which I am minded to speak: and the truth is, I am a man, but yet worthy credit, for I have obtained of the Lord to be such an one.

7:26 ¹ To remain a virgin.

² For the necessity which the Saints are daily subject unto, who are continually tossed up and down, so that their estate may seem most unfit for marriage, were it not that the weakness of the flesh enforced them to it.

7:28 ¹ By the (flesh) he understandeth what things forever belong to this present life, for marriage bringeth with it many discommodities: so that he bendeth more to a sole life, not because it is a service more agreeable to God than marriage is, but for those discommodities, which (if it were possible) he would wish all men to be void of, that they might give themselves to God only.

² I would your weakness were provided for.

¹short, hereafter that both they which have wives, be as though they had none:

30 And they that ¹weep, as though they wept not: and they that rejoice, as though they rejoiced not: and they that buy, as though they possessed not:

31 And they that use this ¹world, as though they used it not: for the ²fashion of this world goeth away.

32 And I would have you without care. The unmarried careth for things of the Lord, how he may please the Lord.

33 But he that is married, ¹careth for the things of the world, how he may please his wife.

34 There is difference also between a virgin and a wife: the unmarried woman careth for the things of the Lord, that she may be holy, both in body and in ¹spirit: but she that is married, careth for the things of the world, how she may please her husband.

35 And this I speak for your own ¹commodity, not to tangle you in a snare, but that ye follow that which is honest, and that ye may cleave fast unto the Lord without separation.

36 ¹But if any man think that it is uncomely for his virgin, if she pass the flower of her age, and need so require, let him do what he will, he ²sinneth not: let them be married.

37 Nevertheless, he that standeth firm in his ¹heart, that he hath no ²need, but hath power over his own will, and hath so decreed in his heart, that he will keep his virgin, he doeth well.

^c Rom. 7:1

^f 1 Thess. 4:8

38 So then he that giveth her to marriage, doeth well, but he that giveth her not to marriage, doeth ¹better.

39 ¹The wife is bound by the ²law, as long as her husband ⁴liveth: but if her husband be dead, she is at liberty to marry with whom she will, only in the ³Lord.

40 But she is more blessed, if she so abide in my judgment: ⁴and I think that I have also the Spirit of God.

8 ¹From this place unto the end of the tenth Chapter, he willet them not to be at the Gentiles' profane banquets. 13 He restraineth the abuse of Christian liberty, 11 and sheweth that knowledge must be tempered with charity.

1 And as ¹touching things sacrificed unto idols, we know that we ²all have knowledge: knowledge ³puffeth up, but love ⁴edifieth.

2 Now, if any man think that he knoweth anything, he knoweth nothing, yet as he ought to know.

3 But if any man love God, the same is known of him.

4 ¹Concerning therefore the eating of things sacrificed unto ²idols, we know that an idol is ³nothing in the world, and that there is none other God but one.

7:29 ¹ For we are now in the latter end of the world.

7:30 ¹ By weeping, the Hebrews understand all adversity, and be joy, all prosperity.

7:31 ¹ Those things which God giveth us here.

² The guise, the shape, and fashion: whereby he sheweth us, that there is nothing in this world that continueth.

7:33 ¹ They that are married, have their wits drawn hither and thither, and therefore if any man have the gift of continency, it is more commodious for him to live alone: but they that are married may care for the things of the Lord also, Clement, Strom. 3.

7:34 ¹ Mind.

7:35 ¹ He meaneth that he will enforce no man either to marry or not to marry, but to show them barely what kind of life is most commodious.

7:36 ¹ Now he turneth himself to the Parents, in whose power and authority their children are, warning them that according to the former doctrine they consider what is meet and convenient for their children, that they neither deprive them of the necessary remedy against incontinency, nor constrain them to marriage, whereas neither their will doth lead them, nor any necessity urgeth them. And again he praiseth virginity, but of itself, and not in all.

² He doeth well: for so he expoundeth it verse 38.

7:37 ¹ Resolved with himself.

² That the weakness of his daughter enforceth him not, or any other matter, that that he may safely keep her a virgin still.

7:38 ¹ Provideth more commodiously for his children, and that not simply, but by reason of such conditions as are before mentioned.

7:39 ¹ That which he spake of a widower, he speaketh now of a widow, to wit, that she may marry again, so that she do it in the fear of God: and yet he dissembleth not, but saith, that if she remain still a widow, she shall be void of many cares.

² By the law of marriage.

³ Religiously, and in the fear of God.

8:1 ¹ He entereth to entreat of another kind of things indifferent, to wit, of things offered to idols, or the use or flesh so offered and sacrificed. And first of all he removeth all those things which the Corinthians pretended in using things offered to idols without any respect. First of all they affirmed that this difference of meats was for unskillful men, but as for them, they knew well enough the benefit of Christ, which causeth all these things to be clean to them that are clean. Be it so saith Paul: be it that we are all sufficiently instructed in the knowledge of Christ. I say notwithstanding that we must not simply rest in this knowledge. The reason is that unless our knowledge be tempered with charity, it doth not only not avail, but also doeth much hurt, because it is the mystery of pride: nay, it doth not so much as discern the name of godly knowledge, if it be separate from the love of God and therefore from the love of our neighbor.

² This general word is to be abridged as appeareth verse 7, for there is a kind of taunt in it, as we may perceive by the next verse.

³ Ministereth occasion of vanity and pride, because it is void of charity.

⁴ Instructed our neighbor.

8:4 ¹ The application of that answer to things offered to idols: I grant, saith he that an idol is indeed a vain imagination, and that there is but one God and Lord, herefore that meat cannot be made holy or profane by the idol: but it followeth not therefore that a man may without respect use those meats as any other.

² This word (idol) in this place is taken for an image which is made to present some godhead, that worship might be given unto it: whereupon came the word (idolatry) that is to say, Image service.

³ It is a vain dream.

5 For though there be that are called gods, whether in heaven, or in earth (as there be many gods, and many lords.)

6 Yet unto us there is but one God, which is that Father, ¹of whom are all things, and we ²in him, and ³one Lord Jesus Christ, ⁴by whom are all things, and we by him.

7 ¹But every man hath not that knowledge: for ²many having ³conscience of the idol, until this hour, eat as a thing sacrificed unto the idol, and so their conscience being weak, is defiled.

8 ¹But meat maketh us not acceptable to God, for neither if we eat, have we the more: neither if we eat not, have we the less.

9 But take heed lest by any means this power of yours be an occasion of falling, to them that are weak.

10 ¹For if any man see thee which hast knowledge, sit at table in the idols' temple, shall not the conscience of him which is weak, be boldened, to eat those things which are sacrificed to idols?

CHAPTER 8

^b Rom. 14:15

^c Rom. 14:21

11 ¹And through thy knowledge shall the ⁶weak brother perish, for whom Christ died.

12 ¹Now when ye sin so against the brethren, and wound their weak conscience, ye sin against Christ.

13 ¹Wherefore if meat offend my brother, I will eat no flesh while the world standeth, that I may not offend my brother.

9 ¹He declareth, that from the liberty which the Lord gave him, ¹⁵he willingly abstained, ^{18, 22}lest in things indifferent he should offend any. ²⁴He sheweth that our life is like unto a race.

1 Am ¹I not an Apostle? am I not free? ²have I not seen Jesus Christ our Lord? are ye not my work ³in the Lord?

2 If I be not an Apostle unto others, yet doubtless I am unto you: for ye are the ¹seal of mine Apostleship in the Lord.

3 ¹My defense to him that ²examine me, is this,

8:6 ¹ When the Father is distinguished from the Son, He is named the beginning of all things.

² We have our being in him.

³ But as the Father is called Lord, so is the Son, God therefore this word (One) doth not respect the persons, but the natures.

⁴ This word (By) doth not signify the instrumental cause, but the efficient: For the Father and the Son work together, which is not so to be taken, that we make two causes, seeing they have both but one nature though they be distinct persons.

8:7 ¹ The reason why that followeth not, is this: because there are many men which do not know that which you know. Now the judgments of outward things depend not only upon your conscience, but upon the conscience of them that behold you, and therefore your actions must be applied not only to your knowledge, but also to the ignorance of your brethren.

² An applying of the reason, There are many which cannot eat of things offered to idols, but with a wavering conscience, because they think them to be unclean: therefore if by thy example they enterprise to do that which inwardly they thinketh displeaseth God, their conscience is defiled with this eating, and thou hast been the occasion of this mischief.

³ By conscience of the idol, he meaneth the secret judgment that they had within themselves, whereby they thought all things unclean, that were offered to idols, and therefore they could not use them with good conscience. For this force hath conscience, that if it be good, it maketh things indifferent good, and if it be evil, it maketh them evil.

8:8 ¹ A preventing of an objection: Why then, shall we therefore be deprived of our liberty? Nay saith the Apostle, you shall lose no part of Christianity although you abstain for your brethren's sake, as also if you receive the meat, it maketh you no whit the more holy, for our commendation before God consisteth not in meats: but to use our liberty with offense of our brethren, is an abuse of liberty, the true use whereof is clean contrary, to wit, so to use it, as in using of it we have consideration of our weak brethren.

8:10 ¹ Another plainer explication of the same reason, propounding the example of the sitting down at the table in the idol's temple, which thing the Corinthians did evil account of among things indifferent, because it is simply forbidden for the circumstance of the place, although offense do cease, as it shall be declared in his place.

8:11 ¹ An amplification of the argument taken both of comparison and contraries: Thou wretched man, saith he, pleasing thyself with thy knowledge which indeed is none (for if thou haddest true knowledge, thou wouldest not sit down to meat in idol's temple) wilt thou destroy thy brother, hardening his weak conscience by this example to do evil, for whose salvation Christ himself has died?

8:12 ¹ Another amplification: Such offending of our weak brethren redoundeth unto Christ, and therefore let not these men think that they have to do only with their brethren.

8:13 ¹ The conclusion, which Paul conceiveth in his own person, that he might not seem to exact that of others, which he will not be first subject unto himself. I had rather (saith he) abstain forever from all kind of flesh, than give occasion of sin to any of my brethren, much less would I refuse in any certain place or time for my brother's sake not to eat flesh offered to idols.

9:1 ¹ Before he proceedeth any further in his proposed manner of things offered to idols he would show the cause of all this mischief, and also take it away: to wit, that the Corinthians thought themselves not bound to depart from an iota of their liberty for any man's pleasure. Therefore he propoundeth himself for an example and that in a matter almost necessary. And yet he speaketh generally of both, but first of his own person. If (saith he) you allege for yourselves that you are free, and therefore will use your liberty, am I not also free, seeing I am an Apostle?

² He proveth his Apostleship by the effects, in that that he was appointed of Christ himself, and the authority of his function was sufficiently confirmed to him amongst them by their conversion. And all these things he setteth before their eyes, to make them ashamed for that they would not in the least wise that might be, debase themselves, for the weak's sake, whereas the Apostle himself did all that he could to win them to God when they were utterly reprobate and without God.

³ By the Lord.

9:2 ¹ As a seal whereby it appeareth sufficiently that God is the author of my Apostleship.

9:3 ¹ He addeth this by the way, as if he would say, So far it is off, that you may doubt of my Apostleship, that I use it to refute them which call it into controversy, by opposing those things which the Lord hath done by me amongst you.

² Which like Judges examine me and my doings.

4 ¹Have we not power to ²eat and to drink?
 5 Or have we not power to lead about a wife being a ¹sister, as well as the rest of the Apostles, and as the brethren of the Lord, and Cephas?
 6 Or I only and Barnabas, have not we power ¹not to work?
 7 ¹Who ²goeth a warfare any time at his own cost? who planteth a vineyard, and eateth not of the fruit thereof? or who feedeth a flock, and eateth not of the milk of the flock?
 8 ¹Say I these things ²according to man? saith not the Law the same also?
 9 For it is written in the Law of Moses, "Thou shalt not muzzle the mouth of the ox that treadeth out the corn: doth God take care for ¹oxen?"
 10 Either saith he it not altogether for our sakes? For our sakes no doubt it is written, that he which eareth, should ear in hope, and that he that thresheth in hope, should be partaker of his hope.
 11 ^{6,1}If we have sown unto you spiritual things, is it a great thing if we reap your carnal things?
 12 ¹If others with you be partakers of this ²power, are not we rather? nevertheless, we have not used this power: but suffer all things, that we should not hinder the Gospel of Christ.
 13 ¹Do ye not know, that they which minister about the 'holy things, eat of the ²things of the Temple? and they which wait at the altar, are ³partakers with the altar?

CHAPTER 9

^c Deut. 18:1
^d Acts 16:3
 Gal. 2:3

14 So also hath the Lord ordained, that they which preach the Gospel, should live ¹of the Gospel.
 15 But I have used none of these things: ¹neither wrote I these things, that it should be so done unto me: for it were better for me to die, than that any man should make my rejoicing vain.
 16 For though I preach the Gospel, I have nothing to rejoice of: for necessity is laid upon me, and woe is unto me, if I preach not the Gospel.
 17 For if I do it willingly, I have a reward, but if I do it against my will, notwithstanding the dispensation is committed unto me.
 18 What is my reward then? verily that when I preach the Gospel, I make the Gospel of Christ ¹free, that I abuse not mine authority in the Gospel.
 19 For though I be free from all men, yet have I made myself servant unto all men, that I may win the more.
 20 ^dAnd unto the Jews, I become as a Jew, that I may win the Jews: to them that are under the ¹Law, as though I were under the Law, that I may win them that are under the Law:
 21 To them that are without Law, as though I were without Law, (when I am not without Law as pertaining to God, but am in the Law through Christ) that I may win them that are without Law:
 22 To the weak I become as weak, that I may win the weak: I am made all things to ¹all men, that I might by all means save some.

9:4 ¹ Now touching the matter itself, he saith, Seeing that I am free, and truly an Apostle, why may not I (I say not, eat of all things offered to idols) but be maintained by my labors, yea and keep my wife also, as the residue of the apostles lawfully do, as by name, John and James, the Lord's cousins, and Peter himself?

² Upon the expense of the Church?
 9:5 ¹ One that is a Christian and a true believer?
 9:6 ¹ Not to live by the work of our hands?
 9:7 ¹ That he may not seem to burden the Apostles, he sheweth that it is just that they do, by an argument of comparison, seeing that soldiers live by their wages, and husbandmen by the fruits of their labors, and shepherds by that that cometh of their flocks.
² Useth to go a warfare?
 9:8 ¹ Secondly he bringeth forth the authority of God's institution by an argument of comparison.
² Have I no better ground than the common custom of men?
 9:9 ¹ Was it God's proper drift to provide for oxen, when he made this Law? for otherwise there is not the smallest thing in the world, but God hath a care of it.
 9:11 ¹ An assumption of the arguments with an amplification, for neither in so doing do we require a reward meet for our deserts.
 9:12 ¹ Another argument of great force: others are nourished amongst you, therefore it was lawful for me, yea rather for me than any other: and yet I refused it, and had rather still suffer any discommodity, than the Gospel of Christ should be hindered.
² The word signifieth a right and interest, whereby he giveth us to understand that the ministers of the word must of right and duty be found of the Church.
 9:13 ¹ Last of all he bringeth forth the express Law concerning the nourishing of the Levites, which privilege notwithstanding he will not use.

² This is spoken by the figure Metonymy, for, of those things that are offered in the temple.
³ Are partakers with the altar in dividing the sacrifice.
 9:14 ¹ Because they preach the Gospel. It followed by this place, that Paul gat no living, neither would have any other man get, by any commodity of masses, or any other such superstitious trumperies.
 9:15 ¹ He taketh away occasion of suspicion by the way, that it might not be thought that he wrote this as though he challenged his wages that was not paid him. Nay saith him, I had rather die, than not continue in this purpose to preach the Gospel freely. For I am bound to preach the Gospel, seeing that the Lord hath enjoined me this office: but unless I do it willingly and for the love of God, nothing is to be allowed that I do. If I had rather that the Gospel should be evil spoken of, than that I should not require my wages, then would it appear that I took these pains not so much for the Gospel's sake, as for my gains and advantages. But I say, this were not to use, but abuse my right and liberty. Therefore not only in this thing, but also in all others (as much as I could) I am made all things to all men, that I might win them to Christ, and might together with them be won to Christ.
 9:18 ¹ By taking nothing of them to whom I preach it.
 9:20 ¹ The word (Law) in this place, must be restrained to the ceremonial Law.
 9:22 ¹ In matters that are indifferent, which may be done or not done with a good conscience: as if he said, I changed myself into all fashions, that by all means, I might save some.

23 And this I do for the Gospel's sake, that I might be partaker thereof with ¹you.

24 ¹Know ye not, that they which run in a race, run all, yet one receiveth the prize? so run that ye may obtain.

25 And every man that proveth masteries, ¹abstaineth from all things: and they do it to obtain a corruptible crown: but we for an incorruptible.

26 I therefore so run, not as uncertainly: so fight I, not as one that beateth the air.

27 But I beat down my ¹body, and bring it into subjection, lest by any means after that I have preached to others, I myself should be ²reproved.

10 1 If God spared not the Jews, neither will he spare those who are of like condition, 3, 4 touching the outward signs of his grace. 14 That it is absurd, that such should be partakers of the table of the devils, who are partakers of the Lord's Supper. 24 To have consideration of our neighbor in things indifferent.

1 Moreover, ¹brethren, I would not that ye should be ignorant, that all our ²fathers were under ^athat cloud, and all passed through that ^bsea,

2 ¹And were all ²baptized unto ³Moses, in that cloud, and in that sea,

9:23 ¹ That both I and they to whom I preach the Gospel, may receive fruit by the Gospel.

9:24 ¹ He bringeth in another cause of this mischief, to wit, that they were given to gluttony, for there were solemn banquets of sacrifices, and the riot of the Priests was always too much celebrated and kept. Therefore it was hard for them which were accustomed to righteousness, especially when they pretended the liberty of the Gospel, to be restrained from these banquets: but contrarywise, the Apostle calleth them by a pleasant similitude, and also by his own example, to sobriety and mortification of the flesh, showing that they cannot be fit to run or wrestle (as then the games of Isthmians were) which pamper up their bodies, and therefore affirming that they can have no reward, unless they take another course and trade of life.

9:25 ¹ Useth a most exquisite diet.

9:27 ¹ The old man which striveth against the spirit.

² This word (Reproved) is not set as contrary to the word (Elect) but as contrary to the word (Approved) when we see one by experience not to be such an one as he ought to be.

10:1 ¹ He setteth out that which he said, laying before them an example of the horrible judgment of God against them which had in effect the selfsame pledges, of the same adoption and salvation that we have: and yet notwithstanding when they gave themselves to idols' feasts, perished in the wilderness, being horribly and manifoldly punished. Now, moreover and besides that these things are fitly spoken against them which frequented idols' feasts, the same also seems to be alleged to this end and purpose, because many men are thus minded, that those things are not of such great weight, that God will be angry with them if they use them, so that they frequent Christian assemblies and be baptized, and receive the Communion, and confess Christ.

² Paul speaketh thus in respect of the covenant, and not in respect of the persons, saving in general.

10:2 ¹ In effect the Sacrament of the old fathers were all one with ours, for they respected Christ only who offered himself unto them in divers shadows.

² All of them were baptized with the outward sign, but not in deed, wherewith God cannot be charged, but they themselves.

³ Moses being their guide.

10:3 ¹ The same that we do.

² Manna, which was a spiritual meat to the believers, which in faith lay hold upon Christ who is the true meat.

10:4 ¹ Of the river and running Rock, which followed the people.

² Did sacramentally signify Christ, so that together with the sign, there was the thing signified, and the truth itself: for God doth not offer a bare sign, but the thing signifieth by the sign, together with it which is to be received with faith.

10:6 ¹ An amplifying of the example against them which are carried away with their lusts beyond the bounds which God has measured out. For this is the beginning of all evil, as of idolatry (which hath gluttony a companion unto it) fornication, rebelling against Christ, murmuring, and such like, which God punished most sharply in that old people, to the end that we which succeed them, and have a more full declaration of the will of God, might by that means take better heed.

² Some read figures: which signified our sacraments: for circumcision was to the Jews a seal of righteousness, and to us a lively pattern of Baptism, and so in the other Sacraments.

10:9 ¹ To tempt Christ, is to provoke him to a combat as it were which those men do, who abuse the knowledge that he hath given them, and make it to serve for a cloak for their lusts and wickedness.

10:11 ¹ This our age is called the end, for it is the shutting up of all ages.

10:12 ¹ In conclusion, he descendeth to the Corinthians themselves, warning them that they please not themselves, but rather that they prevent the subtleties of Satan. Yet he useth an insinuation, and comforteth them, that he may not seem to make them altogether like to those wicked idolaters and contemners of Christ, which perished in the wilderness.

as appertaineth to ¹man: and God is faithful, which will not suffer you to be tempted above that you be able, but will even ²give the issue with the temptation, that ye may be able to bear it.

14 Wherefore my beloved, flee from idolatry.

15 ¹I speak as unto them which have understanding: judge ye what I say.

16 The cup of ¹blessing which we bless, is it not the ²communion of the blood of Christ? The bread which we break, is it not the communion of the body of Christ?

17 For we that are many, are one bread and one body, because we all are partakers of one bread.

18 Behold Israel, which is after the ¹flesh: are not they which eat of the sacrifices ²partakers of the Altar?

19 What say I then? that the idol is anything? or that that which is sacrificed to idols, is anything?

20 Nay, but that the things which the Gentiles sacrifice, they sacrifice to devils, and not unto God: and I would not that ye should have ¹fellowship with the devils.

21 Ye cannot drink the cup of the Lord, and the ¹cup of the devils. Ye cannot be partakers of the Lord's table, and of the table of the devils.

22 Do we provoke the Lord to anger? are we stronger than he?

10:13 ¹ Which cometh of weakness.

² He that would have you tempted for your profit's sake, will give you an issue to escape out of the temptation.

10:15 ¹ Now returning to those idols' feasts, that he may not seem to dally at all, first he promiseth that he will use no other reasons than such as they knew very well themselves. And he useth an induction borrowed of the agreement that is the things themselves. The holy banquets of the Christians are pledges, first of all of the community that they have with Christ, and next, one with another. The Israelites also do ratify in the sacrifices, their mutual conjunction in one self-same religion: therefore so do the idolaters also join themselves with their idols or devils rather (for idols are nothing) in those solemn banquets, whereupon it followeth, that that table is a table of devils, and therefore you must eschew it: for you cannot be partakers of the Lord and of idols together, much less may such banquets be accounted for things indifferent. Will ye then strive with God? and if you do, think you that you shall get the upper hand?

10:16 ¹ Of thanksgiving: whereupon, that holy banquet was called Eucharist, that is, a thanksgiving.

² A most effectual pledge and note of our knitting together with Christ, and ingrafting to him.

10:18 ¹ That is, as yet observe their ceremonies.

² Are consenting and guilty, both of that worship and sacrifice.

10:20 ¹ Have anything to do with the devils, or enter into that society which is begun on the devil's name.

10:21 ¹ The heathen and profane people were wont to shut up and make an end of their feasts which they kept to the honor of their gods, in offering meat offerings and drink offerings to them, with banquets and feastings.

10:23 ¹ Coming to another kind of things offered to idols, he repeateth that general rule, that in the use of things indifferent we ought to have consideration not of ourselves only, but of our neighbors, and therefore these are many things which of themselves are lawful, which may be evil done of us, because of offense to our neighbor.

² See 1 Cor. 6:13.

10:25 ¹ An applying of the rule to the present matter: Whatsoever is sold in the shambles, you may indifferently buy it as it were at the Lord's hand, and eat it either at home with the faithful, or being called home to the unfaithful, to wit, in a private banquet: but yet with this exception, unless any man is present which is weak, whose conscience may be offended, by setting meats offered to idols before them: for then you ought to have consideration of their weakness.

² The flesh that was sacrificed, was used to be sold in the shambles, and the price returned to the priests.

10:26 ¹ All those things whereof it is full.

10:29 ¹ A reason: for we must take heed that our liberty be not evil spoken of, and that the benefit of God which we ought to use with thanksgiving be not changed into impiety, and that through our fault, if we choose rather to offend the conscience of the weak, than to yield a little of our liberty in a matter of no importance, and so give occasion to the weak to judge in such sort of us, and of Christian liberty. And the Apostle taketh these things upon his own person, that the Corinthians may have so much the less occasion to oppose anything against him.

10:30 ¹ If I may through God's benefits eat this meat, or that meat, why should I through my fault, cause that benefit of God to turn to my blame?

10:31 ¹ The conclusion: We must order our lives in such sort, that we seek not ourselves, but God's glory, and so the salvation of as many as we may, wherein the Apostle flicketh not to propound himself to the Corinthians (even his own flock) as an example, but so that he calleth them back to Christ, unto whom he himself hath regard.

ing mine own profit, but the profit of many, that they might be saved.

11 1 He blameth the Corinthians for that in their holy assemblies, 4 men do pray having their heads covered, 6 and women bareheaded: and because their meetings tended to evil, 21 who mingled profane banquets with the holy Supper of the Lord, 23 which he required to be celebrated according to Christ's institution.

4 ¹Every ²man praying or prophesying having anything on his head, dishonoreth his head.

5 ¹But every woman that prayeth or prophesieth bareheaded, dishonoreth her head: ²for it is even one very thing, as though she were shaven.

6 Therefore if the woman be not covered, let her also be shorn: and if it be shame for a woman to be shorn or shaven, let her be covered.

7 ¹For a man ought not to cover his head: forasmuch as he is the 'image and glory of God: but the woman is the glory of the man.

8 ¹For the man is not of the woman, but the woman of the man.

9 ^{d,1}For the man was not created for the woman's sake: but the woman for the man's sake.

10 ¹Therefore ought the woman to have ²power on her head, because of the ³Angels.

11 ¹Nevertheless, neither is the man without the woman, neither the woman without the man ²in the Lord.

12 For as the woman is of the man, so is the man also by the woman: but all things are of God.

13 ¹Judge in yourselves, Is it comely that a woman pray unto God uncovered?

14 Doth not nature itself teach you, that if a man have long hair, it is a shame unto him?

15 But if a woman have long hair, it is a praise unto her: for her hair is given her for a ¹covering.

16 ¹But if any man list to be contentious, we have no such custom, neither the Churches of God.

17 ¶ ¹Now in this that I declare, I praise you not,

11:2 ¹ The fifth treatise of this epistle concerning the right ordering of public assemblies, containing three points, to wit, of the comely apparel of men and women, of the order of the Lord's supper, and of the right use of spiritual gifts. But going about to reprehend certain things, he beginneth notwithstanding with a general praise of them, calling those particular laws of comeliness and honesty, which belong to the ecclesiastical policy, traditions: which afterward they called Canons.

11:3 ¹ He setteth down God, in Christ our mediator, for the end and mark not only of doctrine, but also of ecclesiastical comeliness. Then applying it to the question proposed, touching the comely apparel both of men and women in public assemblies, he declareth that the woman is one degree beneath the man by the ordinance of God, and that the man is so subject to Christ, that the glory of God ought to appear in him for the preeminence of the sex.

² In that, that Christ is our mediator.

11:4 ¹ Hereof he gathereth that if men do either pray or preach in public assemblies having their heads covered (which was then a sign of subjection) they did as it were spoil themselves of their dignity, against God's ordinance.

² It appeareth that this was a political law serving only for the circumstances of the time that Paul lived in, by this reason, because in these our days for a man to speak bareheaded in an assembly, is a sign of subjection.

11:5 ¹ And in like sort he concludeth, that women which show themselves in public and ecclesiastical assemblies without the sign and token of their subjection, that is to say, uncovered, shame themselves.

² The first argument taken from the common sense of man, forasmuch as nature teacheth women, that it is dishonest for them to come abroad bareheaded, seeing that she hath given them thick and long hair, which they do so diligently trim and deck, that they can in no wise abide to have it shaven.

11:7 ¹ The taking away of an objection: Have not men also hair given to them? I grant, saith the Apostle, but there is another matter in it: For man was made to this end and purpose, that the glory of God should appear in his rule and authority: but the woman was made, that by profession of her obedience, she might more honor her husband.

11:8 ¹ He proveth the inequality of the woman, by that, that the man is the matter whereof woman was first made.

11:9 ¹ Secondly, by that, that the woman was made for man, and not the man for the woman's sake.

11:10 ¹ The conclusion: Women must be covered, to show by this external sign their subjection.

² A covering which is a token of subjection.

³ What this meaneth, I do not yet understand.

11:11 ¹ A digression which the Apostle useth, lest that which he spake of the superior tie of men, and the lower degrees of women in consideration of the policy of the Church, should be so taken as though there were no measure of this inequality. Therefore he teacheth that men have in such sort the preeminence, that God made them not alone, but women also: and woman was so made of man, that men also are born by the means of women, and this ought to put them in mind to observe the degree of every sex, in such sort that mutual conjunction may be cherished.

² By the Lord.

11:13 ¹ He urgeth the argument taken from the common sense of nature.

11:15 ¹ To be a covering for her, and such a covering as should procure another.

11:16 ¹ Against such as are stubbornly contentious we have to oppose this, that the Churches of God are not contentious.

11:17 ¹ He passeth now to the next treatise concerning the right administration of the Lord's Supper. And the Apostle useth this sharper preface that the Corinthians might understand, that whereas they observed generally the Apostle's commandments, yet they foully neglected them in a matter of greatest importance.

that ye come together, not with profit, but with hurt.

18 ¹For first of all, when ye come together in the Church, I hear that there are dissensions among you: and I believe it to be true in some part.

19 ¹For there must be heresies even among you, that they which are ²approved among you, might be known.

20 When ye come together therefore into one place, this is ¹not to eat the Lord's Supper.

21 For every man when they should eat, taketh his own supper ¹afore, and one is hungry, and another is drunken.

22 ¹Have ye not houses to eat and to drink in? despise ye the Church of God, and shame them that have not? what shall I say to you? shall I praise you in this? I praise you not.

23 ¹For I have received of the Lord that which I also have delivered unto you, to wit, That the Lord Jesus in the night when he was betrayed, took bread.

24 ¹And when he had given thanks, he brake it, and said, Take, eat: this is my body, which is ¹broken for you: this do ye in remembrance of me.

25 After the same manner also he took the cup, when he had supped, saying, This cup is the New Testament in my blood: this do as oft as ye drink it, in remembrance of me.

26 For as often as ye shall eat this bread, and drink

^c Matt. 25:26
Mark 14:21
Luke 22:19
^f 1 Cor. 13:5

this cup, ye show the Lord's death till he come.

27 ¹Wherefore, whosoever shall eat this bread, and drink the cup of the Lord ²unworthily, shall be guilty of the body and blood of the Lord.

28 ^f¹Let ²every man therefore examine himself, and so let them eat of this bread, and drink of this cup.

29 For he that eateth and drinketh unworthily, eateth and drinketh his own damnation, because he ¹discerneth not the Lord's body.

30 ¹For this cause many are weak, and sick among you, and many sleep.

31 For if we would ¹judge ourselves, we should not be judged.

32 But when we are judged, we are chastened of the Lord, because we should not be condemned with the world.

33 ¹Wherefore, my brethren, when ye come together to eat, tarry one for another.

34 ¹And if any man be hungry, let him eat at home, that ye come not together unto condemnation. ²Other things will I set in order when I come.

12 ¹ To draw away the Corinthians from contention and pride, he sheweth that spiritual gifts are therefore diversely bestowed, 7 that the same being jointly to each other employed, 12 we may grow up together into one body of Christ in such equal proportion and measure, 20 as the members of man's body do.

11:18 ¹ To celebrate the Lord's Supper aright, it is required that there be not only consent of doctrine, but also of affections, that it be not profaned.

11:19 ¹ Although that schisms and heresies proceed from the devil, are evil, and yet they come not by chance, nor without cause, and they turn to the profit of the elect.

² Whom experience hath taught to be of sound Religion and godliness.

11:20 ¹ This is an usual kind of speech, whereby the Apostle denieth that flatly, which many did not well.

11:21 ¹ Eateth his meat and tarrieth not till other come.

11:22 ¹ The Apostle thinketh it good to take away the love feasts, for their abuse, although they had been a long time, and with commendation used in Churches, and were appointed and instituted by the Apostles.

11:23 ¹ We must take a true form of keeping the Lord's Supper, out of the institution of it, the parts whereof are these, touching the Pastors, to show forth the Lord's death, by preaching his word: to bless the bread and the wine by calling upon the name of God, and together with prayers to declare the institution thereof, and finally to deliver the bread broken to be eaten, and the cup received to be drunk with thanksgiving. And touching the flock, that every man examine himself, that is to say, to prove both his knowledge, and also faith and repentance: to show forth the Lord's death, that is, in true faith to yield unto his word and institution: and last of all, to take the bread at the Minister's hand, and to eat it and to drink the wine, and give God thanks: This was Paul's and the Apostles' manner of ministering.

11:24 ¹ This word (Broken) noteth out unto us Christ his manner of death, for although his legs were not broken, as the thieves legs were, yet was his body very sore tormented, and torn, and bruised.

11:27 ¹ Whoever contemn the holy Sacrament: that is, use them not aright, are guilty not of the bread and wine, but of the thing itself, that is of Christ, and shall be grievously punished for it.

² Otherwise then meet is such mysteries should be handled.

11:28 ¹ The examination of a man's self, is of necessity required in the Supper and therefore they ought not to be admitted unto it, which cannot examine themselves: as children, furious and mad men, also such as either have no knowledge of Christ, or not sufficient, although they profess Christian Religion: and others such like.

² This place beateth down the faith of credit, or unwrapped faith, which the Papists maintain.

11:29 ¹ He is said to discern the Lord's body, that hath consideration of the worthiness of it, and therefore cometh to eat of this meat with great reverence.

11:30 ¹ The profaning of the body and blood of the Lord in his mysteries is sharply punished of him, and therefore such a mischief ought diligently to be prevented by judging and correcting of a man's self.

11:31 ¹ Try and examine ourselves, by faith and repentance, separating yourselves from the wicked.

11:33 ¹ The Supper of the Lord is a common action of the whole Church, and therefore there is no place, for private suppers.

11:34 ¹ The Supper of the Lord was instituted not to feed the belly but to feed the soul with the communion of Christ, and therefore it ought to be separate from common banquets.

² Such things as pertain to order, as place, time, form of prayers, and other such like, the Apostle took order for in Congregations according to the consideration of times, places and persons.

1 Now ¹concerning spiritual gifts, brethren, I would not have you ²ignorant.

2 ¹Ye know that ye were ²Gentiles, and were carried away unto the dumb idols, as ye were led.

3 ¹Wherefore I declare unto you, that no man ^aspeaking by the spirit of God, calleth Jesus ^{b,2}execrable: also no man can say that Jesus is the Lord, but by the holy Ghost.

4 ¹Now there are diversities of gifts, but the ²same Spirit.

5 And there are diversities of administrations, but the same Lord.

6 And there are diversities of ¹operations, but God is the same which worketh all in all.

7 But the manifestation of the Spirit is ¹given to every man, to ²profit withal.

8 ¹For to one is given by the Spirit the word of ²wisdom: and to another the word of knowledge, by the same Spirit:

9 And to another is given faith by the same Spirit: and to another the gifts of healing, by the same Spirit:

10 And to another the ¹operations of great works: and to another, ²prophecy: and to another, the ³discerning of spirits: and to another, diversities of tongues: and to another, the interpretation of tongues.

11 ¹And all these things worketh one and the selfsame Spirit, distributing to every man severally ¹as he will.

12 ¹For as the body is one, and hath many members, and all the members of the body, which is one, though they be many, yet are but one body: ²even so is ³Christ.

13 For by one Spirit are we all baptized into ¹one body, whether we be Jews, or Grecians, whether we be bond, or free, and have been all made to ²drink into one Spirit.

14 ¹For the body also is not one member, but many.

15 ¹If the foot would say, Because I am not the hand, I am not of the body, is it therefore not of the body?

12:1 ¹ Now he entereth into the third part of this treatise, touching the right use of spiritual gifts, wherein he giveth the Corinthians plainly to understand that they abused them: for they that excelled, bragged ambitiously of them, and so robbed God of the praise of his gifts: and having no consideration of their brethren abused to a vain ostentation, and so robbed the Church of the use of those gifts. On the other side, the inferior sort envied the better, and went about to make a departure, so that all that body was as it were scattered and rent in pieces. So then he going about to remedy these abuses, will-eth them first to consider diligently, that they have not these gifts of themselves, but from the free grace and liberality of God, to whose glory they ought to bestow them all.

² Ignorant to what purpose those gifts are given you.

12:2 ¹ He proveth the same by comparing their former state with that wherein they were at this time endued with those excellent gifts.

² As touching God's service and the Covenant, mere strangers.

12:3 ¹ The conclusion: Know you therefore, that you cannot so much as move your lips to honor Christ withal, but by the grace of the holy Ghost.

² Doth curse him, only any means whatsoever diminish his glory.

12:4 ¹ In the second place, he layeth another foundation, to wit, that these gifts are divers, as the functions also are divers, and their offices divers, but that one selfsame Spirit Lord and God is the giver of all these gifts, and that to one end, to wit, for the profit of all.

² The Spirit is plainly distinguished from the gifts.

12:6 ¹ So Paul endeth that inward force which cometh from the holy Ghost, and maketh men fit to wonderful things.

12:7 ¹ The holy Ghost openeth and showeth himself freely in giving of these gifts.

² To the use and benefit of the Church.

12:8 ¹ He declareth this manifold diversity, and reckoneth up the chiefest gifts, beating that into their heads, which he said before, to wit, that all these things proceeded from one selfsame Spirit.

² Wisdom is a most excellent gift, very requisite, not only for them which teach, but also for them that exhort and comfort, which thing is proper to the Pastor's office, as the word of knowledge agreeth to the Doctors.

12:10 ¹ By operation he meaneth those great workings of God's mighty power, which pass and excel amongst his miracles, as the delivery of his people Israel by the hand of Moses: that which he did by Elijah against the Priests of Baal, in sending down fire from heaven to consume his sacrifice: and that which he did by Peter in the matter of Ananias and Sapphira.

² Foretelling of things to come.

³ Whereby false prophets are known from true, wherein Peter passed Philip in discovering Simon Magus, Acts 8:20.

12:11 ¹ He addeth moreover something else, to wit, that although these gifts are unequal, yet they are most wisely divided, because the will of the Spirit of God is the rule of this distribution.

12:12 ¹ He setteth forth his former saying by a similitude taken from the body: This saith he, is manifestly seen in the body, whose members are divers, but yet so knit together, that they make but one body.

² The applying of the similitude. So must we also think, saith he, of the mystical body of Christ: for all we that believe, whether we be Jews or Gentiles, are by one selfsame Baptism joined together with our head, that by that means, there may be framed one body compact of many members: and we have drunk one selfsame spirit, that is to say, a spiritual feeling, perseverance and motion common to us all, out of one cup.

³ Christ joined together with his Church.

12:13 ¹ To become one body with Christ.

² By one quickening drink of the Lord's blood, we are made partakers of his only Spirit.

12:14 ¹ He amplifieth that which followed of the similitudes, as if he should say, The unity of the body is not only not left by this diversity of members, but also it could not be a body, if it did not consist of many, and those were divers members.

12:15 ¹ Now he buildeth his doctrine upon the foundations which he had laid: and first of all he continueth in his purposed similitude, and afterward he goeth to the matter barely and simply. And first of all he speaketh unto them which would have separated themselves from those whom they envied, because they had not such excellent gifts as they: now this is, saith he, as if the foot should say it were not of the body, because it is not the hand: or the ear, because it is not the eye. Therefore all parts ought rather to defend the unity of the body, being coupled together to serve one the other.

16 And if the ear would say, Because I am not the eye, I am not of the body, is it therefore not of the body?

17 ¹If the whole body were an eye, where were the hearing? If the whole were hearing, where were the smelling?

18 But now hath God disposed the members every one of them in the body at his own pleasure.

19 For if they were all one member, where were the body?

20 But now are there many members, yet but one body.

21 ¹And the eye cannot say unto the hand, I have no need of thee: nor the head again to the feet, I have no need of you.

22 Yea, much rather those members of the body, which seem to be ¹more feeble, are necessary.

23 And upon those members of the body, which we think most dishonest, put we more ¹honesty on: and our uncomely parts have more comeliness on.

24 For our comely parts need it not: but God hath tempered the body together: and hath given the more honor to that part which lacked,

25 Lest there should be any division in the body: but that the members should have the same ¹care one for another.

26 ¹Therefore if one member suffer, all suffer with it: if one member be had in honor, all the members rejoice with it.

^a Matt. 17:20

27 Now ye are the body of Christ, and members for your ¹part.

28 ^dAnd God hath ordained some in the Church: as first Apostles, secondly Prophets, thirdly teachers, then them that do miracles: after that, the gifts of healing, ¹helpers, ²governors, diversity of tongues.

29 Are all Apostles? are all Prophets? are all teachers?

30 Are all doers of miracles? have all the gifts of healing? do all speak with tongues? do all interpret?

31 ¹But desire you the best gifts, and I will yet show you a more excellent way.

13 ¹He sheweth that there are gifts so excellent, which in God's sight are not corrupt, if Charity be away: ⁴and therefore he digresseth unto the commendation of it.

1 Though ¹I speak with the tongues of men and ²Angels, and have not love, I am as sounding brass, or a ³tinkling cymbal.

2 And though I had the gift of prophecy, and knew all secrets and all knowledge, yea, if I had all ¹faith, so that I could remove ^amountains, and had not love, I were nothing.

3 And though I feed the poor with all my goods, and though I give my body, that I be burned, and have not love, it profiteth me nothing.

4 ¹Love ²suffereth long: it is bountiful: love envieth

12:17 ¹ Again, speaking to them, he sheweth them that if that should come to pass which they desire, to wit, that all should be equal one to another, there would follow a destruction of the whole body, yea, and of themselves: for it could not be a body, unless it were made of many members knit together, and divers one from another. And that no man might find fault with this division as unequal, he addeth that God himself hath coupled all these together. Therefore all must remain coupled together, that the body may remain in safety.

12:21 ¹ Now on the other side, he speaketh unto them which were endued with more excellent gifts, willing them not to despise the inferiors as unprofitable, and as though they served to no use: for God, saith he, hath in such sort tempered this inequality, that the more excellent and beautiful members can in no wise lack the more abject and such as we are ashamed of, and that they should have more care to see unto them, and to cover them: that by this means the necessity which is on both parts, might keep the whole body in peace and concord: that although if each part be considered apart, they are of divers degrees and conditions, yet because they are joined together, they have a community both in commodities and discommodities.

12:22 ¹ Of the smallest and vilest offices, and therefore finally accounted of, of the rest.

12:23 ¹ We more carefully cover them.

12:25 ¹ Should bestow their operations and offices to the profit and preservation of the whole body.

12:26 ¹ Now he applieth the same doctrine to the Corinthians without any allegory, warning them that seeing there are divers functions and divers gifts, it is their duty, not to offend one against another, either by envy or ambition, but rather that they being joined together in love and charity one with another, every one of them bestow to the profit of all, that which he hath received, according as his ministry doth require.

12:27 ¹ For all churches wheresoever they are dispersed through the whole world, are divers members of one body.

12:28 ¹ The offices of Deacons.

² He setteth forth the order of Elders, which were the maintainers of the Church's discipline.

12:31 ¹ He teacheth them that are ambitious and envious, a certain holy ambition and envy, to wit, if they give themselves to the best gifts, and such as are most profitable to the Church, and so if they contend to excel one another in love, which surpasseth all other gifts.

13:1 ¹ He reasoneth first of Charity, the excellency whereof he first sheweth by this, that without it, all other gifts are as nothing before God which thing he proveth partly by an induction, and partly also by an argument taken of the end, wherefor those gifts are given. For to what purpose are those gifts, but to God's glory, and the profit of the Church, as is before proved? so that those gifts, without Charity, have no right use.

² A very earnest kind of amplifying a matter, as if he said, If there were any tongues of Angels, and I had them, and did not use them to the benefit of my neighbor, it were nothing else but a vain and prattling type of babbling.

³ That giveth a rude and no certain sound.

13:2 ¹ By faith, he meaneth the gift of doing miracles, and not that faith which justified, which cannot be void of Charity as the other may.

13:4 ¹ He describeth the force and nature of charity, partly by a comparison of contraries, and partly by the effects of itself: whereby the Corinthians may understand, both how profitable it is in the Church, and how necessary and also how far they are from it: and therefore how vainly and without cause they are proud.

² Word for word deferreth wrath.

not: love doth not boast itself: it is not puffed up:

5 It doth ¹no uncomely thing: it seeketh not her own thing: it is not provoked to anger: it thinketh no evil:

6 It rejoiceth not in iniquity, but ¹rejoiceth in the truth:

7 It suffereth all things: it believeth all things: it hopeth all things: it endureth all things.

8 ¹Love doth never fall away, though that prophesyings be abolished, or the tongues cease, or ²knowledge vanish away.

9 ¹For we know in ²part, and we prophesy in part.

10 But when that which is perfect, is come, then that which is in part shall be abolished.

11 ¹When I was a child, I spake as a child: I understood as a child, I thought as a child: but when I became a man, I put away childish things.

12 ¹For ²now we see through a glass darkly: but then shall we see face to face. Now I know in part:

but then shall I know even as I am known.

13 ¹And now abideth faith, hope and love, even these three: but the chiefest of these is love.

14 ¹He commendeth the gifts of prophesying: ⁷and by a similitude taken of musical instruments, ¹²he teacheth the true use of interpreting the Scriptures: ¹⁷he taketh away the abuse: ³⁴And forbiddeth women to speak in the Congregation.

1 Follow ¹after love, and covet spiritual gifts, and rather that ye may ²prophesy.

2 ¹For he that speaketh a strange ²tongue, speaketh not unto men, but unto God: for no man heareth him: howbeit in the ³spirit he speaketh secret things.

3 But he that prophesieth, speaketh unto men to ¹edifying, and to exhortation, and to comfort.

4 He that speaketh strange language, edifieth himself: but he that prophesieth, edifieth the ¹Church.

5 I would that ye all spake strange languages, but rather that ye prophesied: for greater is he that 13:5 ¹ It is not contumelious.

13:6 ¹ Rejoice that righteousness in the righteous. For the Hebrews mean by truth, righteousness.

13:8 ¹ Again he commendeth the excellency of charity, in that that it shall never be abolished in the Saints, whereas the other gifts which are necessary for the building up of the Church, so long as we live here, shall have no place in the world to come.

13:9 ¹ The reason: Because we are now in the state, that we have need to learn daily, and therefore we have need of those helps, to wit, of the gift of tongues, and knowledge, and also of those that teach them. But to what purpose serve they then, when we have obtained and gotten the full knowledge of God, which serve now but for them which are imperfect, and go by degrees to perfection?

² We learn imperfectly.

13:11 ¹ He setteth forth that that he said, by an excellent similitude, comparing this life to our infancy or childhood, wherein we stagger and stammer rather than speak, and think and understand but childish things, and therefore have need of such things as may form and frame our tongue and mind: But when we become men, to what purpose should we desire that stammering, those childish toys, and such like things, whereby our childhood is framed by little and little?

13:12 ¹ The applying of the similitude of our childhood to this present life, wherein we darkly behold heavenly things, according to the small measure of light which is given us, through the understanding of tongues, and hearing the teachers and ministers of the Church: of our man's age and strength, to that heavenly and eternal life, wherein when we behold God himself present, and are lightened with his full and perfect light, to what purpose should we desire the voice of man, and those worldly things which are most imperfect? But yet then, shall all the Saints be knit both with God, and between themselves with most fervent love, and therefore charity shall not be abolished, but perfected, although it shall not be sheweth forth and entertained by such manner of duties as peculiarly and only belong to the infirmity of this life.

² All this must be understood by comparison.

13:13 ¹ The conclusion: As if the Apostle should say, Such therefore shall be our condition then: but now we have three things, and they remain sure if we be Christ's as without which true religion cannot consist, to wit, faith, hope, and charity. And among these, charity is the chiefest, because it ceaseth not in the life to come as the rest do, but is perfected and accomplished. For seeing that faith and hope tend to things which are promised, and are to come, when we have presently gotten them, to what purpose should we have faith and hope? but yet there at length shall we truly and perfectly love both God, and one another.

14:1 ¹ He inferreth now that, that he spake before: Therefore seeing charity is the chiefest of all, before all things set it before you as chief and principal: and so esteem those things as most excellent: which profit the greater part of men: (as prophecy that is to say, the gifts of teaching and applying the doctrine, which was contemned in respect of other gifts, although it be chiefest and most necessary for the Church) and not those which for a show seem to be marvelous as the gifts of tongues, when a man was suddenly endued with the knowledge of many tongues, which made men greatly amazed, and yet of itself was not greatly to any use, unless there were an interpreter.

² What prophecy is, he sheweth in the third verse.

14:2 ¹ He reprehendeth their perverse judgment touching the gift of tongues. For why was it given? to wit, to the intent that the mysteries of God might be the better known to a greater sort. Thereby it is evident that Prophecy, whereunto the gift of tongues ought to serve, is better than this: and therefore the Corinthians did judge amiss, in that they made more account of the gift of tongues, than of prophesying: because forsooth the gift of tongues was a thing more to be bragged of. And hereupon followed another abuse of the gift of tongues, in that the Corinthians used tongues in the Congregation, without an interpreter. Which thing although it might be done to some profit of him, that spake them, yet he corrupted the right use of that gift, because there came thereby no profit to the hearers: and common assemblies were instituted and appointed not for any private man's commodity, but for the profit of the whole company.

² A strange language, which no man can understand without an interpreter.

³ By that inspiration which he has received of the Spirit, which notwithstanding he abuseth, when he speaketh mysteries which none of the company can understand.

14:3 ¹ Which may further men in the study of godliness.

14:4 ¹ The company.

prophesieth, than he that speaketh diverse tongues, except he expound it, that the Church may receive edification.

6 And now, brethren, if I come unto you speaking diverse tongues, what shall I profit you, except I speak to you, either by revelation, or by knowledge, or by prophesying, or by doctrine?

7 ¹Moreover things without life which give a sound, whether it be a pipe or an harp, except they make a distinction in the sounds, how shall it be known what is piped or harped?

8 And also if the trumpet give an uncertain sound, who shall prepare himself to battle?

9 So likewise you, by the tongue, except ye utter words that have ¹signification, how shall it be understood what is spoken? for ye shall speak in the air.

10 ¹There are so many kinds of voices (as it cometh to pass) in the world, and none of them is dumb.

11 Except I know then the power of the voice, I shall be unto him that speaketh a Barbarian, and he that ¹speaketh, shall be a Barbarian unto me.

12 Even so, forasmuch as ye covet spiritual gifts, seek that ye may excel unto the edifying of the Church.

13 Wherefore, let him that speaketh a strange tongue, ¹pray that he may interpret.

14 ¹For ²if I pray in a strange tongue, my ³spirit prayeth: but mine understanding is ⁴without fruit.

CHAPTER 14

^a Matt. 28:3

^b Isa. 28:11

15 What is it then? I will pray with the spirit, but I will pray with the ¹understanding also: I will sing with the spirit: but I will sing with the understanding also.

16 ¹Else, when thou blessest with the ²spirit, how shall he that ³occupieth the room of the unlearned, say ⁴Amen, at thy giving of thanks, seeing he knowest not what thou sayest?

17 For thou verily givest thanks well, but the other is not edified.

18 ¹I thank my God, I speak languages more than ye all.

19 Yet had I rather in the Church to speak ¹five words with mine understanding, that I might also instruct others, than ten thousand words in a strange tongue.

20 ¹Brethren, be not ⁴children in understanding, but as concerning maliciousness be children, but in understanding be of a ripe age.

21 In the ¹Law it is written, ⁶By men of other tongues, and by other languages will I speak unto this people: yet so shall they not hear me, saith the Lord.

22 ¹Wherefore strange tongues are for a sign, not to them that believe, but to them that believe not: but prophesying serveth not for them that believe not, but for them which believe.

23 ¹If therefore, when the whole Church is come together in one, and all speak strange tongues, there come in they that are ²unlearned, or they which believe

14:7 ¹ He setteth forth that which he said, by a similitude, which he borroweth and taketh from instruments of music, which although they speak not perfectly, yet they are distinguished by their sounds, that they may be the better used.

14:9 ¹ That do fitly utter the matter itself.

14:10 ¹ He proveth that interpretation is necessarily to be joined with the gift of tongues, by the manifold variety of languages, inso-much that if one speak to another without an interpreter, it is as if he spake not.

14:11 ¹ As the Papists in all their sermons and they that ambitiously pour out some Hebrew or Greek words in the Pulpit before the unlearned people, thereby to get them a name of vain learning.

14:12 ¹ The conclusion: if they will excel in those spiritual gifts, as it is meet, they must seek the profit of the Church, and therefore they must not use gift of tongues, unless there is an interpreter to expound the strange and unknown tongue, whether it be himself that speaketh, or another interpreter.

14:13 ¹ Pray for the gift of interpretation.

14:14 ¹ A reason: Because it is not sufficient for us to speak so in the Congregation, that we ourselves do worship God in spirit, that is, according to the gift that we have received, but we must also be understood of the company, lest that be unprofitable to others which we have spoken.

² If I pray, when the church is assembled together, in a strange tongue.

³ The gift and inspiration which the spirit giveth me, doeth his part, but only to myself.

⁴ No fruit cometh to the Church by my prayers.

14:15 ¹ So that I may be understood of others, and may instruct others.

14:16 ¹ Another reason: Seeing that the whole Congregation must agree to him that speaketh, and also witness this agreement, how shall they give their assent or agreement which know not what is spoken?

² Only without all consideration of the hearers.

³ He that sitteth as a private man.

⁴ So then one uttered the prayers, and all the company answered, Amen.

14:18 ¹ He propoundeth himself for an example, both that they may be ashamed of their foolish ambition, and also that he may eschew all suspicion of envy.

14:19 ¹ A very few words.

14:20 ¹ Now he reproveth them freely for their childish folly, which see not how this gift of tongues which was given to the profit of the Church, is turned by their ambition into an instrument of cursing, seeing that this same also is contained amongst the punishments wherewith God punished the stubbornness of his people, that he dispersed them amongst strangers whose language they understood not.

14:21 ¹ By the Law he understandeth all the whole Scripture.

14:22 ¹ The conclusion: Therefore the gift of tongues serveth to punish the unfaithful and unbelievers, unless it be referred to prophecy (that is to say, to the interpretation of Scripture) and that that which is spoken, be by the means understood of the hearers.

14:23 ¹ Another argument: The gift of tongues without prophecy is not only unprofitable to the faithful: but also doth very much hurt as well to them as to the unfaithful which should be won in the public assemblies. For by this means it cometh to pass, that the faithful seem to others to be mad, much less can the unfaithful be instructed thereby.

not, will they not say, that ye are out of your wits?

24 But if all prophesy, and there come in one that believeth not, or one unlearned, he is rebuked of all men, and is judged of all,

25 And so are the secrets of his heart made manifest, and so he will fall down on his face and worship God, and say plainly that God is in you indeed.

26 ¹What is to be done then, brethren? when ye come together, according as every one of you hath a Psalm, or hath doctrine, or hath a tongue, or hath revelation, or hath interpretation, let all things be done unto edifying.

27 ¹If any man speak a strange tongue, let it be by two, or at the most, by three, and that by course, and let one interpret.

28 But if there be no interpreter, let him keep silence in the Church, which speaketh languages, and let him speak to himself, and to God.

29 ¹Let the Prophets speak, two or three, and let the others judge.

30 And if anything be revealed to another that sitteth by, let the first hold his peace.

31 For ye may all prophesy one by one, that all may learn, and all may have comfort.

32 And the ¹spirits of the Prophets are subject to the Prophets.

33 For God is not the author of confusion, but of peace, as we see in all the Churches of the Saints.

34 ⁴¹Let your women keep silence in the Churches: for it is not permitted unto them to speak: but they ought to be subject, as also ⁴the Law saith.

35 And if they will learn anything, let them ask their husbands at home: for it is a shame for women to speak in the Church.

came it unto you only?

37 If any man think himself to be a Prophet, or ¹spiritual, let him acknowledge, that the things that I write unto you, are the commandments of the Lord.

38 ¹And if any man be ignorant, let him be ignorant.

39 ¹Wherefore, brethren, covet to prophesy, and forbid not to speak languages.

40 Let all things be done honestly, and by order.

15 ¹ The Gospel that Paul preached. ³ The death and resurrection of Christ. ⁸ Paul saw Christ. ⁹ He had persecuted that Church, whereof afterward he was made a minister. ¹² Christ first rose again, and we all shall rise by him. ²⁶ The last enemy, death. ²⁹ To be baptized for dead. ³² At Ephesus Paul fought with beasts. ³⁵ How the dead are raised. ⁴⁵ The first Adam. The last Adam, ⁴⁷ The first and second man. ⁵¹ We shall all be changed, we shall not all sleep. ⁵⁵ Death's sting. ⁵⁷ Victory. ⁵⁸ Constancy and steadfastness.

1 Moreover ^{a,1}brethren, I declare unto you the Gospel which I preached unto you, which ye have also received, and wherein ye ²continue,

2 And whereby ye are saved, if ye keep in memory, after what manner I preached it unto you, ¹except ye have believed in vain.

3 For first of all, I delivered unto you that which I received, how that Christ died for our sins, according to the ^bScriptures,

4 And that he was buried, and that he arose the third day, according to the ^cScriptures,

5 ^dAnd that he was seen of Cephas, then of the ¹twelve.

14:26 ¹ The conclusion: The edifying of the Congregation is a rule and square of the right use of all spiritual gifts.

14:27 ¹ The manner how to use the gift of tongues. It may be lawful for one or two, or at the most three, to use the gift of tongues, one after another in an assembly, so that there be some to expound the same: but if there are none to expound, let him that hath that gift, speak to himself alone.

14:29 ¹ The manner of prophesying: Let two or three propound, and let the other judge of that that is propounded, whether it be agreeable to the word of God or no: If in this examination the Lord give any man nought to speak, let them give him leave to speak. Let every man be admitted to prophesy, severally and in his order, so far forth as it is required for the edifying of the Church. Let them be content to be subject to each other's judgment.

14:32 ¹ The doctrine which the Prophets bring which are inspired with God's Spirit.

14:34 ¹ Women are commanded to be silent in public assemblies, and they are commanded to ask of their husbands at home.

14:36 ¹ A general conclusion of the treatise of the right use of spiritual gifts in assemblies: with a sharp reprehension, lest the Corinthians might alone seem to themselves to be wise.

14:37 ¹ Skillful in knowing and judging spiritual things.

14:38 ¹ The Church ought not to care for such as be stubbornly ignorant, and will not abide to be taught, but to go forward notwithstanding in those things which are right.

14:39 ¹ Prophecy ought simply to be retained and kept in Congregations, the gift of tongues is not to be forbidden, but all things must be done orderly.

15:1 ¹ The sixth treatise of this Epistle, concerning the resurrection: and he useth a transition, or passing over from one matter to another, showing first that he bringeth no new thing, to the end that the Corinthians might understand that they had begun to swerve from the right course: and next that he goeth not about to treat of a trifling matter, but of another chief point of the Gospel, which if it be taken away, their faith must needs come to nought. And so at the length he beginneth this treatise at Christ's resurrection, which is the ground and foundation of ours, and confirmeth it first by the testimony of the Scriptures, and by the witness of the Apostles, and of more than five hundred brethren, and last of all his own.

² In the profession whereof you continue yet.

15:2 ¹ Which is very absurd, and cannot be, but that they believe, must reap the fruit of faith.

15:5 ¹ Of those twelve picked and chosen Apostles, which were commonly called twelve, though Judas was put out of the number.

6 After that, he was seen of more than five hundred brethren at ¹once: whereof many remain unto this present, and some also are asleep.

7 After that, he was seen of James: then of all the Apostles.

8 ^{c,1}And last of all he was seen also of me, as of one born out of due time.

9 ¹For I am the least of the Apostles, which am not meet to be called an Apostle, because I persecuted the Church of God.

10 ⁸But by the grace of God I am that I am: and his grace which is in me, was not in vain: but I labored more abundantly than they all: yet not I, but the grace of God which is with me.

11 Wherefore, whether it were I, or they, so we preach, and so have ye believed.

12 ¶ ¹Now if it be preached, that Christ is risen from the dead, how say some among you, that there is no resurrection of the dead?

13 ¹For if there be no resurrection of the dead, then is Christ not risen:

14 ¹And if Christ be not risen, then is our preaching vain, and your faith is also vain.

ⁱ 1 Thess. 4:13

15 And we are found also false witnesses of God: for we have testified of God, that he hath raised up Christ: whom he hath not raised up, if so be the dead be not raised.

16 ¹For if the dead be not raised, then is Christ not raised.

17 And if Christ be not raised, your faith is vain: ¹ye are ²yet in your sins.

18 ¹And so they which are asleep in Christ, are perished.

19 ¹If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we are of all men the most miserable.

20 ¹But now is Christ risen from the dead, ²and was made the ^{h,3}firstfruits of them that slept.

21 ¹For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead.

22 For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be ¹made alive.

23 ¹But every man in his ¹own order: the firstfruits is Christ, afterward, they that are of Christ, at his coming shall rise again.

24 ¹Then shall be the ²end, when he hath delivered up the kingdom to God, even the Father, when he hath 15:6 ¹ Not fewer all times, but together and at one instant.

15:8 ¹ He maintaineth by the way, the authority of his Apostleship, which was requisite to be in good credit among the Corinthians, that this Epistle might be of force and weight amongst them. In the mean season he compareth himself to such sort after a certain divine art with certain others, that he maketh himself inferior to them all.

15:12 ¹ The first argument to prove that there is a resurrection from the dead: Christ is risen again, therefore the dead shall rise again.

15:13 ¹ The second by an absurdity, If there is no resurrection of the dead, then is not Christ risen again.

15:14 ¹ The proof of that absurdity by other absurdities: If Christ be not risen again, the preaching of the Gospel is in vain, and the credit that you gave unto it is vain, and we are liars.

15:16 ¹ He repeateth the same argument taken of an absurdity, purposing to show how faith is in vain if the resurrection of Christ be taken away.

15:17 ¹ First, seeing death is the punishment of sin, in vain should we believe that our sins were forgiven us, if they remain: but they do remain, if Christ rose not from death.

² They are yet in their sins, which are not sanctified, nor have obtained remission of their sins.

15:18 ¹ Secondly, unless that this be certain that Christ rose again, all they which died in Christ, are perished. So then what profit cometh of faith?

15:19 ¹ The third argument, which is also taken from an absurdity: for unless there be another life, wherein such as trust and believe in Christ shall be blessed, they were the most miserable of all creatures, because in this life they are the most miserable.

15:20 ¹ A conclusion of the former argument: Therefore Christ is risen again.

² He putteth the last conclusion for the first proposition of the argument that followeth. Christ is risen again, Therefore shall we the faithful (for of them he speaketh) rise again: Then followeth the first reason of this consequent: for Christ is set forth unto us, to be considered of, not as a private man apart and by himself, but as the firstfruits: And he taketh that which was known, to all men, to wit, that the whole heap is sanctified in the firstfruits.

³ He alludeth to the firstfruits of corn, the offering whereof sanctified the rest of the fruits.

15:21 ¹ Another confirmation of the same consequent: for Christ is to be considered as opposite to Adam, that as from one man Adam, sin came over all, so from one man Christ, life cometh unto all: that is to say, that all the faithful, as they die, because by nature they were born of Adam, so because in Christ they are made the children of God by grace, they are quickened and restored to life by him.

15:22 ¹ Shall rise by the virtue of Christ.

15:23 ¹ He doeth two things together: for he sheweth that the resurrection is in such sort common to Christ with all his members, that notwithstanding he far passeth them, both in time (for he was the first that rose again from the dead) and also in honor, because that from him and in him is all our life and glory. Then by this occasion he passeth in the next argument.

15:24 ¹ The fourth argument, wherewith also he confirmeth the others, hath a most sure ground, to wit, because that God must reign. And this is the manner of his reign, that the Father will be showed to be King in his Son who was made man, to whom all things are made subject (the promiser only except) to the end that the Father may afterward triumph in his Son the conqueror. And he maketh two parts of this reign and dominion of the Son, wherein the Father's glory consisteth: to wit, the overcoming of his enemies (whereof some must be deprived of all power, as Satan and all the wicked, be they never so proud and mighty, and others must be utterly abolished as death) and a plain and full delivery of the godly from all enemies, that by this means God may fully set forth the body of the Church, cleaving fast to their head Christ, his kingdom and glory as a king in his subjects. Moreover he putteth the first degree of this kingdom in the resurrection of the Son, who is the head: and the perfection, in the full conjunction of the members with the head, which shall be in the latter day. Now all these tend to this purpose, to show that unless the dead do rise again, neither the Father can be King above all, neither Christ be Lord of all: for neither should the power of Satan and death be overcome, nor the glory of God be full in his Son, nor his Son in his members.

² The shutting up and finishing of all things.

put down ³all rule, and all authority and power.

25 For he must reign ^jtill he hath put all his enemies ¹under his feet.

26 The ¹last enemy that shall be destroyed, is death.

27 ^kFor he hath put down all things under his feet. (And when he saith that all things are subdued to him, it is manifest that he is excepted, which did put down all things under him.)

28 And when all things shall be subdued unto him, ¹then shall the Son also himself be subject unto him, that did subdue all things under him, that ²God may be all in all.

29 ¹Else what shall they do which are baptized ²for dead? if the dead rise not at all, why are they then baptized for dead?

30 ¹Why are we also in jeopardy every hour?

31 By your ¹rejoicing which I have in Christ Jesus our Lord, I die daily.

32 ¹If I have fought with beasts at Ephesus ²after the manner of men, what advantageth it me, if the dead be not raised up? ^{l3}let us ⁴eat and drink: for tomorrow we shall die.

33 ¹Be not deceived: evil speakings corrupt good manners.

34 Awake to live righteously, and sin not: for some have not the knowledge of God, I speak this to your shame.

35 ¹But some man will say, How are the dead raised up? and with what body come they forth?

36 ¹O fool, that which thou sowest, is not quickened, except it die.

37 And that which thou sowest, thou sowest not that body that shall be, but bare corn as it falleth, of wheat, or of some other.

38 ¹But God giveth it a body at his pleasure, even to every seed his own body.

39 All flesh is not the same flesh, but there is one flesh of men, and another flesh of beasts, and another of fishes, and another of birds:

40 There are also heavenly bodies, and earthly bodies: but the glory of the heavenly is one, and the glory of the earthly is another.

41 There is another glory of the sun, and another glory of the moon, and another glory of the stars:

³ All his enemies which shall be spoiled of all the power they have.

15:25 ¹ Christ is considered here, as he appeared in the form of a servant, in which respect he ruleth the Church as head, and that because this power was given him of his Father.

15:26 ¹ The shutting up of the argument, which is taken from the whole to the part: for if all his enemies shall be put under his feet, then must it needs be that death also shall be subdued under him.

15:28 ¹ Not because the Son was not subject to his Father before, but because his body, that is to say, the Church which is here in distress, and not yet wholly partaker of his glory, is not yet fully perfect, and also because the bodies of the saints which be in the graves shall not be glorified until the resurrection: but Christ as he is God, hath us subject to him as his Father hath, but as he is Priest, he is subject to his father together with us. Augustine, book 1, chap. 8, of the Trinity.

² By this high kind of speech, is set forth an incomprehensible glory which floweth from God, and shall fill all of us, as we are joined together with our head, but yet so, that our head shall always reserve his preeminence.

15:29 ¹ The fifth argument taken of the end of Baptism, to wit, because that they which are baptized, are baptized for dead, that is to say, that they may have a remedy against death because that Baptism is a token of regeneration.

² They that are baptized, to this end and purpose, that death may be put out in them, or to rise again from the dead, whereof baptism is a seal.

15:30 ¹ The sixth argument: Unless there be a resurrection of the dead, why should the Apostles so daily cast themselves into danger of so many deaths?

15:31 ¹ As though he said, I die daily, as all the miseries I suffer can well witness, which I may truly boast of, that I have suffered amongst you.

15:32 ¹ The taking away of an objection: but thou Paul, didst ambitiously, as commonly men are wont to do, when thou didst fight with beasts at Ephesus: That is very like, saith Paul, for what could that advantage me, were it not for the glory of eternal life which I hope for?

² Not upon any godly motion, nor casting mine eyes upon God, but carried away with vain glory, or a certain headiness.

³ The seventh argument which dependeth upon the last: if there be no resurrection of the dead, why do we give ourselves to anything else, save to eating and drinking?

⁴ These are speeches that Epicureans use.

15:33 ¹ The conclusion with a sharp exhortation, that they take heed of the naughty company of certain: from whence he sheweth that this mischief sprang: warning them to be wise with sobriety unto righteousness.

15:35 ¹ Now that he hath proved the resurrection, he discovereth their doltishness, in that they scoffingly demanded, how it could be that the dead should rise again, and if they did rise again, they asked mockingly, what manner of bodies they should have. Therefore he sendeth these fellows which seemed to themselves to be marvelous wise and witty, to be instructed of poor rude husbandmen.

15:36 ¹ Thou mightest have learned either of these, saith Paul, by daily experience: for seeds are sown, and rot, and yet notwithstanding so far it is off, that they perish, that contrariwise they grow up far more beautiful: and whereas they are sown naked and dry, they spring up green from death by the virtue of God: and doth it seem incredible to thee that our bodies should rise from corruption, and that ended with a far more excellent quality?

15:38 ¹ We see a diversity both in one and the selfsame thing which hath now one form and then another, and yet keepeth its own kind, as it is evident in a grain which is sown bare, but springeth up far after another sort: and also in divers kinds of one selfsame sort, as amongst beasts: and also among things of divers sorts, as the heavenly bodies and the earthly bodies: which also differ very much one from another. Therefore there is no cause why we should reject either the resurrection of the bodies, or changing of them into a better state, as a thing impossible, or strange.

for one star differeth from another star in glory.

42 ¹So also is the resurrection of the dead. The body is ²sown in corruption, and is raised in incorruption.

43 It is sown in ¹dishonor, and is raised in glory: it is sown in weakness, and is raised in ²power.

44 ¹It is sown a natural body, and is raised a spiritual body: there is a natural body, and there is a spiritual body.

45 ¹As it is also written, The ²first man ^mAdam was made a living soul: and the last Adam was made a ³quickening spirit.

46 ¹Howbeit that was not first which is spiritual: but that which is natural, and afterward that which is spiritual.

47 The first man is of the earth, ¹earthly: the second man is the Lord from ²heaven.

48 ¹As is the earthly, such are they that are earthly: and as is the heavenly, such are they also that are heavenly.

49 And as we have born the ¹image of the earthly, so shall we bear the image of the heavenly.

50 ¹This say I, brethren, that ²flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God, neither doth corruption inherit incorruption.

51 ¹Behold, I show you a ²secret thing, We shall

^m Gen. 2:7

not all sleep, but we shall all be changed,

52 In ¹a moment, in the twinkling of an eye at the last ²trumpet: for the trumpet shall blow, and the dead shall be raised up incorruptible, and we shall be changed.

53 For this corruptible must put on incorruption: and this mortal must put on immortality.

54 So when this corruptible hath put on incorruption, and this mortal hath put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying, that is written, ^oDeath is swallowed up into victory.

55 O death where is thy sting? O grave where is thy victory?

56 The sting of death is sin: and the strength of sin is the Law.

57 ^pBut thanks be unto God, which hath given us victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.

58 ¹Therefore my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmovable, abundant always in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the ²Lord.

16 ¹He exhorteth them to help the poor brethren of Jerusalem: 10 Then he commendeth Timothy, 13 and so with a friendly exhortation, 19 and commendations, endeth the Epistle.

15:42 ¹ He maketh three manner of qualities of the bodies being raised: Incorruption, to wit, because they shall be sound, and altogether of a nature that cannot be corrupt: Glory, because they shall be adorned with beauty and honor: Power, because they shall continue everlasting without meat, drink, and all other helps, without which this frail life cannot keep itself from corruption.

² Is buried, and man is hid as seed in the ground.

15:43 ¹ Void of honor, void of glory, and beauty.

² Freed from the former weakness, whereas it is subject to such alteration and change, that it cannot maintain itself without meat and drink, and such otherlike helps.

15:44 ¹ He sheweth perfectly in one word, this change of the quality of the body by the resurrection, when he saith, that of a natural body, it shall become a spiritual body, which two qualities being clean different, the one from the other, he straightway expoundeth and setteth forth diligently.

15:45 ¹ That is called a natural body, which is quickened and maintained by a living soul only, such as Adam was, of whom all we are born naturally: and that is said to be a spiritual, which together with the soul is quickened with a far more excellent virtue: to wit, with the Spirit of God, which descendeth from Christ the second Adam unto us.

² Adam is called the first man, because he is the root as it were from which we spring: and Christ is the latter man: because he is the beginning of all them that are spiritual, and in him we are all comprehended.

³ Christ is called a Spirit, by reason of that most excellent nature, that is to say, God who dwelleth in him bodily, as Adam is called a living soul, by reason of the soul which is the best part in him.

15:46 ¹ Secondly he willett the order of this double state or quality to be observed, that the natural was first, Adam being created of the clay of the earth: and the spiritual followed and came upon it, to wit, when the Lord being sent from heaven, endured our flesh which was prepared and made fit for him, with the fulness of the Godhead.

15:47 ¹ Wallowing in dirt, and wholly given to an earthly nature.

² The Lord is said to come down from heaven by that kind of speech, whereby that which is proper to one is touched of another.

15:48 ¹ He applieth both the earthly naturalness of Adam (if I may so say) to our bodies, so long as they are naturally conversant on earth, to wit, in this life, and in the grave: and also the spirituality of Christ to the same our bodies, after that they are risen again: and he saith, that that goeth before and this shall follow.

15:49 ¹ Not a vain and false image, but such an one as had the truth with it indeed.

15:50 ¹ The conclusion: We cannot be partakers of the glory of God, unless we put off all that gross and filthy nature of our bodies subject to corruption, that the same body may be adorned with incorruptible glory.

² Flesh and blood are taken here for a living body, which cannot attain to incorruption, unless it put off corruption.

15:51 ¹ He goeth further, declaring that it shall come to pass that they which shall be found alive in the latterday, shall not descend into that corruption of the grave, but shall be renewed with a sudden change, which change is very requisite: and that the certain enjoying of the benefit and victory of Christ, is deferred unto that latter time.

² A thing that hath been hid, and never known hitherto, and therefore worthy that you give good care unto it.

15:52 ¹ He sheweth us that the time shall be very short.

15:58 ¹ An exhortation taken from the profit that ensueth, that seeing they understand that the glory of the other life is laid up for faithful workmen, they continue and stand fast in the truth of the doctrine of the resurrection of the dead.

² Through the Lord's help and goodness working in us.

1 Concerning ¹the gathering for the Saints, as I have ordained in the Churches of Galatia, so do ye also.

2 Every ¹first day of the week, let every one of you put aside by himself, and lay up as God hath ²prospered him, that then there be no gatherings when I come.

3 And when I am come, whomsoever ye shall allow by ¹letters, them will I send to bring your liberality unto Jerusalem.

4 ¹And if it be meet that I go also, they shall go with me.

5 Now I will come unto you, after I have gone through Macedonia (for I will pass through Macedonia.)

6 And it may be that I will abide, yea, or winter with you, that ye may bring me on my way, whithersoever I go.

7 For I will not see you now in my passage, but I trust to abide a while with you, if the Lord permit.

8 And I will tarry at Ephesus until Pentecost.

9 For a great door and ¹effectual is opened unto me, and there are many adversaries.

10 ¶ Now if Timothy come, see that he be ¹without fear with you: for he worketh the work of the Lord, even as I do.

11 Let no man therefore despise him: but convey him forth ¹in peace, that he may come unto me: for I looked for him with the brethren.

12 As touching our brother Apollos, I greatly desired him to come unto you with the brethren: but his mind was not at all to come at this time: howbeit he will come when he shall have convenient time.

13 ¶ Watch ye: stand fast in the faith: quit you like men, and be strong.

14 Let all your things be done in love.

15 Now brethren, I beseech you (ye know the house of ¹Stephanas, that it is the firstfruits of Achaia, and that they have ²given themselves to minister unto the Saints.)

16 That ye be ¹obedient even unto such, and to all that help with us and labor.

17 I am glad of the coming of Stephanas, and Fortunatus, and Achaicus: for they have supplied the want of you.

18 For they have comforted my ¹spirit and yours: ²acknowledge therefore such men.

19 The Churches of Asia salute you: Aquila and Priscilla with the Church that is in their house, salute you greatly in the Lord.

20 All the brethren greet you. Greet ye one another with an ^aholy kiss.

21 The salutation of me Paul with mine own hand.

22 If any man love not the Lord Jesus Christ, let him be had in execration ¹maran-atha.

23 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.

24 My love be with you all in Christ Jesus, Amen.

The first Epistle to the Corinthians, written from Philippi, and sent by Stephanas, and Fortunatus, and Achaicus, and Timothy.

16:1 ¹ Collections in old time were made by the Apostles appointment the first day of the week, on which day the manner was then to assemble themselves.

16:2 ¹ Which in times past was called Sunday, but now is called the Lord's day.

² That every man bestow, according to the ability that God hath blessed him with.

16:3 ¹ Which you shall give them to carry.

16:4 ¹ The residue of the Epistle is spent in writing of familiar matters, yet so that all things be referred to his purposed mark, that is to say, to the glory of God, and the edifying of the Corinthians.

16:9 ¹ Very fit and convenient to do great things by.

16:10 ¹ Without any just occasion of fear.

16:11 ¹ Safe and sound, and that with all kinds of courtesy.

16:15 ¹ Stephanas is the name of a man and not of a woman.

² Given themselves wholly to the ministry.

16:16 ¹ That you honor and reverence them, be obedient to them and be content to be ruled by them, as meet as you should, seeing they have bestowed themselves, and their goods to help you withall.

16:18 ¹ Mine heart.

² Take them for such men as they are indeed.

16:22 ¹ By these words, are betokened the [secret] kind of curse and excommunication that was amongst the Jews: and the words are as much as to say, as our Lord cometh: So that his meaning may be this, Let him be accursed even to the coming of the Lord, that is to say, to his death's day, even for ever.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF PAUL TO THE CORINTHIANS

1 1 He beginneth with the praise of afflictions, 8 declaring what he hath suffered in Asia, 10 and how happily God assisted him. 17 He saith it was not upon any lightness, that he came not, according to his promise.

1 PAUL ¹an Apostle of JESUS Christ, by the will of God, and our brother Timothy, to the Church of God, which is at Corinth, with all the Saints, which are in all Achaia:

2 Grace be with you, and peace from God, our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 ^{a,1,2}Blessed be God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of ³mercies, and the God of all comfort,

4 Which comforteth us in all our tribulation, ¹that we may be able to comfort them which are in any affliction by the comfort wherewith we ourselves are comforted of God.

5 For as the ¹sufferings of Christ abound in us, so our consolation aboundeth through Christ.

6 ¹And whether we be afflicted, it is for your consolation and salvation, which is ²wrought in the enduring of the same sufferings, which we also

CHAPTER I

suffer: or whether we be comforted, it is for your consolation and salvation.

7 And our hope is steadfast concerning you, in as much as we know, that as ye are partakers of the sufferings, so shall ye be also of the consolation.

8 ¹For brethren, we would not have you ignorant of our affliction, which came unto us in Asia, how we were pressed out of measure passing strength, so that we altogether ²doubted even of life.

9 Yea, we received the sentence of death in ¹ourselves, because we should not rest in ourselves, but in God, which raised the dead.

10 Who delivered us from so ¹great a death, and doth deliver us: in whom we trust, that yet hereafter he will deliver us.

11 ^{b,1}So that ye labor together in prayer for us, ²that for the gift bestowed upon us for many, thanks may be given by many persons for us.

12 ¹For our rejoicing is this, the testimony of our conscience, that in simplicity and godly ²pureness, and not in fleshly wisdom, but by the ³grace of God we have had our conversation in the world, and most

1:1 ¹ See the declaration of such salutations in the former Epistles.

1:3 ¹ He beginneth after his manner with thanksgiving, which notwithstanding (otherwise than he was wont) he applieth to himself: beginning his Epistle with the setting forth of the dignity of his Apostleship, constrained (as it should seem) by their importunity, which took an occasion to despise him by reason of his miseries. But he answereth that he is not so afflicted, but that his comforts do exceed his afflictions, showing the ground of them, even the mercy of God the Father in Jesus Christ.

² To him be praise and glory given.

³ Most merciful.

1:4 ¹ The Lord doth comfort us to this end and purpose, that we may so much the more surely comfort others.

1:5 ¹ The miseries which we suffer for Christ, or which Christ suffereth in us.

1:6 ¹ He denieth that either his afflictions wherewith he was often afflicted, or the consolations which he received of God, may justly be despised, seeing that the Corinthians both might and ought to take great occasion to be confirmed by either of them.

² Although salvation be given us freely, yet because there is a way appointed us wherewith we must come to it, which is the race of an innocent and upright life, which we must run, therefore we are said to work our salvation, Philippians 2:12. And because it is God only that of his free good will worketh all things in us, therefore is he said to work the salvation in us by those selfsame things by which we must pass to everlasting life, after that we have once overcome all encumbrances.

1:8 ¹ He witnesseth that he is not only not ashamed of his afflictions, but that he desireth also to have all men know the greatness of them, and also his delivery from them, although it be not yet perfect.

² I know not at all what to do, neither did I see by man's help which way to save my life.

1:9 ¹ I was resolved within myself to die.

1:10 ¹ From these great dangers.

1:11 ¹ That he may not seem to boast himself, he attributeth all to God, and therewith also confesseth that he attributeth much to the prayers of the faithful.

² The end of the afflictions of the Saints, is the glory of God, and therefore they ought to be precious unto us.

1:12 ¹ Secondly he putteth away another slander, to wit, that he was a light man, and such a one as was not lightly to be credited, seeing that he promised to come unto them, and came not. And first he speaks of the simplicity of his mind, and sincerity, which they know both by his voice when he was present, and they ought to acknowledge it also in his letters, being absent: and moreover he protesteth that he will never be otherwise.

² With clearness, and holy and true plainness of mind, as God himself can witness.

³ Trusting to that very wisdom, which God of his free goodness hath given me from heaven.

of all to youwards.

13 For we write ¹none other things unto you, than that ye read or else that ye acknowledge, and I trust ye shall acknowledge unto the ²end.

14 Even as ye have acknowledged us partly, that we are your ¹rejoicing, even as ye are ours, in the ²day of our Lord Jesus.

15 And in this confidence was I minded first to come unto you, that ye might have had a ¹double grace,

16 And to pass by you into Macedonia, and to come again out of Macedonia, unto you, and to be led forth toward Judea of you.

17 ¹When I therefore was thus minded, did I use lightness? or mind I those things which I mind, according to the ²flesh, that with me should be, ³Yea, yea, and Nay, nay?

18 ¹Yea, God is ²faithful, that our word toward you, was not Yea, and Nay?

19 ¹For the Son of God Jesus Christ, who was preached among you by us, that is, by me, and Silvanus, and Timothy, ²was not Yea, and Nay: but in ³him it was Yea.

20 ¹For all the promises of God in him are Yea, and are in ²him Amen, unto the glory of God through ³us.

21 ¹And it is God which established us with you in Christ, and hath anointed us.

22 Who hath also sealed us, and hath given the ¹earnest of the Spirit in our hearts.

23 ¹Now, I call God for a record unto my ²soul, that to spare you, I came not as yet unto Corinth.

24 ¹Not that we have dominion over your faith, but we are helpers of your ²joy: for by faith ye stand.

2 ¹He excuseth his not coming unto them, ²and privily reprehendeth them: ⁴He sheweth that such is his affection towards them, ⁵that he never rejoiceth but when they are merry. ⁶Perceiving the adulterer (whom he commanded to be delivered up to Satan) to repent, he requesteth that they forgive him. ¹³He mentioneth his going into Macedonia.

1 But I determined thus in myself, that I would not come again to you in ¹heaviness.

2 For if I make you sorry, who is he then that should make me glad, but the same which is made sorry by me?

3 And I wrote this same thing unto you, lest when I came, I should take heaviness of them of whom I ought to rejoice: this ¹confidence have I in you all, that my joy is the joy of you all.

4 For in great affliction, and anguish of heart I wrote unto you with many tears: not that ye should be made sorry, but that ye might perceive the love which I have, specially unto you.

5 ¹And if any hath caused sorrow, the same hath

1:13 ¹ He saith he writeth barely and simply: for he that writeth in colored sort, is rightly said to write otherwise than we read: and this he saith the Corinthians shall know and like of very well.

² Perfectly.

1:14 ¹ Paul's rejoicing in the Lord was, that he had won the Corinthians: and they themselves rejoiced that such an Apostle was their instructor, and taught them so purely and sincerely.

² When he shall sit as judge.

1:15 ¹ Another benefit.

1:17 ¹ He putteth away their slander and false report by denying it, and first of all in that divers went about to persuade the Corinthians, that in the preaching of the Gospel, Paul agreed not to himself: for this was the matter and the case.

² As men do, which will rashly promise anything, and change their purpose at every turning of an hand.

³ That I should say and unsay a thing?

1:18 ¹ He calleth God to witness, and for judge of his constancy in preaching and teaching one selfsame Gospel.

² True, and of whose faithfulness it [were] horrible wickedness to doubt.

1:19 ¹ He joineth also with himself, his fellows as witnesses, with whom he fully consented in teaching one selfsame thing, to wit, one selfsame Christ.

² Was not divers and wavering.

³ That is in God.

1:20 ¹ Last of all he declareth the sum of his doctrine, to wit, that all the promises of salvation are sure and ratified in Christ.

² Christ is set also forth to exhibit and fulfill them all most assuredly, and without all doubt.

³ Through our ministry.

1:21 ¹ He attributeth the praise of this constancy, only to the grace of God, through the holy Ghost, and therewithall concludeth that they cannot doubt of his faith, and his fellows, without doing injury to the Spirit of God, seeing that they themselves do know all this to be true.

1:22 ¹ An earnest, is, whatsoever is given to confirm a promise.

1:23 ¹ Now coming to the matter, he sweareth, that he did not only, not lightly alter his purpose of coming to them, but rather that he came not unto them for this cause, that he might not be constrained to deal more sharply, with them being present, than he would.

² Against myself and to the danger of mine own life.

1:24 ¹ He removeth all suspicion of arrogance, declaring that he speaketh not as a Lord unto them, but as a servant, appointed of God to comfort them.

² He setteth the joy and peace of conscience, which God is author of, against tyrannous fear, and therewithall sheweth the end of the Gospel.

2:1 ¹ Causing grief amongst you, which he should have done if he had come to them before they had repented them.

2:3 ¹ For I trusted that you would take that out of the way forewith, which you knew I was discontented with, considering how you are persuaded that my joy is your joy.

2:5 ¹ He passeth to another part of this Epistle: which notwithstanding is put amongst the first, whereunto he returneth afterward, and he handleth the releasing and unloosing of the incestuous person, because he seemed to have given sufficient testimony of his repentance: showing the true use of excommunication, to wit, that it proceed not of hatred, but of love, and so ends lest if we keep no measure, we serve Satan the devil.

not made ²me sorry, but ³partly (lest I should more ⁴charge him) you all.

6 It is sufficient unto the same man, that he was rebuked of many.

7 So that now contrariwise ye ought rather to ¹forgive him, and comfort him, lest the same should be swallowed up with overmuch heaviness.

8 Wherefore, I pray you, that you would ¹confirm your love towards him.

9 For this cause also did I write: that I might know the proof of you, whether ye would be obedient in all things.

10 To whom ye forgive anything, I forgive also: for verily if I forgave anything, to whom I forgave it, for your sakes forgave I it in the ¹sight of Christ, 11 Lest Satan should circumvent us: for we are not ignorant of his ¹enterprises.

12 ¶ ¹Furthermore, when I came to Troas to preach Christ's Gospel, and a door was opened unto me of the Lord, 13 I had no rest in my spirit, because I found not Titus my brother, but took my leave of them, and went away into Macedonia.

14 Now thanks be unto God, which always maketh us to triumph in Christ, and maketh manifest the ¹savor of his knowledge by us in every place.

15 ¹For we are unto God the sweet savor of Christ, in them that are saved, and in them which perish.

16 To the one we are the savor of death, unto death, and to the other the savor of life, unto life: ¹and who is sufficient for these things?

CHAPTER 2

^a 2 Cor. 4:2

17 ^aFor we are not as many, which make ¹merchandise of the word of God: but as of sincerity, but as of God in the sight of God speak we in Christ.

3 ¹He desireth no other commendation, ³than their continuing in the faith. ⁶He is a minister not of the letter, but of the Spirit. ⁸He sheweth the difference of the Law, and the Gospel, ¹³that the brightness of the Law doth rather dim the sight than lighten it: ¹⁸But the Gospel doth make manifest God's countenance unto us.

1 Do we begin to praise ourselves again? or need we as some others, Epistles of recommendation unto you, or letters of recommendation from you?

2 Ye are our epistle, written in our hearts, which is understood and read of all men,

3 In that ye are ¹manifest, to be the Epistle of Christ, ²ministered by us, and written, not with ink, but with the Spirit of the ³living God, ⁴not in tables of stone, but in fleshly tables of the heart.

4 And such ¹trust have we through Christ to God:

5 Not that we are sufficient of ourselves, to think anything, as of ourselves: but our ¹sufficiency is of God,

6 ¹Who also hath made us able ministers of the New Testament, not of the ²letter, but of the Spirit: for the letter killeth, but the Spirit giveth life.

2:5 ² As if he said, All that sorrow is so clean wiped away, as though he had never felt it.

³ As for me (saith Paul) I have no more to do with him.

⁴ Lest I should overcharge him, who is burdened enough of himself, which I would be glad were taken from him.

2:7 ¹ That whereas before you punished him sharply, you would now forgive him.

2:8 ¹ That at my entreaty, you would declare by the consent of the whole Church, that you take him again for a brother.

2:10 ¹ Truly and from the heart.

2:11 ¹ Of his mischievous counsel and devilish will.

2:12 ¹ He returneth to the confirmation of his Apostleship, and bringeth forth the testimonies, both of his labor, and also of God's blessing.

2:14 ¹ He alludeth to the anointing of the Priests, and the incense of the sacrifices.

2:15 ¹ He denieth that ought should be taken away from the dignity of his Apostleship, because they saw evidently that it was not received with like success in every place, nay rather very many rejected and detested him, seeing that he preacheth Christ, not only as a Savior of them that believe, but also as a Judge of them that condemn him.

2:16 ¹ Again, he putteth away all suspicion of arrogance, attributing all things that he did, to the virtue of God, whom he serveth sincerely, and without all dishonest affection: whereof he maketh them witnesses even to verse 6 of the next chapter.

2:17 ¹ We do not handle it craftily and covetously, or less sincerely than we ought: and he useth a metaphor which is taken from hucksters, which used to play the false harlots with whatsoever cometh into their hands.

3:3 ¹ The Apostle frameth his speech wisely, that by little and little he may come from the commendation of the person, to the matter itself.

² Which I took pains to write as it were.

³ By the way he setteth the virtue of God, against the ink where- by Epistles are commonly written, to show that it was wrought by God.

⁴ He alludeth by the way, to the comparison of the outward ministry of the Priesthood of Levi, with the ministry of the Gospel, and the Apostolic ministry, which he handleth afterward more fully.

3:4 ¹ This boldness we show, and thus gloriously may we boast of the worthiness and fruit of our ministry.

3:5 ¹ In that we are fit and meet to make other men partakers of so great a grace.

3:6 ¹ He amplieth his ministry and his fellows: that is to say, the ministry of the Gospel, comparing it with the ministry of the Law, which he considereth in the person of Moses, by whom the Law was given: against whom he setteth Christ the author of the Gospel. Now this comparison is taken from the very substance of the ministry. The Law is as it were a writing of itself dead, and without efficacy: but the Gospel, or new covenant, is as it were the very virtue of God itself, in renewing, justifying, and saving men. The Law propoundeth death, accusing all men of unrighteousness: The Gospel offereth and giveth righteousness and life. The governance of the Law served for a time to the promise: The Gospel remaineth to the end of the world. Therefore what is the glory of that in comparison of the majesty of this?

² Not of the Law, but of the Gospel.

7 If then the ministration of death written with letters ¹and engraven in stones, was ²glorious, so that the children of Israel could not behold the face of Moses, for the glory of his countenance (which glory is gone away,)

8 How shall not the ¹ministration of the Spirit be more glorious?

9 For if the ministry of condemnation was glorious, much more doth the ministration of ¹righteousness exceed in glory.

10 For even that which was glorified, was not glorified in this point, that is, as touching the exceeding glory.

11 For if that they should be ¹abolished, was glorious, much more shall that which remaineth be glorious.

12 ¹Seeing then that we have such trust, we use great boldness of speech.

13 ^{a,1}And we are not as Moses, which put a veil upon his face, that the children of Israel should not look unto the ²end of that which should be abolished.

14 Therefore their minds are hardened: for until this day remaineth the same covering untaken away in the reading of the old Testament, which veil in Christ is put away.

15 But even unto this day, when Moses is read, the veil is laid over their hearts.

CHAPTER 3

^aExod. 34:34

^bJob 4:14

16 Nevertheless when their heart shall be turned to the Lord, the veil shall be taken away.

17 Now the ¹Lord is the ²Spirit, and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty.

18 ¹But we all behold as in a mirror the glory of the Lord with open face, and are changed into the same image, from glory to glory, as by the Spirit of the Lord.

4 ¹He showeth that he hath so labored in preaching the Gospel, ⁴That such are even blinded of Satan, who do not perceive the brightness thereof, ⁷that the same is carried in earthen vessels, ¹⁰who are subject to many miseries: ¹⁶and therefore he exhorteth them by his own example to be courageous, ¹⁷and condemn this present life.

1 Therefore, ¹seeing that we have this ministry, as we have received mercy, we ²faint not:

2 But have cast from us the ¹cloaks of shame, and walk not in craftiness, neither handle we the word of God ²deceitfully: but in declaration of the truth we approve ourselves to every man's conscience in the sight of God.

3 ¹If the Gospel be then hid, it is hid to them that are lost.

4 In whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds, that is, of the infidels, that the ¹light of the glorious Gospel of Christ, which is the ²image of God, should not shine unto them.

3:7 ¹ Imprinted and engraven: so that by this place we may plainly perceive, that the Apostle speaketh not of the ceremonies of the Law, but even of the ten commandments.

² This word Glory, betokeneth a brightness, and a majesty, which was bodily in Moses, but spiritually in Christ.

3:8 ¹ Whereby God offereth, yea and giveth the Spirit, not as a dead thing, but a quickening Spirit, working life.

3:9 ¹ To wit, of Christ, which being imputed to us as our own, we are not only not condemned, but also we are crowned as righteous.

3:11 ¹ The Law, yea, and the ten commandments themselves, together with Moses, is abolished, if we consider the ministry of Moses apart by itself.

3:12 ¹ He showeth wherein standeth this glory of the preaching of the Gospel, to wit, in that that it setteth forth plainly and evidently, that which the Law showeth darkly, for it sent them that heard it to be healed of Christ, which was to come, after it had wounded them.

3:13 ¹ He expoundeth by the way the allegory of Moses' covering, which was a token of the darkness and weakness that is in men, which were rather dulled by the bright shining of the Law, then lightened, which covering was taken away by the coming of Christ, who lighteneth the hearts, and turneth them to the Lord, that we may be brought from the slavery of this blindness, and set in the liberty of the light, by the virtue of Christ's Spirit.

² Into the very bottom of Moses' ministry.

3:17 ¹ Christ is that spirit which taketh away that covering, by working in our hearts, whereunto also the Law itself called us, though in vain, because it speaketh to dead men, until the spirit quickeneth us.

3:18 ¹ Going forwards in the allegory of the covering, he compar-eth the Gospel to a glass, which although it be most bright and sparkling, yet doth it not only not dazzle their eyes, which look in it, as the law doth, but also transformeth them with its beams, so that they also be partakers of the glory and shining of it, to lighten others: as Christ said unto his, You are the light of the world, whereas he himself was the only light. We are also commanded in another place, to shine as candles before the world, because we are partakers of God's Spirit. But Paul speaketh here properly, of the ministers of the Gospel, as it appeareth both by that that goeth before, and that that cometh after, and that, setting them his own example and his fellows.

4:1 ¹ Now he plainly witnesseth that both he and his fellows (through the mercy of God) do their vocation and duty uprightly and sincerely, neglecting all dangers.

² Though we are broken in pieces with miseries and calamities, yet we yield not.

4:2 ¹ Subtlety, and all kinds of deceit, which men hunt after, as it were dens and lurking holes, to cover their shameless dealings withall.

² This is it that in the former Chapter he called, making merchandise of the word of God.

4:3 ¹ An objection: Many hear the Gospel, and yet are no more lightened thereby than by the preaching of the Law. He answereth, The fault is in the men themselves, whose eyes Satan plucketh out, who ruleth in this world. And yet notwithstanding doth he and his fellows set forth the most clear light of the Gospel to be seen and beholden, seeing that Christ whom only they preach, is he in whom only God will be known, and as it were seen.

4:4 ¹ The light of plain and lightsome preaching, which telleth forth the glory of Christ.

² In whom the Father setteth forth himself to be seen and beholden.

5 ¹For we preach not ourselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord, and ourselves your servants for ²Jesus' sake.

6 For God ^{a,1}that commanded the light to shine out of darkness, is he which hath shined in our hearts, to give the ²light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ.

7 ¹But we have this treasure in earthen vessels, ²that the excellency of that power might be of God, and not of us.

8 We are afflicted on every side, yet are we not in distress: we are in doubt, but yet we despair not.

9 We are persecuted, but not forsaken: cast down, but we perish not.

10 ¹Everywhere we bear about in our body the ²dying of the Lord Jesus, that the life of Jesus might also be made manifest in our bodies.

11 For we which ¹live, are always delivered unto death for Jesus' sake, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our ²mortal flesh.

12 ¹So then death worketh in us, and life in you.

13 ¹And because we have the same ²spirit of faith, according as it is written, ^bI believed, and therefore have I spoken, we also believe, and therefore speak,

14 Knowing that he which hath raised up the

CHAPTER 4

^a Gen. 1:3^b Ps. 116:10

Lord Jesus, shall raise us up also by Jesus, and shall set us with you.

15 ¹For all things are for your sakes, ²that that most plenteous grace by the thanksgiving of many, may redound to the praise of God.

16 Therefore we faint not, ¹but though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is ²renewed daily.

17 For our ¹light affliction which is but for a moment, causeth unto us a far most excellent and an eternal weight of ²glory:

18 While we look not on the things which are seen, but on the things which are not seen for the things which are seen, are temporal: but the things which are not seen, are eternal.

5 ¹He continueth in the same argument, ⁵touching the certain hope of salvation ⁷through faith, ¹²not to praise himself, ¹⁴seeing he hath God and his Church before his eyes, ¹⁷and esteemeth nothing, but newness of life in Christ.

1 For ¹we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle be destroyed, we have a building given of God, that is, an house not made with hands, but eternal in the heavens.

2 For therefore we sigh, desiring to be ¹clothed

4:5 ¹He removeth according to his accustomed manner, all suspicion of ambition: avouching that he teacheth faithfully, but as a servant, and witnessing that all this light which he and his fellows give to others, proceedeth from the Lord.

²To preach this selfsame Jesus to you.

4:6 ¹Which made only with his word.

²That being lightened of God, we should in like sort give that light to others.

4:7 ¹He taketh away a stumbling block, by which was darkened, amongst some, the bright shining of the ministry of the Gospel, to wit, because the Apostles were the most miserable of all men, Paul answereth that he and his fellows are as it were earthen vessels, but yet there is in them a most precious treasure.

²He bringeth marvelous reasons, why the Lord doth so afflict his chiefest servants, to the end saith he that all men may perceive that they stand not by any man's virtue, but by the singular virtue of God, in that they die a thousand times, but never perish.

4:10 ¹An amplification of the former sentence, wherein he compareth his afflictions to a daily death, and the virtue of the Spirit of God in Christ, to life, which oppresseth that death.

²So Paul calleth that miserable estate and condition, that the faithful, but especially the ministers, are in.

4:11 ¹Which live, that life, to wit, by the Spirit of Christ, amongst so many and so great miseries.

²Subject to that miserable condition.

4:12 ¹A very cunning conclusion: as if he would say, Therefore to be short, we die, that you may live by our death, for that they ventured into all those dangers for the building of the Church's sake, and they ceased not to confirm all the faithful with the examples of their patience.

4:13 ¹He declareth the former sentence, showing that he and his fellows die in a sort to purchase life to others, but yet notwithstanding they are partakers of the same life with them: because they themselves do first believe that, which they propound to others to believe, to wit, that they also shall be saved together with them in Christ.

²The same faith by the inspiration of the same Spirit.

4:15 ¹He sheweth how this constancy is preserved in them, to wit, because they respect God's glory, and the salvation of the Churches committed unto them.

²When it shall please God to deliver me, and restore me to you, that exceeding benefit which shall be poured upon me, shall in like sort redound to the glory of God, by the thanksgiving of many.

4:16 ¹He addeth as it were a triumphant song, how that he is outwardly afflicted, but inwardly he profiteth daily: and passeth not at all for all the miseries that may be sustained in this life, in comparison of that most constant and eternal glory.

²Gathereth new strength, that the outward man be not overcome with the miseries which come freshly one upon the neck of another, being maintained and upholden with the strength of the inward man.

4:17 ¹Afflictions are not called light, as though they were light of themselves, but because they pass away quickly, when as indeed our whole life is of no long continuance.

²Which remaineth forever firm and stable, and can never be shaken.

5:1 ¹Taking occasion by the former comparison, he compareth this miserable body, as it is in this life, to a frail and briclike tabernacle, against which he setteth the heavenly Tabernacle, so terming that sure and everlasting condition of this same body glorified in heaven, insomuch, saith he, that we are not only not addicted to this tabernacle, but also do with sobs and sighs desire rather that tabernacle. And so this place also concerning the glory to come, is put within the treatise of the dignity of the ministry, as the other was, whereof we spake in the beginning of the second Chapter.

5:2 ¹He calleth the glory of immortality, which we shall be as it were clothed with, a garment.

with our house, which is from ²heaven.

3 ¹Because that if we be clothed, we shall not be found ⁴naked.

4 For indeed we that are in this tabernacle, sigh and are burdened because we would not be unclothed, but would be clothed upon, that mortality might be swallowed up of life.

5 And he that hath ¹created us for this thing, is God, who also hath given unto us the earnest of the Spirit.

6 ¹Therefore we are always ²bold, though we know that while we are at home in the body, we are absent from the Lord.

7 (For we walk by ¹faith, and not by sight.)

8 Nevertheless, we are ¹bold, and love rather to remove out of the body, and to dwell with the Lord.

9 Wherefore also we ¹covet, that both dwelling at home, and removing from home, we may be acceptable to him.

10 ^{b,1}For we must all ²appear before the judgment seat of Christ, that every man may receive the things which are done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or evil.

CHAPTER 5

^a Rev. 16:15

^b Rom. 14:10

11 ¹Knowing therefore that ²terror of the Lord, we persuade men, and we are made manifest unto God, and I trust also that we are made manifest in your consciences.

12 ¹For we praise not ourselves again unto you, but give you an occasion to rejoice of us that ye may have to answer against them, which rejoice in the ²face, and not in the heart.

13 ¹For whether we be out of our wit, we are it to God: or whether we be in our right mind, we are it unto you.

14 ¹For that love of Christ ²constraineth us,

15 Because we thus judge, that if ¹one be dead for all, then were all dead, and he died for all, that they which live, should not henceforth ²live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again.

16 ¹Wherefore, henceforth know we no man after the flesh, ²yea though we had known Christ after the flesh, yet not henceforth know we him no more.

17 ¹Therefore if any man be in Christ, let him be a

² Heavenly, not that the substance of it is heavenly, but for the glory of it.

5:3 ¹ An exposition of the former saying: We do not without cause, desire to be clad with the heavenly house, that is, with that everlasting and immortal glory, as with a garment: for when we depart hence, we shall not remain naked, having once cast off the covering of this body, but we shall take our bodies again, which shall put on as it were another garment besides: and therefore we sigh not for the weariness of this life, but for the desire of a better life. Neither is this desire in vain, for we are made to that life, the pledge whereof we have, even the Spirit of adoption.

5:5 ¹ He meaneth that first creation, to give us to understand, that our bodies were made to this end, that they should be clothed with heavenly immortality.

5:6 ¹ He inferreth upon that sentence which went next before, thus, Therefore, seeing that we know by the Spirit, that we are strangers so long as we are here, we patiently suffer this tarrance (for we are now so with God, that we behold him but by faith, and are therefore now absent from him) but so that we aspire and have a longing always to him: therefore also we behave ourselves so, that we may be acceptable to him, both while we live here, and when we go from hence to him.

² He calleth them (bold) which are always resolved with a quiet and settled mind to suffer what dangers soever, nothing doubting, but their end shall be happy.

5:7 ¹ Faith of those things which we hope for, and not having God presently in our view.

5:8 ¹ And yet we are in such sort bold and do so pass on our pilgrimage with a valiant and quiet mind, that yet notwithstanding, we had rather depart hence to the Lord.

5:9 ¹ And seeing it is so, we strive to live so, that both in this our pilgrimage here we may please him, and that at length we may be received home to him.

5:10 ¹ That no man might think it to pertain to all, which he spoke of that heavenly glory, he addeth, that every one shall first render an account of his pilgrimage, after that he is departed from hence.

² We must all appear personally, and inquiry shall be made of us, that all may see, how we have lived.

5:11 ¹ Now he passeth over, and taking occasion of the former sentence, returneth to 4:16, confirming his own sincerity and his fellows'.

² That terrible judgment.

5:12 ¹ He removeth all suspicion of pride, by a new reason, because it is behoovable, not for his part, but for theirs, that his Apostleship be counted sincere against the vain ostentation of a few others.

² In outward disguising, and that colored show of man's wisdom and eloquence, and not in true godliness, which is sealed in the heart.

5:13 ¹ The meaning is: Even when I am mad (as some men think of me) while I seem as a fool to boast myself, I do it for your profit, no less than when I preach the Gospel simply unto you.

5:14 ¹ He goeth forward in putting away all suspicion of desire of estimation and boasting: for the love of Christ, saith he, compelleth us hereunto, that seeing he died for us all, which were dead when as we lived to ourselves (that is, while we were yet given to these earthly affections) we in like sort should consecrate our whole life which we have received of him, to him (to wit) being endued with the holy Ghost to this end and purpose, that we should meditate upon nothing but that which is heavenly.

² Possesseth us wholly.

5:15 ¹ He speaketh here of sanctification, whereby it cometh to pass that Christ liveth in us.

² See Romans, chapters 6 and 7.

5:16 ¹ He sheweth what it is, not to live to ourselves, but to Christ, to wit, to know no man according to the flesh, that is to say, to be so conversant amongst men, as not to care for those worldly and carnal things, as they do which respect a man's stock, his country, form, glory, riches, and such like, wherein men commonly dote, and weary themselves.

² An amplification: This is, saith he, so true, that we do not now think carnally of Christ himself, who hath now left the world, and therefore must be considered of us spiritually.

5:17 ¹ An exhortation for every man which is renewed with the spirit of Christ, to meditate heavenly things, and not earthly.

²new creature. ^cOld things are passed away: behold, all things are become new.

18 ¹And all things are of God, which hath reconciled us unto himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given unto us the ministry of reconciliation.

19 For God was in Christ, and reconciled the world to himself, not imputing their sins unto them, and hath ¹committed to us the word of reconciliation.

20 Now then are we ambassadors for Christ: as though God did beseech you through us, we pray you in Christ's stead, that ye be reconciled to God.

21 For he hath made him to be ¹sin for us, which ²knew no sin, that we should be made the ³righteousness of God in him.

6 ¹He exhorteth them to lead their lives as it becometh Christians, ⁵neither to be dismayed in tribulations, ⁹nor puffed up with glory: ¹⁴to avoid all uncleanness, ¹⁶considering that they are the temples of the living God.

1 So ¹we therefore as workers together beseech you, that ye receive not the grace of God in vain.

2 ¹For he saith, ^a"I have heard thee in a time ²accepted, and in the day of salvation have I succored thee: behold now the accepted time, behold now the day of salvation.

3 ¹We give no occasion of offence in anything,

^c Isa. 43:19
Rev. 21:5

CHAPTER 6

^a Isa. 49:8

^b 1 Cor. 4:1

that our ministry should not be reprehended.

4 But in all things we ¹approve ourselves as ^bthe ministers of God, ²in much patience, in afflictions, in necessities, in distresses.

5 In stripes, in prisons, in ¹tumults, in labors,

6 ¹By watchings, by fastings, by purity, by knowledge, by long suffering, by kindness, by the holy Ghost, by love unfeigned,

7 By the ¹word of truth, by the ²power of God, by the ³armor of righteousness on the right hand, and on the left,

8 By honor, and dishonor, by evil report, and good report, as deceivers, and yet true:

9 As unknown, and yet known: as dying, and behold, we live, as chastened, and yet not killed:

10 As sorrowing, and yet always rejoicing: as poor, and yet making many rich: as having nothing, and yet possessing all things.

11 ¹O Corinthians, our mouth is ²open unto you, our heart is made large.

12 Ye are not ¹kept strait in us, but ye are kept strait in your own ²bowels.

13 Now for the same recompense, I speak as to my children, Be you also enlarged.

14 ¹Be not unequally yoked with the infidels: for what fellowship hath righteousness with unright-

5:17 ² As a thing made anew of God, for though a man be not newly created when God giveth him the spirit of regeneration, but only his qualities are changed, yet notwithstanding it pleased the holy Ghost to speak so, to teach us, that we must attribute all things to the glory of God: not that we are as stocks or blocks: but because God creates in us, both the will to will well, and the power to do well.

5:18 ¹ He commendeth the excellency of the ministry of the Gospel, both by the authority of God himself, who is the author of that ministry, and also by the excellency of the doctrine of it: for it announceth atonement with God, by free forgiveness of our sins, and justification offered unto us in Christ, and that so lovingly and liberally, that God himself doth after a sort pray men by the mouth of his ministers, to have consideration of themselves, and not to despise so great a benefit. And when he so saith, he plainly reprehendeth them which falsely challenged to themselves the name of pastors.

5:19 ¹ Used our labor and travail.

5:21 ¹ A sinner, not in himself, but by imputation of the guilt of all our sins to him.

² Who was clean void of sin.

³ Righteous before God, and that with righteousness which is not essential to us, but being essential in Christ, God imputeth it to us through faith.

6:1 ¹ Men do not only need the ministry of the Gospel, before they have received grace, that they may be partakers of it, but also after they have received grace, that they may continue in it.

6:2 ¹ In that that grace is offered, it is of the grace of God, who hath appointed times and seasons to all things, that we may take occasion when it is offered.

² Which I of my free mercy and love towards you, . . . appointed, at which time God poured out that his marvelous love upon us.

6:3 ¹ He sheweth the Corinthians a pattern of a true minister, in his own example, and Timothy and Silvanus, to the end, that (as he pur-posed from the beginning) he might procure authority to himself and his like.

6:4 ¹ Declare and show indeed.

² He first of all reckoneth up those things which are neither always in the ministers, nor without exception, unless it be according to the affection of the mind, patience only except, which also is one of the virtues which ought to be always in a good minister.

6:5 ¹ In tossing to and fro, finding no place of rest and quietness.

6:6 ¹ Secondly, he reckoneth up such virtues as are necessary, and ought always to be in them, and whereby as by good armor, all lets and hindrances may be overcome.

6:7 ¹ Preaching of the Gospel.

² Power to work miracles, and to bring under the wicked.

³ Uprightness.

6:11 ¹ Going about to rebuke them, he saith first, that he dealeth with them sincerely and with an open and plain heart, and therewithall complaineth that they do not the like in loving again their Father.

² The opening of the mouth and heart, betokeneth a most earnest affection in him that speaketh, as it fareth commonly with them that are in some great joy.

6:12 ¹ You are in mine heart, as in an house, and that no narrow or strait house, for I have opened my whole heart to you, but you are inwardly straitlaced to me-ward.

² After the manner of the Hebrews, he calleth those tender affections which rest in the heart, bowels.

6:14 ¹ Now he rebuked them boldly, for that they became fellows with infidels in outward idolatry, as though it were a thing indifferent. And this is the fourth part of this Epistle, the conclusion whereof is, that such as the Lord has vouchsafed the name of his children, must keep themselves pure, not only in mind, but also in body, that they may wholly be holy unto the Lord.

teousness? and what communion hath light with darkness?

15 And what concord hath Christ with Belial? or what ¹part hath the believer with the infidel?

16 And what agreement hath the Temple of God with idols? for ye are the Temple of the ¹living God: as God hath said, ^dI will ²dwell among them, and walk there: and I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

17 ^eWherefore come out from among them, and separate yourselves, saith the Lord, and touch none unclean thing, and I will receive you.

18 ^fAnd I will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty.

7 ¹ Lest by overmuch urging them he should dismay their tender minds, ² he proveth that all that he said, ⁴ proceeded of the great good will he bare unto them: ⁸ and therefore they should not be offended, that he made them sorry, ¹⁰ and brought them to repentance not to be repented of.

1 Seeing then we have these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the ¹flesh and spirit, and finish our sanctification in the fear of God.

2 ^{1,2}Receive us: we have done wrong to no man: we have corrupted no man: we have defrauded no man.

3 I speak it not to your ¹condemnation: for I have said before, that ye are in our hearts, to die and live together.

4 I use great boldness of speech toward you: I rejoice greatly in you: I am filled with comfort, and am exceeding joyous in all our tribulation.

5 For when we were come into Macedonia, our flesh had no rest, but we were troubled on every side, fightings without, and terrors within.

6 But God, that comforteth the ¹abject, comforted us at the ²coming of Titus:

7 And not by his coming only, but also by the consolation wherewith he was comforted of you,

^c 1 Cor. 3:16

^d Lev. 26:11

^e Isa. 52:11

^f Jer. 31:1

when he told us your great desire, your mourning, your fervent mind to me-ward, so that I rejoiced much more.

8 ¹For though I made you sorry with a letter, I repent not, though I did repent: for I perceive that the same Epistle made you sorry, though it were but for a season.

9 I now rejoice, not that ye were sorry, but that ye sorrowed to ¹repentance: for ye sorrowed godly, so that in nothing ye were hurt by us.

10 For ¹godly sorrow causeth repentance unto salvation, not to be repented of: but the worldly sorrow causeth death.

11 For behold, this thing that ye have been godly sorry, what great care hath it wrought in you: yea, what clearing of yourselves: yea, what indignation: yea, what fear: yea, how great desire: yea, what a zeal: yea, what revenge: in all things ye have showed yourselves, that ye are pure in this matter.

12 Wherefore, though I wrote unto you, I did not it for his cause that had done the wrong, neither for his cause that had the injury, but that our care toward you in the ¹sight of God might appear unto you.

13 Therefore we were comforted, because ye were comforted: but rather we rejoiced much more for the joy of Titus, because his spirit was refreshed by you all.

14 For if that I have boasted anything to him of you, I have not been ashamed: but as I have spoken unto you all things in truth, even so our boasting unto Titus was true.

15 And his inward affection is more abundant toward you, when he remembereth the obedience of you all, and how with fear and trembling ye received him.

16 I rejoice therefore that I may put my confidence in you in all things.

8 ¹ He exhorteth them by the example of the Macedonians, ⁹ and also even of Christ himself, ¹⁴ to be 6:15 ¹ What can there be between them?

6:16 ¹ He setteth the living God against idols.

² God dwelleth with us, because Christ is become God with us.

7:1 ¹ Both of body and soul, that by this means the sanctification may be perfect, consisting in both the parts thereof.

7:2 ¹ He returneth again from that admonition to his own person, opposing the testimonies both of his faithfulness and also of his continual good will towards them.

² Let me have some place amongst you, that I may teach you.

7:3 ¹ To condemn you of unkindness or treachery.

7:6 ¹ Whose hearts are cast down, and are very far spent.

² With those things which Titus told me of you at his coming, to wit, how fruitfully you read over my letters, moreover and besides that, I am exceedingly refreshed with his presence.

7:8 ¹ An objection: But thou hast handled us roughly. The Apostle answereth that he used not this toughness without grief. And he addeth moreover, that he is also glad now that he drove them to that sorrow, although it was against his will, since it was so profitable unto them: for there is a sorrow not only praiseworthy, but also necessary, to wit, whereby repentance groweth by certain degrees, for the which repentance he praiseth them highly. And this is the fifth part of this Epistle.

7:9 ¹ Inasmuch that that sorrow did you much good toward the amending of your lewdness and sins.

7:10 ¹ Godly sorrow is when we are not terrified with the fear of punishment, but because we feel we have offended God our most merciful Father: contrary to this, there is another sorrow, that only feareth punishment, or when a man is vexed for the loss of some worldly goods: the fruit of the first, repentance, and the fruit of the second, is desperation, unless the Lord helps speedily.

7:12 ¹ It was not colored nor counterfeit, but such as I dare stand to before God.

liberal towards the saints: 16 for which purpose, he sheweth that Titus, 18 and another brother came unto them.

1 We ¹do you also to wit, brethren, of the ²grace of God bestowed upon the Churches of Macedonia.

2 Because in ¹great trial of affliction their joy abounded, and their most extreme poverty abounded unto their rich liberality.

3 For to their power (I bear record) yea, and beyond their power they were ¹willing.

4 And prayed us with great instance that we would receive the ¹grace, and fellowship of the ministering which is toward the Saints.

5 ¹And this they did, not as we looked for: but gave their own selves, first to the Lord, and after unto us by the will of God,

6 That we should exhort Titus, that as he had begun, so he would also accomplish the same grace among you also.

7 Therefore, as ye abound in everything, in faith and word, and knowledge, and in all diligence, and in your love towards us, even so see that ye abound in this grace also.

8 ¹This say I not by commandment, but because of the ²diligence of others: therefore prove I the ³naturalness of your love.

9 ¹For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that he being rich, for your sakes became poor, that ye through his poverty might be made rich.

10 ¹And I show my mind herein: for this is expedient for you, which have begun not to do only, but also to ²will, a year ago.

11 Now therefore perform to do it also, that as there was a readiness to will, even so ye may perform it of that which ye have.

CHAPTER 8

^a Exod. 16:18

^b Rom. 12:17

12 ¹For if there be first a willing mind, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not.

13 ¹Neither is it that other men should be eased and you grieved: But upon ²like condition, at this time your abundance supplieth their lack:

14 That also their abundance may be for your lack, that there may be equality.

15 As it is written, ^a"He that gathered much, had nothing over, and he that gathered little, had not the less.

16 ¹And thanks be unto God, which had put in the heart of Titus the same care for you.

17 Because he accepted the exhortation, yea, he was so careful that of his own accord he went unto you.

18 And we have sent also with him the brother, whose praise is ¹in the Gospel throughout all the Churches.

19 (And not so only, but is also chosen of the Churches to be a fellow in our journey, concerning this ¹grace that is ministered by us unto the glory of the same Lord, and declaration of your prompt mind.)

20 Avoiding this, that no man should blame us in this ¹abundance that is ministered by us,

21 ^bProviding for honest things, not only before the Lord, but also before men.

22 And we have sent with them our brother, whom we have oftentimes proved to be diligent in many things, but now much more diligent, for the great confidence, which I have in you.

23 Whether any do inquire of Titus, he is my fellow and helper to you-ward: or of our ¹brethren, they are messengers of the Churches, and the ²glory of 8:1 ¹ The sixth part of this epistle containing divers exhortations to stir up the Corinthians to liberality, wherewith the poverty of the Church of Jerusalem might be holpen in time convenient. And first of all he setteth out before them the example of the Churches of Macedonia, which otherwise were brought by great misery to extreme poverty, to the end that they should follow them.

² The benefit that God bestowed upon the Churches.

8:2 ¹ For those manifold afflictions wherewith the Lord tried them, did not only not quail their joyful readiness, but also made it much more excellent, and famous.

8:3 ¹ Of their own accord they were liberal.

8:4 ¹ He calleth that, Grace, that other men would have called a burden. And this verse is to be expounded by the sixth verse.

8:5 ¹ He amplieth the forwardness of the Macedonians, in this, that they also desired Paul to stir up the Corinthians to accomplish the giving of alms, by sending again of Titus unto them.

8:8 ¹ Thirdly he warneth them that they deceive not their expectation which they have conceived of them.

² At the request of the Macedonians.

³ Then appeareth the naturalness of our love, when as in deed and that frankly and freely we help our brethren, even for Christ's sake.

8:9 ¹ The fourth argument taken from the example of Christ.

8:10 ¹ He taketh good heed that he seem not to wrest it out of them by constraint, for unless it be voluntary, God doth not accept it.

² Not only to do, but also to do willingly: for he noteth out a ready willingness without any enforcement by any other men; much less came it of ambition and vainglory.

8:12 ¹ Against such as use to excuse themselves, because they are not rich, as though it were only proper to rich men to help the poor.

8:13 ¹ Christian liberality is mutual, that proportion may be observed.

² That like as now in your abundance you help others, which are poor, with some part of your goods, so should others in like sort bestow some of theirs upon you.

8:16 ¹ He commendeth Titus and his two companions for many causes, both that their credit might not be suspected, as though he had sent them slyly to spoil the Churches, and also that they might be so much the readier to contribute.

8:18 ¹ In the preaching of the Gospel.

8:19 ¹ These alms which are bestowed for the relief of the Church of Jerusalem.

8:20 ¹ In this plentiful liberality of the Churches, which is committed to our trust.

8:23 ¹ Titus's two companions.

² By whom the glory of Christ is set forth.

Christ.

24 Wherefore show toward them, and before the¹ Churches the proof of your love, and of the rejoicing that we have of you.

9 ¹ Why, albeit he think well of their ready wills, ³ yet earnestly exhorteth them, ⁴ he yieldeth a reason: ⁶ He compareth alms to seed sowing. ¹⁰ which God doth repay with great gain.

¹ For ¹as touching the ministering to the Saints, it is superfluous for me to write unto you.

² For I know your readiness of mind, whereof I boast myself of you unto them of Macedonia, and say, that Achaia was prepared a year ago, and your zeal hath provoked many.

³ Now have I sent the brethren, lest our rejoicing over you should be in vain in this behalf, that ye (as I have said) be ready.

⁴ Lest if they of Macedonia come with me, and find you unprepared, we (that we may not say, you) should be ashamed in this my ¹constant boasting.

⁵ Wherefore, I thought it necessary to exhort the brethren to come before unto you, and to finish your benevolence appointed afore, that it might be ready, and come as of benevolence, and not as of ¹niggardliness.

⁶ ¹This yet remember, that he which soweth sparingly, shall reap also sparingly, and he that soweth liberally, shall reap also liberally.

⁷ As every man ¹wisheth in his heart, so let him give, not ^{a2}grudgingly, or of ³necessity: for God loveth

CHAPTER 9

^a Rom. 12:8

^b Ps. 112:9

a cheerful giver.

⁸ And God is able to make all ¹grace to abound toward you, that ye always having all sufficiency in all things, may abound in ²every good work,

⁹ (^bAs it is written, He hath sowed abroad and hath given to the poor: his benevolence remaineth for ¹ever.

¹⁰ Also he that findeth seed to the sower, will minister likewise bread for food, and multiply your seed, and increase the ¹fruits of your benevolence.)

¹¹ That on all parts ye may be made rich unto all liberality, which causeth through us thanksgiving unto God.

¹² ¹For the ministration of this service not only supplieth the necessities of the Saints, but also abundantly causeth many to give thanks to God,

¹³ (Which by the ¹experiment of this ministration praise God for your ²voluntary submission to the Gospel of Christ, and for your liberal distribution to them, and to all men.)

¹⁴ And in their prayer for you, to long after you greatly, for the abundant grace of God in you.

¹⁵ ¹Thanks therefore be unto God for his unspeakable gift.

10 ² He sheweth with what confidence, ⁴ with what weapons, ⁶ and with what revenge he is armed against the cavillations of the wicked, ⁷ and that, when he is present, his deeds have no less power, ¹¹ than his words have force when he is absent.

8:24 ¹ All Churches shall be witnesses of this your godly dealing, in whose presence you are, for so much as you see the messengers whom they have chosen by all their consents, and sent them unto you.

9:1 ¹ He wisely meeteth with the suspicion which the Corinthians might conceive, as though the Apostle in urging them so carefully, should doubt of their good will. Therefore he witnesseth that he doeth it not to teach them that they ought to help the Saints, seeing that he had become surety for them to the Macedonians, but only to stir them up which were running of themselves to the end that all things might both be in a better readiness, and also be more plentiful.

9:4 ¹ The word which he useth, signifieth such a stayedness and settledness of mind, as cannot be moved with any terror or fear.

9:5 ¹ As from covetous men.

9:6 ¹ Alms must be given neither niggardly, nor with a loathful mind, or hardly: But as frank and free alms is compared to a sowing which hath a most plentiful harvest of most abundant blessing following it.

9:7 ¹ Determineth and appointeth freely with himself.

² With a sparing and niggardly heart.

³ Against his will, as loath to be evil reported of.

9:8 ¹ All God's bountiful liberality.

² To help others by all means possible, in doing them good in their necessities.

9:9 ¹ Is everlasting: Now David speaketh of a man that feareth God, and loveth his neighbor, who shall never want (saith he) to give to others.

9:10 ¹ There is none so good an inheritance to the godly, as bountifulness is.

9:12 ¹ Another excellent and double fruit of liberality towards the Saints, is this: that it giveth occasion to praise God, and that our faith is also thereby made manifest.

9:13 ¹ By this proof of your liberality in this helping and succoring of them.

² In showing with one consent, that you acknowledge that only Gospel which you have willingly submitted yourselves unto, declaring thereby, that you agree with the Church of Jerusalem.

9:15 ¹ Lest by his great commendation and praise, the Corinthians should be puffed up, he shutteth up this exhortation, with this exclamation.

10:1 ¹ He returneth to the defense of his Apostleship, but so that he useth this authority therein: for he warneth them earnestly and gravely, using also terrible threatenings to show themselves such as are apt to be instructed. And he refelleth certain proud men which made no better accompt of him, than of a bragging Thraso, in that he used to be sharp against them when he was absent, because they saw no great majesty in him after the manner of men, and besides, had proved his lenity, notwithstanding that in his absence, he had written to them sharply. Therefore first of all he professeth that he was gentle and moderate, but after the example of Christ: but if they continue, still to despise his gentleness, he protesteth unto them that he will show indeed how far they are deceived, which make that accompt of the office of an Apostle, that they do of worldly offices, that is, according to the outward appearance.

ness, and ²gentleness of Christ, which when I am present among you am base, but am bold toward you being absent:

2 And this I require you, that I need not to be bold when I am present, with that same confidence, where-with I think to be bold against some, which esteem us as though we walked ¹according to the flesh.

3 ¹Nevertheless, though we walk in the flesh, yet we do not war after the flesh.

4 (For the weapons of our warfare are not ¹carnal, but mighty through ²God, to cast down holds.)

5 Casting down the imaginations, and every high thing that is exalted against the knowledge of God, ¹and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ,

6 And having ready the vengeance against all disobedience, when your obedience is fulfilled.

7 ¹Look ye on things after the ²appearance? If any man trust in himself that he is Christ's, let him consider this again of ³himself, that as he is Christ's, even so are we Christ's.

8 For though I should boast somewhat more of our authority, which the Lord hath given us for edification, and not for your destruction, I should have no shame.

9 This I say, that I may not seem as it were to fear you with letters.

10 For the letters, saith ¹he, are sore and strong, but his bodily presence is weak, and his speech is of no value.

11 Let such one think this, that such as we are in word by letters, when we are absent, such will we be

CHAPTER 10

^a Eph. 4:7^b Jer. 9:24¹ Cor. 1:31

also in deed, when we are present.

12 ¹For we ²dare not make ourselves of the number, or to compare ourselves to them, which praise themselves: but they understand not that they measure themselves with ³themselves, and ⁴compare themselves with themselves.

13 But we will not rejoice of things, which are not within our ¹measure, ^abut according to the measure of the line, whereof God hath distributed unto us a measure to attain even unto you.

14 For we stretch not ourselves beyond our measure, as though we had not attained unto you: for even to you also have we come in preaching the Gospel of Christ.

15 Not boasting of things which are ¹without our measure: that is, of other men's labors: and we hope, when your faith shall increase, to be magnified by you according to your line abundantly,

16 And to preach the Gospel in those regions which are beyond you: not to rejoice in ¹another man's line: that is, in the things that are prepared already.

17 ^{b,1}But let him that rejoiceth, rejoice in the Lord.

18 For he that praiseth himself, is not allowed, but he whom the Lord praiseth.

11 ²He testifieth that for the great loves sake he beareth to the Corinthians, he is compelled ⁵to utter his own praises: ⁹and that he bestowed his labor on them without any reward, ¹³that the false apostles should not surpass him in anything, ²²whom he far excelled in those things which are praiseworthy indeed.

1 Would ¹to God, ye could suffer a little my 10:1 ²That nature which is inclined to mercy, rather than to rigor of justice.

10:2 ¹As though I had no other aid and help than that which outwardly I seem to have: and therefore Paul setteth his flesh, that is, his weak condition and state, against his spiritual and Apostolic dignity.

10:3 ¹Secondly he witnesseth, that although he be like unto other men, yet he cometh furnished with that strength, which no holds of man can match, whether they resist by craft and deceit, or by force and might, because he warrioreth with divine weapons.

10:4 ¹Are not such as men get their authority withall one of another, and do great acts.

²Stand upon that infinite power of God.

10:5 ¹An amplification of this spiritual virtue, which in such sort conquereth the enemies be they never so crafty and mighty, that it bringeth some of them by repentance unto Christ, and justly revengeth others, that are stubbornly obstinate, separating them from the others which suffer themselves to be ruled.

10:7 ¹He beateth into their heads that same matter, with great weight of words and sentences.

²Do ye judge of things according to the outward show.

³Not being told of it by me.

10:10 ¹He noteth out someone that was the seeds man of this speech.

10:12 ¹Being constrained to refel the foolish brags of certain ambitious men, he witnesseth, that they are able to bring nothing, but that they falsely persuade themselves of themselves: and as for himself, although he brags of excellent things, yet he will not pass the bounds which God hath measured him out, according whereunto he came even unto them in preaching the Gospel of Christ, and trusteth that he shall go further, when they have so profited that he shall not need to tarry any longer amongst them to instruct them. And hereunto is added an amplification, in that he never succeeded other men in their labors.

²This is spoken after a taunting sort.

³Upon a vain persuasion that they have of themselves, they take upon them they care not what.

⁴They condemn all others, and measure all their doings only by themselves.

10:13 ¹Of those things which God hath not measured to me.

10:15 ¹As though God had divided the whole world among the Apostles, to be husbanded.

10:16 ¹In countries which other men have prepared and husbanded with the preaching of the Gospel.

10:17 ¹He somewhat mitigateth that which he spake of himself and therewith also prepareth the Corinthians to hear other things, witnessing that he seeketh nothing else but to approve himself to God, whose glory he only seeketh.

11:1 ¹He granteth that after a sort he playeth the fool in this vaunting of things, but he addeth that he doeth it against his will, for their profit because he seeth them deceived by certain vain and crafty men, through the craft and subtlety of Satan.

foolishness, and indeed, ye suffer me.

2 For I am jealous over you, with ¹godly jealousy: for I have prepared you for one husband, to ²present you as a pure virgin to Christ:

3 But I fear lest as the "serpent beguiled Eve through his subtlety, so your minds should be ¹corrupt from the simplicity that is in ²Christ:

4 ¹For if he that cometh, preacheth ²another Jesus whom we have not preached: or if ye receive another spirit whom ye have not received: either another Gospel which ye have not received, ye might well have suffered him.

5 Verily I suppose that I was not inferior to the very chief Apostles.

6 ¹And though I be ²rude in speaking, yet I am not so in knowledge, but among you we have been made manifest to the uttermost, in all things.

7 ¹Have I committed an offence, because I abased myself, that ye might be exalted, and because I preached to you the Gospel of God freely?

8 I robbed other Churches, and took wages of them to do you service.

9 And when I was present with you, and had need, ¹I was not slothful to the hindrance of any man: for that which was lacking unto me, the brethren which came from Macedonia, supplied, and in all things I kept, ¹and will keep myself, that I should not be grievous unto you.

10 The ¹truth of Christ is in me, that this rejoicing

CHAPTER 11

^a Gen. 3:4

shall not be ²shut up against me in the regions of Achaia.

11 Wherefore? because I love you not? God knoweth.

12 But what I do, that will I do, that I may cut away occasion from them which desire occasion, that they might be found like unto us in that wherein they ¹rejoice.

13 ¹For such false apostles are deceitful workers, and transform themselves into the Apostles of Christ.

14 And no marvel: for Satan himself is transformed into an Angel of ¹light.

15 Therefore it is no great thing, though his ministers transform themselves, as though they were the ministers of righteousness, whose end shall be according to their works.

16 ¹I say again, Let no man think that I am foolish, or else take me even as a fool, that I also may boast myself a little.

17 That I speak, I speak it not after the Lord: but as it were foolishly, in this my great boasting.

18 Seeing that many rejoice after [the] flesh, I will rejoice also.

19 For ye suffer fools gladly, because that ye are wise.

20 ¹For ye suffer, even if a man bring you into bondage, if a man devour you, if a man take your goods, if a man exalt himself, if a man smite you on the face.

11:2 ¹ He speaketh as a woer, but yet as one that seeketh them not for himself, but for God.

² To marry you together.

11:3 ¹ This place is to be marked against them which loathe that plain and pure simplicity of the Scriptures, in comparison of the colors and paintings of man's eloquence.

² Which is meet for them that are in Christ.

11:4 ¹ He sheweth that they deceive themselves, if they look to receive of any other man, either a more excellent Gospel, or more excellent gifts of the holy Ghost.

² A more perfect doctrine of Jesus Christ.

11:6 ¹ He refuteth the slanders of those Thrasoes. I grant, saith he, that I am not so eloquent an Orator, but yet they cannot take away the knowledge of the Gospel from me, whereof you have had good proof, and that every manner of way.

² Paul lacked not the kind of eloquence which is meet for a man, and fit for the Gospel, but he willingly wanted that painted kind of speech, which too many nowadays hunt after and follow.

11:7 ¹ Another slander, to wit, that he was a rascal, and lived by the labor of his own hands. But herein, saith the Apostle, what can you lay against me, but that I was content to take any pains for your sakes, and when I lacked, to travail for my living with mine own hands in part, and partly also when poverty constrained me, I chose rather otherwise to seek my sustenance, than to be any burden to you, although I preached the Gospel unto you?

11:9 ¹ An amplification: so far is he from being ashamed of this act, that he hath also resolved with himself to do no otherwise hereafter amongst them, to the intent that it may always be truly said, that he taught in Achaia for nothing: not that he disdaineth the Corinthians, but that these Thrasoes may never find the occasion which they have already sought for, and he in the mean season may set something before them to follow, that at length they may truly say, that they are like to Paul.

11:10 ¹ This is a form of an oath, as if he said, let me not be thought to have any truth in me.

² Shall be always open to me.

11:12 ¹ Paul's adversaries sought all occasions they could, to be equal to him. And therefore seeing they had rather eat up the Corinthians, than preach to them for nothing, they sought another occasion, to wit, to make Paul to take something: which thing if he had done, then hoped they by that means to be equal to him: for they made such a show of zeal and knowledge, and set it forth with such a glossing kind of eloquence, that some of them even despised Paul: but he sheweth that all this is nothing but colors and painting.

11:13 ¹ Now at length he pointeth out these fellows in their colors, forewarning that it will come to pass, that they will at length betray themselves, what countenance soever they make of zeal that they have to God's glory.

11:14 ¹ By light is meant the heavenly glory, whereof the Angels are partakers.

11:16 ¹ He goeth forward boldly, and using a vehement Irony of kind of taunting, desireth the Corinthians to pardon him, if for a time he contend as a fool before them being wise, with those jolly fellows touching those eternal things, to wit, touching his stock, his ancestors and valiant acts.

11:20 ¹ Before he cometh to the matter, he toucheth the Corinthians, who persuading themselves to very wise men, did not mark in the mean season that those false apostles abused their simplicity for advantage.

21 I speak as concerning the ¹reproach: as though that we had been ²weak: but wherein any man is bold (I speak foolishly) I am bold also.

22 They are Hebrews, ³so am I: they are Israelites, so am I: they are the seed of Abraham, so am I.

23 They are the ministers of Christ (I speak as a fool) I am ¹more: in labors more abundant: in stripes above measure: in prison more plenteously: in ²death oft.

24 Of the Jews ¹five times received I forty stripes save one.

25 I was ¹thrice ⁴beaten with rods: I was ⁶once stoned: I suffered thrice ⁷shipwreck: night and day have I been in the deep sea.

26 In journeying I was often, in perils of waters, in perils of robbers, in perils of mine own nation, in perils among the Gentiles, in perils in the city, in perils in wilderness, in perils in the sea, in perils among false brethren, 27 In weariness and ¹painfulness, in watching often, in hunger and thirst, in fastings often, in cold and in nakedness.

28 ¹Beside the things which are outward, I am cumbered daily, and have the care of all the Churches.

29 Who is weak, and I am not weak? Who is offended, and I burn not?

30 ¹If I must needs rejoice, I will rejoice of mine infirmities.

31 The God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which is blessed for evermore, knoweth that I lie not.

^c Phil. 3:5

32 In ⁴Damascus the governor of the people under King Aretas, laid watch in the city of the Damascenes, and would have caught me.

33 But at a window was I let down in a basket through the wall, and escaped his hands.

12 ¹He doth even unwillingly make rehearsal, ³of the heavenly visions, ⁴that were revealed unto him, ⁶for which though he might indeed glory, yet he will not, ¹⁰being privy of his own infirmities: ¹¹but they drive him to this kind of folly. ²⁰in that they give ear to certain vainglorious persons, who draw them from Christ.

1 It ¹is not expedient for me no doubt to rejoice: for I will come to visions and revelations of the Lord.

2 I know a man ¹in Christ above fourteen years ago, (whether he were in the body, I cannot tell, or out of the body, I cannot tell: God knoweth) which was taken up into the ²third heaven.

3 And I know such a man (whether in the body, or out of the body, I cannot tell: God knoweth.)

4 How that he was taken up into ¹Paradise, and heard words which ²cannot be spoken, which are not ³possible for man to utter.

5 ¹Of such a man will I rejoice: of myself will I not rejoice, except it be of mine infirmities.

6 For though I would rejoice, I should not be a fool, for I will say the truth: but I refrain, lest any man should think of me above that he seeth in me, or that he heareth of me.

7 ¹And lest I should be exalted out of measure

11:21 ¹As if he said, in respect of that reproach which they do unto you (I speak it) which surely is as evil as if they did beat you.

²Paul is called weak, in that he seemeth to the Corinthians a vile and abject man, a beggarly artificer, a most wretched and miserable idiot, whereas notwithstanding therein God's mighty power was made manifest.

11:23 ¹Paul being honorable indeed, defendeth his ministry openly, not for his own sake, but because he saw his doctrine come into hazard.

²In danger of present death.

11:24 ¹He alludeth to that that is written, Deut. 25:3, and moreover this place sheweth us, that Paul suffered many things which Luke passed over.

11:25 ¹Of the Roman Magistrates.

11:27 ¹Painfulness is a troublesome sickness, as when a man who is weary and would rest, he is constrained to fall to new labor.

11:28 ¹He addeth this in conclusion further, that the Corinthians might be ashamed to despise him, upon whose care almost all Churches depended, as it was plainly seen by experience.

11:30 ¹He turneth that against the adversaries, which they objected against him: as if he should say, They allege my calamities, to take away my authority from me: but if I would boast myself, I would take no better argument: and God himself is my witness that I devise and forge nothing.

12:1 ¹He goeth forward in his purpose, and because those bragging mates boasted of revelations, he reckoneth up those things which lift him up above the common capacity of men: but he useth a preface, and excuseth himself advisedly.

12:2 ¹I speak this in Christ, that is, be it spoken without vainglory, for I seek nothing but Christ Jesus only.

²Into the highest heaven: for we need not to dispute subtly upon the word (Third) but yet this place is to be marked against them which would make heaven to [be] everywhere.

12:4 ¹So the Grecians name that which we call a park, that is to say, a place where trees are planted, and wild beasts kept, by which name they that translated the old Testament out of the Hebrew into Greek, called the garden Eden, whereunto Adam was put straight after his creation, as a most delicate and pleasant place. And hereunto grew it, that that blessed seat of the glory of God is called by that name.

²Which no man is able to utter.

³Which the Saints themselves are not by any means able to express, because it is God himself. Thus doth Clement Alexandria expound this place, Strom. 5.

12:5 ¹To remove all suspicion of ambition he witnesseth that he braggeth not of those things as his own, but as out of himself, and yet notwithstanding faineth nothing, lest by this occasion other men should attribute more unto him than indeed he is: and therefore he had rather glory in his miseries.

12:7 ¹An excellent doctrine: why God will have even his best servants to be vexed of Satan and by all kinds of temptations, to wit, lest they should be too much puffed up, and also that they may be made perfect by that continual exercise.

through the abundance of revelations, there was given unto me a ²prick in the flesh, the messenger of ³Satan to buffet me, because I should not be exalted out of measure.

8 For this thing I besought the Lord ¹thrice, that it might depart from me.

9 And he said unto me, My grace is sufficient for thee: for my power is made perfect through weakness. ¹Very gladly therefore will I rejoice rather in mine infirmities, that the power of Christ may ²dwell in me.

10 Therefore I take ¹pleasure in infirmities, in reproaches, in necessities, in persecutions, in anguish for Christ's sake: for when I am weak, then am I strong.

11 I was a fool to boast myself: ye have compelled me: ¹for I ought to have been commended of you: for in nothing was I inferior unto the very chief Apostles, though I be nothing.

12 The ¹signs of an Apostle were wrought among you with all patience, with signs, and wonders and great works.

13 For what is it, wherein ye were inferiors unto other Churches, ²except that I have not been ¹slothful to your hindrance? forgive me this wrong.

14 Behold, the third time I am ready to come unto you, and yet will I not be slothful to your hindrance: for I seek not yours, but you: for the children ought not to lay up for the fathers, but the fathers for the children.

15 And I will most gladly bestow, and will be bestowed for your souls: though the more I love you, the less I am loved.

16 ¹But be it that I charged you not: yet for as much as I was crafty, I took you with guile.

17 Did I pill you by any of them whom I sent unto you?

18 I have desired Titus, and with him I have sent a brother: did Titus pill you of any things? walked we not in the selfsame spirit? walked we not in the same steps?

19 ¹Again, think ye that we excuse ourselves unto you? we speak before God in ²Christ. But we do all things, dearly beloved, for your edifying.

20 ¹For I fear lest when I come, I shall not find you such as I would: and that I shall be found unto you such as ye would not: and lest there be strife, envying, wrath, contentions, backbitings, whisperings, swellings, and discord.

21 I fear lest when I come again, my God abase me among you, and I shall bewail many of them which have sinned already, and have not repented of the uncleanness, and fornication, and wantonness which they have committed.

13 ¹Coming the third time, ²he denounceth the sharper vengeance toward them, ⁴who have a perfect trial of the power of Christ in his Apostleship: ⁷At length he prayeth for their repentance, ¹¹And wisheth them prosperity.

1 Lo this is the third time that I come unto you. ²In the mouth of two or three witnesses shall every word stand.

2 I told you before, and tell you before: as though I had been present the second time, so write I now being absent to them, which heretofore have sinned, and to all others, that if I come again, I will not spare,

3 ¹Seeing that ye seek experience of Christ, that speaketh in me, which toward you is not weak, but

² He meaneth concupiscence, that sticketh fast in us, as it were a prick, insomuch that it constrained Paul himself being regenerate, to cry out, I do not that good that I would, etc. And he calleth it a prick, by a borrowed kind of speech taken from thorns, or stumps, which are very dangerous and hurtful for the feet, if a man walks through woods that are cut down.

³ Which setteth those lusts on fire.

12:8 ¹ Oft.

12:9 ¹ He concludeth, that he will only see his miseries against the vain brags of the false apostles, and therewith also excuseth himself, for that by their importunity, he was constrained to speak so much of these things as he did: to wit, because that if his Apostleship were subverted his doctrine must needs fall.

² That I might feel the virtue of Christ more and more: For the weaker that our tabernacles are, the more doth Christ's virtue appear in them.

12:10 ¹ I do not only take them patiently and with a good heart, but also I take great pleasure in them.

12:11 ¹ Again he maketh the Corinthians witnesses of those things whereby God had sealed his Apostleship amongst them, and again he desireth by certain arguments, how far he is from all covetousness, and also how he is affectioned towards them.

12:12 ¹ The arguments whereby it may well appear, that I am indeed an Apostle of Jesus Christ.

12:13 ¹ I was not slothful in getting my living with mine own hands, that I might not be burdensome to you.

12:16 ¹ He putteth away another most grievous slander, to wit, that he did subtly and by others, make his gain and profit of them.

12:19 ¹ He concludeth, that he writeth not these things unto them, as though he needed to defend himself, for he is guilty of nothing: but because it is behoovable for them to doubt nothing of his fidelity who instructed them.

² As it becometh him to speak truly and sincerely, that professeth himself to be in Christ, that is to say, to be a Christian.

12:20 ¹ Having confirmed his authority unto them, he rebuketh them sharply, and threateneth them also like an Apostle, showing that he will not spare them hereafter, unless they repent, seeing that this is the third time that he hath warned them.

13:3 ¹ A most sharp reprehension, for that, while they despise the Apostle's admonitions, they tempt Christ's own patience: and also while they condemn him as wretched and miserable, they lay nothing herein against him, which is not common to him with Christ.

is ²mighty in you.

4 For though he was crucified concerning ¹his infirmity, yet liveth he through the power of God. And we no doubt are weak in him, but we shall live with him, through the power of God toward you.

5 ^{b,1}Prove yourselves whether ye are in the faith: examine yourselves: know ye not your own selves, how that Jesus Christ is in you, except ye be reprobates?

6 ¹But I trust that ye shall know that we are not reprobates.

7 Now I pray unto God that ye do none evil, not that we should seem approved, but that ye should do that which is honest: though we be as ¹reprobates.

8 For we cannot do anything against the truth, but for the truth.

9 For we are glad when we are weak, and that ye are strong: this also we wish for, even your ¹perfection.

10 Therefore write I these things being absent, lest when I am present, I should use sharpness, according to the power which the Lord hath given me, to edification, and not to destruction.

11 ¹Finally brethren, fare ye well: be perfect: be of good comfort: be of one mind: live in peace, and the God of love and peace shall be with you.

12 ¹Greet one another with an ¹holy kiss. All the Saints salute you.

13 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the holy Ghost be with you all, Amen.

¶ The second Epistle to the Corinthians, written from Philippi, a city in Macedonia, and sent by Titus and Lucas.

13:3 ² And will be most mighty to be revenged of you, when need shall be.

13:4 ¹ As touching that base form of a servant which he took upon him when he abased himself.

13:5 ¹ He confirmeth that which he spake of the virtue of God appearing in his ministry, and he gathereth by the mutual relation between the people's faith and the minister's preaching, that they must either reverence his Apostleship, upon whose doctrine their faith is grounded, or they must condemn themselves of infidelity, and must confess themselves not to be of Christ's body.

13:6 ¹ He mitigateth that sharpness, trusting that they will show themselves towards their faithful Apostle, apt and willingly to be taught: adding this moreover, that he passeth not for his own fame and estimation, so that he may serve to their salvation, which is the only mark that he shooteth at.

13:7 ¹ In men's judgment.

13:9 ¹ That all things may be in good order amongst you, and the members of the Church restored into their place, which have been shaken and out of place.

13:11 ¹ A brief exhortation, but yet such an one as comprehendeth all the parts of a Christian man's life.

13:12 ¹ He saluteth them familiarly, and in conclusion wisheth well unto them.

THE EPISTLE OF THE APOSTLE PAUL TO THE GALATIANS

1 ¹ Straight after the salutation, ⁶ He reprehendeth the Galatians for revolting, ⁹ from his Gospel, ¹⁵ which he received from God, ¹⁷ before he had communicated with any of the Apostles.

¹ Paul ¹an Apostle (not ²of men, neither by ³man, ⁴but by ⁴Jesus Christ, and God the Father which hath raised him from the dead.)

² And all the brethren which are with me unto the Churches of Galatia:

³ Grace be with you, and peace from God the Father, and from our Lord Jesus Christ,

⁴ ¹Which gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us ⁶from this present evil ²world according to the will of God even our Father,

⁵ To whom be glory forever and ever, Amen.

⁶ ¹I marvel that ye are so soon ²removed away unto another Gospel, from him that had called you in the grace of Christ,

CHAPTER I

^a Titus 1:3

^b Luke 1:74

^c 1 Cor. 15:1

^d Acts 9:8

⁷ ¹Which is not another Gospel, save that there be some which trouble you, and intend to ²pervert the Gospel of Christ.

⁸ But though that we, or an Angel from heaven preach unto you otherwise than that which we have preached unto you, let him be ¹accursed.

⁹ As we said before, so say I now again, If any man preach unto you otherwise than that ye have received, let him be accursed.

¹⁰ ¹For now preach I ²man's doctrine, or God's? or go I about to please men? for if I should yet please men, I were not the servant of Christ.

¹¹ ¹Now I certify you, brethren, that the Gospel which was preached of me, was not after man.

¹² For neither received I it of man, neither was I taught it, but by the ¹revelation of Jesus Christ.

¹³ ¹For ye have heard of my conversation in time past, in the Jewish religion, how that ⁴I persecuted

1:1 ¹ A salutation comprehending in few words, the sum of the Apostle's doctrine, and also besides straightway from the beginning, showing the gravity meet for the authority of an Apostle, which he had to maintain against the false apostles.

² He sheweth who is the author of the minister generally: for herein the whole ministry agreeth, that whether they be Apostles, or Shepherds, or Doctors, they are appointed of God.

³ He toucheth the instrumental cause: for this is a peculiar prerogative to the Apostles, to be called immediately from Christ.

⁴ Christ no doubt is man, but he is God also, and head of the Church, and in this respect to be exempted out of the number of men.

1:4 ¹ The sum of the true Gospel is this, that Christ by his only offering, saveth us being chosen out from the world, by the free decree of God the Father.

² Out of that [most] corrupt state which is without Christ.

1:6 ¹ The first part of the Epistle wherein he witnesseth that he is an Apostle, nothing inferior to those chief disciples of Christ, and wholly agreeing with them, whose names the false apostles did abuse. And he beginneth with chiding, reproving them of lightness for that they have ear so easily unto them which perverted them and drew them away to a new Gospel.

² He useth the passive voice, to cast the fault upon the false apostles, and he useth the time that now is, to give them to understand, that it was not already done, but in doing.

1:7 ¹ He warneth them in time to remember that there are not many Gospels, and therefore whatsoever these false apostles pretend which had the Law, Moses and the Fathers in their mouths, yet they are in deed so many corruptions of the true Gospel, insomuch that he himself, yea, and the very Angels themselves, (and therefore much more these false apostles) ought to be holden accursed, if they go about to change the least iota that may be in the Gospel, that he delivered to them before.

² For there is nothing more contrary to faith or free justification, than justification by the Law, or by our deserving.

1:8 ¹ See Rom. 9:3.

1:10 ¹ A confirmation taken both from the nature of the doctrine itself, and also from that manner which he useth in teaching: for neither saith he, did I teach those things which pleased men as these men do which put part of salvation in external things, and works of the Law, neither went I about to procure any man's favor. And therefore the matter itself sheweth that that doctrine which I delivered unto you, is heavenly.

² He toucheth the false apostles who had nothing but men in their mouths, and he, though he would derogate nothing from the Apostles, preacheth God and not men.

1:11 ¹ A second argument to prove that this doctrine is heavenly, because he had it from heaven, from Jesus Christ himself, without any man's help, wherein he excelleth them whom Christ taught here on earth after the manner of men.

1:12 ¹ This place is to be understood of an extraordinary revelation, for otherwise the Son alone revealed his Gospel by his Spirit, although by the ministry of men, which Paul shutteth out here.

1:13 ¹ He proveth that he was extraordinarily taught of Christ himself, by the history of his former life, which the Galatians themselves know well enough: for saith he, it is well known in what school I was brought up, even from a child, to wit, amongst the deadly enemies of the Gospel. And no man may cavil and say that I was a scholar of the Pharisees in name only and not in deed, no man is ignorant, how that I excelled in Pharisaism, and was suddenly made of a Pharisee, an Apostle of the Gentiles, so that I had no space to be instructed of men.

the Church of God extremely, and wasted it,
14 And profited in the Jewish religion above many of my companions of mine own nation, and was much more zealous of the ¹traditions of my fathers.

15 But when it pleased God (which had ¹separated me from my mother's womb, and called me by his grace.)

16 To reveal his Son ¹in me, that I should preach him ^εamong the Gentiles immediately, ²I communicated not with ³flesh and blood:

17 Neither came I again to Jerusalem to them which were Apostles before me, but I went into Arabia, and turned again unto Damascus.

18 Then after three years I came again to Jerusalem, to visit Peter, and abode with him fifteen days.

19 And none other of the Apostles saw I, save James the Lord's brother.

20 Now the things which I write unto you, behold, I witness ¹before God, that I lie not.

21 After that, I went into the coasts of Syria and Cilicia: for I was unknown by face unto the Churches of Judea which were in Christ.

22 But they had heard only some say, He which persecuted us in time past, now preacheth the ¹faith which before he destroyed.

23 And they glorified God for me.

2 1 That the Apostles did nothing disagree from his Gospel, 3 he declareth by the example of Titus being uncircumcised, 11 and also by his . . . the same against Peter's dissimulation. 17 And so he passeth to the handling of our free justification by Christ, etc.

1 Then ¹fourteen years after, I went up again to Jerusalem with Barnabas, and took with me Titus also.

2 And I went up by revelation, and declared unto them that Gospel which I preach among the Gentiles, but particularly to them that were the chief, lest by any means I should run, or had run ¹in vain:

3 But neither yet Titus which was with me, though he were a Grecian, was compelled to be circumcised,

4 To wit, for the ¹false brethren which were craftily sent in, and crept in privily to spy out our liberty which we have in Christ Jesus, that they might bring us into bondage.

5 To whom we gave not place by ¹subjection for an hour, that the ²truth of the Gospel might continue with ³you.

6 But by them which seemed to be great, I was not taught (whatsoever they were in time passed, I am nothing the better: ^εGod accepteth no man's person) for they that are the chief, did add nothing to me above that I had.

7 But contrariwise, when they saw that the Gospel over the ¹uncircumcision was committed unto me, as the Gospel over the circumcision was unto Peter:

8 (For he that was mighty by Peter in the Apostleship over the circumcision, was also mighty by me toward the Gentiles.)

9 And when James, and Cephas, and John, knew of the grace that was given unto me, which are ¹counted to be pillars, they gave to me and to Barnabas the right ²hands of fellowship, that we should preach unto the Gentiles, and they unto the circumcision,

1:14 ¹ He calleth them the traditions of his Fathers, because he was not only a Pharisee himself, but also had a Pharisee to his father.

1:15 ¹ He speaketh of God's everlasting predestination, whereby he appointed him to be an Apostle, whereof he maketh three degrees, the everlasting counsel of God, his appointing from his mother's womb, and his calling: here is no mention at all, we see, of works foreseen.

1:16 ¹ To me, and this is a kind of speech which the Hebrews use, whereby this is given us to understand, that this gift cometh from God.

² Because it might be objected, that indeed he was called of Christ in the way, but afterwards was instructed of the Apostles and others, whose names (as I said before) the false apostles abused to destroy his Apostleship, as though he delivered another Gospel than the true Apostles did, and as though he were not of their number, which are to be credited without exception: therefore Paul answereth, that he began straightway after his calling to preach the Gospel at Damascus and in Arabia, and was not from that time in Jerusalem but only fifteen days, where he saw only Peter and James, and afterwards, he began to teach in Syria and Cilicia, with the consent and approbation of the Churches of the Jews, which knew him only by name, so far off was it, that he was there instructed of men.

³ With any man in the world.

1:20 ¹ This is a kind of an oath.

1:22 ¹ The doctrine of faith.

2:1 ¹ Now he sheweth how he agreeth with the Apostles with whom he granteth that he conferred touching his Gospel which he taught among the Gentiles, fourteen years after his conversion, and they allowed it in such sort, that they constrained not his fellow Titus to be circumcised, although some tormented themselves therein, which traitorously laid wait against him, but in vain: neither did they add the least iota that might be to the doctrine which he had preached, but contrariwise they gave to him and Barnabas the right hands of fellowship and acknowledged them as Apostles appointed of the Lord to the Gentiles.

2:2 ¹ Unfruitfully, for as touching his doctrine, Paul doubted not of it, but because there were certain reports cast abroad of him, that he was of another opinion than the rest of the Apostles were, which thing might have hindered the course of the Gospel, therefore he labored to remedy this sore.

2:4 ¹ Which by deceit, and counterfeit holiness crept in amongst the faithful.

2:5 ¹ By submitting ourselves to them, and betraying our own liberty.

² The true and sincere doctrine of the Gospel, which remained safe from being corrupt with any of these men's false doctrines.

³ Under the Galatians' name, he understandeth all nations.

2:7 ¹ Among the Gentiles, as Peter had to preach it among the Jews.

2:9 ¹ Whom alone and only, these men count for pillars of the Church, and whose name they abuse to deceive you.

² They gave us their hand in token that we agreed wholly in the doctrine of the Gospel.

10 Warning only that we should remember the poor: which thing also I was diligent to do.

11 ¶ And when Peter was come to Antioch, I withstood him to his ¹face: for he was to be condemned.

12 ¹For before that certain came from James, he ate with the Gentiles: but when they were come, he withdrew and separated himself, fearing them which were of the circumcision.

13 And the other Jews played the hypocrites likewise with him, insomuch that Barnabas was ¹led away with them by that their hypocrisy.

14 But when I saw, that they went not the ¹right way to the ²truth of the Gospel, I said unto Peter before all men, If thou being a Jew, livest as the Gentiles, and not like the Jews, why ³constrainest thou the Gentiles to do like the Jews?

15 ¹We which are Jews ²by nature, and not ³sinners of the Gentiles,

16 Know that a man is not justified by the works of the Law, but by the faith ¹of Jesus Christ, even we, I say, have believed in Jesus Christ, that we might be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the Law, because that by the works of the Law, ²no flesh shall be justified.

^b Rom. 3:19

17 ^{b1}If then while ²we seek to be made righteous by Christ, we ourselves are found sinners, is Christ therefore the minister of sin? God forbid.

18 For if I build again the things that I have destroyed, I make myself a trespasser.

19 For I through the Law am dead to the ¹Law, that I might live unto God.

20 I am crucified with Christ, but I live, yet not ¹I anymore, but Christ liveth in me: and in that I now live in the ²flesh, I live by the faith in the Son of God, who hath loved me, and given himself for me.

21 ¹I do not abrogate the grace of God: for if righteousness be by the Law, then Christ died without a ²cause.

3 ¹He rebuketh them, for suffering themselves to be drawn from the grace of free justification in Christ, most lively set out unto them. ⁶He bringeth in Abraham's example, ¹⁰declaring the effects, ²¹and causes of the giving of the Law.

1 ¹O foolish Galatians, who hath bewitched you, that ye should not obey the truth, to whom Jesus Christ before was described in your ²sight,

2:11 ¹ Before all men.

2:12 ¹ Another most vehement proof of his Apostleship, and also of that doctrine, which he had delivered concerning free justification by faith only because that for this thing only he reprehended Peter at Antioch, who offended herein, in that for a few Jews' sakes which came from Jerusalem he played the Jew, and offended the Gentiles which had believed.

2:13 ¹ By example rather than by judgment.

2:14 ¹ Word for word, with a right foot which he setteth against halting and dissembling which is backward.

² He calleth the truth of the Gospel both the doctrine itself, and also the use of doctrine, which we call the practice.

³ He saith they were constrained, which played the Jews by Peter's example.

2:15 ¹ The second part of this Epistle, the state whereof is this: we are justified by faith in Christ Jesus without the works of the Law: which thing he propoundeth in such sort, that first of all he meeteth with an objection, (for I also saith he am a Jew, that no man may say against me, that I am an enemy to the Law) and afterward, he confirmeth it by the express witness of David.

² Although we be Jews, yet we preach justification by faith because we know undoubtedly, that no man can be justified by the Law.

³ So the Jews called the Gentiles, because they were strangers from God's covenant.

2:16 ¹ In Jesus Christ.

² No man, and in this word (flesh) there is a great vehemence, whereby is meant that the nature of man is utterly corrupt.

2:17 ¹ Before he goeth any further, he meeteth with their objection, which abhorred this doctrine of free justification by faith, because say they, men are by this means withdrawn from the study of good works. And in this sort is the objection, if sinners should be justified through Christ by faith without the Law Christ should approve sinners, and should as it were exhort them thereunto by his ministry. Paul answereth that this consequence is false, because that Christ destroyeth sin in the believers: For so saith he do men flee unto Christ, through the terror and fear of the Law that being quit from the curse of the Law and justified, they may be saved by him, that together therewithall, he beginneth in them by little and little, that strength and power of his which destroyeth sin: to the end that this old man being abolished by the virtue of Christ crucified, Christ may live in them, and they may consecrate themselves to God. Therefore if any man give himself to sin after he hath received the Gospel, let him not accuse Christ nor the Gospel, but himself, for that he destroyeth the work of God in himself.

² He goeth from justification to sanctification, which is another benefit we receive by Christ, if we lay hold on him by faith.

2:19 ¹ The Law that terrifieth the conscience, bringeth us to Christ, and he only causeth us to die to the Law indeed, because that by making us righteous, he taketh away from us the terror of conscience, and by sanctifying us, causeth through the mortifying of lust in us, that it cannot take such occasion to sin by the restraint which the Law maketh, as it did before, Rom. 7:10-11.

2:20 ¹ The same that I was before.

² In this mortal body.

2:21 ¹ The second argument taken of an absurdity: If men may be justified by the Law, then was it not necessary for Christ to die.

² For there was no cause why he should do so.

3:1 ¹ The third reason or argument taken of those gifts of the holy Ghost, wherewith they were endued from heaven after they had heard and believed the Gospel by Paul's ministry: which seeing they were so evident to all men's eyes, that they were as it were lively images, wherein they might behold the truth of the doctrine of the Gospel, no less than if they had beheld with their eyes Christ himself crucified, in whose only death they ought to have their trust, he marvelleth how it could be that they could be so bewitched by the false apostles.

² Christ was laid before you, so notably and so plainly, that you had his lively image as it were represented before your eyes, as if he had been crucified before you.

and among you crucified?

2 This only would I learn of you, Received ye the ¹Spirit by the works of the Law, or by the hearing of ²faith preached?

3 ¹Are ye so foolish, that after ye have begun in the Spirit, ye would now be made perfect by the ²flesh?

4 ¹Have ye suffered so many things in vain? if so be it be even in vain.

5 ¹He therefore that ministereth to you the Spirit, and worketh miracles among you, doeth he it through the works of the Law, or by the hearing of faith preached?

6 ¹Yea rather as ²Abraham believed God, and it was ³imputed to him for righteousness.

7 ¹Know ye therefore, that they which are of faith, the same are the children of Abraham.

8 ¹For the Scripture foreseeing, that God would justify the Gentiles through faith, preached before the Gospel unto Abraham, saying, ²In thee shall all the Gentiles be ³blessed.

9 ¹So then they which be of faith, are blessed with ²faithful Abraham.

10 ¹For as many as are of the works of the Law, are under the curse: ²For it is written, 'Cursed is every man that continueth not in all things, which are written in the book of the Law, to do them.

11 ¹And that no man is justified by the Law in the sight of God, it is evident: ²for the just shall live by faith.

12 ¹And the Law is not of faith: but 'the man that shall do those things, shall live in them.

13 ¹Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the Law, made a curse for us, (²for it is written, ³Cursed is everyone that hangeth on tree.)

14 ¹That the blessing of Abraham might come on the Gentiles through Christ Jesus, that we might receive the promise of the Spirit through faith.

15 ¹Brethren, I speak as ²men do: 'though it be

3:2 ¹ Those spiritual graces and gifts, which were a seal as it were to the Galatians, that the Gospel which was preached to them was true.

² Of the doctrine of faith.

3:3 ¹ The fourth argument mixed with [the former] and it is double, If the Law is to be joined with faith, this were not to go forward, but backward, seeing that those spiritual gifts which were bestowed upon you, are more excellent than any that could proceed from yourselves. And moreover, it should follow, that the Law is better than Christ, because it should perfect and bring to end that which Christ began only.

² By the (flesh) he meaneth the ceremonies of the Law, against which he setteth the Spirit, that is, the spiritual working of the Gospel.

3:4 ¹ An exhortation by manner of upbraiding, that they do not in vain suffer so many conflicts.

3:5 ¹ He repeateth the third argument which was taken of the effects, because he had interlaced certain other arguments by the way.

3:6 ¹ The first argument which is of great force, and hath three grounds, The first, That Abraham was justified by faith, to wit, by free imputation of righteousness according to the promise apprehended by faith, as Moses doth most plainly witness.

² See Rom. 4.

3:7 ¹ The second, that the sons of Abraham must be esteemed and accounted of by faith.

3:8 ¹ The third, that all people that believe, are without exception, comprehended in the promise of the blessing.

² A proof of the first and second grounds, out of the words of Moses.

³ Blessing in this place, signifieth the free promise by faith.

3:9 ¹ The conclusion of the fifth argument: Therefore as Abraham is blessed by faith, so are all his children (that is to say, all the Gentiles that believe) blessed, that is to say, freely justified.

² With faithful Abraham, and not by faithful Abraham, to give us to understand that the blessing cometh not from Abraham, but from him, by whom Abraham and all his posterity is blessed.

3:10 ¹ The sixth argument, the conclusion whereof is also in the former verse taken of contraries, thus, They are accursed which are of the works of the Law, that is to say, which value their [righteousness] by the performance of the Law. Therefore they are blessed which are of faith, that is, they which have righteousness by faith.

² A proof of the former sentence or proposition: and the proposition of this argument is this: Cursed is he that fulfilleth not the whole Law.

3:11 ¹ The second proposition with the conclusion: But no man fullilleth the Law. Therefore no man is justified by the Law, or else, which seek righteousness by the works of the Law. And there is annexed also this manner of proof of the second proposition, to wit, Righteousness and life are attributed to faith, Therefore no man fulfilleth the Law.

3:12 ¹ Here is a reason shown of the former consequence: Because the law promiseth life to all that keep it, and therefore if it be kept, it justifieth and giveth life. But the Scripture attributing righteousness and life to faith, taketh it from the Law, seeing that faith justifieth by imputation, and the Law by the performing of the work.

3:13 ¹ A preventing of an objection: How then can they be blessed, whom the Law pronounceth to be accursed? Because Christ sustained the curse which the Law laid upon us, that we might be quit from it.

² A proof of the answer by the testimony of Moses.

³ Christ was accursed for us, because he bare the curse that was due to us, to make us partakers of his righteousness.

3:14 ¹ A conclusion of all that was said before in the handling of the fifth and sixth reasons, to wit, that both the Gentiles are made partakers of the free blessing of Abraham in Christ, and also that the Jews themselves, of whose number the Apostle counteth himself to be, cannot obtain that promised grace of the Gospel, which he calleth the Spirit, but only by faith. And the Apostle doth severally apply the conclusion, both to the one and the other, preparing himself a way, to the next argument, whereby he declareth, that the one only seed of Abraham, which is made of all peoples can no otherwise be joined and grow up together, but by faith in Christ.

3:15 ¹ He putteth forth two general [rules] before the next argument, which is the seventh in order: That one is, that it is not lawful to break covenants and contracts which are justly made and according to Law amongst men, neither may anything be added unto them: The other is, that God did so make a covenant with Abraham, that he would gather together his children which consist both of Jews and Gentiles into one body (as appeareth by that which hath been said before.) For he did not say, that he would be the God of Abraham and of his seeds, (which things notwithstanding should have been said, if he had many and divers seeds, as the Gentiles apart and the Jews apart,) but that he would be the God of Abraham, and of his seed, as of one.

² I will use an example which is common among you, that you may be ashamed you give not so much to God's covenants, as you do to man's.

but a man's covenant, when it is ³confirmed, yet no man doth abrogate it, or addeth anything thereto, 16 Now to Abraham and his seed were the promises made. He saith not, and to the seeds, as speaking of many: but, And to thy seed, as of one, ¹which is ²Christ.

17 ¹And this I say, that the covenant that was confirmed afore of God ²in respect of Christ, the ³Law which was four hundred and thirty years after, cannot disannul, that it should make the promise of none effect.

18 ¹For if the ²inheritance be of the Law, it is no more by the promise, but God gave it freely unto Abraham by promise.

19 ¹Wherefore then serveth the Law? It was added because of the ²transgressions, ³till the seed came, unto the which the promise was made: ⁴and it was ⁵ordained by ⁶Angels in the hand of a Mediator.

^b Rom. 3:9

20 Now a Mediator is not a Mediator of one: ¹but God is one.

21 ¹Is the Law then against the promises of God? God forbid: For if there had been a Law given which could have given life, surely righteousness should have been by the Law.

22 But the ¹Scripture hath ^bconcluded ²all under sin, that the ³promise by the faith of Jesus Christ should be given to them that believe.

23 ¹But before faith came, we were kept under the Law, as under a garrison, and shut up unto ²that faith, which should afterward be revealed.

24 Wherefore the Law was our schoolmaster to bring us to Christ, that we might be made righteous by faith.

25 But after that faith is come, we are no longer under a schoolmaster.

26 ¹For ye are all the sons of God by faith, in ³ Authentical, as we call it.

3:16 ¹ He putteth forth the sum of the seventh argument, to wit, that both the Jews and the Gentiles grow together into one body of the seed of Abraham, in Christ only, so that all are one in Christ, as it is afterward declared, verse 21.

² Paul speaketh not of Christ's person, but of two peoples, which grew together in one, in Christ.

3:17 ¹ The eighth argument taken of comparison, thus: If a man's covenant (being authentical) be firm and strong, much more God's covenant. Therefore the Law was not given to abrogate the promise made to Abraham, which had respect to Christ, that is to say, the end whereof did hang of Christ.

² Which tendeth to Christ.

³ An enlarging of that argument, thus: Moreover and besides that the promise is of itself firm and strong, it was also confirmed with the prescription of long time, to wit, of 430 years, so that it could in no wise be broken.

3:18 ¹ An objection: We grant that the promise was not abrogated by the covenant of the Law, and therefore we join the Law with the promise. Nay, saith the Apostle, these two cannot stand together, to wit, that the inheritance should both be given by the Law and also by promise, for the promise is free: whereby it followeth, that the Law was not given to justify, for by that means the promise should be broken.

² By this word (inheritance) is meant the right of the seed, which is, that God should be our God, that is to say, that by virtue of the covenant that was made with faithful Abraham, we that be faithful, might by that means be blessed of God as well as he.

3:19 ¹ An objection which riseth of the former answer: If the inheritance be not by the Law (at the least in part) then why was the Law given, after that the promise was made? Therefore saith the Apostle, to reprove men of sin, and so teach them to look unto Christ, in whom at length that promise of saving all people together should be fulfilled, and not that the Law was given to justify men.

² That men might understand, by discovering of their sins, by the only grace of God, which he revealed to Abraham, and that in Christ.

³ Until the partition wall was broken down, and that full seed sprang up, framed of two peoples, both of Jews and Gentiles: for by this word Seed, we may not understand, Christ alone by himself, but coupled and joined together with his body.

⁴ A confirmation of the former answer taken from the manner and form of giving the Law: for it was given by Angels, striking a great terror into all, and by Moses a Mediator coming between. Now they that are one, need no Mediator, but they that are twain at the least, and that are at variance one with another. Therefore the Law itself and the Mediator, were witnesses of the wrath of God, and not that God would by this means reconcile men to himself, and abolish the promise, or add the Law unto the promise.

⁵ Commanded and given, or proclaimed.

⁶ By the service and ministry.

3:20 ¹ A taking away of an objection, lest any man might say, that sometimes by consent of the parties which have made a covenant, something is added to the covenant, or the former covenants are broken. This, saith the Apostle, cometh to pass in God, who is always one, and the selfsame, and like himself.

3:21 ¹ The conclusion uttered by a manner of asking a question, and it is the same that was uttered before, verse 17, but proceeding of another rule: so that the argument is new, and is this: God is always like unto himself: Therefore the Law was not given to abolish the promises. But it should abolish them if it gave life, for by that means it should justify, and therefore it should abolish that justification which was promised to Abraham and to his seed by faith. Nay it was rather given to bring to light the guiltiness of all men, to the end that all believers fleeing to Christ promised, might be freely justified in him.

3:22 ¹ By this word, Scripture, he meaneth the Law.

² All men, and whatsoever cometh from man.

3:23 ¹ Now there followeth another handling of the second part of this Epistle: the state whereof is this: Although the Law (that is, the whole government of God's house according to the Law) [does] not justify, is it therefore to be abolished, seeing that Abraham himself was circumcised, and his posterity held still the use of Moses' Law? Paul affirmeth that it ought to be abolished, because it was instituted for that end and purpose, that is should be as it were a schoolmaster and keeper to the people of God, until the promise appeared in deed, that is to say, Christ, and the Gospel manifestly published with great efficacy of the Spirit.

² The cause why we were kept under the Law, is set down here.

3:26 ¹ Because age changeth not the condition of servants, he addeth that we are free by condition, and therefore, seeing we are out of our childhood, we have no more need of a keeper and Schoolmaster.

Christ Jesus.

27 ¹For all ye that are ²baptized into Christ, have ³put on Christ.

28 There is neither Jew nor Grecian: there is neither bond nor free: there is neither male nor female: for ye are all ¹one in Christ Jesus.

29 And if ye be Christ's, then are ye Abraham's seed, and heirs by promise.

4 1 Being delivered from the bondage of the Law, 4 by Christ's coming, who is the end thereof, 9 it is very absurd to slide back to beggarly ceremonies: 13 He calleth them again therefore to the purity of the doctrine of the Gospel, 21 confirming his discourse with a fine allegory.

1 Then ¹I say, that the heir as long as he is a child, differeth nothing from a servant, though he be Lord of all,

2 But is under tutors and governors, ¹until the time appointed of the Father.

3 Even so we, when we were children, were in bondage under the ¹rudiments of the world.

4 ¹But when the ²fullness of time was come, God sent forth his Son made of a ³woman, and made

CHAPTER 4

^a Rom. 8:15

under the Law,

5 That he might redeem them which were under the Law, that we ^amight receive the ¹adoption of the sons.

6 ¹And because ye are sons, God hath ²sent forth the ³Spirit of his Son into your hearts, which crieth, Abba, Father.

7 Wherefore, thou art no more a ¹servant, but a son: now if thou be a son, thou art also the ²heir of God through Christ.

8 ¹But even then, when ye knew not God, ye did service unto them, which by nature are not gods:

9 But now seeing ye know God, yea, rather are known of God, how turn ye again unto impotent and ¹beggarly rudiments, whereunto as from the beginning ye will be in bondage ²again?

10 Ye observe days, and months, and times, and years.

11 I am in fear of you, lest I have bestowed on you labor in vain.

12 ¹Be ye as I (for I am even as you) brethren, I beseech you: ye have not hurt me at all.

13 And ye know, how through ¹infirmity of the 3:27 ¹ Using a general particle, lest the Jews at the least should not think themselves bound with the band of the Law, he pronounceth that Baptism is common to all believers, because it is a pledge of our delivery in Christ, as well to the Jews as to the Grecians, that by this means all may be truly one in Christ, that is to say, that promised seed to Abraham and inheritors of everlasting life.

² He setteth Baptism secretly against circumcision, which the false apostles so much bragged of.

³ The Church must put on Christ, as it were a garment, and be covered with him, that it may be thoroughly holy, and without blame.

3:28 ¹ You are all as one: and so in this great knot and conjunction signified.

4:1 ¹ He declareth that by another double similitude, which he said before concerning the keeper and schoolmaster. For he saith, that the Law, (that is, the whole government of God's house according to the Law) was as it were a tutor or overseer appointed for a time, until such time as that protection and overseeing which was but for a time, being ended, we should at length come to be at our own liberty, and should live as children, and not as servants. Moreover, he sheweth by the way, that that governance of the Law, was as it were an ABC, and as certain principles in comparison of the doctrine of the Gospel.

4:2 ¹ This is added, because he that is always under a tutor or governor, may hardly be counted a freeman.

4:3 ¹ The Law is called rudiments, because that by the Law God instructed his Church as it were by rudiments, and afterward poured out his holy Spirit most plentifully in the time of the Gospel.

4:4 ¹ He uttereth and declareth many things at once, to wit, that this tutorship was ended at his time, that curious men may leave to ask, why that schoolmastership lasted so long. And moreover, that we are not sons by nature, but by adoption, and that in that Son of God, who therefore took upon him our flesh, that we might be made his brethren.

² The time is said to be full, when all parts of it are past and ended, and therefore Christ could not have come either sooner or later.

³ He calleth Mary a woman, in respect of the sex, and not as the word is used in a contrary sense to a virgin still.

4:5 ¹ The adoption of the sons of God, is from everlasting, but is revealed and showed in the time appointed for it.

4:6 ¹ He sheweth that we are in such sort free and set at liberty, that in the mean season we must be governed by the Spirit of Christ, which reigning in our hearts, may teach us the true service of the Father. But this is not to serve, but rather to enjoy true liberality, as it cometh sons and heirs.

² By that that followeth he gathereth that that went before: for if we have his spirit, we are his sons, and if we are his sons, then are we free.

³ The holy Ghost, who is both of the Father and of the Son: but there is a peculiar reason why he is called the Spirit of the Son, to wit, because the holy Ghost sealeth up our adoption in Christ, and maketh us a full assurance of it.

4:7 ¹ The word, servant, is not taken here for one that liveth in sin, which is proper to the infidels, but for one that is yet under the ceremonies of the Law, which is proper to the Jews.

² Partaker of this blessing.

4:8 ¹ He applieth the former doctrine to the Galatians, with a peculiar reprehension: for in comparison of them, the Jews might have pretended some excuse as men that were born and brought up in that service of the Law. But seeing the Galatians were taken and called out of idolatry to Christian liberty: what pretence might they have to go back to those impotent and beggarly rudiments?

4:9 ¹ They are called impotent and beggarly ceremonies, being considered apart by themselves without Christ: and again, for that by that means they gave good testimony that they were beggars in Christ, when as notwithstanding, for men, to fall back from Christ to ceremonies, is nothing else, but to cast away riches, and to follow beggarly.

² By going backward.

4:12 ¹ He mitigateth and qualifieth those things wherein he might have seemed to have spoken somewhat sharply, very artificially and divinely, declaring his good will towards them in such sort, that the Galatians could not but either be utterly desperate when they read these things, or acknowledge their own lightness with tears, and desire pardon.

4:13 ¹ Many afflictions.

flesh, I preached the Gospel unto you at the first.

14 And the ¹trial of me which was in my flesh, ye despised not, neither abhorred: but ye received me as an Angel of God, yea, as ²Christ Jesus.

15 ¹What was then your felicity? for I bear you record, that if it had been possible, ye would have plucked out your own eyes, and have given them unto me.

16 Am I therefore become your enemy, because I tell you the truth?

17 They are jealous over you ¹amiss: yea, they would exclude you, ²that ye should altogether love them.

18 But it is a good thing to love ¹earnestly always in a good thing, and not only when I am present with you,

19 My little children, of whom I travail in birth again, until Christ be formed in you.

20 And I would I were with you now, that I might ¹change my voice: for I am in doubt of you.

21 ¹Tell me, ye that ²will be under the Law, do ye not hear the Law?

22 For it is written, that Abraham had two sons, ^bone by a servant, and ^cone by a free woman.

23 But he which was of the servant, was born after

^b Gen. 16:15

^c Gen. 21:1

^d Isa. 54:1

^e Rom. 8:9

^f Gen. 21:10

the ¹flesh: and he which was of the free woman, was born by ²promise.

24 By the which things another thing is meant: for ¹these mothers are the ²two Testaments, the one which is Hagar of mount ³Sinai, which gendereth unto bondage.

25 (For Hagar or Sinai is a mountain in Arabia, and it ¹answered to Jerusalem which now is) and ²she is in bondage with her children.

26 But Jerusalem, which is ¹above, is free: which is the mother of us all.

27 ¹For it is written, ⁴Rejoice thou barren that bearest no children: break forth, and cry, thou that travailest not: for the ²desolate hath many more children, than she which hath an husband.

28 ^cTherefore, brethren, we are after the ¹manner of Isaac, children of the ²promise.

29 But as then he that was born after the ¹flesh, persecuted him that was born after the ²Spirit, even so it is now.

30 But what saith the Scripture? ^fPut out the servant and her son: for the son of the servant shall not be heir with the son of the free woman.

31 ¹Then brethren, we are not children of the servant, but of the free woman.

4:14 ¹ Those daily troubles wherewith the Lord tried me amongst you.

² For my ministry's sake.

4:15 ¹ What a talk was there abroad in the world amongst men, how happy you were?

4:17 ¹ For they are jealous over you for their own commodity.

² That they may convey all your love from me to themselves.

4:18 ¹ He setteth his own true and good love, which he earnestly bent towards them, against the naughty vicious love of the false apostles.

4:20 ¹ Use other words among you.

4:21 ¹ Because the false apostles always urged this, that unless the Gentiles were circumcised, Christ could profit them nothing at all, and this dissension of them which believed of the circumcision against them which believed of the uncircumcision, was full of offense: the Apostle, after divers arguments whereby he hath refuted their error, bringeth forth an allegory, wherein he saith the holy Ghost did shadow not unto us, all these mysteries: to wit, that it should come to pass, that two sorts of sons should have Abraham a father common to them both, but not with like success: for as Abraham begat Ishmael, by the common course of nature, of Hagar his bondmaid and a stranger, and begat Isaac of Sarah a free woman by the virtue of the promise and by grace only, and the first was not only not heir, but also persecuted the heir: So there are two covenants, and as it were two sons born to Abraham of those two covenants, as it were of two mothers. The one was made in Sinai, without the land of promise according to which covenant Abraham's children according to the flesh were begotten: to wit, the Jews which seek righteousness by that covenant, that is, by the Law: but they are not heirs, nay they shall at length be cast out of the house, as they that persecute the true heirs. The other was made in that high Jerusalem or in Zion (to wit, by the sacrifice of Christ) which begetteth children of promise, to wit, believers by the virtue of the holy Ghost which children (as Abraham) do rest themselves in the free promise, and they only by the right of children shall be partakers of the father's inheritance, and those servants shall be shut out.

² That desire so greatly.

4:23 ¹ As all men are, and by the common course of nature.

² By virtue of the promise, which Abraham laid hold on for himself and his true seed, for otherwise Abraham and Sarah were past begetting and bearing children.

4:24 ¹ These do represent and shadow forth.

² They are called two covenants, one of the old Testament, and another of the New: which were not two indeed, but in respect of the times, and the diversity of the government.

³ He maketh mention of Sinai, because that covenant was made in that mountain, of which mountain Hagar was a shadow.

4:25 ¹ Look how the case standeth betwixt Hagar and her children, even so standeth it between Jerusalem and hers.

² That is, Sinai.

4:26 ¹ Which is excellent, and of great account.

4:27 ¹ He sheweth that in this allegory, he hath followed the steps of Isaiah, who foretold that the Church should be made and consist of the children of barren Sarah, that is to say, of them which only spiritually should be made Abraham's children by faith, rather than of fruitful Hagar, even then foreshowing the casting off of the Jews, and calling of the Gentiles.

² She that is destroyed and wasted.

4:28 ¹ After the manner of Isaac who is the first begotten of the heavenly Jerusalem, as Israel is of the slavish Synagogue.

² That seed, unto which the promise belongeth.

4:29 ¹ By the common course of nature.

² By the virtue of God's promise and after a spiritual manner.

4:31 ¹ The conclusion of the former allegory, that we by no means procure and call back again the slavery of the Law, seeing that the children of the bondmaid shall not be heirs.

5 ¹ Having declared that we came of the free woman, he ¹ sheweth the price of that freedom, ¹³ and how we should use the same, ¹⁶ that we may obey the Spirit, ¹⁹ and resist the flesh.

1 Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage.

2 ^a Behold, I Paul say unto you, that if ye be ²circumcised, Christ shall profit you nothing.

3 For I testify again to every man, which is circumcised, that he is bound to keep the whole Law.

4 Ye are ^babolished from Christ: whosoever are ²justified by the Law, ye are fallen from grace.

5 ¹For we through the ²Spirit wait for the hope of righteousness through faith.

6 ¹For in Jesus Christ neither circumcision availeth anything, neither ²uncircumcision, ³but ⁴faith which worketh by love.

7 ¹Ye did run well: who did let you, that ye did not obey the truth?

8 ¹It is not the persuasion of ²him that calleth you.

9 ^c A little leaven doth leaven the whole lump.

10 ¹I have trust in you through the Lord, that ye will be none otherwise minded: but he that troubleth you, shall bear his condemnation, whosoever he be.

11 ¹And brethren, if I yet preach circumcision, why do I yet suffer persecution? Then is the slander of the cross abolished.

12 ¹Would to God they were even cut off which do ²disquiet you.

13 For brethren, ye have been called unto liberty: ¹only use not your liberty as an occasion unto the flesh, but by love serve one another.

14 ¹For ²all the Law is fulfilled in one word, which is this, ^dThou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.

15 ¹If ye bite and devour one another, take heed lest ye be consumed one of another.

16 ¹Then I say, ^eWalk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfill the lusts of the flesh.

17 For the ¹flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary one to another, so that ye cannot do the same things that ye would.

18 And if ye be led by the Spirit, ye are not under the Law.

5:2 ¹ Another obtestation wherein he plainly witnesseth that justification of works, and justification of faith cannot stand together, because no man can be justified by the Law, but he that doth fully and perfectly fulfill it. And he taketh the example of circumcision, because it was the ground of all the service of the Law, and was chiefly urged of the false Apostles.

² Circumcision is in other places called the seal of righteousness, but here we must have consideration of the circumstance of the Baptism come in place of circumcision. And moreover Paul reasoneth according to the opinion that his enemies had of it, which made circumcision a piece of their salvation.

5:4 ¹ That is, as he himself expoundeth it afterwards, ye are fallen from grace.

² That is, seek to be justified by the Law, for in deed no man is justified by the Law.

5:5 ¹ He privily compareth the new people with the old: for it is certain that they also did ground all their hope of justification and life in faith and not in circumcision, but so, that their faith was wrapped in the external and ceremonial worship: but our faith is bare and content with spiritual worship.

² Through the Spirit, which engendereth faith.

5:6 ¹ He addeth a reason for that now circumcision is abolished, seeing that Christ is exhibited unto us with full plenty of spiritual circumcision.

² He maketh mention also of uncircumcision, lest the Gentiles should please themselves in it, as the Jews do in circumcision.

⁴ So is true faith distinguished from counterfeit faith: for charity is not joined to faith as a fellow cause, to help forward our justification with faith.

5:7 ¹ Again he chideth the Galatians, but with an admiration, and therewithall a praise of their former race, to the end that he may make them more ashamed.

5:8 ¹ He playeth the part of an Apostle with them, and useth his authority, denying that that doctrine can come from God which is contrary to his.

² Of God.

5:9 ¹ He addeth this, that he may not seem to contend upon a trifle, warning them diligently (by a similitude which he borroweth of leaven, as Christ himself also did) not to suffer the purity of the Apostolical doctrine, to be infected with the least corruption that may be.

5:10 ¹ He mitigateth the former reprehension, casting the fault upon the false Apostles, against whom he denounceth the horrible judgment of God.

5:11 ¹ He willet them to consider how that he seeketh not his own profit in this matter, seeing that he could eschew the hatred of men, if he would join Judaism with Christianity.

5:12 ¹ An example of a true Pastor inflamed with the zeal of God's glory and love of his flock.

² For they that preach the Law, cause men's consciences always to tremble.

5:13 ¹ The third part of this Epistle, showing that the right use of Christian liberty consisteth in this, that being delivered from the slavery of sin and the flesh, and being obedient to the Spirit, we should serve unto one another's salvation through love.

5:14 ¹ He propoundeth the love of our neighbor, as a mark whereunto all Christians ought to refer all their actions, and thereunto he citeth the testimony of the Law.

² This particle (All) must be restrained to the second table.

5:15 ¹ An exhortation to the duties of charity, by the profit that ensueth thereof, because that no men provide worse for themselves, than they that hate one another.

5:16 ¹ He acknowledgeth the great weakness of the godly, for that they are but in part regenerate: but he willet them to remember that they are endued with the Spirit of God, which hath delivered them from the slavery of sin, and so of the Law so far forth as it is the virtue of sin, that they should not give themselves to lusts.

5:17 ¹ For the flesh dwelleth even in the regenerate man, but the Spirit reigneth although not without great strife, as is largely set forth, Rom. 7.

19 ¹Moreover the works of the flesh are manifest, which are adultery, fornication, uncleanness, wantonness,

20 Idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, debate, emulations, wrath, contentions, seditions, heresies,

21 Envy, murders, drunkenness, gluttony, and such like, whereof I tell you before, as I also have told you before, that they which do such things, shall not inherit the kingdom of God.

22 But the ¹fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, 23 Meekness, temperancy: ¹against such there is no law.

24 For they that are Christ's, have crucified the flesh with the affections and the lusts.

25 If we ¹live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit.

26 ¹Let us not be desirous of vainglory, provoking one another, envying one another.

6 ¹Now he entreateth particularly of charity toward such as offend, ⁶toward the Ministers of the word, ¹⁰and those that are of the household of faith: ¹²Not like unto such who have a counterfeit zeal of the Law, ¹³glorying in the mangling of the flesh, ¹⁴and not in the cross of Christ.

1 Brethren, ¹If a man be ²suddenly taken in any offense, ye which are ³spiritual, ⁴restore such one with the ⁵spirit of meekness, ⁶considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted.

2 ¹Bear ye one another's burden, and so fulfill the ²Law of Christ.

3 For if any man seem to himself, that he is somewhat, when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself in his imagination.

4 But let every man prove his own work: and then shall he have rejoicing in himself only and not in another.

5 ^{a1}For every man shall bear his own burden.

6 ¹Let him that is taught in the word, make him that hath taught him, partaker of ²all his ^bgoods.

7 ¹Be not deceived: God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap.

8 For he that soweth to his ¹flesh, shall of the flesh reap corruption: but he that soweth to the spirit, shall of the spirit reap life everlasting.

9 ^{c1}Let us not therefore be weary of well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not.

10 ¹While we have therefore time, let us do good unto all men, but especially unto them, which are of the household of faith.

11 ¶ ¹Ye see how large a letter I have written unto you with mine own hand.

5:19 ¹He setteth out that particularly, which he spake generally, reckoning up some chief effects of the flesh, and opposing them to the fruits of the Spirit, that no man may pretend ignorance.

5:22 ¹Therefore, they are not the fruits of free will, but so far forth as our will is made free by grace.

5:23 ¹Lest that any man should object, that Paul played the Sophister, as one who urging the Spirit, urgeth nothing but that which the Law commandeth, he sheweth that he requireth not that liberal and outward obedience, but spiritual, which proceedeth not from the Law, but from the Spirit of Christ, which doth beget us again, and must and ought to be the ruler and guider of life.

5:25 ¹If we be indeed endued with the quickening Spirit, which causeth us to die to sin, and live to God, let us show it in our deeds, that is, by holiness of life.

5:26 ¹He addeth peculiar exhortations according as he knew the Galatians subject to divers vices: and first of all he warneth them to take heed of ambition, which vice hath two fellows, backbiting and envy, out of which two it cannot be but many contentions must needs arise.

6:1 ¹He condemneth importunate rigor, because that brotherly reprehensions ought to be moderated and tempered by the spirit of meekness.

² Through the malice of the flesh and the devil.

³ Which are upholden by the virtue of God's Spirit.

⁴ Labor to fill up that that is wanting in him.

⁵ This is a kind of speech which the Hebrews use, giving to understand thereby, that all good gifts come from God.

⁶ He toucheth the fore: for they commonly are most severe judges, which forget their own infirmities.

6:2 ¹He sheweth that this is the end of reprehensions, to raise up our brother which is fallen, and not proudly to oppress him. Therefore everyone must seek to have commendation of his own life by approving of himself, and not by reprehending others.

² Christ, in plain and flat words, calleth the commandment of charity, his commandment.

6:5 ¹A reason wherefore men ought to have the greatest eye upon themselves, because that every man shall be judged before God according to his own life, and not by comparing himself with other men.

6:6 ¹It is meet that masters should be sound by their scholars, so far forth as they are able.

² Of whatsoever he hath, according to his ability.

6:7 ¹He commendeth liberality towards the poor, and first of all chideth them which were not ashamed to pretend this and that, and all because they would not help their neighbors, as though they could deceive God: and afterward compareth alms to a spiritual sowing, which shall have a most plentiful harvest, so that it shall be very profitable: and compareth covetous niggardliness to a carnal sowing, whereof nothing can be gathered but such things as fade away, and perish by and by.

6:8 ¹To the commodities of this present life.

6:9 ¹Against such as are liberal at the beginning, but continue not, because the harvest seemeth to be deferred very long, as though the seed time and the harvest were at one instant.

6:10 ¹They that are of the household of faith, that is, such as are joined with us in the profession of one selfsame religion, ought to be preferred before all others, yet so notwithstanding that our liberality extends to all.

6:11 ¹The fourth and last part of the Epistle, wherein he returneth to his principal end and purpose: to wit, that the Galatians should not suffer themselves to be led out of the way by the false apostles: and he pointeth out those false apostles in their colors, reproving them of ambition, as men that do not that which they do, for any affection and zeal they have to the Law, but only for this purpose, that they may purchase themselves favor amongst their own sort, by the circumcision of the Galatians.

12 As many as desire to make a ¹fair show in the ²flesh, they constrain you to be circumcised, only because they would not suffer persecution for the ³cross of Christ.

13 For they themselves which are circumcised keep not the Law, but desire to have you circumcised, that they might rejoice in ¹your flesh.

14 ¹But God forbid that I should ²rejoice, but in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, whereby the world is crucified unto me, and I unto the world.

15 For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision availeth anything, nor uncircumcision, but a new creature.

16 And as many as walk according to this rule, peace shall be upon them, and mercy, and upon the ¹Israel of God.

17 ¹From henceforth let no man put me to business: for I bear, in my body the ²marks of the ³Lord Jesus.

18 ¹Brethren, the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your ²spirit, Amen.

¶ Unto the Galatians written from Rome.

6:12 ¹ He setteth a far show against the truth.
² In keeping of ceremonies.
³ For the preaching of him that was crucified.

6:13 ¹ That they have entangled you in Judaism, and yet he harpeth on the form of circumcision.

6:14 ¹ He sticketh not to compare himself with them, showing that on the contrary part he rejoiceth in those afflictions which he suffereth for Christ's sake, and as he is despised of the world, so doth he in like sort esteem the world as naught: which is the true circumcision of a true Israelite.

² When Paul useth this word in good sense of part, it signifieth to rest a man's self wholly in a thing, and to content himself therewith.

6:16 ¹ Upon the true Israel, whose praise is of God and not of men,

Rom. 2:19.

6:17 ¹ Continuing still in the same metaphor, he opposeth his miseries and the marks of those stripes which he bare for Christ's sake, against the scar of the outward circumcision, as a true mark of his Apostleship.

² Marks which are burnt into a man's flesh, as they used in old times, to mark their servants that had run away from them.

³ For it importeth much, whose marks we bear: for the cause maketh the Martyr, and not the punishment.

6:18 ¹ Taking his farewell of them, he wisheth them grace, and the Spirit against the deceits of the false apostles, who labored to beat those outward things into their brains.

² With your minds and hearts.

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL TO THE EPHESIANS

1 1 After the salutation, 4 he entreateth of the free election of God, 5 and adoption. 7, 13 from whence man's salvation floweth, as from the true and natural fountain: and because so high a mystery cannot be understood, 16 he prayeth that the full, 20 knowledge of Christ, may by God be revealed unto the Ephesians.

1 Paul ¹an Apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, to the ²Saints, which are at Ephesus, and to the ²faithful in Christ Jesus:

2 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 ^{b,1}Blessed be God, ²and the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, ³which hath blessed us, with ⁴all spiritual blessing in ⁵heavenly things in ⁶Christ,

4 ¹As he hath chosen us in ²him, before the foundation of the world, ³that we ⁴should ⁵be holy, and without blame ⁶before him in love:

5 ¹Who hath predestinated us, to be adopted through Jesus Christ ²in himself, according to the good pleasure of his will.

6 ¹To the ²praise of the glory of his grace, ³wherewith he hath made us freely accepted in his beloved.

7 ¹By whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins, according to his rich grace:

8 ^{1,2}Whereby he hath been abundant toward us in ³all wisdom and understanding,

9 And hath opened unto us the ¹mystery of his will ²according to his good pleasure, which he hath purposed in him,

1:1 ¹ The inscription and salutation, whereof we have spoken in the former Epistles.

² This is the definition of the Saints, showing what they are.

1:3 ¹ The first part of the Epistle, wherein he handleth all the parts of our salvation, propounding the example of the Ephesians, and using divers exhortations, and beginning after his manner with thanksgiving.

² The efficient cause of our salvation is God, not considered confusedly and generally, but as the father of our Lord Jesus Christ.

³ The next final cause, and in respect of us, is our salvation, all things being bestowed upon us which are necessary to our salvation, which kind of blessings is heavenly and proper to the elect.

⁴ With all kind of gracious and bountiful goodness which is heavenly indeed, and from God only.

⁵ Which God our Father gave us from his high throne from above: or because the Saints have those gifts bestowed on them, which belong properly to the citizens of heaven.

⁶ The matter of our salvation is Christ, in whom only we are endued with spiritual blessing and unto salvation.

1:4 ¹ He declareth the efficient cause, or by what means God the Father saveth us in his Son: Because saith he, he chose us from everlasting in his Son.

² To be adopted in him.

³ He expoundeth the next final cause, which he maketh double, to wit, sanctification and justification, whereof he will speak hereafter. And hereby also two things are to be noted, to wit, that holiness of life cannot be separated from the grace of election: and again what pureness forever is in us, is the gift of God, who hath freely of his mercy chosen us.

⁴ Then God did not choose us, because we were, or otherwise should have been holy, but to the end we should be holy.

⁵ Being clothed with Christ's righteousness.

⁶ Truly and sincerely.

1:5 ¹ Another plainer exposition of the efficient cause, and also of eternal election, whereby God is saith to have chosen us in Christ, to wit, because it pleased him to appoint us out when we were not yet born, whom he would make to be his children by Jesus Christ: so that there is no reason here of our election to be sought, but in the free mercy of God, neither is faith which God foresaw, the cause of predestination, but the effect.

² God respecteth nothing, either that present is, or that is to come, but himself only.

1:6 ¹ The uttermost and chiefest final cause is the glory of God the Father, who saveth us freely in his Son.

² That as his bountiful goodness deserveth all praise, so also it should be set forth and published.

³ Another final cause more near, is our justification, while that he freely accounteth us for just in his Son.

1:7 ¹ An expounding of the material cause, how we are made acceptable to God in Christ, for it is he only, whose sacrifice by the mercy of God is imputed unto us, for the forgiveness of sin.

1:8 ¹ Now he cometh at length to the formal cause, that is to say, to vocation or preaching of the Gospel, whereby God executeth that eternal counsel of our free reconciliation and salvation in Christ. And putting in place of the Gospel all wisdom and understanding, he sheweth how excellent it is.

² By which gracious goodness and bountifulness.

³ In perfect and sound wisdom.

1:9 ¹ For unless the Lord had opened unto us that mystery, we could never have so much as dreamed of it ourselves.

² Not only the election, but also the vocation proceedeth of meer grace.

10 ¹That in the dispensation of the fullness of the times, he might ²gather together in one all things, both which are in heaven, and which are in earth, even in Christ:

11 ¹In whom also we are chosen when we were predestinated according to the purpose of him, which worketh ²all things after the counsel of his own will,

12 That we, which ¹first trusted in Christ, should be unto the praise of his glory:

13 ¹In whom also ye have trusted, after that ye heard the ²word of truth, even the Gospel of your salvation, wherein also after that ye believed, ye were ³sealed with the holy ⁴Spirit of promise,

14 Which is the earnest of our inheritance, for the ¹redemption of that liberty purchased unto the praise of his glory.

15 ¹Therefore also after that I heard of the faith, which ye have in the Lord Jesus, and love toward all the Saints,

16 I cease not to give thanks for you, making mention of you in my prayers,

^cEph. 3:7
Col. 2:12

17 ¹That the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, that Father of ²glory, might give unto you the Spirit of wisdom, and revelation through the ³knowledge of him,

18 That the eyes of your understanding may be lightened, that ye may know what the ¹hope is of his calling, and what the riches of his glorious inheritance is in the Saints,

19 ¹And what is the exceeding greatness of his power toward us, which believe, 'according to the working of his mighty power,

20 ¹Which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his ²right hand in the heavenly places,

21 Far above all principality, and power, and might, and domination, and every ¹Name, that is named, not in this world only, but also in that that is to come,

22 ¹And hath made all things subject under his feet, and hath given him over all things to be the ²head to the Church,

23 Which is his body, even the ¹fullness of him that filleth all in all things.

1:10 ¹ The Father exhibiteth and gave Christ, who is the head of all the elect unto the world, at that time which was convenient, according as he most wisely disposed all times from everlasting. And Christ is he in whom all the elect from the beginning of the world, (otherwise wandering and separated from God) are gathered together: of which some were then in heaven when he came into the earth, (to wit, such as by faith in him to come, were gathered together) and others being found upon the earth, were gathered together of him, and the rest are daily gathered together.

² The faithful are said to be gathered together in Christ, because they are joined together with him through faith, and become as it were one man.

1:11 ¹ He applieth severally the benefit of vocation to the believing Jews, going back to the very fountain, that even they also may not attribute their salvation neither to themselves, nor to their stock, nor to any other thing, but to the only grace and mercy of God, both because they were called, and also because they were first called.

² All things are attributed to the grace of God without exception, and yet for all that, we are not stocks, for he giveth us grace both to will and to be able to do those things that are good, Phil. 2:13.

1:12 ¹ He speaketh of the Jews.

1:13 ¹ Now he maketh the Ephesians (or rather all the Gentiles) equal to the Jews, because that notwithstanding they came last, yet being called by the same Gospel, they embraced it by faith, and were sealed up with the same spirit, which is the pledge of election, until the inheritance itself be seen, that in them also also the glory of God might shine forth, and be manifested.

² That word which is truth indeed, because it cometh from God.

³ This is a borrowed kind of speech taken of a seal, which being put to anything, maketh a difference between those things that are authentical, and others that are not.

⁴ With that Spirit, which bringeth not the Law, but the promise of free adoption.

1:14 ¹ Full and perfect.

1:15 ¹ He returneth to the former gratulation, concluding two things together of those things that went before: the first is, that all good things come to us from God the Father in Christ, and by Christ, that for them he may be praised of us. The second is that all those things (which he bringeth to two heads, to wit, faith and charity) are increased in us by certain degrees, so that we must desire increase of his grace from whom we have the beginning, and of whom we hope for the end.

1:17 ¹ The causes of faith are God the Father lightening our minds with his holy spirit, that we may embrace Christ opened unto us in the Gospel, to the obtaining of everlasting life, and the setting forth of God's glory.

² Full of majesty.

³ For it is not enough for us to have known God once, but we must know him every day more and more.

1:18 ¹ What blessings they are which he calleth you to hope for whom he calleth to Christ.

1:19 ¹ The excellency of faith is declared by the effects, because the mighty power of God is set forth and shown therein.

1:20 ¹ The Apostle willet us to behold in our most glorious Christ with the eye of faith, that most excellent power and glory of God, whereof all the faithful are partakers, although it be as yet very dark in us, by reason of the ignominy of the cross and the weakness of the flesh.

² To be set on God's right hand, is to be partaker of the sovereignty which he hath over all creatures.

1:21 ¹ Everything whatsoever it be, or above all things be they of never such power or excellency.

1:22 ¹ That we should not think that that excellent glory of Christ is a thing wherewith we have nought to do, he witnesseth, that he was appointed of God the Father the head of all the Church, and therefore the body must be joined to his head, which otherwise should be a maimed thing without the members: which notwithstanding is not of necessity (seeing that the Church is rather quickeneth and sustained by the only virtue of Christ, so far off is it, that he needeth the fullness thereof) but of the infinite goodwill and pleasure of God, who vouchsafeth to join us to his Son.

² Inasmuch that there is nothing but is subject to him.

1:23 ¹ For the love of Christ is so great toward the Church, that though he do fully satisfy all with all things, yet he esteemeth himself but a maimed and unperfect head, unless he have the Church joined to him as his body.

2 ¹ The better to set out the grace of Christ, he useth a comparison, calling them to mind, 5 that they were altogether castaways and aliens, 8 that they are saved by grace, 13 and brought near, 16 by reconciliation through Christ, 17 published by the Gospel.

1 And ^ayou hath he quickened, that were ²dead in ³trespasses and sins,

2 ¹Wherein, in times past ye walked, ²according to the course of this world, and ³after the prince that ruleth in the air, even the spirit, that now ⁴worketh in the ⁵children of disobedience,

3 ¹Among whom we also had our conversation in time past in the lusts of our ²flesh, in fulfilling the will of the flesh, and of the mind, and ³were by nature the ⁴children of wrath, as well as ⁵others.

4 ¹But God which is rich in mercy, through his great love wherewith he loved us,

5 Even when we were dead by sins, hath quickened us together in Christ, by whose grace ye are saved,

6 And hath raised us up ¹together, and made us sit together in the heavenly places in Christ Jesus,

7 That he might show in the ages to come the

CHAPTER 2

^a Col. 2:13^b Rom. 9:4

exceeding riches of his grace through his kindness toward us in Christ Jesus.

8 For by ¹grace are ye saved through faith, and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God,

9 ¹Not of works, lest any man should boast himself.

10 For we are ¹his workmanship created in Christ Jesus unto good works, which God hath ordained, that we should walk in them.

11 ¹Wherefore remember that ye being in time past Gentiles in the flesh, and ²called uncircumcision of them, which are ³called circumcision in the flesh, made with hands,

12 That ye were, I say, at that time ¹without Christ, and were ²aliens from the commonwealth of Israel, and were ^bstrangers from the covenants of promise, and had no hope, and were without God in the world.

13 ¹But now in Christ Jesus, ye which once were far off, are made near by the blood of Christ.

14 ¹For he is our peace, which hath made of both one, and hath broken the stop of the partition

2:1 ¹ He declareth again the greatness of God's good will, by comparing that miserable state wherein we are born, with that dignity whereunto we are advanced by God the Father in Christ. So he describeth that condition in such sort, that he saith, that touching spiritual motions we are not only born half dead, but wholly and altogether dead.

² See Rom. 6:2. So then he calleth them dead, which are not regenerate: for as the immortality of them which are damned, is no life, so this knitting together of body and soul is properly no life, but death in them which are not ruled by the Spirit of God.

³ He sheweth the cause of death, to wit, sins.

2:2 ¹ He proveth by the effects that all were spiritually dead.

² He proveth this evil to be universal, insomuch as all are slaves of Satan.

³ At the pleasure of the prince.

⁴ Men are therefore slaves to Satan, because they are willingly rebellious against God.

⁵ They are called the children of disobedience, which are given to disobedience.

2:3 ¹ After that he hath severally condemned the Gentiles, he confesseth that the Jews, amongst whom he numbereth himself, are not a whit better.

² By the name of flesh in the first place, he meaneth the whole man, which he divideth into two parts: into the flesh, which is the part that the Philosophers term without reason, and into the thought, which they call reasonable: so that he leaveth nothing in man half dead, but concludeth that the whole man is of nature the son of wrath.

³ The conclusion: All men are born subject to the wrath and curse of God.

⁴ Men are said to be children of wrath passively, that is to say, guilty of everlasting death by the judgment of God, who is angry with them.

⁵ Profane people which knew not God.

2:4 ¹ Now hereof followeth another member of the comparison, declaring our excellency, to wit, that by the virtue of Christ we are delivered from that death, and made partakers of eternal life, to the end that at length we may reign with him. And by divers and sundry means he beateth this into their heads, that the efficient cause of this benefit is the free mercy of God: and Christ himself is the material cause: and faith is the instrument which also is the free gift of God: and the end is God's glory.

2:6 ¹ To wit, as he addeth afterward in Christ, for as yet this is not fulfilled in us, but only in our head, by whose spirit we have begun to die to sin, and live to God, until that work be fully brought to an end: but yet the hope is certain, for we are as sure of that we look for: as we are of that we have received already.

2:8 ¹ So then, Grace, that is to say, the gift of God, and faith, do stand one with another, to which two these are contrary, To be saved by ourselves, or by our works. Therefore what mean they which would join together things of so contrary nature?

2:9 ¹ He taketh away expressly and namely from our works the praise of justification, seeing that the good works themselves are the effects of grace in us.

2:10 ¹ He speaketh here of grace, and not of nature: therefore be the works never so good, look what they are, they are it of grace.

2:11 ¹ Applying the former doctrine to the Gentiles, he sheweth that they were not only as the Jews, by nature, but also after an especial sort, strangers and without God: and therefore they ought so much the rather remember that same so great a benefit of God.

² You were called no otherwise than Gentiles, that all the world might witness of your uncleanness.

³ Of the Jews which were known from you by the mark of circumcision, the mark of the covenant.

2:12 ¹ He beginneth first with Christ, who was the end of all the promises.

² You had no right or title, to the common wealth of Israel.

2:13 ¹ Christ is the only bond of the Jews and Gentiles, whereby they be reconciled to God.

2:14 ¹ As by the ceremonies and worship appointed by the Law, the Jews were divided from the Gentiles, so now Christ, having broken down the partition wall, joineth them both together, both in himself, and betwixt themselves, and to God. Whereby it followeth, that who-soever established the ceremonies of the Law, maketh the grace of Christ void and of none effect.

wall,

15 In abrogating through his flesh the hatred, that is, the Law of commandments which standeth in ordinances, for to make of twain one new man in himself, so making peace,

16 And that he might reconcile both unto God in ¹one body by his cross, and ²slay hatred thereby,

17 ¹And came, and preached peace to you which were afar off, and to them that were near.

18 For ¹through him we both have an entrance unto the Father by one Spirit.

19 ¹Now therefore ye are no more strangers and foreigners: but citizens with the Saints, and of the household of God.

20 ¹And are built upon the foundation of the Apostles and Prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the ²chief cornerstone, 21 In whom all the building ¹coupled together, groweth unto an holy Temple in the Lord.

22 In whom ye also are built together to be the habitation of God by the Spirit.

3 ¹He declareth that therefore he suffered many things of the Jews, ³because he preached the mystery touching the salvation of the Gentiles, ⁸at God's commandment. ¹³After he desired the Ephesians not to faint for his afflictions. ¹⁴And for this cause he prayeth unto God, ¹⁸that they may understand the great love of Christ.

1 For ¹this cause, I Paul am the ²prisoner of Jesus Christ for you Gentiles.

2 If ye have heard of the dispensation of the grace of God, which is given me to youward,

^c Col. 2:14

3 That is, that God by revelation hath showed this mystery unto me (as I wrote above in few words,

4 Whereby when ye read, ye may know mine understanding in the mystery of Christ)

5 Which in ¹other ages was not opened unto the sons of men, as it is now revealed unto his holy Apostles and Prophets by the Spirit,

6 That the Gentiles should be inheritors also, and of the same body, and partakers of his promise in Christ by the Gospel,

7 Whereof I am made a minister by the gift of the grace of God given unto me through the effectual working of his power.

8 Even unto me the least of all Saints is this grace given, that I should preach among the Gentiles, the unsearchable riches of Christ,

9 And to make clear unto all men what the fellowship of the mystery is, which from the beginning of the world hath been hid in God, who hath created all things by Jesus Christ,

10 ¹To the intent, that now unto principalities and powers in heavenly places, might be known by the Church the ²manifold wisdom of God,

11 According to the ¹eternal purpose, which he wrought in Christ Jesus our Lord:

12 By whom we have boldness and entrance with confidence, by faith in him.

13 Wherefore I desire that ye faint not at my tribulations for your sakes, which is your glory.

14 ¹For this cause I bow my knees unto the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ,

15 (Of whom is named the whole ¹family in heaven

2:16 ¹He alludeth to the sacrifices of the Law, which represented that true and only sacrifice.

²For he destroyed death by death, and fastened it as it were to the cross.

2:17 ¹The preaching of the Gospel is an effectual instrument of this grace, common as well to the Jews as to the Gentiles.

2:18 ¹Christ is the gate as it were, by whom we come to the Father, and the holy Ghost is as it were our lodes man who leadeth us.

2:19 ¹The conclusion: The Gentiles are taken into the fellowship of salvation. And he describeth the excellency of the Church, calling it the city and house of God.

2:20 ¹The Lord committed the doctrine of salvation, first to the Prophets, and then to the Apostles, the end whereof and matter as it were and substance, is Christ. Therefore that is indeed the true and Catholic Church, which is builded upon Christ by the Prophets and Apostles, as a spiritual temple consecrated to God.

²That is, the head of the building, for the foundations are as it were the heads of the buildings.

2:21 ¹So that God is the workman not only of the foundation, but also of the whole building.

3:1 ¹He maintaineth his Apostleship against the offense of the cross, whereon also he taketh an argument to confirm himself, affirming that he was not only appointed an Apostle by the mercy of God, but was also particularly appointed to the Gentiles, to call them on every side to salvation: because God had so determined it from the beginning, although he deferred a great while the manifestation of that his counsel.

²These words, The prisoner of Jesus Christ, are taken passively, that is to say I Paul am cast into prison for maintaining the glory of Christ.

3:5 ¹He meaneth not that none knew the calling of the Gentiles before, but because very few knew of it, and they that did know it, as the Prophets, had it revealed unto them very darkly, and under figures.

3:10 ¹The unlooked for calling of the Gentiles, was as it were a glass to the heavenly Angels, wherein they might behold the marvellous wisdom of God.

²God never had but one way only, to save men by: but it had divers fashions and forms.

3:11 ¹Which was before all beginnings.

3:14 ¹He teacheth by his own example, that the efficacy of the doctrine dependeth upon the grace of God, and therefore we ought to join prayers with the preaching and hearing of the word: which are needful not only to them which are younglings in religion, but even to the oldest also, that they growing up more and more by faith in Christ, being confirmed with all spiritual gifts, may be grounded and rooted in the knowledge of that immeasurable love, wherewith God the Father hath loved us in Christ, seeing that the whole family, whereof part is already received into heaven, and part is yet here on earth, dependeth upon that adoption of the heavenly Father, in his only Son.

3:15 ¹All that whole people which hath but one household Father, and that is the Church which is adopted in Christ.

and in earth)

16 That he might grant you according to the ¹riches of his glory, that ye may be strengthened by his Spirit in the ²inner man,

17 That Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith:

18 That ye, being rooted and grounded in ¹love, may be able to comprehend with all Saints, ²what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height:

19 And to know the ¹love of Christ, which ²passeth knowledge, that ye may be filled with all ³fullness of God.

20 ¹Unto him therefore that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us,

21 Be praise in the Church by Christ Jesus, throughout all generations forever, Amen.

4 These three last Chapters contain precepts of manners. 1 He exhorteth them to mutual love. 7 Sundry gifts are therefore bestowed of God, 16 that the Church may be built up. 18 He calleth them from the vanity of infidels, 25 from lying. 29 and from filthy talk.

1 I therefore, ¹being prisoner in the Lord, pray you that ye walk worthy of the ²vocation whereunto ye are called,

2 ¹With all humbleness of mind, and meekness, with ²long suffering, supporting one another through love,

3 ¹Endeavoring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace.

4 ¹There is one body, and one Spirit, even as ye are called in one hope of your vocation.

5 There is one Lord, one Faith, one Baptism.

6 One God and Father of all, which is ¹above all, and ²through all, and ³in you all.

7 ¹But unto every one of us is given grace according to the measure of the ²gift of Christ.

8 Wherefore he saith, When he ascended upon high, he led ¹captivity captive, and gave gifts unto men.

9 (Now, in that he ascended, what is it but that he had also descended first into the ¹lowest parts of the earth?

10 He that descended, is even the same that ascended, far above all heavens, that he might ¹fill ²all things.)

11 ¹He therefore gave some to be ²Apostles, and some ³Prophets, and some ⁴Evangelists, and some ⁵Pastors, and Teachers,

12 ¹For the repairing of the Saints, for the work of the ministry, and for the edification of the ²body

3:16 ¹ According to the greatness of his mercy.

² See Rom. 7:22.

3:18 ¹ Wherewith God loveth us, which is the root of our election.

² How perfect that work of Christ is in every part.

3:19 ¹ Which God hath sheweth us in Christ.

² Which passeth all the capacity of man's wit, to comprehend it fully in his mind: for otherwise who so hath the Spirit of God, perceiveth so much (according to the measure that God hath given him) as is sufficient to salvation.

³ So that we have abundantly in us, whatsoever things are required to make us perfect with God.

3:20 ¹ He breaketh forth into a thanksgiving, whereby the Ephesians also may be confirmed to hope for anything of God.

4:1 ¹ Another part of the Epistle containing precepts of Christian life, the sum whereof is this, that every man behave himself as it is meet for so excellent grace of God.

² By this is meant the general calling of the faithful, which is this, to be holy, as our God is holy.

4:2 ¹ Secondly, he commandeth meekness of the mind, which is shown forth by bearing one with another.

² See Matt. 18:25.

4:3 ¹ Thirdly, he requireth perfect agreement, but yet such as is knit with the band of the holy Ghost.

4:4 ¹ An argument of great weight, for an earnest entertaining of brotherly love and charity one with another, because we are made one body as it were of one God, and Father, by one Spirit, worshipping one Lord with one faith, and consecrated to him with one Baptism, and hope for one selfsame glory, whereunto we are called. Therefore whosoever breaketh charity, breaketh all these things asunder.

4:6 ¹ Who only hath the chief authority over the Church.

² Who only poureth forth his providence, through all the members of the Church.

³ Who only is joined together with us in Christ.

4:7 ¹ He teacheth us, that we indeed are all one body, and that all good gifts proceed from Christ only, who reigneth in heaven having mightily conquered all his enemies (from whence he heapeth all gifts upon his Church:) but yet notwithstanding these gifts are diversely and sundry ways divided according to his will and pleasure, and therefore every man ought to be content with that measure that God hath given him, and to bestow it to the common profit of the whole body.

² Which Christ hath given.

4:8 ¹ A multitude of captives.

4:9 ¹ Down to the earth, which is the lowest part of the world.

4:10 ¹ Fill with his gifts.

² The Church.

4:11 ¹ First of all he reckoneth up the Ecclesiastical functions, which are partly extraordinary and for a season, as Apostles, Prophets, Evangelists, and partly ordinary and perpetual, as Pastors and Doctors.

² The Apostles were those twelve, unto whom Paul was afterward added, whose office was to plant Churches throughout all the world.

³ The Prophet's office was one of the chiefest, which were men of marvellous wisdom, and some of them could foretell things to come.

⁴ These the Apostles used as fellows in the execution of their office, being not able to answer all places themselves.

⁵ Pastors are they which govern the Church, and Teachers are they which govern the Schools.

4:12 ¹ He sheweth the end of Ecclesiastical functions, to wit, that by the ministry of men all the Saints may so grow up together, that they may make one mystical body of Christ.

² The Church.

of Christ,

13 ¹Till we all meet together (in the ²unity of faith and that acknowledging of the Son of God) unto a perfect man, and unto the measure of the ³age the fullness of Christ,

14 ¹That we henceforth be no more children, ²wavering and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the ³deceit of men, and with craftiness, whereby they lay in ⁴wait to deceive.

15 ¹But let us follow the truth in love, and in all things, grow up into him, which is the head, that is, Christ.

16 By whom all the body being coupled and knit together by every joint, for the furniture thereof (according to the ¹effectual power, which is in the measure of every part) receiveth ²increase of the body, unto the edifying of itself in ³love.

17 ¹This I say therefore and testify in the Lord, that ye henceforth walk not as ^aother Gentiles walk, in ²vanity of their mind.

18 Having their understanding darkened, and

CHAPTER 4
^a Rom. 1:21
^b Col. 3:8

being strangers from the ¹life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the hardness of their heart:

19 Which being ¹past feeling, have given themselves unto wantonness, to work all uncleanness, even with ²greediness.

20 ¹But ye have not so learned Christ,

21 If so be ye have heard him, and have been taught by him, ¹as the truth is in Jesus,

22 ^b*That is*, that ye cast off, concerning the conversation in time past, ¹that old man, which is corrupt through the deceivable lusts,

23 And be renewed in the ¹spirit of your mind,

24 And put on the new man, which ¹after God is created unto ²righteousness, and ³true holiness.

25 ¹Wherefore cast off lying, and speak every man truth unto his neighbor: for we are members one of another.

26 ¹Be ²angry, but sin not: let not the sun go down ³upon your wrath,

27 Neither give place to the devil.

4:13 ¹ The use of this ministry is perpetual so long as we are in this world, that is, until that time that having put off the flesh, and thoroughly and perfectly agreeing betwixt ourselves, we shall be joined with Christ our head. Which thing is done by that knowledge of the Son of God increasing in us, and he himself by little and little growing up in us until we come to be a perfect man, which shall be in the world to come, when God shall be all in all.

² In that most near conjunction which is knit and fastened together by faith.

³ Christ is said to grow up to full age, not in himself, but in us.

4:14 ¹ Betwixt our childhood (that is to say, a very weak state, while as we do yet altogether waiver) and our perfect age, which we shall have at length in another world, there is a mean, to wit, our youth, and steady going forward to perfection.

² He compareth them which rest not themselves upon the word of God, to little boats which are tossed hither and thither with the doctrines of men, as it were with contrary winds, and therewithall forewarneth them that it cometh to pass not only by the lightness of man's brain, but also by the craftiness of certain, which make as it were an art of it.

³ With those uncertain chances which toss men to and fro.

⁴ By the deceit of those men which are very well practised in deceiving of others.

4:15 ¹ By earnest affection of the truth and love, we grow up into Christ: for he (being effectual by the ministry of his word, which as the vital spirit doth so quicken the whole body, that it nourisheth all the limbs thereof according to the measure and proportion of each one) quickeneth and cherisheth his Church, which consisteth of divers functions, as of divers members, and preserveth the proportion of every one. And thereof it followeth that neither this body can live without Christ, neither can any man grow up spiritually, which separateth himself from the other members.

4:16 ¹ Of Christ, who in manner of the soul, quickeneth all the members.

² Such increase as is meet the body should have.

³ Charity is the knitting of the limbs together.

4:17 ¹ He descendeth to the fruits of Christian doctrine, and reasoneth first upon the principles of manners and actions, setting down a most grave comparison between the children of God, and them which are not regenerate. For in these men, all the powers of the mind are corrupted and their mind is given to vanity, and their senses are darkened with most gross mistiness, and their affections are so accustomed by little and little to wickedness, that at length they run headlong into all uncleanness, being utterly destitute of all judgment.

² If the noblest parts of the soul be corrupt, what is man but corruption only?

4:18 ¹ Whereby God liveth in them.

4:19 ¹ Void of all judgment.

² They strove to pass one another as though there had been some gain to be gotten by it.

4:20 ¹ Here followeth the contrary part touching men which are regenerate by the true and lively knowledge of Christ, which have other principles of their doings far different, to wit, holy and honest desires, and a mind clean changed by the virtue of the holy Ghost, from whence proceed also like effects, as a just and holy life indeed.

4:21 ¹ As they have learned which acknowledge Christ indeed, and in good earnest.

4:22 ¹ Yourselves.

4:23 ¹ Where there ought to have been the greatest force of reason, there is the greatest corruption of all which wasteth all things.

4:24 ¹ After the image of God.

² The effect and end of the new creation.

³ Not fained nor counterfeit.

4:25 ¹ He commendeth severally certain peculiar Christian virtues, and first of all he requireth truth (that is to say, sincere manners) condemning all deceit and dissembling, because we are born one for another.

4:26 ¹ He teacheth us to bridle our anger in such sort, that although it be not, yet that it break not out, and that it be straightway quenched before we sleep, lest Satan taking occasion to give us evil counsel through the wicked counselor, destroy us.

² If it so fall out, that you be angry, yet sin not: that is, bridle your anger, and do not wickedly put that in execution, which you have wickedly conceived.

³ Let not the night come upon you in your anger, that is, make atonement quickly for all matters.

28 ¹Let him that stole, steal no more: but let him rather labor, and work with his hands the thing which is ²good, that he may have to give unto him that needeth.

29 ¹Let no ²corrupt communication proceed out of your mouths: but that which is good to the use of edifying, that it may minister ³grace unto the hearers.

30 ¹And grieve not the holy Spirit of God, by whom ye are sealed unto the day of redemption.

31 Let all bitterness, and anger, and wrath, crying, and evil speaking be put away from you, with all maliciousness.

32 Be ye courteous one to another, and tender hearted, freely forgiving one another, ¹even as God for Christ's sake, freely forgave you.

5 ³ Lest, in those vices which he reprehended, they should set light by his admonitions, ⁵ he terrifieth them by denouncing severe judgment, ⁸ and stirreth them forward: ¹⁵ Then he defendeth from general lessons of manners, ²² to the particular duties of wives, ²⁵ and husbands.

1 Be ye therefore followers of God, as dear children,

2 ^aAnd walk in love, even as Christ hath loved us, and hath given himself for us, to be an offering and a sacrifice of a sweet smelling savor to God.

3 ^{b,1}But fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as it becometh Saints,

4 Neither filthiness, neither foolish talking, neither ¹jesting, which are things not comely, but rather giving of thanks.

5 ¹For this ye know, that no whoremonger, neither unclean person, nor covetous person, which is an ²idolater, hath any inheritance in the kingdom of Christ, and of God.

6 ¹Let no man deceive you with vain words: for, for such things cometh the wrath of God upon the children of disobedience.

7 ¹Be not therefore companions with them.

8 For ye were once darkness, but are now ¹light in the Lord: walk as children of light.

9 (For the fruit of the ¹Spirit is in all goodness, and righteousness, and truth.)

10 Approving that which is pleasing to the Lord.

11 And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but even ¹reprove them rather.

12 For it is shame even to speak of the things which are done of them in secret.

13 But all things when they are reprov'd of the light, are manifest: for it is light that maketh all things manifest.

14 Wherefore ¹he saith, Awake thou that sleepest, and stand up from the ²dead, and Christ shall give thee light.

15 ¹Take heed therefore that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as ⁴wise, 16 ¹Redeeming the season: for the ²days are evil.

17 ¹Wherefore, be ye not unwise, but understand what the will of the Lord is.

4:28 ¹ He descendeth from the heart to the hands condemning theft: and because that men which give themselves to this wickedness use to pretend poverty, he sheweth that labor is a good remedy against poverty, which God blesseth in such sort that they which labor have always some overplus to help others so far is it from this, that they are constrained to steal other men's goods.

² By laboring in things that are holy, and profitable to his neighbor.

4:29 ¹ He bridleth the tongue also, teaching us so to temper our talk, that our hearer's mind be not only not destroyed, but also instructed.

² Word for word, rotten.

³ By grace he meaneth that, whereby men may profit to the going on forward godliness and love.

4:30 ¹ A general precept against all excess of affections which dwell in the part of the mind, which they call, Angry, and he setteth against them the contrary means. And useth a most vehement preface, how we ought to take heed that we grieve not the holy Spirit of God through our immoderateness and intemperance, who dwelleth in us to this end, to moderate all our affections.

4:32 ¹ An argument taken from the example of Christ, most grave and vehement, both for pardoning of those injuries which have been done unto us by our greatest enemies, and much more for having consideration of the miserable, and using moderation and gentle behavior towards all men.

5:3 ¹ Now he cometh to another kind of affections, which is in that part of the mind, which men call covetous or desirous: and he reprehended fornication, covetousness, and jesting, very sharply.

5:4 ¹ Jests which men cast one at another: that no lightness be seen, nor evil example given, nor any offense moved by evil words or backbiting.

5:5 ¹ Because these sins are such that the most part of men count them not for sins, he awaketh the godly, to the end they should so much the more take heed to themselves from them, as most hurtful plagues.

² A bondslave to idolatry, for the covetous man thinketh that his life standeth in his goods.

5:7 ¹ Because we are not so ready to anything as to follow evil examples, therefore the Apostle warneth the godly to remember always that the others are but as it were darkness, and that they themselves are as it were light. And therefore the others commit all villany (as men are wont in the dark) but they ought not only not to follow their examples, but also (as the property of the light is) reprove their darkness, and to walk so (having Christ that true light going before them) as it becometh wise men.

5:8 ¹ The faithful are called light, both because they have the true light in them which lighteneth them, and also because they give light to others, insomuch, that their honest conversation reproveth the life of wicked men.

5:9 ¹ By whose force we are made light in the Lord.

5:11 ¹ Make them open to all the world, by your good life.

5:14 ¹ The Scripture, or God in the Scripture.

² He speaketh of the death of sin.

5:15 ¹ The worse and more corrupt that the manners of this world are, the more watchful ought we to be against all occasions, and respect nothing but the will of God.

5:16 ¹ This is a metaphor taken from the merchants: who prefer the least profit that may be, before all their pleasures.

² The times are troublesome and sharp.

18 ¹And be not drunk with wine, wherein is ²excess: but be fulfilled with the Spirit,

19 Speaking unto yourselves in Psalms, and hymns, and spiritual songs, singing and making melody to the Lord in your ¹hearts,

20 Giving thanks always for all things unto God even the Father, in the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ, 21 ¹Submitting yourselves one to another in the fear of God.

22 ¶ ^{b,1}Wives, submit yourselves unto your husbands, ²as unto the Lord.

23 ^{a,1}For the husband is the wife's head, even as Christ is the head of the Church, ²and the same is the Savior of his body.

24 ¹Therefore as the Church is in subjection to Christ, even so let the wives be to their husbands in everything.

25 ¶ ^{b,1}Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ loved the Church, and gave himself for it,

26 ¹That he might ²sanctify it, and cleanse it by the washing of water through the ³word,

27 That he might make it unto himself a glorious Church, ¹not having spot or wrinkle, or any such thing: but that it should be holy and without blame.

^aCol. 3:20
^bExod. 20:12
^tDeut. 5:16
^tMatt. 15:4
^tMark 7:10

28 ¹So ought men to love their wives, as their own bodies: he that loveth his wife, loveth himself.

29 For no man ever yet hated his ¹own flesh, but nourished and cherisheth it, even as the Lord doth the Church.

30 For we are members of his body, ¹of his flesh, and of his bones.

31 ¹For this cause shall a man leave father and mother, and shall ¹cleave to his wife, and they twain shall be one flesh.

32 ¹This is a great secret, but I speak concerning Christ, and concerning the Church.

33 ¹Therefore everyone of you, do ye so: let everyone love his wife, even as himself, and let the wife see that she fear her husband.

6 ¹He sheweth the duties of children, ⁵servants, ⁹and masters: ¹⁰Then he speaketh of the fierce battle that the faithful have, ¹²and what weapons we must use in the same: ²¹In the end he commendeth Tychicus.

1 Children, ^{a,1}obey your parents ²in the ³Lord: ⁴for this is right.

2 ^{b,1}Honor thy father and mother (²which is the first commandment with ³promise)

5:18 ¹He setteth the sober and holy assemblies of the faithful, against the dissolute bankers of the unfaithful, in which the praises of the only Lord must ring, be it in prosperity or adversity.

² All kind of riot, joined with all manner of filthiness and shamefulness.

5:19 ¹ With an earnest affection of the heart, and not with the tongue only.

5:21 ¹ A short repetition of the end whereunto all things ought to be referred, to serve one another for God's sake.

5:22 ¹ Now he descendeth to a family, dividing orderly all the parts of a family. And he saith that the duty of wives consisteth herein, to be obedient to their husbands.

² The first argument, for they cannot be disobedient to their husbands, but they must resist God also, who is the author of this subjection.

5:23 ¹ A declaration of the former saying: Because God hath made the man head of the woman in matrimony, as Christ is the head of the Church.

² Another argument: Because the good estate of the wife dependeth of the man, so that this submission is not only just, but also very profitable: as also the salvation of the Church is of Christ, although far otherwise.

5:24 ¹ The conclusion of the wives' duty towards their husbands.

5:25 ¹ The husbands' duty towards their wives, is to love them as themselves, of which love, the love of Christ toward his Church is a lively pattern.

5:26 ¹ Because many men pretend the infirmities of their wives to excuse their own hardness and cruelty, the Apostle willett us to mark what manner of Church Christ gat, when he joined it to himself, and how he doth not only not loathe all her filth and uncleanness, but ceaseth not to wipe the same away with his cleanness, until he have wholly purged it.

² Make it holy.

³ Through the promise of free justification and sanctification in Christ, received by faith.

5:27 ¹ The Church, as it is considered in itself, shall not be without wrinkle, before it come to the mark it shooteth at: for while it is in this life, it runneth in a race: but if it be considered in Christ, it is clean and without wrinkle.

5:28 ¹ Another argument: Every man loveth himself, even of nature: therefore he striveth against nature that loveth not his wife: he proveth the consequent, first by the mystical knitting of Christ and the Church together, and then by the ordinance of God, who saith, that man and wife are as one, that is, not to be divided.

5:29 ¹ His own body.

5:30 ¹ He alludeth to the making of the woman, which signifieth our coupling together with Christ, which is wrought by faith, but is sealed by the Sacrament of the Supper.

5:31 ¹ See Matt. 19:5

5:32 ¹ That no man might dream of natural conjunction or knitting of Christ and his Church together (such as the husbands and the wives is) he sheweth that it is secret, to wit, spiritual and such as far differeth from the common capacity of man: as which consisteth by the virtue of the Spirit, and not of the flesh by faith, and by no natural band.

5:33 ¹ The conclusion both of the husband's duty toward his wife, and of the wife's toward her husband.

6:1 ¹ He cometh to another part of a family, and sheweth that the duty of the children toward their parents, consisteth in obedience unto them.

² The first argument: because God hath so appointed: whereupon it followeth also, that children are so far forth bound to obey their parents, as they may not swerve from the true worship of God.

³ For the Lord is author of all fatherhood, and therefore we must yield such obedience as he will have us.

⁴ The second argument: because this obedience is most just.

6:2 ¹ A proof of the first argument.

² The third argument, taken of the profit that ensueth thereby: because the Lord vouchsafed this commandment amongst the rest, of a special blessing.

³ With a special promise: for otherwise the second commandment hath a promise of mercy to a thousand generations, but that promise is general.

3 That it may be well with thee, and that thou mayest live long on earth.

4 ¹And ye, fathers, provoke not your children to wrath: but bring them up in instruction and ²information of the Lord.

5 ¹"Servants, be obedient unto them that are your masters, ²according to the flesh, with ³fear and trembling in singleness of your hearts, as unto Christ,

6 Not with service to the eye, as men pleasers, but as the servants of Christ, ¹doing the will of God from the heart.

7 With good will, serving the ¹Lord, and not men.

8 ¹And know ye that whatsoever good thing any man doeth, that same shall he receive of the Lord, whether he be bond or free,

9 ¹And ye masters, do the same things unto them, putting away threatening: and know that even your master also is in heaven, neither is there ^{d,2}respect of person with him.

10 ¶ ¹Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might.

11 Put on the whole armor of God, that ye may be able to stand against the assaults of the devil.

12 ¹For we wrestle not against flesh and ²blood, but against ³principalities, against powers, and against the worldly governors, the princes of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness, which are in the high places.

13 ¹For this cause take unto you the whole armor of God, that ye may be able to resist in the ²evil day, and having finished all things, stand fast.

14 Stand therefore, and your loins girded about with verity, and having on the breastplate of righteousness,

15 And your feet shod with the ¹preparation of the Gospel of peace.

16 Above all, take the shield of Faith, wherewith ye may quench all the fiery darts of the wicked,

17 And take the helmet of Salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God.

18 And pray always with all manner prayer and supplication in the ¹spirit: and watch thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all Saints,

19 And for me, that utterance may be given unto me, that I may open my mouth boldly to publish the secret of the Gospel,

20 Whereof I am the ambassador in bonds, that therein I may speak boldly, as I ought to speak.

21 ¶ ¹But that ye may also know mine affairs, and what I do, Tychicus my dear brother and faithful minister in the Lord, shall show you of all things.

22 Whom I have sent unto you for the same purpose, that ye might know mine affairs, and that he might comfort your hearts.

23 Peace be with the brethren, and love with faith from God the Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

24 Grace be with all them which love our Lord Jesus Christ, to their ¹immortality, Amen.

¶ Written from Rome unto the Ephesians, and sent by Tychicus.

6:4 ¹ It is the duty of fathers to use their fatherly authority moderately, and to God's glory.

² Such information and precepts, as being taken out of God's book are holy and acceptable to him.

6:5 ¹ Now he ascendeth to the third part of a family, to wit, to the duty both of the masters and of the servants. And he sheweth that the duty of servants consisteth in a hearty love and reverence to their master.

² He mitigateth the sharpness of service, in that they are spiritually free, notwithstanding the same, and yet that spiritual freedom taketh not away corporal service, insomuch that they cannot be Christ's, unless they serve their masters willingly and faithfully, so far forth as they may with safe conscience.

³ With careful reverence: for slavish fear is not allowable, much less in Christian servants.

6:6 ¹ To cut off occasion of all pretences, he teacheth us that it is God's will that some are either born or made servants, and therefore they must respect God's will, although their service be never so hard.

6:7 ¹ Being moved with a reverence so Godward, as though ye served God himself.

6:8 ¹ Although they serve unkind and cruel masters, yet the obedience of servants is no less acceptable to God, than the obedience of them that are free.

6:9 ¹ It is the duty of masters to use the authority that they have over their servants modestly, and holily, seeing that they in another respect have a common master, which is in heaven, who will judge both the bond and the free.

² Either of freedom or bondage.

6:10 ¹ He concludeth the other part of this Epistle with a grave exhortation, that all be ready, and fight constantly, trusting to spiritual weapons, until their enemies be clean put to flight. And first of all, he warneth us to take the armor of God, whereby only our enemy may be dispatched.

6:12 ¹ Secondly he declareth that our chiefest and mightiest enemies are invisible, that we may not think that our chiefest conflict is with men.

² Against men, which are of a frail and brittle nature, against which are set spiritual subtleties, more mighty than the other by a thousand parts.

³ He giveth these names to the evil angels, reason of the effects which they work: not that they are able to do the same of themselves, but because God giveth them the bridle.

6:13 ¹ He sheweth that these enemies are put to flight with the only armor of God, to wit, with uprightness of conscience, a godly and holy life, knowledge of the Gospel, faith, and to be short, with the word of God, and using daily earnest prayer for the health of the Church, and especially, for the constance of the true, godly, and valiant ministers of the word.

² See Eph. 5:16.

6:15 ¹ That the preparation of the Gospel may be as it were shoes to you: and it is very fitly called the Gospel of peace, for that, seeing we have to go to God through most dangerous ranks of enemies, this may encourage us to go on manfully, in that we know by the doctrine of the Gospel, that we take our journey to God, who is at peace with us.

6:18 ¹ That holy prayers may proceed from the holy Spirit.

6:21 ¹ A familiar and very amiable declaration of his state, together with a solemn prayer, wherewith Paul is wont to end his Epistles.

6:24 ¹ To life everlasting.

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL TO THE PHILIPPIANS

1 ³ Having testified his godly and tender affection towards the Philippians, ¹² he entreateth of himself and his bands: ²² And pricketh them forward by his own example, ²⁷ and exhorteth them to unity, ²⁸ and patience.

1 Paul ¹and Timothy the servants of JESUS CHRIST, to all the Saints in Christ Jesus, which are at Philippi, with the ²Bishops, and Deacons:

2 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ:

3 I thank my God, having you in perfect memory,

4 (Always in all my prayers for all you, praying with gladness)

5 Because of the ¹fellowship which ye have in the Gospel, from the ²first day unto now.

6 And I am persuaded of this same thing, that he that hath begun this good work in you, will perform it until the ¹day of Jesus Christ,

7 As it becometh me so to judge of you all, because I have you in remembrance, that both in my ¹bands, and in my defense, and confirmation of the Gospel you all were partakers of my ²grace.

8 ¹For God is my record, how I long after you all from the very heart root in Jesus Christ.

9 ¹And this I pray that your love may abound yet more and more in knowledge, and in all judgment,

10 That ye may allow those things which are best, that ye may be pure, and without offense, until the day of Christ,

11 Filled with the ¹fruits of righteousness, which are by Jesus Christ unto the glory and praise of God.

12 ¶ ¹I would ye understood, brethren, that the things which have come unto me, are turned rather to the furthering of the Gospel,

13 So that my bands ¹in Christ are famous throughout all the ²judgment hall, and in all other places.

14 Insomuch that many of the brethren in the Lord are boldened through my bands, and dare more frankly speak the ¹Word.

15 Some preach Christ even through envy and strife, and some also of good will.

16 The one part preacheth Christ of contention, and not ¹purely, supposing to add more affliction to my bands.

17 But the others of love, knowing that I am set for the defense of the Gospel.

18 ¹What then: yet Christ is preached all manner ways, whether it be under a ²pretence, or sincerely: and I therein joy: yea, and will joy.

19 For I know that this shall turn to my salvation through your prayer, and by the help of the Spirit

1:1 ¹ The mark wherewith he shooteth in this Epistle, is to confirm the Philippians by all means possible, not only not to faint, but also to go forward. And first of all, he commendeth their former doings, to exhort them to go forward: which thing he sayeth, he hopeth fully they will do, and that by the testimony of their lively charity, but in the mean season he referreth all things to the grace of God.

² By the Bishops are meant both the Pastors, which have the dispensation of the word and the Elders, that govern: and by Deacons are meant those that were stewards of the treasury of the Church and had to look unto the poor.

1:5 ¹ Because that you also are made partakers of the Gospel.

² Ever since I knew you.

1:6 ¹ The Spirit of God will not forsake you unto the very latter end, until your mortal bodies shall appear before the judgment of Christ, to be glorified.

1:7 ¹ A true proof of a true knitting together with Christ.

² He calleth his bands, grace, as though he had received some singular benefit.

1:8 ¹ He declareth his good will towards them, therewithall showing by what means chiefly they may be confirmed, to wit, by continual prayer.

1:9 ¹ He sheweth what thing we ought chiefly desire, to wit, first of all, that we may increase in the true knowledge of God (so that we may be able to discern things that differ one from another) and also in charity, that even to the end we may give ourselves to good works indeed, to the glory of God by Jesus Christ.

1:11 ¹ If righteousness be the tree, and good works the fruits, then must the papists needs be deceived, when they say that works are the cause of righteousness.

1:12 ¹ He preventeth the offense that might come by his persecution, whereby divers took occasion to disgrace his Apostleship. To whom he answereth, that God hath blesseth his imprisonment in such wise, that he is by that means become more famous, and the dignity of the Gospel by this occasion is greatly enlarged, although not with like affection in all men, yet indeed.

1:13 ¹ For Christ's sake.

² In the Emperor's court.

1:14 ¹ The Gospel is called the Word, to set forth the excellence of it.

1:16 ¹ Not with a pure mind: for otherwise their doctrine was pure.

1:18 ¹ He sheweth by setting forth his own example, that the end of our affliction is true joy: and that through the virtue of the Spirit of Christ, which he giveth to them that ask it.

² Under a goodly color and show: for they made Christ a cloak for their ambition and envy.

of Jesus Christ,

20 ¹As I fervently look for, and hope, that in nothing I shall be ashamed, but that with all confidence, as always, so now Christ shall be magnified in my body, whether it be by life or by death.

21 For Christ is to me both in life and in death advantage.

22 ¹And whether to live in the ²flesh were profitable for me, and what to choose I know not.

23 For I am distressed between both, desiring to be loosed and to be with Christ, which is best of all.

24 Nevertheless, to abide in the flesh, is more needful for you.

25 And this am I sure of, that I shall abide, and with you all continue, for your furtherance and joy of your faith,

26 That ye may more abundantly rejoice in JESUS CHRIST for me, by my coming to you again.

27 ¹Only let your conversation be as it becometh the Gospel of Christ, that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your matters, that ye ²continue in one spirit, and in one mind, fighting together through the faith of the Gospel.

28 ¹And in nothing fear your adversaries, which is to them a token of perdition, and to you of salvation, and that of God.

29 ¹For unto you it is given for Christ, that not only ye should believe in him, but also suffer for his sake, 30 ¹Having the same fight, which ye saw in me, and now hear to be in me.

2 ¹He exhorteth them above all things, ³to humility, ⁶and that by the example of Christ. ¹⁹He promiseth to send Timothy shortly unto them, ²⁶and excuseth the long tarrying of Epaphroditus.

1 ¹If there be therefore any consolation in ²Christ, if any comfort of love, if any fellowship of the Spirit, if any ³compassion and mercy,

2 Fulfill my joy, that ye be like minded, having the ¹same love, being of one accord, and of one judgment,

3 That nothing be done through contention or vainglory, but that in meekness of mind every man esteem others better than himself.

4 Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of other men.

5 ¹Let the same mind be in you that was even in Christ Jesus,

6 Who being in the ¹form of God, ²thought it no robbery to be ³equal with God:

7 But he made himself of ¹no reputation, and took on him the ²form of a servant, and was made like unto men, and was found in shape as a man.

8 He humbled himself, and became obedient unto the death, even the death of the cross.

9 ¹Wherefore God hath also highly exalted him, and given him a ²name above every name.

10 That at the Name of Jesus should ¹every knee bow, both of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth.

11 And that ¹every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is the Lord, unto the glory of God the Father.

1:20 ¹We must continue even to the end, with great confidence, having nothing before our eyes but Christ's glory only, whether we live or die.

1:22 ¹An example of a true shepherd, who maketh more account how he may profit his sheep, than he doth of any commodity of his own whatsoever.

² To live in this mortal body.

1:27 ¹Having set down those things before, in manner of a Preface, he descendeth now to exhortations, warning them first of all, to consent both in doctrine and mind, and afterward, that being thus knit together with those common bands, they continue through the strength of faith to bear all adversity in such sort, that they admit nothing unworthy the profession of the Gospel.

² The word signifieth, to stand fast, and it is proper to wrestlers, that stand fast, and shrink not a foot.

1:28 ¹We ought not to be discouraged, but rather encouraged by the persecutions which the enemies of the Gospel imagine and practice against us: seeing that they are certain witnesses from God himself, both of our salvation, and of the destruction of the wicked.

1:29 ¹He proveth that his saying, that persecution is a token of our salvation, because it is a gift of God to suffer for Christ, which gift he bestoweth upon his own, as he doth the gift of faith.

1:30 ¹Now he sheweth for what purpose he made mention of his afflictions.

2:1 ¹A most earnest request to remove all those things, whereby that great and special consent and agreement is commonly broken, to wit, contention and pride, whereby it cometh to pass, that they separate themselves one from another.

² Any Christian comfort.

³ If any feeling of inward love.

2:2 ¹Like love.

2:5 ¹He setteth before them a most perfect example of all modesty and sweet conversation, Christ Jesus, whom we ought to follow with all our might: who abased himself so far for our sakes, although he be above all, that he took upon him the form of a servant, to wit, our flesh willingly, subject to all infirmities, even to the death of the cross.

2:6 ¹Such as God himself is, and therefore God, for there is none in all parts like to God, but God himself.

² Christ, that glorious and everlasting God, knew that he might rightfully and lawfully not appear in the base flesh of man, but remain with majesty meet for God: yet he chose rather to debase himself.

³ If the Son be equal to the Father, then is there of necessity an equality, which Arrius, that Heretic, denieth: and if the Son be compared with the Father, then is there a distinction of persons, which Sabellius, that heretic, denieth.

2:7 ¹He brought himself from all things, as it were to nothing.

² By taking our manhood upon him.

2:9 ¹He sheweth the most glorious event of Christ's submission, to teach us, that modesty is the true way to true praise and glory.

² Dignity and renown, and the matter with it.

2:10 ¹All creatures shall at length be subject to Christ.

2:11 ¹Every nation.

12 ¹Wherefore my beloved, as ye have always obeyed me, not as in my presence only, but now much more in mine absence, so ²make an end of your own salvation with fear and trembling.

13 ¹For it is God which worketh in you both ²the will and the deed, even of his good pleasure.

14 ¹Do all things without ⁴murmuring and reasonings,

15 ¹That ye may be blameless, and pure, and the sons of God without rebuke in the midst of a naughty and crooked nation, among whom ye shine as ¹lights in the world,

16 Holding forth the ¹word of life, ²that I may rejoice in the day of Christ, that I have not run in vain, neither have labored in vain.

17 Yea, and though I be offered up upon the ¹sacrifice, and service of your faith, I am glad, and rejoice with you all.

18 For the same cause also be ye glad, and rejoice with me.

19 ¹And I trust in the Lord Jesus, to send ⁴Timothy shortly unto you, that I also may be of ²good comfort, when I know your state.

20 For I have no man like-minded, who will faithfully care for your matters.

21 ⁴For ¹all seek their own, and not that which is Jesus Christ's.

22 But ye know the proof of him, that as a son with the father, he hath served with me in the Gospel.

23 Him therefore I hope to send as soon as I know how it will go with me,

CHAPTER 2
^a 1 Pet. 4:9
^b Matt. 5:14
^c Acts 16:1
^d 1 Cor. 10:24

24 And I trust in the Lord, that I also myself shall come shortly.

25 But I supposed it necessary to send my brother Epaphroditus unto you my companion in labor, and fellow soldier, even your messenger, and he that ministered unto me such things as I wanted.

26 For he longed after all you, and was full of heaviness, because ye had heard that he had been sick.

27 And no doubt he was sick, very near unto death: but God had mercy on him, and not on him only, but on me also, lest I should have sorrow upon sorrow.

28 I sent him therefore the more diligently, that when ye should see him again, ye might rejoice, and I might be the less sorrowful.

29 Receive him therefore in the Lord with all gladness, and make much of such:

30 Because that for the ¹work of Christ he was near unto death, and regarded not his life, to fulfill that service which was lacking on your part toward me.

3 ²He refuteth the vain boastings of the false apostles, ⁷and setteth Christ against them. ¹⁰He setteth out the force and nature of faith, ¹⁵that laying all things aside, they may be partakers of the Cross of Christ, ¹⁸the enemies whereof, he noteth out.

1 Moreover, ¹my brethren, rejoice in the Lord. ²It grieveth me not to write the ³same things to you, and for you it is a sure thing.

2 Beware of dogs: beware of evil workers: beware of the ¹concision.

3 ¹For we are the circumcision, which worship

2:12 ¹ The conclusion: We must go on to salvation with humility and submission, by the way of our vocation.

² He is said to make an end of his salvation, which runneth in the race of righteousness.

2:13 ¹ A most sure and grounded argument against pride, for that we have nothing in us praiseworthy but it cometh of the free gift of God, and is without us, for we have no ability or power, so much as to will well (much less to do well) but only of the free mercy of God.

² Why then, we are not stocks, but yet we do not will well of nature, but only because God hath made of our naughty will a good will.

2:14 ¹ He describeth modesty by the contrary effects of pride, teaching us, that it is far both from all malicious, and close or inward hatred and also from open contentions and brawlings.

2:15 ¹ To be short, he requieth a life without fault, and pure, that being lightened with the word of God, they may shine in the darkness of this world.

2:16 ¹ The Gospel is called the word of life, because of the effects which it worketh.

² Again he pricketh them forward, setting before them his true Apostolic care that he had of them, comforting them moreover, to the end they should not be sorry for the greatness of his afflictions, no not although he should die to make perfect their oblation with his blood, as it were with a drink offering.

2:17 ¹ As if he said, I brought you Philippians to Christ, my desire is that you present yourselves a lively sacrifice to him, and then shall it not grieve me to be offered up as a drink offering, to accomplish this your spiritual offering.

2:19 ¹ Moreover he confirmeth their minds both by sending back Epaphroditus unto them, whose fidelity towards them, and great pains in helping him, he commendeth: and also promising to send Timothy shortly unto them, by whose presence they shall receive great commodity, and hoping also to come himself shortly unto them, if God wills.

² May be confirmed in my joy of mind.

2:21 ¹ The most part.

2:30 ¹ He calleth it here the work of Christ, to visit Christ, being poor and in bands in the person of Paul.

3:1 ¹ A conclusion of those things which have been before said, to wit, that they go forward cheerfully in the Lord.

² A preface to the next admonition that followeth, to take good heed and beware of false apostles, which join Circumcision with Christ, (that is to say, justification by works, with free justification by faith) and beat into men's heads the ceremonies which are abolished: for true exercises of godliness and charity. And he calleth them dogs as profane barkers, and evil workmen, because they neglected true works and did not teach the true use of them. To be short, he calleth them Concision, because in urging Circumcision, they cut off themselves and others from the Church.

³ Which you have oftentimes heard of me.

3:2 ¹ He alludeth to Circumcision, of the name whereof while they boasted, they cut asunder the Church.

3:3 ¹ He sheweth that we ought to use true circumcision, to wit, the circumcision of the heart, that cutting off all wicked affections by the virtue of Christ, we may serve God in purity of life.

God in the spirit, and rejoice in Christ Jesus, and have no confidence ²in the flesh:

4 ¹Though I might also have confidence in the flesh. If any other man thinketh that he hath whereof he might trust in the flesh, much more I,

5 Circumcised the eighth day, of the kindred of Israel, of the tribe of Benjamin, ^aan Hebrew of the Hebrews, ^bby the Law a Pharisee.

6 Concerning zeal, I persecuted the Church: touching the righteousness which is in the Law, I was unrebukeable.

7 But the things that were ¹vantage unto me, the same I counted loss for Christ's sake.

8 Yea, doubtless I think ¹all things but loss for the excellent knowledge sake of Christ Jesus my Lord, for whom I have counted all things loss, and do judge them to be dung, that I might ²win Christ,

9 And might be found in ¹him, that is, ²not having mine own righteousness, which is of the Law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, even the righteousness which is of God through faith,

10 ¹That I may ²know him, and the virtue of his resurrection, and the ³fellowship of his afflictions, and be made conformable unto his death,

11 If by any means I might attain unto the ¹resurrection of the dead:

12 Not as though I had already attained to it, either were already perfect: but I follow, if that I may comprehend that for whose sake also I am ¹comprehended of Christ Jesus.

CHAPTER 3

^a 2 Cor. 11:22^b Acts 23:6^c Rom. 16:17^d 1 Cor. 1:7

Titus 2:13

13 Brethren, I count not myself, that I have attained to it, but one thing I do: I forget that which is behind, and endeavor myself unto that which is before,

14 And follow hard toward the mark, for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus.

15 ¹Let us therefore as many as be ²perfect, be thus minded: and if ye be otherwise minded, God shall reveal even the same unto you.

16 Nevertheless, in that whereunto we are come, let us proceed by one rule, that we may mind one thing.

17 Brethren, be followers of me, and look on them, which walk so, as ye have us for an example.

18 ^{c1} For many walk, of whom I have told you often, and now tell you weeping, that they are the enemies of the cross of Christ:

19 Whose ¹end is damnation, whose God is their belly, and whose ²glory is to their shame, which mind earthly things.

20 ¹But our conversation is in heaven, from whence also we look for the ^dSavior, even the Lord Jesus Christ, 21 Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working, whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself.

4 ¹From particular exhortations, ⁴he cometh to general. 10 He saith that he took such joy in their readiness to liberality, 12 that he will patiently bear the want.

1 Therefore, ¹my brethren, beloved and longed for, my joy and my ²crown, so continue in the ³Lord,

² In outward things, which pertain nothing to the soul.

3:4 ¹ He doubteth not to prefer himself even according to the flesh, before those perverse hote urgers of the Law, that all men may know that he doth with good judgment of mind, lightly esteem all those outward things: forso much as he lacketh nothing which hath Christ, nay, the confidence of our works cannot stand with the free justification in Christ by faith.

3:7 ¹ Which is accounted for vantage.

3:8 ¹ He shutteth out all works, as well those that go before, as those that come after faith.

² That in their place I might get Christ, and of a poor man become rich: so far off am I from losing anything.

3:9 ¹ In Christ: for they that are found without Christ, are subject to condemnation.

² That is, to be in Christ, to be found not in a man's own righteousness, but clothed with the righteousness of Christ imputed to him.

3:10 ¹ This is the end of righteousness by faith touching us, that by the virtue of his resurrection we may scape from death.

² That I may feel him indeed, and have a trial of him.

³ The way to that eternal salvation is to follow Christ's steps, by afflictions and persecutions, until we come to Christ himself, who is our mark whereat we shoot, and receive that reward whereunto God calleth us in him. And the Apostle setteth these true exercises of godliness against those vain ceremonies of the Law, wherein the false apostles put the sum of godliness.

3:11 ¹ To life everlasting, which followeth the resurrection of the Saints.

3:12 ¹ For we run not, but so far forth, as we are laid hold on of Christ, that is, as God giveth us strength, and sheweth us the way.

3:15 ¹ The conclusion of this exhortation standing upon three members: The one is, that such as have profited in the truth of this doctrine, should continue in it. The second is, that if there be any which are yet ignorant and understand not these things, and doubt of the abolishing of the Law, they should cause no trouble, and should be gently born withall, until they also be instructed of the Lord. The third is, that they esteem the false apostles by their fruits: wherein he doubteth not to set forth himself for an example.

² He said before that he was not perfect. So that in this place he calleth them perfect, which have somewhat profited in the knowledge of Christ and the Gospel, whom he setteth against the rude and ignorant, as he expoundeth himself in the next verse following.

3:18 ¹ He painteth out the false apostles in their colors, not upon malice or ambition, but with sorrow and tears, to wit, because that being enemies of the Gospel (for that is joined with affliction) they regard nothing else, but the commodities of this life: that is to say, that flowing in peace, and quietness, and all worldly pleasures, they may live in great estimation amongst men, whose miserable end he forewarned them of.

3:19 ¹ Reward.

² Which they hunt after at men's hands.

3:20 ¹ He setteth against these fellows, true pastors which neglect earthly things, and aspire to heaven only, where they know, that even in their bodies they shall be clothed with that eternal glory, by the virtue of God.

4:1 ¹ A rehearsal of the conclusion: That they manfully continue, until they have gotten the victory, trusting to the Lord's strength.

² My honor.

³ In that concord, whereof the Lord is the band.

ye beloved.

2 ¹I pray Euodia, and beseech Syntyche, that they be of one accord in the Lord.

3 Yea, and I beseech thee, faithful yokefellow, help those women, which labored with me in the Gospel, with Clement also, and with other my fellow laborers, whose names are in the ^{a,1}book of life.

4 ¹Rejoice in the ²Lord always, again I say, rejoice.

5 ¹Let your ²patient mind be known unto all men. ³The Lord is at hand.

6 ¹Be nothing careful, but in all things let your requests be showed unto God in prayer and supplication with ²giving of thanks.

7 And the ¹peace of God which passeth all understanding, shall preserve your ²hearts and minds in Christ Jesus.

8 ¹Furthermore, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things ²*are* honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are worthy love, whatsoever things are of good report, if there be any virtue, or if there be any praise, think on these things.

9 Which ye have both learned and received, and heard, and seen in me: those things do, and the God of peace shall be with you.

10 ¹Now I rejoice also in the Lord greatly, that now at the last your care for me springeth afresh, wherein notwithstanding ye were careful, but ye lacked opportunity.

11 I speak not because of ¹want: for I have learned in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content.

CHAPTER 4

^a Rev. 3:5
Rev. 10:8
Rev. 21:27

12 And I can be ¹abased, and I can abound: everywhere in all things I am ²instructed, both to be full, and to be hungry, and to abound, and to have want.

13 I am able to do all things through the help of Christ, which strengtheneth me.

14 Notwithstanding ye have well done, that ye did communicate to mine affliction.

15 ¹And ye Philippians know also that in the ²beginning of the Gospel, when I departed from Macedonia, no Church communicated with me, concerning the matter of giving and receiving, but ye only.

16 For even when I was in Thessalonica, ye sent once, and afterward again for my necessity.

17 ¹Not that I desire a gift: but I desire the fruit which may further your reckoning.

18 Now I have received all, and have plenty: I was even filled, after that I had received of Epaphroditus that which came from you, an ¹odor that smelleth sweet, a sacrifice acceptable and pleasant to God.

19 And my God shall fulfill all your necessities through his riches with glory in Jesus Christ.

20 Unto God even our Father be praise for evermore, Amen.

21 Salute all the Saints in Christ Jesus. The brethren, which are with me, greet you.

22 All the Saints salute you, and most of all they which are of ¹Caesar's household.

23 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all, Amen.

¶Written to the Philippians from Rome, and sent by Epaphroditus.

4:2 ¹ He also calleth on some by name, partly, because they needed private exhortation, and partly also to stir up others, to be more prompt and ready.

4:3 ¹ God is said after the manner of men, to have a book, wherein the names of his elect are written, to whom he will give everlasting life. Ezekiel calleth it the writing of the house of Israel, and the secret of the Lord, Ezek. 13:9.

4:4 ¹ He addeth particular exhortations: and the first is, that the joy of the Philippians be not hindered by any afflictions that the wicked imagine and work against them.

² So is the joy of the world distinguisheth from our joy.

4:5 ¹ The second is not taking all things in good part, they behave themselves moderately with all men.

² Your quiet and settled mind.

³ The taking away of an objection: We must not be disquieted through impatience, seeing that God is at hand to give us remedy in time against all our miseries.

4:6 ¹ The third is, that we be not too careful for anything, but with sure confidence give God thanks, and crave of him whatsoever we have need of, that with a quiet conscience we may wholly and with all our hearts submit ourselves to him.

² So David began very oft with tears, but ended with thanksgiving.

4:7 ¹ That great quietness of mind, which God only giveth in Christ.

² He divideth the mind into the heart, that is, into that part which is the seat of the will and affections, and into the higher part, whereby we understand and reason of matters.

4:8 ¹ A general conclusion, that as they have been taught both in word and example, so they frame their lives to the rule of all holiness and righteousness.

² Whatsoever things are such as do beautify and set you out with a holy gravity.

4:10 ¹ He witnesseth that their liberality was acceptable to him, wherewith they did help him in his extreme poverty: but yet so moderating his words, that he might declare himself void of all suspicion of dishonesty, and that he hath a mind contented both with prosperity and adversity, and to be short, that he reposeth himself in the only will of God.

4:11 ¹ As though I passed for my want.

4:12 ¹ He useth a general word, and yet he speaketh but of one kind of cross, which is poverty, for commonly poverty bringeth all kinds of discommodity with it.

² This is a metaphor taken from holy things or sacrifices, for our life is like a sacrifice.

4:15 ¹ He witnesseth that he remembereth also their former benefits, and again putteth away sinister suspicion of immoderate desire, in that that he received nought of any else.

² At that beginning when I preached the Gospel amongst you.

4:17 ¹ He witnesseth again, that he alloweth well of their benefit not so much for his own sake as for theirs, because they gave it not so much to him, as they offered it to God as a sacrifice, whereof the Lord himself will not be forgetful.

4:18 ¹ He alludeth to the sweet smelling savors that were offered in the old Law.

4:22 ¹ Such as belong to the Emperor Nero.

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL TO THE COLOSSIANS

1 ¹ After the salutation, ⁴ he praiseth them the more, to make them attentive unto him. ⁷ He reporteth the testimony of the doctrine which they heard of Epaphras. ¹³ He magnifieth God's grace towards them, ²⁰ and sheweth that all the parts of our salvation consist in Christ alone.

¹ Paul an Apostle of Jesus Christ, by the ¹will of God, and Timothy our brother, ² To them which are at ¹Colosse, Saints and faithful brethren in Christ: Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

³ ¹We give thanks to God even the ²Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, always praying for you:

⁴ Since we heard of your faith in Christ Jesus, and of your love toward all Saints.

⁵ For the ¹hope's sake, which is laid up for you in heaven, whereof ye have heard before by the word of truth, which is the Gospel,

⁶ Which is come unto you, even as it is unto all the world, and is fruitful as it is also among you from the day that ye heard and truly knew the grace of God,

⁷ As ye also learned of Epaphras our dear fellow servant, which is for you a faithful minister of Christ:

^b Heb. 1:3

⁸ ¹Who hath also declared unto us your love in the ²Spirit.

⁹ For this cause we also, since the day we heard of it, cease not to pray for you, and to desire that ye might be fulfilled with knowledge of ¹his will in all wisdom, and spiritual understanding.

¹⁰ That ye might walk worthy of the Lord, and please him in all things, being fruitful in all good works, and increasing in the knowledge of God,

¹¹ ¹Strengthened with all might through his glorious power, unto all patience, and longsuffering with ²joyfulness,

¹² ¹Giving thanks unto the ²Father, which hath made us meet to be partakers of the inheritance of the Saints in ³light,

¹³ Who hath delivered us from the power of darkness, and hath translated us into the kingdom ^aof his dear Son,

¹⁴ ¹In whom we have redemption through his blood, that is, the forgiveness of sins.

¹⁵ ¹Who is the ^bimage of the invisible God, ²the first begotten of every creature.

¹⁶ ¹For by him were all things created which are in heaven, and which are in earth, things visible and invisible: whether they be ¹Thrones, or Dominions,

1:1 ¹ By the free bountifulness of God.

1:2 ¹ Colosse is situated in Phrygia, not far from Hierapolis and Laodicea, on that side that they bend toward Lycia and Pamphylia.

1:3 ¹ He commendeth the doctrine that was delivered them by Epaphras, and their readiness in receiving it.

² We cannot otherwise consider of God to our salvation, but as he is Christ's Father, in whom we are adopted.

1:5 ¹ For the glory that is hoped for.

1:8 ¹ He declareth his good will towards them, telling them that they must not still remain at one stay but go on further both in the knowledge of the Gospel, and also in the true use of it.

² Your spiritual love, or your love which cometh from the Spirit.

1:9 ¹ God's will.

1:11 ¹ The gift of continuance is not of us, but it proceedeth from the virtue of God, which he doth freely give us.

² It must not be unwilling, and as it were drawn out of us by force, but proceed from a merry and joyful mind.

1:12 ¹ Having ended the preface, he goeth to the matter itself, that is to say, to an excellent description (although it be but short) of whole Christianity, which is fitly divided into three treatises: for first of all he expoundeth the true doctrine, according to the order of the causes, beginning from this verse to the 24. And from thence he beginneth to apply the same to the Colossians with divers exhortations to verse 6 of the second Chapter. And last of all in the third place even to the third Chapter, he refuteth the corruption of true doctrine.

² The efficient cause of our salvation is the only mercy of God the Father, who maketh us meet to be partakers of eternal life, delivering us from the darkness wherein we were born, and bringing us to the light of the knowledge of the glory of his Son.

³ In that glorious and heavenly kingdom.

1:14 ¹ The matter itself of our salvation, is Christ the Son of God, who hath obtained remission of sins for us by the offering up of himself.

1:15 ¹ A lively description of the person of Christ, whereby we understand that in him only, God sheweth himself to be seen: who was begotten of the Father before anything was made, that is, from everlasting, by whom also all things that are made, were made without any exception, by whom also they do consist, and whose glory they serve.

² Begotten before anything was made: and therefore the everlasting Son of the everlasting Father.

1:16 ¹ He setteth forth the Angels with glorious names, that by the comparison of most excellent spirits we may understand how far passing the excellence of Christ, in whom only we have to content ourselves, and let go all Angels.

or Principalities, or Powers, all things were created by him, and for him.

17 And he is before all things, and in him all things consist.

18 ¹And he is the head of the body of the Church: he is the beginning, ^dand the ²first begotten of the dead, that in all things he might have the preeminence.

19 ^cFor it pleased the Father, that in him should ¹all fullness dwell.

20 ¹And through peace made by that blood of that his cross, to reconcile to himself through him, through him, I say, ²all things, both which are in earth, and which are in heaven.

21 ¹And you which were in times past strangers and enemies, because your minds were set in evil works, hath ²he now also reconciled,

22 In that body of his ¹flesh through death, to make you holy and unblameable, and without fault in his sight.

23 ¹If ye continue, grounded and established in the faith, and be not moved away from the hope of the Gospel, whereof ye have heard, and which hath been preached to ²every creature, which is under heaven, ³whereof I Paul am a minister.

fulfill the ²rest of the afflictions of Christ in my flesh, for his body's sake, which is the Church,

25 ¹Whereof I am a minister, according to the dispensation of God, which is given me unto youward, to fulfill the word of God,

26 ^fWhich is the mystery hid since the world began, and from all ages, but now is made manifest to his ¹Saints,

27 To whom God ¹would make known what is the riches of his glorious mystery among the Gentiles, which riches is Christ in you, the hope of glory,

28 ¹Whom we preach, admonishing every man, and teaching every man in ²all wisdom, that we may present every man perfect in Christ Jesus.

29 Whereunto I also labor and strive, according to his working which worketh in me mightily.

2 ⁴He condemneth, as vain, whatsoever is without Christ, ¹¹entreating specially of circumcision, ¹⁶of abstinence from meats, ¹⁸and of worshipping of Angels. ²⁰That we are delivered from the traditions of the Law through Christ.

1 For I ¹would ye knew what great fighting I have for your sakes, and for them of Laodicea, and for as many as have not seen my ²person in the flesh.

2 ¹That ²their hearts might be comforted, and

1:18 ¹ Having gloriously declared the excellent dignity of the person of Christ, he describeth his office and function, to wit, that he is that same to the Church, that the head is to the body, that is to say, the prince and governor of it, and the very beginning of true life, as who rising first from death, he is the Author of eternal life, so that he is above all, in whom only there is most plentiful abundance of all good things, which is poured out upon the Church.

² Who so rose again that he shall die no more, and who raiseth others from death to life by his power.

1:19 ¹ Most plentiful abundance of all things pertaining to God.

1:20 ¹ Now he teacheth how Christ executed that office which his Father joined him, to wit, by suffering the death of the cross (which was joined with the curse of God) according to his decree, that by this sacrifice he might reconcile his Father all men as well them which believed in him to come, and were already under this hope gathered into heaven, as them which should upon the earth believe in him afterwards. And thus is justification described of the Apostle, which is one and the chiefest part of the benefit of Christ.

² The whole Church.

1:21 ¹ Sanctification is another work of God in us by Christ, in that that he restored us (which hated God extremely, and were wholly and willingly given to sin) to his gracious favor, in such sort, that he therewithall purifieth us with his holy Spirit, and consecrateth us to righteousness.

² The Son.

1:22 ¹ In that fleshly body, to give us to understand that his body was not a fantastical body, but a true body.

1:23 ¹ This second treatise of this part of the Epistle, wherein he exhorteth the Colossians not to suffer themselves by any means to be moved from this doctrine, showing and declaring that there is nowhere any other true Gospel.

² To all men: whereby we learn that the Gospel was not shut up within the corners of Judea alone.

³ He purchased authority to this doctrine by his Apostleship, and taken a most sure proof thereof, of his afflictions which he suffereth for Christ's Name to instruct the Churches with these examples of patience.

1:24 ¹ For your profit and commodity.

² The afflictions of the Church are said to be Christ's afflictions, by reason of that fellowship and knitting together, that the body and the head have the one with the other, not that there is any more need to have the Church redeemed, but that Christ sheweth his power in the daily weakness of his, and that for the comfort of the whole body.

1:25 ¹ He bringeth another proof of his Apostleship, to wit, that God is the author of it, by whom also he was appointed peculiarly Apostle of the Gentiles, to the end that by this means, that same might be fulfilled by him, which the Prophets foretold of the calling of the Gentiles.

1:26 ¹ Whom he chose to sanctify unto himself in Christ: moreover he sayeth that the mystery of our redemption was hidden since the world began, except it were revealed unto a few, who also were taught it extraordinarily.

1:27 ¹ This Paul bridleth the curiosity of men.

1:28 ¹ He protesteth that he doth faithfully execute his Apostleship in every place, bringing men unto Christ only, through the Lord's plentiful blessings of his labors.

² Perfect and sound wisdom, which is perfect in itself, and shall in the end make them perfect that follow it.

2:1 ¹ The taking away of an objection, in that that he visited not the Colossians, nor the Laodiceans, he did it not of any negligence but is so much the more careful for them.

² Me present in body.

2:2 ¹ He concludeth shortly the sum of the former doctrine, to wit, that the whole sum of true wisdom and most secret knowledge of God, consisteth in Christ only, and that this is the use of it touching men, that they being knit together in love, rest themselves happily in the knowledge of so great a goodness, until they come fully to enjoy it.

² Whom he never saw.

they knit together in love, and in all riches of the ³full assurance of understanding, to know the mystery of God, even the Father, and of Christ:

3 In whom are hid all the treasures of ¹wisdom and knowledge.

4 ¹And this I say, lest any man should beguile you with ²enticing words:

5 ⁴For though I be absent in the flesh, yet am I with you in the spirit, rejoicing and beholding your ¹order, and your ²steadfast faith in Christ.

6 As ye have therefore ¹received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk in him.

7 Rooted and built in him, and established in the faith, as ye have been taught, abounding therein with thanksgiving:

8 ¹Beware lest there be any man that ²spoil you through philosophy, and vain deceit, ³through the traditions of men, ⁴according to the ⁵rudiments of the world, ⁶and not after Christ.

9 ¹For ²in him ³dwelleth ⁴all the fullness of the 10 And ye are complete in him, which is the head of all principality and power.

11 ¹In whom also ye are circumcised with ^bcircumcision made without hands, by putting off the ²sinful body of the flesh, through the circumcision of Christ,

12 ¹In that ye are ^cburied with ³him through baptism, ⁴in whom ye are also raised up together through the faith of the operation of ⁵God, which raised him from the dead.

13 ⁴And you which were dead in sins, ²and in the uncircumcision of your flesh, hath he quickened together with him, forgiving you all your trespasses,

14 ¹And putting out the ^chandwriting of ordinances that was against us, which was contrary to us, he even took it out of the way, and fastened it upon the cross,

15 And hath spoiled the ¹Principalities, and Powers, and hath ²made a show of them openly, and hath triumphed over them in the ³same cross.

16 ¹Let no man therefore condemn you in meat

³ Of that understanding, which bringeth forth certain and undoubted persuasion in our minds.

2:3 ¹ There is no true wisdom without Christ.

2:4 ¹ A passing over to the treatise following against the corruptions of Christianity.

² With a framed kind of talk made to persuade.

2:5 ¹ The manner of your Ecclesiastical discipline.

² Doctrine.

2:6 ¹ So then Christ hangeth not upon men's traditions.

2:8 ¹ He bringeth all corruptions to three kinds: The first is that, which resteth of vain and curious speculations, and yet beareth a show of a certain subtle wisdom.

² This is a word of war, and it is as much as to drive or carry away a spoil or booty.

³ The second which is manifestly superstitious and vain, and standeth only upon custom and fained inspirations.

⁴ The third kind was of them which joined the rudiments of the world, (that is to say, the ceremonies of the Law) with the Gospel.

⁵ Principles and rulers, wherewith God ruled his Church, as it were under a schoolmaster.

⁶ A general confutation of all corruptions is this, that that must needs be a false religion, which addeth anything to Christ.

2:9 ¹ A reason: Because only Christ God and man, is most perfect, and passeth far above all things, so that whosoever hath him, may require nothing more.

² By these words, is showed a distinction of the natures.

³ This word (Dwelleth) noteth out unto us the joining together of those natures, so that of God and Man, is one Christ.

⁴ These words set down most perfect Godhead to be in Christ.

⁵ The knitting together of God and man, is substantial and essential.

2:11 ¹ Now he dealeth perfectly against the third kind, that is to say, against them which urged the Jewish religion: and first of all, he denieth that we have need of the Circumcision of the flesh, seeing that without it we are circumcised within, by the virtue of Christ.

² These many words are used to show what the old man is, whom Paul in other places calleth the body of sin.

2:12 ¹ The taking away of an objection: we need not so much as the eternal sign which our fathers had, seeing that our baptism is a most effectual pledge and witness, of that inward restoring and renewing.

² See Rom. 6:4.

³ So then all the force of the matter cometh not from the very deed done, that is to say, it is not the dipping of us into the water by a Minister that maketh us to be buried with Christ, as the Papists say, that even for the very act's sake, we become verily Christians, but it cometh from the virtue of Christ, for the Apostle addeth the resurrection of Christ and faith.

⁴ One end of Baptism is the death and burial of the old man, and that by the mighty power of God only, whose virtue we lay hold on by faith, in the death and resurrection of Christ.

⁵ Through faith which cometh from God.

2:13 ¹ Another end of Baptism is, that we which were dead in sin, might obtain free remission of sins and eternal life through faith in Christ who died for us.

² A new argument which lieth in these few words, and it is thus: Uncircumcision was no hindrance to you, why you being justified in Christ should not obtain life therefore you need not circumcision to the argument of salvation.

2:14 ¹ He speaketh now more generally against the whole service of the Law, and sheweth by two reasons that it is abolished: First, to what purpose should he that hath obtained remission of all his sins in Christ require those helps of the Law? Secondly, because that if a man do rightly consider those rites, he shall find that they were so many testimonies of our guiltiness, whereby we manifestly witnessed as it were by our own handwriting that we deserved damnation. Therefore did Christ put out that handwriting by his coming and fastening it to the cross, triumphed over all our enemies, were they never so mighty. Therefore to what end and purpose should we now use those ceremonies, as though we were still guilty of sin, and subject to the tyranny of our enemies?

² Abolishing the rites and ceremonies.

2:15 ¹ Satan and his angels.

² As a conqueror made by a show of those captives, and put them to shame.

³ The cross was as a chariot of triumph. No conqueror could have triumphed so gloriously in his chariot, as Christ did upon the cross.

2:16 ¹ The conclusion: wherein also he nameth certain kinds, as the difference of days and meats, and proveth by a new argument that we are not bond unto them: to wit, because those things were shadows of Christ to come but we possess him now exhibited unto us.

and drink, or in respect of an holy day, or of the new moon, or of the Sabbath days, 17 Which are but a shadow of things to come: but the ¹body is in Christ.

18 ¹Let no man at his pleasure bear rule over you by ²humbleness of mind, and worshipping of Angels, ³advancing himself in those things which he never saw, ^{4,5}rashly puffed up with his fleshly mind,

19 ¹And holdeth not the ²head, whereof all the body furnished and knit together by joints and bands, increaseth with the increasing of ³God.

20 ¹Wherefore if ye be dead with Christ from the ordinances of the world, why, ²as though ye lived in the world, are ye burdened with traditions?

21 ¹As, Touch not, Taste not, Handle not.

22 ¹Which all perish with the using, ²and are after the commandments and doctrines of men.

23 ¹Which things have indeed a show of ²wisdom, in ³voluntary religion and humbleness of mind, and in ⁴not sparing the body, which are things of no value, since they pertain to the ⁵filling of the flesh.

3 ¹ Against earthly exercises, which the false apostles urged, 2 he setteth heavenly: 5 and beginneth with the mortifying of the flesh, 8 whence he draweth particular exhortations, 18 and particular duties which depend on each man's calling.

1 If ¹ye then ²be ³risen with Christ, ⁴seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth at the right hand of God.

2 Set your affections on things which are above, and not on things which are on the ¹earth.

2:17 ¹ The body as a thing of substance and pith, he setteth against shadows.

2:18 ¹ He disputeth against the first kind of corruptions, and setteth down the worshipping of Angels for an example: which kind of false religion he confuteth, first this way: because that they which being in such a worship, attribute that unto themselves which is proper only to God, to wit, authority to bind men's consciences with religion, although they seem to bring in these things by humbleness of mind.

² By a foolish humbleness of mind: for otherwise humbleness is a virtue. For these Angel worshippers blamed such of pride, as would go straight to God, and use no other under means besides Christ.

³ Secondly, because they rashly thrust upon them for oracles, those things which they neither saw nor heard, but devised of themselves.

⁴ Thirdly, because these things have no other ground, whereupon they are built, but only the opinion of men, which please themselves without all measure in their own duties.

⁵ Without reason.

2:19 ¹ The fourth argument, which is of great weight, because they spoil Christ of his dignity, who only is sufficient both to nourish, and also to increase his whole body.

² Christ.

³ With the increasing which cometh from God.

2:20 ¹ Now last of all he fighteth against the second kind of corruptions, that is to say, against mere superstitions, invented of men, which partly deceive the simplicity of some with their craftiness, and partly with very foolish superstitions, and to be laughed at: as when godliness, remission of sins, or any such like virtue is put in some certain kind of meat and such like things, which the inventors of such rites themselves understand not, because indeed it is not. And he useth an argument taken of comparison. If by the death of Christ who establisheth a new covenant with his blood, you be delivered from those external rites wherewith it pleased the Lord to prepare the world, as it were by certain rudiments to that full knowledge of true religion, why would ye be burdened with traditions, I wrote not what, as though ye were citizens of this world, that is to say, as though ye depended upon this life, and earthly things? Now this is the cause why before verse 8 he followed another order than he doth in the confutation: because he sheweth thereby what degrees false religions came into the world, to wit, beginning first by curious speculations of the wise after which in process of time succeeded gross superstition, against which mischiefs the Lord set at length that service of the Law, which some abused in like sort: but in the confutation he began with the abolishing of the Law service, that he might show by comparison, that those false services ought much more to be taken away.

² As though your felicity stood in these earthly things, and the kingdom of God were not rather spiritual.

2:21 ¹ An imitation in the person of these superstitious men, rightly expressing their nature and use of speech.

2:22 ¹ Another argument: The spiritual and inward kingdom of God cannot consist in these outward things, and such as perish with the using.

² The third argument: Because God is not the author of these traditions, and therefore they do not bind the conscience.

2:23 ¹ The taking away of an objection. These things have a goodly show, because men by this means, seem to worship God with a good mind and humble themselves, and neglect the body, which the most part of men curiously pamper up and cherish: but yet notwithstanding the things themselves are of no value, for so much as they pertain not to things that are spiritual and everlasting, but to the nourishment of the flesh.

² Which seem indeed to be some exquisite thing, and so wise devices as though they came from heaven.

³ Hence sprang the works of supererogation, as the Papists term them, that is to say, needless works, as though men performed more than is commanded them, which was the beginning and the very ground whereon Monks' merits were brought in.

⁴ A lively description of Montery.

⁵ Seeing they stand in meat and drink, wherein the kingdom of God doth not stand.

3:1 ¹ Another part of this Epistle, wherein he taketh occasion by the reason of those vain exercises, to show the duty of a Christian life: which is an ordinary thing with him after he hath once set down the doctrine itself.

² Our renewing or new birth, which is wrought in us by being partakers of the resurrection of Christ, is the fountain of all holiness, out of which sundry arms or rivers do afterwards flow.

³ For if we be partakers of Christ, we are carried as it were into another life, where we shall need neither meat nor drink, for we shall be like unto the Angels.

⁴ The end and mark which all the duties of Christian life shoot at, is to enter into the kingdom of heaven, and to give ourselves to those things which lead us thither, that is to true godliness, and not to those outward and corporal things.

3:2 ¹ So he calleth that show of religion, which he spake of in the former Chapter.

3 ¹For ye are dead, ²and your life is hid with Christ in God.

4 When Christ which is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory.

5 ^{a,1} Mortify therefore your ²members which are on the earth, fornication, uncleanness, the inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness which is idolatry.

6 For the which things' sake the wrath of God ¹cometh on the children of disobedience.

7 Wherein ye also walked once, when ye lived in them.

8 But now put ye away even all these things, wrath, anger, maliciousness, cursed speaking, filthy speaking, out of your mouth.

9 Lie not one to another: ¹seeing that ye have put off the old man with his works,

10 And have put on the new, ¹which is renewed in ²knowledge after the image of him that created him,

11 ¹Where is neither Grecian nor Jew, circumcision nor uncircumcision, Barbarian, Scythian, bond, free: But Christ is all, and in all things.

12 Now therefore as the elect of God, holy and beloved, ¹put on the ²bowels of mercies, kindness, humbleness of mind, meekness, longsuffering:

14 And above all these things put on love, which is the ¹bond of perfectness.

15 And let the peace of God ¹rule in your hearts, to the which ye are called in ²one body, and be ye thankful:

16 Let the word of Christ dwell in you plenteously in all wisdom, teaching and admonishing your own selves, in ¹Psalms, and hymns, and spiritual songs, singing with a grace in your hearts to the Lord,

17 ^bAnd whatsoever ye shall do, in word or deed, do all in the ¹Name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God even the Father by him.

21 ¹Fathers, provoke not your children to anger, lest they be discouraged.

22 ¶ ^{f,1}Servants, be obedient unto them that are your masters according to the flesh, in all things, not with eye service as men pleasers, but in singleness

3:3 ¹ A reason taken of the efficient causes and others: you are dead as touching the flesh, that is, touching the old nature which seeketh after all transitory things, and on the other side, you have begun to live according to the Spirit, therefore give yourselves to spiritual and heavenly, and not to carnal and earthly things.

² The taking away of an objection: while we are yet in this world, we are subject to many miseries of this life, so that the life that is in us, is as it were hidden: yet notwithstanding we have the beginnings of life and glory, the accomplishment whereof which lieth now in Christ's and in God's hand, shall be assuredly and manifestly performed in that glorious coming of the Lord.

3:5 ¹ Let not your dead nature be any more effectual in you, but let your living nature be effectual. Now the force of nature is known by the motions. Therefore let the affections of the flesh die in you, and let the contrary motions which are spiritual, live. And he reckoneth up a great long scroll of vices, and their contrary virtues.

² The motions and lusts that are in us, are in this place very properly called members, because that the reason and will of man corrupted, doth use them as the body doth his members.

3:6 ¹ Useth to come.

3:9 ¹ A definition of our new birth taken of the parts thereof, which are the putting off of the old man, that is to say, of the wickedness which is in us by nature, and the restoring, and repairing of the new man, that is to say, of pureness which is given us by grace: but both of them are but begun in us in this present life, and by certain degrees finished: the one dying in us by little and little, and the other coming to the perfection of another life, by little and little.

3:10 ¹ Newness of life consisteth in knowledge, which transformeth man to the image of God his maker, that is to say, to the sincerity and pureness of the whole soul.

² He speaketh of an effectual knowledge.

3:11 ¹ He telleth them again, that the Gospel doth not respect those external things, but true justification and sanctification in Christ only, which have many fruits, as he reckoneth them up here: But commendeth two things especially, to wit, godly concord, and continual study of God's word.

3:12 ¹ So put on, that you never put off.

² Those most tender affections of exceeding compassion.

3:14 ¹ Which bindeth and knitteth together all the duties that pass from man to man.

3:15 ¹ Rule and govern all things.

² You are joined together into one body through God's goodness, that you might help one another as fellow members.

3:16 ¹ By Psalms he meaneth all godly songs, which were written upon divers occasions, and by hymns, all such as contain the praise of God, and by spiritual songs, other more peculiar and artificial songs which were also in praise of God, but they were made fuller of music.

3:17 ¹ Call upon the name of Christ, when you do it, or, do it to Christ's praise and glory.

3:18 ¹ He goeth from precepts which concern the whole civil life of man, to precepts pertaining to every man's family, and requireth of wives, subjection in the Lord.

² For those wives do not well, that do not set God in Christ before them in their love, but this Philosophy knoweth not.

3:19 ¹ He requireth of husbands, that they love their wives, and use them gently.

3:20 ¹ He requireth of children, that according to God's Commandment they be obedient to their parents.

² In the Lord, and so is it expounded, Eph. 5:19.

3:21 ¹ Of parents, that they be gentle towards their children.

3:22 ¹ Of servants that fearing God himself to whom their obedience is acceptable, they reverently, faithfully, and from the heart, obey their masters.

of heart, fearing God.
23 And whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not to men,
24 Knowing that of the Lord ye shall receive the ¹reward of the inheritance: for ye serve the Lord Christ.
25 ¹But he that doeth wrong, shall receive for the wrong that he hath done: and there is no respect of persons.

4 ² He returneth to general exhortations, ³ touching prayer and gracious speech, ⁷ and so endeth with greetings and commendations.
1 Ye masters, do unto your servants, that which is just and equal, knowing that ye also have a master in heaven.
2 ^{a,1,2}Continue in prayer, and watch in the same with thanksgiving,

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF PAUL TO THE THESSALONIANS

1 ¹ He therefore beginneth with thanksgiving, ⁴ to put them in mind that whatsoever was praiseworthy in them, it came of God's goodness: ⁷ and that they are ensamples unto others.

1 Paul, and Silvanus, and Timothy, unto the Church of the Thessalonians, which is in God the Father, and in the Lord Jesus Christ: Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

2 ¹We give God thanks always for you all, making mention of you in our prayers.

3 ¹Without ceasing, remembering your effectual faith, and diligent love, and the patience of your hope in our Lord Jesus Christ, in the sight of God, even our Father,

4 Knowing, beloved brethren, that ye are ¹elect of God.

5 ¹For our Gospel was not unto you in word only, but also in power, and in the holy Ghost, and in ²much assurance, as ye know after what manner we were among you for your sakes.

6 ¹And ye became followers of us, and of the Lord, and received the word in much affliction, with ²joy of the holy Ghost,

7 So that ye were as ensamples to all that believe in Macedonia and in Achaia.

CHAPTER 2
^a Acts 16:12

8 For from you sounded out the word of the Lord, not in Macedonia and in Achaia only: but your faith also which is toward God, spread abroad in all quarters, that we need not to speak anything.

9 For ¹they themselves show of us what manner of entering in we had unto you, ²and how ye turned to God from idols, to serve the living and true God.

10 And to look for his son from heaven, whom he raised from the dead, even Jesus which delivereth us from ¹that wrath to come.

2 ¹ He declareth how faithfully he preacheth the Gospel unto them, ⁵ seeking neither gain, ⁶ nor praise of men: ¹⁰ and he proveth the same by their own testimony: ¹⁴ that they did courageously bear persecution of their countrymen: ¹⁷ that he desireth very much to see them.

1 For ¹ye yourselves know, brethren, that our entrance in unto you was not in vain,

2 ¹But even after that we had suffered before, and were shamefully entreated at ^aPhilippi, (as ye know) we were bold in ²our God, to speak unto you the Gospel of God, with much striving.

3 ¹For our exhortation was not by deceit, nor ²by uncleanness, nor by guile.

1:2 ¹ An example of a right Christian rejoicing: whereby also we learn, that such as have great gifts in them are in two sorts bridled, to wit, if they consider that they have received all from God, and that continuance must be desired at his hands, whereunto also the whole Epistle exhorteth the Thessalonians.

1:3 ¹ He commendeth them for three special gifts, effectual faith, continual love, and patient hope: to the end they might be ashamed being endued with such excellent gifts, not to continue in God's election.

1:4 ¹ Word for word, that your election is of God.

1:5 ¹ Another reason why they ought in no wise start back but continue to the end, because they cannot doubt of his doctrine which hath been so many ways confirmed unto them, even from heaven as they themselves did well know.

² Paul sheweth by two things, that there followed very great fruits of his preaching, to wit, by these gifts of the holy Ghost, and that certain assurance which was thoroughly settled in their minds, as appeared by their willing bearing of the cross.

1:6 ¹ Another reason: Because even to that day, they embraced the Gospel with great cheerfulness, insomuch that they were an example to all their neighbors: so that it should be more shame for them to faint in the mid-race.

² With joy which cometh from the holy Ghost.

1:9 ¹ All the believers.

² It is no true conversion to forsake idols, unless a man therewithall worship the true and living God in Christ the only redeemer.

1:10 ¹ This word (That) is not put here without cause: and by (wrath) is meant that revenge and punishment, wherewith the Lord will judge the world at length in his terrible wrath.

2:1 ¹ That which he touched before shortly concerning his Apostleship, he handleth now more at large, and to that end and purpose which we spake of.

2:2 ¹ The virtues of a true Pastor are freely, and without fear to preach the Gospel, even in the midst of dangers.

² Through God his gracious help.

2:3 ¹ To teach pure doctrine faithfully and with a pure heart.

² By any wicked and naughty kind of dealing.

4 ¹But as we were ²allowed of God, that the Gospel should be committed unto us, so we speak, not as they that please men, but God, which ³approveth our hearts:

5 Neither yet did we ever use flattering words, as ye know, nor colored covetousness, God is record.

6 ¹Neither sought we praise of men, neither of you, nor of others, when we might have been ²chargeable, as the Apostles of Christ.

7 But we were ¹gentle among you, even as a nurse cherisheth her children.

8 ¹Thus being affectioned toward you, our good will was to have dealt unto you, not the Gospel of God only, but also our own souls, because ye were dear unto us.

9 ¹For ye remember, brethren, ^bour labor and travail: for we labored day and night, because we would not be chargeable unto any of you, and preached unto you the Gospel of God.

10 ¹Ye are witnesses, and God also, how holily, and justly, and unblameably we behaved ourselves among you that believe.

11 ¹As ye know how that we exhorted you, and comforted, and besought every one of you, (as a father his children.)

12 ¹That ye ^cwould walk worthy of God, who hath called you unto his kingdom and glory.

13 ¹For this cause also thank we God without ceasing, that when ye received the word of God, which ye heard of us, ye received it not as the word of men, but as it is indeed the word of God, which also worketh in you that believe.

14 ¹For brethren, ye are become followers of the Churches of God, which in Judea are in ²Christ Jesus, because ye have also suffered the same things of your own ³country men, even as they have of the Jews,

15 ¹Who both killed the Lord Jesus and their own Prophets, and have persecuted us away, ²and God they please not, and are contrary to ³all men,

16 And forbid us to preach unto the Gentiles, that they might be saved, to ¹fulfill their sins always: for the ²wrath of God is come on them to the utmost.

17 ¹Forasmuch, brethren, as we ²were kept from you for a season, concerning sight, but not in the heart, we enforced the more to see your face with great desire.

18 Therefore we would have come unto you (I Paul, at least once or twice) but Satan hindered us.

19 For what is our hope or joy, or crown of rejoicing? are not even you it in the presence of our Lord Jesus Christ at his coming?

20 Yea, ye are our glory and joy.

3 ¹ To show his affection towards them, he sendeth Timothy unto them: ⁶ He is so moved by the report of their prosperous state, ⁹ that he cannot give sufficient thanks, ¹¹ and therefore he breaketh out into prayer.

1 Wherefore since we could no longer forbear, we thought it good to remain at Athens alone,

2:4 ¹ To approve his conscience to God, being free from all flattery and covetousness.

² Seeing there is this difference between the judgments of God and the judgments of men, that when men choose, they respect the qualities of those things which stand before them, but God findeth the reason of his counsel only in himself, it followeth, that seeing we are not able to think a good thought, that whomsoever he first chooseth to those holy callings, he maketh them able, and doth not find them able. And therefore in that we are allowed of God, it hangeth upon his mercy.

³ Which liketh and alloweth them.

2:6 ¹ To submit himself even to the basest, to win them, and to eschew all pride.

² When I might lawfully have lived upon the expenses of the Church.

2:7 ¹ We were not rough, but easy, and gentle, as a nurse that is neither ambitious nor covetous, but taketh all pains as patiently, as if she were a mother.

2:8 ¹ To have the flock that is committed unto him in more estimation than his own life.

2:9 ¹ To depart with his own rights rather than to be chargeable to his sheep.

2:10 ¹ To excel others in example of godly life.

2:11 ¹ To exhort and comfort with a fatherly mind and affection.

2:12 ¹ To exhort all men diligently and earnestly to lead a godly life.

2:13 ¹ Having approved his ministry, he commendeth again (to that end and purpose that I spake of) the cheerfulness of the Thessalonians, which was answerable to his diligence in preaching, and their manly patience.

2:14 ¹ He confirmeth them in their afflictions which they suffered of their own people, because they were afflicted of their own countrymen: which came as well (saith he) to the Churches of the Jews, as to them: and therefore they ought to take it in good part.

² Which Christ hath gathered together.

³ Even of them which are of the same country, and the same town that you are of.

2:15 ¹ He preventeth an offense which might be taken, for that the Jews especially above all others persecuted the Gospel. That is no new thing, sayeth he, seeing they slew Christ himself and his Prophets, and have banished me also.

² He foretelleth the utter destruction of the Jews, lest any man should be moved by their rebellion.

³ For the Jews would neither enter into the kingdom of God themselves, nor suffer others to enter in.

2:16 ¹ Until the wickedness of theirs which they have by inheritance as it were of their fathers, be grown so great that the measure of their iniquity being filled, God may come forth to wrath.

² The judgments of God being angry, which indeed appeared shortly after in the destruction of the city of Jerusalem, whither many resorted even out of divers provinces, when it was besieged.

2:17 ¹ He meeteth with an objection, why he came not to them straightway being in so great misery, I desired oftentimes (saith he) and it lay not in me, but Satan hindered my endeavors, and therefore I sent Timothy my faithful companion unto you, because you are most dear to me.

² Were kept asunder from you, and as it were orphans.

2 ^aAnd have sent Timothy our brother and minister of God, and our labor fellow in the Gospel of Christ, to establish you, and to comfort you touching your faith,

3 That no man should be moved with these afflictions: ¹for ye yourselves know, that we are appointed thereunto.

4 For verily when we were with you, we told you before that we should suffer tribulations, even as it came to pass, and ye know it.

5 Even for this cause, when I could no longer forbear, I sent him that I might know of your faith, lest the tempter had tempted you in any sort, and that our labor had been in vain.

6 ¹But now lately when Timothy came from you unto us, and brought us good tidings of your faith and love, and that ye have good remembrance of us always, desiring to see us, as we also do you,

7 Therefore brethren, we had consolation in you, in all our affliction and necessity through your faith.

8 For now are we ¹alive, if ye stand fast in the Lord.

9 For what thanks can we recompense to God again for you, for all the joy wherewith we rejoice for your sakes before our God,

10 Night and day, ^bpraying exceedingly, that we might see your face, and might ¹accomplish that which is lacking in your faith?

11 Now God himself, even our Father, and our Lord Jesus Christ, guide our journey unto you.

12 ¹And the Lord increase you, and make you abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you:

13 ^cTo make your hearts stable and unblameable in holiness before God even our Father, at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ with all his Saints.

1 John 4:22

4 ¹He exhorteth them ³to holiness, ⁹and brotherly love. ¹³He forbiddeth them to sorrow after to manner of infidels. ¹⁵He setteth out the history of our resurrection.

1 And ¹furthermore we beseech you, brethren, and exhort you in the Lord Jesus, that ye ²increase more and more, as ye have received of us, how ye ought to walk, and to please God.

2 For ye know what commandments we gave you by the Lord Jesus.

3 ^{a,1}For this is the will of God even your ²sanctification, and that ye should abstain from fornication,

4 ¹That everyone of you should know, how to possess his vessel in holiness and honor,

5 ¹And not in the lust of concupiscence, even as the Gentiles which know not God:

6 ^{b,1}That no man oppress or defraud his brother in any matter: for the Lord is avenger of all such things, as we also have told you beforetime, and testified.

7 ^cFor God hath not called us unto uncleanness, but unto holiness.

8 He therefore that ¹despiseth these things, despiseth not man, but God who hath even given you his holy Spirit.

9 ¹But as touching brotherly love, ye need not that I write unto you: ^dfor ye are taught of God to love one another.

10 Yea, and that thing verily ye do unto all the brethren, which are throughout all Macedonia: but we beseech you brethren, that ye increase more and more,

11 ¹And that ye study to be quiet, and to meddle with your own business, ²and to work with your own hands, as we commanded you.

12 That ye may behave yourselves honestly toward them that are without, and that nothing be lacking unto you.

3:3 ¹ The will of God, who calleth his on this condition, to bring them to glory by affliction is a most sure remedy against all affliction.

3:6 ¹ Because they have hitherto gone so well forward, he exhorteth them again to make an end of the rest of the journey, seeing that therein also they shall do him their Apostle a great pleasure.

3:8 ¹ For now you cannot otherwise think me safe and in good case, unless you go forward in religion and faith.

3:10 ¹ Paul was constrained through the importunate dealing of the enemies to leave the building which he had scarce begun: And for that cause he had left Silas and Timothy in Macedonia, and when Timothy came to Athens to him, he sent him back again straightway. So that he desireth to see the Thessalonians, that he may thereby thoroughly accomplish their faith and religion, that was as yet imperfect.

3:12 ¹ Another part of the Epistle, wherein he speaketh of the duties of a Christian life. And he sheweth that the perfection of a Christian life consisteth in two things, to wit, in charity toward all men, and inward purity of the heart, the accomplishment whereof notwithstanding is deferred to the next coming of Christ, who will then perfect his work by the same grace, wherewith he began it in us.

4:1 ¹ Divers exhortations, the ground whereof is this, to be mindful of those things, which they have heard of the Apostle.

² That ye labor to excel more and more, and daily pass yourselves.

4:3 ¹ This is the sum of those things, which he delivered them, to dedicate themselves wholly to God. And he condemneth plainly all filthiness through lust, because it is altogether contrary to the will of God.

² See John 19:17.

4:4 ¹ Another reason, because it defileth the body.

4:5 ¹ The third, because the Saints are discerned from them which know not God, by honesty and purity.

4:6 ¹ Secondly, he reprehendeth all violent oppression and immoderate desire, and sheweth most severely as the Prophet of God, that God will revenge such wickedness.

4:8 ¹ These commandments which I gave you.

4:9 ¹ Thirdly, he requireth a ready mind to all manner of lovingkindness, and exhorteth them to profit more and more in that virtue.

4:11 ¹ He condemneth unquiet brains, and such as are curious in matters which appertain not unto them.

² He rebuketh idleness and slothfulness, which vices whosoever are given unto, fall into other wickedness, to the great offense of the Church.

13 ¶ ¹I would not brethren, have you ignorant ²concerning them ³which are asleep, that ye sorrow not even as others which have no hope.

14 ¹For if we believe that Jesus is dead, and is risen, even so them which sleep in ²Jesus, will God ³bring with him.

15 ¹For this say we unto you by the ²word of the Lord, that ³we which live, and are remaining in the coming of the Lord, shall not prevent them which sleep.

16 For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a ¹shout, and with the voice of the Archangel, and ⁴with the trumpet of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first:

17 Then shall we which live and remain, be ¹caught up with them also in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord.

18 Wherefore, comfort yourselves one another with these words.

5 ¹Condemning the curious searching for the seasons of Christ's coming, ⁶he warneth them to be ready daily to receive him: ¹¹And so giveth them sundry good lessons.

1 But ¹of the times and ²seasons, brethren, ye have no need that I write unto you.

2 For ye yourselves know perfectly, that the day of the Lord shall come, even as a thief in the night.

^c 1 Cor. 15:52

CHAPTER 5

^a Isa. 59:17
^b Eph. 6:17

3 For when they shall say, Peace and safety, then shall come upon them sudden destruction, as the travail upon a woman with child, and they shall not escape.

4 ¹But ye, brethren, are not in darkness, that that day shall come on you, as it were a thief.

5 Ye are all the children of light, and the children of the day: we are not of the night, neither of darkness.

6 Therefore let us not sleep as do others, but let us watch and be sober.

7 For they that sleep, sleep in the night, and they that be drunken, are drunken in the night.

8 ¹But let us which are of the day, be sober, ^aputting on the breastplate of faith and love, and the hope of salvation for an helmet.

9 ¹For God hath not appointed us unto wrath, but to obtain salvation by the means of our Lord Jesus Christ.

10 ¹Which died for us, that whether we wake or sleep, we should live together with him.

11 ¹Wherefore exhort one another, and edify one another, even as ye do.

12 ¹Now we beseech you brethren, that ye ²acknowledge them which labor among you, and are over you in the ³Lord, and admonish you.

13 That ye have them in singular love for ¹their work's sake. ²Be at peace among yourselves.

4:13 ¹ The third part of the Epistle, which is interlaced among the former exhortations (which he returneth unto afterward) wherein he speaketh of mourning for the dead, and the manner of the resurrection, and of the latter day.

² We must take heed that we do not immoderately bewail the dead, that is, as they used to do which think that they are utterly perished.

³ A confirmation: for death is but a sleep of the body (for he speaketh of the faithful) until the Lord cometh.

4:14 ¹ A reason of the confirmation, for seeing that the head is risen, the members also shall rise, and that by the virtue of God.

² They die in Christ, which continue in faith, whereby they are grafted into Christ, even to the last gasp.

³ Will call their bodies out of their graves, and join their souls to them again.

4:15 ¹ The manner of the resurrection shall be thus: The bodies of the dead shall be as it were raised out of sleep, at the sound of the trumpet of God, Christ himself shall descend from heaven. The Saints (for he speaketh properly of them) which shall then be found alive together with the dead which shall rise, shall be taken up into the clouds to meet the Lord, and shall be in perpetual glory with him.

² In the Name of the Lord, as though he himself speaks unto you.

4:16 ¹ The word which the Apostle useth here, signifieth properly that encouragement which mariners use one to another, when they altogether with one shout put forth their oars and row together.

4:17 ¹ Suddenly and in the twinkling of an eye.

5:1 ¹ The day that God hath appointed for his judgment, we know not. But this is sure that it shall come upon men when they look for nothing less.

² See Acts 1:7.

5:4 ¹ Returning to exhortations he warneth us which are lightened with the knowledge of God, that it is our duty not to live securely in deliciousness, lest we be suddenly taken in a dead sleep in pleasures, but contrarywise to have an eye to the Lord, and not suffer ourselves to be oppressed with the cares of this world, for that is meet for the darkness of the night, and this for the light.

5:8 ¹ We must fight with faith and hope, much less ought we lie carelessly snoring.

5:9 ¹ He pricketh us forward by seeing most certain hope of victory before us.

5:10 ¹ The death of Christ is a pledge of our victory, for therefore he died, that we might be partakers of his life or virtue, yea even while we live here.

5:11 ¹ We must not only watch ourselves, but we are also bound to stir up and to confirm one another.

5:12 ¹ We must have great consideration of them which are appointed to the ministry of the word, and government of the Church by God, and do their duty.

² That you acknowledge and take them for such as they are, that is to say, men worthy to be greatly accounted of among you.

³ In those things which pertain to God's service: so is the Ecclesiastical function distinguished from civil authority, and true shepherds from wolves.

5:13 ¹ So then, where this cause ceaseth, there must the honor cease.

² This maintenance of mutual concord, is especially to be looked unto.

14 ¹We desire you, brethren, admonish them that are ²out of order: comfort the feebleminded: bear with the weak: be patient toward all men.

15 ^{b,1}See that none recompense evil for evil unto any man: but ever follow that which is good, both toward yourselves, and toward all men.

16 ¹Rejoice evermore.

17 ¹Pray continually.

18 In all things, give thanks, for this is the ¹will of God in Christ Jesus toward you.

19 ¹Quench not the Spirit.

20 Despise not ¹prophesying.

21 Try all things, and keep that which is good.

22 ¹Abstain from all ²appearance of evil.

23 Now the very God of peace ¹sanctify you throughout: and I pray God that your whole spirit and soul and body, may be kept blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.

24 ^{d,1,2}Faithful is he which calleth you, which will also ³do it.

25 ¹Brethren, pray for us.

26 Greet all the brethren with an holy kiss.

27 I charge you in the Lord, that this Epistle be read unto all the brethren the Saints.

28 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you, Amen.

¶ The first Epistle unto the Thessalonians written from Athens.

5:14 ¹ We must have consideration of every man, and as the disease is, so must the remedy be used.

² That keep not their rank or standing.

5:15 ¹ Charity ought not to be overcome with any injuries.

5:16 ¹ A quiet and appeased mind, is nourisheth with continual prayers, respecting the will of God.

5:18 ¹ An acceptable thing to God and such as he liketh well of.

5:19 ¹ The sparks of the Spirit of God that are kindled in us, are nourished by daily hearing the word of God: but true doctrine must be diligently distinguished from false.

5:20 ¹ The expounding of the word of God.

5:22 ¹ A general conclusion, that we waiting for the coming of Christ, do give ourselves to pureness both in mind, will, and body, through the grace and strength of the Spirit of God.

² Whatsoever hath but the very show of evil, abstain from it.

5:23 ¹ Separate you from the world, and make you holy to himself through his spirit, in Christ in whom only you shall attain unto that true peace.

5:24 ¹ The good will and power of God is a sure confirmation against all difficulties, whereof we have a sure witness in our vocation.

² Always one and ever like himself, who performeth in deed whatsoever he promiseth: and an effectual calling is nothing else but a right declaring and true setting forth of God's will: and therefore the salvation of the elect is safe and sure.

³ Who will also make you perfect.

5:25 ¹ The last part of the Epistle, wherein with most weighty charge, he commendeth both himself and this Epistle unto them.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF PAUL TO THE THESSALONIANS

1 3 He commendeth the increase of faith and charity, 4 and the patience of the Thessalonians: 6 And describing God's vengeance against such as oppress the godly, 10 he teacheth the godly to wait for the last judgment.

1 Paul and Silvanus, and Timothy, unto the Church of the Thessalonians, which is in God our Father, and in the Lord Jesus Christ:

2 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 ^{a,1}We ought to thank God always for you, brethren, as it is meet, because that your faith ²groweth exceedingly, and the love of every one of you toward another, aboundeth,

4 So that we ourselves rejoice of you in the Churches of God, because of your patience and faith in all your persecutions and tribulations that ye suffer.

5 ^{b,1}Which is a manifest token of the righteous judgment of God, that ye may be counted worthy of the kingdom of God, for the which ye also suffer.

6 ¹For it is a righteous thing with God, to recompense tribulation to them that trouble you,

7 And to you which are troubled, rest ¹with us, ^{c,2}when the Lord Jesus shall show himself from heaven with his mighty Angels,

CHAPTER I

^a 1 Thess. 1:2

^b Jude 6

^c 1 Thess. 4:16

8 In flaming fire, rendering vengeance unto them, ¹that do not know God, and which obey not unto the Gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ,

9 Which shall be punished with everlasting perdition from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power,

10 When he shall come to be glorified in his Saints, and to be made marvelous in all them that believe (¹because our testimony toward you was believed) in that day.

11 ¹Wherefore, we also pray always for you, that our God may make you worthy of ²this calling, and fulfill ³all the good pleasure of his goodness, and the ⁴work of faith with power.

12 That the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ may be glorified in you, and ye in him, according to the grace of our God, and of the Lord Jesus Christ.

2 2 He sheweth that the day of the Lord shall not come, till there be a departure from the faith, 3 and that Antichrist be revealed, 8 whose destruction he setteth out, 15 and thereupon exhorteth to constancy.

1 Now ¹we beseech you, brethren, by the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, and by our ²assembling unto him,

1:3 ¹ The first part of the Epistle, wherein he rejoiceth that through the grace of God, they have manfully sustained all the assaults of their enemies, wherein he confirmeth them moreover showing with what gifts they must chiefly fight, to wit, with faith and charity, which must daily increase.

² That whereas it grew us before, it doth also receive some increase every day more and more.

1:5 ¹ He openeth the fountain of all true comfort, to wit, that in afflictions, which we suffer of the wicked for righteousness sake, we may behold as it were in a glass the testimony of that judgment to come, and the end therefore most acceptable to us, and most sharp to his enemies.

1:6 ¹ A proof: God is just, therefore he will worthily punish the unjust, and will do away the miseries of his people.

1:7 ¹ He confirmeth them also by the way, by this means, that the condition both of this present state and the state to come, is common to him with them.

² A most glorious description of the second coming of Christ, to be set against all the miseries of the godly, and the triumphs of the wicked.

1:8 ¹ There is no knowledge of God unto salvation, without the Gospel of Christ.

1:10 ¹ The children of God shall be counted by the faith which they have in the Gospel, which is preached unto them by the Apostles.

1:11 ¹ Seeing that we have the mark set before us, it remaineth that we go unto it. And we go to it, by certain degrees of causes: first by the free love and good pleasure of God, by virtue whereof all other inferior causes work: from thence proceedeth the free calling to Christ, and from calling, faith, whereupon followeth both the glorifying of Christ in us, and us in Christ.

² By (calling) he meaneth not the very act of calling, but that selfsame thing whereunto we are called, which is the glory of that heavenly kingdom.

³ Which he determined long since, only upon his gracious and merciful goodness toward you.

2:1 ¹ The second part of the Epistle, containing an excellent prophecy of the state of the Church, which shall be from the Apostles' times unto the latter day of judgment.

² If we think earnestly upon that immeasurable glory, which we shall be partakers of with Christ, it will be an excellent remedy for us against wavering, and impatience, so that neither the glistering of the world shall allure us, nor the dreadful sight of the cross dismay us.

CHAPTER 2

^a Isa. 11:4

2 ¹That ye be not suddenly moved from your mind, nor troubled neither by ²spirit, nor by ³word, nor by ⁴letter, as it were from us, as though the day of Christ were at hand.

3 Let no man deceive you by any means: ¹for that day shall not come, except there come a departing first, and that ²that man of sin be disclosed, even the son of perdition.

4 Which is an adversary, and ¹exalteth himself against all that is called God, or that is worshipped: ²so that he doth sit as God in the Temple of God, showing himself that he is God.

5 ¹Remember ye not, that when I was yet with you, I told you these things?

6 And now ye know ¹what withholdeth, that he might be revealed in his time.

7 ¹For the mystery of iniquity doth already work: ²only he which now ³withholdeth, shall let till he be taken out of the way.

8 ¹And then shall ²that wicked man be revealed, “whom the Lord shall ³consume with the ⁴Spirit of his mouth, and shall abolish with the brightness of his coming,

9 “Even him whose coming is by the effectual working of Satan, with all power, and signs, and ²lying wonders,

10 And in all deceivableness of unrighteousness, among them that perish, because they received not the love of the truth, that they might be saved.

11 And therefore God shall send them ¹strong delusion, that they should believe lies,

12 That all they might be damned which believed not the truth, but ¹had pleasure in unrighteousness.

13 ¹But we ought to give thanks always to God for you, brethren beloved of the Lord, because that God hath from the beginning chosen you to salvation, through ²sanctification of the Spirit, and the ³faith of truth,

14 Whereunto he called you by our ¹Gospel, to obtain the glory of our Lord Jesus Christ.

15 ¹Therefore, brethren, stand fast and keep the instructions, which ye have been taught, either by word, or by our Epistle.

16 Now the same Jesus Christ our Lord, and our God, even the Father, which hath loved us, and hath given us everlasting consolation and good hope through grace, 17 Comfort your hearts, and stablish you in every word and good work.

3 ¹He desireth them to further the preaching of the Gospel with their prayers, ⁶and to withdraw themselves

2:2 ¹We must take heed of false prophets, especially in this matter, which go about to deceive, and that for the most part, after three sorts: for either they brag of fained prophetic revelations, or they bring conjectures and reasons of their own, or use counterfeit writings.

² By dreams and fables, which men pretend to be spiritual revelations.

³ Either by word of mouth, or by books written.

⁴ Either by forged letters, or falsely glossed upon.

2:3 ¹The Apostle foretelleth that before the coming of the Lord, there shall be a throne set up clean contrary to Christ's glory, wherein that wicked man shall sit, and transfer all things that appertain to God, to himself, and many shall fall away from God to him.

² By speaking of one, he pointed out the body of the tyrannous and persecuting Church.

2:4 ¹All men know who he is that saith he can shut up heaven and open it at his pleasure, and took upon him to be Lord and master above all Kings and Princes, before whom Kings and Princes fall down and worship, honoring that Antichrist as a god.

² He foretelleth that Antichrist, (that is, whosoever he be that shall occupy that seat that falleth away from God) shall not reign without the Church, but in the very bosom of the Church.

2:5 ¹This prophecy was continually declared to the Ancient Church, but it was neglected of them that followed.

2:6 ¹What hindereth and stayeth.

2:7 ¹Even in the Apostles' time the first foundations of the Apostolic seat were laid, but yet so, that they deceived men.

² He foretelleth that when the empire of Rome is taken away, the seat that falleth away from God shall succeed and shall hold his place, as the old writers, Tertullian, Chrysostomes and Jerome do expound it.

³ He which is now in authority and ruleth all, to wit, the Roman Empire.

2:8 ¹That wickedness shall at length be detected by the word of the Lord, and utterly be abolished by Christ's coming.

² Word for word, that lawless fellow: that is to say, he that shall tread God's law clean underfoot.

³ Bring to nought.

⁴ With his word: for the true Ministers of the word are as a mouth, whereby the Lord breatheth out that mighty and everlasting word, which shall break his enemies in sunder, as it were an iron rod.

2:9 ¹He foretelleth that Satan will bestow all his might and power, and use all false miracles that he can to establish that seat, and that with great success, because the wickedness of the world doeth so deserve it: yet so, that only the unfaithful shall perish through his deceit.

² Which are partly false, and partly wrought to establish a falsehood.

2:11 ¹A most mighty working to deceive them.

2:12 ¹They liked lies so well, that they had pleasure in them which is the greatest madness that may be.

2:13 ¹The elect shall stand steadfast and safe from all these mischiefs. Now election is known by these testimonies: Faith is gathered by sanctification: faith, by that that we accord unto the truth: truth by calling through the preaching of the Gospel: from whence we come at length to a certain hope of glorification.

² To sanctify you.

³ Faith which layeth hold not upon lies, but upon the truth of God, which is the Gospel.

2:14 ¹By our preaching.

2:15 ¹The conclusion remaineth then, that we continue in the doctrine which was delivered unto us by the mouth and writings of the Apostles, through the free good will of God, which comforteth us with an invincible hope, and also in all godliness our whole life long.

from those, who through idleness, ¹¹ and curiosity pervert good order: ¹⁴ Whom he excludeth from the company of the faithful.

1 Furthermore, ¹brethren, ^apray for us, that the word of the Lord may have free passage and be glorified, even as it is with you.

2 And that we may be delivered from ¹unreasonable and evil men: ²for all men have not faith.

3 But the Lord is faithful, which will stablish you, and keep you from ¹evil.

4 ¹And we are persuaded of you through the Lord, that ye both do, and will do the things which we warn you of.

5 ¹And the Lord guide your hearts to the love of God, and the waiting for of Christ.

6 ¹We warn you, brethren, in the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye withdraw yourselves from every brother that walked inordinately, and not after the instruction, which he received of us.

7 ¹For ye yourselves know, ^bhow ye ought to follow us: ^cfor we behaved not ourselves inordinately among you,

8 Neither took we bread of any man for nought: but we wrought with labor and travail night and day, because we would not be chargeable to any of you.

9 Not because we have not authority, but that

CHAPTER 3

^a Eph. 6:19
Col. 4:3
^b 1 Cor. 11:1
^c 1 Thess. 4:11

we might make ourselves an ensample unto you to follow us.

10 For even when we were with you, this we warned you of, that if there were any, which would not work, that he should not ¹eat.

11 For we hear, that there are some which walk among ¹you inordinately, and work not at all, ²but are busybodies.

12 ¹Therefore them that are such, we warn and exhort by our Lord Jesus Christ, that they work with quietness, and eat their own bread.

13 ¹And ye, brethren, be not weary in well doing.

14 ¹If any man obey not this our saying in this letter, note him, and have no ²company with him, ³that he may be ashamed.

15 ¹Yet count him not as an enemy, but admonish him as a brother.

16 ¹Now the Lord himself of peace give you peace always by all means. The Lord be with you all.

17 ¹The salutation of me Paul, with mine own hand, which is the token in every Epistle: so I write,

18 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all, Amen.

¶ The second Epistle to the Thessalonians,
written from Athens.

3:1 ¹ He addeth now consequently according to his manner, divers admonitions: The first of them is, that they make prayers for the increase and free passage of the Gospel, and for the safety of the faithful ministers of the same.

3:2 ¹ Which have no care of their duty.

² It is no marvel that the Gospel is hated of so many, seeing that faith is a rare gift of God. Notwithstanding, the Church shall never be destroyed by the multitude of the wicked, because it is grounded and stayed upon the faithful promise of God.

3:3 ¹ From Satan's snares, or from evil.

3:4 ¹ The second admonition is, that they follow always the doctrine of the Apostles as a rule for their life.

3:5 ¹ Thirdly, he diligently and earnestly admonisheth them of two things which are given us by the only grace of God, to wit, of charity, and a watchful mind to the coming of Christ.

3:6 ¹ Fourthly, he saith, that idle and lazy persons ought not to be relieved of the Church, nay, that they are not to be suffered.

3:7 ¹ Lest he might seem to deal harshly with them, he setteth forth himself as an example, who besides his travail in preaching labored with his hands, which he saith he was not simply bound to do.

3:10 ¹ What shall we do then with those idle bellied Monks, and sacrificing Priests? A Monk (saith Socrates, book 8, of his Tripartite history) which worketh not with hands, is like a thief.

3:11 ¹ How great a fault idleness is, he declareth by that that God created no man in vain or to no purpose, neither is there any unto whom he hath not allotted as it were a certain standing and room. Whereupon it followeth, that the order which God hath appointed, is troubled by the idle, yea, broken, which is great sin and wickedness.

² He reprehendeth a vice which is joined with the former, whereupon follow an infinite sort of mischiefs: to wit, that there are none more busy in other men's matters than they which neglect their own.

3:12 ¹ The Lord commandeth, and the Apostles pray in the name of Christ, first that no men be idle, and next, that every man do quietly and carefully see to do his duty in that office and calling wherein the Lord hath placed him.

3:13 ¹ We must take heed that some men's unworthiness cause us not to be slacker in well doing.

3:14 ¹ Excommunication is a punishment for the obstinate.

² We must have no familiarity nor fellowship with the excommunicate.

³ The end of the excommunication is not the destruction, but the salvation of the sinner, that at least through shame he may be driven in repentance.

3:15 ¹ We must so eschew familiarity with the excommunicate, that we diligently seek all occasions and means that may be to bring them again into the right way.

3:16 ¹ Prayers are the seals of all exhortations.

3:17 ¹ The Apostle subscribeth his letters with his own hand, that false letters might not be brought and put in place of true.

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF PAUL TO TIMOTHY

1 Setting forth a perfect pattern of a true Pastor, whose office especially consisteth in teaching, 4 he warneth him that vain questions set apart, he teach those things, 5 which further charity and faith: 12 and that his authority be not condemned, 14 he sheweth what an one he is made through the grace of God.

1 Paul ¹an Apostle of Jesus Christ, by the ²commandment of God our Savior, and of our Lord Jesus Christ our hope,

2 Unto Timothy my natural son in the faith: Grace, ¹mercy, and peace from God our Father, and from Christ Jesus our Lord.

3 ¹As I besought thee to abide still in Ephesus, when I departed into Macedonia, so do, that thou mayest warn some, that they teach none other doctrine,

4 ¹Neither that they give heed to fables and ²genealogies which are endless, which breed questions rather than godly edifying which is by faith.

5 ^{a.1} For the end of the ²commandment is ³love out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned.

CHAPTER 1

^a Rom. 13:10

6 ¹From the which things some have erred, and have turned unto vain jangling.

7 ¹They would be doctors of the Law, and yet understand not what they speak, neither whereof they affirm.

8 ¹And we know, that the Law is good, if a man use it lawfully.

9 ¹Knowing this, that the Law is not given unto a ²righteous man, but unto the lawless and disobedient, to the ungodly, and to ³sinners, to the unholy, and to the profane, to murderers of fathers and mothers, to manslayers,

10 To whoremongers, to buggerers, to menstealers, to liars, to the perjured, and if there be any other thing that is contrary to wholesome doctrine,

11 ¹*Which is* according to the glorious Gospel of the blessed God, ²which is committed unto me.

12 ¹Therefore I thank him which hath made me ²strong, that is, Christ Jesus our Lord: for he counted me faithful, and put me in his service:

1:1 ¹ First of all, he avoucheth his own free vocation, and also Timothy's, that the one might be confirmed by the other: and therewithal he declareth the sum of the Apostolical doctrine, to wit, the mercy of God in Christ Jesus apprehended by faith, the end whereof is yet hoped for.

² Or, ordinance.

1:2 ¹ There is as much difference betwixt mercy and grace, as is betwixt the effect, and the cause: For grace is that free good will of God, whereby he chose us in Christ, and mercy is that free justification which followeth it.

1:3 ¹ This whole Epistle consisteth in admonitions, wherein all the duties of a faithful Pastor are lively set out. And the first admonition is this, that no innovation be made either in the Apostle's doctrine itself, or in the manner of teaching it.

1:4 ¹ The doctrine is corrupted not only by false opinions, but also by vain and curious speculations: the declaration and utterance whereof can nothing help our faith.

² He noteth out one kind of vain question.

1:5 ¹ The second admonition is, that the right use and practice of the doctrine must be joined with the doctrine. And that consisteth in pure charity, and a good conscience, and true faith.

² Of the Law.

³ There is neither love without a good conscience, nor a good conscience without faith, nor faith without the word of God.

1:6 ¹ That which he spake before generally of vain and curious controversies, he applieth to them, which pretending a zeal of the Law, dwelled upon outward things, and never made an end of babbling of foolish trifles.

1:7 ¹ There are none more unlearned, and more impudent in usurping the name of holiness, than foolish sophistical babblers.

1:8 ¹ The taking away of an objection. He condemneth not the Law, but requireth the right use and practice of it.

1:9 ¹ He indeed escapeth the curse of the Law, and therefore doth not abhor it, who fleeing and eschewing those things which the Law condemneth, giveth himself with all his heart to observe it: and not he that maketh a vain babbling of outward and curious matters.

² And such a one is he, whom the Lord hath endued with true doctrine, and with the holy Ghost.

³ To such as make an art as it were of sinning.

1:11 ¹ He setteth against fond and vain babbling, not only the Law, but the Gospel also, which condemneth not, but greatly commendeth the wholesome doctrine contained in the commandments of God, and therefore he calleth it a glorious Gospel, and the Gospel of the blessed God, the virtue whereof these babblers knew not.

² A reason why neither any other Gospel is to be taught than he hath taught in the Church, neither after any other sort, because there is no other Gospel besides that which God committed to him.

1:12 ¹ He maintaineth of necessity his Apostleship against some that did carp at his former life, debasing himself, even to hell, to advance Christ's only mercy, wherewith he abolished all those his former doings.

² Which gave me strength, not only when I had no will to do well, but also when I was wholly given to evil.

13 When before I was a ¹blasphemer, and a persecutor, and an oppressor: but I was received to mercy: for I did it ignorantly through unbelief.

14 But the grace of our Lord was exceeding abundant ¹with faith and love, which is in Christ Jesus.

15 ¹This is a ²true saying, and by all means worthy to be received, that ^bChrist Jesus came into the world to save sinners, of whom I am chief.

16 Notwithstanding for this cause was I received to mercy, that Jesus Christ should first show on me all long suffering unto the ensample of them, which shall in time to come believe in him unto eternal life.

17 ¹Now unto the king everlasting, immortal, invisible, unto God ²only wise, be honor, and glory, for ever, and ever, Amen.

18 ¹This commandment commit I unto thee, son Timothy, according to the prophecies, which went before upon thee, that thou ²by them shouldest fight a good fight, 19 Having ¹faith and a good conscience, ²which some have put away, and as concerning faith, have made shipwreck.

20 Of whom is Hymenaeus, and Alexander, ^{c1}whom I have ²delivered unto Satan, that they might ³learn not to blaspheme.

2 He exhorteth them to make public prayers for all men, 4, 5 and that for two causes, 8 and therefore he willeth all men in all places to pray, 9 and declareth in what apparel, 11 and with what modesty, women ought to behave themselves in holy assemblies.

1 ¹Exhort therefore, that first of all supplications, prayers, intercessions, and giving of thanks be made for all men,

2 For Kings, and for all that are in authority, ¹that we may lead a quiet and a peaceable life, in all godliness, and ²honesty.

3 For this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Savior.

4 ¹Who will that all men shall be saved, and come unto the acknowledging of the truth.

5 ¹For there is one God, and one Mediator between God and man, which is the ²man Christ Jesus,

6 Who gave himself a ransom for all men, ¹to be that testimony in due time,

7 ^aWhereunto I am ordained a preacher and an Apostle (I speak the truth in Christ, and lie not) even a teacher of the Gentiles in ¹faith and verity.

8 ¹I will therefore that the men pray, everywhere

1:13 ¹ These are the preparative works which Paul braggeth of.

1:14 ¹ He proveth this change by the effects, for that, that he that was a profane man, is become a believer: and he that did most outrageously persecute Christ, burneth now in love towards him.

1:15 ¹ He turneth the reproach of the adversaries upon their own head, showing that this singular example of the goodness of God, redoundeth to the commodity of the whole Church.

² Worthy to be believed.

1:17 ¹ He breaketh out into an exclamation, even for very zeal of mind, for that he cannot satisfy himself in amplifying the grace of God.

² See John 17:3.

1:18 ¹ The conclusion of both the former fatherly admonitions, to wit, that Timothy striving manfully against all lets, being called to the ministry according to many prophecies which went before of him, should both maintain the doctrine which he had received, and keep also a good conscience.

² By the help of them.

1:19 ¹ Wholesome and sound doctrine.

² Whosoever keep not a good conscience, do lose also by little and little the gift of understanding: which he proveth by two most lamentable examples.

1:20 ¹ Such as fall from God, and his religion, are not to be suffered in the Church, but rather ought to be excommunicated.

² Cast out of the Church, and so delivered them to Satan.

³ That by their smart they might learn what it is to blaspheme.

2:1 ¹ Having dispatched those things which pertain to doctrine, he speaketh now in the second place of the other part of the ministry of the word, to wit, of public prayers. And first of all declaring this question, for whom we ought to pray: he teacheth that we must pray for all men, and especially for all manner of magistrates, which thing was at that time somewhat doubted of, seeing that kings, yea and the most part of magistrates were at that time enemies of the Church.

2:2 ¹ An argument taken of the end: to wit, because that magistrates are appointed to this end, that men might peaceably and quietly live in all godliness and honesty, and therefore must we commend them especially to God, that they may faithfully execute so necessary an office.

² This word containeth all kind of duty, which is to be used amongst men in all their affairs.

2:3 ¹ Another argument, why Churches or Congregations ought to pray for all men, without any difference of nation, kind, age, or order: to wit, because the Lord by calling of all sorts, yea, sometimes those that are greatest enemies to the Gospel, will have his Church gathered together after this sort, and therefore prayers to be made for all.

2:5 ¹ God would not else be manifested to be the only God of all men, unless he would show his goodness in saving of all sorts of men: neither should Christ be seen to be the only mediator between God and all sorts of men, by having taken upon him that nature of man which is common to all men, unless he had satisfied for all sorts of men, and made intercession for all.

² Christ Jesus which was made man.

2:6 ¹ A confirmation, because that even to the Gentiles in the secret of salvation now opened and made manifest the Apostle himself being appointed properly to this office, which he doth faithfully and sincerely execute.

2:7 ¹ Faithfully and sincerely: and by faith he meaneth wholesome and sound doctrine, and by truth, an upright and sincere handling of it.

2:8 ¹ He hath spoken of the persons for whom we must pray: and now he teacheth that the difference of places is taken away: for in times past, one only nation, and in one certain place, came together to public service: but now Churches or Congregations are gathered together everywhere (orderly and decently) and men come together to serve God publicly with common prayer, neither must we strive for the nation or for the purification of the body, or for the place, but for the mind, to have it clean from all offense, and full of sure trust and confidence.

²lifting up pure hands without ³wrath, or ⁴doubting.

9 ^{b,1}Likewise also the women, that they array themselves in comely apparel, with shamefastness and modesty, not with braided hair, or gold, or pearls, or costly apparel,

10 But (as becometh women that profess the fear of God) with good works.

11 Let the woman learn in silence with all subjection.

12 ¹I permit not a woman to teach, ¹neither to usurp authority over the man, but to be in silence.

13 ¹For ^dAdam was first formed, then Eve.

14 ^{c,1}And Adam was not ²deceived, but the woman was deceived, and was in the transgression.

15 ¹Notwithstanding, through bearing of children she shall be saved, if they continue in faith, and love, and holiness with modesty.

3 ²He setteth out Bishops, ⁸and Christian deacons with their wives, ¹²children and family, ¹⁵he calleth the Church the house of God.

1 This ¹is a true saying, ²If any man ³desire the office of a Bishop, he desireth a worthy work.

2 ^aA Bishop therefore must be unreprieveable, the husband of one ¹wife, watching, temperate, modest, harborous, apt to teach,

3 Not ¹given to wine, no striker, not given to filthy lucre, but gentle, no fighter, not covetous.

^b 1 Tim. 1:19

4 One that can rule his own house honestly, having children under obedience with all honesty.

5 For if any cannot rule his own house, how shall he care for the Church of God?

6 He may not be a young scholar, lest he being puffed up fall into the ¹condemnation of the devil.

7 He must also be well reported of, even of them which are without, lest he fall into rebuke, and the snare of the devil.

8 ¹Likewise must ²Deacons be grave, not double tongued, not given unto much wine, neither to filthy lucre, 9 ^bHaving the ¹mystery of the faith in pure conscience.

10 And let them first be proved, then let them minister, if they be found blameless.

11 ¹Likewise their wives must be honest, not evil speakers, but sober, and faithful in all things.

12 ¹Let the Deacons be the husbands of one wife, and such as can rule their children well, and their own households.

13 For they that have ministered well, get themselves a good ¹decree, and ²great liberty in the faith, which is in Christ Jesus.

14 ¹These things write I unto thee, trusting to come very shortly unto thee.

15 But if I tarry long, that thou mayest yet know, how thou oughtest to behave thyself in the ¹house

² He putteth the sign for the thing itself, the lifting up of hands, for the calling upon God.

³ Without these griefs and offenses of the mind, which hinder us from calling upon God with a good conscience.

⁴ Doubting which is against faith, James 1:6.

2:9 ¹ Thirdly he appointeth women to learn in the public assemblies with silence and modesty, being comely appareled without any riot or excess in their apparel.

2:12 ¹ The first argument, why it is not lawful for women to teach in the Congregation, because by this means they should be placed above men, for they should be their masters: which is against God's ordinance.

2:13 ¹ He proveth this ordinance of God, whereby the woman is subject to man, first by that, that God made the woman after man, for man's sake.

2:14 ¹ Then because that after sin God enjoined the woman this punishment, for that the man was deceived by her.

² Adam was deceived, but through his wife's means, and therefore she is worthily for this cause subject to her husband, and ought to be.

2:15 ¹ He addeth a comfort by the way, that their subjection hindereth not but that women may be saved as well as men, if they behave themselves in those burdens of marriage holily and modestly, with faith and charity.

3:1 ¹ Having dispatched the treatise, as well of doctrine and of the manner of handling of it, as also of public prayer, he now in the third place cometh to the persons themselves, speaking first of Pastors and afterward of Deacons, and he useth a preface, that the Church may know that these be certain and sure rulers.

² A Bishopric or the ministry of the word is not an idle dignity, but a work and that an excellent work: and therefore a Bishop must be furnished with many virtues both at home and abroad. Wherefore it be requisite before he be chosen, to examine well his learning, his gifts, and ableness, and his life.

³ He speaketh not here of ambitious seeking, than the which there cannot be a worse fault in the Church, but general of the mind, and disposition of man, framed and disposed to help and edify the Church of God, when and wheresoever it shall please the Lord.

3:2 ¹ Therefore he that shutteth out married men from the office of Bishops, only because they are married, is Antichrist.

3:3 ¹ A common tippler, and one that will sit by it.

3:6 ¹ Lest by reason that he is advanced to that degree, he take occasion to be proud, which will undo him, and so he fall into the same condemnation that the devil himself is fallen into.

3:8 ¹ Likewise the Deacons must first be proved that there may be a good trial of their honesty, truth, sobriety, mind, void of covetousness, that they are well instructed in the doctrine of faith, and to be short, of their good conscience and integrity.

² These are they that had to see to the poor.

3:9 ¹ The doctrine of the Gospel, which is a mystery indeed: for flesh and blood do not reveal it.

3:11 ¹ Regard must be had also to the Pastors' and Deacons' wives.

3:12 ¹ They that have more wives than one at one time, must neither be called to be ministers, nor to be Deacons.

3:13 ¹ Honor and estimation.

² Bold and assured confidence without fear.

3:14 ¹ Paul purposing to add many peculiar things pertaining to the daily office of a Pastor, speaketh first a word or two concerning his coming to Timothy, that he would be so much the more careful, lest at his coming he might be reproved of negligence.

3:15 ¹ The Pastor hath always to think, how that he is occupied in the house of the living God, wherein the treasure of the truth is kept.

of God, which is the Church of the living God, the ²pillar and ground of truth.

16 ¹And without controversy, great is the mystery of godliness, which is, God is manifested in the flesh, ²justified in the Spirit, seen of Angels, preached unto the Gentiles, believed on in the world, and received up in glory.

4 ¹He condemneth as well false doctrine, ³of marriage and the choice of meats, ⁷as also profane fables: ⁸and commendeth the godly exercise, ¹³and the daily reading of the Scriptures.

1 Now ¹the Spirit speaketh evidently, that in the latter times some shall depart from the ²faith, and shall give heed unto spirits of error, and doctrines of devils,

2 ¹Which speak lies through ²hypocrisy, and have their ³consciences burned with an hot iron,

3 ¹Forbidding to marry, and commanding to abstain from meats ²which God hath created ³to be received ⁴with giving thanks of them which believe and know the truth.

4 ¹For every creature of God is good, and nothing ought to be refused, if it be received with thanksgiving.

5 ¹For it is ²sanctified by the ³word of God, and prayer.

6 ¹If thou put the brethren in remembrance of these things, thou shalt be a good minister of Jesus Christ, which hath been nourished up in the words of faith, and of good doctrine which thou hast continually ²followed.

7 ¹But cast away profane, and old wives' fables, ²and exercise thyself unto ³godliness.

8 ¹For bodily exercise profiteth little: but godliness is profitable unto all things, which hath the promise of the life present, and of that that is to come.

9 ¹This is a true saying, and by all means worthy to be received.

10 For therefore we labor and are rebuked, because we trust in the living God, which is the Savior of all men, specially of those that believe.

11 These things warn and teach.

3:15 ² To wit, in respect of men: for the Church resteth upon that cornerstone, Christ, and is the preserver of the truth, but not the mother.

3:16 ¹ There is nothing more excellent than this truth, whereof the Church is the keeper and preserver here amongst men, the ministry of the word being appointed to that end and purpose: for it teacheth us the greatest matters that may be thought of, to wit, that God is become visible in the person of Christ by taking our nature upon him, whose Majesty notwithstanding in so great weakness was manifested many ways, insomuch that the sight of it pierced the very Angels: and to conclude, he being preached unto the Gentiles was received of them, and is now placed above in glory unspeakable.

² The power of the Godhead sheweth itself so marvelously in that weak flesh of Christ, that though he were a weak man, yet all the world knoweth he was, and is God.

4:1 ¹ He setteth against that true doctrine, false opinions, which he foretellet that certain which shall fall away from God and his religion, shall bring in by the suggestion of Satan, and so that a great number shall give ear to them.

² From the true doctrine of God.

4:2 ¹ Although heretics counterfeit holiness never so much, yet they have no conscience.

² For they will as it were practice the art of disguised persons and players, that we may not think they will lie lurking in some one corner, or keep any resemblance of shamefastness.

³ Whose conscience waxed so hard, that there grew an hard fleshiness over it, and so became to have a canker on it, and now at length required of very necessity to be burned with an hot iron.

4:3 ¹ He setteth down two kinds of this false doctrine, to wit, the Law of sole life, and difference of meats.

² He proveth that he justly called such doctrines devilish, first, because the teachers of them make laws of things which are not their own: for have they created the meats?

³ Secondly, because they overthrow with their decrees, the end wherefore they were created of God, to wit, that we should use them.

⁴ Thirdly, for that by this means they rob God of his glory, who will be honored in the use of them. And herewithal the Apostle declar-eth that we must use the liberality of God soberly, and with a good conscience.

4:4 ¹ He setteth an Apostolical rule, for taking away the difference of meats, against that false doctrine.

4:5 ¹ He useth God's benefits rightly, which acknowledge the giver of them by his word, and calleth upon him.

² It is so made pure and holy in respect of us, so that we may use it with a good conscience, as received at the Lord's hand.

³ We confess and acknowledge that God is the maker and giver of those creatures which we use. Secondly, that we are of the number of those, who through Christ's benefit have recovered that right over all creatures, which Adam lost by his fall. Thirdly, by our prayers we crave of the Lord, that we may use those meats with a good conscience, which we receive at his hands. Fourthly, we make an end of our eating and drinking, with thanksgiving and prayer: and so are our meats sanctified to us.

4:6 ¹ The conclusion with an exhortation to Timothy, to propound these things diligently to the Churches, which he had sucked of the Apostle, even in a manner from the teat.

² Never departing from the side of it.

4:7 ¹ He setteth again true doctrine not only against that false and apostatical doctrine, but also against all vain and curious subtleties.

² It is not only requisite that the minister of the word be sound in doctrine, but also that his life be godly and religious.

³ In the true serving of God.

4:8 ¹ Godliness consisteth in spiritual exercise, and not in outward austereness of life, which though it be something to be accounteth of, if it be rightly used, yet is it in no wise comparable with godliness: For it profiteth not of itself, but through the benefit of another, but this hath the promise both of the life present, and of that that is to come.

4:9 ¹ He goeth a little from his matter, and sheweth that they which give themselves to godliness, although they are afflicted and reproached, are notwithstanding not to be counted miserable as other men are, because they are not afflicted for that cause that other men are, and the end of them both is far different one from the other. For how can God forsake his, which is bountiful even towards his enemies? And he willet that this doctrine be well beaten into their heads.

12 ¹Let no man despise thy youth, but be unto them that believe, an ensample, in word, in conversation, in love, in spirit, in faith and in pureness.

13 ¹Till I come, give attendance to reading, to exhortation, and to doctrine.

14 Despise not the gift that is in thee, which was given thee by prophecy with the laying on of the hands of the company of the Eldership.

15 These things exercise, and give thyself unto them, that it may be seen how thou profitest among all men.

16 Take heed unto thyself, and unto learning: continue therein: for in doing this thou shalt both ¹save thyself, and them that hear thee.

5 ¹ Having set down a manner how to rebuke all degrees. ⁵ He entreateth of widows, who then were chosen for the service of the Church: ¹⁷ Then he cometh to Elders, ²³ and speaketh somewhat touching the health of the body.

1 Rebuke ¹not an elder, but exhort him as a father, and the younger men as brethren,

2 The elder women as mothers, the younger as sisters, with all pureness.

3 ^{1,2}Honor widows, which are widows indeed.

4 ¹But if any widow have children or nephews let them learn first to show godliness ²toward their own house, and ³to recompense their kindred: ⁴for that is an honest thing, and acceptable before God.

5 ¹And she that is a widow indeed and left alone, trusteth in God, and continueth in supplications and prayers night and day.

6 ¹But she that liveth in pleasure, is dead, while she liveth.

7 These things therefore warn them of, that they may be blameless.

8 If there be any that provideth not for his own, and namely for them of his household, he denieth the faith, and is worse than an infidel.

9 ¹Let not a widow be taken into the number under threescore years old, that hath been the wife of ²one husband.

10 And well reported of for good works: if she have nourished her children, if she have lodged the strangers, if she have ¹washed the Saints' feet, if she have ministered unto them which were in adversity, if she were continually given unto every good work.

11 ¹But ²refuse the younger widows: for when they have begun to wax wanton against Christ, they will marry.

12 Having damnation, because they have broken the first faith.

13 ¹And likewise also being idle they learn to go about from house to house: yea they are not only idle, but also prattlers and busybodies, speaking things which are not comely.

14 ¹I will therefore that the younger women marry, and bear children, and govern the house, and give none occasion to the adversary to speak evil.

15 For certain are already turned back after Satan.

16 ¹If any faithful man or faithful woman have widows, let them minister unto them, and let not the Church be charged, that there may be sufficient for them that are widows indeed.

4:12 ¹ Now he returneth to that exhortation, showing which are the virtues of a Pastor, whereby he may come to be revered, although he be but young, to wit, such speech and life as are witnesses of charity, zeal, faith, and purity, but here is no mention made of the crosier staff, ring, cloak, and such other foolish and childish toys.

4:13 ¹ The private exercise of Pastors, is continual reading of the Scriptures, whence out they may draw matter of wholesome doctrine and exhortation, both to themselves and to others.

4:16 ¹ Faith is by hearing, and hearing by preaching: and therefore the ministers of the word are so said to save themselves and others, for that in them the Lord hath put the word of reconciliation.

5:1 ¹ Of keeping measure in private reprehensions according to the degrees of ages and kinds.

5:3 ¹ The Apostle giveth these rules touching the care of widows.

² Have care of those widows which have need of help.

5:4 ¹ Widows' children and nephews must take care for their parents, according to their ability.

² The first reason, because that, that which they bestow upon theirs, they bestow it upon themselves.

³ Another, because nature itself teacheth us to recompense our parents.

⁴ The third: because this dutifulness pleaseth God.

5:5 ¹ The second rule: Let the church have care of such as are widows indeed, that is to say, such as are poor and destitute of help of their own friends, and live godly and religiously.

5:6 ¹ The third rule: Let widows that live in pleasure, and neglect the care of their own family, be holden and accounted as fallers away from God and his religion, and worse than very infidels.

5:9 ¹ The fourth rule: Let none under threescore years old, be taken into the number of widows, to serve the Congregations or Churches, and such as are free from all reproach of unchastity, and are well reported of for their diligence, charity, and integrity.

² That hath had no more husbands, but one at one time.

5:10 ¹ This is spoken in respect of the manner of those countries.

5:11 ¹ The first reason why younger widows are not to be admitted to this ministry, to wit, because for the lightness of their age, they will at length shake off the burden that Christ hath laid upon them, and think rather upon marrying again: and so will forsake the ministry whereunto they had bound themselves.

² Take them not into the college of widows.

5:13 ¹ Another reason: because they are for the most part prattlers and busybodies, and gadders up and down, neglecting their charge and duty.

5:14 ¹ The fifth rule: Let younger widows marry and govern their houses godly.

5:16 ¹ The sixth rule: Let the faithful help their widows at their own charges as much as they can, and let not the Congregation be burdened with these expenses.

17 ¶ ¹The Elders that rule well, let them be had in ²double honor, ³specially they which labor in the word and doctrine.

18 For the Scripture saith, "Thou shalt not muzzle the mouth of the ox that treadeth out the corn: and, ⁴The laborer is worthy of his wages.

19 ¹Against an Elder receive none accusation, but under two or three witnesses.

20 ¹Them that sin, rebuke openly, that the rest also may fear.

21 ¶ ¹I charge thee before God and the Lord Jesus Christ, and the elect Angels, that thou observe these things, without preferring one to another, and do nothing partially.

22 ¹Lay hands ²suddenly on no man, neither be partaker of other men's sins; keep thyself pure.

23 ¹Drink no longer water, but use a little wine for thy stomach's sake, and thine often infirmities.

24 ¹Some men's sins are open before hand, and go before unto judgment: but some men's follow after.

25 ¹Likewise also the good works are manifest before hand, and they that are otherwise, cannot be hid.

CHAPTER 5
^a Deut. 25:4
1 Cor. 9:9
^b Matt. 10:10
Luke 10:7
^c 1 Tim. 6:13

6 ¹ He sheweth the duty of servants: 10 and what a mischievous evil covetousness is: 13 and having spoken somewhat of rich men, he once again forbiddeth Timothy. 20 to cumber himself with vain babblings.

1 Let ¹as many servants as are under the yoke, count their masters worthy of all honor, ²that the Name of God, and his doctrine be not evil spoken of.

2 ¹And they which have believing masters, let them not despise them, because they are brethren, but rather do service, because they are faithful, and beloved, and ²partakers of the benefit. ³These things teach and exhort.

3 ¹If any man teach otherwise, and consenteth not to the wholesome words of our Lord Jesus Christ, and to the doctrine which is according to godliness,

4 He is puffed up and knoweth nothing, but doteth about questions and ¹strive of words, whereof cometh envy, strife, railings, evil surmisings,

5 Froward ¹disputations of men of corrupt minds and destitute of the truth, which think that gain is godliness: from such separate thyself.

6 ¹But godliness is great gain, if a man be content with that he hath.

5:17 ¹ Now he giveth rules, and sheweth how he ought to behave himself with the Elders, that is to say, with the Pastors and such as have the governance in the discipline of the Church, which is president of their company. The first rule: Let the Church or Congregation see unto this especially, as God himself hath commanded, that the Elders that do their duty well, be honestly maintained.

² We must be more careful for them, than for the rest.

³ There were two kinds of Elders, the one attended upon the government only, and looked to the manners of the Congregation; the other did beside that, attend upon preaching and prayers, to and for the Congregation.

5:19 ¹ The second rule: Let no accusation be admitted against an Elder, but under two or three witnesses.

5:20 ¹ The third rule: Let the Elders so convicted be rebuked openly, that they may be an example to others.

5:21 ¹ The fourth rule: Let sincerity be used without any prejudice or respect of persons in Ecclesiastical proceedings, (especially against the Elders) because God himself is there present, and the Lord Jesus Christ with a multitude of Angels.

5:22 ¹ The [fifth] rule: Let the minister lay hands suddenly on no man. Let him not be faulty herein either by favoring any man's folly, or perverse affection: If ought be done otherwise than well of his fellows, let him keep his conscience pure.

² As much as in thee lieth do not rashly admit any whatsoever, to any Ecclesiastical function.

5:23 ¹ The sixth rule: Let the Elders have indifferent consideration of their health, in the manner of their diet.

5:24 ¹ Because hypocrites sometimes creep into the ministry although there be never so great diligence used, the Apostle willet the Pastors not to be troubled therefore, or slack any whit of their diligence in trying and examining, because the Lord hath appointed a time to discover the faults of such men, and it is our parts to take heed that we offend not therein.

5:25 ¹ Another comfort belonging to them, which sometimes are slandered and misreported of.

6:1 ¹ He addeth also rules for the servants' duty towards their masters: whereupon no doubt there were many questions then moved by them which took occasion by the Gospel to trouble the common state. And this is the first rule: Let servants that are come to the faith, and have infidels to their masters, serve them notwithstanding with great fidelity.

² The reason: lest God should seem by the Doctrine of the Gospel to stir up men to rebellion and all wickedness.

6:2 ¹ The second rule: Let not servants that are come to the faith, and have also masters of the same profession and religion, abuse the name of brotherhood, but let them so much the rather obey them.

² Let this be sufficient, that as touching those things which pertain to everlasting life, they are partakers of the same good will and love of God, as their masters themselves are.

³ A general conclusion, that these things ought not only to be simply taught, but must with exhortations be diligently beaten into their heads.

6:3 ¹ He condemneth severely, and excommunicateth or casteth out of the Church as proud men, such as content not themselves with Christ's doctrine, (that is to say, the doctrine of godliness) but weary both themselves and others in vain questions, (for all other things are vain) because they content not themselves in Christ's doctrine: and as lying deceivers, because they savor or sound of nothing but vanity: as mad men, because they trouble themselves so much in matters of nothing: as mischievous plagues, for that they cause great contentions, and corrupt men's minds and judgment: to be short, as profane and wicked, because they abuse the precious name of godliness and religion to filthy lucre.

6:4 ¹ Striving about words, and not about matter: and by words he meaneth all those things which have no pith in them, and whereby we can reap no profit.

6:5 ¹ Such as we see in those shameless schools of Popery, which are nothing else but vain babbling and prating.

6:6 ¹ He turneth away fitly the name of gain and lucre, confessing that godliness is great gain, but far after another sort, to wit, because it bringeth true sufficiency.

7 ¹For we brought nothing into the world, and it is certain, that we can carry nothing out.

8 Therefore when we have food and raiment, let us therewith be content.

9 ¹For they that will be rich, fall into temptation and snares, and into many foolish and noisome lusts, which drown men in perdition and destruction.

10 For the desire of money is the root of all evil, which while some lusted after they erred from the faith, and ¹pierced themselves through with many sorrows.

11 ¹But thou, O ²man of God, flee these things, and follow after righteousness, godliness, faith, love, patience, and meekness.

12 Fight the good fight of faith: lay hold of eternal life, whereunto thou art also called, and hast professed a good profession before many witnesses.

13 ^{a,1}I charge thee in the sight of God, who quickeneth all things, and before Jesus Christ, which under Pontius Pilate ^bwitnessed a good confession.

14 That thou keep this commandment without spot, and unrebukeable, until the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ,

17 ¹Charge them that are rich in ²this world, that they be not high minded, and that they ^etrust not in uncertain riches, but in the ³living God, (which giveth us abundantly all things to enjoy.)

18 That they do good, and be rich in good works, and be ready to distribute, and communicate,

19 ^{f,1}Laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may obtain eternal life.

20 ¹O Timothy, keep that which is committed unto thee, and avoid profane and vain babblings, and oppositions of science falsely so called,

21 Which while some ¹profess, they have erred concerning the faith. Grace be with thee, Amen.

¶ The first Epistle to Timothy, written from Laodicea, which is the chiefest city of Phrygia Pacatiana.

6:7 ¹ He mocketh their folly, which do so greedily gape after frail things, that they can in no wise be satisfied, and yet notwithstanding they cannot enjoy that excess.

6:9 ¹ He frayeth Timothy from covetousness after another sort, to wit, because it draweth with it an infinite sort of lusts, and those very hurtful, wherewith covetous men do torment themselves so far forth, that in the end they cast away from them their faith and salvation.

6:10 ¹ Sorrow and grief do as it were pierce through the mind of man, and are the harvest and true fruits of covetousness.

6:11 ¹ A peculiar exhortation to divers virtues, wherewith it behooveth the Pastors especially to be furnished.

² Whom the Spirit of God ruleth.

6:13 ¹ A most earnest request and charge, to observe and keep all the premises faithfully, with our eyes set upon the coming of Jesus Christ, whose glory we have to set against the vain glistening of this world, and his power, against all the terrors of the wicked.

6:15 ¹ He heapeth many words together, to one purpose: whereby he voucheth the power of God, which if we stick fast unto, we shall not be moved out of our standings.

6:17 ¹ He addeth for an overplus as it were a sharp admonition to the rich, that they chiefly take heed of two mischiefs, to wit, of pride, and deceitful hope, against which he setteth three excellent virtues, hope in the living God, liberality towards their neighbor, and gentle conditions.

² In things pertaining to this life, with whom those men are compared which are rich in good works.

³ Who only is, and that everlasting: for he setteth the frail nature of riches against God.

6:19 ¹ The praise of liberality by the effects thereof: because it is a sure testimony of the Spirit of God which dwelleth in us, and therefore of the salvation that shall be given us.

6:20 ¹ He rehearseth the chiefest of all the former exhortations, which ought to be deeply imprinted in the minds of all ministers of the word, to wit, that they eschew all vain babblings of sophistry and continue in the simplicity of sincere doctrine.

6:21 ¹ Not only in word, but also in countenance and gesture: to be short, while their behavior was such that even when they held their peace, they would make men believe their heads were occupied about nothing but high and weighty matters, even then they erred concerning the faith.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF PAUL TO TIMOTHY

1 ³ He commendeth Timothy's faith, ⁶ and exhorteth him to go on faithfully in the charge committed unto him: ⁸ and that neither for his bonds, ¹⁵ nor the revolting of others, he faint. ¹¹ He triumpheth of his Apostleship. ¹⁴ He willet him to have care of the thing committed unto him, ¹⁶ and praiseth Onesiphorus.

1 Paul an Apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, ¹ according to the promise of life which is in Christ Jesus,

2 To Timothy my beloved son: Grace, mercy and peace from God the Father, and from Jesus Christ our Lord.

3 ¹ I thank God, ^a whom I serve from mine ² elders with pure conscience, that without ceasing I have remembrance of thee in my prayers night and day.

4 Desiring to see thee, mindful of thy tears, that I may be filled with joy:

5 When I call to remembrance the unfeigned faith that is in thee, which dwelt first in thy grandmother Lois, and in thy mother Eunice, and am assured that it dwelleth in thee also.

6 ¹ Wherefore, I put thee in remembrance that thou ² stir up the gift of God which is in thee, by the putting on of mine hands.

7 For God hath not given to us the Spirit of ¹ fear, but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind.

8 ¹ Be not therefore ashamed of the testimony of our Lord, neither of me ² his prisoner: but be partaker of the afflictions of the ³ Gospel according to the ⁴ power of God,

9 ¹ Who hath saved us, and called us with an ⁴ holy calling, not according to our ⁴ works, but according to his own purpose and grace, which was ² given to us through Christ Jesus ³ before the ^d world was,

10 But is now made manifest by that appearing of our Savior Jesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality unto ¹ light through the Gospel.

11 ^{e, 1} Whereunto I am appointed a preacher, and Apostle, and a teacher of the Gentiles.

12 ¹ For the which cause I also suffer these things, ² but I am not ashamed: for I know whom I have believed, and I am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed to him against that

1:1 ¹ Sent of God to preach that life which he promised in Christ Jesus.

1:3 ¹ The chiefest mark that he shooteth at in this Epistle, is to confirm Timothy to continue constantly and manfully even to the end, setting first before him the great good will he beareth him, and then reckoning up the excellent gifts which God would as it were have to be by inheritance in Timothy, and his ancestors, which might so much the more make him bound to God.

² From Abraham, Isaac and Jacob: for he speaketh not of Pharisaism, but of Christianism.

1:6 ¹ He warneth us to set the invincible power of the Spirit, which God hath given us, against those storms which may and do come upon us.

² The gift of God is as it were a certain lively flame kindled in our hearts, which the flesh and the devil go about to put out: and therefore we on the contrary side must labor as much as we can to foster and keep it burning.

1:7 ¹ To pierce us through, and terrify us, as men whom the Lord will destroy.

1:8 ¹ He proveth that the ignominy or shame of the cross is not only not to be ashamed of, but also that it is glorious and most honorable: first, because the Gospel wherefore the godly are afflicted, is the testimony of Christ: and secondly, because at length the great virtue and power of God appeareth in them.

² For his sake.

³ The Gospel after a sort is said to be afflicted in them that preach it.

⁴ Through the power of God.

1:9 ¹ He sheweth with how great benefits God hath bound us to maintain boldly and constantly his glory which is joined with our salvation, and reckoneth up the causes of our salvation, to wit, that free and eternal purpose of God to save us in Christ which was to come, whereby it should come to pass, that we should at length be freely called of God by the preaching of the Gospel, to Christ the destroyer of death and author of immortality.

² He sayeth that that grace was given us from everlasting, unto which we were predestinate from everlasting. So that the doctrine of foreseen faith and foreseen works, is clean contrary to the doctrine which preached and teacheth the grace of God.

³ Before that course of years, which hath run on ever since the beginning of the world.

1:10 ¹ Hath caused life and immortality to appear.

1:11 ¹ That is, the Gospel which the Apostle preached.

1:12 ¹ He confirmeth his Apostleship by a strange argument, to wit, because the world could not abide it, and therefore it persecuted him that preached it.

² By setting his own example before us, he sheweth us how it may be, that we shall not be ashamed of the cross of Christ, to wit, if we be sure that God both can and will keep the salvation which he hath as it were laid up in store by himself for us against that day.

day.

13 ¹Keep the true pattern of the wholesome words, which thou hast heard of me in faith and love which is in Christ Jesus.

14 ¹That worthy thing, which was committed to thee, keep ²through the holy Ghost, which dwelleth in us.

15 ¹This thou knowest, that all they which are in Asia, be turned from me: of which sort are Phygellus and Hermogenes.

16 The Lord give mercy unto the house of Onesiphorus: for he oft refreshed me, and was not ashamed of my chain, 17 But when he was at Rome, he sought me out very diligently, and found me.

18 The Lord grant unto him, that he may find mercy with the Lord at that day, and in how many things he hath ministered unto me at Ephesus, thou knowest very well.

2 ² The better to set out perseverance in the Christian warfare, 3 he taketh similitudes, 4 from soldiers, 6 and from husbandmen. 10 He sheweth that his bonds are for the profit of the Saints: 15 Then he warneth Timothy to divide the word of truth aright, 17 to beware of the examples of the wicked, 22 and to do all things modestly.

1 Thou ¹therefore, my son, be strong in the grace that is in Christ Jesus.

2 And what things thou hast heard of me, by ¹many witnesses, the same deliver to faithful men, which shall be able to teach others also.

CHAPTER 2

3 ¹Thou therefore suffer affliction as a good soldier of Jesus Christ.

4 No man that warreth, entangleth himself with the affairs of ¹this life, because he would please him that hath chosen him to be a soldier.

5 ¹And if any man also strive for a mastery, he is not crowned, except he strive as he ought to do.

6 ¹The husbandman must labor before he receive the fruits.

7 ¹Consider what I say: and the Lord give thee understanding in all things.

8 ¹Remember that Jesus Christ, made of the seed of David, was raised again from the dead according to my Gospel,

9 ¹Wherein I suffer trouble as an evil doer, even unto bonds: but the word of God is not bound.

10 Therefore I suffer all things for the elect's sake, that they might also obtain the salvation which is in Christ Jesus, with eternal glory.

11 ¹It is a true saying, For if we be ^{a,2}dead together with him: we also shall live together with him.

12 If we suffer, we shall also reign together with him: ^bif we deny him, he also will deny us.

13 If ^cwe believe not, yet abideth he faithful: he cannot deny himself.

14 Of these things put them in remembrance, and ¹protest before the Lord, that they strive not about words, which is to no profit, but to the perverting of the hearers.

1:13 ¹ He sheweth wherein he ought to be most constant, to wit, both in the doctrine itself, the abridgment whereof is faith and charity, and next in the manner of teaching it, a lively pattern and shape whereof Timothy knew in the Apostle.

1:14 ¹ An amplification, taken of the dignity of so great a benefit committed of the ministers.

² The taking away of an objection. It is a hard thing to do it, but the Spirit of God is mighty, who hath inwardly endued us with his virtue.

1:15 ¹ He preventeth an offense which arose by the means of certain that fell from God and the religion, and uttereth also their names, that they might be known of all men. But he setteth against them the singular faith of one man, that one only good example might counterpoise and weigh down all evil examples.

2:1 ¹ The conclusion of the former exhortation, which hath also added unto it a declaration how that they do not keep that worthy thing that is committed unto them which keep it to themselves, but they rather which do most freely communicate it with others, to the end that many may be partakers of it, without any man's loss or hindrance.

2:2 ¹ When many were by, which can bear witness of these things.

2:3 ¹ Another admonition: That the ministry of the word is a spiritual warfare, which no man can so travail in, that he may please his captain, unless he forgo and part with all hindrances which might draw him away from it.

2:4 ¹ With affairs of household, or other things that belong to other ordinary businesses.

2:5 ¹ The third admonition: The ministry is like to a game or justing, wherein men strive for the victory, and no man is crowned unless he strive according to the laws which are prescribed, be they never so hard and painful.

2:6 ¹ Another similitude tending to the same end: no man may look for the harvest, unless he first take pains to plow and sow his ground.

2:7 ¹ All these things cannot be understood, and much less practiced, unless we ask of God and he gives us understanding.

2:8 ¹ He confirmeth plainly two principles of our faith, which are always assaulted of heretics, the one whereof (to wit, that Christ is the true Messiah made man of the seed of David) is the ground of our salvation: and the other is the highest part of it, to wit, that he is risen again from the dead.

2:9 ¹ The taking away of an objection: Truth it is, that he is kept in prison, as an evildoer, yet there is no cause, why therefore some should go about to derogate credit from his Gospel, seeing that notwithstanding God did bless his ministry, nay rather, that example of this his captivity and patience did sundry ways confirm the Church in the hope of a better life.

2:11 ¹ The fourth admonition: we ought not to contend upon words and questions, which are not only unprofitable, but also for the most part hurtful: but rather upon this, how we may frame ourselves to all manner of patience, and to die also with Christ (that is to say, for Christ's Name) because that is the plain way to the most glorious life: as contrariwise the falling away of men can diminish no part of the truth of God, although by such means, they procure most certain destruction to themselves.

² If we be afflicted with Christ, and for Christ's sake.

2:14 ¹ Call God to witness, or as a Judge: as Moses, Joshua, Samuel, and Paul himself did, Acts 20.

15 ¹Study to show thyself approved unto God a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, dividing the word of truth ²aright.

16 ¹Stay profane, and vain babblings: ²for they shall increase unto more ungodliness.

17 And their word shall fret as a canker: of which sort is Hymenaeus and Philetus.

18 Which as concerning the truth have erred from the mark, saying that the resurrection is past already, and do destroy the faith of certain.

19 ¹But the foundation of God remaineth sure, and hath this seal, The Lord knoweth who are his: and, Let everyone that ²calleth on the Name of Christ, depart from iniquity.

20 ¹Notwithstanding in a great house are not only vessels of gold and of silver, but also of wood and of earth, ⁴and some for honor, and some unto dishonor.

21 If any man therefore ¹purge himself from these, he shall be a vessel unto honor, sanctified, and meet for the Lord, and prepared unto every good work.

22 ¹Flee also from the lusts of youth, and follow after righteousness, faith, love, and ²peace, with them that ³call on the Lord with pure heart, 23 ¹And put away foolish and unlearned questions, knowing that they engender strife.

24 But the servant of the Lord must not strive, but must be gentle toward all men, apt to teach, ¹suffering the evil,

25 Instructing them with meekness that are ¹contrary minded, proving if God at any time will give them repentance, that they may acknowledge the truth,

26 And come to amendment out of that snare of the devil, of whom they are taken prisoners, to do his will.

3 ¹ He foretelleth the dangerous times that are to ensue: ⁹ but with the certain hope of victory, ¹⁰ he encourageth him to the combat, ¹⁴ setting out especially the trial of sound doctrine.

1 This ¹know also, that in the ⁴last days shall come perilous times.

2 For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, cursed speakers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, ¹unholy,

3 Without natural affection, truce breakers, false accusers, intemperate, fierce, no lovers at all of them which are good,

4 Traitors, heady, high-minded, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God,

5 Having a show of godliness, but have denied the power thereof: ¹turn away therefore from such.

6 For of this sort are they which creep into houses, and lead captive simple women laden with sins, and led with divers lusts,

7 Which women are ever learning, and are never able to come to the acknowledging of the truth.

8 ^bAnd as Jannes and Jambres withstood Moses, so do these also resist the truth, men of corrupt minds, reprobate concerning the faith.

9 ¹But they shall prevail no longer: for their madness shall be evident unto all men, as theirs also was.

2:15 ¹ The fifth admonition: A minister must not be an idle disputer, but a faithful steward in dividing aright the word of truth, inasmuch that he must stop the mouths of other vain babblers.

² By adding nothing to it, neither overslipping anything, neither mangling it, nor renting it in sunder, nor wresting of it: but marking diligently what his hearers are able to hear, and what is fit to edifying.

2:16 ¹ Mark and watch, and see they creep not on further.

² He discovereth the subtlety of Satan, who beginning with these principles draweth us by little and little to ungodliness through the means of that wicked and profane babbling, still creeping on: which he proveth by the horrible example of them that taught that, the resurrection was already past.

2:19 ¹ A digression: wherein he salveth that offense that rose by their falling away: showing first, that the elect are out of all danger of any such falling away: secondly, that they are known to God and not to us: and therefore it is no marvel if we count hypocrites oftentimes for true brethren: but we must take heed that we be not like them, but rather that we be indeed, such as we are said to be.

² That serveth and worshippeth him, and is as it were named of him, a faithful man or Christian.

2:20 ¹ The taking away of an objection: it is no dishonor to the good man of the house, that he hath not in a great house all vessels of one sort and for one service, but we must look to this, that we be found vessels prepared to honor.

2:21 ¹ By these words is meant the execution of the matter, and not the cause: for in that we purge ourselves, it is not to be attributeth to any free will that is in us, but to God, who freely and wholly worketh in us a good and an effectual will.

2:22 ¹ Returning to the matter from whence he digressed, verse 16, he warneth him to exercise himself in weighty matters, and such as pertain to godliness.

² The sixth admonition: We must above all things eschew all bitterness of mind both in teaching all men, and also in calling them back which have gone out of the way.

2:24 ¹ To win them through our patient bearing with them, but not to please them or excuse them in their wickedness.

2:25 ¹ He meaneth such as do not yet see the truth.

3:1 ¹ The seventh admonition: we may not hope for any Church in this world without corruption: but there shall be rather great abundance of most wicked men, even in the very bosom of the Church, which notwithstanding shall make a show and countenance of great holiness and charity.

3:2 ¹ Which make no account, either of right or honesty.

3:5 ¹ We must not dally with such men as resist the truth not of simple ignorance, but of a perverse mind, (which thing appeareth by their fruits which he painteth out here lively) but we must rather turn away from them.

3:9 ¹ He addeth a comfort: The Lord will at length pluck off all their vizards.

10 ¶ ¹But thou hast ²fully known my doctrine, manner of living, purpose, faith, longsuffering, love, patience, 11 Persecutions, and afflictions which came unto me at ¹Antioch, at Iconium, and at Lystra, which persecutions I suffered: but from them all the Lord delivered me.

12 Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus, shall suffer persecution.

13 But the evil men and deceivers shall wax ¹worse and worse, deceiving, and being deceived.

14 But continue thou in the things which thou hast learned, and which are committed unto thee, knowing of whom thou hast learned them:

15 And that thou hast known the holy Scriptures of a child, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation, through the faith which is in Christ Jesus.

16 ¹For the whole Scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable to teach, to convince, to correct, and to instruct in righteousness, 17 That the ¹man of God may be absolute, being made perfect unto all good works.

4 ¹He chargeth him to preach the Gospel with all diligence, ³in that so miserable a time: ⁶that his death is hard at hand, ⁸yet so, that as a conqueror he maketh haste to a glorious triumph. ¹⁰He sheweth the cause why he sendeth for Timothy, ¹¹even by reason of his present state.

1 I ¹Charge thee therefore before God, and before the Lord Jesus Christ, which shall judge the quick and dead at that his appearing, and in his kingdom,

2 Preach the word: be instant, in season, and out of season: improve, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine.

3 ¹For the time will come when they will not suffer wholesome doctrine: but having their ears itching, shall after their own lusts get them an heap of teachers,

4 And shall turn their ears from the truth, and shall be given unto ¹fables.

5 ¹But watch thou in all things: suffer adversity: do the work of an Evangelist: ²cause thy ministry to be thoroughly liked of.

6 ¹For I am now ready to be ²offered, and the time of my departing is at hand.

7 I have fought a good fight, and have finished my course: I have kept the faith.

8 For henceforth is laid up for me the crown of righteousness, which the Lord the righteous Judge shall give me at that day: and not to me only, but unto all them also that love that his appearing.

9 ¹Make speed to come unto me at once:

10 For Demas hath forsaken me, and hath ¹embraced this present world, and is departed unto Thessalonica. Crescens is gone to Galatia, Titus unto Dalmatia.

11 ¹Only Luke is with me. Take Mark and bring him with thee: for he is profitable unto me to minister.

12 And Tychicus have I sent to Ephesus.

13 The cloak that I left at Troas with Carpus, when thou comest, bring with thee, and the books, but specially the parchments.

14 Alexander the coppersmith hath done me much evil: the Lord reward him according to his works.

15 Of whom be thou ware also: for he withstood our preaching sore.

16 At my first answering no man assisted me, but all forsook me: I pray God, that it may not be laid to their charge.

17 Notwithstanding the Lord assisted me, and strengthened me, that by me the preaching might be fully believed, and that all the Gentiles should

3:10 ¹That we be not deceived by such hypocrites, we must set before us the virtues of the holy servants of God, and we must not be afraid of persecution, which they suffered willingly, and which always followeth true godliness. But we must especially hold fast the doctrine of the Apostles, the sum whereof is this, that we are saved through faith in Christ Jesus.

3:11 ¹Which is in Pisidia.

3:13 ¹Their wickedness shall daily increase.

3:16 ¹The eighth admonition, which is most precious: A Pastor must be wise by the word of God only: wherein we have perfectly delivered unto us, whatsoever pertaineth either to discern, know and establish true opinions, and to confute false, and furthermore, to correct evil manners, and to frame good.

3:17 ¹The Prophets and expounders of God's will, are properly and peculiarly called, Men of God.

4:1 ¹The principal and chief of all admonitions, being therefore proposed with a most earnest charge, is this: That the word of God be propounded with a certain holy importunity, as necessity requireth:

but so, that a good and true ground of the doctrine be laid, and the vehemency be tempered with all holy meekness.

4:3 ¹Faithful Pastors in times past took all occasions they could, because men were very prompt and ready to return to their fables.

4:4 ¹To false and unprofitable doctrines, which the world is now so bewitched withal, that it had rather the open light of the truth were utterly put out, when it would come out of darkness.

4:5 ¹The wickedness and falling away of the world, ought to cause faithful ministers to be so much the more careful.

²Prove and show by good and substantial proof, that thou art the true minister of God.

4:6 ¹He foretelleth his death to be at hand, and setteth before them an excellent example, both of invincible constancy and sure hope.

²To be offered for a drink offering: and he alludeth to the pouring out of blood or wine which was used in sacrifices.

4:9 ¹The last part of the Epistle, setting forth grievous complaints against certain, and examples of singular godliness in every place, and of a mind never wearied.

4:10 ¹Contented himself with this world.

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL TO TITUS

1 ⁶ He sheweth what kind of men ought to be chosen ¹ Ministers: ¹⁰ how vain babblers' mouths should be stopped: ¹² and through this occasion he toucheth the nature of the Cretans, ¹⁴ and the Jews, who put boldness in outward things.

¹ Paul ^{1a} a ² servant of God, and an Apostle of Jesus Christ, according to the faith of God's ³ elect, ⁴ and the acknowledging of the truth, which is according unto godliness.

³ ¹ But hath made his word manifest in due time through the preaching, which is ^b committed unto me according to the commandment of God our ² Savior:

pointed thee.

⁶ ¹ If any be unrepveable, the husband of one wife, having faithful children, which are not slandered of riot, neither are ¹ disobedient.

⁷ ¹ For a Bishop must be unrepveable, as God's ² steward, not ³ froward, not angry, not given to wine, no striker, not given to filthy lucre,

⁸ But harberous, one that loveth goodness, ¹ wise, righteous, holy, temperate,

⁹ ¹ Holding fast that faithful word according to doctrine, ² that he also may be able to exhort with wholesome doctrine, and convince them that say against it.

¹⁰ ¹ For there are many disobedient and vain talkers and deceivers of minds, chiefly they of the ² Circumcision, ¹¹ Whose mouths must be stopped, which subvert whole houses, teaching things which they ought not, for filthy lucre's sake.

¹² ¹ One of themselves, even one of their own Prophets said, The Cretans are always liars, evil beasts, slow bellies.

1:1 ¹ He voucheth his Apostleship, (not for Titus, but for the Cretans' sake) both by the testimony of his outward calling, and by his consent wherein he agreeth with all the elect from the beginning of the world.

² Minister, as Christ himself, in that that he was a minister and head of the Prophets, is called a servant, Isa. 43:10.

³ Of those whom God hath chosen.

⁴ The faith wherein all the elect consent, is the true and sincere knowledge of God, tending to this end, that worshipping God aright that they at length obtain life everlasting according to the promise of God, who is true, which promise was exhibited to Christ in due time according to his eternal purpose.

1:2 ¹ Hope is the end of faith.

² Freely, and of his mere liberality.

³ See 2 Tim. 1:9.

1:3 ¹ This truth is no other where to be sought, but in the preaching of the Apostle.

² This word (Savior) doth not only signify a preserver of life, but also a giver of life.

1:4 ¹ The Apostle moveth the Cretans to hear Titus, by setting forth his consent and agreement with him in the faith, and therewithal sheweth by what special note we may distinguish true ministers from false.

² There is but one way of salvation, common both to the Pastor and the flock.

1:5 ¹ The first admonition, to ordain Elders in every city.

1:6 ¹ This word is proper to horses and oxen, which will not abide the yoke.

1:7 ¹ The second admonition, what faults pastors (whom he comprehended afore under the word Elders) ought to be void of, and what virtues they ought to have.

² Whom the Lord hath appointed steward of his gifts.

³ Not hard conditioned, and evil to please.

1:8 ¹ Circumspect, of a sound judgment, and of a singular example of moderation.

1:9 ¹ The third admonition: The Pastor must hold fast that doctrine, which the Apostles delivered, and pertaineth to salvation, leaving all curious and vain matters.

² The fourth admonition: To apply the knowledge of true doctrine unto use, which consisteth in two things, to wit, in governing them which show themselves apt to learn, and confuting the obstinate.

1:10 ¹ An applying of the general proposition to a particular: The Cretans above all others need sharp reprehensions: both because their minds are naturally given to lies and slothfulness, and also because of certain covetous Jews, which under a color of godliness joined partly certain vain traditions, and partly old ceremonies with the Gospel.

² Of the Jews, or rather of those Jews, which went about to join Christ and the Law together.

1:12 ¹ Epimenides, who was counted a Prophet amongst them. Look upon Laertius and Cicero in his first book of Divination.

13 This witness is true: wherefore convince them ¹sharply, that they may be sound in the faith.

14 And not taking heed to ^dJewish fables and commandments of men, that turn away from the truth.

15 ¹Unto the pure ^eare all things pure, but unto them that are defiled, and unbelieving, is nothing pure, but even their ²minds and consciences are defiled.

16 They profess that they know God, but by works they deny him, and are abominable and disobedient, and unto every good work reprobate.

2 2 He setteth out the duties of sundry persons and states, 6 and willeth him to instruct the Church in manners. 11 He draweth an argument from the end of our redemption, 12 which is, that we live godly and uprightly.

1 But ¹speak thou the things which become wholesome doctrine,

2 ¹That the elder men be watchful, grave, temperate, sound in the faith, in love, and in patience:

3 The elder women likewise, that they be in such behavior as becometh holiness, not false accusers, not subject to much wine, but teachers of honest things.

4 That they may instruct the young women to be sober minded, that they love their husbands, that they love their children,

5 That they be temperate, chaste, ¹keeping at home, good and ^asubject unto their husbands, that the word of God be not evil spoken of.

6 Exhort young men likewise, that they be sober minded.

10 Neither pickers, but that they show all good faithfulness, that they may adorn the doctrine of God our Savior in all things.

11 ^{c,1}For that grace of God, that bringeth salvation unto all men, hath appeared,

3 ^{b,1} For we ourselves also were in times past unwise, disobedient, deceived, serving the lusts and

1:13 ¹ Roughly and plainly, and go not about the bush with them.

1:15 ¹ He showeth in few words, that purity consisteth not in any external worship, and that that is according to the old Law, (as in difference of meats, and washing, and other such things which are abolished) but in the mind and conscience: and whosoever teach otherwise, know not what is true religion indeed, and also are nothing less than that they would seem to be.

² If our minds and conscience be unclean, what cleanness is there in us before regeneration?

2:1 ¹ The fifth admonition: The doctrine must not only be generally pure, but also be applied to all ages and orders of men, according to the diversity of circumstances.

2:2 ¹ What are the chiefest virtues for old and young, both men and women: and how they ought to be stirred up unto them continually.

2:5 ¹ No gadders up and down.

2:7 ¹ The sixth admonition: That both the Pastor's life and doctrine must be sound.

² Not such a gravity as may drive men from coming to the minister, but such as may cause them to come in most reverent and honest sort.

2:9 ¹ The seventh admonition, of servants' duty toward their masters.

² Which may be done without offense to God.

2:11 ¹ The eighth admonition belonging to all the godly, that seeing God calleth all men to the Gospel, and Christ hath so justified us, that he hath also sanctified us, we must all of us give ourselves to true godliness and righteousness, setting before us a sure hope of that immeasurable glory: which thing must in such sort be beaten into their heads, that the gainsayers also must be reproved, by the authority of the mighty God.

2:12 ¹ Lusts of the flesh, which belong to the present state of this life and world.

2:13 ¹ Christ is here most plainly called that mighty God, and his appearance and coming is called by the figure Metonymy, our hope.

2:14 ¹ As it were a thing peculiarly laid up for himself.

2:15 ¹ With all authority possible.

3:1 ¹ He declareth particularly and severally, that which he said before generally, noting out certain chief and principal duties, which men owe to men, and especially subjects to their magistrates.

3:3 ¹ He confirmeth again the former exhortation, by propounding the free benefit of our regeneration, the pledge whereof is our Baptism.

divers pleasures, living in maliciousness and envy, hateful, and hating one another.

4 But when that bountifulness and that love of God our Savior toward man appeared,

5 ^cNot by the works of ¹righteousness, which we had done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of the new birth, and the renewing of the ²holy Ghost,

6 Which he shed on us abundantly, through Jesus Christ our Savior,

7 That we, being justified by his grace, should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life.

8 ¹This is a true saying, and these things I will thou shouldest affirm, that they which have believed God, might be careful to show forth ²good works. These things are good and profitable unto men.

9 ^dBut stay foolish questions, and genealogies, and contentions, and brawlings about the Law: for they are unprofitable and vain.

^c 2 Tim. 1:9

^d 1 Tim. 1:4

10 ¹Reject him that is an heretic, after once or twice admonition,

11 Knowing that he that is such, is perverted, and sinneth, being damned of his own self.

12 ¹When I shall send Artemas unto thee, or Tychicus, be diligent to come to me unto Nicopolis: for I have determined there to winter.

13 Bring Zenas the expounder of the Law, and Apollos on their journey diligently, that they lack nothing.

14 And let ours also learn to show forth good works for necessary uses, that they be not unfruitful.

15 All that are with me, salute thee. Greet them that love us in the faith. Grace be with you all. Amen.

¶ To Titus, elect the first Bishop of the Church of the Cretans, written from Nicopolis in Macedonia.

3:5 ¹ Word for word, of works which are done in righteousness: and this place doth fully refute the doctrine of merits.

² Which the virtue of the holy Ghost worketh.

3:8 ¹ Again with great earnestness he beateth into our heads, how that we ought to give ourselves, to true godliness, and eschew all vain questions, which serve to nothing but to move strife and debate.

² Give themselves earnestly unto good works.

3:10 ¹ The ministers of the word must at once cast off heretics, that is, such as stubbornly and seditiously disquiet the Church, and will give no ear to Ecclesiastical admonitions.

3:12 ¹ Least of all, he writeth a word or two of private matters and commendeth certain men.

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL TO PHILEMON

1 Paul handling a base and small matter, yet according to his manner mounteth aloft unto God. 8 Sending again to Philemon his vagabond and thievish servant, he entreateth pardon for him, and very gravely preacheth of Christian equity.

1 Paul a prisoner of Jesus Christ, and our brother Timothy, unto Philemon our dear friend, and fellow helper,

2 And to our dear sister Apphia, and to Archippus our fellow soldier, and to the Church that is in thine house:

3 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

4 I “give thanks to my God, making mention always of thee in my prayers,

5 (When I hear of thy love and faith, which thou hast toward the Lord Jesus, and toward all Saints.)

6 That the ¹fellowship of thy faith may be made effectual, and that whatsoever good thing is in you through Christ Jesus, may be ²known.

7 For we have great joy and consolation in thy love, because by thee, brother, the Saints ¹bowels are comforted.

8 Wherefore, though I be very bold in Christ to command thee that which is convenient,

9 ¹Yet for love’s sake I rather beseech thee, though I be as I am, even Paul aged, and even now a prisoner for Jesus Christ.

10 I beseech thee for my son ¹Onesimus, whom I have begotten in my bonds, 11 Which in times past was to thee unprofitable, but now profitable both to thee and to me.

12 Whom I have sent again: thou therefore receive him, that is mine own ¹bowels,

13 Whom I would have received with me, that in thy stead he might have ministered unto me in the bonds of the Gospel.

14 But without thy mind would I do nothing, that thy benefit should not be as it were of ¹necessity, but willingly.

15 It may be that he therefore ¹departed for ²a season, that thou shouldest receive him forever,

16 Not now as a servant, but above a servant, even as a brother beloved, specially to me: how much more then unto thee, both in the ¹flesh and in the Lord?

17 If therefore thou count our things common, receive him as myself.

18 If he hath hurt thee, or oweth thee ought, that put on my accounts.

19 I Paul have written this with mine own hand: I will recompense it, albeit I do not say to thee, that thou owest moreover unto me even thine own self.

20 ¹Yea, brother, let me obtain this pleasure of thee in the Lord: comfort my bowels in the Lord.

21 Trusting in thine obedience, I wrote unto thee knowing that thou wilt do even more than I say, 22 Moreover also prepare me lodging: for I trust through your prayers I shall be freely given unto you.

23 There salute thee Epaphras my fellow prisoner in Christ Jesus,

24 Mark, Aristarchus, Demas and Luke, my fellow helpers.

25 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit, Amen.

¶ Written from Rome to Philemon, and sent by Onesimus a servant.

1:6 ¹ By fellowship of faith, he meaneth those duties of charity which are bestowed upon the Saints, and flow forth of an effectual faith.

² That by this means all men may perceive how rich you are in Christ, to wit, in faith, charity, and all bountifulness.

1:7 ¹ Because thou didst so dutifully and cheerfully refresh the Saints, that they conceived inwardly a marvelous joy: for by this word (Bowels) is meant not only the inward feeling of wants and miseries that men have one of another’s state, but also that joy and comfort which entereth into the very bowels, as though the heart were refreshed and comforted.

1:9 ¹ An example of a Christian exercise and commendation for another man.

1:12 ¹ As mine own son, and as if I had begotten him of mine own body.

1:14 ¹ That thou mightest not seem to have lent me thy servant upon constraint, but willingly.

1:15 ¹ Thus he assuageth the harder kind of speech, which is to say, he ran away.

² For a little time.

1:16 ¹ Because he is thy servant, as other servants are, and because he is the Lord’s servant, so that thou must needs love him both for the Lord’s sake, and for thine own sake.

1:20 ¹ Good brother let me obtain this benefit at thine hand.

THE EPISTLE TO THE HEBREWS

The drift and end of this Epistle, is to show that Jesus Christ the Son of God both God and man, is that true eternal and only Prophet, King, and high Priest, that was shadowed by the figures of the old Law, and is now indeed exhibited: of whom the whole Church ought to be taught, governed and sanctified.

1 ² To show that the doctrine which Christ brought, is most excellent, in that it is the knitting up of all prophecies, ⁴ he advanceth him above the Angels: ¹⁰ And proveth by divers testimonies of the Scripture, that he far passeth all others.

¹ At sundry times and in divers manners God spake in the old time to our fathers by the Prophets: in these ²last days he hath spoken unto us by his ³Son,

² Whom he hath made ²heir of all things, by whom also he made the ³worlds,

³ Who being the ¹brightness of the glory, and the engraved form of his ²person, and ³bearing up all things by his mighty word: ⁴hath by himself purged our sins: and ⁵sitteth at the right hand of the Majesty in the highest places,

⁴ And is made so much more excellent than the Angels, inasmuch as he hath obtained a more excellent ²Name than they.

⁵ For unto which of the Angels said he at any

¹¹ They shall perish, but thou dost remain, and they all shall wax old as doth a garment,

¹³ Unto which also of the Angels said he at any

1:1 ¹ The first part of the general proposition of this Epistle: the Son of God is indeed that Prophet or teacher, which hath actually now performed that that God after a sort and in shadows signified by his Prophets, and hath fully opened his Father's will to the world.

² So that the former declaration made by the Prophets was not full, and nothing must be added to this latter.

³ Which one Son is God and man.

1:2 ¹ The second part of the same proposition: The same Son is appointed by the Father to be our King and Lord, by whom also he made all things, and in whom only he setteth forth his glory, yea and himself also to be beholden of us, who beareth up and sustaineth all things by his will and pleasure.

² Possessor and equal compartner of all things with the Father.

³ That is, whatsoever hath been at any time, is, or shall be.

1:3 ¹ He in whom that glory and Majesty of the Father shineth, who is otherwise infinite, and cannot be beholden.

² His father's person.

³ Sustaineth, defendeth and cherisheth.

⁴ The third part of the same proposition. The same Son executed the office of the high Priest in offering up himself, and is our only and most mighty Mediator in heaven.

⁵ This sheweth that the savor of that his sacrifice is not only most acceptable to the Father, but also is everlasting, and furthermore how far this high Priest passeth all the other high Priests.

1:4 ¹ Before he cometh to declare the office of Christ, he setteth forth the excellency of his person, and first of all he sheweth him so to be man, that therewithal he is God also.

² Dignity and honor.

1:5 ¹ He proveth and confirmeth the dignity of Christ manifested in the flesh by these six evident testimonies, whereby it appeareth that he far passeth all Angels, insomuch that he is called both Son, and God, in verses 5, 6, 7, 10, 13.

² The Father begat the Son from everlasting, but that everlasting generation was made manifest and represented to the world in his time, and therefore he addeth this word (Today)

1:6 ¹ The Lord was not content to have spoken it once, but repeateth it in another place.

1:7 ¹ Cherub, Ps 18:11.

² Seraph, Isa. 6:2.

1:8 ¹ The throne is proper to the Prince, and not to the servant.

² For everlasting, for this doubling of the word increaseth the signification of it beyond all measure.

³ The government of thy kingdom is righteous.

1:9 ¹ This kind of rehearsing in which the Jews use contraries, hath great force in it.

² In that, that the word became flesh, by pouring the holy Ghost upon him without measure.

³ For he is the head and we are his members.

1:10 ¹ Madest the earth firm and sure.

time, ^bSit at my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footstool?

14 Are they not all ¹ministering spirits, sent forth to minister, for their sakes which shall be heirs of salvation?

2 ¹ Thereof he inferreth, that good heed must be given to Christ's doctrine: 9 And he setteth him out unto us even as our brother in our flesh, that we may with a good will yield up ourselves wholly unto him.

1 Wherefore ¹we ought diligently to give heed to the things which ²we have heard, lest at any time we ³run out.

2 For if the ¹word spoken by Angels was steadfast, and every transgression, and disobedience received a just recompense of reward,

3 How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation, ¹which at the first began to be preached by the Lord, and afterward was confirmed unto us by ²them that heard him.

the holy Ghost, according to his own will?

5 ¹For he hath not put in subjection unto the Angels the ²world to come, whereof we speak.

6 ¹But ^bone in a certain place witnessed, saying, ²What is man, that thou shouldst be mindful of him? or the ³son of man, that thou wouldest consider him?

7 Thou ¹madest him a little inferior to the Angels: thou crownedst him with ²glory and honor, and hast set him above the works of thine hands.

8 "Thou hast put all things in subjection under his feet. And in that he hath put all things in subjection under him, he left nothing that should not be subject unto him. ¹But we yet see not all things subdued unto him,

9 ¹But we ²see Jesus crowned with glory and honor, ^dwhich was made little ³inferior to the Angels, ⁴through the ⁵suffering of death, that by God's grace he might ⁶taste death for ⁷all men.

10 ¹For it became ²him, for whom are all these things, and by whom are all these things, ³seeing that he brought many children unto glory, ⁴that

1:14 ¹ By that name by which we commonly call Princes' messengers, he here calleth the spirits.

2:1 ¹ Now as it were pausing with himself and showing to what end and purpose all these things were spoken, to wit, to understand by the excellency of Christ above all creatures, that his doctrine, majesty and Priesthood is most perfect, he useth an exhortation taken from a comparison.

² He maketh himself an hearer.

³ They are said to let the word run out, which hold it not fast when they have heard it.

2:2 ¹ The Law which appointed punishment for the offenders: and which Paul saith was given by Angels, Gal. 3:19, and Stephen, Acts 7:53.

2:3 ¹ If the breach and transgression of the word spoken by Angels was not suffered unpunished, much less shall it be lawful for us to neglect the Gospel which the Lord of Angels preached, and was confirmed by the voice of the Apostles, and with so many signs and wonders from heaven, and especially with so great and mighty working of the holy Ghost.

² By the Apostles.

2:4 ¹ This is the true end of miracles. Now they are called signs, because they appear one thing, and represent another: and they are called wonders, because they represent some strange and unaccustomed things and virtues, because they give us a glimpse of God's mighty power.

2:5 ¹ If it were an heinous matter to condemn the Angels which are but servants, much more heinous is it to condemn that most mighty King of the restored world.

² The world to come, whereof Christ is Father, Isa. 9:6, or the Church, which as a new world, was to be gathered together by the Gospel.

2:6 ¹ He sheweth that the use of this kingly dignity consisteth herein, that men might not only [in] Christ recover that dignity which they have lost, but also might be through him advanced above all things, which dignity of men David describeth most excellently.

² What is there in man that thou shouldst have so great regard of him, and do him that honor?

³ He calleth all the citizens of that heavenly kingdom as they are considered in themselves, before that God giveth them the liberty, of that city in Christ, Man, and Son of man.

2:7 ¹ This is the first honor of the citizens of the world to come, that they are next [to] the Angels.

² For they shall be in very great honor, when they shall be partakers of the kingdom. And he speaketh of the thing that shall be, as though it were already, because it is so certain.

2:8 ¹ An objection: But where is this so great rule and dominion?

2:9 ¹ The answer: this is already fulfilled in Jesus Christ our head, who was for a time for our sakes inferior to the Angels, being made man: but now is advanced into most high glory.

² By his virtue and power which appeareth manifestly in the Church.

³ Who abased himself for a season, and took upon him the position of a servant.

⁵ That he might die.

⁶ Feel death.

⁷ Herein consisteth the force of the argument: for we could not at length be glorified with him, unless he was abased for us even all the faithful. And by this occasion the Apostle cometh to the other part of the declaration of Christ's person, wherein he proveth him to be in such sort God, and he is also man.

2:10 ¹ He proveth moreover by other arguments, why it behooveth the Son of God who is true God (as he proveth a little before) to become man notwithstanding, subject to all miseries, sin only except.

² God.

³ First of all, because the Father, to whose glory all these things are to be referred, purposed to bring many sons unto glory. And how could he have men for his sons, unless his only begotten Son had become brother to men?

⁴ Secondly, The Father determined to bring those sons to glory, to wit, out of that ignominy wherein they lay before. Therefore the Son should not have been seen plainly to be made man, unless he had been made like unto other men, that he might come to glory in the selfsame way, by which he should bring others: yea rather, it became him which was Prince of the salvation of others, to be consecrated above others, through those afflictions, Prophet, King, and Priest, which are the parts of that principality for the salvation of others.

he should consecrate the ⁵Prince of their salvation through afflictions.

11 ¹For he that ²sanctifieth, and they which are sanctified, are all of ³one: wherefore he is not ashamed to call them brethren,

12 ¹Saying, ¹I will declare thy Name unto my brethren: in the midst of the Church will I sing praises to thee.

13 ¹And again, ¹I will put my ²trust in him. And again, ⁸³Behold, here am I, and the children which God hath given me.

14 Forasmuch then as the children are ¹partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part with them, that he might destroy ⁶through death, him that had the ²power of death, that is, the ³devil,

15 And that he might deliver all them, which for fear of ¹death were all their lifetime subject to bondage.

16 ¹For he in no sort took on him the ²Angels' nature, but he took on him the ³seed of Abraham.

17 ¹Wherefore in ²all things it behooved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be ³merciful, and a ⁴faithful high Priest in things concerning God, that he might make reconciliation for the sins of the people.

18 For in that he suffered, and was ¹tempted, he is able to succor them that are tempted.

3 ¹ Now he sheweth how far inferior Moses is to Christ, 5, 6 even so much as the servant to the Master: and so he bringeth in certain exhortations and threatenings taken out of David, 8 against such as either stubbornly resist, 12 or else are very slow to obey.

1 Therefore, ¹holy brethren, partakers of the heavenly vocation, consider the ²Apostle and high Priest of our ³profession Christ Jesus:

2 ¹Who was faithful to him that hath ²appointed him, ³even as "Moses was in all his house.

3 ¹For this man is counted worthy of more glory than Moses, inasmuch as he which hath builded the house, hath more honor than the house.

4 For every house is builded of some man, and he that hath built all things, is God.

⁵ The Chieftain, who as he is chiefest in dignity, so is he the first begotten from among the dead, amongst many brethren.

2:11 ¹ The ground of both the former arguments: for neither should we be sons through him, neither could he be consecrated through afflictions, unless he hath been made man like unto us. But because this Sonhood dependeth not upon nature only, for no man is accounted the son of God, unless that besides that he is a son of a man, he be also Christ's brother, (which is by sanctification, that is, by becoming one with Christ, who sanctifieth us through faith) therefore the Apostle maketh mention of the sanctifier, to wit, of Christ, and of them that are sanctified, to wit, of all the faithful, whom therefore Christ vouchsafeth to call brethren.

² He useth the time that now is, to show us that we are yet still going on, and increasing in this sanctification, and by sanctification he meaneth our separation from the rest of the world, our cleansing from sin, and our dedication wholly unto God, all which Christ alone worketh in us.

³ One, of one selfsame nature of man.

2:12 ¹ That which he taught before of the incarnation of the sanctifier, he applieth to the prophetic office.

2:13 ¹ He applieth the same to the kingly power of Christ in delivering his from the power of the devil and death.

² I will commit myself to him, and to his defense.

³ This Isaiah speaketh of himself and his disciples, but betokening thereby all ministers, as also his disciples signify the whole Church. And therefore seeing Christ is the head of the Prophets and ministers, these words are more rightly verified of him, than of Isaiah.

2:14 ¹ Are made of flesh and blood which is a frail and brittle nature.

² The devil is said to have the power of death, because he is the author of sin: and from sin cometh death, and for this cause he eggeth us daily to sin.

³ He speaketh of one as of the Prince, joining to him secretly all his angels.

2:15 ¹ By (death) thou must understand here that death which is joined with the wrath of God, as it must needs be, if it be without Christ, then there can be nothing devised more miserable.

2:16 ¹ He expoundeth those words of flesh and blood, showing that Christ is true man, and not by turning his divine nature, but by taking on man's nature. And he nameth Abraham, respecting the promises made to Abraham in this behalf.

² The nature of Angels.

³ The very nature of man.

2:17 ¹ He applieth the same to the Priesthood, for which he should not have benefit, unless he had become man, and that like unto us in all things, sin only except.

² Not only as touching nature, but qualities also.

³ That he might be truly touched with the feeling of our miseries.

⁴ Doing his office sincerely.

2:18 ¹ Was tried and egged to wickedness by the devil.

3:1 ¹ Having laid the foundation, that is to say, declared and proved both the natures of one selfsame Christ, he giveth him three offices, to wit, the office of a Prophet, king, and Priest: and as touching the office of teaching and governing, compareth them with Moses and Joshua, unto verse 14 of the next Chapter, and with Aaron touching the Priesthood. And he propoundeth that which he purposeth to speak of, with a most grave exhortation, that all our faith may tend to Christ, as to the only everlasting teacher, governor, and high Priest.

² The Ambassador or messenger, as Rom. 1:5, he is called the minister of circumcision.

³ Of the doctrine of the Gospel which we profess.

3:2 ¹ He confirmeth this exhortation with two reasons, first of all because Christ Jesus was appointed such an one of God: secondly, because he thoroughly executed the offices that his Father enjoined him.

² Apostle and high Priest.

³ Now he cometh to the comparison with Moses, and he maketh them like one to the other in this, that they were both appointed rulers over God's house, and executed faithfully their office: but by and by after he sheweth that there is great unlikeness in that similitude.

3:3 ¹ The first comparison: The builder of the house is better than the house itself, therefore is Christ better than Moses. The reason of the consequent is this: because the builder of this house is God, which cannot be attributed to Moses: and therefore Moses was not properly the builder, but a part of the house: but Christ as Lord and God, made all this house.

5 ¹Now Moses verily was faithful in all his house, as a servant, for a witness of the things which should be spoken after.

6 But Christ is as the Son, over his own house, ¹whose ²house we are, if we hold fast that ³confidence and that rejoicing of that hope unto the end.

7 Wherefore, as the holy Ghost saith, ^bToday if ye ¹shall hear his voice,

8 Harden not your hearts, as in the ¹provocation, according to the day of the temptation in the wilderness,

9 Where your fathers tempted me, proved me, and saw my works forty years long.

10 Wherefore I was grieved with that generation, and said, They ¹err ever in their heart, neither have they known my ways.

11 Therefore I swear in my wrath, If they shall enter into my rest.

12 ¹Take heed brethren, lest at any time there be in any of you an evil heart, and unfaithful, to depart away from the living God.

13 But exhort one another daily, ¹while it is called today, lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sin.

14 ¹For we are made partakers of Christ, if we keep sure unto the end that ²beginning, wherewith we are upholden, 15 ¹So long as it is said, Today if ye hear his voice, harden not your hearts, as in the provocation.

16 For some when they heard, provoked him to anger: howbeit, not all that came out of Egypt by Moses.

^a Ps. 95:11

17 But with whom was he displeased forty years? Was he not displeased with them that sinned, ¹whose carcasses fell in the wilderness?

18 And to whom swear he that they should not enter into his rest, but unto them that obeyed not?

19 So we see that they could not enter in, because of unbelief.

4 ¹ He joineth exhortation with threatening, lest they, even as their fathers were be deprived of the rest offered unto them, ¹¹ but that they endeavor to enter into it. ¹⁴ And so he beginneth to entreat of Christ's Priesthood.

1 Let us fear therefore, lest at any time by forsaking the promise of entering into his rest, any of you should seem to be deprived.

2 ¹For unto us was the Gospel preached as also unto them: but the word that they heard, profited not them, because it was not ²mixed with faith in those that heard it.

3 ¹For we which have believed, do enter into rest, as he said to the other, ^aAs I have sworn in my wrath, If they shall enter into my rest: although the works were finished from the foundation of the world.

4 For he spake in a certain place of the seventh day on this wise, ^bAnd God did rest the seventh day from all his works.

5 And in this place again, If they shall enter into my rest.

6 Seeing therefore it remaineth that some must enter therein, and they to whom it was first preached, entered not therein for unbelief's sake:

7 Again he appointed in David a certain day, by

3:5 ¹ Another comparison: Moses was a faithful servant in this house, that is, in the Church, seeing the Lord that was to come, but Christ ruleth and governeth his house as Lord.

3:6 ¹ He applieth the former doctrine to this end, exhorting all men by the words of David to hear the Son himself speak, and to give full credit to his words, seeing that otherwise they cannot enter into that eternal rest.

² To wit, Christ's.

³ He calleth that excellent effect of faith (whereby we cry, Abba, that is, Father) confidence, and to confidence he joineth hope.

3:7 ¹ So that God was to speak once again after Moses.

3:8 ¹ In the day that they vexed the Lord, or strove with him.

3:10 ¹ They are brutish and mad.

3:12 ¹ Now weighing the words of David, he sheweth first by this word, Today that we must not neglect the occasion while we have it: for that word is not to be restrained to David's time, but it comprehendeth all the time wherein God calleth us.

3:13 ¹ While today lasteth, that is to say, so long as the Gospel is offered to us.

3:14 ¹ Now he considereth these words, If you hear his voice, etc., showing that they are spoken and meant of the hearing of faith, against which he setteth hardening through unbelief.

² That beginning of trust and confidence: and after the manner of the Hebrews, he calleth that beginning, which is chiefest.

3:15 ¹ So long as this voice soundeth out.

4:2 ¹ By these words, His voice, he sheweth that David meant the preaching of Christ, who was then also preached, for Moses and the Prophets respected none other.

² He compareth the preaching of the Gospel to drink, which being drunk, that is to say, heard, profiteth nothing, unless it be tempered with faith.

4:3 ¹ Lest any man should object, that those words were meant of the Land of Canaan, and of Moses' doctrine, and therefore cannot well be drawn to Christ, and to eternal life, the Apostle sheweth that there are two manner of rests spoken of in the Scriptures: the one, of the seventh day, wherein God is said to have rested from all his works: the other is said to be that same, whereinto Joshua led the people: but this rest is not the last rest whereto we are called and that he proveth by two reasons. For seeing that David so long time after, speaking to the people which were then placed in the land of Canaan, useth these words, Today, and threateneth them still that they shall not enter into the rest of God, which refuseth then the voice of God that sounded in their ears, we must needs say that he meant another time than the time of Moses, and another rest than the rest of the land of Canaan: And that is, that everlasting rest, wherein we begin to live to God, after that the race of this life ceaseth: as God resteth the seventh day from those his works, that is to say, from making the world. Moreover, the Apostle therewithal signifieth that the way to this rest, which Moses and the land of Canaan and all that order of the Law did shadow, is opened in the Gospel only.

Today, after so long a time, saying, as it is said, 'This day, if ye hear his voice, harden not your hearts.

8 For if ¹Jesus had given them rest, then would he not after this have spoken of another day.

9 There remaineth therefore a rest to the people of God.

10 ¹For he that is entered into his rest, hath also ceased from his own works, as God did from his.

11 ¹Let us study therefore to enter into that rest, lest ²any man fall after the same example of disobedience.

12 ¹For the ²word of God is ³lively, and mighty in operation, and sharper than any two edged sword, and entereth through, even unto the dividing asunder of the ⁴soul and the ⁵spirit, and of the joints, and the marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts, and the intents of the heart.

13 Neither is there any creature, which is not manifest in ¹his sight: but all things are naked and open unto his eyes, with whom we have to do.

14 ¹Seeing then that we have a great high Priest, which is entered into heaven, even Jesus the Son of God, let us ²hold fast our profession.

15 ¹For we have not an high Priest, which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities, but was in all things tempted in like sort, yet without sin.

16 Let us therefore go boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may receive mercy, and find grace to help in time of need.

5 ¹First he sheweth the duty of the high Priest: ⁵Secondly, that Christ is appointed of God to be our high Priest, ⁷and that he hath fulfilled all things belonging thereunto.

1 For ¹every high Priest is taken from among men, and is ordained for men, in things pertaining to God, ²that he may offer both ³gifts and ⁴sacrifices for sins.

2 Which is ¹able sufficiently to have compassion ²on them that are ignorant, and that are out of the way, because that he also is ³compassed with infirmity,

3 And for the same sake he is bound to offer for sins, as well for his own part, as for the peoples.

4 ^a1 And no man taketh this honor unto himself, but he that is called of God, as was Aaron.

5 So likewise Christ took not to himself this honor to be made the high Priest, but he that said unto him, ^bThou art my son, this day begat I thee, gave it him.

6 As he also in another place speaketh, 'Thou art a Priest forever, after the ¹order of Melchizedek,

7 ¹Who in the ²days of his flesh did offer up prayers and supplications, with strong crying and tears unto him, that was able to ³save him from death, and was also heard in that which he feared.

8 And though he were the Son, yet ¹learned he

4:8 ¹ He speaketh of Joshua the son of Nun: and as the land of Canaan was a figure of our true rest, so was Joshua a figure of Christ.

4:10 ¹ As God rested the seventh day, so must we rest from our works, that is, from such as proceed from our corrupt nature.

4:11 ¹ He returneth to an exhortation.

² Lest any man become a like example of infidelity.

4:12 ¹ An amplification taken from the nature of the word of God, the power whereof is such, that it entereth even to the deepest and most inward and secret parts of the heart, wounding them deadly that are stubborn, and plainly quickening the believers.

² The doctrine of God which is preached both in the Law and in the Gospel.

³ He calleth the word of God lively by reason of the effects it worketh in them, to whom it is preached.

⁴ He calleth that the soul, which hath the affections resident in it.

⁵ By the spirit he meaneth that noblest part which is called the mind.

4:13 ¹ In God's sight.

4:14 ¹ Now he entereth into the comparison of Christ's Priesthood with Aaron's, and declareth even in the very beginning the marvelous excellency of this Priesthood, calling him the Son of God and placing him in the seat of God in heaven, plainly and evidently setting him against Aaron's Priests, and the transitory tabernacle: which comparisons he setteth forth afterward more at large.

² And let it not go out of your hands.

4:15 ¹ Lest he might seem by this great glory of our high Priest, to stay and stop us from going unto him, he addeth straightways after, that he is notwithstanding our brother indeed, (as he proved it also before) and that he accounteth all our miseries, as his own, to call us boldly to him.

5:1 ¹ The first part of the first comparison of Christ's high Priesthood, with Aaron's: Other high Priests are taken from among men, and are called after the order of men.

² The first part of the second comparison, Others as weak: are made high Priests, to the end that feeling the same infirmity in themselves which is in all the rest of the people, they should in their own and the people's name offer gifts and sacrifices, which are witnesses of common faith, and repentance.

³ Offering of things without life.

⁴ Beasts which were killed, but especially in the sacrifices for sins and offenses.

5:2 ¹ Fit and meet.

² On them that are sinful: for in the Hebrew tongue, under ignorance and error is every sin meant, even that sin that is voluntary.

³ For that he himself beareth about with him a nature subject to the same discommodities and vices.

5:4 ¹ The third comparison which is whole: The others are called of God, and so was Christ, but in another order than Aaron: for Christ is called the Son, begotten of God, and a Priest forever after the order of Melchizedek.

5:6 ¹ After the likeness or manner as it is afterward declared, Heb. 7:15.

5:7 ¹ The other part of the second comparison: Christ being exceedingly afflicted and exceedingly merciful, asked not for his sins, for he had none, but for his fear, and obtained his request, and offered himself for all his.

² While he lived here with us in our weak and frail nature.

³ To deliver him from death.

5:8 ¹ He learned indeed what it is to have a Father, whom a man must obey.

obedience, by the things which he suffered.

9 ¹And being ²consecrated, was made the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him:

10 And is called of God an high Priest after the order of Melchizedek.

11 ¹Of whom we have many things to say, which are hard to be uttered, because ye are dull of hearing.

12 ¹For when as concerning the time ye ought to be teachers, yet have ye need again that we teach you what are the first principles of the word of God: and are become such as have need of milk, and not of strong meat.

13 For everyone that useth milk, is inexpert in the ¹word of righteousness: for he is a babe.

14 But strong meat belongeth to them that are of age, which through long custom have their ¹wits exercised, to discern both good and evil.

6 1 He briefly toucheth the childish slothfulness of the Hebrews, 4 and terrifieth them with severe threatenings: 7 He stirreth them up to endeavor in time to go forward: 9 He hopeth well of them: 13 He allegeth Abraham's example: 17 and compareth faith that taketh hold on the word, 19 unto an anchor.

- 1 Therefore, leaving the doctrine of the ¹beginning of Christ, let us be led forward unto perfection, ²not laying again the foundation of repentance from dead works, and of faith toward God,
- 2 Of the doctrine of baptisms, and laying on of hands, and of the resurrection from the dead, and of eternal judgment.
- 3 And this will we do if God permit.

4 ^{a,1} For it is ²impossible that they which were once lightened, and have ³tasted of the heavenly gift, and were made partakers of the holy Ghost,

5 And have tasted of the good word of God, and of the powers of the world to come,

6 If they fall away, should be renewed again by repentance: seeing they ¹crucify again to themselves the Son of God, and make a mock of him.

7 ¹For the earth which drinketh in the rain that cometh oft upon it, and bringeth forth herbs meet for them by whom it is dressed, receiveth blessing of God.

8 But that which beareth thorns and briars, is reproved, and is near unto cursing, whose end is to be burned.

9 ¹But beloved, we have persuaded ourselves better things of you, and such as accompany salvation, though we thus speak.

10 ¹For God is not unrighteous, that he should forget your work, and labor of love, which ye showed toward his Name, in that ye have ministered unto the Saints, and yet minister.

11 And we desire that every one of you show the same diligence, to the full assurance of hope unto the end, 12 ¹That ye be not slothful, but followers of them, which through faith and patience, inherit the promises.

13 ¹For when God made the promise to Abraham, because he had no greater to swear by, he swore by himself,

14 Saying, ⁴Surely I will ¹abundantly bless thee, and multiply thee marvelously.

15 And so after that he had tarried patiently, he

5:9 ¹ The other part of the first comparison: Christ was consecrate of God the Father as the author of our salvation, and an high Priest forever, and therefore he is so a man that notwithstanding he is far above all men.

² See Heb. 2:10.

5:11 ¹ A digression, until he comes to the beginning of the seventh chapter: wherein he partly holdeth the Hebrews in the diligent consideration of those things which he hath said, and partly prepareth them to the understanding of those things whereof he will speak.

5:12 ¹ An example of an Apostolic chiding.

5:13 ¹ In the word that teacheth righteousness.

5:14 ¹ All their power whereby they understand and judge.

6:1 ¹ The first principles of Christian religion, which we call the Catechism.

² Certain principles of a Catechism, which comprehend the sum of the doctrine of the Gospel, were given in few words and briefly to the rude and ignorant, to wit, the profession of repentance and faith in God: the articles of which doctrine, were demanded of them which were not as yet received members of the Church, at the days appointed for Baptism: and of the children of the faithful which were baptized in their infancy: when hands were laid upon them. And of those articles, two are by name recited: the resurrection of the flesh, and the eternal judgment.

6:4 ¹ He addeth a vehemency to his exhortation, and a most sharp threatening of the certain destruction that shall come to them which fall from God and his religion.

² He speaketh of a general backsliding, and such as do altogether fall away from the faith, and not of sins which are committed through the frailty of man against the first and the second table.

³ We must mark the force of this word, for it is one thing to believe as Lydia did, whose heart God opened, Acts 16:13, and another thing to have some taste.

6:6 ¹ As men that hate Christ, and as though they crucified him again make him a mocking stock to all the world, and that to their own destruction, as Julian the Apostate or backslider did.

6:7 ¹ He setteth forth the former threatening with a similitude.

6:9 ¹ He mitigateth and assuageth all that sharpness, hoping better of them to whom he writeth.

6:10 ¹ He praiseth them for their charity, thereby encouraging them to go forward, and to hold out to the end.

6:12 ¹ He sheweth what virtues chiefly they have need of to go forward constantly, and also to profit: to wit, of charity, and patience: and lest any man should object and say, that these things are impossible to be done, he willet them to set before themselves the examples of their ancestors, and to follow them.

6:13 ¹ Another prick to prick them forward: Because the hope of the inheritance is certain, if we continue to the end, for God hath not only promised it, but also promised it with an oath.

6:14 ¹ I will heap up benefits most plentifully upon thee.

enjoyed the promise.

16 For men verily swear by him that is greater than themselves, and an oath for confirmation is among them an end of all strife.

17 So God, willing more ¹abundantly to show unto the heirs of promise the stableness of his counsel, bound himself by an oath,

18 That by two immutable things, wherein it is impossible that God should lie, we might have strong consolation, which have our refuge to lay hold upon that hope that is set before us,

19 ¹Which hope we have, as an anchor of the soul, but sure and steadfast, and it entereth into that which is within the veil.

20 ¹Whither the forerunner is for us entered in, even Jesus that is made an high Priest forever after the order of Melchizedek.

7 ¹He hath hitherto stirred them up, to mark diligently what things are to be considered in Melchizedek, ¹⁵ wherein he is like unto Christ. ²⁰ Wherefore the Law should give place to the Gospel.

1 For this ¹Melchizedek was King of Salem, the Priest of the most high God, who met Abraham, as he returned from the slaughter of the Kings, and ²blessed him:

2 To whom also Abraham gave the tithe of all things: who first is by interpretation King of righteousness: after that, he is also King of Salem, that is, King of peace,

CHAPTER 7

^a Gen. 14:18

^b Num. 18:21

3 ¹Without father, without mother, without kindred, and hath neither beginning of his days, neither end of life: but is likened unto the Son of God, and continueth a Priest forever.

4 ¹Now consider how great this man was, unto whom even the Patriarch Abraham gave the tithe of the spoils.

5 For verily they which are the children of Levi, which receive the office of the Priesthood, have a ^bcommandment to take, according to the Law, tithes of the people (that is, of their brethren) though they ¹came out of the loins of Abraham.

6 But he whose kindred is not counted among them, received tithes of Abraham, and blessed him that had the promises.

7 And ¹without all contradiction the less is blessed of the greater.

8 And here men that die, receive tithes: but there he receiveth them, of whom it is witnessed, that he liveth.

9 ¹And to say as the thing is, Levi also which receiveth tithes, payeth tithes in Abraham.

10 For he was yet in the loins of his father Abraham, when Melchizedek met him.

11 ¹If therefore ²perfection had been by the Priesthood of the Levites (for under it the Law was established to the people) what needed it furthermore, that another Priest should rise after the order of Melchizedek, and not to be called after the order of Aaron?

12 ¹For if the Priesthood be changed, then of necessity must there be a change of the ²Law.

6:17 ¹ More than was needful, were it not for the wickedness of men which believe not God, no though he swear.

6:19 ¹ He likeneth hope to an anchor: because that even as an anchor being cast into the bottom of the sea, stayeth the whole ship, so doth hope also enter even into the very secret places of heaven. And he maketh mention of the Sanctuary, alluding to the old tabernacle, and by this means returneth to the comparisons of the Priesthood of Christ with the Levitical.

6:20 ¹ He repeateth David's words, wherein all those comparisons whereof he hath before made mention, are signified, as he declareth in all the next chapter.

7:1 ¹ Declaring those words, According to the order of Melchizedek, whereupon that comparison standeth of the Priesthood of Christ with the Levitical: first Melchizedek himself is considered as the figure of Christ, and these are the hands of that comparison, Melchizedek was a King and a Priest: and such an one indeed is Christ alone. He was a King of peace and righteousness: such an one indeed is Christ alone.

² With a solemn and Priestly blessing.

7:3 ¹ Another figure: Melchizedek set before us to be considered as one without beginning and without ending, for neither his father, nor his mother, nor his ancestors, nor his death are written of: and such an one indeed is the Son of God, to wit, an everlasting Priest: as he is God, without mother wonderfully begotten: as he is man, without father wonderfully conceived.

7:4 ¹ Another figure: Melchizedek in consideration of his Priesthood was above Abraham, for he took tenths of him, and blessed him as a Priest: Such an one indeed is Christ, upon whom dependeth even Abraham's sanctification, and all the believers, and whom all men ought to worship and reverence as the author of all.

7:5 ¹ Were begotten by Abraham.

7:7 ¹ He speaketh of the public blessing which the Priests used.

7:9 ¹ A double amplification: The first, that Melchizedek took the tenths, as one immortal (to wit, in respect, that he is the figure of Christ, for his death is in no place made mention of, and David setteth him forth as an everlasting Priest) but the Levitical Priests, as mortal men, for they succeed one another: the second, that Levi himself was tithed in Abraham by Melchizedek. Therefore the Priesthood of Melchizedek (that is, Christ's who is pronounced to be an everlasting Priest according to his order) is more excellent than the Levitical.

7:11 ¹ The third treatise of this Epistle, wherein after he hath proved Christ to be a King, a Prophet, and a Priest, he now handleth distinctly the condition and excellency of all these offices, showing that all these were but shadows in all other, but in Christ they are true and perfect. And he beginneth with the Priesthood, wherewith also the former treatise ended, that by this means all the parts and members of this disputation, may better hang together. And first of all he proveth that the Levitical Priesthood was imperfect because another Priest is promised a long time after according to another order, that is to say, of another manner of rule and fashion.

² If the priesthood of Levi could have made any man perfect.

7:12 ¹ He sheweth how that by the institution of the new Priesthood, not only the imperfection of the Priesthood of Levi was declared, but also that it was changed for this: for these two cannot stand together, because that first appointment of the tribe of Levi, did shut forth the tribe of Judah, and made it also inferior to Levi: and this latter doth place the Priesthood in the tribe of Judah.

² Of the institution of Aaron.

13 For he of whom these things are spoken, pertaineth unto another tribe, whereof no man ¹served at the altar.

14 For it is evident, that our Lord sprung out of Judah, concerning the which tribe Moses spake nothing, touching the Priesthood.

15 ¹And it is yet a more evident thing, because that after the similitude of Melchizedek, there is risen up another Priest, 16 ¹Which is not made Priest after the ²Law of the carnal commandment, but after the power of the endless life.

17 For he testifieth thus, ^cThou art a Priest forever, after the order of Melchizedek.

18 ¹For the ²commandment that went afore, is disannulled, because of the weakness thereof, and unprofitableness.

19 For the Law made nothing perfect, but the bringing in of a better hope made perfect, whereby we draw near unto God.

20 ¹And forasmuch as it is not without an oath (for these are made Priests without an oath:

21 But this is made with an oath by him that said unto him, ^dThe Lord hath sworn, and will not repent, Thou art a Priest forever, after the order of Melchizedek.)

22 By so much is Jesus made a surety of a better Testament.

23 ¹And among them many were made Priests,

^c Ps. 110:4
^{Heb. 5:6}
^d Ps. 110:4
^e Lev. 16:11

because they were not suffered to endure, by the reason of death.

24 But this man, because he endureth ever, hath a Priesthood, which ¹cannot pass from one to another.

25 Wherefore, he is ¹able also perfectly to save them that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth, to make intercession for them.

26 ¹For such an high Priest it became us to have, which is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens:

27 Which needeth not daily as those high Priests to offer up sacrifice, ^cfirst for his own sins, and then for the peoples: ¹for ²that did he ³once, when he offered up himself.

28 For the Law maketh men high Priests, which have infirmity: but the ¹word of the oath ²that ³was since the Law, maketh the Son, who is consecrated for evermore.

8 ¹ To prove more certainly that the ceremonies of the Law are abrogated, ⁵ he sheweth that they were appointed to serve the heavenly pattern. ⁸ He bringeth in the place of Jeremiah, ¹³ to prove the amendment of the old covenant.

1 Now ¹of the things which we have spoken, this is the sum, that we have such an high Priest, that sitteth at the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in heavens,

2 ¹And is a minister of the ²Sanctuary, ³and of 7:13 ¹ Had anything to do about the altar.

7:15 ¹ Lest any man might object, that the Priesthood indeed was translated from Levi to Judah, but yet notwithstanding the same remaineth still, he both weigheth and expoundeth these words of David, forever, according to the order of Melchizedek, whereby also a divers institution of priesthood is well perceived.
7:16 ¹ He proveth the diversity and excellency of the institution of Melchizedek's Priesthood, by this, that the priesthood of the Law did stand upon an outward and bodily anointing: but the sacrifice of Melchizedek is set out to be everlasting and more spiritual.
² Not after the ordination, which commandeth frail and transitory things, as was done in Aaron's consecration, and all that whole Priesthood.
7:18 ¹ Again, that no man might object that the last Priesthood was added to make a perfect one, by the coupling of them both together, he proveth that the first was abrogated by the latter as unprofitable, and that by the nature of them both. For how could those corporal and transitory things sanctify us, either of themselves, or being joined with another?
² The ceremonial law.
7:20 ¹ Another argument whereby he proveth that the Priesthood of Christ is better than the Priesthood of Levi, because his was established with an oath, but theirs was not so.
7:23 ¹ Another argument tending to the same purpose. The Levitical Priests (as mortal men) could not be everlasting, but Christ as he is everlasting, so hath he also an everlasting Priesthood making most effectual intercession for them which by him come unto God.
7:24 ¹ Which cannot pass away.
7:25 ¹ He is fit and meet.
7:26 ¹ Another argument: There are required in an high Priest innocency, and perfect pureness, which may separate him from sinners, for whom he offereth. But the Levitical high Priests shall not be found to be such, for they offer first for their own sins: But Christ only is such a one; and therefore the true and only high Priest.

7:27 ¹ Another argument which notwithstanding he handleth afterward: The Levitical Priests offered sacrifice after sacrifice, first for themselves, and then for the people. But Christ offered not for himself, but for others, not sacrifices, but himself, not oftentimes, but once. And this ought not to seem strange; saith he, forso much as they are weak, but this man is consecrated an everlasting Priest, and that by an oath.
² That sacrifice which he offered.
³ It was so done, that it needeth not be repeated or offered again anymore.
7:28 ¹ The commandment of God which was bound with an oath.
² Another argument taken of the time: former things are taken away by the latter.
³ Exhibited.
8:1 ¹ He briefly repeateth that, whereunto all these things are to be referred, to wit, we have a far other high Priest than those Levitical high Priests are, even such an one as sitteth at the right hand of the most high God in heaven.
8:2 ¹ They of Levi were high Priests in an earthly sanctuary, but Christ is in the heavenly.
² Of heaven.
³ They of Levi exercised their Priesthood in a frail tabernacle, but Christ beareth about with him a far other tabernacle, to wit, his body which God himself made to be everlasting, as it shall afterward be declared, Heb. 9:11.

that ⁴true Tabernacle which the Lord pitched, and not man.

3 ¹For every high Priest is ordained to offer both gifts and sacrifices: wherefore it was of necessity, that this man should have somewhat also to offer.

4 ¹For he were not a Priest, if he were on the earth, seeing there are Priests that according to the Law offer gifts,

5 Who serve unto the pattern and shadow of heavenly things, as Moses was warned by God when he was about to finish the Tabernacle. ^aSee, said he, that thou make all things according to the pattern, showed to thee in the mount.

6 ¹But now our high Priest hath obtained a more excellent office, inasmuch as he is the Mediator of a better Testament, which is established upon better promises.

7 ¹For if that first Testament had been unblameable, no place should have been sought for the second.

8 For in rebuking them he saith, ^bBehold, the days will come, saith the Lord, when I shall make with the ¹house of Israel, and with the house of Judah a new Testament:

9 Not like the Testament that I made with their fathers, in the day that I took them by the hand, to lead them out of the land of Egypt: for they continued not in my Testament, and I regarded them not, saith the Lord.

10 For this is the Testament that I will make with the house of Israel, After those days, saith the Lord, I will put my Laws in their mind, and in their heart I will write them, and I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

11 And they shall not teach every man his neighbor, and every man his brother, saying, Know the Lord:

for all shall know me, from the least of them to the greatest of them.

12 For I will be merciful to their unrighteousness, and I will remember their sins and their iniquities no more.

13 ¹In that he saith a new Testament, he hath abrogated the old: now that which is disannulled and waxed old, is ready to vanish away.

9 ²Comparing the form of the Tabernacle, ¹⁰ and the ceremonies of the Law, ¹¹ unto the truth set out in Christ, ¹⁵ he concludeth that now there is no more need of another Priest, ²⁴ because Christ himself had fulfilled these duties under the new covenant.

1 Then ¹the first Testament had also ordinances of religion, and a ²worldly Sanctuary,

2 For the first Tabernacle was made, wherein was the candlestick, and the table, and the showbread, which Tabernacle is called the Holy places.

3 And after the ¹second veil was the Tabernacle, which is called the ²Holiest of all,

4 Which had the golden censer, and the Ark of the Testament overlaid round about with gold, wherein the golden pot, which had Manna, was, and ^aAaron's rod that had budded, and the ^btables of the Testament.

5 ^cAnd over the Ark were the glorious Cherubims, shadowing the ¹mercy seat: of which things we will not now speak particularly.

6 ¹Now when these things were thus ordained, the Priest went always into the first Tabernacle, and accomplished the service.

7 But into the second went the ^dhigh Priest alone, once every year, not without blood which he offered for himself, and for the ¹ignorances of the people.

⁴ Of his body.

8:3 ¹ He bringeth a reason why it must needs be that Christ should have a body (which he calleth a tabernacle which the Lord pight and not man) to wit, that he might have what to offer: for otherwise he could not be an high Priest. And the selfsame body is both the tabernacle and the sacrifice.

8:4 ¹ He giveth a reason why he said that our high Priest is in the heavenly sanctuary and not in the earthly: because, saith he, if he were now on the earth, he could not minister in the earthly sanctuary, seeing there are yet Levitical Priests, which are appointed for him, that is to say, to be patterns of that perfect example. And to what purpose should the patterns serve when the true and original example is present.

8:6 ¹ He entereth into the comparison of the old and transitory Testament or covenant being but for a time, whereof the Levitical Priests were mediators with the new the everlasting Mediator whereof is Christ, to show that this is not only better than that in all respects, but also that that was abrogated by this.

8:7 ¹ He proveth by the testimony of Jeremiah, that there is a second Testament or covenant, and therefore that the first was not perfect.

8:8 ¹ He calleth it an house, as it were one family of the whole kingdom: for whereas the kingdom of David was divided into two factions, the Prophet giveth us to understand that through the new Testament they shall be joined together again in one.

8:13 ¹ The conclusion: Therefore by the latter and the new, the first and old is taken away, for it could not be called new if it differed not from the old. And again that same is at length taken away: which is subject to corruption, and therefore imperfect.

9:1 ¹ A division of the first Tabernacle which he calleth worldly, that is to say, transitory and earthly into two parts, to wit, into the holy places and the Holiest of all.

² An earthy and a flitting.

9:3 ¹ He calleth it the second veil, not because there were two veils, but because it was behind the Sanctuary or the first Tabernacle.

² The holiest Sanctuary.

9:5 ¹ The Hebrews call the cover of the Ark of the covenant, the mercy seat, whom both the Greeks and we follow.

9:6 ¹ Now he cometh to the sacrifices which he divideth into those daily sacrifices, and that yearly and solemn sacrifice, with the which the high Priest only, but once every year entering into the Holiest of all with blood, offered for himself and the people.

9:7 ¹ For the sins. See Heb. 5:2.

8 ¹Whereby the holy Ghost this signified, that the way into the Holiest of all was not yet opened, while as yet the first tabernacle was standing,

9 ¹Which was a figure ²for that present time, wherein were offered gifts and sacrifices that could not make holy, concerning the conscience, him that did the service,

10 ¹Which only stood in meats and drinks, and divers washings, and carnal rites, ²which were en-joined, until the time of reformation.

11 ¹But Christ being come an high Priest of good things to come, ²by a ³greater and a more perfect Tabernacle, not made with hands, that is, not of this building, 12 ¹Neither by the blood of ²goats and calves: but by his own blood entered he in once unto the holy place, and obtained eternal redemption for us.

13 ¹For if the blood of bulls and of goats, and the ashes of an heifer, sprinkling them that are unclean, sanctifieth as touching the ²purifying of the flesh,

^c Lev. 16:14

14 How much more shall the ^ablood of Christ which through the eternal Spirit offered himself without fault to God, ^gpurge your conscience from ¹dead works, to serve the living God?

15 ¹And for this cause is he the Mediator of the new Testament, that through ^hdeath which was for the redemption of the transgressions that were in the former Testament, they which were called, might receive the promise of eternal inheritance.

16 ¹For where a Testament is, there must be the death of him that made the Testament.

17 ¹For the Testament is confirmed when men are dead: for it is yet of no force as long as he that made it, is alive.

18 ¹Wherefore, neither was the first ordained without blood.

19 For when Moses had spoken every precept to the people, ¹according to the Law, he took the blood of calves and of goats, with water and purple wool and hyssop, and ²sprinkled both the book, and all

9:8 ¹ Of that yearly rite and ceremony he gathereth that the way was not by such sacrifices opened into heaven, which was shadowed by the Holiest of all. For why did the high Priest alone enter in thither, shutting out all other, and that to offer sacrifices there both for himself and for others, and after did shut the Holiest of all again?

9:9 ¹ An objection: If the way were not opened into heaven by those sacrifices (that is to say, If the worshippers were not purged by them) why then were those ceremonies used? to wit, that men might be called back to that spiritual example, that is to say, to Christ, who should correct all those things at his coming.

² For that time that that figure had to last.

9:10 ¹ Another reason why they could not make clean the conscience of the worshipper, to wit, because they were outward and carnal or corporal things.

² For they were as you would say a burden, from which Christ delivered us.

9:11 ¹ Now he entereth into the declaration of the figures, and first of all comparing the Levitical high Priest with Christ, (that is to say, the figure with the thing itself) he attributeth to Christ the administration of good things to come, that is, everlasting, which those carnal things had respect unto.

² Another comparison of the first corruptible Tabernacle with the latter (that is to say, with the human nature of Christ) which is the true incorruptible Temple of God, whereinto which the Son of GOD entered, as the Levitical high Priests into the other which was frail and transitory.

³ By a more excellent and better.

9:12 ¹ Another comparison of the blood of sacrifices with Christ. The Levitical high Priests entering by their holy places into the Sanctuary, offered corruptible blood for one year only: but Christ entering into that holy body of his, entered by it into heaven itself, offering his own most pure blood for an everlasting redemption: For one selfsame Christ answereth both to the high Priest, and the Tabernacle, and the sacrifices, and offering themselves, as the truth to the figures, so that Christ is both the high Priest, and Tabernacle, and Sacrifice, yea, all these both truly, and forever.

² For in this yearly sacrifice of reconciliation, there were two kinds of sacrifices, the one a goat, the other a heifer, or calf.

9:13 ¹ If the outward sprinkling of blood and ashes of beasts, was a true and effectual sign of purifying and cleansing, how much more shall the thing itself and the truth being present, which in times past was shadowed by those external Sacraments, that is to say, his blood which is in such sort man's blood, that is also the blood of the Son of God, and therefore hath an everlasting virtue of purifying and cleansing, does it?

² He considereth the signs apart, being separate from the thing itself.

9:14 ¹ From sins which proceed from death, and bring forth nothing but death.

9:15 ¹ The conclusion of the former argument: therefore seeing the blood of beasts did not purge sins, the new Testament which was before time promised, whereunto those outward things had respect, is now indeed established, by the virtue whereof all transgressions might be taken away, and heaven indeed opened unto us: whereof it followeth that Christ shed his blood also for the Fathers: For he was shadowed by those old ceremonies, otherwise, unless they had served to represent him, they had been nothing at all profitable. Therefore this Testament is called the latter, not concerning the virtue of it, (that is to say, remission of sins) but in respect of that time, wherein the thing itself was finished, that is to say, wherein Christ was indeed exhibited to the world, and fulfilled all things which were necessary to our salvation.

9:16 ¹ A reason why the Testament must be established by the death of the Mediator, because this Testament hath the condition of a Testament or gift, which is made effectual by death, and therefore that it might be effectual, it must needs be that he that made the Testament, should die.

9:18 ¹ There must be a proportion between those things which purify, and those which are purified: Under the Law all those figures were earthly, the Tabernacle, the book, the vessels, the sacrifices, although they were the figures of heavenly things. Therefore it was requisite that all those should be purified with some matter and ceremony of the same nature, to wit, with the blood of beasts, with water, wool, hyssop. But under Christ all things are heavenly, an heavenly tabernacle, an heavenly sacrifice, an heavenly people, an heavenly doctrine, and heaven itself is set open before us for an eternal habitation. Therefore all these things are sanctified in like sort, to wit, with the everlasting offering of the quickening blood of Christ.

9:19 ¹ As the Lord had commanded.

² He useth to sprinkle.

the people,

20 ^jSaying, This is the blood of the Testament, which God hath appointed unto you.

21 Moreover, he sprinkled likewise the Tabernacle with blood also, and all the ministering vessels,

22 And almost all things are by the Law purged with blood, and without shedding of blood is no remission.

23 It was then necessary, that the ¹similitudes of heavenly things should be purified with such things: but the heavenly things themselves are purified with better sacrifices than are these.

24 ¹For Christ is not entered into the holy places that are made with hands, which are similitudes of the true Sanctuary: but is entered into very heaven, to appear now in the sight of God for us,

25 ¹Not that he should offer himself often, as the high Priest entered into the Holy place every year with others' blood, 26 ¹(For then must he have often suffered since the foundation of the world) but now in the ²end of the world hath he been made manifest, once to put away ³sin by the sacrifice of himself.

27 And as it is appointed unto men that they shall ¹once die, and after that cometh the judgment:

28 So ^kChrist was once offered to take away the sins of ¹many, ²and unto them that look for him, shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation.

^j Exod. 24:8

CHAPTER 10

^a Ps. 40:7

10 ¹He proveth that the sacrifices of the Law were imperfect, ²because they were yearly renewed. ⁵But that the sacrifice of Christ is one, and perpetual. ⁶he proveth by David's testimony: ¹⁹Then he addeth an exhortation, ²⁹and severely threateneth them that reject the grace of Christ. ³⁶In the end he praiseth patience, ³⁸that cometh of faith.

1 For ¹the law having the shadow of good things to ²come, and not the very image of the things, can never with those sacrifices, which they offer year by year continually, sanctify the comers thereunto.

2 For would they not then have ceased to have been offered, because that the offerers once purged, should have had no more conscience of sins?

3 But in those sacrifices there is a remembrance again of sins every year.

4 For it is impossible that the blood of bulls and goats should take away sins.

5 ¹Wherefore when he ²cometh into the world, he saith, "Sacrifice and offering thou wouldest not: but a ³body hast thou ordained me.

6 In burnt offerings, and sin offerings thou hast had no pleasure.

7 Then I said, Lo, I come (in the beginning of the book it is written of me) that I should do thy will, O God.

8 Above, when he said, Sacrifice and offering, and burnt offerings, and sin offerings, thou wouldest not have, neither hadst pleasure therein (which are

9:23 ¹ The similitudes of heavenly things were earthly, and therefore they were to be set forth with earthly things, as with the blood of beasts, and wool, and hyssop. But under Christ all things are heavenly, and therefore they could not but be sanctified with the offering of his lively blood.

9:24 ¹ Another double comparison: the Levitical high Priest entered into the Sanctuary, which was made indeed by the commandment of God, but yet with men's hands, that it might be a pattern of another more excellent, to wit, of the heavenly place. But Christ entered even into heaven itself. Again, he appeared before the Ark, but Christ before God the Father himself.

9:25 ¹ Another double comparison: the Levitical high Priest offered other blood, but Christ offered his own: he every year once iterated his offering: Christ offering himself but once, abolished sin altogether, both of the former ages and of the ages to come.

9:26 ¹ An argument to prove that Christ's offering ought not to be repeated: Seeing that sins were to be purged from the beginning of the world, and it is proved that sins cannot be purged, but by the only blood of Christ: he must needs have died oftentimes since the beginning of the world. But a man can die but once: therefore Christ's oblation which was once done in the latter days, neither could nor can be repeated. Seeing then it is so, surely the virtue of it extendeth both to sins that were before, and to sins that are after his coming.

² In the latter days.

³ That whole root of sin.

9:27 ¹ He speaketh of the natural state and condition of man: For as for Lazarus and certain others that died twice, that was no usual thing but extraordinary, and for them that shall be changed, their changing is a kind of death, 1 Cor. 15:51.

9:28 ¹ Thus the general promise is restrained to the elect only: and we have to seek the testimony of our election: not in the secret counsel of God, but in the effects that our faith worketh, and so we must climb up from the lowest step to the highest, there to find such comfort as is most certain, and shall never be moved.

² Shortly by the way he setteth out Christ as Judge, partly to terrify them, which do not rest themselves in the only oblation of Christ once made, and partly to keep the faithful in their duty, that they will go not back.

10:1 ¹ He preventeth a privy objection. Why then were those sacrifices offered? The Apostle answereth first touching that yearly sacrifice which was the solemnest of all, wherein (saith he) there was made every year a remembrance again of all former sins. Therefore that sacrifice had no power to sanctify: for to what purpose should those sins which are purged be repeated again, and wherefore should new sins come to be repeated every year, if those sacrifices did abolish sin?

² Of things which are everlasting, which were promised to the Fathers, and exhibited in Christ.

10:5 ¹ A conclusion following of those things that went before, and comprehending also the other sacrifices. Seeing that the sacrifices of the Law could not do it, therefore Christ speaking of himself as of our high Priest manifested in the flesh, witnesseth evidently that God resteth not in the sacrifices, but in the obedience of his Son our high Priest, in which obedience he offered up himself once to his Father for us.

² The Son of God is said to come into the world, when he was made man.

³ It is word for word in the Hebrew text, Thou hast pierced mine ears through, that is, thou hast made me obedient, and willing to hear.

offered by the Law.)

9 Then said he, Lo, I come to do thy will, O God, he taken away the ¹first, that he may stablish the second.

10 By the which will we are sanctified, even by the offering of the body of Jesus Christ once made.

11 ¹And every Priest ²standeth daily ministering, and oftentimes offereth one manner of offering, which can never take away sins:

12 But this man after he had offered one sacrifice for sins, ^bsitteth forever at the right hand of God, 13 ¹And from henceforth tarrieth, 'till his enemies be made his footstool.

14 For with one offering hath he consecrated forever them that are sanctified.

15 ¹For the holy Ghost also beareth us record: for after that he had said before,

16 ^dThis is the Testament that I will make unto them after those days, saith the Lord, I will put my Laws in their heart, and in their minds I will write them.

17 And their sins and iniquities will I remember ¹no more.

18 Now where remission of these things is, there is no more offering for ¹sin.

19 ¹Seeing therefore, brethren, that by the blood of Jesus we may be bold to enter into the Holy place,

20 By the new and living way, which he hath prepared for us, through the veil, that is, his ¹flesh:

21 And seeing we have an high Priest, which is over the house of God,

22 ¹Let us draw near with a ²true heart in assurance of faith, our ³hearts being pure from an evil conscience,

23 And washed in our bodies with ¹pure water, let us keep the profession of our hope, without wavering, (for he is faithful that promised.)

24 And let us consider one another, to provoke unto love, and to good works,

25 Not forsaking the fellowship that we have among ourselves, as the manner of some is: but let us exhort one another, ¹and that so much the more, because ye see that the day draweth near.

26 ¹For if we sin ¹willingly after that we have received and acknowledged that truth, there remaineth no more sacrifice for sins,

27 But a fearful looking for of judgment, and violent fire, which shall devour the ¹adversaries.

28 ¹He that despiseth Moses' Law, dieth without mercy ¹under two, or three witnesses:

29 Of how much sorer punishment suppose ye shall he be worthy, which treadeth under foot the Son of God, and counteth the blood of the Testament as an unholy thing, wherewith he was sanctified, and doeth despite the Spirit of grace?

30 ¹For we know him that hath said, ^gVengeance

10:9 ¹ That is the sacrifices, to establish the second, that is, the will of God.

10:11 ¹ A conclusion, with the other part of the comparison. The Levitical high Priest repeateth the same sacrifices daily in his sanctuary: whereupon which it followeth that neither those sacrifices, neither those offerings, neither those high Priests could take away sins. But Christ, having offered one sacrifice once for the sins of all men, and having sanctified his own forever, sitteth at the right hand of the Father, having all power in his hands.

² At the altar.

10:13 ¹ He preventeth a privy objection, to wit, that yet notwithstanding we are subject to sin and death, whereunto the Apostle answereth, that the full efficacy of Christ's virtue hath not yet showed itself, but shall at length appear when he will at once put to flight all his enemies, with whom as yet we strive.

10:15 ¹ Although there do yet remain in us relics of sin, yet the work of our sanctification which is to be perfected, hangeth upon the self-same sacrifice which never shall be repeated: and that the Apostle proveth by alledging again the testimonies of Jeremiah, thus, Sin is taken away by the new Testament, seeing the Lord saith that it shall come to pass, that according to the form of it, he will no more remember our sins: Therefore we need now no purging sacrifice to take away that which is already taken away, but we must rather take pains, that we may now through faith be partakers of that sacrifice.

10:17 ¹ Why then, where is the fire of Purgatory, and that Popish distinction of the fault and the punishment?

10:18 ¹ He said well, for sin: for there remaineth another offering, to wit, of thanksgiving.

10:19 ¹ The sum of the former treatise: We are not shut out now of the holy place, as the Fathers were, but we have an entrance into the true holy place (that is, into heaven) seeing that we are purged with the blood not of beasts, but of Jesus. Neither as in times past, doth the high Priest shut us out by setting the veil against us, but through the veil, which is his flesh, he hath brought us into heaven itself, being present with us, so that we have now truly an high Priest, which is over the house of God.

10:20 ¹ So Christ's flesh sheweth us the Godhead as it were under a veil, for otherwise we were not able to abide the brightness of it.

10:22 ¹ A most grave exhortation, wherein which he sheweth how that sacrifice of Christ may be applied to us: to wit, by faith, which also he describeth, by the consequence, to wit, by sanctification of the Spirit, which causeth us surely to hope in God, and to procure by all means possible one another's salvation, through the love that is in us one toward another.

² With no double and counterfeit heart, but with such an heart as is truly and indeed given to God.

³ This is it which the Lord saith, Be ye holy, for I am holy.

10:23 ¹ With the grace of the holy Ghost.

10:25 ¹ Having mentioned the last coming of Christ, he stirreth up the godly to the meditation of an holy life, and cites the faithless fallers from God, to the fearful judgment seat of the judge, because they wickedly rejected him in whom only salvation consisteth.

10:26 ¹ Without any cause or occasion, or show of occasion.

10:27 ¹ For it is another matter to sin through the frailty of man's nature, and another thing to proclaim war as it were to God as to an enemy.

10:28 ¹ If the breach of the Law of Moses was punished by death, how much more worthy death is it to fall away from Christ?

10:30 ¹ The reason of all these things is, because God is a revenger of such as despise him: otherwise he should not rightly govern his Church. Now there is nothing more horrible then the wrath of the living God.

belongeth unto me: I will recompense, saith the Lord. And again, The Lord shall ²judge his people.

31 It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God.

32 ¹Now call to remembrance the days that are passed, in the which, after ye had received light ye endured a great fight in afflictions,

33 Partly while ye were made a ¹gazing stock both by reproaches and afflictions, and partly while ye became ²companions of them which were so tossed to and fro.

34 For both ye sorrowed with me for my bonds, and suffered with joy the spoiling of your goods, knowing in yourselves how that ye have in heaven a better, and an enduring ¹substance.

35 Cast not away therefore your confidence which hath great recompense of reward.

36 For ye have need of patience, that after ye have done the will of God, ye might receive the promise.

37 For yet a very ¹little while, and he that shall come, will come, and will not tarry.

38 ^{b,1}Now the just shall live by faith: but if any withdraw himself, my soul shall have no pleasure in him.

39 But we are not they which withdraw ourselves unto perdition, but follow faith unto the conservation of the soul.

11 ¹*He declareth in the whole Chapter, that the Fathers, which from the beginning of the world were approved of God, attained salvation no other way than by faith, that the Jews may know that by the same only, they are knit unto the Fathers in an holy union.*

1 Now ¹faith is the grounds of things which are hoped for, and the evidence of things which are not seen.

2 ¹For by it our ²elders were well reported of.

3 ^{a,1}Through faith we understand that the world was ordained by the word of God, so that the things which we ²see, are not made of things which did appear.

4 ¹By faith Abel ^boffered unto God a greater sacrifice than Cain, by ^cthe which he obtained witness that he was righteous, God testifying of his gifts: by the which faith also he being dead, yet speaketh.

5 ¹By faith was ^dEnoch translated, that he should not ²see death: neither was he found: for God had translated him: for before he was translated, he was reported of, that he had pleased God.

6 But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God, must believe that God is, and that he is a ¹rewarder of them that seek him.

7 ¹By faith ^eNoah being warned of God of the things which were as yet not seen, moved with reverence, prepared the Ark to the saving of his household, through the which Ark he condemned the world, and was made heir of the righteousness, which is by faith.

8 ¹By faith ^fAbraham, when he was called, obeyed God, to go out into a place, which he should afterward receive for inheritance, and he went out, not knowing whither he went.

9 By faith he abode in the land of promise, as in a strange country, as one that dwelt in tents with Isaac and Jacob heirs with him of the same promise.

10 For he looked for a city having a ¹foundation, whose builder and maker is God.

11 Through faith ^gSarah also received strength to conceive seed, and was delivered of a child when she was past age, because she judged him faithful which had promised.

12 And therefore sprang thereof one, even of one which was ¹dead, so many as the stars of the sky in multitude, and as the sand of the sea shore which is innumerable.

² In taking their miseries, to be your miseries.

10:37 ¹ He will come within this very little while.

10:38 ¹ He commendeth the excellency of a sure faith by the effect, because it is the only way to life, which sentence he setteth forth and amplifieth by setting the contrary against it.

11:1 ¹ An excellent description of faith by the effects, because it representeth things which are but yet in hope, and setteth as it were before our eyes things that are invisible.

11:2 ¹ He sheweth that the Fathers ought to be accounted of, by this virtue.

² That is, those Fathers of whom we came: and whose authority and example ought to move us very much.

11:3 ¹ He sheweth the propriety of faith, by setting unto us most piked examples of such as from the beginning of the world excelled in the Church.

14 For they that say such things, declare plainly, that they seek a country.

15 And if they had been mindful of that country, from whence they came out, they had leisure to have returned.

16 But now they desire a better, that is an heavenly: wherefore God is not ashamed of them to be called their God: for he hath prepared for them a city.

17 By faith ^bAbraham offered up Isaac, when he was ¹tried, and he that had received the ²promises, offered his only begotten son.

18 (To whom it was said, ⁱIn Isaac shall thy seed be called.)

31 ¹By faith the ²harlot ^tRahab perished not with them which obeyed not, when ^ushe had received the spies ³peaceably.

32 ¹And what shall I more say? for the time would be too short for me to tell of ^vGideon, of ^wBarak, and of ^xSamson, and of ^yJephthah, also of David, and Samuel, and of the Prophets:

8 If therefore ye be without correction, whereof all are partakers, then are ye bastards, and not sons.

9 ¹Moreover we have had the fathers of our bodies which corrected us, and we gave them reverence: should we not much rather be in subjection unto the father of spirits, that we might live?

10 ¹For they verily for a few days chastened us after their own pleasure, but he chastened us for our profit, that we might be partakers of his holiness.

11 Now no chastising for the present seemeth to be joyous, but grievous: but afterward, it bringeth the quiet fruit of righteousness, unto them which are thereby exercised.

² But saw Christ afar off.

11:40 ¹ For their salvation did hang upon Christ, who was exhibited in our days.

12:1 ¹ An applying of the former examples, whereby we ought to be stirred up to run the whole race, casting away all stops and impediments.

² For sin besiegeth us on all sides, so that we cannot escape out.

12:2 ¹ He setteth before us, as the mark of this race, Jesus himself our captain, who willingly overcame all the roughness of the same way.

² As it were upon the mark of our faith.

³ Whereas he had all kind of blessedness in his hand and power, yet suffered willingly the ignominy of the cross.

12:3 ¹ An amplification taken of the circumstance of the person, and the things themselves, which he compareth betwixt themselves: for how great is Jesus in comparison of us, and how far more grievous things did he suffer than we?

12:4 ¹ He taketh an argument of the profit which cometh to us by God's chastisements, unless we be in fault. First of all because sin, or that rebellious wickedness of our flesh, is by this means turned.

12:5 ¹ Secondly, because they are testimony of his fatherly good will toward us, insomuch that they show themselves to be bastards, which cannot abide to be chastened of God.

12:9 ¹ Thirdly, if all men yield this right to fathers, to whom next after God we owe this life, that they may rightfully correct their children, shall we not be much more subject to that our Father, who is the Author of the spiritual and everlasting life?

12:10 ¹ An amplification of the same argument: Those fathers have corrected us after their fancy, for some frail and transitory profit: but God chasteneth and instructeth us for our singular profit, to make us partakers of his holiness: which thing although these our senses do not presently perceive, yet the end of the matter proveth it.

12:12 ¹ The conclusion, we must go forward courageously and keep always a right course, and (as far forth as we may) without any staggering or stumbling.

² The description of a man that is out of heart and clean discouraged.

12:13 ¹ Keep a right course, and so, that you show example of good life for others to follow.

12:14 ¹ We must live in peace, and holiness with all men.

12:15 ¹ We must study to edify one another, both in doctrine and example of life.

² That no heresy, or backsliding be an offense.

12:16 ¹ We must eschew fornication, and a profane mind, that is, such a mind, as giveth not to God his due honor, which wickedness how severely God will at length punish, the horrible example of Esau teacheth us.

12:17 ¹ There was no place left for his repentance: and it appeareth by the effects, what his repentance was, for when he was gone out of his father's sight, he threatened his brother to kill him.

12:18 ¹ Now he applieth the same exhortation, to the Prophetical and kingly office of Christ compared with Moses, after this sort, If the majesty of the Law was so great, how great think you that the glory of Christ and the Gospel is? And this comparison he declareth also particularly.

3 Remember them that are in bonds, as though ye were bound with them: and them that are in affliction, as ¹if ye were also afflicted in the body.

4 ¹Marriage is honorable among all, and the bed undefiled: but whoremongers and adulterers God will judge.

5 ¹Let your conversation be without covetousness, and be content with those things that ye have, for ²he hath said,

12:25 ¹ The applying of the former comparison, If it were not lawful to condemn his word which spake on the earth, how much less his voice which is from heaven?

12:26 ¹ He compareth the steadfast majesty of the Gospel, where-with the whole world was shaken, and even the very frame of heaven was as it were astonished, with the small and vanishing sound of the governance by the Law.

² It appeareth evidently in this that the Prophet speaketh of the calling of the Gentiles, that these words must be referred to the kingdom of Christ.

12:28 ¹ A general exhortation to live reverently and religiously under the most happy subjection of so mighty a king, who as he blesteth his most mightily, so doth he most severely revenge the rebellious. And this is the sum of a Christian life, respecting the first table.

² By reverence is meant that honest shamefastness which keepeth them in their duties.

³ Religious and godly fear.

13:1 ¹ He cometh to the second table, the sum whereof is charity, especially toward strangers and such as are afflicted.

13:3 ¹ Be so much touched, as if their misery were yours.

13:4 ¹ He commendeth chaste matrimony in all sorts of men, and threateneth utter destruction from God, against whoremongers and adulterers.

13:5 ¹ Covetousness is condemned, against which is set a contented mind with that which the Lord hath given.

² Even the Lord himself.

13:7 ¹ He setteth man against God.

13:8 ¹ We have to set before us the examples of valiant Captains, whom we ought diligently to follow.

² He repeateth the sum of the doctrine, to wit, the only ground of all precepts of manners, and that is this: That we ought to quiet and content ourselves in Christ only: for there was yet never any man saved without the knowledge of him, neither is at this day saved, neither shall be saved hereafter.

13:9 ¹ He toucheth them which mixed an external worship, and especially the difference of meats, with the Gospel, which doctrine he plainly condemneth as clean repugnant to the benefit of Christ.

² By this one kind which concerneth the difference of clean and unclean meats, we have to understand all the ceremonial worship.

³ Which observed the difference of them superstitiously.

10 ¹We have an ²altar, whereof they have no authority to eat, which ³serve in the Tabernacle.

11 ¹For the bodies of those beasts whose blood is brought into the holy place by the high Priest for sin, are burnt without the camp.

12 Therefore even Jesus, that he might sanctify the people with his own blood, suffered without the gate.

13 ¹Let us go forth to him therefore out of the camp, bearing his reproach.

14 ²For here have we no continuing city: but we seek one to come.

15 ¹Let us therefore by him offer the sacrifice of praise always to God, that is, the ²fruit of the lips, which confess his Name.

22 I beseech you also, brethren, suffer the words of exhortation: for I have written unto you in few words.

23 Know that our brother Timothy is delivered, with whom (if he come shortly) I will see you.

24 Salute all them that have the oversight of you, and all the Saints. They of Italy salute you.

25 Grace be with you all, Amen.

¶ Written to the Hebrews from Italy, and sent by Timothy.

13:10 ¹ He refuteth their error by an apt and fit comparison. They which in times past served the Tabernacle, did not eat of the sacrifices whose blood was brought for sin into the holy place by the high Priest. Moreover these sacrifices did represent Christ our offering. Therefore they cannot be partakers of him which serve the Tabernacle, that is, such as stand in the service of the Law: but let not us be ashamed to follow him out of Jerusalem, from whence he was cast out and suffered: for in this also Christ, who is the truth, answereth that figure, in that he suffered without the gate.

² By the Altar, he meaneth the offering.

³ Whereof they cannot be partakers which stubbornly retain the rites of the Law.

13:13 ¹ He goeth on further in this comparison, and sheweth that this also signified unto us, that the godly followers of Christ must as it were go out of the world, bearing his cross.

13:15 ¹ Now that those corporal sacrifices are taken away, he teacheth us that the true sacrifices of confession remain, which consist partly in giving of thanks, and partly in liberality, with which sacrifices indeed God is now delighted.

13:17 ¹ We must obey the warnings and admonitions of our Ministers and Elders, which watch for the salvation of the souls which are committed unto them.

13:18 ¹ The last part of this Epistle, wherein he commendeth his ministry to the Hebrews, and wisheth them continuance and increase of graces from the Lord: and excuseth himself in that he hath used but few words to comfort them, having spent the Epistle in disputing: and saluteth certain brethren familiarly and friendly.

13:21 ¹ Make you fit or meet.

² Hence cometh that saying of the Fathers, that God crowneth his works in us.

1:1 ¹ To all the believing Jews, of what Tribe soever they be, and are dispersed through the whole world.

1:2 ¹ The first place or part touching comfort in afflictions, wherein we ought not be cast down and be fainthearted, but rather rejoice and be glad.

² Seeing their condition was miserable in that scattering abroad, he doth well to begin as he doth.

³ The first argument, because our faith is tried through afflictions: which ought to be most pure, for so it is behoovable for us.

1:3 ¹ The second, Because patience, far passing and most excellent virtue, is by this means engendered in us.

² That wherewith your faith is tried, to wit, those manifold temptations.

1:4 ¹ The third argument propounded in manner of an exhortation, that true and continual patience may be discerned from fained and for a time. The cross is as it were the instrument wherewith God doth polish and [re]fine us. Therefore the work and effect of afflictions, is the perfecting of us in Christ.

1:5 ¹ An answer to a privy objection: It is easily said, but it is not so easily done. He answereth that we need in this case a far other manner of wisdom, than the wisdom of man, to judge those things best for us, which are most contrary to the flesh: but yet we shall easily obtain this gift of wisdom, if we ask it rightly, that is, with a sure confidence of God, who is most bountiful and liberal.

² By wisdom he meaneth the knowledge of that doctrine whereof mention was made before, to wit, wherefore we are afflicted of God, and what fruit we have to reap of affliction.

1:9 ¹ He returneth to his purpose, repeating the proposition, which is, that we must rejoice in the cross, for it doth not press us down, but exalt us.

² Who is afflicted with poverty, or contempt, or with any kind of calamity.

1:10 ¹ Before he concludeth, he giveth a doctrine contrary to the former: to wit, how we ought to use prosperity, which is plenty of all things: to wit, so that no man therefore please himself, but be so much the more void of pride.

² Who hath all things at his will.

³ An argument taken of the very nature of the things themselves, for that they are most vain and uncertain.

1:11 ¹ Whatsoever he either purposeth in his mind, or doeth.

1:12 ¹ The conclusion: Therefore we must patiently bear the cross: and he addeth a fourth argument, which comprehendeth the sum of all the former, to wit, because we come by this way to the crown of life, but yet of grace according to the promise.

² Affliction whereby the Lord trieth him.

1:13 ¹ The third part of this Epistle, wherein he descendeth from outward tentations, that is, from afflictions, whereby God trieth us, to inward, that is, to those lusts whereby we are stirred up to do evil. The sum is this: Every man is the author of these temptations to himself, and not God: for we bear about in our bosoms that wicked corruption, which taketh occasions by what means soever, to stir up evil motions in us, whence out at length proceed wicked doing, and in conclusion followeth death the just reward of them.

² When he is provoked to do evil.

³ Here is a reason showed, why God cannot be the author of evil doing in us, because he desireth not evil.

evil, neither tempteth he any man.

14 But every man is tempted, when he is drawn away by his own concupiscence, and is enticed.

15 Then when lust hath conceived, it bringeth forth ¹sin, and sin when it is finished, bringeth forth death.

16 ¹Err not my dear brethren.

17 Every good giving and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the ¹Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither ²shadow of turning.

18 ¹Of his own ²will begat he us with the word of truth, that we should be as the ³firstfruits of his creatures.

19 Wherefore my dear brethren, let every man be swift to hear, slow to speak, and slow to wrath.

20 For the wrath of man doth not accomplish the ¹righteousness of God.

21 Wherefore lay apart all filthiness, and superfluity of maliciousness, and receive with ¹meekness the word that is grafted in you, which is able to save your souls.

22 ¹And be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only, ²deceiving your own selves.

23 ¹For if any hear the word, and do it not, he is like unto a man, that beholdeth his ²natural face in a glass.

24 For when he hath considered himself, he goeth his way, and forgetteth immediately what manner of one he was.

25 But who so looketh in the perfect law of liberty, and continueth therein, he not being a forgetful hearer, but a doer of the work, shall be blessed in his ¹deed.

26 ¹If any man among you seem religious, and refraineth not his tongue, but deceiveth his ²own heart, this man's religion is vain.

27 ¹Pure religion and undefiled before God, even the Father, is this, to ²visit the fatherless, and widows in their adversity, and to keep himself unspotted of the world.

2 ¹He sayeth, that to have respect of persons is not agreeable to Christ's faith, ¹⁴ which to profess in words is not enough, unless ¹⁵ we show it also in deeds of mercy and charity, ²¹ after the example of Abraham.

1 My ¹brethren, have not the faith of our ²glorious Lord Jesus Christ "in respect of persons.

2 For if there come into your company a man with a gold ring, and in goodly apparel, and there come in also a poor man in vile raiment,

3 And ye have a respect to him that weareth the gay clothing; and say unto him, Sit thou here in a ¹goodly place, and say unto the poor, Stand thou there, or sit here under my footstool,

4 Are ye not partial in ¹your selves, and are become Judges of evil thoughts?

5 ¹Hearken my beloved brethren, hath not God chosen the ²poor of this world, that they should be rich in faith, and heirs of the kingdom which he

1:15 ¹ By sin is meant in this place actual sin.

1:16 ¹ Another reason taken of contraries: God is the author of all goodness, and so, that he is always like himself; how then can he be thought to be author of evil?

1:17 ¹ From him who is the fountain and author of all goodness.

² He goeth on in the metaphor: for the sun by his manifold and sundry kinds of turning, maketh hours, days, months, years, light and darkness.

1:18 ¹ The fourth part concerning the excellency and fruit of the word of God. The sum is this: we must hear the word of God most carefully and diligently, seeing it is the seed, wherewith God of his free favor and love hath begotten us unto himself, picking us out of the number of his creatures. And the Apostle condemneth two faults, which do greatly trouble us in this matter, to wit, for that we so please ourselves, that we had rather speak ourselves than hear God speaking: yea, we snuff and are angry when we are reprehended: against which faults, he setteth a peaceable and quiet mind, and such an one as is desirous of purity.

² This is it which Paul calleth gracious favor, and good will, which is the fountain of our salvation.

³ As it were an holy kind of offering, taken out of the residue of man.

1:20 ¹ That which God appointeth.

1:21 ¹ By meekness, he meaneth modesty, and whatsoever is contrary to an haughty and proud stomach.

1:22 ¹ Another admonition. Therefore is God's word heard, that we may frame our lives according to the prescript thereof.

² He addeth reasons, and those most weighty: first, because they that do otherwise, do very much hurt themselves.

1:23 ¹ Secondly, because they lose the chiefest use of God's word, which correct not by it the faults that they know.

² He alludeth to that natural spot, to which is contrary that purity whereunto we are born again, the lively image whereof we behold in the Law.

1:25 ¹ Behaving himself so: for works do show faith.

1:26 ¹ The third admonition: The word of God prescribeth a rule not only to do well, but also to speak well.

² The fountain of all brabbling, and cursed speaking, and sauciness, is this, that men know not themselves.

1:27 ¹ The fourth: the true service of God standeth in charity toward our neighbors (especially such as need others' help, as the fatherless and widows), and purity of life.

² To have a care of them, and to help them as much as we can.

2:1 ¹ The fifth: Charity which proceedeth from a true faith, cannot stand with the accepting of persons: which he proveth plainly by setting forth their example, who with the reproach or disdain of the poor, honor the rich.

² For if we knew what Christ's glory is, and esteemed it as we ought to do, there would not be such respect of persons as there is.

2:2 ¹ In a worshipful and honorable place.

2:4 ¹ Have ye not (which you ought not to do) by this means with yourselves judged one man to be preferred before another?

2:5 ¹ He showeth that they are perverse and naughty Judges, which prefer the rich before the poor, by that that God on the contrary side preferreth the poor, whom he hath enriched with true riches, before the rich.

² The needy and wretched, and (if we measure it after the opinion of the world) the veriest abjects of all men.

promised to them that love him?

6 But ye have despised the poor. ¹Do not the rich oppress you by tyranny, and do they not draw you before the judgment seats?

7 Do not they blaspheme the worthy Name after which ye be ¹named?

8 ¹But if ye fulfill the ²royal Law according to the Scripture, which saith, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself, ye do well.

9 But if ye regard the persons, ye commit sin, and are rebuked of the Law, as transgressors.

10 ¹For whosoever shall keep the whole Law, and yet faileth in one point, he is guilty of ²all.

11 ¹For he that said, Thou shalt not commit adultery, said also, Thou shalt not kill. Now though thou doest none adultery, yet if thou killest, thou art a transgressor of the Law.

12 ¹So speak ye, and so do, as they that shall be judgeth by the Law of liberty.

13 For there shall be condemnation merciless to him that sheweth not ¹mercy, and mercy rejoiceth against condemnation.

14 ¹What availeth it my brethren, though a man saith, he hath faith, when he hath no works? can that faith save him?

15 ¹For if a brother or a sister be naked and destitute of daily food,

16 And one of you say unto them, Depart in peace: warm yourselves, and fill your bellies, notwithstanding ye give them not those things, which are needful to the body, what helpeth it?

17 Even so the faith, if it have no works, is dead in itself.

18 But ¹some man might say, Thou hast the faith, and I have works: show me thy faith out of thy works, and I will show thee my faith by my works.

19 ¹Thou believest that there is one God: thou doest well: the devils also believe it, and tremble.

20 ¹But wilt thou understand, O thou vain man, that the faith which is without works, is dead?

21 Was not Abraham our father ¹justified through works, ^bwhen he offered Isaac his son upon the altar?

22 Seest thou not that the faith ¹wrought with his works? and through the works was the faith made ²perfect.

23 And the Scripture was ¹fulfilled which saith, ^cAbraham believed God, and it was imputed unto him for righteousness: and he was called the friend of God.

24 ¹Ye see then how that of works a man is ²justified, and not of ³faith only.

2:6 ¹ Secondly, he proveth them to be mad men: for that the rich men are rather to be holden execrable and cursed, considering that they persecute the Church, and blaspheme Christ: for he speaketh of wicked and profane rich men, such as the most part of them have been always, against whom he setteth the poor and abject.

2:7 ¹ Word for word, which is called upon of you.

2:8 ¹ The conclusion: Charity which God prescribeth cannot agree with the accepting of persons, seeing that we must walk in the King's highway.

² The Law is said to be royal and like the King's highway, for that it is plain and without turnings, and that the Law calleth everyone our neighbor, without respect, whom we may help by any kind of duty.

2:10 ¹ A new argument to prove the same conclusion: They do not love their neighbors, which neglect some, and ambitiously honor others: for he doth not obey God, which cutteth off from the commandments of God that that is not so commodious for him, nay he is rather guilty generally for the breach of the whole Law, although he observe the residue.

² Not that all sins are equal, but because he that breaketh one tittle of the Law, offendeth the majesty of the Lawgiver.

2:11 ¹ A proof: because the Lawmaker is always one and the self-same, and the body of the Law cannot be divided.

2:12 ¹ The conclusion of the whole treatise: we are upon this condition delivered from the curse of the Law by the mercy of God, that in like sort we should maintain and cherish charity and goodwill one towards another, and whoso doth not so, shall not taste of the grace of God.

2:13 ¹ He that is hard and currish against his neighbor, or else helpeth him not, he shall find God an hard and rough Judge to himself.

2:14 ¹ The fifth place which hangeth very well with the former treatise, touching a true and lively faith. And the proposition of this place is this: faith which bringeth not forth works, is not that faith whereby we are justified, but an image of faith: or else this, they are not justified by faith, which show not the effects of faith.

2:15 ¹ The first reason taken of a similitude: If a man say to one that is hungry, Fill thy belly, and yet giveth him nothing, this shall not be true charity: so if a man say he believeth, and bringeth forth no works of his faith, this shall not be a true faith, but a certain dead thing set out with the name of faith, whereof no man hath to brag, unless he will openly incur reprehension, seeing that the cause is understood by the effects.

2:18 ¹ Nay, thus may every man beat down the pride.

2:19 ¹ Another reason taken of an absurdity: If such a faith were the true faith whereby we are justified, the devils should be justified: for they have that, but yet notwithstanding they tremble, and are not justified therefore, neither is that faith a true faith.

2:20 ¹ The third reason from the example of Abraham, who no doubt had a true faith: but he in offering his son, showed himself to have that faith which was not void of works, and therefore he received a true testimony when it was said, that faith was imputed to him for righteousness.

2:21 ¹ Was he not by his works known and found to be justified? for he speaketh not here of the causes of justification, but by what effects we may know that a man is justified.

2:22 ¹ Was effectual and fruitful with good works.

² That the faith was declared to be a true faith, and that by works.

2:23 ¹ Then was the Scripture fulfilled, when it appeared plainly, how truly it was written of Abraham.

2:24 ¹ The conclusion: he is only justified that hath that faith which hath works following it.

² Is proved to be just.

³ Of that dead and fruitless faith which you boast of.

25 ¹Likewise also was not ^dRahab the harlot justified through works, when she had received the messengers, and sent them out another way?

26 ¹For as the body without the spirit is dead, even so the faith without works is dead.

3 ²To show that a Christian man must govern his tongue with the bridle of faith and charity, ⁶ he declareth the commodities and mischiefs that ensue thereof: ¹⁵ and how much man's wisdom ¹⁷ differeth from heavenly.

1 My ¹brethren, be not many masters, ²knowing that we ³shall receive the greater condemnation.

2 For in many things we ¹sin all. ²If any man sin not in word, he is a perfect man, and able to bridle all the body.

3 ¹Behold, we put bits into the horses' mouths, that they should obey us, and we turn about all their body.

4 Behold also the ships, which though they be so great, and are driven of fierce winds, yet are they turned about with a very small rudder, whithersoever the governor listeth.

5 Even so the tongue is a little member, and boasteth of great things: ¹behold, how great a thing a little fire kindleth.

6 And the tongue is fire, yea, a ¹world of wickedness: so is the tongue set among our members, that it defileth the whole body, and ²setteth on fire the course of nature, and it is set on fire of hell.

7 For the whole nature of beasts, and of birds, and of creeping things, and things of the sea is tamed, and hath been tamed of the nature of man.

^d Josh. 2:1

8 But the tongue can no man tame. It is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison.

9 ¹Therewith bless we God even the Father, and therewith curse we men, which are made after the ²similitude of God.

10 ¹Out of one mouth proceedeth blessing and cursing: my brethren, these things ought not so to be.

11 Doth a fountain send forth at one place sweet water and bitter?

12 Can the fig tree, my brethren, bring forth olives, either a vine figs? so can no fountain make both salt water and sweet.

13 ¹Who is a wise man and endued with knowledge among you? let him show by good conversation his works in meekness of wisdom.

14 But if ye have bitter envying and strife in your hearts, rejoice not, neither be liars against the truth.

15 This wisdom descendeth not from above, but is earthly, sensual, and devilish.

16 For where envying and strife is, there is sedition, and all manner of evil works.

17 But the wisdom that is from above, is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, easy to be entreated, full of ¹mercy and good fruits, without judging, and without hypocrisy.

18 ¹And the fruit of righteousness is sown in peace, of them that make peace.

4 ¹He reckoneth up the mischiefs that proceed of the works of the flesh. ⁷ He exhorteth to humility, ⁸ and to purge the heart ³ from pride, ¹⁰ backbiting, ¹⁴ and the forgetfulness of our own infirmity.

2:25 ¹ A fourth reason taken from a like example of Rahab the harlot, who also proved by her works that she was justified by a true faith.

2:26 ¹ The conclusion repeated again: faith which bringeth not forth fruits and works, is not faith, but a dead carcass.

3:1 ¹ The sixth part or place: Let no man usurp (as most men ambitiously do) authority to judge and censure others righteously.

² A reason: Because they provoke God's severity against themselves, which do so curiously and rigorously condemn others, being themselves guilty and faulty.

³ Unless we surcease from this masterlike and proud finding fault with others.

3:2 ¹ Or, stumble.

² The seventh place, touching the bridling of the tongue, joined with the former, so that it is manifest that there is no man which may not justly be found fault withal, seeing it is a rare virtue to bridle the tongue.

3:3 ¹ He sheweth by two similitudes the one taken from the bridles of horses, the other from the rudders of ships, how great matters may be brought to pass by the good moderation of the tongue.

3:5 ¹ On the contrary part he sheweth how great discommodities arise by the intemperance of the tongue, throughout the whole world, to the end that men may so much the more diligently give themselves to moderate it.

3:6 ¹ An heap of all mischiefs.

² It is able to set the whole world on fire.

3:9 ¹ Amongst other faults of the tongue, the Apostle chiefly reproveth backbiting and speaking evil of our neighbors, even in them especially which otherwise will seem godly and religious.

² He denieth by two reasons, that God can be praised by that man, that useth cursed speaking, or to backbite: first because man is the image of God, which whosoever reverenceth not doth not honor God himself.

3:10 ¹ Secondly, because the order of nature which God hath set in things, will not suffer things that are so contrary the one to the other, to stand the one with the other.

3:13 ¹ The eighth part which hangeth with the former, touching meekness of mind, against which he setteth envy and a contentious mind. And in the beginning he stoppeth the mouth of the chief fountain of all these mischiefs, to wit, a false persuasion of wisdom, whereas notwithstanding there is no true wisdom, but that is heavenly, and frameth our minds to all kinds of true moderation and simplicity.

3:17 ¹ He setteth mercy against the fierce and cruel nature of man, and sheweth that heavenly wisdom bringeth forth good fruits, for he that is heavenly wise, referreth all things to God's glory, and the profit of his neighbor.

3:18 ¹ Because the world persuadeth itself that they are miserable which live peaceably and simply, on the contrary side the Apostle pronounceth that they shall at the length reap the harvest of peaceable righteousness.

1 From ¹whence are wars and contentions among you? are they not hence, even of your pleasures, that fight in your members?

2 Ye lust, and have not: ye envy, and desire immoderately, and cannot obtain: ye fight, and war, and get nothing, ¹because ye ask not.

3 Ye ask, and receive not, because ye ask amiss, that ye might lay the same on your pleasures.

4 ¹Ye adulterers and adulteresses, know ye not that the amity of the world is the enmity of God? Whosoever therefore will be a friend of the world, maketh himself the enemy of God.

5 ¹Do ye think that the Scripture saith in vain, The spirit that dwelleth in us, lusteth after envy?

6 But the Scripture offereth more grace, and therefore saith, ^aGod resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble.

7 ^{b,1}Submit yourselves to God: resist the devil, and he will flee from you.

8 Draw near to God, and he will draw near to you. Cleanse your hands, ye sinners, and purge your hearts, ye double minded.

9 ¹Suffer afflictions, and sorrow ye, and weep: let your laughter be turned into mourning, and your joy into ²heaviness.

10 ¹Cast down yourselves before the Lord, and he will lift you up.

11 ¹Speak not evil one of another, brethren. He that speaketh evil of his brother, or he that condemneth his brother, speaketh evil of the Law, and condemneth the Law: and if thou condemnest the Law, thou art not an observer of the Law, but a judge.

12 There is one Lawgiver, which is able to save, and to destroy, ^dWho art thou that judgest another man?

13 ¹Go to now, ye that say, Today or tomorrow we will go into such a city, and continue there a year, and buy and sell, and get gain,

14 (And yet ye cannot tell what shall be tomorrow. For what is your life? It is even a vapor that appeareth for a little time, and afterward vanisheth away.)

15 For that ye ought to say, ¹If the Lord will, and if we live, we will do this or that.

16 But now ye rejoice in your boastings: all such rejoicing is evil.

17 ¹Therefore to him that knoweth how to do well, and doeth it not, to him it is sin.

5 ¹He threateneth the rich with God's severe judgment, for their pride, ⁷that the poor hearing the miserable end of the rich, ⁸may patiently bear afflictions, ¹¹as Job did, ¹⁴even in their distresses.

1 Go ¹to now, ye rich men: weep, and howl for your miseries that shall come upon you.

2 Your riches are corrupt, and your garments are moth eaten.

3 Your gold and silver is cankered, and the rust of them shall be a witness against you, and shall eat your flesh, as it were fire. Ye have heaped up treasure for the last days.

4 Behold, the hire of the laborers, which have reaped your fields (which is of you kept back by fraud) crieth, and the cries of them which have reaped, are entered into the ¹ears of the Lord of hosts.

5 Ye have lived in pleasure on the earth, and in

4:1 ¹ He goeth on forward in the same argument, condemning certain other causes of wars and contentions, to wit, unbridled pleasures and immoderate lusts, by their effects, for so much as the Lord doth worthily make them void, so that they bring nothing else to them in whom they are but incurable torments.

4:2 ¹ He reprehendeth them by name, which are not ashamed to go about to make God the minister and helper of their lusts and pleasures, in asking things which either are of themselves unlawful, or being lawful, ask them to wicked purposes and uses.

4:4 ¹ Another reason why such unbridled lusts and pleasures are utterly to be condemned, to wit, because that he that giveth himself to the world, divorceth himself from God, and breaketh the band of that holy and spiritual marriage.

4:5 ¹ The taking away of an objection: Indeed our minds run headlong into these vices, but we ought so much the more diligently take heed of them: which care and study shall not be in vain, seeing that God resists the stubborn, and giveth that grace to the modest and humble that surmounteth all those vices.

4:7 ¹ The conclusion: We must set the contrary virtues against those vices, and therefore whereas we obeyed the suggestions of the devil, we must submit our minds to God, and resist the devil, with a certain and assured hope of victory: To be short, we must employ ourselves to come near unto God by purity and sincerity of life.

4:9 ¹ He goeth on in the same comparison of contraries, and setteth against those profane joys with an earnest sorrow of mind, and against pride and arrogance, holy modesty.

² By this word the Greeks meant an heaviness joined with shamefastness, which is to be seen in a cast down countenance, and settled as it were upon the ground.
4:11 ¹ He reprehended most sharply another double mischief of pride: the one is in that the proud and arrogant will have other men to live according to their will and pleasure and therefore they do most arrogantly condemn whatsoever pleaseth them not: which thing cannot be done without great injury to our only Lawmaker, for by this means his Laws are found fault withal, as not circumspectly enough written, and men challenge that unto themselves which properly belongeth to God alone, in that they lay a Law upon men's consciences.
4:13 ¹ The other fault is this: that men do so confidently determine upon these and those matters and businesses, as though that every moment of their life did not depend of God.
4:17 ¹ The conclusion of all the former treatise: The knowledge of the will of God doth not only nothing at all profit, unless the life be answerable unto it, but also maketh the sins far more grievous.
5:1 ¹ He denounceth utter destruction to the wicked and profane rich men, and such as are drowned in their riotousness, mocking at their foolish confidence when as there is nothing indeed more vain than such things.
5:4 ¹ The Lord who is more mighty than ye are, hath heard them.

wantonness. Ye have ¹nourished your hearts, as in a ²day of slaughter.

6 Ye have condemned, and have killed the just, and he hath not resisted you.

7 ¹Be patient therefore, brethren, unto the coming of the Lord. ²Behold, the husbandman waiteth for the precious fruit of the earth, and hath long patience for it, until he receive the former, and the latter rain.

8 Be ye also patient therefore, and settle your hearts: for the coming of the Lord draweth near.

9 ^{1,2}Grudge not one against another, brethren, lest ye be condemned: ³behold, the judge standeth before the door.

10 ¹Take, my brethren, the Prophets for an example of suffering adversity, and of long patience, which have spoken in the name of the Lord.

11 Behold, we count them blessed which endure. Ye have heard of the patience of Job, and have known what ¹end the Lord made. For the Lord is very pitiful and merciful.

12 ¹But before all things, my brethren, ²swear not, neither by heaven, nor by earth, nor by any other oath: but let ²your yea, be yea, and your nay, nay, lest ye fall into condemnation.

1 Kings 18:45

Luke 4:25

^d Matt. 8:15

13 ¹Is any among you afflicted? Let him pray. Is any merry? Let him sing.

14 ¹Is any sick among you? Let him call for the Elders of the Church, and let them pray for him, and anoint him with ^{b,2}oil in the ³Name of the Lord.

15 And the prayer of faith shall save the sick, and the Lord shall raise him up: and if he have committed ¹sins, they shall be forgiven him.

16 ¹Acknowledge your faults one to another, and pray one for another, that ye may be healed: ²for the prayer of a righteous man availeth much, if it be fervent.

17 ¹Elijah was a man subject to like passions as we are, and he prayed earnestly that it might not rain, and it rained not on the earth for three years and six months.

18 And he prayed again: and the heaven gave rain, and the earth brought forth her fruit.

19 ¹Brethren, ²If any of you hath erred from the truth, and some man hath ²converted him,

20 Let him know that he which hath converted the sinner from going astray out of his way, shall save a soul from death, and shall hide a multitude of sins.

5:5 ¹ Ye have pampered up yourselves.

² The Hebrews call a day that is appointed to solemn banqueting, a day of slaughter or feasting.

5:7 ¹ He applieth that to the poor, which he spake against the rich, warning them to wait for the Lord's coming patiently, who will revenge the injuries which the rich men do them.

² The taking away of an objection: Although his coming serve to linger, yet at the least we must follow the husbandmen, who do patiently wait for the times that are proper for the fruits of the earth. And again, God will not defer the least iota of the time that he hath appointed.

5:9 ¹ He commendeth Christian patience, so that whereas others through impatience use to accuse one another, the faithful on the contrary side complain not, although they receive injury.

² By grudging, he meaneth a certain inward complaining which betokeneth impatience.

³ The conclusion: The Lord is at the door, who will defend his own, and revenge his enemies, and therefore we need not to trouble ourselves.

5:10 ¹ Because most men are wont to object, that it is good to repel injuries by what means soever, he setteth against that, the examples of the Fathers, whose patience had a most happy end, because God as a most bountiful Father, never forsaketh his.

5:11 ¹ What end the Lord gave.

5:12 ¹ Because even the best men sometimes through impatience break out into oaths sometimes lesser, sometimes greater, the Apostle warneth us to detest such wickedness, and to accustom our tongues to simple and true talk.

² That that you have to say or affirm, speak or affirm it simply, and without an oath: and that that you will deny, deny it simply and flatly.

5:13 ¹ He sheweth the best remedy against all afflictions, to wit, prayers which have their place both in sorrow and joy.

5:14 ¹ He sheweth peculiarly, to what physicians especially we must go, when we are diseased, to wit, to the prayers of the Elders, which then also could cure the body, (for so much as the gift of healing was then in force) and take away the chiefest cause of sickness and diseases, by obtaining for the sick through their prayers and exhortations, remission of sins.

² This was a sign of the gift of healing: and now seeing we have the gift no more, the sign is no longer necessary.

³ By calling on the Name of the Lord.

5:15 ¹ He hath reason in making mention of sins, for diseases are for the most part sent because of sins.

5:16 ¹ Because God pardoneth their sins which confess and acknowledge them, and not theirs which justify themselves, therefore the Apostle addeth, that we ought freely to confer one with another touching those inward diseases, that we may help one another with our prayers.

² He commendeth prayers by the effects that come of them, that all men may understand that there is nothing more effectual than they are, so that they proceed from a pure mind.

5:19 ¹ The taking away of an objection: All reprehensions are not condemned, seeing that on the contrary part there is nothing more acceptable to God, than to call into the way a brother that was wandering out of the way.

² Hath called him back from his way.

THE FIRST EPISTLE GENERAL OF PETER

1 1 He extolleth God's mercy showed in Christ, which we lay hold on by faith, and possess through hope: 10 whereof the Prophets foretold. 13 He exhorteth 15 to renounce the world, 23 and their former life, and so wholly yield themselves to God.

1 PETER an Apostle of JESUS CHRIST, to the strangers that dwell here and there throughout Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia and Bithynia,

2 ¹Elect according to the ²foreknowledge of God the Father unto ³sanctification of the Spirit, through obedience and sprinkling of the blood of Jesus Christ: Grace and peace be multiplied unto you.

3 Blessed be God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a ¹lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead,

4 To an inheritance immortal and undefiled, and that withereth not, reserved in heaven for us,

5 ¹Which are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation, which is prepared to be showed in the ²last time.

6 Wherein ye rejoyce, though now for a season (if need require) ye are in heaviness, through manifold tentations,

7 That the trial of your faith, being much more precious than gold that perisheth (though it be tried with fire) might be found unto your praise, and honor and glory at the ¹appearing of Jesus Christ:

8 Whom ye have not seen, and yet love him, in whom now, though ye see him not, yet do you believe, and rejoyce with [joy] unspeakable and glorious,

9 Receiving the ¹end of your faith, even the salvation of your souls.

10 ¹Of the which salvation the Prophets have inquired and searched, which prophesied of the grace that should come unto you,

11 Searching when or what time the Spirit which testified before of Christ which was in them, should declare the sufferings that should come unto Christ, and the glory that should follow.

12 Unto whom it was revealed, that not unto themselves, but unto us they should minister the things, which are showed unto you by them which have preached unto you the Gospel by the holy Ghost ¹sent down from heaven, the which things the Angels desire to behold.

13 ¹Wherefore ²gird up the loins of your mind:

1:2 ¹ Peter purposing to speak of the duties of a Christian life, reasoneth first of the principles and beginning of all Christian actions, rising far higher than nature, and carrying us also far above the same. For he sheweth that we which are otherwise of nature sinners, were through the free mercy of God the Father first chosen from everlasting: then according to that everlasting decree were by a certain second creation made his sons in Christ his only begotten, by whose Spirit we are inwardly changed, and by whose blood we also are reconciled, to the end, that as Christ himself rose again from the dead, we also might be received into that same heavenly and everlasting glory.

² Or according to the purpose of God, who never altereth nor changeth the same.

³ That being set apart from the rest of the wicked world, through the working of the holy Ghost, they should be consecrate to God, Eph. 1:5.

1:3 ¹ Everlasting hope.

1:5 ¹ Now he sheweth by what way we come unto that glory, to wit, through all kinds of afflictions, wherein notwithstanding faith maketh us so secure, that we are not only not overcome with sorrow, but also through the beholding of God himself (who otherwise is invisible) with the eyes of faith are unspeakably joyful: because all such things, as they are but for a time, so are they not applied unto us to destroy us, but as it were by fire to purge us, and to make us perfect, that at the length we may obtain salvation.

² This is that time which Daniel calleth the time of the end, when as that great restoring of all things shall be, which all creatures look for. Rom. 8:19.

1:7 ¹ He speaketh of the second coming of Christ.

1:9 ¹ Or, reward.

1:10 ¹ He putteth a difference between true faith, that is to say, that faith which only hath an eye to the doctrine of the Prophets and Apostles, and false faith: Afterward he maketh two degrees of one and the selfsame faith, according to the manner of the divers revelations, when as indeed it is but one only faith: Thirdly, he saith, that the preaching of the Apostles is the fulfilling of the preaching of the Prophets, although the latter end of it be as yet looked for of the very Angels.

1:12 ¹ He alludeth to the prophecy of Joel, which was exhibited upon the day of Pentecost, in the Apostles, as it were in the firstfruits of the holy Ghost, which this same our Peter declareth, Acts 2:6.

1:13 ¹ He goeth from faith to hope, which is indeed a companion that cannot be sundered from faith: and he useth an argument taken of comparison: We ought not to be wearied in looking for so excellent a thing, which the very Angels wait for with great desire.

² This is a borrowed speech, taken of a common usage amongst them: for by reason that they wore long garments, they could not travel unless they girded up themselves: and hence it is that Christ said, Let your loins be girded up.

be sober, ³and trust ⁴perfectly on that grace ⁵that is brought unto you, ⁶in the revelation of Jesus Christ,

14 ¹As obedient children, not fashioned yourselves unto the former lusts of your ignorance:

15 But as he which hath called you, is holy, so be ye holy in ^aall manner of conversation, 16 ¹Because it is written, ^bBe ye holy, for I am holy.

17 ¹And if ye ²call him Father, which without respect of person judgeth according to every man's work, pass the time of your dwelling here in fear.

18 ¹Knowing that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation, received by the traditions of the fathers, 19 ^dBut with the precious blood of Christ, as of a Lamb undefiled, and without spot.

20 ¹Which was ordained before the ²foundation of the world, but was declared in the last times for your sakes,

21 Which by his means do believe in God that raised him from the dead, and gave him glory, that your faith and hope might be in God.

22 ¹Having purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit, to love brotherly without feigning, love one another with a pure heart fervently:

23 Being born anew, not of mortal seed, but of immortal, by the word of God, who liveth and endureth forever.

24 ¹For all ²flesh is as grass, and all the glory of man is as the flower of grass. The grass withereth, and the flower falleth away.

25 ¹But the word of the Lord endureth forever: and this is the word which is preached among you.

2 He exhorteth the newborn in faith, to lead their lives answerable to the same: 6 and lest their faith should stagger, he bringeth in that which was foretold touching Christ. 11 Then he willett them to be obedient to Magistrates, 21 and that they patiently bear adversity after Christ's example.

1 Wherefore, ^alaying aside all maliciousness, and all guile, and dissimulation, and envy, and all evil speaking,

2 ¹As ²newborn babes desire that sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby,

³ He setteth forth very briefly, what manner of hope ours ought to be, to wit, continual, until we enjoy the thing we hope for: then, what we have to hope for, to wit, grace (that is, free salvation) revealed to us in the Gospel, and not that, that men do rashly and fondly promise to themselves.

⁴ Soundly and sincerely.

⁵ An argument to stir up our minds, seeing that God doth not wait till we seek him, but causeth so great a benefit to be brought even unto us.

⁶ He setteth out the end of faith, lest any man should promise himself, either sooner or later that full salvation, to wit, the later coming of Christ: and therewithal warneth us, not to measure the dignity of the Gospel according to the present state, seeing that that which we are now, is not yet revealed.

1:14 ¹ He passeth from faith and hope, to the fruits of them both, which are understood in the name of obedience: And it consisteth in two things, in renouncing our lusts, and living godly: which lusts have their beginning of that blindness wherein all men are born: but holiness proceedeth from the grace and favor of GOD, which adopteth us, and therefore regenerateth us, that the father and the children may be of one disposition.

1:16 ¹ He sheweth that sanctification doth necessarily follow adoption.

1:17 ¹ As before he distinguished true faith and hope from false, so doth he now obedience, setting the quick and sharp sight of God, against an outward mask, and earnest reverence against vain severity.

² If you will be called the sons of that Father.

1:18 ¹ An exhortation, wherein he setteth forth the excellency and greatness of the benefit of God the Father, in sanctifying us by the death of his own Son. And he partly setteth the purifyings of the Law against the thing itself, that is, against the blood of Christ, and partly also men's traditions which he condemneth as utterly vain and superstitious, be they never so old and ancient.

1:20 ¹ The taking away of an objection: what was done to the world before that Christ was sent into the world? was there no holiness before, and was there no Church? The Apostle answereth, that Christ was ordained and appointed to redeem and deliver mankind, before that mankind was: much less was there any Church without him before his coming into the flesh: yet we are happiest above the rest, to whom Christ was exhibited indeed, in this that he having suffered and overcome death for us, doth now most effectually work in us by the virtue of his Spirit, to create in us faith, hope, and charity.

² From everlasting.

1:22 ¹ He commendeth the practice of obedience, that is, charity: earnestly beating into their heads again, that he speaketh not of any common charity, and such as proceedeth from that our corrupt nature, but of that whose beginning is the Spirit of God, which purifieth our souls through the word laid hold on by faith, and engendereth also in us a spiritually and everlasting life, as God is most pure and truly living.

1:24 ¹ A reason why we have need of this heavenly generation, to wit, because that men, be their glory never so great, are of nature void of all true and sound goodness.

² The word (flesh) sheweth the weakness of our nature, which is chiefly to be considered in the flesh itself.

1:25 ¹ Again, lest any man should seek that spiritual force and virtue in fained imaginations, the Apostle calleth us back to the word of God: teaching us furthermore, that there is no other word of the Lord to be looked for, than this which is preached, in which only we must trust.

2:1 ¹ Having laid for the foundation the Spirit of God effectually working by the word, and having built thereupon three virtues which are the grounds of all Christian actions, to wit, faith, hope, and charity: now he proceedeth to a general exhortation, the first member whereof is, that we flee all show, both of secret and also open malice.

2:2 ¹ The second is, that being newly begotten and born of the new seed of the incorrupt word drawing and sucking greedily the same word as milk, we should more and more as it were grow up in that spiritual life. And he calleth it, Sincere, not only because it is a most pure thing, but also that we should take heed of them which corrupt it.

² As becometh new men.

3 ¹Because ye ²have tasted that the Lord is bountiful.

4 ¹To whom coming as unto a living stone, disallowed of men, but chosen of God and precious,

5 Ye also as lively stones, be made a spiritual house, ¹an holy ^bPriesthood to offer up spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God by Jesus Christ.

6 ¹Wherefore also it is contained in the Scripture, 'Behold, I put in Zion a chief cornerstone, elect and precious, and he that believeth therein, shall not be ashamed.

7 ¹Unto you therefore which believe, it is precious: but unto them which be disobedient, the ^dstone which the builders disallowed, the same is made the head of the corner,

8 And a 'stone to stumble at, and a rock of offence, even to them which stumble at the word, being disobedient, unto the which thing they were even

9 ¹But ye are a chosen generation, a royal ¹Priesthood, an holy nation, a people set at liberty, that ye should show forth the virtues of him that hath called you out of darkness into his marvelous light,

10 ^gWhich in time past were not a people, yet are now the people of God: which in time past were not under mercy, but now have obtained mercy.

11 ¹Dearly beloved, ²I beseech you, as strangers and pilgrims, ^{h,3}abstain from fleshly lusts ⁴which fight against the soul,

12 ^{i,1} And have your conversation honest among the Gentiles, that they which speak evil of you as of evil doers, ²may by your good ^jworks which they shall see, glorify God in the day of ³visitation.

13 ^{k,1} Therefore submit yourselves unto ²all manner ordinance of man ³for the Lord's sake, ⁴whether it be unto the King, as unto the superior,

2:3 ¹ He commendeth that spiritual nourishment for the sweetness and profit of it.

² Or, do taste.

2:4 ¹ He goeth on forward in the same exhortation, and useth another kind of borrowed speech, alluding to the Temple. Therefore he saith, that the company of the faithful is as it were a certain holy and spiritual building, built of lively stones, the foundation whereof is Christ, as a lively stone sustaining all that are joined unto him with his living virtue, and knitting them together with himself, although this so great a treasure be neglected of men.

2:5 ¹ Going forward in the same similitude, he compareth us now to Priests placed to this end in that spiritual temple, that we should serve him with spiritual worship, that is, with holiness and righteousness: but as the temple, so is the Priesthood built upon Christ, in whom only all our spiritual offerings are accepted.

2:6 ¹ He proveth it by the testimony of the Prophet Isaiah.

2:7 ¹ By setting the most blessed condition of the believers, and the most miserable of the rebellious one against another, he pricketh forward the believers, and triumpheth over the others: and also preventeth an offense which ariseth hereof, that none do more resist this doctrine of the Gospel, than they which are chiefest amongst the people of God, as were at that time that Peter wrote these things, the Priests and Elders, and Scribes. Therefore he answereth first of all that there is no cause why any man should be astonished at this their stubbornness, as though it were a strange matter, seeing that we have been forewarned so long before, that it should so come to pass: and moreover, that it pleased God to create and make certain to this selfsame purpose, that the Son of God might be glorified in their just condemnation. Thirdly, for that the glory of Christ is hereby set forth greatly, whereas notwithstanding Christ remaineth the sure head of his Church, and they that stumble at him, cast down and overthrow themselves, and not Christ. Fourthly, although they be created to this end and purpose, yet their fall and decay is not to be attributeth to God, but to their own obstinate stubbornness which cometh between God's decree, and the execution thereof or their condemnation, and is the true and proper cause of their destruction.

2:9 ¹ The contrary member, to wit, he describeth the singular excellency of the elect: and also lest any man should doubt whether he be chosen or not, the Apostle calleth us back to the effectual calling, that is, to the voice of the Gospel sounding both in our ears and minds by the outward preaching and Sacraments, whereby we may certainly understand that everlasting decree of our salvation, (which otherwise is most secret and hidden) and that through the only mercy of God, who freely chooseth and calleth us. Therefore this only remaineth, sayeth he, that by all means possible we set forth so great goodness of the most mighty God.

2:11 ¹ He returneth to that general exhortation.

² A reason why we ought to live holily, to wit, because we are citizens of heaven, and therefore we ought to live according to the Laws not of this world, which is most corrupt, but of the heavenly city, although we be strangers in the world.

³ Another argument: The children of God live not according to the flesh, that is, according to that corrupt nature, but according to the spirit. Therefore fleshly motions ought not to bear rule in us.

⁴ The third argument: for although those lusts flatter us, yet they cease not to fight against our salvation.

2:12 ¹ The fourth argument, taken of the profit of so doing: for by this means also we provide for our good name and estimation, whilst we compel them at length to change their minds, which speak evil of us.

² The fifth argument, which also is of great force: Because the glory of God is greatly set forth by that means, whilst by example of our honest life, even the most profane men are brought unto God, and submit themselves unto him.

³ When God shall also have mercy on them.

2:13 ¹ That which he spoke generally, he now expoundeth by parts, describing severally every man's duty. And first of all he speaketh of obedience which is due both to the Laws, and also to the Magistrates both higher and lower.

² By ordinance, is meant the framing and ordering of civil government: which he calleth ordinance of man, not because man invented it, but because it is proper to men.

⁴ He preventeth a cavil which is made by some, that say they will obey Kings and the higher magistrates, and yet condemn their ministers: as though their ministers were not armed with their authority which sent them.

14 Or unto governors, as unto them that are sent of him, ¹for the punishment of evil doers, and for the praise of them that do well.

15 ¹For so is the will of God, that by well doing ye may put to silence the ignorance of the foolish men.

16 As free, and not as having the liberty for a cloak of maliciousness, but as the servants of God.

17 ^{1,2}Honor all men: ¹love ³brotherly fellowship: fear God: honor the King.

18 ^{m,1}Servants, be subject to your masters with all fear, not only to the good and courteous, but also to the froward.

19 ^{n,1}For this is thankworthy, if a man for ²conscience toward God endure grief, suffering wrongly.

20 For what praise is it, if when ye be buffered for your faults, ye take it patiently? but and if when ye do well, ye suffer wrong and take it patiently, this is acceptable to God.

21 ¹For hereunto ye are called: for Christ also suffered for you, leaving you an ²example that ye should follow his steps, 22 ^oWho did no sin, neither was there guile found in his mouth.

23 Who when he was reviled, reviled not again: when he suffered, he threatened not, but ¹committed it to him ²that judgeth righteously.

3 ¹ That Christian women should not contemn their husbands, though they be infidels. ⁶ He bringeth in examples of godly Women. ⁸ General exhortations, ¹⁴ patiently to bear persecutions, ¹⁵ and boldly to yield a reason of their faith. ¹⁸ Christ's example.

1 Likewise ^{a,1}let the wives be subject to their husbands, ²that even they which obey not the word, may without the word be won by the conversation of the wives.

2 While they behold your pure conversation which is with fear:

3 ^{b,1}Whose appareling let it not be that outward, with braided hair, and gold put about, or in putting on of apparel:

4 But let it be the ¹hidden man of the heart, which consisteth in the incorruption of a meek and quiet spirit, which is ²before God a thing much set by.

5 ¹For even after this manner in time past did the holy women, which trusted in God, tire themselves, and were subject to their husbands.

2:14 ¹ The second argument taken of the end of this order, which is not only most profitable, but also very necessary: seeing that by this means virtue is rewarded, and vice punished: wherein the quietness and happiness of this life consisteth.

2:15 ¹ He declareth the first argument more amply, showing that Christian liberty doth amongst all things least, or not at all consist herein, to wit, to cast off the bridle of Laws, (as at that time some altogether unskillful in the kingdom of God reported) but rather in this, that living holly according to the will of God, we should make manifest to all men, that the Gospel is not a cloak for sin and wickedness, seeing we are in such sort free, that yet we are still the servants of God, and not of sin.

2:17 ¹ He divideth the civil life of man, by occasion of those things of which he spake into two general parts: to wit, into those duties which private men owe to private men, and especially the faithful to the faithful, and into that subjection whereby inferiors are bound to their superiors: but so, that Kings be not made equal to God, seeing that fear is due to God, and honor to Kings.

² Be charitable and dutiful towards all men.

³ The assembly and fellowship of the brethren, as Zech. 11:14.

2:18 ¹ He goeth to the duty of servants towards their masters, which he describeth with these bounds, that servants submit themselves willingly and not by constraint, not only to the good and courteous, but also to the froward and sharp masters.

2:19 ¹ The taking away of an objection: Indeed the condition of servants is hard, especially if they have froward masters: but this their subjection shall be so much the more acceptable to God, if his will prevails more with servants, than the masters' injuries.

² Because he maketh a conscience of it to offered God, by whose good will and appointment, he knoweth this burden is laid upon him.

2:21 ¹ He mitigateth the grievousness of servitude, while he showeth plainly that Christ died also for servants, that they should bear so much the more patiently this inequality betwixt men which are of one selfsame nature, moreover setting before them Christ that Lord of Lords for an ensample, he signifieth that they cannot but seem too delicate, which show themselves more grieved in bearing of injuries, than Christ himself who was most just, and most sharply of all afflicted, and yet was most patient.

² A borrowed kind of speech taken of painters and schoolmasters.

2:23 ¹ He showeth them a remedy against injuries, to wit, that they commend their cause to God, by the ensample of Christ.

² He seemeth now to turn his speech to masters, which have also themselves a master and judge in heaven: who will justly revenge the injuries that are done to servants without any respect of persons.

2:24 ¹ He calleth the servants back from the consideration of the injuries which they are constrained to bear, to think upon the greatness, and the end of the benefit received of Christ.

3:1 ¹ In the third place he setteth forth the wives' duty to their husbands, commanding them to be obedient.

² He speaketh namely of them which had husbands that were not Christians, which ought so much the more be subject to their husbands, that by their honest and chaste conversation they may give them to the Lord.

3:3 ¹ He condemneth the riot and excess of women and setteth forth their true appareling such as is precious before God: to wit, the inward and incorruptible which consisteth in a meek and quiet spirit.

3:4 ¹ Who hath his seat fastened in the heart: so that the hid man is set against the outward decking of the body.

² Precious indeed, and so taken of God.

3:5 ¹ An argument taken of the example of women, and especially of Sarah who was the mother of all believers.

6 As Sarah obeyed Abraham, and ^ccalled him Sir: whose daughters ye are, while ye do well, ^dnot being afraid of any terror.

7 ^{d1}Likewise ye husbands, ²dwell with them as men of ³knowledge, ⁴giving ⁵honor unto the woman, as unto the weaker ⁶vessel, ⁷even as they which are heirs together of the ⁸grace of life, ⁹that your prayers be not interrupted.

8 ¹Finally, be ye all of one mind: one suffer with another: love as brethren: be pitiful, be courteous.

9 ^{e1}Not rendering evil for evil, neither rebuke for rebuke: but contrariwise bless, ²knowing that ye are thereunto called, that ye should be heirs of blessing.

10 ^{f1}For if any man long after life, and to ²see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil, and his lips that they speak no guile.

14 ^bNotwithstanding blessed are ye, if ye suffer for righteousness' sake. ¹Yea, ⁴fear not their ²fear, neither be troubled.

15 But ¹sanctify the Lord God in your hearts, ²and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you, with meekness and reverence.

16 Having a good conscience, that when they speak evil of you as of evil doers, they may be ashamed which slander your good conversation in Christ.

17 ¹For it is better (if the will of God be so) that ye suffer for well doing, than for evil doing.

18 ^{j1}For Christ also hath once suffered for sins,

3:6 ¹ Because women are of nature fearful, he giveth them to understand, that he requireth of them that subjection, which is not wrung out of them either by force or fear.

3:7 ¹ He teacheth husbands also their duties, to wit, that the more understanding and wisdom they have, the more wisely and circumspectly they behave themselves.

² Do all the duties of wedlock.

³ The more wisdom the husband hath, the more circumspectly he must behave himself in bearing those commodities, which through the woman's weakness oftentimes cause trouble both to the husband and the wife.

⁴ The second argument, because the wife notwithstanding that she is weaker by nature than the man, is an excellent instrument of the man made to far most excellent uses: whereupon it followeth that she is not therefore to be neglected because she is weak, but on the contrary part she ought to be so much the more cared for.

⁵ Having an honest care of her.

⁶ The woman is called a vessel after the manner of the Hebrews, because the husband useth her as his fellow and helper to live faithfully before God.

⁷ The third argument: for that they are equal in that which is the chiefest (that is to say, in the benefit of eternal life) which otherwise are unequal as touching the governance and conversation at home, and therefore they are not to be despised although they be weak.

⁸ Of that gracious and free benefit whereby we have everlasting life given us.

⁹ The fourth argument: All brawlings and chidings must be eschewed, because they hinder prayers and the whole service of God whereunto both the husband and wife are equally called.

3:8 ¹ He returneth to common exhortations and commendeth concord and whatsoever things pertain to the maintenance of peace and mutual love.

3:9 ¹ We must not only not recompense injury for injury, but we must also recompense them with benefits.

² An argument taken of comparison: Seeing that we ourselves are called of God whom we offend so often, to so great a benefit (so far is he from revenging the injuries which we do unto him) shall we rather make ourselves unworthy of so great bountifulness, than forgive one another's faults? And from this verse to the end of the chapter, there is a digression or going from the matter he is in hand with, to exhort us valiantly to bear afflictions.

3:10 ¹ A secret objection: But this our patience shall be nothing else but a fleshing and hardening of the wicked in their wickedness, to make them to set upon us more boldly, and to destroy us. (Nay saith the Apostle by the words of David) to live without doing hurt, and to follow after peace when it fleeth away, is the way to the happy and quiet peace. And if so be any man be afflicted for doing justly, the Lord maketh all things, and will in his time deliver the godly, which cry unto him, and will destroy the wicked.

² Lead a blessed and happy life.

3:12 ¹ This word (Face) after the manner of the Hebrews, is taken for (anger.)

3:13 ¹ The second argument: when the wicked are provoked, they are more wayward: therefore they must rather be overcome with good turns: And if they cannot be gotten by that means also, yet notwithstanding we shall be blessed, if we suffer for righteousness' sake.

3:14 ¹ A most certain counsel in afflictions, be they never so terrible, to be of a constant mind, and to stand fast. But how shall we attain unto it? If we sanctify God in our minds and hearts, that is to say, if we rest upon him, as one that is Almighty, that loveth mankind, that is good and true indeed.

² Be not dismayed as they are.

3:15 ¹ Give him all praise and glory, and hang only on him.

² He will have us when we are afflicted for righteousness' sake, to be careful not for redeeming of our life, either with denying, or renouncing the truth, or with like violence, or any such means: but rather to give an account of our faith boldly, and yet with a meek spirit, and full to godly reverence, that the enemies may not have anything justly to object, but may rather be ashamed of themselves.

3:17 ¹ A reason which standeth upon two general rules of Christianity, which notwithstanding all men allow not of. The one is, if we must needs suffer afflictions, it is better to suffer wrongfully than rightfully: the other is this, because we are so afflicted, not by hap, but by the will of our God.

3:18 ¹ A proof of either of the rules, by the example of Christ himself our chief pattern who was afflicted, not for his own sins (which were none) but for ours, and that according to his Father's decree.

²the just for the unjust, ³that he might bring us to God, ⁴and was put to death concerning the ⁵flesh, but was quickened by the spirit.

19 ¹By ²the which he also went, and preached unto the ³spirits that are in prison.

20 Which were in time passed disobedient, when ¹once the long suffering of God abode in the days of ⁶Noah, while the Ark was preparing, wherein few, that is, eight ²souls were saved in the water.

that correction begin at the Church.

1 Forasmuch ¹then as Christ hath suffered for us in the flesh, arm yourselves likewise with the same mind, which is, that he which hath suffered in the flesh, hath ceased from sin,

2 That he hence forward should live (as much time as ¹remaineth in the flesh) not after the lusts of men, but after the will of God.

3 ^{a1}For it is sufficient for us that we have spent the time past of the life, after the lust ²of the Gentiles walking in wantonness, lusts, drunkenness, in gluttony, drinkings, and in abominable idolatries.

4 ¹Wherein it seemeth to them ²strange, that ye run not with them unto the same excess of riot: therefore speak they evil of you.

5 Which shall give account to him, that is ready to judge quick and dead.

6 ¹For unto this purpose was the Gospel preached also unto the dead, that they might be condemned according to men in the flesh, but might live according to God in the spirit.

² An argument taken of comparison: Christ the just suffered for us that are unjust, and shall it grieve us who are unjust to suffer for the just's cause?

³ Another argument being partly taken of things coupled together, to wit, because Christ bringeth us to his Father that same way that he went himself, and partly from the cause efficient: to wit, because Christ is not only set before us for an example to follow, but also he holdeth us up by his virtue in all the difficulties of this life, until he bring us to his Father.

⁴ Another argument taken of the happy end of these afflictions, wherein also Christ goeth before us both in example and virtues, as one who suffered most grievous torments even unto death, although but in one part only of him, to wit, in the flesh or man's nature, but yet became conqueror by virtue of his divinity.

⁵ As touching his manhood, for his body was dead, and his soul felt the sorrows of death.

3:19 ¹ A secret objection: Christ indeed might do this, but what is that to us? yet (saith the Apostle) for Christ hath showed forth this virtue in all ages both to the preservation of the godly, were they never so few and miserable, and to revenge the rebellion of his enemies, as it appeareth by the history of the flood: for Christ is he which in those days (when God through his patience appointed a time of repentance to the world) was present not in corporal presence, but by his divine virtue, preaching repentance even by the mouth of Noah himself who then prepared the Ark, to those disobedient spirits which are now in prison waiting for the full recompence of their rebellion, and saved those few (that is, eight only persons) in the water.

² By the virtue of which Spirit, that is to say of the divinity: therefore this word, Spirit, cannot in this place be taken for the soul, unless we say, that Christ was raised up again, and quickened by the virtue of his soul.

³ He calleth them Spirits, in respect of his time, not in respect of the time that they were in the flesh.

3:20 ¹ This word (once) sheweth that there was a furthestmost day appointed, and if that were once past, there should be no more.

² Men.

3:21 ¹ A proportional applying of the former example to the times which followed the coming of Christ: for that preservation of Noah in the waters was a figure of our Baptism, not as though that material water of Baptism saveth us, as those waters which bare up the Ark saved Noah, but because Christ with his inward virtue, which the outward Baptism shadoweth, preserveth us being washed, so that we may call upon God with a good conscience.

² The conscience being sanctified may freely call upon God.

³ That selfsame virtue, whereby Christ rose again, and now being carried into heaven, hath received all power, doth at this day defend and preserve us.

4:1 ¹ Having ended his digression and sliding from his matter, now he returneth to the exhortation which he brake off, taking occasion by that which he said touching the death, and resurrection of Christ, so defining our sanctification, that to be sanctified, is all one as to suffer in the flesh, that is to say: to leave off from our wickedness and viciousness: and to rise again to God, that is to say, to be renewed, by the virtue of the holy Ghost, that we may lead the rest of our life which remaineth, after the will of God.

4:2 ¹ So much of this present life as remaineth yet to be passed over.

4:3 ¹ By putting us in mind of the dishonesty of our former life led in the filth of sin, he calleth us to earnest repentance.

² Wickedly and licentiously after the manner of the Gentiles.

4:4 ¹ That we be not moved with the enemies' perverse and slanderous judgments of us, we have to set against them that last judgment of God which remaineth for them, for none, whether they be then found living, or were dead before, shall escape it.

² They think it a new and strange matter.

4:6 ¹ A digression because he made mention of the last general judgement. And he preventeth an objection, that seeing Christ came very lately, they may seem to be excusable which died before. But this the Apostle denieth, for (saith he) this selfsame Gospel was preached unto them also: (for he speaketh unto the Jews) and that to the same end that I now preach it unto you, to wit, that the flesh being abolished and put away (that is to say, that wicked and naughty corruption which reigneth in men) they should suffer themselves to be governed by the virtue of the Spirit of God.

7 ¹Now the end of all things is at hand. Be ye therefore sober, and watching in prayer.

8 ¹But above all things have fervent love among you: ⁶for love shall cover the multitude of sins.

9 ¹Be ye ⁶harberous one to another, without grudging.

10 ^{1,4}Let every man as he hath received the gift, minister the same one to another, ²as good disposers of the manifold grace of God.

11 ¹If any man speak, let him speak as the words of God. If any man minister, let him do it as of the ability which God ministereth, that God in all things may be glorified through Jesus Christ, to whom is praise and dominion forever, and ever, Amen.

12 ¹Dearly beloved, think it not ²strange ³concerning the fiery trial, which is among you to prove you as though some strange thing were come unto you.

13 ¹But rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ's sufferings, that when his glory shall appear, ye may be glad and rejoice.

14 ^{6,1}If ye be railed upon for the Name of Christ, blessed are ye: for the ²spirit of glory and of God resteth upon you: which on their part is evil spoken of, but on your part is glorified.

16 But if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed: but let him glorify God in this behalf.

17 ¹For the time is come that judgment must begin at the house of God. ²If it first begin at us, what shall the end be of them which obey not the Gospel of God?

18 ^fAnd if the righteous scarcely be saved, where shall the ungodly and the sinner appear?

19 ¹Wherefore let them that suffer according to the will of God, commit their souls to him in well doing, as unto a faithful Creator.

5 ¹ He warneth the Elders not to usurp authority over the Church, ⁵ willing the younger sort to be willing to be taught, and to be modest, ⁸ to be sober and watchful to resist the cruel adversary.

1 The ¹Elders which are among you, ²I beseech which am also an Elder, and a witness of the sufferings of Christ, and also a partaker of the glory that shall be revealed,

4:7 ¹ He returneth to his purpose, using an argument taken from the circumstance of the time, because the last end is at hand, and therefore we must so much the more diligently watch and pray with true sobriety of mind.

4:8 ¹ He commendeth charity of one toward another, because it doth as it were bury a multitude of sins, and therefore preserveth and maintaineth peace and concord: for they that love one another, do easily forgive one another their offense.

4:9 ¹ Of all the duties of charity, he commendeth one, namely, which was at that time most necessary, to wit, hospitality, which he will have to be voluntary and most courteous and bountiful.

4:10 ¹ He sheweth the use of charity, to wit, that every man bestow that gift which he hath received to the profit of his neighbor.

² A reason, because that what gift soever we have we have received it of God upon this condition, to be his disposers and stewards.

4:11 ¹ He reckoneth up two kinds of these gifts as chief, to wit, the office of teaching in the Church, and the other Ecclesiastical functions, wherein two things specially are to be observed, to wit, that the pure word of God be taught, and whatsoever is done, be referred to the glory of God the Father, in Christ, as to the proper mark.

4:12 ¹ Because the cross is joined with the sincere profession of Religion, the Apostle fitly repeateth that which he touched before, warning us not to be troubled at persecutions and afflictions, as a new and strange thing.

² As though some new thing had befallen you, which you never thought of before.

³ The first reason: Because the Lord meaneth not to consume us with this fire (as it were) but to purge us of our dross, and make us perfect.

4:13 ¹ Another reason: Because the afflictions of the godly and the wicked differ very much, and chiefly in three points. First, because the godly communicate with Christ in their afflictions, and therefore shall in their time be partakers also of his glory.

4:14 ¹ Secondly, because that although the infidels think far otherwise, who in afflicting the godly, blaspheme God, yet the godly in that they are so railed upon, are honored of God with the true spiritual glory, and their adoption sealed in them by the Spirit of God.

² By Spirit he meaneth the gifts of the Spirit.

4:15 ¹ The third difference: for the godly are not afflicted for their evil doings, but for righteousness' sake as Christians: whereby it cometh to pass that the cross, seeing it is a testimony unto them of faith and righteousness, ministereth unto them not an occasion of sorrow, but of unspeakable joy: now the Apostle propoundeth the third difference under the form of an exhortation.

4:17 ¹ The third reason because the Lord of all the world being especially careful for them of his household, doth therefore chastise them first of all, yet so that he keepeth a measure in his greatest severity: And as he hath always used to do heretofore, so doth he now specially when as he exhibited himself in person to his Church.

² Lest the godly should be offended and stumble at that vain shadow of felicity of the wicked, as though God were not the governor of the world, for that the wicked are in good case, and the godly in evil, the Apostle teacheth by an argument of a comparison of them together, that God who spareth not his own, but nurtureth them under the cross, will at length in his time handle the rebellious and wicked far otherwise, whom he hath appointed to utter destruction.

4:19 ¹ The conclusion: Seeing the godly are not afflicted by chance, but by the will of God, they ought not to despair, but go forward, notwithstanding in the way of holiness and well doing, commending themselves to God their faithful Creator, that is to say, their Father.

5:1 ¹ He describeth peculiarly the office of the Elders, that is to say, of them that have the care of the Church.

² He useth a preface touching the circumstance of his own person: to wit, that he as their companion, communeth with them not of matters which he knoweth not, but wherein he is as well experienced as any, and propoundeth unto them no other condition but that which he himself hath sustained before them, and doth still take the same pains, and also hath one selfsame hope together with them.

2 ^{1,2}Feed the ³flock of God, ⁴which dependeth upon you, ⁵caring for it not by constraint, but willingly: not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind:

3 Not as though ye were Lords over God's ¹heritage, but that ye may be examples to the flock.

4 ¹And when that chief Shepherd shall appear, ye shall receive an incorruptible crown of glory.

5 ¹Likewise ye younger submit yourselves unto the Elders, and submit yourselves every man, one to another: ^adeck yourselves inwardly in lowliness of mind: ²for ^bGod resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble.

6 Humble ^cyourselves therefore ¹under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time.

7 ^dCast all your care on him: for he careth for you.

8 ¹Be sober, and watch: for ^cyour adversary the devil as a roaring lion walketh about, seeking whom

10 ¹And the God of all grace, which hath called us unto his eternal glory by Christ Jesus, after that ye have suffered a little, make you perfect, confirm, strengthen, and establish you.

11 To him be glory and dominion forever and ever, Amen.

12 ¹By Silvanus a faithful brother unto you, as I suppose, have I written briefly, exhorting and testifying how that this is the true grace of God, wherein ye stand.

13 ¹*The Church* that is at ²Babylon elected together with you, saluteth you, and Mark my son.

14 Greet ye one another with the ^fkiss of love. Peace be with you all which are in Christ Jesus, Amen.

5:2 ¹ The first rule: He that is a shepherd, let him feed the flock.

² He saith not, Offer for the quick and dead, and sing patched shreds in a strange tongue, but (Feed.)

³ The second: Let the shepherd consider, that the flock is not his, but God's.

⁴ The third: Let not the shepherds invade other men's flocks, but let them feed that which God hath committed unto them.

⁵ Let the shepherds govern the Church with the word and example of godly and unblamable life, not by constraint but willingly, not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind, not as Lords over God's portion and heritage, but as his ministers.

5:3 ¹ Which is the Christian people.

5:4 ¹ That the shepherds' minds be not overcome either with the wickedness of men, or their cruelty, he warneth them to cast their eyes continually upon that chief Shepherd, and the crown which is laid up for them in heaven.

5:5 ¹ He commendeth many peculiar Christian virtues, and especially modesty: which admonition all of us stand in need of, but especially the younger sort, by reason of the outwardness and pride of that age.

² Because pride seemeth to many, to be the way unto the glory of this life, the Apostle witnesseth on the contrary side, that ignominy and shame is the reward of pride, and glory the reward of modesty.

5:6 ¹ Because those proud and lofty spirits threaten the modest and humble, the Apostle warneth us to set the power of God against the vanity of proud men, and to hang wholly upon his providence.

5:8 ¹ The cruelty of Satan, who seeketh by all means to devour us, is overcome by watchfulness and faith.

5:9 ¹ The persecutions which Satan stirreth up are neither new nor proper to any one man, but from old and ancient time common to the whole Church, and therefore we must suffer that patiently wherein we have such and so many fellows of our conflicts and combats.

² Amongst your brethren which are dispersed throughout the world.

5:10 ¹ He sealeth up as it were with a seal the former exhortation with a solemn prayer, again willing them to ask increase of strength at his hands of whom they had the beginning, and hope to have the accomplishment, to wit, of God the Father in Jesus Christ in whom we are sure of the glory of eternal life.

5:12 ¹ Continuance and perseverance in the doctrine of the Apostles, is the only ground and foundation of Christian strength: Now the sum of the Apostles' doctrine, is salvation freely given of God.

5:13 ¹ Familiar salutations.

² In that famous city of Assyria, where Peter the Apostle of the circumcision then was.

THE SECOND EPISTLE GENERAL OF PETER

1 ³ Having spoken of the bountifulness of God, ⁵ and of the virtues of faith. ⁶ He exhorteth them to holiness of life. ¹² And that his counsel may be the more effectual. ¹⁴ He sheweth that his death is at hand, ¹⁶ and that himself did see the power of Christ, which he opened unto them.

1 Simon ¹ Peter a servant and an Apostle of Jesus Christ, to you which have obtained like precious faith with us by the ² righteousness of our God and Savior Jesus Christ.

2 Grace and peace be multiplied to you, ¹ through the acknowledging of God, and of Jesus Christ our Lord,

3 ¹ According as his ² divine power hath given unto us all things that pertain unto ³ life and godliness, through the ⁴ acknowledging of him that hath called us unto glory and virtue.

4 ¹ Whereby most great and precious promises are given unto us, that by them ye should be partakers of the ² divine nature, in that ye flee the corruption, which is in the ³ world through ⁴ lust.

5 ¹ Therefore give even all diligence thereunto: ² join moreover virtue with your faith: and with virtue, knowledge:

6 ¹ And with knowledge, temperance: and with temperance, patience: and with patience, godliness:

7 And with godliness, brotherly kindness: and with brotherly kindness, love.

8 ¹ For if these things be among you, and abound, they will make you that ye neither shall be idle, nor unfruitful in the acknowledging of our Lord Jesus Christ:

9 For he that hath not these things, is blind, and ¹ cannot see far off, and hath forgotten that he was purged from his old sins.

10 ¹ Wherefore, brethren, give rather diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if ye do these things, ye shall never fall.

11 For by this means an entering shall be ministered unto you abundantly into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

12 ¹ Wherefore, I will not be negligent to put you always in remembrance of these things, though that ye have knowledge, and be established in the present truth.

1:1 ¹ A salutation wherein he giveth them to understand that he dealeth with them as Christ's ambassador, and otherwise agreeth with them in one selfsame faith which is grounded upon the righteousness of Jesus Christ our God and Savior.

² In that God standing to his promises, showed himself faithful, and therefore just unto us.

1:2 ¹ Faith is the acknowledging of God and Christ, from whence all our blessedness issueth and showed.

1:3 ¹ Christ setteth forth himself to us plainly in the Gospel, and that by his only power, and giveth us all things which are requisite both to eternal life, wherein he hath appointed to glorify us, and also to godliness, in that he doth furnish us with true virtue.

² He speaketh of Christ, whom he maketh God, and the only Savior.

³ Unto salvation.

⁴ This is the sum of true Religion, to be led by Christ to the Father, as it were by the hand.

1:4 ¹ An explication of the former sentence, declaring the causes of so great benefits, to wit, God and his free promise, from whence all these benefits proceed, I say, these most excellent benefits, whereby we are delivered from the corruption of the world, (that is, from the wicked lusts which we carry about us) and are made, after a sort, like unto God himself.

² By the divine nature, he meaneth not the substance of the God-head, but the partaking of these qualities whereby the image of God is restored in us.

³ In men.

⁴ For lust is the fear of corruption, and hath his fear even in our very bowels and inmost parts.

1:5 ¹ Having laid the foundation (that is, having declared the causes of our salvation and especially of our sanctification) now he beginneth to exhort us to give our minds wholly to the true use of this grace. And he beginneth with faith without which nothing can please God, and he warneth us to have it full fraught with virtue (that is to say) with good and godly manners, being joined with the knowledge of God's will, without which there is neither faith neither any true virtue.

² Supply also, and support or aid.

1:6 ¹ He reckoneth up certain and other principal virtues, whereof some pertain to the first Table of the Law, others to the last.

1:8 ¹ As those fruits do spring from the true knowledge of Christ, so in like sort the knowledge itself is fostered, and groweth by bringing forth such fruits, insomuch that he that is unfruitful did either never know the true light, or hath forgotten the gift of sanctification which he hath received.

1:9 ¹ He that hath not an effectual knowledge of God in him, is blind as touching the kingdom of God, for he cannot see things that are afar off, that is to say, heavenly things.

1:10 ¹ The conclusion: Therefore seeing our calling and election is approved by those fruits, and is confirmed in us, and moreover seeing this is the only way to the everlasting kingdom of Christ, it remaineth that we cast our minds wholly that way.

1:12 ¹ An amplifying of the conclusion joined with a modest excuse, wherein he declareth his love towards them, and foretelleth them of his death, which is at hand.

13 For I think it meet as long as I am in this ¹tabernacle, to stir you up by putting you in remembrance, 14 Seeing I know that the time is at hand that I must lay down this my tabernacle, even as our Lord Jesus Christ hath ^ashowed me.

15 ^bI will endeavor therefore always, that ye also may be able to have remembrance of these things after my departing.

16 ^cFor we followed not deceivable fables, when we opened unto you the power, and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but with our eyes we saw his majesty:

17 For he received of God the Father honor and glory, when there came such a voice to him from that excellent Glory, ^dThis is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.

18 And this voice we heard when it came from heaven being with him in the holy mount.

19 ^eWe have also a most sure word of the Prophets, ^fto the which ye do well that ye take heed, as unto a light that shineth in a dark place, until the ^gday dawns, and the ^hday star arise in your hearts.

20 ⁱSo that ye first know this, that no prophecy of the ^jScripture is of any ^kprivate interpretation:

21 For the prophecy came not in old time by the will of man: but ^lholy men of God spake as they were ^mmoved by the holy Ghost.

2 ⁿHe foretelleth them of false teachers, ^o13 whose wicked sleights and destruction he declareth. ^p12 He compareth them to bruit beasts, 17 and to wells without water, 20 because they seek to withdraw men from God to their old filthiness.

1 But ¹there were false prophets also among the ²people, even as there shall be false teachers among you: which privily shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that hath bought them, and bring upon themselves swift damnation.

2 ¹And many shall follow their destructions, by whom the way of truth shall be evil spoken of.

3 ¹And through covetousness shall they with feigned words make ²merchandise of you, ³whose condemnation long since resteth not, and their destruction slumbereth not.

4 For if God spared not the ^aAngels that had sinned, but cast them down into ¹hell, and delivered them into ²chains of darkness, to be kept unto damnation:

5 Neither hath spared the ¹old world, but saved ^bNoah the eighth person a ²preacher of righteousness, and brought in the Flood upon the world of the ungodly,

6 And ^cturned the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah into ashes, condemned them and overthrew them, and made them an ensample unto them that after should live ungodly,

7 And delivered just Lot vexed with the uncleanly conversation of the wicked:

8 (For he being righteous, and dwelling among them, in ¹seeing and hearing, ²vexed his righteous soul from day to day with their unlawful deeds.)

1:13 ¹In this body.

1:16 ¹ Another amplification taken both of the great certainty and also excellency of this doctrine, as whereof our Lord Jesus Christ the Son of God is author, whose glory the Apostle himself both saw and heard.

1:19 ¹ The truth of the Gospel is hereby also manifest, in that it agreeth wholly with the foretellings of the Prophets.

² The doctrine of the Apostles doth not shut out the doctrine of the Prophets, for they confirm each other by each other's testimonies, but the Prophets were as candles which gave light unto the blind, until the brightness of the Gospel began to shine.

³ A more full and open knowledge than was under the shadows of the Law.

⁴ That clearer doctrine of the Gospel.

1:20 ¹ The Prophets are to be read, but so that we ask of God the gift of interpretation: for he that is the author of the writings of the Prophets, is also the interpreter of them.

² He joineth the Scripture and prophecy together to distinguish true prophecies from false.

³ For all interpretation cometh from God.

1:21 ¹ The godly interpreters and messengers.

² Inspired of God: and these their motions were in very good order, and not such as were the motions of the profane soothsayers, and foretellers of things to come.

2:1 ¹ As in times past there were two kinds of Prophets, the one true, the other false, so Peter foretelleth them that there shall be some true and some false teachers in the Church, insomuch that Christ himself shall be denied by some, who notwithstanding shall call him redeemer.

² Under the Law, while the state and policy of the Jews was yet standing.

2:2 ¹ There shall not only be heresies, but also many followers of them.

2:3 ¹ Covetousness for the most part is a companion of heresy, and maketh merchandise even of souls.

² They will abuse you, and sell you as they sell cattle in a Fair.

³ A comfort for the godly: God who cast the Angels that fell away from him headlong into the darkness of hell, at length to be judged, and who destroyed the old world with the flood, and preserved Noah the eight person, and who burned Sodom, and saved Lot, will deliver his elect from these errors, and will utterly destroy those unrighteous.

2:4 ¹ So the Greeks called the deep dungeon under the earth, which should be appointed to torment the souls of the wicked in.

² Bound them with darkness as it were with chains: and by darkness, he meaneth that most miserable state of life, that is full of horror.

2:5 ¹ Which was before the Flood: not that God made a new world, but because the world seemed new.

² For he ceased not for the space of an hundred and twenty years to warn the wicked both by word and deed, what wrath of God hangeth over their heads.

2:8 ¹ Which way soever he looked and turned his ears.

² He had a troubled soul, and being vehemently grieved, lived a painful life.

9 The Lord ¹knoweth to deliver the godly out of temptation, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment under punishment:

10 ¹And chiefly them that walk after the flesh, in the lust of uncleanness, and despise government, which are bold, and stand in their own conceit, and fear not to speak evil of them that are in ²dignity.

11 Whereas the Angels which are greater both in power and might, give not railing judgment against them before the Lord.

12 ¹But these as natural brute beasts, led with sensuality and ²made to be taken, and destroyed, speak evil of those things which they know not, and shall perish through their own ³corruption.

13 And shall receive the wages of unrighteousness, as they which count it pleasure daily to live deliciously. ¹Spots they are and blots, delighting themselves in their deceivings, ²in feasting with you.

flesh them that were ³clean escaped from them which are wrapped in error, 19 Promising unto them liberty, and are themselves the ^fservants of corruption: for of whomsoever a man is overcome, even unto the same is he in bondage.

20 ^g ¹For if they, after they have escaped from the filthiness of the world, through the acknowledging of the Lord, and of the Savior Jesus Christ, are yet tangled again therein, and overcome, the latter end is worse with them than the beginning.

21 For it had been better for them not to have acknowledged the way of righteousness, than after they have acknowledged it, to turn from the holy commandment given unto them.

22 But it is come unto them according to the true proverb, ^hThe dog is returned to his own vomit: and the sow that was washed, to the wallowing in the mire.

3 ¹He sheweth that he writeth the same things again. ²Because they must often be stirred up, ³because dangers hang over their heads through certain mockers. ⁸Therefore he warneth the godly that they do not after the judgment of the flesh, ¹²appoint the day of the Lord, ¹⁴but that they think it always at hand, ¹⁵in which doctrine he sheweth that Paul agreeth with him.

1 This ¹second Epistle I now write unto you, beloved, wherewith I stir up, and warn your pure minds,

2 To call to remembrance the words, which were told before of the holy Prophets, and also the commandment of us the Apostles of the Lord and Savior.

2:9 ¹ Hath been long practiced in saving and delivering the righteous.

2:10 ¹ He goeth to another sort of corrupt men, which notwithstanding are within the bosom of the Church, which are wickedly given, and do seditiously speak evil of the authority of Magistrates, (which the Angels themselves that minister before God, do not dispraise) A true and lively description of the Romish Clergy (as they call it.)

² Princes and great men, be they never so high in authority.

2:12 ¹ A lively painting out of the same persons, wherein they are compared to beasts, which are made to snare themselves to destruction, while they give themselves to fill their bellies: For there is no greater ignorance than is in these men, although they most impudently find fault with those things which they know not: and it shall come to pass that they shall destroy themselves as beasts, with those pleasures wherewith they are delighted, and dishonor and defile the company of the godly.

² Made to this end, to be a prey to others: so do these men willingly cast themselves into Satan's snares.

³ Their own wicked manners shall bring them to destruction.

2:13 ¹ Or, little rocks.

² When as by keep amongst the Christians in the holy banquets which the Church keepeth, they would seem by that means to be true members of the Church, yet they are indeed but blots on the Church.

2:14 ¹ He condemneth those men, as showing even in their behavior and countenance an immeasurable lust, as making merchandise of the souls of light persons, as men exercised in all the crafts of covetousness, to be short, as men that sell themselves for money to curse the Sons of God after Balaam's example, whom the dumb beast reproved.

2:17 ¹ Another note whereby they may be well known what manner of men they are, because they have inwardly nothing but either utterly vain or very hurtful, although they make a show of some great goodness: but they shall not escape unpunished for it, because under pretence of false liberty, they draw men into most miserable slavery of sin.

² Which boast of knowledge, and have nothing in them.

³ Most gross darkness.

2:18 ¹ They deceive men with vain and swelling words.

² They take them as fishes are taken with the hook.

³ Unfeignedly and indeed clean departed from Idolatry.

2:20 ¹ It were better never to have known the way of righteousness, than to turn back from it to the old filthiness: and men that do so are compared to dogs and swine.

3:1 ¹ The remedy against those wicked enemies both of true doctrine and holiness, is to be sought for by the continual meditation of the writings of the Prophets and Apostles.

3 ^{a,1}This first understand, that there shall come in the last days, ²mockers, which will walk after their lusts,

4 ¹And say, Where is the promise of his coming? for since the Fathers died, all things continue alike from the beginning of the creation.

5 ¹For this they willingly know not, that the heavens were of old, and the ²earth that was of the water, and by the water, by the word of God.

6 ¹Wherefore the world that then was, perished, overflowed with the ²water.

7 ¹But the heavens and earth, which are now, are kept by the same word in store, and reserved unto fire against the day of condemnation, and of the destruction of ungodly men.

8 ¹Dearly beloved, be not ignorant of this one thing, that one day is with the Lord, ^bas a thousand years, and a thousand years as one day.

9 ¹The Lord of that promise is not slack (as some men count slackness) ²but is patient toward us, and 'would have no man to perish, but would all men to come to repentance.

10 ¹But the day ^dof the Lord will come as a thief in the night, in the which the heavens shall pass away with a ²noise, and the elements shall melt with heat, and the earth with the works that are therein shall be burnt up.

11 ¹Seeing therefore that all these things must be dissolved, what manner persons ought ye to be in holy conversation and godliness, 12 Looking for, and ¹hasting unto the coming of that day of God, by the which the heavens being on fire, shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with heat?

13 But we look for 'new heavens, and a new earth, according to his promise, ¹wherein dwelleth righteousness.

14 Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in ¹peace, without spot and blameless.

15 ¹And suppose that the long suffering of our Lord is salvation, ¹even as our beloved brother Paul according to the wisdom given unto him wrote to you.

16 As one that in all his Epistles speaketh of these things: ¹among the ²which, some things are hard to be understood, which they that are unlearned and unstable, wrest, as they do also other Scriptures unto their own destruction.

17 Ye therefore beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware, lest ye be also plucked away with the error of the wicked, and fall from your own steadfastness.

18 But grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ: to him be glory both now and for evermore. Amen.

3:3 ¹ He voucheth the second coming of Christ against the Epicureans by name.

² Monstrous men, who will seem wise by their contempt of God, and wicked boldness.

3:4 ¹ The reason which these mockers pretend because the course of nature is all one as it was from the beginning: therefore the world is from everlasting, and shall be forever.

3:5 ¹ He setteth against them the creation of heaven and earth by the word of God, which these men are willingly ignorant of.

² Which appeared when the waters were gathered together into one place.

3:6 ¹ Secondly, he setteth against them the universal flood which was the destruction, as it were of the whole world.

² For the waters returning into their former place this world, that is to say, this beauty of the earth which we see, and all living creatures which live upon the earth perished.

3:7 ¹ Thirdly, he pronounceth that it shall not be harder for God to burn heaven and earth with fire in that day which is appointed for the destruction of the wicked, (which thing he will also do) than it was for him in times past to make them with his only word and afterward to overwhelm them with water.

3:8 ¹ The taking away of an objection: in that he seemeth to defer this judgment a long season, in respect of us it is true, but not before God with whom there is no time either long or short.

3:9 ¹ The Lord will surely come, because he hath promised: and that neither sooner nor later than he hath promised.

² A reason why the latter day cometh not out of hand, because God doth patiently wait till the elect are brought to repentance, that none of them may perish.

3:10 ¹ A very short description of the least distinction of the world, but in such sort as nothing could be spoken more gravely.

² With the violence as it were of a hissing storm.

3:11 ¹ An exhortation to purity of life, setting before us that horrible judgment of God both to bridle our wantonness, and also to comfort us, so that we be found watching and ready to meet him at his coming.

3:12 ¹ He requireth patience of us, yet such patience as is not slothful.

3:13 ¹ In which heavens.

3:14 ¹ That you may try to your profit, how gentle and peaceable he is.

3:15 ¹ Paul's Epistles are allowed by the express testimony of Peter.

3:16 ¹ There be certain of these things obscure and dark, whereof the unlearned take occasion to overthrow some men that stand not fast, wrestling the testimonies of the Scripture to their own destruction. But this is the remedy against such deceit, to labor that we may daily more and more grow up and increase in the knowledge of Christ.

² That is to say, among the which things: for he disputeth not here whether Paul's Epistles be plain or dark, but saith, that amongst those things which Paul hath written of his Epistles, and Peter himself in these two of his own, there are some things which cannot be easily understood, and therefore are of some drawn to their own destruction: and this he saith to make us more attentive and diligent, and not remove us from the reading of holy things, for to what end should they have written vain speculations?

THE FIRST EPISTLE GENERAL OF JOHN

1 1 He testifieth that he bringeth the eternal word, wherein is life, 5 and light. 9 God will be merciful unto the faithful, if groaning under the burden of their sins, they learn to flee unto his mercy.

1 That ¹which was from the beginning, which we have ²heard, which we have seen with these our eyes, which we have looked upon, and these hands of ours have handled of that ³word of life,

2 (For that life was made manifest, and we have seen it, and bear witness, and ¹show unto you that eternal life, which was with the Father, and was made manifest unto us.)

3 That I say, which we have seen and heard declare we unto you, ¹that ye may also have fellowship with us, and that our fellowship also may be with the Father and with his Son Jesus Christ.

4 And these things write I unto you, that your joy may be full.

5 ¹This then is the message, which we have heard of him, and declare unto you, that God ⁴is light, and in him is no darkness.

CHAPTER 1

^a John 8:12

^b Heb. 9:28

Rev. 1:5

^c 1 Kings 8:46

2 Chron. 6:36

Prov. 20:9

6 If we say that we have fellowship with him, and walk in darkness, we lie, and do not truly.

7 But if we walk in the ¹light as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, ²and the ⁴blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin.

8 ^{c,1} If we say that we have no sin, we ²deceive ourselves, and ³truth is not in us.

9 ¹If we acknowledge our sins, he is ²faithful and just, to ³forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.

10 ¹If we say, we have not sinned, we make him ^{2a}a liar, and his ³word is not in us.

2 1 He declareth that Christ is our mediator and advocate, 3 and sheweth that the knowledge of God consisteth in holiness of life, 12 which appertaineth to all sorts, 14 that depend on Christ alone: 15 Then having exhorteth them to condemn the world, 18 he giveth warning that Antichrists be avoided, 24 and that the known truth be stood unto.

1 My ¹little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not: and if any man sin, we have an

1:1 ¹ He beginneth with the description of the person of Christ, whom he maketh one and not two: and him both God from everlasting (for he was with the Father from the beginning, and is that eternal life) and also made true man, whom John himself and his companions, both heard and beheld, and handled.

² I heard him speak, I saw him myself with mine eyes, I handled with mine hands him that is very God, being made very man, and not I alone, but others also that were with me.

³ That same everlasting word, by whom all things are made, and in whom only there is life.

1:2 ¹ Being sent by him: and that doctrine is rightly said to be showed, for no man could so much as have thought of it, if it had not been thus showed.

1:3 ¹ The use of this doctrine is this, that all of us being coupled and joined together with Christ by faith, might become the Sons of God, in which thing only consisteth all happiness.

1:5 ¹ Now he entereth into a question, whereby we may understand that we are joined together with Christ, to wit, if we be governed with his light, which is perceived by the ordering of our life. And thus he reasoneth, God is in himself most pure light, therefore he agreeth with them, which are light-some, but with them which are of the darkness he hath no fellowship.

1:7 ¹ God is said to be light of his own nature, and to be in light, that is to say, in that everlasting infinite blessedness: and we are said to walk in light, in that the beams of that light do shine unto us in the world.

² A digression or going from the matter he is in with, to the remission of sins: for this our sanctification which walk in the light, is a testimony of our joining and knitting together, with Christ: but because this our light is very dark, we must needs obtain another benefit in Christ, to wit, that our sins may be forgiven us being sprinkled with his blood: and this in conclusion is the prop and stay of our salvation.

1:8 ¹ There is none but needeth this benefit, because there is none that is not a sinner.

² This place doth fully refute that perfectness, and works of supererogation which the Papists dream of.

³ So then John speaketh not thus for modesty's sake, as some say, but because it is so indeed.

1:9 ¹ Therefore the beginning of salvation is to acknowledge our wickedness, and to require pardon from him who freely forgiveth all sins, because he hath promised so to do, and he is faithful and just.

² So then our salvation hangeth upon the free promise of God, who because he is faithful and just, will perform that which he hath promised.

³ Where are then our merits? for this is our true felicity.

1:10 ¹ A rehearsal of the former sentence: wherein he condemned all of sin without exception, insomuch that if any man persuade himself otherwise, he doth as much as in him lieth, make the word of God himself vain and to no purpose, yea he maketh God a liar, for to what end either in times past needed sacrifices or now Christ and the Gospel, if we be not sinners?

² They do not only deceive themselves, but also are blasphemous against God.

³ His doctrine shall have no place in us, that is, in our hearts.

2:1 ¹ It followeth not hereof that we must give our wicked nature the bridle, or sin so much the more freely, because our sins are cleansed away by the blood of Christ but we must rather so much more diligently resist sin. And yet we must not despair because of our weakness, for we have an Advocate and a purger, Christ Jesus the just, and therefore acceptable unto his father.

²Advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ, the Just.

2 And he is the ¹reconciliation for our sins: and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the ²whole world.

3 ¹And hereby we are sure that we ²know him, ³if we keep his commandments.

4 ¹He that saith, I know him, and keepeth not his commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him.

5 ¹But he that keepeth his word, in him is the ²love of God perfect indeed: hereby we know that we are in ³him.

6 ¹He that saith he remaineth in him, ought even so to walk as he hath walked.

7 ¹Brethren, I write no new commandment unto you, but an old commandment, which ye have had from the beginning: this old commandment is that word, which ye have heard from the beginning.

8 ¹Again, a new commandment I write unto you, that ²which is true in him: and also in you: the darkness is past, and that true light now shineth.

9 ¹He that saith that he is in that light, and hateth his brother, is in darkness, until this time.

CHAPTER 2

^a 1 John 3:14

10 ¹He that loveth his brother, abideth in that light, and there is no occasion of evil in him.

11 But he that hateth his brother, is in darkness, and walketh in darkness, and knoweth not whither he goeth, because that darkness hath blinded his eyes.

12 ¹Little children, ²I write unto you, because your sins are forgiven you for his ³Name's sake.

13 ¹I write unto you, fathers, because ye have known him that is from the beginning. ²I write unto you, young men, because ye have overcome that wicked one. ³I write unto you, little children, because ye have known the Father.

14 ¹I have written unto you fathers, because ye have known him that is from the beginning. I have written unto you, young men, because ye are strong, and the word of God abideth in you, and ye have overcome that wicked one.

15 ¹Love not this ²world, neither the things that are in this world. If any man love this world, the ³love of the Father is not in him.

16 For all that is in this world, (as the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life) is not

² In that he nameth Christ he shutteth forth all other.

2:2 ¹ Reconciliation and intercession go together, to give us to understand that he is both advocate and high Priest.

² For men of all sorts, of all ages and all places, so that this benefit belongeth not to the Jews only, of whom he speaketh, as appeareth 1 John 2:7, but also to other nations.

2:3 ¹ He returneth to the testimony of our conjunction with God, to wit, to sanctification, declaring what it is to walk in the light, to wit, to keep God's commandments whereby it followeth that holiness doth not consist in those things which men have devised, neither in a vain profession of the Gospel.

² This must be understood of such a knowledge, as hath faith with it, and not of a common knowledge.

³ For the tree is known by the fruit.

2:4 ¹ Holiness, that is, a life ordered according to the prescript of God's commandments how weak soever they be, is of necessity joined with faith, that is, with the true knowledge of the Father in the Son.

2:5 ¹ He that keepeth God's commandments loveth God indeed. He that loveth God, is in God, or is joined together with God. Therefore he that keepeth his commandments, is in him.

² Wherewith we love God.

³ He meaneth our conjunction with Christ.

2:6 ¹ He that is one with Christ must needs live his life, that is, must walk in his steps.

2:7 ¹ The Apostle going about to expound the commandment of charity one toward another, telleth first, that when he urgeth holiness bringeth no new trade of life (as they use to do which devise traditions, one after another) but putteth them in mind of the same Law which God gave in the beginning, to wit, by Moses, at that time that God began to give Laws to his people.

2:8 ¹ He addeth that the doctrine indeed is old, but it is now after a sort new both in respect of Christ, and also of us: in whom he through the Gospel, engraveth his Law effectually, not in tables of stone, but in our minds.

² Which thing (to wit, that the doctrine is new of which I write unto you) is true in him and in you.

2:9 ¹ Now he cometh to the second Table, that is, to charity one towards another, and denieth that that man hath true light in him, or is indeed regenerate and the son of God, which hateth his brother: and such an one wandereth miserably in darkness, brag he of never so great knowledge of God, for that wittingly and willingly he casteth himself headlong into hell.

2:12 ¹ He returneth again from sanctification to remission of sins, because that free reconciliation in Christ is the ground of our salvation, whereupon afterwards sanctification must be built as upon a foundation.

² Therefore I write unto you, because you are of their number whom God hath reconciled to himself.

³ For his own sake: And in that he nameth Christ, he shutteth out all others, whether they be in heaven or earth.

2:13 ¹ He sheweth that this doctrine agreeth to all ages, and first of all speaking to old men, he sheweth that Christ and his doctrine are passing ancient, and therefore they be delighted with old things, nothing ought to be more acceptable unto them.

² He adviseth young men, if they be desirous to show their strength that they have a most glorious combat set here before them, to wit, Satan the worst enemies, who must be overcome: willing them to be as sure of the victory as if they had already gotten it.

³ Finally, he sheweth to children, that true Father, from whom they have to look for all good things, is set forth unto them in the Gospel.

2:14 ¹ He addeth afterward in like order, as many exhortations, as if he should say, Remember your fathers: as I wrote even now, that the everlasting Son of God is revealed to us. Remember ye young men, that that strength whereby I said that you put Satan to flight, is given you by the word of God, which dwelleth in you.

2:15 ¹ The world which is full of wicked desires, lusts or pleasures, and pride, is utterly hated of our heavenly Father. Therefore the Father and the world cannot be loved together: and this admonition is very necessary for green and flourishing youth.

² He speaketh of the world, as it agreeth not with the will of God, for otherwise God is said to love the world with an infinite love, John 3:16, that is to say, those whom he chose out of the world.

³ Wherewith the Father is loved.

of the Father, but is of this world.

17 ¹And this world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that fulfilleth the will of God, abideth ever.

18 ^{1,2}Little children, ³it is the last time, ⁴and as ye have heard that Antichrist shall come, even now there are many Antichrists: whereby we know that it is the last time.

19 ¹They went out from us, but they were not of us: for if they had been of us, ²they should have continued with us. ³But this cometh to pass, that it might appear, that they are not all of us.

20 ¹But ye have an ²ointment from that ³Holy one, and know all things.

21 ¹I have not written unto you, because ye know not the truth: but because ye know it, and that no lie is of the truth.

22 ¹Who is a liar, but he that denieth that Jesus is ²that Christ? the same is that Antichrist that denieth the Father and the Son.

23 ¹Whosoever denieth the Son, the same hath not the Father.

24 ¹Let therefore abide in you that same which ye have heard from the beginning. If that which ye have heard from the beginning, shall remain in you, ye shall also continue in the Son, and in the Father.

25 And this is the promise that he hath promised us, even that eternal life.

26 ¹These things have I written unto you, concerning them that deceive you.

27 But that ¹anointing which ye received of him, dwelleth in you: and ye ²need not that any man teach you: but as the same ³anointing teacheth you of all things, and it is true and is not lying, and as it taught you, ye shall abide in him.

28 ¹And now, little children, abide in him, that when he shall appear, we may be bold, and not be ashamed before him, at his coming.

29 ¹If ye know that he is righteous, know ye that he which doeth righteously, is born of him.

3 ¹ Setting down the inestimable glory of this that we are God's sons, 7 he sheweth that newness of life must be testified by good works, whereof charity is a manifest token. 19 Offaith, 22 and praying unto God.

1 Behold, ^{1,2}what love the Father hath given to

2:17 ¹ He showeth how much better it is to obey the Father's will, than the lusts of the world, by both their natures and unlike event.

2:18 ¹ Now he turneth himself to little children, which notwithstanding are well instructed in the sum of religion, and willett them by divers reasons to shake off slothfulness, which is too too familiar with that age.

² He useth this word (little) not because he speaketh to children, but to allure them the more by using such sweet words.

³ First, because the last time is at hand, so that the matter suffereth no delay.

⁴ Secondly because Antichrists, that is, such as fall from God, are already come, even as they heard that they should come. And it was very requisite to warn that unheedy and warless age of that danger.

2:19 ¹ A digression against certain offenses and stumbling blocks, whereat that rude age especially might stumble and be shaken. Therefore that they should not be terrified with the soul falling back of certain, first he maketh plain unto them, that although such as fall from God and his religion, had place in the Church, yet they were never of the Church, because the Church is the company of the elect which cannot perish, and therefore cannot fall from Christ.

² So then the elect can never fall from grace.

³ Secondly, he sheweth that these things fall out to the profit of the Church, that hypocrites may be plainly known.

2:20 ¹ Thirdly, he comforteth them to make them stand fast, inso-much as they are anointed by the holy Ghost with the true knowledge of salvation.

² The grace of the holy Ghost, and this is a borrowed kind of speech taken from the anointings used in the Law.

³ From Christ who is peculiarly called holy.

2:21 ¹ The taking away of an objection. He wrote not these things as to men which are ignorant of religion, but rather as to them which do well know the truth, yet so far forth that they are able to discern truth from falsehood.

2:22 ¹ He sheweth now plainly the false doctrine of the Antichrists, to wit, that either they fight against the person of Christ, or his office or both together, and at once. And they that do so do in vain boast and brag of God, for that in denying the Son the Father also is denied.

² Is the true Messiah.

2:23 ¹ They then are deceived themselves, and also do deceive others, which say that the Turks and other infidels worship the same God that we do.

2:24 ¹ The whole preaching of the Prophets and Apostles is contrary to that doctrine: Therefore it is utterly to be cast away and this wholly to be holden and kept, which leadeth us to seek eternal life in the free promise, that is to say, in Christ alone, who is given to us of the Father.

2:26 ¹ The same Spirit which endueth the elect with the knowledge of the truth, and sanctifieth them, giveth them therewithal the gift of perseverance, to continue to the end.

2:27 ¹ The Spirit which you have received of Christ, and which hath led you into all truth.

² You are not ignorant of these things, and therefore I teach them not as things that were never heard of, but call them to your remembrance as things which you do know.

³ He commendeth both the doctrine which they had embraced, and also highly praiseth their faith and the diligence of such as taught them, yet so, that he taketh nothing from the honor due to the holy Ghost.

2:28 ¹ The conclusion both of the whole exhortation, and also of the former treatise.

2:29 ¹ A passing over to the treatise following, which tendeth to the same purpose, but yet is more ample, and handleth the same matter after another order: for before he taught us to go up from the effects to the cause, and in this that followeth, he goeth down from the causes to the effects. And this is the sum of the argument: God is the fountain of all righteousness: and therefore they that give themselves to righteousness, are known to be born of him, because they resemble God the Father.

3:1 ¹ He beginneth to declare this agreement between the Father and the Son at the highest cause, to wit, at that free love of God towards us, wherewith he so loveth us, that he also adopteth us to be his children.

² What a gift of how great love.

us, that we should be ³called the sons of God: ⁴For this cause this world knoweth you not, because it knoweth not him.

2 ¹Dearly beloved, now are we the sons of God, but yet it is not made manifest what we shall be: and we know that when he shall be made manifest: we shall be ²like him: for we shall see him ³as he is.

3 ¹And every man that hath this hope in him purgeth himself, even ²as he is pure.

4 ¹Whosoever ²commiteth sin, transgresseth also the Law: for ³sin is the transgression of the Law.

5 ¹And ye know that he was made manifest, that he might ²take away our sins, and in him is no sin.

6 Whosoever abideth in him, sinneth not: whosoever ¹sinneth, hath not seen him, neither hath known him.

7 ¹Little children, let no man deceive you, he that doeth righteousness, is righteous, as he is righteous.

8 ¹He that ²commiteth sin, is of the ³devil: for the devil ³sinneth from the ⁴beginning: for this purpose was made manifest that Son of God, that he might loose the works of the devil.

9 Whosoever is born of God sinneth not: for his ¹seed remaineth in him, neither can he sin, because he is born of God.

10 ¹In this are the children of God known, and the children of the devil: whosoever doeth not righteousness, is not of God, ²neither he that loveth not his brother.

11 ¹For this is the message that ye heard from the beginning, that ²'we should love one another, 12 ¹Not as ²Cain which was of that wicked one, and slew his brother: ³and wherefore slew he him? because his own works were evil, and his brother's good.

13 Marvel not my brethren, though this world hate you.

14 ¹We know that we are ²translated from death unto life, because we love the brethren: ³'he that loveth not his brother, abideth in death.

15 ¹Whosoever hateth his brother, is a manslayer: and ye know that no manslayer hath eternal life abiding in him.

³ That we should be the sons of God, and so that all the world may perceive we are so.

⁴ Before he declareth this adoption, he saith two things: the one, that this so great a dignity is not to be esteemed, according to the judgment of the flesh, because it is unknown to the world, for the world knoweth not God the Father himself.

3:2 ¹ The other: This dignity is not fully made manifest to ourselves, much less to strangers, but we are sure of the accomplishment of it, insomuch that we shall be like to the Son of God himself, and shall enjoy his sight indeed, such as he is now: but yet notwithstanding this is deferred until his next coming.

² Like, but not equal.

³ For now we see as in a glass, 1 Cor. 13:12.

3:3 ¹ Now he describeth this adoption, (the glory whereof as yet consisteth in hope) by the effect, to wit, because that whosoever is made the Son of God, endeavoreth to resemble the Father in purity.

² This word signifieth a likeness, but not in equality.

3:4 ¹ The rule of this purity can from no whence else be taken but from the Law of God, the transgression whereof is that which is called sin.

² Giveth not himself to pureness.

³ A short definition of sin.

3:5 ¹ An argument taken from the material cause of our salvation: Christ in himself is most pure, and he came to take away our sins, by sanctifying us with the holy Ghost. Therefore, whosoever is truly partaker of Christ doth not give himself to sin: and so contrariwise he that giveth himself to sin knoweth not Christ.

3:6 ¹ He is said to sin, that giveth not himself to pureness, and in him sin reigneth, but sin is said to dwell in the faithful, and not to reign in them.

3:7 ¹ Another argument of things coupled together: He that liveth justly, is just, and resembleth Christ that is just, and by that is known to be the son of God.

3:8 ¹ An argument taken of contraries: the devil is the author of sin, and therefore he is of the devil, or is ruled by the inspiration of the devil that serve sin: and if he be the devil's son, then is he not God's son: for the devil and God are so contrary the one to the other, that even the Son of God was sent to destroy the works of the devil. Therefore on the contrary side, whosoever resists sin, is the Son of God, being born again of his spirit as of new seed, insomuch that of necessity he is now delivered from the slavery of sin.

² Resembleth the devil, as the child doth the father, and is governed by his spirit.

³ He saith not sinned, but sinneth, for he did nothing else but sin.

⁴ From the very beginning of the world.

3:9 ¹ The holy Ghost is so called of the effect he worketh, because by his virtue and mighty working, as it were by seed, we are made new men.

3:10 ¹ The conclusion, by a wicked life they are known which are governed by the spirit of the Devil, and by a pure life, which are God's children.

² He beginneth to commend charity towards the brethren, as another mark of the Sons of God.

3:11 ¹ The first reason, taken of the authority of God, which giveth the commandment.

3:12 ¹ An amplification, taken of the contrary example of Cain, which slew his brother.

² He bringeth forth a very fit and very old example, wherein we may behold both the nature of the sons of God, and of the sons of the devil, and what state and condition remaineth for us in this world: and what shall be the end of both at length.

3:14 ¹ The second reason: Because charity is a testimony that we are translated from death to life: and therefore hatred towards the brethren is a testimony of death, and whosoever nourished it, doth as it were foster death in his bosom.

² Love is a token that we are translated from death to life, for as such as by the effects the cause is known.

3:15 ¹ A confirmation: Whosoever is a murderer, is in eternal death, who so hateth his brother, is a murderer, therefore he is in death. And thereupon followeth the contrary. He that loveth his brother, hath passed to life, for indeed we are born dead.

16 ^f1Hereby have we perceived love, that he laid down his life for us: therefore we ought also to lay down our lives for the brethren.

17 ^g1And whosoever hath this ²world's good, and seeth his brother have need, and ³shutteth up his compassion from him, how dwelleth the love of God in him?

18 ^h1My little children, let us not love in word, neither in tongue only, but in deed and in truth.

19 ⁱFor thereby we know that we are of the truth, ²and shall before him assure our hearts.

20 For ¹if our hearts condemn us, God is greater than our heart, and knoweth all things.

21 ¹Beloved, if our heart condemn us not, then have we boldness toward God.

22 ^h1And whatsoever we ask, we receive of him, because we keep his commandments, and do those things which are pleasing in his sight.

23 ¹This is then his commandment, that we believe in the Name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave commandment.

24 ¹For he that keepeth his commandments, dwelleth in him, and he in him: and hereby we know that he abideth in us, even by that ¹Spirit which he hath given us.

CHAPTER 4
^a John 8:47

4 ¹ Having spoken somewhat touching the trying of spirits: ⁴ For some speak after the world, ⁵ and some after God. ⁷ He returneth to charity, ¹¹, ¹⁹ and by the example of God he exhorteth to brotherly love.

1 Dearly ¹beloved, believe not every ²spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God: for many false Prophets are gone out into the world.

2 ¹Hereby shall ye know the Spirit of God, ²Every spirit which confesseth that ³Jesus Christ is come in the ⁴flesh is of God.

3 And every spirit that confesseth not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh, is not of God: but this is the spirit of Antichrist, of whom ye have heard, how that he should come, and now already he is in this world.

4 ¹Little children, ye are of God, and have overcome them: for greater is he that is in you, than he that is in this world.

5 ¹They are of this world, therefore spake they of this world, and this world heareth them.

6 ¹We are of God, ⁴he that knoweth God, heareth us: he that is not of God heareth us not. Hereby know we the ²Spirit of truth, and the spirit of error.

7 ¹Beloved, let us love one another: ²for love

3:16 ¹ Now he sheweth how far Christian charity extendeth, even so far, that according to the example of Christ, every man forget himself, to provide for and help his brethren.

3:17 ¹ He reasoneth by comparison: For if we are bound even to give our life for our neighbors, how much more are we bound to help our brothers' necessity with our goods and substance?

² Wherewith this life is sustained.

³ Openeth not his heart to him, nor helpeth him willingly and cheerfully.

3:18 ¹ Christian charity standeth not in words, but in deed, and proceedeth from a sincere affection.

3:19 ¹ He commendeth charity by a triple effect: for first of all, by it we know that we are indeed the sons of God, as he sheweth before.

² Therefore it cometh that we have a quiet conscience, as on the contrary side he that thinketh that he hath God for a judge, because he is guilty to himself, either he is never or else very rare quiet: for God hath a far quicker sight than we, and judgeth more severely.

3:20 ¹ If an evil conscience convinceth us, much more ought the judgments of God condemn us, who knoweth our hearts better than we ourselves do.

3:21 ¹ A third effect also riseth out of the former, that in these miseries we are sure to be heard, because we are the sons of God, as we understand by the grace of sanctification which is proper to the elect.

3:22 ¹ The conclusion: That faith in Christ, and love one towards another, are things joined together, and therefore the outward testimonies of sanctification must and do answer that inward testimony of the Spirit given unto us.

3:24 ¹ He meaneth the Spirit of sanctification whereby we are born anew, and live unto God.

4:1 ¹ Taking occasion by the name of the Spirit, lest love and charity should be separated from the worship of God, which chiefly dependeth of his true knowledge, he returneth to that which he spake in the second Chapter touching the taking heed of Antichrists. And he will have us here to take heed of two things, the one is, that seeing there be many false prophets, we do not lightly give credit to every man: the other is, that because many men teach false things, we should not therefore believe any. We must then observe a mean, that we may be able to discern the Spirit of God, which are altogether to be followed from impure spirits which are to be eschewed.

² This is spoken by the figure Metonymy, and it is as if he had said, Believe not everyone that saith that he hath a gift of the holy Ghost to do the office of a Prophet.

4:2 ¹ He giveth a certain and perpetual rule to know the doctrine of Antichrist by, to wit, if either the divine or human nature of Christ, or the true uniting of them together be denied: or if the least jot that may be, be derogate from his office who is our only King, Prophet, and everlasting high Priest.

² He speaketh simply of the doctrine, and not of the person.

³ The true Messiah.

⁴ Is true man.

4:4 ¹ He comforteth the elect with a most sure hope of victory: but yet so, that he teacheth them that they fight not with their own virtue, but with the virtue and power of God.

4:5 ¹ He bringeth a reason: why the world receiveth these teachers more willingly than the true: to wit, because they breathe out nothing but that which is worldly: which is another note also to know the doctrine of Antichrist by.

4:6 ¹ He testifieth unto them that his doctrine and the doctrine of his fellows, is the assured word of God, which of necessity we have boldly to set against all the mouths of the whole world, and thereby discern the truth from falsehood.

² True Prophets against whom are set false Prophets, that is, such as err themselves, and lead others into error.

4:7 ¹ He returneth to the commending of brotherly love and charity.

² The first reason: Because it is a very divine thing: and therefore very meet for the sons of God: so that whosoever is void of it, cannot be said to know God aright.

cometh of God, and everyone that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God.

8 He that loveth not, knoweth not God, ¹for God is ²love.

9 ^bHerein was that love of God made manifest amongst us, because God sent that his only begotten Son into this world, that we might live through him.

10 Herein is that love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be a reconciliation for our sins.

11 ¹Beloved, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another.

12 ^{c1}No man hath seen God at any time. If we love one another, God dwelleth in us, and his love is ²perfect in us.

13 Hereby know we, that we dwell in him, and he in us: because he hath given us of his Spirit.

14 ¹And we have seen, and do testify, that the Father sent the Son to be the Savior of the world.

15 Whosoever ¹confesseth that Jesus is the Son of God, in him dwelleth God, and he in God.

16 And we have known, and believed the love that God hath in us, ¹God is love, and he that dwelleth in love, dwelleth in God, and God in him.

^b John 3:16

^c John 1:18

^d John 13:34
John 15:12

17 ¹Herein is that love perfect in us, that we should have boldness in the day of judgment: for ²as he is, even so are we in this world.

18 There is no ¹fear in love, but perfect love casteth out fear: for fear hath painfulness: and he that feareth, is not perfect in love.

19 ¹We love him, because he loved us first.

20 ¹If any man say, I love God, and hate his brother, he is a liar: ²for how can he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, love God whom he hath not seen?

21 ^{d1}And this commandment have we of him, that he that loveth God, should love his brother also.

5 ¹He showeth that brotherly love and faith are things inseparable: 10 And that there is no faith towards God, but by believing in Christ: 14 Hence proceedeth calling upon God with assurance: 16 and also that our prayers be available for our brethren.

1 Whosoever ¹believeth that Jesus is that ²Christ, is born of God: and everyone that loveth him, which begat, loveth ³him also which is begotten of him.

2 ¹In this we know that we love the children of God, when we love God, and keep his ²commandments.

4:8 ¹A confirmation: For it is the nature of God to love men, whereof we have a most manifest proof above all others: in that that of his only free and infinite goodwill towards us his enemies, he delivered unto death not a common man, but his own Son, yea, his only begotten Son, to the end that we being reconciled through his blood, might be made partakers of his everlasting glory.

² In that he called God, Love he saith more than if he had said that he loveth us infinitely.

4:11 ¹ Another reason by comparison: if God so loved us, shall not we his children love one another.

4:12 ¹ A third reason: Because God is invisible, therefore by this effect of his Spirit, to wit, by charity, he is understood, yea, and to be not out of us, but joined with us, and in us, in whom he is so effectually working.

² Is surely in us, in deed and in truth.

4:14 ¹ He underlayeth this charity with another foundation, to wit, faith in Jesus, which joineth us indeed with him, even as charity witnesseth that we are joined with him. Furthermore he testifieth of Christ, as who had seen him with his eyes.

4:15 ¹ With such a confession as cometh from true faith and is accompanied with love, so that there be an agreement of all things.

4:16 ¹ A fourth reason: God is the fountain and wellspring of charity, yea, charity itself: therefore whosoever abideth in it, hath God with him.

4:17 ¹ Again (as a little before) he commendeth love, for that seeing that by our agreement with God in this thing, we have a certain testimony of our adoption, it cometh thereby to pass, that without fear we look for that latter day of judgment, so that trembling and that torment of conscience is cast out by this love.

² This signifieth all likeness, not equality.

4:18 ¹ If we understand by love, that we are in God, and God in us, that we are sons, and that we know God, and that everlasting life is in us: he concludeth aright that we may well gather peace and quietness thereby.

4:19 ¹ Lest any man should think that that peace of conscience proceedeth from our love as from the cause, he goeth back to the fountain, to wit, to the free love, wherewith God loveth us although we deserved and do deserve his wrath. And hereof springeth another double charity, which both are tokens and witnesses of that first, to wit, that, wherewith we love God who loved us first, and then for his sake our neighbors also.

4:20 ¹ As he showed that the love of our neighbor cannot be separate from the love wherewith God loveth us, because this last engendereth the other: so he denieth that the other kind of love wherewith we love God, can be separate from the love of our neighbor: whereof it followeth, that they lie impudently which say they worship God, and yet regard not their neighbor.

² The first reason taken of comparison, why we cannot hate our neighbor and love God, to wit, because that he that cannot love his brother, whom he seeth, how can he love God whom he seeth not?

4:21 ¹ A second reason, why God cannot be hated and our neighbor loved, because the selfsame Lawmaker commanded both to love him and our neighbor.

5:1 ¹ He goeth on forward in the same argument, showing how both those loves come into us from the love wherewith God loveth us, to wit, by Jesus our Mediator laid hold on by faith, in whom we are made the children of God, and do love the Father of whom we are so begotten and also our brethren which are begotten with us.

² Is the true Messiah.

³ By one he meaneth all the faithful.

5:2 ¹ The love of our neighbor doth so hang upon the love wherewith we love God, that this last must needs go before the first, whereof it followeth, that that is not to be called love when men agree together to do evil, neither that, when as in loving our neighbors, we respect not God's commandments.

² There is no love where there is no true doctrine.

3 ¹For this is the love of God, that we keep his commandments: ²and his ^acommandments are not ³burdenous.

4 ¹For all that is born of God, overcometh this world: ²and this is that victory that ³hath overcome this world even our ⁴faith.

5 ^{b,1}Who is it that overcometh this world, but he which believeth that Jesus is that Son of God?

6 ¹This is that Jesus Christ that came by water and blood: ²not by water only, but by water and blood: and it is that ³Spirit that beareth witness: for that Spirit is truth.

7 For there are three, which bear record in heaven, the Father, the ¹Word, and the holy Ghost: and these three are ²one.

8 And there are three, which bear record in the earth, the Spirit, and the Water and the Blood: and these three agree in one.

9 ¹If we receive the witness of men, the witness of God is greater: for ²this is the witness of God, which he testified of his Son.

CHAPTER 5

^a Matt. 11:30

^b 1 Cor. 15:57

^c John 3:16

^d 1 John 3:22

10 ^{c,1}He that believeth in that Son of God, hath the witness in himself: he that believeth not God, hath made him a liar, because he believed not the record, that God witnessed of that his Son.

11 ¹And this is that record, to wit, that God hath given unto us eternal life, and this life is in that his Son.

12 He that hath that Son, hath that life: and he that hath not that Son of God, hath not that life.

13 ¹These things have I written unto you, that believe in the name of that Son of God, that ye may know that ye have eternal life, and that ye may believe in the Name of that Son of God.

14 ¹And this is that assurance that we have in him, ^dthat if we ask anything according to his will, he heareth us.

15 And if we know that he heareth us, whatsoever we ask, we know that we have the petitions, that we have desired of him.

5:3 ¹ The reason: for to love God is to keep his commandments, which being so, and seeing that both the loves are commanded of one and the selfsame lawmaker (as he taught before) it followeth also that we do not love our neighbor, when we break God's commandments.

² Because experience teacheth us that there is no ability in our flesh, neither yet will to perform God's commandments, therefore lest the Apostle should seem, by so often putting them in mind of the keeping of the commandments of God, to require things that are impossible, he pronounceth that the commandments of God are not in such sort grievous or burdensome, that we can be oppressed with the burden of them.

³ To them that are regenerate, that is to say, born anew, which are led by the Spirit of God, and are through grace delivered from the curse of the Law.

5:4 ¹ A reason: Because by regeneration we have gotten strength to overcome the world, that is to say, whatsoever striveth against the commandments of God.

² He declareth what that strength is, to wit, Faith.

³ He useth the time that is past to give us to understanding, that although we be in the battle, yet undoubtedly we shall be conquerors, and are most certain of the victory.

⁴ Which is the instrumental cause, and as a mean and hand whereby we lay hold on him who indeed doth perform this, that is, hath and doth overcome the world, Even Christ Jesus.

5:5 ¹ Moreover he declareth two things, the one what true faith is, to wit, that which resteth upon Jesus Christ the Son of God alone: whereupon followeth the other, to wit, that this strength is not proper to faith, but by faith as an instrument is drawn from Jesus Christ the Son of God.

5:6 ¹ He proveth the excellency of Christ, in whom only all things are given us by six witnesses, three heavenly, and three earthly, which wholly and fully agree together. The heavenly witnesses are: the Father who sent the Son, the word itself which became flesh, and the holy Ghost. The earthly witnesses are, water, (that is, our sanctification) blood, (that is, our justification) the Spirit, (that is, acknowledgement of God the Father in Christ by faith through the testimony of the holy Ghost.)

² He warneth us not to separate water from blood, (that is, sanctification from justification, or righteousness begun, from righteousness imputed) for we stand not upon sanctification but so far forth as it is a witness of Christ's righteousness imputed unto us: and although this imputation of Christ's righteousness be never separated from sanctification, yet it is only the matter of our salvation.

5:7 ¹ See John 8:13, 14.

² Agree in one.

5:9 ¹ He sheweth by an Argument of comparison, of what great weight the heavenly testimony is, that the Father hath given of the Son, unto whom agreeth both the Son himself and the holy Ghost.

² I conclude this aright: for that testimony which I said is given in heaven, cometh from God, who so setteth forth his Son.

5:10 ¹ He proveth the sureness of the earthly witnesses by every man's conscience, having that testimony in itself, which conscience he saith cannot be deceived, because it consenteth the heavenly testimony, which the Father giveth of the Son: For otherwise the Father must needs be a liar, if the conscience, which accordeth and assenteth to the Father should lie.

5:11 ¹ Now at length he sheweth what this testimony is, that is confirmed with so many witnesses: to wit, that life or everlasting felicity, is the mere, and only gift of God, which is in the Son, and proceedeth from him unto us, which by faith are joined with him, so that without him life is nowhere to be found.

5:13 ¹ The conclusion of the Epistle wherein he sheweth first of all, that even they which already believe, do stand in deed of this doctrine, to the end that they may grow more and more in faith, that is to say, to the end that they may be daily more and more certified of their salvation in Christ through faith.

5:14 ¹ Because we do not yet in effect obtain that which we hope for, the Apostle joineth invocation or prayer with faith, which he will have to proceed from faith, and moreover to be conceived in such sort, that nothing be asked but that which is agreeable to the will of God: and such prayers cannot be vain.

16 ¹If any man see his brother sin a sin that is not unto death, let him ²ask, and he shall give him life for them that sin not unto death. ³There is a sin unto death, I say not that thou shouldest pray for it.

17 ¹All unrighteousness is sin, but there is a sin not unto death.

18 ¹We know that whosoever is born of God, sinneth not: but he that is begotten of God keepeth himself, and that wicked one toucheth him not.

^c Matt. 12:31
^d Mark 3:29
^e Luke 24:45

19 ¹We know that we are of God, and this whole world lieth in wickedness.

20 But we know that that Son of God is ^fcome, and hath given us a mind to know him, which is true, and we are in him that is true, that is, in that his Son Jesus Christ, the same is that very ^gGod, and that eternal life.

21 ¹Little children, keep yourselves from idols, Amen.

5:16 ¹ We have to make prayers not only for ourselves, but also for our brethren which do sin, that their sins be not unto them, to death: and yet he excepteth that sin, which is never forgiven, or the sin against the holy Ghost, that is to say, an universal and willful falling away from the known truth of the Gospel.

² This is as much as if he said, Let him desire the Lord to forgive him, and he will forgive him being so desired.

5:17 ¹ The taking away of an objection: Indeed all iniquity is comprehended under the name of sin, but yet we must not despair therefore, because every sin is not deadly, and without hope of remedy.

5:18 ¹ A reason why not all, nay rather why no sin is mortal to some: to wit, because they be born of God, that is to say, made the sons of God in Christ, and being endued with his Spirit, they do not serve sin, neither are deadly wounded of Satan.

5:19 ¹ Every man must particularly apply to himself the general promises, that we may certainly persuade ourselves, that whereas all the world is by nature lost, we are freely made the sons of God, by the sending of Jesus Christ his Son unto us, of whom we are lightened with the knowledge of the true God, and everlasting life.

5:20 ¹ The divinity of Christ is most plainly proved by this place.

5:21 ¹ He expresseth a plain precept of taking heed of idols: which he setteth against the only true God, that with this seal as it were he might seal up all the former doctrine.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF JOHN

1 *This Epistle is written to a woman of great renown,
4 who brought up her children in the fear of God:
6 he exhorteth her to continue in Christian charity, 7 that she accompany not with Antichrists, 10 but avoid them.*

1 The Elder to the ¹elect ²Lady, and her children, ³whom I love in the truth: and not I only, but also all that have known the truth,

2 For the truth's sake which dwelleth in us, and shall be with us forever:

3 Grace be with you, mercy and peace from God the Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ the Son of the Father, with ¹truth and love.

4 ¹I rejoiced greatly, that I found of thy children walking in ²truth, as we have received a commandment of the Father.

5 And now beseech I thee, Lady, (not as writing a new commandment unto thee, but the same which we had from the beginning) that we ^alove one another.

6 And this is that love that we should walk after his commandments. This commandment is, that as ye have heard from the beginning, ye should walk in it.

CHAPTER 1

^a John 15:12

^b Rom. 16:17

7 ¹For many deceivers are entered into this world, which confess not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh. He that is such one, is a deceiver and an Antichrist.

8 ^{1,2}Look to yourselves, that we lose not the things, which we have done, but that we may receive a full reward.

9 Whosoever transgresseth, and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God. He that continueth in the doctrine of Christ, he hath both the Father and the Son.

10 ¹If there come any unto you, and bring not this doctrine, ^breceive him not to house, neither bid him Godspeed.

11 For he that biddeth him Godspeed, is partaker of his evil deeds. Although I had many things to write unto you, yet would I not write with paper and ink:
but I trust to come unto you, and speak mouth to mouth, that our joy may be full.

12 The sons of thine elect sister greet thee,
Amen.

1:1 ¹ This is no proper name, but to be taken as the word soundeth, that is to say to the worthy and noble Lady.

² Excellent and honorable Dame.

³ The bond of Christian conjunction or linking together, is the true and constant profession of the truth.

1:3 ¹ With true knowledge, which hath always love joined with it, and following it.

1:4 ¹ This true profession consisteth both in love one toward another which the Lord hath commanded, and also especially in wholesome and sound doctrine, which also is delivered unto us: for the commandment of God is a sound and sure foundation both of the rule of manners and of doctrine, and these cannot be separated the one from the other.

² According as the truth directeth them.

1:7 ¹ Antichrists fighting against the person and office of Christ, were already crept into the Church in the time of the Apostles.

1:8 ¹ He that maketh shipwreck of doctrine, loseth all.

² Beware and take good heed.

1:10 ¹ We ought to have nothing to do with them that defend perverse doctrine.

THE THIRD EPISTLE OF JOHN

1 He commendeth Gaius for hospitality, 9 and reprehendeth Diotrephes for vainglory: 10 he exhorteth Gaius to continue in well doing: 12 and in the end commendeth Demetrius.

1 The ¹Elder unto the beloved Gaius whom I love in the truth.

2 Beloved, I wish chiefly that thou prosperedst and farest well as thy soul prospereth.

3 For I rejoiceth greatly when the brethren came and testified of the truth that is in thee, how thou walkest in the truth.

4 I have no greater joy than ¹these, that is, to hear that my sons walk in verity.

5 Beloved, thou doest ¹faithfully, whatsoever thou doest to the brethren, and to strangers,

6 Which bore witness of thy love before the Churches, Whom if thou ¹bringest on their journey as it seemeth according to God, thou shalt do well,

7 Because that for his Name's sake they went forth, and took nothing of the Gentiles.

8 We therefore ought to receive such, that we might be ¹helpers to the truth.

9 ¹I wrote unto the Church, but Diotrephes which loveth to have the preeminence among them, receiveth us not.

10 Wherefore if I come, I will call to your remembrance his deeds which he doeth, prattling against us with malicious words, and not therewith content, neither he himself receiveth the brethren, but forbideth them that would, and thrusteth them out of the Church.

11 Beloved, follow not that which is evil, but that which is good: he that doeth well is of God: but he that doeth evil, hath not ¹seen God.

12 Demetrius hath good report of all men, and of the truth itself: yea, and we ourselves bear record, and ye know that our record is true.

13 I have many things to write: but I will not with ink and pen write unto thee:

14 For I trust I shall shortly see thee, and we shall speak mouth to mouth. Peace be with thee. The friends salute thee. Greet thy friends by name.

1:1 ¹ An example of a Christian gratulation.

1:4 ¹ Than these joys.

1:5 ¹ As becometh a believer and a Christian.

1:6 ¹ He commendeth to Gaius either those selfsame men whom he had entertained before, returning now again to him about the affairs of the Church, or else some other which had like business.

1:8 ¹ That we ourselves may help somewhat to the preaching of the truth.

1:9 ¹ Ambition and covetousness, two pestilent plagues (especially in them which have any Ecclesiastical function) are condemned in Diotrephes' person.

1:11 ¹ Hath not known God.

THE GENERAL EPISTLE OF JUDE

1 ³He warneth the godly to take heed of such men, ⁴that make the grace of God a cloak for their wantonness: ⁵and that they shall not escape unpunished, for the contempt of that grace, ⁶7 he proveth by three examples: ¹⁴and allegeth the prophecy of Enoch: ²⁰Finally he sheweth the godly a means to overthrow all the snares of those deceivers.

1 Jude a servant of Jesus Christ, and ¹brother of James, to them which are called and sanctified ²of God the Father, and ³reserved to Jesus Christ:

2 Mercy unto you, and peace and love be multiplied.

3 ¹Beloved, when I gave all diligence to write unto you of the ²common salvation, it was needful for me to write unto you, to exhort you, that ye should earnestly ³contend for the maintenance of the faith, which was ⁴once given unto the Saints.

4 ¹For there are certain men crept in, which were before of old ordained to this condemnation: ²ungodly men they are, which turn the grace of our God into wantonness, and ⁴deny God the only Lord, and our Lord Jesus Christ.

5 ¹I will therefore put you in remembrance, forasmuch as ye once knew this, how that the Lord, after that he had delivered the people out of Egypt, ^bdestroyed them afterward which believed not.

6 ¹The ^cAngels also which kept not their first estate, but left their own habitation, he hath reserved in everlasting chains under darkness unto the judgment of the great day.

7 As ^dSodom and Gomorrah, and the cities about them, which in like manner as they did, ¹committed fornication, and followed ²strange flesh, are set forth for an example, and suffer the vengeance of eternal fire.

8 Likewise notwithstanding these ¹sleepers also defile the flesh, ²and despise ³government, and speak evil of them that are in authority.

9 ¹Yet Michael the Archangel, when he strove against the devil, and disputed about the body of Moses, durst not blame him with cursed speaking, but said, The Lord rebuke thee.

10 ¹But these speak evil of those things, which they know not: and whatsoever things they know naturally as beasts, which are without reason, in those things they corrupt themselves.

11 ¹Woe be unto them: for they have followed the way ^cof Cain, and are cast away by the deceit ^dof Balaam's wages, and perish in the gainsaying ^eof Korah.

12 ¹These are rocks in your ²feasts of charity,

1:1 ¹ This is put to make a difference between him and Judas Iscariot.

² By God the Father.

³ Set apart by the everlasting counsel of God, to be delivered to Christ to be kept.

1:3 ¹ The end and mark whereat he shooteth in this Epistle is that he confirmeth the godly against certain wicked men, both in wholesome doctrine and good manners.

² Of those things that pertain to the salvation of all of us.

³ That ye should defend the faith by all the might you can, both by true doctrine and good example of life.

⁴ Which was once so given, that it may never be changed.

1:4 ¹ It is by God's providence and not by chance, that many wicked men creep into the Church.

² He condemneth this first in them, that they take a pretense or occasion to wax wanton, by the grace of God: which cannot be, but the chief empire of Christ must be abrogated, in that such men give up themselves to Satan: as at this time the sect of the Anabaptists doth, which they call Libertines.

1:5 ¹ He setteth forth the horrible punishment of them which have abuseth the grace of God to follow their own lusts.

1:6 ¹ The fall of the Angels was most sincerely punished, how much more then will the Lord punish wicked and faithless men?

1:7 ¹ Following the steps of Sodom and Gomorrah.

² Thus he covertly setteth forth their horrible and monstrous lusts.

1:8 ¹ Which are so blockish and void of reason as if all their senses and wits were in a most dead sleep.

² Another most pernicious doctrine of theirs, in that they take away the authority of Magistrates, and speak evil of them, as at this day the Anabaptists do.

³ It is a greater matter to despise government, than the governors, that is to say, the matter itself, than the persons.

1:9 ¹ An argument of comparison, Michael one of the chiefest Angels, was content to deliver Satan, although as most cursed enemy, to the judgment of God to be punished: and these perverse men are not ashamed to speak evil of the powers which are ordained of God.

1:10 ¹ The conclusion. These men are in a double fault, to wit, both for their rash folly in condemning some, and for their impudent and shameless contempt of that knowledge, which when they had gotten, yet notwithstanding they lived as brute beasts, serving their bellies.

1:11 ¹ He foretelleth their destruction, because they resemble or show forth Cain's shameless malice, Balaam's filthy covetousness, and to be short, Korah's seditious and ambitious head.

1:12 ¹ He rebuketh most sharply with many other notes and marks, both their dishonesty or filthiness, and their sauciness, but especially their vain bravery of words, and most vain pride, joining herewithal a most grave and heavy threatening out of a most ancient prophecy of Enoch touching the judgment to come.

² The feasts of charity were certain banquets, which the brethren that were members of the Church kept altogether, as Tertullian setteth them forth in his Apology, Chap. 3:9.

when they feast with you, without ³all fear, feeding themselves: ^bclouds they are without water, carried about of winds, corrupt trees and without fruit, twice dead, and plucked up by the roots.

13 They are the raging waves of the sea, foaming out their own shames: they are wandering stars, to whom is reserved the ¹blackness of darkness forever.

14 And Enoch also the seventh from Adam, prophesied of such, saying, ⁱBehold, the Lord ¹cometh with thousands of his Saints,

15 To give judgment against all men, and to rebuke all the ungodly among them of all their wicked deeds, which they have ungodly committed, and of all their cruel speakings, which wicked sinners have spoken against him.

16 These are murmurers, complainers, walking after their own lusts: ^jwhose mouths speak proud things, having men's persons in admiration, because of advantage.

17 ¹But, ye beloved, remember the words which were spoken before of the Apostles of our Lord

Jesus Christ:

18 How that they told you that there should be mockers ^kin the last time, which should walk after their own ungodly lusts.

19 ¹These are they that separate themselves from others, natural, having not the Spirit.

20 But, ye beloved, edify yourselves in your most holy faith, praying in the holy Ghost.

21 And keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ, unto eternal life.

22 ¹And have compassion of some, in putting difference:

23 And others save with ¹fear, pulling them out of the fire, and hate even that ²garment which is spotted by the flesh.

24 ¹Now unto him that is able to keep you that ye fall not, and to present you faultless before the presence of his glory with joy,

25 That is, to God only wise, our Savior be glory, and majesty, and dominion, and power, both now and forever, Amen.

1:12 ³ Impudently, without all reverence either to God or man.

1:13 ¹ Most gross darkness.

1:14 ¹ The present time for the time to come.

1:17 ¹ The rising up of such monsters was spoken of before, that we should not be troubled at the newness of the matter.

1:19 ¹ It is the property of Antichrists to separate themselves from the godly, because they are not governed by the Spirit of God: and contrariwise it is the property of Christians to edify one another through godly prayers both in faith and also in love until the mercy of Christ appears to their full salvation.

1:22 ¹ Among them which wander and go astray, the godly have to use this choice, that they handle some of them gently, and that others some being even in the very flame, they endeavor to save with severe and sharp instruction of the present danger: yet so, that they do in such sort abhor the wicked and dishonest, that they eschew even the least contagion that may be.

1:23 ¹ By fearing them, and holding them back with godly severity.

² An amplification taken from the forbidden things of the Law which did defile.

1:24 ¹ He commendeth them to the grace of God, declaring sufficiently that it is God only that can give us that constancy which he requireth of us.

8 ¹I ^gam ²Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the ending, saith the Lord, Which is, and Which

1:1 ¹ This Chapter hath two principal parts, the title or inscription, which standeth instead of an exordium: and a narration going before the whole prophecy of this book: The inscription is double, general and particular. The general containeth the kind of prophecy, the author, and, matter, instruments, and manner of communicating the same, in the first verse: the most religious faithfulness of the Apostle as public witness, verse 2. And the use of communicating the same taken from the promise of God, and from the circumstance of the time, the third verse.

² An opening of a secret and hid thing.

³ Which the Son opened to us out of his Father's bosom by Angels.

1:4 ¹ This is the particular or singular inscription wherein salutation is written unto certain Churches by name, which represent the Church Catholic: and the certainty and the truth of the same is declared, from the Author thereof, unto the eighth verse.

² That is, from God the Father, eternal, immortal, immutable: whose unchangeableness S. John declareth by a form of speech which is undeclined. For there is no incongruity in this place, where, of necessity the words must be attempted unto the mysteries, not the mysteries corrupted or impaired by the word.

³ By these three times, Is, Was and shall be, is signified this word Jehovah, which is the proper name of God.

⁴ That is, from the holy Ghost which proceedeth from the Father and the Son. This Spirit is one in person according to his subsistence: but in communication of his virtue, and in demonstration of his divine works in those seven Churches, doth so perfectly manifest himself, as if there were many Spirits, every one perfectly working in his own Church, wherefore after Rev. 5:6, they are called the seven horns and seven eyes of the Lamb, as much to say, as his most absolute power and wisdom: and Rev. 3:1. Christ is said to have there seven Spirits of God, and Rev. 4:5, it is said, that seven lamps do burn before his throne, which also are those seven Spirits of God. That this place ought to be so understood, it is thus proved. For first grace and peace is asked by prayer of this Spirit, which is a divine work, and an action incommunicable, in respect of the most high Deity. Secondly, he is placed between the Father and the Son, as set in the same degree of dignity and operation with them. Besides he is before the throne as of the same substance with the Father and the Son: as the seven eyes and seven horns of the Lamb. Moreover, these spirits are never said to adore God, as all other things are. Finally, that is the power whereby the Lamb opened the book, and loosed the seven seals thereof when none could be found amongst all creatures by whom the book might be opened, Rev. 5. Of these things long ago, Master John Luide of Oxford wrote learnedly unto me. Now the holy Ghost is set in order of words before Christ, because there was in that which followeth, a long process of speech to be used concerning Christ.

⁵ These are the seven spirits, which are, afterward, Rev. 5:6, called the horns and eyes of the Lamb, and are now made as a guard waiting upon God.

1:5 ¹ A most ample and grave commendation of Christ, first from his offices the Priesthood and kingdoms, secondly from his benefits, as his love toward us, and washing us with his blood, in this verse, and communication of his kingdom and Priesthood with us: thirdly from his eternal glory and power, which always is to be celebrated of us, verse 6. Finally from the accomplishment of all things once to be effected by him, at his second coming, what time he shall openly destroy the wicked, and comfort the godly in the truth, verse 7.

1:7 ¹ All men.

1:8 ¹ A confirmation of the salutation foregoing, taken from the words of God himself: in which he avoucheth his operation in every single creature, the immutable eternity that is in himself, and his omnipotence in all things: and concludeth in the unity of his own essence, that Trinity of persons, which was before spoken of.

² I am he before whom there is nothing, yea, by whom every-thing that is made, was made and shall remain though all they should perish.

was, and Which is to come, even the Almighty.

9 ¹I John even your brother and companion in tribulation, and in the kingdom and patience of Jesus Christ, was in the ²Isle called Patmos, for the word of God, and for the witnessing of Jesus Christ.

10 And I was ravished in ¹spirit on the ²Lord's day, and heard behind me a great voice, as it had been of a trumpet, 11 Saying, I am Alpha and Omega, that first and that last: and that which thou seest write in a book, and send it unto the seven Churches which are in Asia, unto Ephesus, and unto Smyrna, and unto Pergamos, and unto Thyatira, and unto Sardis, and unto Philadelphia, and unto Laodicea.

12 ¹Then I turned back to ²see the voice that spake with me: ³and when I was turned, I saw seven golden candlesticks, 13 And in the midst of the seven candlesticks, one like unto the son of man, clothed with a garment down to the feet, and girded about the paps with a golden girdle.

14 His head and hairs were white as white wool, and as snow, and his eyes were as a flame of fire,

15 And his feet like unto fine brass burning as in a furnace: and his voice as the sound of many waters.

^b Isa. 41:4

16 And he had in his right hand seven stars: and out of his mouth went a sharp two edged sword, and his face shone as the sun shineth in his strength.

17 ¹And when I saw him, I fell at his feet as dead: ²then he laid his right hand upon me, saying unto me, Fear not: ³I am that ^bfirst and that last,

18 And am alive, but I was dead: and behold, I am alive for evermore, Amen: and I have the keys of hell and of death.

19 ¹Write these things which thou hast seen, and the things which are, and the things which shall come hereafter.

20 ¹The mystery of the seven stars which thou sawest in my right hand, and the seven golden candlesticks, is this, The seven stars are the ²Angels of the seven Churches: and the seven candlesticks which thou sawest, are the seven Churches.

2 ¹John is commanded to write those things which the Lord knew necessary to the Churches of Ephesus. 8 Of the Smyrnians, 12 of Pergamos, 18 and of Thyatira, as that they keep those things which they received of the Apostles.

1 ¹Unto the Angel of the Church of Ephesus

1:9 ¹ The narration opening the way to the declaring of the authority and calling of Saint John the Evangelist in this singular Revelation, and to procure faith, and credit unto this prophecy. This is the second part of this Chapter consisting of a proposition and an exposition. The proposition sheweth, first who was called unto this Revelation, in what place, and how occupied, verse 9. Then at what time and by what means, namely, by the spirit and the word, and that on the Lord's day, which day ever since the resurrection of Christ, was consecrated for Christians unto the religion of the Sabbath: that is to say, to be a day of rest, verse 10. Thirdly, who is the author that calleth him, and what is the sum of his calling.

² Patmos is one of the isles of Sporades whither John was banished as some write.

1:10 ¹ This is that holy ravishment expressed, wherewith the prophets were ravished, and being as it were carried out of the world were conversant with God, and so Ezekiel saith often that he was carried from place to place of the Lord's Spirit and that the Spirit of the Lord fell upon him.

² He calleth it the Lord's day, which Paul calleth the first day of the week, 1 Cor. 16:2.

1:12 ¹ The exposition, declaring the third and last point of the proposition (for the other points are evident of themselves) wherein is spoken first of the author of his calling unto verse 17. Secondly of the calling itself unto the end of the Chap. And first of all the occasion is noted in this verse, in that S. John turned himself towards the vision: after is set down the description of the author in the verses following, Rev. 1:13–16.

² To see him whose voice I had heard.

³ The description of the Author, which is Christ: by the candlesticks that standeth about him, that is the Churches that stand before him, and depend upon his direction, in this verse: by his properties, that he is one furnished with wisdom and dexterity to the achieving of great things, verse 13, and ancient gravity and most excellent sight of the eye, verse 14, with strength invincible and with a mighty word, verse 15. By his operations, that he ruleth the ministry of his servants in the Church, giveth the effect thereunto by the sword of his word, and enlightening all things with his countenance, doth most mightily provide for everyone by his divine providence, verse 16.

1:17 ¹ A religious fear that goeth before the calling of the Saints, and their full confirmation to take upon them the vocation of God.

² A divine confirmation is this calling partly by sign and partly by word of power.

³ A most elegant description of this calling contained in three things, which are necessary unto a just vocation: first the authority of him that calleth, for that he is the beginning and end of all things, in this verse, for that he is eternal and omnipotent, verse 18. Secondly, the sum of this prophetic calling, and revelation, verse 19. Lastly a declaration of those persons unto whom this prophecy is by the commandment of God directed in the description thereof, verse 20.

1:19 ¹ The sum of this prophecy, that the Apostle must write whatsoever he should see, adding nothing, nor taking away anything, as verse 2. Hereof there are two parts: one is a narration of those things which are, that is, which then were at that time contained in the second and third Chapters, the other part is of those things which were to come, contained in the rest of this book.

1:20 ¹ That is, the things which [were] mystical, signified by the particulars of the vision beforegoing.

² By the Angels he meaneth the Ministers of the Church.

2:1 ¹ The former part of this book is comprised in a narration of those things which then were as S. John taught us, Rev. 1:19, it belongeth wholly to instruction and in these next two Chapters, containeth seven places according to the number and condition of those Churches which were named before, Rev. 1:11, figured verse 12, distributed most aptly into their Pastors and flocks, verse 20, which verse of that Chap. is as it were a passage unto the first part. Every one of the seven places hath three principal members, an Exordium taken from the person of the Author: a Proposition, in which is praise and commendation of that which is good, reprehension of that which is evil: an instruction containing either an exhortation alone, or withal a dissuasion opposite unto it, and a conclusion stirring unto attention by divine promises. And this first place is unto the Pastors of the Church of Ephesus.

write,²These things saith he that holdeth the seven stars in his right hand, and walketh in the midst of the seven golden candlesticks.

2 ¹I know thy works, and thy labor, and thy patience, and how thou canst not bear with them which are evil, and hast examined them which say they are Apostles, and are not, and hast found them liars.

3 And thou wast burdened, and hast patience, and for my Name's sake hast labored, and hast not fainted.

4 Nevertheless, I have somewhat ¹against thee, because thou hast left thy first love.

5 Remember therefore from whence thou art fallen, and repent and do the first works: or else I will come against thee shortly, and will remove thy candlestick out of his place, except thou amend.

6 But this thou hast that thou hatest the works of the Nicolaitans, which I also hate.

7 ¹Let him that hath an ear hear what the Spirit saith unto the Churches: To him that overcometh, will I give to eat of the tree of life which is in ²the midst of the ³Paradise of God.

8 ¶ ¹And unto the Angel of the Church of the ²Smyrnians write, These things saith he that is first and last, which was dead and is alive.

9 ¹I know thy works and tribulation, and poverty (but thou art rich) and I know the blasphemy of them, which say they are Jews, and are not, but are the Synagogue of Satan.

10 Fear none of those things, which thou shalt suffer: behold, it shall come to pass, that the devil shall cast some of you into prison, that ye may be tried, and ye shall have ¹tribulation ten days: be thou faithful unto the death, and I will give thee the crown of life.

11 ¹Let him that hath an ear hear what the Spirit saith unto the Churches. He that overcometh shall not be hurt ²of the second death.

12 ¹And to the Angel of the Church, which is at ²Pergamos write, Thus saith he which hath that sharp sword with two edges.

13 ¹I know thy works, and where thou dwellest, even where Satan's throne is, and thou keepest my Name, and hast not denied my faith, even in ²those days when Antipas my faithful martyr was slain among you, where Satan dwelleth.

14 But I have a few things against thee, because thou hast there them that maintain the doctrine of ^aBalaam, which taught Balak to put a stumbling block before the children of Israel, that they should ¹eat of things sacrificed unto idols, and commit fornication.

15 Even so hast thou them that maintain the doctrine of the ¹Nicolaitans, which thing I hate.

16 Repent thyself, or else I will come unto thee shortly, and will fight against them with the sword of my mouth.

17 ¹Let him that hath an ear, hear what the spirit saith unto the Churches. To him that overcometh, will I give to eat ²of the ³Manna that is hid, and will give him

2:1 ² The exordium wherein are contained the special praises of Christ Jesus the Author of this prophecy, out of verses 16 and 13 of the first Chapter.

2:2 ¹ The proposition, first condemning the Pastor of this Church, verses 2, 3, then reproofing him, verse 4, after informing him and withal threatening that he will translate the Church to another place, verse 5. This commutation or threat Christ mitigateth by a kind of correction, calling to mind the particular virtue and piety of the Church, which God never leaveth without recompense, verse 6. Concerning the Nicolaitans see after upon verse 11.

2:4 ¹ To deal with thee for.

2:7 ¹ The conclusion, containing a commandment of attention and a promise of everlasting life, shadowed out in a figure of which, Gen. 2:9.

² That is, in Paradise after the manner of the Hebrew phrase.

³ Thus Christ speaketh as the Mediator.

2:8 ¹ The second place is unto the Pastors of the Church of the Smyrnians. The exordium is taken out of verses 17 and 18 of the first Chap.

² Smyrna was one of the cities of Ionia in Asia.

2:9 ¹ The proposition of praise is in this verse and of exhortation joined with promise, is in the next verse.

2:10 ¹ That is, of ten years. For so commonly both in this book and in Daniel, years are signified by the name of days: that God thereby might declare, that the space of time is appointed by him, and the same very short. Now because Saint John wrote this book in the end of Domitian the Emperor his reign, as Justin and Irenaeus do witness, it is altogether necessary that this should be referred unto that persecution which was done by the authority of the Emperor Trajan: who began to make havoc of the Christian Church in the tenth year of his reign, as the His-toriographers do write: and his bloody persecution continued until Adrian the Emperor had succeeded in his place: the space of which time is precisely ten years, which are here mentioned.

2:11 ¹ The conclusions as verse 7.

² See Rev. 20:6.

2:12 ¹ The third place is unto the Pastors of Pergamos. The Exordium is taken out of verse 16 of the first Chapter.

² Pergamos was the name of a famous city in old time in Asia, where the Kings of the Attalians were always resident.

2:13 ¹ The proposition of praise is in this verse, of reprehension in the two following, and of exhortation joined with a conditional threat, verse 16. Now this Antipas was the Angel or minister of the Church of Pergamos, as Aretas writeth.

² The faith of them of Pergamos is so much the more highly commended because they remained constant even in the very heat of persecution.

2:14 ¹ That which is here spoken of things offered to idols, is meant of the same kind which Paul speaketh of, 1 Cor. 10:13.

2:15 ¹ Which follow the footsteps of Balaam, and such as are abandoned unto all filthiness, as he showed in the verse foregoing, and is here signified by a note of similitude. And thus also must the next verse be understood. For this matter especially Irenaeus must be consulted withal.

2:17 ¹ The conclusion, standing of exhortation as before, and of promise.

² He alludeth to that sermon which we read of John 6, and to the place we find, Ps. 105:40.

³ Aretas writeth, that such a stone was wont to be given to wrestlers at games, or else that such stones did in old times witness the quitting of a man.

a ^{4,5}white stone, and in the stone a new ⁶name written, which no man knoweth, saving he that receiveth it.

18 ¶ And unto ¹the Angel of the Church which is at Thyatira write, These things saith the Son of God, which hath his eyes like unto a flame of fire, and his feet like fine brass.

19 I know ¹thy works and thy love, and ²service and faith, and thy patience, and thy works, and that they are more at the last, than at the first.

20 Notwithstanding, I have a few things against thee, that thou sufferest the woman Jezebel which calleth herself a prophetess, to teach and to deceive my servants, to make them commit ¹fornication and to eat meat sacrificed unto idols.

21 And I gave her space to repent of her fornication, and she repented not.

22 Behold, I will cast her into a bed, and them that commit fornication with her, into great affliction, except they repent them of their works.

23 And I will kill her children with death, and all the Churches shall know that I am he which ¹search the reins and hearts: and I will give unto every one of you according unto your works.

24 And unto you I say, the rest of them of Thyatira, As many as have not this learning, neither have known the ¹deepness of Satan (as they speak) I will ²put upon you none other burden, 25 But that which ye have already, hold fast till I come.

29 Let him that hath an ear, hear what the Spirit saith to the Churches.

3 ¹ The first Epistle sent to the Pastors of the Church of Sardis, 7 of Philadelphia, 14 And of the Laodiceans, 16 that they be not lukewarm, 20 but endeavor to further God's glory.

1 ¹And write unto the Angel of the Church which is at ²Sardis, These things saith he that hath the seven Spirits of God, and the seven stars, ³I know thy works: for thou hast a ⁴name that thou livest, but thou art dead.

2 Be awake, and strengthen the things which remain, that are ¹ready to die: for I have not found thy work perfect before God.

3 Remember therefore, how thou hast received and heard, and hold fast and repent. 'If therefore thou wilt not watch, I will come on thee as a thief, and thou shalt not know what hour I will come upon thee.

4 Notwithstanding thou hast a few names yet in Sardis, ¹which have not defiled their garments: and they shall walk with me in ²white: for they are ³worthy.

5 He ¹that overcometh, shall be clothed in white array, and I will not put out his Name out of the ²book of life, but I will confess his name before my Father, and before his Angels.

6 Let him that hath an ear, hear what the Spirit

2:17 ⁴ The bread of life, invisible, spiritual, and heavenly, which is kept secretly with God, from before all eternity.

⁵ Which is a sign and witness of forgiveness and remission of sins, of righteousness and true holiness, and of purity uncorrupted, after that the old man is killed.

⁶ A sign and testimony of newness of life in righteousness and true holiness, by putting on the new man, whom none doth inwardly know, save the spirit of man which is in himself, the praise whereof is not of man, but of God, Rom. 2:28.

2:18 ¹ The fourth place is unto the Pastors of Thyatira. The exordium is taken out of verses 14 and 15 of the first Chapter.

2:19 ¹ The proposition of praise is in this verse: of reprehension, for they tolerated with them, the doctrine of ungodliness and unrighteousness, is verse 20, the authors whereof though they were called back of God, yet repented not verse 21, whereunto is added a most heavy threatening, verses 22 and 23, of a conditional promise, and of exhortation to hold fast the truth, is in the two verses following.

² So he calleth those offices of charity which are done to the saints.

2:20 ¹ By Fornication, is often in the Scripture idolatry meant.

2:24 ¹ He pointeth out the bragging of certain men, which boasted of their deep, that is, plentiful and common knowledge, which notwithstanding is devilish.

² I will speak no worse thing against you, being content to have showed you what I require to be in you.

2:26 ¹ The conclusion, wherein Christ assureth unto his servants the communion of his Kingdom and glory, in this verse and the next following, and commandeth an holy attention in the last verse.

² That is, I will make him a King by communion with me, and my fellow heir, as it is promised, Matt. 19:28 and 25:34; Rom. 8:17 and 1 Cor. 6:3; Eph. 2:6 and 1 Tim. 2:12.

2:28 ¹ The brightness of greatest glory and honor nearest approaching unto the light of Christ, who is the Son of righteousness, and our head, Matt. 4.

3:1 ¹ The fifth place is unto the Pastors of Sardis. The exordium is taken out of verses 4 and 16 of the first Chap.

² Sardis is the name of a most flourishing and famous City, where the Kings of Lydia kept their courts.

³ The proposition of reproof is in this verse: of exhortation joined with a threatening in the two verses that follow, and of qualification by way of correction unto the comfort of the good which yet remained there, verse 4.

⁴ Thou art said to live, but art dead indeed.

3:2 ¹ Other things, whose state is such, that they are now going, and unless they be confirmed, will perish forthwith.

3:4 ¹ That is, who have with all religion guarded themselves from sin and moral contagion, even from the very show of evil, as S. Jude exhorteth, verse 23.

² Pure from all spot and shining with glory. So it is to be understood always hereafter as in the next verse.

³ They are meet and fit, to wit, because they are justified in Christ, as they have truly showed it: for he is righteous that worketh righteousness: but so, as the tree bringeth forth fruit. See Rom. 8:18.

7 ¶ ¹And write unto the Angel of the Church which is of Philadelphia, These things saith he that is Holy, and True, which hath the ²key of David, which openeth and no man shutteth, and shutteth and no man openeth.

8 ¹I know thy works: behold I have set before thee an open door, and no man can shut it: for thou hast a little strength and hast kept my word, and hast not denied my Name.

9 Behold, I will make them ¹of the Synagogue of Satan, which call themselves Jews, and are not, but do lie: behold, I say, I will make them that they shall come ²and worship before thy feet, and shall know that I have loved thee.

10 Because thou hast ¹kept the word of my patience, therefore I will deliver thee from the hour of temptation, which will come upon all the world, to try them that dwell upon the earth.

11 Behold, I come shortly: hold that which thou hast, that no man take thy crown.

12 ¹Him that overcometh, will I make a pillar in the Temple of my God, and he shall go no more out: ²and I will write upon him the Name of my God, and the name of the city of my God, which is the new Jerusalem, which cometh down out of heaven from my God, and I will write upon him my new Name.

16 Therefore because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, it will come to pass, that I shall spew thee out of my mouth.

17 For thou sayest, I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing, and knowest not how thou art wretched and miserable, ¹and poor, and blind, and naked.

18 I counsel thee to buy of me gold tried by the fire, that thou mayest be made rich: and white raiment, that thou mayest be clothed, and that thy filthy nakedness do not appear: and anoint thine eyes with eye salve, that thou mayest see.

3:7 ¹ The sixth place is unto the Pastors of Philadelphia. The exordium is taken out of verse 18 of the first chapter.

² All power of rule in commanding and forbidding, delivering and punishing. And the house of David is the Church, and the continual promise of David's Kingdom belongeth to Christ.

3:8 ¹ The proposition of praise is in this verse, of promises, to bring home again them that wander, verse 9, and to preserve the godly, verse 10, and of exhortation, verse 11.

3:9 ¹ I will bring them to that case.

² That is, fall down and worship either thee civilly, or Christ religiously at thy feet (and thus I had rather take it) whether here in the Church (which seemeth more proper to the argument of this place) or there in the world to come. For Christ verily shall fulfill his word.

3:10 ¹ Because thou hast been patient and constant, as I would my servants should be.

3:12 ¹ The conclusion, which containeth a promise and a commandment.

² That is, the new man shall be turned after his Father, Mother, and head Christ.

3:14 ¹ The seventh place is unto the pastors of the Church of Laodicea. The exordium is taken out of verse 15 of the first chapter.

² Amen soundeth as much in the Hebrew tongue, as Truly, or Truth itself.

³ Of whom all things that are made, have their beginning.

3:15 ¹ The proposition of reproof is in this verse, whereunto is adjoined a threatening, verse 16, with a confirmation declaring the same, verse 17, and of exhortation unto faith and repentance, verses

18, 19, whereunto is added a conditional promise, verse 20.

3:17 ¹ The spiritual misery of men is metaphorically expressed in three points: unto which are matched as correspondent those remedies which are offered, verse 18.

3:19 ¹ Zeal is set against them which are neither hot nor cold.

3:20 ¹ This must be taken after the manner of an allegory, as John 14:23.

3:21 ¹ The conclusion, consisting of a promise, as Rev. 2:26, and of an exhortation. Hitherto hath been the first part of the book of the Apocalypse.

4:1 ¹ Hereafter followeth the second part of this book, altogether propheticall, foretelling those things which were to come, as was said before, Rev. 1:19. This is divided into two histories: one common unto the whole world, unto Chapter 9: and another singular of the Church of God, thence unto chapter 22. And these histories are said to be described in several books, Rev. 5:1 and 10:2. Now this verse is as it were a passage from the former part unto this second: where it is said, that the heaven was opened, that is, that heavenly things were unlocked, and that a voice as of a trumpet sounded in heaven to stir up the Apostle, and call him to the understanding of things to come. The first history hath two parts: one the causes of things done, and of this whole Revelation, in that and the next chapter. Another of the acts done, in the next 4 chapters. The principal causes according to the distinction of persons in the vanity of divine essence, and according to the economy or dispensation thereof, are two. One the beginning, which none can approach unto, that is, God the Father, of whom is spoken in this chapter. The other, the Son, who is the mean cause, easy to be approached unto us, in respect that he is God and man in one person: of whom, Rev. 5.

open in heaven, and the first voice which I heard, was as it were of a trumpet talking with me, saying, Come up hither, and I will show thee things which must be done hereafter.

2 And ¹immediately I was ravished ²in the spirit, ³and behold, a throne was set in heaven, and one sat upon the throne.

3 ¹And he that sat, was to look upon, like unto a Jasper stone, and a sardine, and there was a rainbow round about the throne, in sight like to an emerald.

4 ¹And round about the throne were four and twenty seats, and upon the seats I saw four and twenty Elders sitting, clothed in white raiment, and had on their heads crowns of gold.

5 ¹And out of the throne proceeded lightnings, and thunderings and voices, and there were seven lamps of fire burning before the throne, which are the seven spirits of God.

6 ¹And before the throne there was a Sea of glass like unto crystal: and in the midst of the throne, and round about the throne were four beasts, full of eyes before and behind.

7 And the first beast was like a lion, and the second beast like a calf, and the third beast had a face as a man, and the fourth beast was like a flying Eagle.

8 And the ¹four beasts had each one of them six wings about him, and they were full of eyes within, and they ceased not ²day nor night, saying, Holy, holy, holy, Lord God Almighty, Which was, and which is, and which is to come.

9 And when those beasts ¹gave glory, and honor, and thanks to him that sat on the throne, which liveth forever and ever,

10 ¹The four and twenty Elders fell down before him that sat on the throne, and worshipped him that liveth for evermore, and cast their crowns before the throne, saying,

11 ¹Thou art worthy, O Lord, ²to receive glory, and honor, and power: for thou hast created all things, and for thy will's sake they are, and have been created.

5 ¹The book sealed with seven seals, ³which none could open. ⁶That Lamb of God, ⁹is thought worthy to open, ¹²even by the consent of all the company of heaven.

4:2 ¹ The manner of revelation, as before, 1:10.

² See Rev. 1:12.

³ A description of God the Father, and of his glory in the heavens, framed unto the manner of men, by his office, nature, company, attending, effect, instruments and events that follow afterwards. In this verse, he is presented in office a judge, as Abraham said, Gen. 18, which is declared by his throne, as an ensign of judgment, and his sitting thereupon.

4:3 ¹ By his nature, in that he is the Father, most glorious in his own person, and with his glory overshadowing all other things.

4:4 ¹ By the company attending about him in that, as that most high Judge, he is accompanied with the most honorable attendance of Prophets and Apostles, both of the old and new Church, whom Christ hath made to be Priests and Kings, Rev. 1:6 and 5:10.

4:5 ¹ By effects, in that most mightily he speaketh all things by his voice and word, as Ps. 29:3, and with the light of his spirit and providence peruseth and passes through all.

4:6 ¹ By instruments used, in that he both hath a most ready treasury, and as it were a workhouse excellently furnished with all things, unto the executing of his will, which things flow from his commandment, as is repeated, Rev. 15:2. And hath also the Angels most ready administrators of his counsels and pleasure unto all parts of the world, continually watching (in this verse) working by reason otherwise than the instruments, without life last mentioned, courageous as lions, mighty as bulls, wise as men, swift as eagles, verse 7, most apt unto all purposes, as furnished with wings on every part, most piercing of sight, and finally pure and perfect Spirits, always in continual motion, verse 8.

4:8 ¹ Every beast had six wings.

² By events, in that for all the causes before mentioned God is glorified both of Angels, as holy, Judge, omnipotent, eternal and immutable, verse 8, and also after their example he is glorified of holy men (verse 9) in sign and in speech, verses 10, 11.

4:9 ¹ God is said to have glory, honor, kingdom, and such like given unto him, when we godly and reverently set forth that which is properly and only his.

4:10 ¹ Three signs of divine honor given unto God, prostration or falling down, adoration and casting their crowns before God, in which the godly, though made kings by Christ, do willingly empty themselves of all glory, moved with a religious respect for the majesty of God.

4:11 ¹ The sum of their speech: that all glory must be given unto God: the reason, because he is the eternal beginning of all things, from whose only will they have their being and are governed: and finally in all respects are that which they are.

² That is, that thou shouldest challenge the same to thyself alone. But as for us, we are unworthy, that even by thy goodness we should be made partakers of this glory. And hitherto hath been handled the principal cause unapproachable, which is God.

5:1 ¹ A passing unto the second principal cause, which is the Son of God, God and man, the mediator of all, as the eternal word of God the Father manifested in the flesh. This chapter hath two parts: one that prepareth the way unto the Revelation, by rehearsal of the occasions that did occur in the first four verses. Another, the history of the Revelation of Christ, thence unto the end of the chapter.

² That is, in the very right hand of God.

³ Here are showed the occasions for which this principal cause, and this Revelation was also necessary: the same are three, the first a present vision of the book of the counsels of God, concerning the government of this whole world, which book is said to be laid up with the Father as it were in his hand: but shut and unknown unto all creatures, in this verse. The second is a religious desire of the Angels of God to understand the mysteries of this book, verse 2, whereof see 1 Pet. 1:12. The third is a lamentation of Saint John and all the godly, moved by the same desire, verse 4, when they saw that it was a thing impossible for any creature to effect: which is declared in the third verse.

backside sealed with seven seals.

2 And I saw a strong Angel which preached with a loud voice, Who is worthy to open the book, and to loose the seals thereof?

3 ¹And no man in heaven nor in earth, neither under the earth, was able to open the book, neither to look thereon.

4 Then I wept much, because no man was found worthy to open, and to read the book, neither to look thereon.

5 ¹And one of the Elders said unto me, Weep not: behold, that ^a2Lion which is of the tribe of Judah, that root of David, hath obtained to open the book, and to loose the seven seals thereof.

6 Then I beheld, and lo, ¹in the midst of the throne, and of the four beasts, and in the midst of the Elders stood a Lamb, as though he had been killed, which had seven horns, and seven eyes, which are the seven spirits of God, sent into all the world.

7 ¹And he came, and took the book out of the right hand of him that sat upon the throne.

8 ¹And when he hath taken the book, the four beasts, and the four and twenty Elders fell down before the Lamb, having every one ²harps and golden vials full of odors, which are the ³prayers of the Saints,

9 And they sung a ¹new ²song, saying, ³Thou art worthy to take the book, and to open the seals thereof, because thou wast killed, and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation.

10 And hast made us unto our God ⁴Kings, and Priests, and we shall reign on the earth.

11 ¹Then I beheld, and I heard the voice of many Angels round about the throne, and about the beasts and the Elders, ²and there were ⁶³ten thousand times ten thousand, and thousand thousands,

12 Saying with a loud voice, Worthy is the Lamb that was killed, to ¹receive power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength, and honor, and glory, and praise.

13 ¹And all the creatures which are in heaven, and on the earth, and under the earth, and in the sea, and all that are in them, heard I saying, Praise, and honor, and glory, and power be unto him, that sitteth upon the throne, and unto the Lamb for evermore.

14 ¹And the four beasts said, Amen, and the four and twenty Elders fell down and worshipped him that liveth for evermore.

6 ¹ The Lamb openeth the first seal of the book. ³ The second, ⁵ the third, ⁷ the fourth, ⁹ the fifth, ¹² and the sixth, and then arise murders, famine, pestilence, outcries of Saints, earthquakes, and divers strange sights in heaven.

5:3 ¹ Thus neither of them that are in heaven, nor of them which are in the earth, etc. And this I like better. Now this enumeration of parts is sufficient to the denying of the whole. For of the creatures one sort is in heaven above the earth: another in the earth: and another under the earth in the sea, as is after declared, verse 13.

5:5 ¹ The second part of this chapter, in which is set down the Revelation of the Son, as before was said. This part containeth first an history of the manner how God prepared S. John to understand this Revelation in this verse. Secondly, the Revelation of the Son himself unto verse 7. Thirdly, the accidents of this Revelation, in the rest of the chapter. The manner now, is here described in two sorts, one from without him, by speech in this verse. Another within, by opening the eyes of S. John (which before were held) that he might see, in the verse following.

² That is, the most mighty and most approved Prince: according to the use of the Hebrew speech.

5:6 ¹ The sum of this Revelation: Christ the mediator taketh and openeth the book, verses 6, 7. Therefore in his Revelation is described the person of Christ, in this verse. His fact, in the next verse. The person is thus described, Christ, the mediator between God, Angels and men, as the eternal word of God, and our redeemer: as the Lamb of God, standing as slain, and making intercession for us by the virtue and merit of his everlasting sacrifice, is armed with the Spirit of God, in his own person, that is, with the power and wisdom of God essentially unto the government of this whole world.

5:7 ¹ The fact of Christ the Mediator, that he cometh unto the throne of the Father, of which Rev. 4, and taketh the book out of his hand to open it. For that he opened it, it is first expressed, Rev. 6:1, etc.

5:8 ¹ Now follow in the end the accidents of the Revelation last spoken of that all the holy Angels, and men did sing unto him: both the chief, verses 9, 10, and common order of Angels, verses 11, 12, and of all things created, verse 13, the princes of both sorts agreeing thereunto, verse 14.

² The symbols or signs of praise, sweet in savor, and acceptable unto God. See Rev. 8:3.

³ See Rev. 9:3.

5:9 ¹ No common song.

² That is composed according to the present matter: the Lamb having received the book, as it were with his feet, and opened it with his horns, as is said in the Canticles.

5:11 ¹ The consent of the common order of Angels, answering in melody unto their Princes that stood by the throne.

² A number finite, but almost infinite for one infinite indeed, as Dan. 7:10.

³ By this is meant a great number.

5:12 ¹ To have all praise given to him, as to the mightiest and wisest, etc.

5:13 ¹ The consent of all the common multitude of the creatures.

5:14 ¹ A confirmation of the praise beforegoing, from the contestation of the Nobles, expressed in word and signs, as once or twice before this.

1 ¹After I beheld when the Lamb had opened one of the seals, and I heard one of the four beasts say, as it were the noise of thunder, Come and see.

2 Therefore ¹I beheld, and lo, there was a white horse, and he that sat on him, had a bow, and a crown was given unto him, and he went forth conquering that he might overcome.

3 And ¹when he had opened the second seal, I heard the second beast say, Come and see.

4 And there went out another horse, that was red, and power was given to him that sat thereon to take peace from the earth, and that they should kill one another, and there was given unto him a great sword.

5 ¹And when he had opened the third seal, I heard the third beast say, Come and see. Then I beheld, and lo, a black horse, and he that sat on him, had balances in his hand.

6 And I heard a voice in the midst of the four beasts say, A ¹measure of wheat for a penny, and three measures of barley for a penny, ²and oil, and wine hurt thou not.

7 ¹And when he had opened the fourth seal, I heard the voice of the fourth beast say, Come and see.

8 And I looked, and behold, a pale horse, and his name that sat on him was Death, and Hell followed after him, and power was given unto them over the fourth part of the earth, to kill with sword, and with hunger, and with death, and with beasts of the earth.

9 ¹And when he had opened the fifth seal, I saw under the altar the souls of them that were killed for the word of God, and for the testimony which they maintained.

10 And they cried with a loud voice, saying, How long, Lord, which art holy and true! dost not thou judge and avenge our blood on them, that dwell on the earth?

11 And long ¹white robes were given unto every one, and it was said unto them, that they should rest for a little season until their fellow servants, and their brethren that should be killed even as they were, were ²fulfilled.

12 ¹And I beheld when he had opened the sixth seal, and lo, there was a great earthquake, and the Sun was as black as ²sackcloth of hair, and the Moon was like blood.

13 And the stars of heaven fell unto the earth, as a fig-tree casteth her green figs, when it is shaken of a mighty wind.

14 And heaven departed away, as a scroll, when it

6:1 ¹This is the second part of this first history (which I said was common and of the whole world) of the works of God in the government of all things. Of this part there are generally 3 members, the foresignifying, the caution, and the execution of all the evils which God poureth out upon this world, which hath most hardly deserved of him. The foresignifying is set down in this chapter, the caution for preserving the Church, is in the next chapter, and the execution is described, Rev. 8:9. In every part of the foresignifying, there are three branches: the several and express calling of S. John, to prepare himself to take knowledge of the things that were to be showed unto him in the opening of the seals: the sign and the word expounding the sign: And albeit the express calling of S. John, be used only in four of the signs, yet the same is also to be understood in the rest that follow. The author of the foresignifying is the Lamb, as that word of the Father made the Mediator, opening the seals of the book. The instruments are the Angels in most of the visions, who expound the sign and words thereof. Now this first verse containeth an express calling of S. John to mark the opinion of the first seal.

6:2 ¹The first sign joined with declaration, is that God for the sins, and horrible rebellion of the world, will invade the same: and first of all as afar off, with his darts of pestilence most suddenly, mightily, and gloriously, bear down the same as judge, and triumph over it as conqueror.

6:3 ¹The second sign joined with words of declaration (after the express calling of S. John as before) is that God being provoked unto wrath by the obstinacy and hardheartedness of the world not repenting for the former plague, as setting upon the same hand, will kindle the fire of debate amongst men, and will destroy the inhabitants of this world, one by the sword of another.

6:5 ¹The third sign with declaration, is that God will destroy the world with famine, withdrawing all provision: which is by the figure Synecdoche comprehended in wheat, barley, wine and oil.

6:6 ¹Hereby is signified what great scarcity of corn there was, for the word here used is a kind of measure of dry things, which is in quantity but the eighth part of a bushel, which was an ordinary portion to be given servants for their stint of meat for one day.

²I had rather distinguish and read the words thus, and the wine and the oil thou shalt not deal unjustly. In this sense likewise the wine and the oil shall be sold a very little for a penny. Thou shalt not deal unjustly, namely, when thou shalt measure out a very little for a great price: so is the place evident: otherwise that is most true, which the wise man saith, that whoso withholdeth the corn shall be cursed of the people, Prov. 11:26.

6:7 ¹The fourth sign joined with words of declaration, is, that God will addict the fourth part of the world indifferently, unto death and hell, or the grave by all those means at once, by which before severally and in order he had recalled their minds unto amendment. Unto these are also added the wild and cruel beasts of the earth, out of Lev. 26:22. Thus doth God according to his wisdom dispense the treasures of his power, justly towards all, mercifully towards the good, and with patience or longsufferance towards his enemies.

6:9 ¹The fifth sign is that the holy martyrs which are under the altar, whereby they are sanctified, that is, received into the trust and tuition of Christ (into whose hands they are committed) shall cry out for the justice of God, in an holy zeal to advance his kingdom and not of any private perturbation of the mind, in this and the next verse, and that God will, in deed, sign and word comfort them, verse 11.

6:11 ¹As before 3:4.

²Until their number be fulfilled.

6:12 ¹The sixth sign, the narration whereof hath two parts, the sign, and the event. The sign is, that the earth, heaven, and the things that are in them for the horror of the sins of the world upon those most heavy foretellings of God, and complaints of the Saints shall be shaken most vehemently, trembling in horrible manner, and losing their light in this verse: falling from on high, verse 13, withdrawing themselves and flying away for the greatness of the trouble, verse 14. So boldly do all creatures depend upon the will of God, and content themselves in his glory.

²So they called in old time those woven works that were of hair.

is rolled, and every mountain and isle were moved out of their places.

15 ¹And the kings of the earth, and the great men, and the rich men, and the chief captains, and the mighty men, and every bondman, and every free man, hid themselves in dens, and among the rocks of the mountains,

16 And said to the mountains and rocks, ^{1a}Fall on us, and hide us from the presence of him that sitteth on the throne, and from the wrath of the Lamb.

17 For the great day of his wrath is come, and who can stand?

7 ¹The Angels coming to hurt the earth, ³are stayed until the elect of the Lord, ⁵of all tribes were sealed. ¹³Such as suffered persecution for Christ's sake, ¹⁶have great felicity, ¹⁷and joy.

1 And ¹after that, I saw four Angels stand on the ²four corners of the earth, holding the four winds of the earth, that the winds should not blow on the earth, neither on the sea, ³neither on any tree.

2 ¹And I saw ²another Angel come up from the East, which had the seal of the living God, and he cried with a loud voice to the four Angels to whom power was given to hurt the earth, and the sea, saying,

3 Hurt ye not the earth, neither the sea, neither the trees, till we have sealed the servants of our God in their foreheads.

4 And I heard the number of them, which were sealed, and there were sealed ¹an hundred and four and forty thousand of all the tribes of the children of Israel.

5 Out of the tribe of Judah were sealed twelve thousand. Of the tribe of Reuben were sealed twelve thousand. Of the tribe of Gad were sealed twelve thousand.

6 Of the tribe of Asher were sealed twelve thousand. Of the tribe of Naphtali were sealed twelve thousand. Of the tribe of Manasseh were sealed twelve thousand.

7 Of the tribe of Simeon were sealed twelve thousand. ¹Of the tribe of ²Levi were sealed twelve thousand. Of the tribe of Issachar were sealed twelve thousand. Of the tribe of Zebulun were sealed twelve thousand.

8 Of the tribe of ¹Joseph were sealed twelve thousand. Of the tribe of Benjamin were sealed twelve thousand.

9 After these things I beheld, and lo, a great multitude, ¹which no man could number, of all nations and kindreds, and people, and tongues ²stood before the throne, and before the Lamb, clothed with 6:15 ¹ The event of the sign foregoing: that there is no man that shall not be astonished at that general commotion, fly away for fear and hide himself in this verse, and wish unto himself most bitter death for exceeding horror of the wrath of God, and of the Lamb, at which before he was astonished. Now this perplexity is not of the godly, but of the wicked, whose portion is in this life, as the Psalmist speaketh, Ps. 17:14. Not that sorrow which is according unto God, which worketh repentance unto salvation, whereof a man shall never repent him, but that worldly sorrow that bringeth death, 2 Cor. 7:9, as their wishings do declare: for this history is of the whole world, severed from the history of the Church, as I have showed before, Rev. 4:1.

6:16 ¹ These are words of such as despair of their escape: of which despair there are two arguments, the presence of God and the Lamb provoked to wrath against the world in this verse, and the conscience of their own weakness, whereby men feel that they are no way able to stand in the day of the wrath of God, verse 17, as it is said, Isa. 14:27.

7:1 ¹ The second member of this part, is a preventing of danger as we distinguished the same before, Chap. 6:1, that is of the caution whereby God took care before hand and provided for his that after the example of the Israelites of old, Exod. 8:13, the faithful might be exempted from the plagues of this wicked world. This whole place is a certain interlocution and bringing in for this whole chapter by occasion of the prediction and argument of the sixth seal. For first that evil is prevented in the elect unto verse 9. Then thanks are given by the elect for that cause, verses 10, 11, 12. Lastly, the accomplishment of the thing is set forth unto the end of the chapter. The first verse is a transition speaking of the Angels which keep these inferior parts from all evil, until God do command. For (as it is excellently figured by Ezek. 11:12) their faces and their wings are reached upwards, continually waiting upon and beholding the countenance of God for their direction: and every [one] of them goeth into that part that is right before his face, whithsoever the Spirit shall go, they go, they step not out of the way, that is, they depart not so much as a foot breadth from the path commanded them of God.

² On the four quarters or coasts of the earth.

³ That is, neither into the air, into which the tops of trees are advanced.

7:2 ¹ Now God provideth against the danger of his elect by commandment, verses 2 and 3, and by sign or figure, both for those of the nation of the Jews, thence unto verse 8, and also of the Gentiles, verse 9.

² Not only another, or differing in number from the common Angels of God, but also in essence, office, and operation excelling all Angels: that is, Christ Jesus the eternal Angel or word of God, and mediator of the covenant. So hereafter Rev. 8:3 and 10:1, 5.

7:4 ¹ That is, of the Jews a number certain in itself before God, and such as may be numbered of us: for which cause also the same is here set down as certain. But of the elect which are of the Gentiles, the number indeed is in itself certain with God, but of us not possibly to be numbered, as God, Gen. 15:5, and often elsewhere, and Isaiah figured most excellently, Isa. 49 and 60. This therefore is spoken with respect, when a certain number is put for one uncertain. Confer this with verse 6.

7:7 ¹ Here the tribe of Levi is reckoned up in common with the rest, because all the Israelites were equally made Priests with them in Christ by his Priesthood, Rev. 1:6, and 5:10, and Rom. 12:1, and 1 Pet. 2:9. The name of Dan is not mentioned because the Danites long before forsaking the worship of God, were fallen away from the fellowship of God's people unto the part of the Gentiles, which evil many ages before Jacob foresaw, Gen. 49:18, for which cause also there is no mention made of this tribe in the first book of the Chronicles.

² He skipped Dan, and reckoneth Levi.

7:8 ¹ Of Ephraim, who was Joseph's other son, and had the birth-right given him, whereof he is called Joseph.

long white robes, and palms in their hands.

10 ¹And they cried with a loud voice, saying, Salvation cometh of our God, that sitteth upon the throne, and of the Lamb.

11 And all the Angels stood round about the throne, and about the Elders, and the four beasts, and they fell before the throne on their faces, and worshipped God, 12 Saying, Amen, Praise and glory, and wisdom, and thanks, and honor, and power, and might, be unto our God for evermore, Amen.

13 ¹And one of the Elders spake, saying unto me, What are these which are arrayed in long white robes? and whence came they?

14 And I said unto him, Lord, thou knowest. And he said unto me, These are they which came out of great tribulation, and have washed their long robes, and have made their long robes white in the blood of the Lamb.

15 Therefore are they in the presence of the throne of God, and serve him ¹day and night in his Temple, and he that sitteth on the throne will dwell ²among them.

any heat.

17 For the Lamb, which is in the midst of the throne, shall govern them, and shall lead them unto the lively fountains of waters, and ^bGod shall wipe away all tears from their eyes.

8 ¹After the opening of the seventh seal, ³the Saints' prayers are offered up with odors. ⁶The seven Angels come forth with trumpets. ⁷The four first blow, and fire falleth on the earth, ⁸the sea is turned into blood, ^{10, 11}the waters wax bitter. ¹²and the stars are darkened.

1 ¹And when he had opened the seventh seal, there was silence in heaven about half an hour.

2 ¹And I saw the seven Angels, which ²stood before God, and to them were given seven trumpets.

3 ¹Then another Angel came and stood before the Altar, having a golden censer, and much odors was given unto him, that he should offer with the prayers of all Saints upon the golden Altar, which is before the throne.

4 And the smoke of the odors with the prayers of the Saints, ¹went up before God, out of the Angel's hand.

5 And the Angel took the censer, and filled it with fire of the Altar, and cast it into the earth, and 7:10 ¹ The praise of God celebrated first by the holy men, in this verse, then by the heavenly Angels in the two verses following.

7:13 ¹ A passage over unto the expounding of the vision, of which the Angel inquireth of S. John to stir him up withal, in this verse and John in the form of speech, both acknowledgeth his own ignorance, attributing knowledge unto the Angel, and also in most modest manner requesteth the expounding of the vision.

7:14 ¹ The exposition of the vision, wherein the Angel telleth first the acts of the Saints, that is, their sufferings and work of faith in Christ Jesus, in this verse. Secondly their glory, both present, which consisteth in two things, that they minister unto God, and that God protecteth them, verse 15, and to come, in their perfect deliverance from all annoyances, verse 16, and in participation of all good things which even the memory of former evils shall never be able to diminish, verse 17. The cause efficient, and which containeth all these things is only one, the Lamb of God, the Lord, the Mediator, and the Savior Christ Jesus.

7:15 ¹ He alludeth to the Levites, which served day and night, for else there is no night in heaven.

² Or, upon them, whereby is meant God's defense and protection, as it were towards them, who are as safe, as men in the Lord's tent.

8:1 ¹ He returneth to the history of the seals of the book, which the Lamb openeth. The seventh seal is the next foresignification, and a precise commandment of the execution of the most heavy judgments of God upon this wicked world: which foresignification being understood by the seal, all things in heaven are silent, and in horror thorough admiration until commandment of execution be severally given of God unto the ministers of his wrath. So he passeth unto the third member of which I spake before in Rev. 6:1, which is of the execution of those evils wherewith God most justly determined to afflict the world.

8:2 ¹ Now followeth the third branch of the common history, as even now I said: which is the execution of the judgments of God upon the world. This is first generally prepared unto verse 6, then by several parts expoundeth according to the order of those that administered the same unto the end of the Chap. following. Unto the preparation of this execution are declared these things: first, who were the administrators and instruments thereof in this verse. Secondly, what is the work both of the Prince of Angels giving order for this execution, thence unto verse 5, and of his administrators in verse 6. The administrators of the execution are said to be seven Angels: their instruments, trumpets, whereby they should as it were sound the alarm at the commandment of God. They are propounded seven in number, because it pleased God not at once to pour out his wrath upon the rebellious world, but at divers times, and by piecemeal, and in slow order, and as with an unwilling mind to exercise his judgments upon his creatures, so long called upon both by word and signs if happily they had learned to repent.

² Which appear before him as his ministers.

8:3 ¹ This is the great Emperor, the Lord Jesus Christ our King and Savior: who both maketh intercession to God the Father for the Saints, filling the heavenly Sanctuary with most sweet odor, and offering up their prayers, as the Calves and burnt sacrifices of their lips, in this verse: in such sort as every one of them (so powerful is that sweet savor of Christ, and the efficacy of his sacrifice) are held in reconciliation with God and themselves made most acceptable unto him, verse 4. And then also out of his treasury, and from the same sanctuary poureth forth upon the world the fire of his wrath, adding also divine tokens thereto: and by that means (as of old the Heralds of Rome were wont to do) he proclaimeth war against the rebellious world.

8:4 ¹ Our prayers are nothing worth, unless that true and sweet savor of that only oblation be especially and before all things with them, that is to say, unless we being first of all justified through faith in his Son, be acceptable unto him.

there were voices, and thunderings, and lightnings, and earthquake.

6 ¹Then the seven Angels, which had the seven trumpets, prepared themselves to blow the trumpets.

7 ¹So the first Angel blew the trumpet, and there was hail and fire mingled with blood, and they were cast into the earth, and the third part of trees was burnt, and all green grass was burnt.

8 ¹And the second Angel blew the trumpet, and as it were a great mountain, burning with fire, was cast into the sea, and the third part of the sea became blood.

9 And the third part of the creatures, which were in the sea, and had life, died, and the third part of ships were destroyed.

10 ¹Then the third Angel blew the trumpet, and there fell a great star from heaven, burning like a torch, and it fell into the third part of the rivers, and into the fountains of waters.

11 And the name of the star is called ¹wormwood: therefore the third part of the waters became wormwood, and many men died of the waters, because they were made bitter.

12 ¹And the fourth Angel blew the trumpet, and the third part of the sun was smitten, and the third part of the moon, and the third part of the stars, so that the third part of them was darkened: and the day was smitten, that the third part of it could not shine, and likewise the night.

13 ¹And I beheld, and heard one Angel flying through the midst of heaven, saying with a loud voice, Woe, woe, woe to the inhabitants of the earth, because of the sounds to come of the trumpet of the three Angels, which were yet to blow the trumpets.

9 ¹ The fifth Angel bloweth his trumpet, 3 and spoiling locusts come out. 13 The sixth Angel bloweth, 16 and bringeth forth horsemen, 20 to destroy mankind.

1 And the ¹fifth Angel blew the trumpet, and I saw a ²star fall from heaven unto the earth, ³and to him was given the key of the ⁴bottomless pit.

2 ¹And he opened the bottomless pit, and there arose the smoke of the pit, the smoke of a great furnace, and the sun, and the air were darkened by the smoke of the pit.

3 ¹And there came out of the smoke Locusts upon the earth, and unto them was given power, as the scorpions of the earth have power.

8:6 ¹ This is the work of the administrators. The Angels the administrators of Christ, only by sounding trumpet and voice (for they are only as Heralds) do effectual call forth the instruments of the wrath of God, through his power. Hitherto have been things general. Now followeth the narration of things particular, which the Angels fix in number wrought in their order set out in verse 19 of the next chap., and is concluded with the declaration of the event which followed upon these things done in the world, and in chapters 10 and 11.

8:7 ¹ The first execution at the sound of the first Angel upon the earth, that is, the inhabitants of the earth (by Metonymy) and upon all the fruits thereof: as the comparing of this verse with the second member of verse 9 doth not obscurely declare.

8:8 ¹ The second execution, upon the sea in this verse and all things that are there in the next verse.

8:10 ¹ The third execution upon the floods and fountains, that is, upon all fresh waters, in this verse: the effect whereof is, that many are destroyed with the bitterness of waters, in the verse following.

8:11 ¹ This is spoken by Metaphor of the name of a most bitter herb, and commonly known, unless perhaps a man following those that note the derivation of words had rather expound it adjectively, for that which by reason or bitterness cannot be drunk, or which maketh the liquor into which is poured more bitter than that any man can drink the same.

8:12 ¹ The fourth execution upon these lightsome bodies of heaven, which minister unto this inferior world.

8:13 ¹ A lamentable prediction or foretelling of those parts of the divine execution which are yet behind: which also is a passage unto the argument of the next Chapter. Of all these things in a manner Christ himself expressly foretold in Luke 12:24, and they are common plagues generally denounced, without particular note of time.

9:1 ¹ The first execution upon the wicked men inhabiting the earth (as a little before the Angel said) wrought by the infernal powers, is declared in this place unto the eleventh verse. And after the sixth execution thence unto the nineteenth verse. And lastly is showed the common event that followed the former execution in the world, in the two last verses.

² That is, that the Angel of God glittering with glory, as a star fell down from heaven. Whether thou take him for Christ, who hath the keys of hell himself, and by Princely authority, Rev. 1:18, or whether for some inferior Angel, who hath the same key permitted unto him, and occupieth it ministerially, or by office of his ministry, here, and Rev. 21, so the word falling, is taken, Gen. 14:10, and 24:64, and Heb. 6:6.

³ The key was given to his star. For those powers of wickedness are thrust down into hell, and bound with chains of darkness: and are there kept unto damnation, unless God for a time do let them loose, 2 Pet. 2:4; Jude 1:6, and of this book, Rev. 20:20, the history of which chapter hath agreement of time with this present chapter.

⁴ By the bottomless pit, he meaneth the deepest darkness of hell.

9:2 ¹ Unto this is added, the smoke of the hellish and infernal spirits, all dark, and darkening all things in heaven and in earth. The spiritual darknesses are the causes of all disorder and confusion. For the devil at a time certain (whereof the fifth verse) sent these darknesses into his kingdom, that he might at once and with one impression overthrow all things, and pervert if it were possible the elect themselves. By this darkness all spiritual light, both active as of the Sun, and passive, as of the air which is lightened by the Sun, is taken away: and this is that which goeth before the spirits: it followeth of the spirits themselves.

9:3 ¹ A description of the malignant spirits invading the world, taken from their nature, power, form and order. From their nature, for that they are like unto certain locusts, in quickness, subtlety, hurtfulness, number, and such like in this verse. From their power, for that they are as the scorpions of the earth, of a secret force to do hurt. For our battle is not here with flesh and blood, but with powers, etc., Eph. 6:12. This place of the power of the Devils generally noted in this verse, is particularly declared afterwards in the three next verses.

4 ¹And it was commanded them that they should not hurt the grass of the earth, neither any green thing, neither any tree: but only those men which have not the seal of God in their foreheads.

5 And to them was commanded that they should not kill them, but that they should be vexed five months, and that their pain should be as the pain that cometh of a scorpion, when he hath stung a man.

6 ^aTherefore in those days shall men seek death, and shall not find it, and shall desire to die, and death shall flee from them.

7 ¹And the form of the locusts was like unto horses prepared unto the battle, and on their heads were as it were crowns, like unto gold, and their faces were like the faces of men.

8 And they had hair as the hair of women, and their teeth were as the teeth of lions.

9 And they had habergeons, like unto habergeons of iron, and the sound of their wings was like the sound of chariots when many horses run unto battle.

10 And they had tails like unto scorpions, and there were stings in their tails, and their power was to hurt men five months.

11 ¹And they have a king over them, which is the Angel of the bottomless pit, whose name in Hebrew is Abaddon, and in Greek he is named Apollyon, that is, destroying.

12 ¹One woe is past, and behold, yet two woes come after this.

13 ¶ ¹Then the sixth Angel blew the trumpet, ²and I heard a voice from the ³four horns of the golden altar, which is before God,

14 Saying to the sixth Angel, which had the

9:4 ¹ Here that power of the devils is particularly described according to their actions and effects of the same. Their actions are said to be bounded by the counsel of God: both because they hurt not all men, but only the reprobate (for the godly and elect, in whom there is any part of a better life, God guardeth by his decree) whom Christ shall not have sealed, in this verse: and also because they neither had all power not at all times, no not over those that are their own, but limited in manner and time, by the prescript of God, verse 5. So their power to afflict the godly, is none, and for the wicked is limited in act and in effect by the will of God: for the manner was prescribed unto them that they should not slay, but torment the wretched world. The time is for five months or for an hundred and fifty days, that is, for so many years in which the devils have indeed mightily perverted all things in the world: and yet without that public and unpunished license of killing, which afterward they usurped when the sixth Angel had blown his trumpet, as shall be said upon verse 13. Now this space is to be accounted from the end of that thousand years mentioned, Rev. 20:3, and that is from the Popedom of that Gregory the seventh, a most monstrous Necromancer, who before was called Hildebrandus Senensis: for this man being made altogether of impiety and wickedness, as a slave of the devil, whom he served, was the most wicked firebrand of the world: he excommunicated the Emperor Henry the fourth: went about by all manner of treachery to set up and put down empires and kingdoms as liked himself: and doubted not to set Rodolph the Swedon over the Empire instead of Henry before named, sending unto him a Crown with this verse annexed unto it: Petra dedit Petro, Petrus diadema Rodolpho: that is, The Rock to Peter gave the crown, and Peter Rodolph doth renown. Finally, he so finely bestirred himself in his affairs, as he miserably set all Christendom on fire, and conveyed over unto his successors the burning brand of the same: who enraged with like ambition, never ceased to nourish that flame, and to enkindle it more and more: whereby Cities, Commonwealths, and whole kingdoms set together by the ears amongst themselves by most expert cut-throats, came to ruin, whiles they miserably wounded one another. This term of an hundred and fifty years, taketh end in the time of Gregory the ninth, or Hugolinus Anagniniensis (as he was before called) who caused to be compiled by one Raimond his chaplain and confessor, the body of Decretals, and by sufferance of the Kings and Princes to be published in the Christian world, and established for a law. For by this sleight at length the Popes arrogated unto themselves license to kill whom they would, whiles others were unawares: and without fear established a butchery out of many of the wicked Canons of the Decretals, which the trumpet of the fifth Angel had expressly forbidden, and had hindered until this time. The effects of the bloody actions are declared upon the sixth verse: that the miserable world languishing in so great calamities, should willingly run together unto death, and prefer the same before life, by reason of the grievousness of the miseries that oppressed them.

9:7 ¹ The form of these hellish spirits and administrators, is shadowed out by signs and visible figures in this sort: that they are very expert and swift: that wheresoever they are in the world, the kingdom of theirs: that they manage all their affairs with cunning and skill, in this verse, that making show of mildness and tender affection to draw on men withal, they most impudently rage in all mischief: that they are most mighty to do hurt, Verse 8, that they are freed from being hurt of any man, as armed with the color of religion, and sacred authority of privilege, that they fill all things with horror, Verse 9, that they are fraudulent: that they are venomous and extremely noisome, though their power be limited, Verse 10. All which things are properly in the infernal powers, and communicated by them unto their ministers and vassals.

9:11 ¹ The order of the powers of maliciousness: that they are subject to one infernal King, whom thou mayest call in English, The Destroyer: who driveth the whole world both Jews and Gentiles into the destruction that belongeth unto himself. And I cannot tell whether this name belongeth unto the Etymological interpretation of Hildebrand, by a figure often used in the holy Scripture: which albeit it may otherwise be turned of the Germans (as the sense of compound words is commonly ambiguous) yet in very deed it signifieth as much as if thou shouldst call him the firebrand, that is, he that setteth on fire those that be faithful unto him.

9:12 ¹ A passage unto the next point, and the history of the time following.

9:13 ¹ The sixth execution done upon the world by the tyrannical powers thereof working in the four parts of the earth, that is in most cruel manner executing their tyrannous dominion through the whole world, and killing the miserable people without punishment, which before was not lawful for them to do in that sort, as I showed upon the fourth verse. This narration has two parts: a commandment from God, in verse 14, and execution of the commandment, in the verse following.

² The commandment given by Christ himself, who is governor over all.

trumpet, ¹Loose the four Angels, which are bound in the great river Euphrates.

15 ¹And the four Angels were loosed, which were prepared at an hour, at a day, at a month, and at a year to slay the third part of men.

16 And the number of horsemen of war were twenty thousand times ten thousand: for I heard the number of them.

17 And thus I saw the horses in a vision, and them that sat on them, having fiery habergeons, and of hyacinth, and of brimstone, and the heads of the horses were as the heads of lions, and out of their mouths went forth fire, and smoke, and brimstone.

18 Of these three was the third part of men killed, that is, of the fire, and of the smoke, and of the brimstone, which came out of their mouths.

19 For their power is in their mouths, and in their tails: ¹for their tails were like unto serpents, and had heads wherewith they hurt.

20 ¹And the remnant of the men which were not killed by these plagues, repented not of the works of their hands that they should not worship devils, and ^bidols of gold, and of silver, and of brass, and of stone, and of wood, which neither can see, neither hear, nor go.

^b Ps. 115:4
Ps. 135:25

21 Also they repented not of their murder, and of their sorcery, neither of their fornication, nor of their theft.

10 Another Angel appeareth with a cloud, ² holding a book open, ³ and crieth out. ⁸ A voice from heaven commandeth John to take the book. ¹⁰ He eateth it.

1 And ¹I saw ²another mighty Angel come down from heaven, clothed with a cloud, and the rainbow upon his head, and his face was as the sun, and his feet as pillars of fire.

2 And he had in his hand a ¹little book open, and he put his right foot upon the sea, and his left on the earth,

3 And cried with a loud voice, as when a lion roareth: and when he had cried, seven thunders uttered their voices.

9:14 ¹ As if he should have said, These hitherto have been so bound by the power of God, that they could not freely run upon all men as themselves lusted, but were stayed and restrained at that great flood of Euphrates, that is, in their spiritual Babylon (for this is a Paraphrase of the spiritual Babylon by the limits of the spiritual Babylon long since overthrown) that they might not commit those horrible slaughters which they long breathed after. Now go to: let loose those four Angels, that is, administers of the wrath of God, in that number that is convenient to the slaughtering of the four quarters of the world: stir them up and give them the bridle, that rushing of that Babylon of theirs, which is the seat of the wicked ones, they may fly upon all the world, therein to rage, and most licentiously to exercise their tyranny, as God hath ordained. This was done when Gregory the ninth by public authority established for law his own Decretals, by which he might freely lay trains for the life of simple men. For who is it that seeth not that the laws Decretal most of them are as snares to catch souls withal? Since that time (O good God!) how great slaughters have there been? how great massacres? All histories are full of them: and this our age aboundeth with most horrible and monstrous examples of the same.

9:15 ¹ The execution of the commandment is in two points: one, that those butchers are let loose, that out of their tower of the spiritual Babylon they might with fury run abroad through all the world, as well the thief of that crew which are most prompt unto all assays, in this verse: as their multitudes, both most copious, of which a number certain is named for a number infinite, Verse 16, and in themselves by all means fully furnished to hide and to hurt, Verse 17, as being armed with fire, smoke and brimstone, as appeareth in the color of their armor, which dazzleth the eyes of all men: and have the strength of Lions to hurt withal, from which (as out of their mouth) the fiery, smoky, and stinking darts of the Pope are shot out, Verse 18. The other point is, that these butchers have effected the commandment of God by fraud and violence, in the two verses following.

9:19 ¹ That is, they [are] harmful every way: on what part soever thou put thine hand unto them or they touch thee, they do hurt. So the former are called Scorpions, Verse 3.

9:20 ¹ Now remaineth the event (as I said upon the first verse) which followed of so many and so grievous judgments in the most wicked world: namely an impenitent affirmation of the ungodly in their impiety and unrighteousness, though they feel themselves most vehemently pressed with the hand of God: for their obstinate ungodliness is showed in this verse: and their unrighteousness in the verse following. Hitherto hath been the general history of things to be done universal in the whole world: which because it doth not so much belong to the Church of Christ, is therefore not so expressly distinguished by certainty of time and other circumstances, but is woven, as they say with a slight hand. Also there is none other cause why the history of the seventh Angel is passed over in this place, than for that the same more properly appertaineth unto the history of the Church. But this is more diligently set out according to the time thereof, Rev. 11 and 16, as shall appear upon those places.

10:1 ¹ Now Saint John passeth unto the other Prophetical history, which is of the Church of God, as I showed that this book should be distinguished, Rev. 4:1. This story reacheth hence unto the two and twentieth Chapter. And this whole Chapter is but a transition from the common history of the world unto that which is particular of the Church. There are in this transition or passage, two preparatives as it were, unto this Church story comprised in this whole Chapter. One is the authority of Christ revealing his mysteries, and calling his servants unto the seventh verse. The other is Saint John's calling, proper unto this place, and prepared from before unto the end of this chapter. Authority is given unto this Revelation by these things: First, by the appearing from heaven in this habit and countenance, strong, ready, glorious, surveying all things by his providence and governing them by his omnipotence, the first verse. Secondly, that he brought not by chance, but out of a book, this open Revelation, set forth unto the eye, to signify the same unto the sea, and land, as the Lord over all, the second Verse. Thirdly, that he offered the same not whispering or muttering in a corner (as false prophets do) but crying out with a loud voice unto them which sleep, and with a lionish and terrible noise roused the secure: the very thunders themselves giving testimony thereunto, the third Verse. Lastly, for that he confirmed all by an oath, Verses 5, 6, 7.

² Christ Jesus, see the seventh Chapter and the second verse.

10:2 ¹ Namely, a special book of the affairs of God's Church. For the book that containeth things belonging [unto] the whole world, is said to be kept with the Creator, the fifth Chapter and the first verse, but the book of the Church, with the Redeemer: and out of this book is taken the rest of the history of this Apocalypse.

4 ¹And when the seven thunders had uttered their voices, I was about to write: but I heard a voice from heaven, saying unto me, ²Seal up those things which the seven thunders have spoken, and write them not.

5 And the Angel which I saw stand upon the sea, and upon the earth, ¹lift up his hand to heaven,

6 And swore by him that liveth for evermore, which created heaven, and the things that therein are, and the earth, and the things that therein are, and the sea, and the things that therein are, ¹that ²time should be no more.

7 But in the days of the ¹voice of the seventh Angel, when he shall begin to blow the trumpet, even the mystery of God shall be finished, as he hath declared to his servants the Prophets.

8 ¹And the voice which I heard from heaven, spake unto me again, and said, Go, and take the little book which is open in the hand of the Angel, which standeth upon the sea, and upon the earth.

9 So I went unto the Angel, and said to him,

Give me the little book. And he said unto me, Take it, and eat it up, and it shall make thy belly bitter, but it shall be in thy mouth as sweet as honey.

10 Then I took the little book out of the Angel's hand, and ate it up, and it was in my mouth as sweet as honey: but when I had eaten it, my belly was bitter.

11 ¹And he said unto me, Thou must prophesy again among the people and nations, and tongues, and to many Kings.

11 ¹The temple is commanded to be measured. ³The Lord stirred up two witnesses, ⁷whom the beast murdereth, ⁹and no man burieth them. ¹¹God raiseth them to life, ¹²and calleth them up to heaven, ¹³the wicked are terrified, ¹⁵by the trumpet of the seventh Angel the resurrection, ¹⁸and judgment is described.

1 ¹Then was given me a reed like unto a rod, and the Angel stood by, saying, Rise and ²mete the Temple of God, and the Altar, and them that worship therein.

10:4 ¹A godly care is laudable, but must be joined with knowledge. Therefore nothing is to be taken in hand, but by calling: which must be expected and waiting for of the godly.

² Keep them close.

10:5 ¹This was a gesture used of one that sweareth, which men do nowadays use.

10:6 ¹Neither time itself, nor the things that are in time: but that the world to come is at hand which is altogether of eternity and beyond all times.

² There shall never be anymore time.

10:7 ¹Whereof Rev. 11:15 and 16:17.

10:8 ¹The other part of this Chapter, concerning the particular calling of Saint John to the receiving of the prophecy following which is enjoined him, first by sign in three verses, then in plain words in the last verse. Unto the setting forth of the sign belong these things: That Saint John is taught from heaven to demand the book of the Prophecy in this verse: for these motions and desires God doth inspire: that demanding the book, he is charged to take it in a figurative manner, the use whereof also is expounded, the ninth verse, (as in the second Chapter of Ezekiel and the ninth verse) whence this similitude is borrowed: lastly, for that Saint John at the commandment of Christ took the book, and found by experience that the same as proceeding from Christ was most sweet, but in that it foretelleth the afflictions of the Church it was most bitter unto his spirit.

10:11 ¹A simple and plain declaration of the sign before going, witnessing the divine calling of S. John, and laying upon him the necessity thereof.

11:1 ¹The authority of the intended revelation being declared, together with the necessity of that calling, which was particularly imposed upon Saint John: hereafter followeth the history of the estate of Christ's Church both conflicting or warfaring, and overcoming in Christ. For both the true Church of Christ is said to fight against that which is falsely so called over the which Antichrist ruleth. Christ Jesus overthrowing Antichrist by the spirit of his mouth: and Christ is said to overcome most gloriously until he shall slay the Antichrist by the appearance of his coming, as the Apostle excellently teacheth, 2 Thess. 2:8. So this history hath two parts. One of the state of the Church conflicting with temptations, until Chapter 16. The other of the state of the same Church obtaining victory, thence unto Chapter 20. The first part hath two members most conveniently distributed into their times, whereof the first containeth an history of the Christian Church for 1260 years, what time the Gospel of Christ was as it were taken up from amongst men into heaven: the second containeth an history of the same Church unto the victory perfected. And these two members are briefly, though distinctly propounded in this Chapter, but are both of them more at large discussed after in due order. For we understand the state of the Church conflicting out of Chapters 12 and 13 and of the same growing out of afflictions out of Chapters 14, 15 and 16. Neither did Saint John at unawares join together the history of these two times in this Chapter, because here is spoken of prophecy, which all confess to be one just and innumerable in the Church, and which Christ commanded to be continual. The history of the former time reacheth unto verse 14: the latter is set down in the rest of this Chapter. In the former are showed these things: the calling of the servants of God in 4 verses: the conflicts which the faithful must undergo in their calling, for Christ and his Church, thence unto verse 10, and their resurrection and receiving up into heaven unto verse 14. In the calling of the servants of God are mentioned two things: the begetting and setting of the Church in two verses, and the education thereof in two verses. The begetting of the Church is here commended unto S. John by sign and by speech: the sign is a measuring rod, and the speech a commandment to measure the Temple of God, that is, to reduce the same unto a new form: because the Gentiles are already entered into the Temple of Jerusalem, and shall shortly defile and overthrow the same utterly.

² Either that of Jerusalem which was a figure of the Church of Christ, or that heavenly Example, whereof verse 19, but the first liketh me better and the things following do agree thereunto. The sense therefore is, Thou seest all things in God's house almost from the passion of Christ to be disordered: and that not only the city of Jerusalem but also the court of the Temple is trampled underfoot by the nations, and by profane men whether Jews or strangers: and that only the Temple, that is, the body of the Temple, with the Altar, and a small company of good men which truly worship God, do now remain, whom God doth sanctify and confirm by his presence. Measure therefore this, even this true Church, or rather the true type of the true Church, omitting the rest and so describe all things from me that the true Church of Christ may be as it were a very little center, and the Church of Antichrist as the circle of the center, every way in length and breadth compassing about the same, that by way of prophecy thou mayest so declare openly, that the state of the Temple of God and the faithful which worship him, that is, of the Church, is much more straight than the Church of Antichrist.

2 ¹But the ²Court which is without the Temple ³cast out, and mete it not: for it is given unto the ⁴Gentiles, and the holy city shall they tread under foot, ⁵two and forty Months.

3 But ¹I will give power unto my two witnesses and they shall ²prophesy a thousand two hundred and threescore days, clothed in sackcloth.

4 These ¹are two olive trees, and two candlesticks, standing before the God of the earth.

5 ¹And if any man will hurt them, fire proceedeth out of their mouths and devoureth their enemies:

for if any man would hurt them, thus must he be killed.

6 These have power to shut heaven, that it rain not in the days of their prophesying, and have power over waters to turn them into blood, and to smite the earth with all manner plagues, as often as they will.

7 ¹And when they have ²finished their testimony, ³the beast that cometh out of the bottomless pit, shall make war against them, and shall ⁴overcome them, and kill them,

8 And their corpses shall lie in the ¹streets of the 11:2 ¹ As if he should say, it belongeth nothing unto them to judge those which are without, 1 Cor. 5:12, which be innumerable: look unto those of the household only, or unto the house of the living God.

² He speaketh of the outward court, which was called the peoples court, because all men might come into that.

³ That is counted to be cast out, which in measuring is refused as profane.

⁴ To profane persons wicked and unbelievers, adversaries unto the Church.

⁵ Or a thousand and two hundred and threescore days as is said in the next verse: that is a thousand two hundred and threescore years, a day for a year as often in Ezekiel and Daniel, which thing I noted before, 2:10. The beginning of these thousand two hundred and threescore years, we account from the passion of Christ, whereby (the partition wall being broken down) we were made of two one, Eph. 2:14. I say one flock under one Shepherd, John 10:16 and the end of these years precisely falleth into the Popedom of Boniface the eighth who a little before the end of the year of Christ a thousand two hundred ninety four, entered the Popedom of Rome, in the feast of S. Lucie (as Bergomensis saith) having put in prison his predecessor Coelestinus, whom by fraud, under color of oracle, he deceived: for which cause, that well said of him, Intravit ut vulpes, regnavit ut leo, mortuus est ut canis. That is, he entered like a fox, reigned like a lion, and died like a dog. For if from a thousand two hundred ninety four years thou shalt take the age of Christ which he lived on the earth, thou shalt find there remaineth 1260 years, which are mentioned in this place and many others.

11:3 ¹ I had rather translate it illud than illam, the Temple than the city: for God saith, I will give that Temple, and commit it unto my two witnesses, that is unto the Ministers of the word, who are few indeed, weak and contemptible: but yet two, that is, of such a number as one of them may help another, and one confirm the testimony of another unto all men, that from the mouth of two or three witnesses every word may be made good amongst men, 2 Cor. 13:1.

² They shall exercise their office enjoined by me by the space of those thousand two hundred and sixty years, in the midst of afflictions though never so lamentable which is figuratively showed by the mourning garment.

11:4 ¹ That is, the ordinary and perpetual instruments of spiritual grace, peace and light in my Church, which God by his only power preserved in this Temple. See Zech. 4:3.

11:5 ¹ The power and efficacy of the holy ministry, and which is truly Evangelical, is declared both in earth and in heaven, protecting the administers thereof, and destroying the enemies in this verse, virtue indeed divine most mightily showing itself forth in heaven, earth and the sea, verse 6, as it described, 2 Cor. 10:4, according to the promise of Christ, Mark 16:17. And this is the second place (as I said before) of the combats which the servants of God must needs undergo in the executing of their calling, and of the things that follow the same combats. In the combats or conflicts are these things: to overcome, in these two verses: to be overcome and killed, verse 7. After the slaughter follow these things, that the carcasses of the godly are laid abroad, verse 8 being unburied, are made a matter of scorn together of cursing and bitter execrations, verse 9, and that therefore gratulations are publicly and privately made, verse 10.

11:7 ¹ That is, when they have spent those thousand two hundred and sixty years, mentioned verses 2 and 3, in publishing their testimony according to their office.

² When they have done their message.

³ Of which after Rev. 13. That beast is the Roman Empire, made long ago of civil, Ecclesiastical: the chief head whereof was then Boniface the eighth, as I said before: who lifted up himself in so great arrogancy (saith the author of Falsciculus temporum) that he called himself Lord of the whole world, as well in temporal causes as in spiritual: There is an extant of that matter, written by the same Boniface most arrogantly, shall I say, or most wickedly, ca. unam sanctam, extra de majoritate & obedientia, and in the sixth of the Decretals (which is from the same author) many things are found of the same argument.

⁴ He shall persecute most cruelly the holy men, and put them to death, and shall wound and pierce through with cursings both their names and writings. And that this was done to very many godly men by Boniface and others, the histories do declare, especially since the time that the odious and condemned name amongst the multitude first of the brethren Waldenses or Lugdunenses, then also of the Fratricels, was pretended, that good men might with more approbation be massacred.

11:8 ¹ That is, openly at Rome: where at that time was a most great concourse of people, the year of Jubilee being then first ordained by Boniface unto the same end, in the year of Christ a thousand three hundred, example whereof is read, Rev. 1. Extra, de penitentys & remissionibus. So by one act he committed double injury against Christ, both abolishing his truth by the restoring of the type of the Jubilee, and triumphing over his members by most wicked superstitions. O religious heart! Now that we should understand the things of Rome, Saint John himself is the author, both after in the seventeenth Chapter almost throughout, and also in the circumscription now next following, when he saith, it is that great City (as Rev. 17; 18 he calleth it) and is spiritually termed Sodom and Egypt: that spiritually (for that must here again be repeated from before) Christ was there crucified. For the two first appellations signify spiritual wickednesses: the latter signifieth the show and pretence of good, that is, of Christian and sound religion. Sodom signifieth most licentious impiety and injustice: Egypt most cruel persecution of the people of God: and Jerusalem signifieth the most confident glorying of that city, as it were in true religion, being yet full of falsehood and ungodliness. Now who is ignorant that these things do rather, and more agree unto Rome than unto any other city? The commendations of the City of Rome for many years past are publicly notorious, which are not for me to gather. This only I will say that he long since did very well see what Rome is, who taking his leave thereof, used these verses:

great city, which ²spiritually is called Sodom and Egypt, ³where our Lord also was crucified.

9 And they of the people and kindreds, and tongues, and Gentiles, shall see their corpses ¹three days and an half, and shall not suffer their carcasses to be put in graves.

10 And they that dwell upon the earth, ¹shall rejoice over them and be glad, and shall send gifts one to another, for these two Prophets ²vexed them that dwelt on the earth.

11 ¹But after ²three days and an half, ³the spirit of life coming from God, shall enter into them, and they ⁴shall stand up upon their feet: and great fear shall come upon them which saw them.

12 And they shall hear a great voice from heaven, saying unto them, ¹Come up hither: And they shall ascend up to heaven in a cloud, ²and their enemies shall see them.

13 ¹And the same hour shall there be a great earthquake, and the tenth part of the city shall fall, and in the earthquake shall be slain in number seven thousand: and the remnant were sore feared, ²and ³gave glory to God of heaven.

14 ¹The second woe is past, and behold, the third woe will come anon.

15 ¹And the seventh Angel blew the trumpet, and there were great voices in heaven, saying, ²The kingdoms of the world are our Lord's, and his Christ's, and he shall reign for evermore.

16 ¹Then the four and twenty Elders, which sat before God on their seats, fell upon their faces and worshipped God.

17 Saying, We give thee thanks, Lord God Almighty, Which art, and which wast, and which art to come: for thou hast received thy great might, and hast obtained thy kingdom.

18 ¹And the Gentiles were angry, and thy wrath is come, and the time of the dead, that they should be judged, and that thou shouldst give reward unto thy servants the Prophets, and to thy Saints, and to them that fear thy Name, to small and great, and shouldst destroy them, which destroy the earth.

Roma vale, vidi, Satis est vidisse: revertar, Quumleno, meretrix, scurra, cinadus ero.

Now farewell Rome, I have thee seen: It was enough to see:
I will return when as I mean, bawd, harlot knave to be.

11:8 ² After a most secret kind of meaning and understanding.

³ Namely in his members, as also he said unto Saul, Acts 9:5.

11:9 ¹ That is, for three years and a half for so many years Boniface lived after his Jubilee as Bergomensis witnesseth.

11:10 ¹ So much the more shall they by this occasion exercise the jollity of their Jubilee.

² The gospel of Christ, in the affliction of the world, and the ministry thereof, the savor of death unto death to those that perish, 2 Cor. 2:16.

11:11 ¹ The third place as noted I before, is of the rising again of the Prophets from the dead, and their carrying up into heaven. For their resurrection is showed in this verse: their calling and lifting up into heaven, in the verse following.

² That is, what time God shall destroy that wicked Boniface.

³ That is, the Prophets of God shall in a sort rise again, not the same in person (as they say) but in spirit, that is in the power and efficacy of their ministry, which S. John expressed before verses 5 and 6. And so the prophecy that is spoken of Elijah, is interpreted by the Angel to be understood of John the Baptist, Luke 1:17. For the same Boniface himself, who sought to kill and destroy them, was by the fire of God's mouth (which the holy ministry showeth and exhibiteth) devoured and died miserably in prison, by the endeavor of Satra Columensis, and Nogaretus a french knight, whom Philip the fair King of France sent into Italy but with a small power.

⁴ That is, the most grievous heat of afflictions and persecution shall stay for a while, for the great amaze that shall arise upon that sudden and unlooked for judgment of God.

11:12 ¹ They were called by God into heaven and taken out of this malignant world, into the heavenly Church, which also lieth hidden here in the earth, to exercise their calling secretly: as of whom this wretched world was unworthy, Heb. 11:38. For the Church of the wicked is by comparison called the earth or the world: and the Church of the godly heaven. So in ancient time amongst the godly Israelites: so amongst the Jews in the days of Manasseh and other

Kings, when the earth refused the heirs of heaven, we read that they lay hidden as heaven in the earth.

² Yet could they not hinder the secret ones of the Lord (as the Palmist called them, Ps 83:4) but they that went on forward in his work.

11:13 ¹ Bergomensis saith, in the year of our Lord 1301, this year a blazing star foretelling great calamity to come, appeared in heaven, in which year upon the feast of S. Andrew, so great an earthquake arose, as never before: which also continuing, by times, for many days, overthrew many stately houses. This saith he of the year next following the Jubilee: which S. John so many ages before, expressed word for word.

² They were indeed broken with present astonishment of mind, but did not earnestly repent as they ought to have done.

³ Glorified God by confessing his name.

11:14 ¹ He passeth unto the second history: which is the second part of this Chapter. S. John calleth these the second and third woes, having respect unto Rev. 9:12.

11:15 ¹ Of whose sounding the trumpet Christ expressly foretold, Rev. 10:7, and this is the second part of this Chapter, containing a general history of the Christian Church, from the time of Boniface 8 unto the consummation of the victory declared by voice from heaven. In this history there are three branches: a preparation by the sound of the Angels trumpet: a narration by the voice of heavenly Angels and Elders: and a confirmation by sign.

² The narration hath two parts: an acclamation of the heavenly creatures, in this verse, and both an adoration by all the Elders, verse 16, and also a most ample thanksgiving, verses 17, 18. The sense of the acclamation is, Now the Lord is entered on his kingdom, and hath restored his Church, in which most mightily recovered from the profanation of the Gentiles, he may glorify himself. Namely, that which the Lord ordained when first he ordained his Church, that the faith of the Saints doth now behold as accomplished.

11:16 ¹ As before, 7:11. This giving of thanks is altogether of the same content with the words going before.

11:18 ¹ A speech of the Hebrew language, as much to say, as Gentiles being angry thine inflamed wrath came upon them and showed itself from heaven, occasioned by their anger and fury.

19 Then the Temple of God was ¹opened in heaven, and there was seen in the Temple the Ark of his covenant: and there were lightnings, and voices, and thunderings, and earthquake, and much hail.

12 ¹ A woman ² appeareth travailing with child, ⁴ whose child the dragon would devour, ⁷ but Michael overcometh him ⁹ and casteth him out, ¹³ and the more he is cast down and vanquished, the more fiercely he exercised his subtleties.

1 And ¹there appeared a great wonder in heaven: ²A woman clothed with the Sun, and the Moon was under her feet, and upon her head a crown of twelve Stars.

2 And ¹she was with child, and cried travailing in birth, and was pained ready to be delivered.

3 And there appeared another wonder in heaven: ¹for behold, a great red dragon having ²seven heads, and ten ³horns, and seven crowns upon his heads:

4 ¹And his tail drew the third part of the stars of heaven, and cast them to the earth. And the dragon ²stood before the woman, which was ready to be delivered, ³to devour her child, when she had brought it forth.

5 ¹So she brought forth a man ²child, which should rule all nations with a rod of iron: and that her child was taken up unto God and to his throne.

6 ¹And the woman fled into the wilderness, where she hath a place prepared of God, that ²they should feed her there a thousand, two hundred and 11:19 ¹ This is the confirmation of the next prophecy before going by signs exhibited in heaven, and that of two sorts, whereof some are visible, as the passing away of the heaven, the opening of the Temple, the Ark of the covenant appearing in the Temple, and testifying the glorious presence of God, and the lightning: others apprehended by ear and such dull senses which bear witness in heaven and in earth to the truth of the judgments of God.

12:1 ¹ Hitherto hath been the general prophecy comprehended in 2 parts, as I showed upon Rev. 11. Now shall be declared the first part of this prophecy, in this and the next chapter and the latter part in chapters 14, 15 and 16. Unto the first part, which is of the conflicting or militant Church belong 2 things. The beginning and the progress of the same in conflicts and Christian combats. Of which two, the beginning or upspring of the Church is described in this Chap. and the progress thereof in the Chap. following. The beginning of the Christian Church, we define to be from the first moment of her the conception of Christ, until the time wherein this Church was as it were weaned and taken away from the breast or milk of her Mother: which is the time when the Church of the Jews with their city and Temple was overthrown by the judgment of God. So we have in this chapter the story of 60 years and upwards. The parts of this chapter are three. The first is, the history of the conception and bearing in womb, in 4 verses. The second, an history of the birth from verse 5 unto verse 12. The third is, of the woman that had brought forth, unto the end of the chapter. And these several parts have every one their conflicts. Therefore in that first part are two things contained, one, the conception and bearing in womb in two verses: and another of the lying in wait of the Dragon against that should be brought forth, in the next 2 verses. In the first point are these things, the description of the mother, verse 1, and the dolours of childbirth, verse 2, all showed unto John from heaven.

² A type of the true and holy Church, which then was in the nation of the Jews. This Church (as is the state of the holy Church Catholic) did in itself shine about with glory given of God, trod under feet mutability and changeableness, and possessed the kingdom of heaven as the heir thereof.

12:2 ¹ For this is that barren woman that brought not forth, of which Isa. 45:1, and Gal. 4:27, she cried out for good cause, and was tormented at that time, when in the judgment of all she seemed near unto death, and in means ready to give up the ghost by reason of her weakness and poverty.

12:3 ¹ That is the devil or Satan (as is declared verse 9.) mighty, angry, and full of wrath.

² Thereby to withstand those seven Churches spoken of, that is the Catholic Church, and that with kingly furniture and tyrannical magnificence: signified by the crowns set upon his heads, and if the same without controversy belonged unto him by proper right: as also he boasted unto Christ, Matt. 4:9. See after, upon Rev. 13:1.

³ More than are the horns of the Lamb, or than the Churches are: so well furnished doth the tyrant brag himself to be, unto all manner of mischief.

12:4 ¹ After the description of Satan followeth this action, that is, his battle offered unto the Church partly to that which is visible wherein the wheat is mingled with the chaff, and the good fish with that which is evil: a good part thereof, though in appearance it shined as the Stars shine in heaven, he is said to thrust down out of heaven and to pervert: for if it were possible he would pervert even the elect, Matt. 24:24, and partly to the elect members of the holy Catholic Church in the second part of this verse. Many therefore of the members of this visible Church (saith S. John) he overthrew and triumphed upon them.

² He withstood that elect Church of the Jews which was now ready to bring forth the Christian Church, and watched for that she should bring forth. For the whole Church, and whole body is compared unto a woman: and a part of the Church unto that which is brought forth as we have noted at large upon, Cant. 7:6.

³ Christ mystical (as they call him) that is the whole Church, consisting of the person of Christ as the head, and of the body united thereunto by the Spirit, so is the name of Christ taken, 1 Cor. 12:12.

12:5 ¹ The second history of the Church delivered of child: in which first the consideration of the child born, and of the Mother is described in 2 verses: secondly the battle of the Dragon against the young child, and the victory obtained against him 3 verses following: last of all is sung a song of victory, unto verse 12. Now S. John in consideration of the child born, noteth two things: for he describeth him, and his station or place in this verse.

² That is, Christ the head of the Church (the beginning, root and foundation whereof is the same Christ) endowed with kingly power, and taken up into heaven out of the jaws of Satan (who as a serpent did bite him upon the cross) that sitting upon the celestial throne he might reign over all.

12:6 ¹ The Church of Christ which was of the Jews, after his assumption into heaven, hid itself in the world as in a wilderness, trusting in the only defense of God, as witnesseth S. Luke in the Acts of the Apostles.

² Namely the Apostles, and servants of God ordained to feed with the word of life, the Church collected both of the Jews and Gentiles, unless that any man will take the word alerent impersonally after the use of the Hebrews instead, of aleretur, but I like the first better. For he hath respect unto those two Prophets, of whom Rev. 11:3, as for the meaning of the 1260 days, look the same place.

threescore days.

7 And there was a battle in heaven, ¹Michael and his Angels, fought against the dragon, and the dragon fought and his angels.

8 ¹But they prevailed not, neither was their ²place found anymore in heaven.

9 And the great dragon that old serpent, called the devil and Satan, was cast out, which deceiveth all the world: he was even cast into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him.

10 Then I heard a loud voice in heaven, saying, ¹Now is salvation, and strength, and the kingdom of our God, and the power of his Christ: for the accuser of our brethren is cast down, which accused them before our God day and night.

11 But they overcame him by that blood of that Lamb, and by that word of their testimony, and they ¹loved not their lives unto the death.

12 Therefore rejoice, ye heavens, and ye that dwell in them. Woe to the inhabitants of the earth, and of the sea: for the devil is come down unto you, which hath great wrath, knowing that he hath but a short time.

13 And when ¹the dragon saw that he was cast unto the earth, he persecuted the woman which had brought forth the man child.

14 ¹But to the woman were given two wings of a great Eagle, that she might fly into the wilderness, into her ²place where she is nourished for a ³time, and times, and half a time, from the presence of the serpent.

15 ¹And the serpent cast out of his mouth water after the woman, like a flood, that he might cause her to be carried away of the flood,

16 ¹But the earth helped the woman, and the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed up the flood, which the dragon had cast out of his mouth.

17 ¹Then the dragon was wroth with the woman, and went and made war with the remnant of her seed, which keep the commandments of God, and have the testimony of Jesus Christ.

18 ¹And I stood on the sea sand.

12:7 ¹ Christ is the Prince of Angels, and head of the Church, who beareth that iron rod, the fifth verse. See the notes upon Daniel, Dan. 12:1. In this verse a description of the battle and of the victory in the two verses following. The Psalmist had respect unto this battle, Ps. 68:9, and Paul, Eph. 4:1 and Col. 2:15.

12:8 ¹ The description of the victory, by denying of the thing in this verse, and by affirming the contrary in the next verse. As that Satan gained nothing in heaven but was by the power of God thrown down into the world, whereof he is the prince, Christ himself and his elected members standing still by the throne of God.

² They were cast out, so that they were never seen anymore in heaven.

12:10 ¹ The song of victory or triumph containing first, a proposition of the glory of God and of Christ showed in that victory: secondly, it containeth a reason of the same proposition taken from the effects, as that the enemy is overcome in battle in this verse, and that the godly are made conquerors (and more than conquerors, Rom. 8:37) verse 11. Thirdly, a conclusion wherein is an exhortation unto the Angels, and the Saints, and unto the world, a prophecy of great misery, and of destruction procured by the devil against mankind, lest himself should shortly be miserable alone, verse 12.

12:11 ¹ He is said in the Hebrew tongue, to love his life that esteemeth nothing more precious than his life: and on the other side, he is said not to love his life, who doubteth not to hazard it, whosoever need requireth.

12:13 ¹ The third part: an history of the woman delivered, consisting of two members, the second battle of Satan against the Christian Church of the Jewish nation, in four verses: and the battle intended against the seed thereof, that is against the Church of the Gentiles, which is called holy, by reason of the Gospel of Christ in the two last verses.

12:14 ¹ That is, being strengthened with divine power: and taught by oracle, she fled swiftly from the assault of the devil, and from the common destruction of Jerusalem, and went into a solitary City beyond Jordan called Pella, as Eusebius telleth in the first Chapter of the third book of his Ecclesiastical history, which place God had commanded her by Revelation.

² Into that place where God had appointed her.

³ That is, for three years and a half: so the same speech is taken,

Dan. 7:15. This space of time is reckoned in manner from that last and most grievous rebellion of the Jews, unto the destruction of the city and Temple, for their destruction or falling away, began in the twelfth year of Nero, before the beginning whereof, many fore signs and predictions were showed from heaven, as Josephus writeth, lib. 7, chap. 12, and Hegesippus, lib. 5, chap. 44, amongst which this is very memorable, that in the feast of Pentecost, not only a great sound and noise was heard in the Temple, but also a great voice was heard of many out of the Sanctuary which cried out to all, Let us depart hence. Now three years and a half after this defection was begun of the Jews, and those wonders happened, the City was taken by force, the Temple overthrown, and the place forsaken of God: and this compass of time Saint John noted in this place.

12:15 ¹ That is, he inflamed the Romans and the nations, that they persecuting the Jewish people with cruel arms might by the same occasion invade the Church of Christ, now departed from Jerusalem and out of Judea. For it is an usual thing in Scripture that the raging tumults of the nations, should be compared unto waters.

12:16 ¹ That is, there was offered in their place other Jews, unto the Romans and nations raging against that people: and it came to pass thereby that the Church of God was saved whole from that violence, that most raging flood of persecution which the Dragon vomited out being altogether spent in the destruction of those other Jews.

12:17 ¹ Being set on fire by this means, he began to be more mad, and because he perceived that his purpose against the Christian Church of the Jewish remnant was come to nought, he resolved to fall upon her seed, that is, the Church gathered also by God of the Gentiles, and the holy members of the same. And this is that other branch, as I said upon verse 13, in which the purpose of Satan is showed, verse 17, and his attempt, verse 18.

12:18 ¹ That is, a most mighty tempest, that he rushed upon the whole world (whose prince he is) to raise the floods and provoke the nations, that they might with their furious bellows toss up and down, drive here and there, and finally destroy the Church of Christ with the holy members of the same. But the providence of God resisted his attempt, that he might favor the Church of the Gentiles, yet tender and as it were green. The rest of the story of the Dragon is excellently prosecuted by the Apostle S. John hereafter in the twentieth chapter. For here the Dragon endeavoring to do mischief, was by God cast into prison.

13 ¹ The beast with many heads is described ¹² which draweth the most part of the world to idolatry. ¹³ The other beast rising out of the earth, ¹⁵ giveth power unto him.

1 And I ¹ saw a beast rise ² out of the sea, having seven heads, and ³ ten horns, and upon his horns were ten crowns, and ⁴ upon his head ⁵ the name of blasphemy.

2 And the beast which I saw was ¹ like a leopard, and his feet like a bear, and his mouth as the mouth of a Lion: ² and the dragon gave him his power and his throne, and great authority.

3 ¹ And I saw one of his heads as it were wounded to death, but his deadly wound was healed, and all the world wondered and followed the beast.

4 And they worshipped the dragon which gave power unto the beast, and they worshipped the beast, saying, Who is like unto the beast! who is able to war with him!

13:1 ¹ The Apostle having declared the springing up of the Christian Church and the state of the Church from which ours taketh her beginning, doth now pass unto the story of the progress thereof, as I showed in the entrance of the former Chapter. And this history of the progress of the Church, and the battles thereof, is set down in this Chapter, but distinctly in two parts, one is of the civil Roman Empire, unto the tenth verse. Another of the body Ecclesiastical or prophetic, thence unto the end of the chapter. In the former part are showed these things: First the state of that Empire, in four verses: then the acts thereof in three verses: after the effect, which is exceeding great glory, verse 8. And last of all is commended the use: and the instruction of the godly against the evils that shall come from the same, verses 9, 10. The history of the state containeth a most ample description of the beast, first entire, verses 1, 2, and then restored after hurt, verses 3, 4.

² On the sand whereof stood the devil practicing new tempests against the Church, in the verse next beforegoing: what time the Empire of Rome was endangered by domestical dissensions, and was mightily tossed, having ever and anon new heads, and new Emperors. See in the seventeenth chapter and the eighth verse.

³ Having the same instruments of power, providence, and most expert government which the Dragon is said to have had in Rev. 12:3.

⁴ We read in chapter 12 and third verse, that the Dragon had seven crowns set upon seven heads: because the thief announceth himself to be proper Lord and Prince of the world: but this beast is said to have ten crowns set upon several, not heads, but horns: because the beast is beholden for all unto the Dragon, verse 2, and doth not otherwise reign them by law of subjection given by him, namely that he employ his horns against the Church of God. The speech is taken from the ancient custom and form of dealing in such case: by which they that were absolute kings did wear the diadem upon their heads: but their vassals and such as reigned by grace from them, wore the same upon their hoods: for so they might commodiously lay down their diadems when they came into the presence of their Sovereigns: as also their Elders are said, when they adored God which sat upon the throne, to have cast down their crowns before him, chap. 4, verse 10.

⁵ Contrary to that which God of old commanded should be written in the head piece of the high Priest, that is, Sanctitas Jehova, Holiness unto the Lord. The name of blasphemy imposed by the Dragon, is (as I think) that which S. Paul saith in chapter 2 of his 2 Epistle to the Thessalonians, verse 4. He sitteth as God, and boasteth himself to be God. For this name of blasphemy both the Roman Emperors did then challenge unto themselves, as Suetonius and Dion do report of Caligula and Domitian: and after them the Popes of Rome did with full mouth profess the same of themselves, when they challenged unto themselves sovereignty in holy things: of which kind of sayings the sixth book of the Decretals, the Clementines, and the Extravagants, are very full. For these men were not content with that which Anglicus wrote in his Poetria (the beginning whereof is, Papa stupor mundi. The Pope is the wonder of the world. Nec Deus es, nec homo, sed neuter es inter utrunque. Thou art not God, nay art thou man, but neuter mixed of both: as the gloss witnesseth upon the sixth book: but they were bold to take unto themselves the very name of God, and to accept it given of other: according as almost an hundred and twenty years since, there was made for Sixtus the fourth, when he should first enter into Rome in his dignity Papal, a Pageant of triumph, and cunningly fixed upon the gate of the city he should enter at, having written upon it this blasphemous verse:

*Oraclo vocis mundi moderaris habenas,
Et merito in teris crederis esse deus.*

By oracle of thine own voice the world thou governeest all,
And worthily a God on earth, men think, and do thee call.

These and six hundred the like who can impute unto that modesty whereby good men of old would have themselves called the servants of the servants of God, verily either this is a name of blasphemy, or there is none at all.

13:2 ¹ Swift as the Leopard, easily clasping all things, as the bear doth with his foot, and tearing and devouring all things with the mouth as doth the Lion.

² That is, he lent the same unto the beast to use, when he perceived that himself could not escape, but must needs be taken by the hand of the Angel, and cast into the bottomless pit, Rev. 20, yet did not he abandon the same utterly from himself, but that he might use it as long as he could.

13:3 ¹ This is the other place that pertaineth to the description of the beast of Rome: that besides that natural dignity and amplitude of the Roman Empire, which was shadowed in the two former verses, there was added this also as miraculous, that one head was wounded as it were unto death, and was healed again, as from heaven, in the sight of all men. This head was Nero the Emperor, in whom the race of the Caesars fell from imperial dignity, and the government of the Commonweal was translated unto others: in whose hands the Empire was so cured and recovered unto health, as he seemed unto all so much the more deeply rooted and grounded fast, than ever before. And hence followed those effects, which are next spoken of: First an admiration of certain power, as it were sacred and divine sustaining the Empire and governing it: Secondly the obedience and submission of the whole earth in this verse: Thirdly, the adoration of the Dragon, and most wicked worshipping of Devils, confirmed by the Roman Emperors: Lastly, the adoration of the beast himself, who grew into so great estimation, as that both the name and worship of a God was given unto him, the fourth verse. Now there were two causes which brought in the minds of men this religion: the show of excellency, which bringeth with it reverence: and the show of power invincible, which bringeth fear. Who is like (say they) unto the beast? Who shall be able to fight with him?

5 ¹And there was given unto him a mouth, that spake great things and blasphemies, and power was given unto him, ²to do two and forty months.

6 And he opened his mouth unto blasphemy against God, to blaspheme his Name, ¹and his tabernacle, ²and them that dwell in heaven.

7 And it was given unto him to make war with the Saints, and to overcome them, and power was given him over every kindred, and tongue, and nation.

8 Therefore all that dwell upon the earth, shall worship him, ¹whose names are not written in the book of life of that Lamb, which was slain from the beginning of the world.

9 ¹If any man have an ear let him hear.

10 If any lead into captivity, he shall go into captivity: ^aif any kill with a sword, he must be killed by a sword: here is the patience and the faith of the Saints.

11 ¹And I beheld, another beast coming out of the earth, ²which had two horns like the Lamb, but he spake like the dragon.

12 ¹And he did all that the first beast could do before him, and he caused the earth and them which dwell therein, ²to worship the first beast whose deadly wound was healed.

13 ¹And he did great wonders, so that he made

13:5 ¹ The second member containing an history of the acts of the beast, as I said verse 1. The history of them is concluded in two points, the beginning and the manner of them. The beginning is the gift of the Dragon, who put and inspired into the beast both his impiety against God and his eminity and injustice against all men, especially against the godly and those that were of the household of faith, the fifth verse. The manner of the acts or actions done, is of two sorts both impious in mind, and blasphemous in speech against God, his Church and the godly, verse six, and also most cruel and injurious in deeds, even such as were done of most raging enemies and of most insolent and proud conquerors, the seventh verse.

² Namely his actions and manner of dealing. As concerning those two and forty months, I have spoken of them before in the twelfth Chapter and second verse.

13:6 ¹ That is, the holy Church, the true house of the living God.

² That is, the godly in several who hid themselves from his cruelty. For this bloody beast surcharged those holy souls most falsely with innumerable accusations for the Name of Christ, as we read in Justin Martyr, Tertullian, Arnobius, Minutius, Eusebius, Augustine, and others: which example the latter times followed most diligently in destroying the flock of Christ and we in our own memory have found by experience to our incredible grief. Concerning heaven, see the eleventh Chapter and twelfth verse.

13:8 ¹ That is, such as are not from everlasting elect in Christ Jesus. For this is that Lamb slain, of which the fifth Chapter, verse six. These words I do with Aretas distinguish in this manner: Whose names are not written even from the laying of the foundation of the world, in the book of life, of the Lamb slain. And this distinction is confirmed by a like place hereafter, Rev. 17:8.

13:9 ¹ The conclusion of this speech of the first beast, consisting of two parts, An exhortation to attentive audience in this verse: and a foretelling, which partly containeth threatenings against the wicked, and partly comforts for those which in patience and faith shalt wait for that glorious coming of our Lord and Savior Christ, the tenth verse.

13:11 ¹ The second member of the vision, concerning the ecclesiastical dominion, which in Rome succeeded that which was politic, and is in the power of the corporation of false Prophets, and of the forgers of false doctrine. Wherefore the same body or corporation is called of S. John by the name of false prophet, Rev. 6:13, 19 and 20. The form of this beast is first described in this verse, then his acts, in the verses following, and the whole speech is concluded in the last verse. This beast is by his breed a Son of the earth (as they say) obscurely born, and by little and little creeping up out of his abject estate.

² That is, in show he resembled the Lamb (for what is more mild or more humble than to be the servant of the servants of God) but in deed he played the part of the Dragon, and of the Wolf, Matt. 7:15. For even Satan changeth himself into an Angel of light, 2 Cor. 11:14, and what should his honest disciples and servants do?

13:12 ¹ The history of the acts of this beast containeth in sum three things, hypocrisy, the witness of miracles and tyranny: of which the first is noted in this verse, the second in the 3 verses following: the third in the sixteenth and seventeenth verses. His hypocrisy is most full of leasing, whereby he abuseth both the former beast and the whole world: in that albeit he hath by his cunning, as it were by lime made of the former beast a most miserable ... or anatomy, usurped all his authority unto himself and most impudently exerciseth the same in the sight and view of him: yet he carrieth himself so, as if he honored him with most high honor, and did in very truth cause him to be honored of all men.

² For unto this beast of Rome, which of civil Empire is made an Ecclesiastical hierarchy, are given divine honors, and divine authority so far as he is believed to be above the Scriptures, which the gloss upon the Decretals declareth by this devilish verse,

Articulos solvit, synodumque facit generalem,

That is,

He changeth the Articles of faith, and giveth authority to general Counsels.

Which is spoken of the Papal power. So the beast is by birth, foundation, feat, and finally substance, one: only the Pope hath altered the form and manner thereof being himself the head both of that tyrannical Empire, and also of the false Prophets, for the Empire hath he taken unto himself, and thereunto hath added this cunning device. Now these words, whose deadly wound was cured are put here for distinction sake, as also sometimes afterwards: that even at that time the godly readers of this prophecy might by this sign be brought to see the things as present: as if it were said, that they might adore this very Empire that now is, whose head we have seen in our own memory to have been cut off, and to be cured again.

13:13 ¹ The second point of the things done by the beast, is the credit of great wonders or miracles, appertaining to the strength of this impiety: of which signs some were given from above, as it is said, that fire was sent down from heaven by false sorcery, in this verse. Others were showed here below in the sight of the beast to establish idolatry, and deceive souls, which part S. John setteth forth beginning (as they say) at that which is last, in this manner: First the effect is declared in these words, He deceiveth the inhabitants of the earth, Secondly the common manner of working in two sorts, one of miracles. For the signs that were given him to do in the presence of the beasts: the other of the words added to the signs, and teaching the idolatry confirmed by those signs, Saying unto the inhabitants of the earth, that they should make an image unto the beasts which, etc. Thirdly, a special manner is declared: That is given unto him to put life into the image of the beast: and that such a kind of quickening, that the same both speaketh by answer unto those that ask counsel of it, and also pronounceth death against all those that do not obey nor worship it: all which things oftentimes by false miracles through the procurement and inspiration of the Devil, fire to come down from heaven on the earth, in the sight of men.

14 And deceived them that dwell on the earth by the signs which were permitted to him to do in the sight of the beast, saying to them that dwell on the earth, that they should make the ¹image of the ²beast, which had the wound of a sword, and did live.

15 ¹And it was permitted to him to give a ²spirit unto the image of the beast, so that the image of the beast should speak, and should cause that as many as would not worship the image of the beast should be killed.

16 ¹And he made all, both small and great, rich and poor, free and bond, to receive ²a ³mark in their right hand or in their foreheads.

17 And that no man might ¹buy or sell, save he that had the ²mark or the name of the beast or the number of his name.

18 ¹Here is wisdom. Let him that hath wit, count the number of the beast: for it is the ²number of have been effected and wrought in images. The histories of the Papists are full of examples of such miracles, the most of them feigned, many also done by the devil in images: as of old in the serpent, Gen. 3:1. By which examples is confirmed, not the authority of the beast, but the truth of God, and of these prophecies.

13:14 ¹ That is, images by enallage or change of the number: for the worship of them ever since the second Council of Nice, hath been ordained in the Church by public credit, and authority contrary unto the Law of God.

² In the Greek the word is in the Dative case, as much to say, as unto the worship, honor and obeying of the beast: for by this maintenance of images this Pseudoprophetical beast doth mightily profit the beast of Rome, of whom long ago he received them. Wherefore the same is hereafter very fitly called the image of the beast, for that images have their beginning from the beast, and have their form or manner from the will of the beast, and have their end and use fixed in the profit and commodity of the beast.

13:15 ¹ And of this miracle of the images of the beast (that is, which the beast hath ordained to establish idolatry) which miraculously speak and give judgment, or rather marvelously, by the fraud of the false prophets, the Papists books are full fraughted.

² To give life as Jannes and Jambres imitated the wonders that Moses wrought.

13:16 ¹ The third place, is a most wicked and most insolent tyranny as was said before, usurped over the persons of men in this verse: and over their goods and actions, in the next verse. For he is said, both to bring upon all persons a tyrannous servitude, that as bondslaves they might serve the beast: and also to exercise over all their goods and actions, a peddler-like abuse of indulgences and dispensations (as they term them) amongst their friends, and against others to use most violent interdictions, and to shoot out cursings, even in natural and civil, private and public contracts, wherein all good faith ought to have place.

² That is, their Chrism, by which in the Sacrament (as they call it) of Confirmation, they make servile unto themselves, the persons and doings of men, signing them in their forehead and hands: and as for the sign left by Christ (of which Rev. 7:3) and the holy Sacrament of Baptism they make as void. For whom Christ hath joined unto himself by Baptism, this beast maketh challenge unto them by her greasy Chrism, which he doubteth not to prefer over Baptism, both in authority and efficacy.

³ The mark of the name of the beast.

13:17 ¹ That is, have any traffic or intercourse with men, but they only those which have this anointing and consecration of Clearlynt tonsure, as they call it. Read Gratian de Consecratione, distinct. s. c. omnes, cap. Spiritus, etc. of these matters.

² Here the false Prophets do require three things, which are set down in the order of their greatness, a character, a name and the number of the name. The meaning is, that man that hath not first their anointing and clerical tonsure or shaving: secondly holy orders, by reserving whereof is communicated the same of the beast: or finally hath not attained that high degree of Pontifical knowledge, and of the Law (as they call it) Canonical, and hath not as it were made up in account and cast the number of the mysteries thereof: for in these things consisteth the number of that name of the beast. And this is excellently set forth in the next verse.

13:18 ¹ That is in this number of the beast consisteth that Popish wisdom, which unto them seemeth the greatest of all others. In these words S. John expoundeth that saying which went before of the number of the beast, what it hath above his mark or acconisance and his name. These things, saith S. John, the mark and the name of the beast, do easily happen unto any man: but to have the number of the beast, is wisdom: that is, only the wise and such as have understanding, can come by that number for they must be most illuminated doctors that attain thereunto, as the words following do declare.

² How great and of what denomination this number of the beast is, by which the beast accounted his wisdom, S. John declareth in these words. Dost thou demand how great it is? it is so great, that it occupieth the whole man: he is always learning, and never cometh to the knowledge thereof: he must be a man indeed that doth attain unto it. Askest thou of what denomination it is? verily it standeth of six throughout and perfectly ariseth of all the parts thereof in their several denominations (as they term them) it standeth of six by units, tens, hundreds, etc. so as there is no one part in the learning and order Pontifical, which is not either referred unto the head, and as it were the top thereof, or contained in the same: so fitly do all things in this hierarchy agree one with another, and with their head. Therefore that cruel beast Boniface the eighth doth commend by the number of six those Decretals which he perfected, in the proem of the sixth book. Which book (saith he) being to be added unto five other books of the same volume of Decretals, we thought good to name Sextum the sixth: that the same volume by addition thereof containing a senary, or the number of six books (which is a number perfect) may yield a perfect form of managing all things, and perfect discipline of behavior. Here therefore is the number of the beast, who poureth from himself all his parts and bringeth them all back again unto himself by his discipline in most wise and cunning manner. If any man desire more of this, let him read the gloss upon that place. I am not ignorant that other interpretations are brought upon this place: but I thought it my duty, with the good favor of all and without the offense of any, to propound mine opinion in this point. And for this cause especially, for that it seemed unto me neither profitable, nor like to be true, that the number of the beast, or of the name of the beast should be taken as the common sort of interpreters do take it. For this number of the beast teacheth, giveth out, imprinteth, as a public mark of such as be his, and esteemeth that mark above all others as the mark of those whom he loveth best. Now those other expositions seem rather to be far removed from this property and condition of that number: whether you respect the name Latinus or Titan, or another. For these the beast doth not teach, nor give forth nor imprint, but most diligently forbiddeth to be taught, and audaciously denieth: he approveth not these, but reproveth them: and hateth them that think so of this number, with an hatred, greater than that of Vatinus.

a man, and his number is six hundred threescore and six.

14 ¹ The Lamb standeth on mount Zion: 4 with his chaste worshippers. 6 One Angel preacheth the Gospel. 8 Another foretelleth the fall of Babylon: 9 the third warneth that the beast be avoided. 13 A voice from heaven pronounceth them happy who die in the Lord. 16 The Lord's sickle thrust into the harvest. 18 and into the vintage.

1 Then I looked, and lo, a Lamb ¹stood on mount Zion, and with him an ²hundred forty and four thousand, having his Father's ³Name written in their foreheads.

2 And I heard a voice from heaven as the sound of many waters, and as the sound of a great thunder: and I heard the voice of harpers, harping with their harps.

3 And they sung as it were a new song before the throne, and before the four beasts, and the Elders: and no man could learn that song, but the hundred, forty and four thousand, which were bought from the earth.

4 These are they which are not defiled with women: for they are virgins: these follow the Lamb whithersoever he goeth: these are bought from men, being the firstfruits unto God, and unto the Lamb.

5 And in their mouths was found no guile: for they are without spot before the throne of God.

6 ¶ ¹Then I saw ²another Angel fly in the midst of heaven, having an everlasting Gospel to preach unto them that dwell on the earth, and to every nation and kindred, and tongue, and people,

7 ^{1a}Saying with a loud voice, Fear God, and give glory to him: for the hour of his judgment is come: and worship him that made ^bheaven and earth, and the sea and the fountains of waters.

8 And there followed another Angel, saying, 'Babylon that great city is fallen, it is fallen: for she made all nations to drink of the wine of the ¹wrath of her fornication.

9 ¶ And the third Angel followed them, saying with a loud voice, 'If any man worship the beast and his image, and receive his mark in his forehead, or on his hand,

10 The same shall drink of the wine of the wrath

14:1 ¹ The history of the Church of Christ being finished for more than a thousand and three hundred years, at which time Boniface the eighth lived as before hath been said, there remaineth the rest of the history of the conflicting or militant Church, from thence unto the time of the last victory in three chapters. For first of all, as the foundation of the whole history, is described the standing of the lamb with his army and retinue in five verses, after his worthy acts which he hath done, and yet doth in most mighty manner, whilst he overthroweth Antichrist with the spirit of his mouth, in the rest of this chapter, and in the two following. Unto the description of the Lamb, are propounded three things: his situation, place and attendance: for the rest are expounded in the former visions, especially upon the fifth chapter.

² As ready girt to do his office (as Acts 6:56) in the midst of the Church which aforetime mount Zion did prefigure.

³ As before 7:2. This retinue of the Lamb is described first by divine mark (as before 7:2) in this verse. Then by divine occupation, in that all and every one in his retinue most vehemently and sweetly (verse 2) do glorify the Lamb with a special song before God and his elect Angels: which song flesh and blood cannot hear, nor understand, verse 3. Lastly by their deeds done before, and their sanctification in that they were virgins, pure from spiritual and bodily fornication that is, from impiety and unrighteousness, that they followed the Lamb as a guide unto all goodness, and cleaved unto him that they are holy unto him as of grace redeemed by him: that in truth and in simplicity of Christ, they have exercised all these things, sanctimony of life, the direction of the Lamb, a thankful remembrance of the redemption by him: finally (to conclude in a word) that they are blameless before the Lord, verses 4, 5.

14:6 ¹ The other part (as I said in the first verse) is of the acts of the Lamb, the manner whereof is delivered in two sorts, of his speech, and of his facts. His speeches are set forth unto verse 13 of this chapter, and his facts unto chapter 16. In the speech of the Lamb, which is the word of the Gospel, are taught in this place, these things: The service of the godly consisting inwardly of reverence towards God, and outwardly of the glorifying of him: the visible sign of which is adoration, verse 7. The overthrowing of wicked Babylon, verse 8, and the fall of every one of the ungodly which worship the beast, verses 9, 10, 11. Finally, the state of the holy servants of God both present, verse 11, and to come, most blessed, according to the promise of God, verse 15.

² This Angel is a type or figure of the good and faithful servants of God, whom God especially from that time of Boniface the eighth, hath raised up to the publishing of the Gospel of Christ, both by preaching and by writing. So God first, near unto the time of the same Boniface, used Peter Cassiodorus an Italian: after, Arnold de villa nova, a Frenchman, then Occam, Dante, Petrarch, after that Johannes de rupe casa, a Franciscan: after again, John Wycliff an Englishman, and so continually one or another unto the restoring of the truth and enlarging of his Church.

14:7 ¹ That is, Babylon is destroyed by the sentence and judgment of God: the execution whereof S. John described, chap. 18. And this voice of the ministers of Christ hath continued since the time that Babylon (which is Rome) hath by deliberate counsel and manifest malice oppugned the light of the Gospel offered from God.

14:8 ¹ Of her fornication, whereby God was provoked to wrath.

14:9 ¹ That is, shall not worship God alone, but shall transfer his divine honor unto this beast, whether he doeth it with his heart or counterfeiting in show. For he (saith Christ) that denieth me before men, him will I deny before my Father, and his Angels, Matt. 10:32. And this is that voice of the holy ministry; which at this time is very much used of the holy and faithful servants of God. For having now sufficiently found out the public obstinacy of Babylon they labor not any longer to thunder out as against the same but to save some particular members by terror (as S. Jude speaketh) and to pluck them out of the public flame, or else by a vehement commiseration of their state to lead them away, they set before them eternal death, into which they rush unawares, unless in good time they return unto God, but the godly which are of their own flock, they exhort unto patience, obedience, and faith in the Lord Jesus, and charge them to give light by their good example, of good life unto others.

of God, yea, of the pure wine, which is poured into the cup of his wrath, and he shall be tormented in fire and brimstone before the holy Angels, and before the Lamb.

11 And the smoke of their torment shall ascend evermore: and they shall have no rest day nor night, which worship the beast and his name.

12 ¹Here is the patience of Saints: here are they that keep the commandments of God, and the faith of Jesus.

13 Then I heard a voice from heaven, saying unto me, Write, The dead which die ¹in the Lord, are fully blessed. Even so saith the Spirit: for they rest from their labors, and their ²works follow them.

14 ¶ ¹And I looked, and behold, ²a white cloud, and upon the cloud one sitting like unto the Son of man, ³having on his head a golden crown, and in his hand a ⁴sharp sickle.

15 ¹And another Angel came out of the Temple, crying with a loud voice to him that sat on the cloud, ⁴Thrust in thy sickle and reap, for the time is come to reap: for the ⁴harvest of the earth is ripe.

^d Joel 3:13

^e Matt. 13:39

16 And he that sat on the cloud, thrust in his sickle on the earth, and the earth was reaped.

17 ¹Then another Angel came out of the Temple, which is in heaven, having also a sharp sickle.

18 And another Angel came out from the altar, which had power over fire, and cried with a loud cry to him that had the sharp sickle, and said, Thrust in thy sharp sickle, and gather the clusters of the vineyard of the earth: for her grapes are ripe.

19 And the Angel thrust in his sharp sickle on the earth, and cut down the vines of the vineyard of the earth, and cast them into that great winepress of the wrath of God.

20 And the winepress was trodden without the city, ¹and blood came out of the winepress, unto the horse bridles, by the space of a thousand and six hundred furlongs.

15 ¹ The seven Angels having the seven last plagues. ³ They that conquered the beast praise God. ⁶ To the seven Angels. ⁷ seven vials full of God's wrath are delivered.

14:12 ¹ The patience, sanctification and justification by faith: the consequence whereof are rest, felicity, and glory eternal, in the heavenly fellowship of God and his Angels.

14:13 ¹ That is for the Lord.

² By works, is meant the reward which followeth good works.

14:14 ¹ The second part of this Chapter, as I said, verse 1. Of the acts and doings of Christ in overthrowing of Antichrist and his Church by the Spirit of his divine mouth: seeing that having been called back by word both publicly and privately unto his duty, and admonished of his most certain ruin: he yet ceaseth not to maintain and protect his own adherents, that they may do him service: and to afflict the godly with most barbarous persecutions. Of those things which Christ doeth, there are two kinds: one common or general in the rest of this chapter, another particular against that savage and rebellious beast and his worshippers in chapters 15 and 16. That common kind, is the calamity of wars spread abroad through the whole earth, and filling all things with blood, and that without respect of any person. This is figured or shadowed out in two types, of the harvest and vintage. Since the time that the light of the Gospel began to shine out, and since prophecy or preaching by the grace of God was raised up again, how horrible wars have been kindled in the world? how much human flesh hath been thrown to the earth by this divine reaping? how much blood (alas for woe) hath overflowed for these hundred years almost? all history do cry out, and this our age (if ever before) is now in horror, by reason of the rage of the sickle which Antichrist calleth for. In this place is the first type, that is of the harvest.

² Declaring his fierceness by his color, like unto that which is in the white or milk circle of heaven.

³ As one that shall reign from God, and occupy place of Christ in this miserable execution.

⁴ That is, a most fit and commodious instrument of Execution, destroyed all by hewing and thrusting through, for who may stand against God?

14:15 ¹ Christ giveth a commandment in this verse. And the Angel executeth in the next verse.

14:17 ¹ The other type (as I said, verse 14) is the vintage: the manner whereof is one with that which went before, if thou except this, that the grape gathering is more exact in seeking out everything, than is the harvest labor. This is therefore a more grievous judgment, both because it succeedeth the other, and because it is understood to be executed with great diligence.

14:20 ¹ That is, it overflowed very deep, and very far and wide: the speech is by hyperbole or excessive, to signify the greatness of the slaughter. And these be those pleasant fruits forsooth, of the contempt of Christ, and desiring of Antichrist rather than him, which the miserable, mad, and blind world doth at this time reap.

15:1 ¹ This is that other place of the acts of Christ, as I noted before, 14:14. Now therefore is showed a singular work of the judgment of God belonging to the overthrow of Antichrist and his forces of which divine work the preparation is described in this Chapter and the execution in the next. The preparation is first set down generally and in type in this verse: and is after particularly set forth in the rest of the Chapter.

² Of which Rev. 8:9, in pouring forth in the plagues of the world: for even these plagues do for the most part agree with those.

15:2 ¹ There are two parts of the narration: one the confession of the Saints glorifying God, when they saw that preparation of the judgments of God, unto verse 4: another the vocation, instruction, and confirmation of those instruments which God hath ordained for the execution of his judgments, in 4 other verses.

² This part of the vision alludeth unto the sea or large vessel of brass in which the Priests washed themselves in the entrance of the Temple: for in the entrance of the heavenly Temple (as it is called, verse 5) is said to have been a sea of glass, most lightsome and clear, unto the commodity of choice mixed with fire, that is, as containing the treasury of the judgments of God, which he bringeth forth and dispenseth according to his own pleasure: for out of the former, the Priests were cleansed of old and out of this the ungodly are destroyed now, Rev. 4:6.

³ That is, the Godly martyrs of Christ, who shall not give place even in miracles unto that beast: of these, see before, Rev. 13:17 and 14:9, 10.

⁴ Glorified God, from the particular observation of the weapons and instruments of God's wrath, floating in the sea of glass.

1 And ¹I saw another sign in heaven, great and marvelous, seven ²Angels having the seven last plagues: for by them is fulfilled the wrath of God.

2 ¹And I saw ²as it were a glassy sea, mingled with fire, and ³them that had gotten victory of the beast, and of his image, and of his mark, and of the number of his name, ⁴stand at the glassy sea, having the harps of God,

3 And they sung ¹the song of Moses the ²servant of God, and the song of the Lamb, saying, ³Great and marvelous are thy works, Lord God Almighty: just and true are thy ^aways, King of Saints.

4 ^bWho shall not fear thee, O Lord, and glorify thy name! for thou only art holy, and all nations shall come and worship before thee: for thy judgments are made manifest.

5 ¹And after that, I looked, and behold, the Temple of the tabernacle of Testimony was open in heaven.

6 And the seven Angels came out of the Temple, which had the ¹seven plagues, clothed in ²pure and bright linen, and having their breasts ³girded with golden girdles.

7 And therefore ¹four beasts gave unto the seven Angels seven golden vials full of the wrath of God which lived for evermore.

^aPs. 145:17

^bJer. 10:7

8 And the temple was full of the smoke of the glory of God and of his power, and ¹no man was able to enter into the Temple, till the seven plagues of the seven Angels were fulfilled.

16 ²And 17 the Angels pour out the seven vials of God's wrath given unto them, and so divers plagues arise in the world, 18 to terrify the wicked, 19 and the inhabitants of the great city.

1 And ¹I heard a great voice out of the Temple, saying to the seven Angels, Go your ways, and poured out the seven vials of the wrath of God upon the earth.

2 ¹And the first went and poured out his vial upon the earth: and there fell a noisome and a grievous sore upon the men which had the ²mark of the beast, and upon them which worshipped his image.

3 ¹And the second Angel poured out his vial upon the sea, and it ²became as the blood of a dead man: and every living thing died in the sea.

4 ¹And the third Angel poured out his vial upon the rivers and fountains of waters, and they became blood.

5 And I heard the Angel of the waters say, Lord, thou art just, which art, and which wast: and Holy, because thou hast judged these things.

15:3 ¹ That song of triumph which is Exod. 15:2.

² So is Moses called for honor's sake, as it is set forth, Deut. 34:10.

³ This song hath two parts, one a confession, but particular in this verse, and general, in the beginning of the next verse: another, a narration of causes belonging to the confession, whereof one kind is eternal in itself, and most present unto the godly in that God is both holy, and alone God, another kind is future and to come, in that the elect taken out of the Gentiles (that is, out of the wicked ones and unbelieving: as Rev. 11:2) were to be brought unto the same state of happiness by the magnificence of the judgment of God, in the next verse.

⁴ Thy doings.

15:5 ¹ The second part of the narration (as was [noted,] verse 2) wherein first the authority of the whole argument and matter thereof is figured by a forerunning type of a temple opened in heaven, as Rev. 11:19, namely that all those things are divine and of God, that proceed from thence, in this verse. Secondly, the administrators or executors, come forth out of the Temple, verse 6. Thirdly, they are furnished with instruments of the judgments of God, and weapons fit for the manner of the same judgments, verse 7. Finally they are confirmed by testimony of the visible glory of God, in the last verse. A like testimony whereunto was exhibited of old in the Law, Exod. 40:34.

15:6 ¹ That is, commandments to inflict those seven plagues. Here is the figure called Metonymy.

² Which was in old time a sign of the kingly or princely dignity.

³ That is, girding was a sign of diligence, and the girdle of gold was a sign of sincerity and trustiness in taking in charge the commandments of God.

15:7 ¹ Of these before, Rev. 4:7.

15:8 ¹ None of those seven Angels might resume, till he had performed fully the charge committed unto him according to the decree of God.

16:1 ¹ In the former Chapter was set down the preparation unto the work of God: here is delivered the execution thereof. And in this discourse of the execution, is a general commandment, in this verse, then a particular recital in order of the execution done by every of the seven Angels, in the rest of the chapter. This special execution against Antichrist and his crew, doth in manner agree unto that which was generally done upon the whole world, Rev. 8 and 9, and belongeth (if my conjecture fail me not) unto the same time. Yet herein they do differ one from another, that this was particularly effected upon the Princes and ringleaders of the wickedness of the world, the other generally against the whole world being wicked. And therefore these judgments are figured more grievous than those.

16:2 ¹ The history of the first Angel, whose plague upon the earth, is described almost in the same words with that sixth plague of the Egyptians, Exod. 9:9. But it doth signify a spiritual ulcer, and that torture or butchery of conscience seared with an hot iron, which accuseth the ungodly within and both by truth of the word (the light whereof God hath now so long showed forth) and by bitterness stirreth up and forceth out the sword of God's wrath.

² See Rev. 13:16

16:3 ¹ The history of the second Angel who troubleth and molesteth the seas, that he may stir up the conscience of men sleeping in their wickedness. See Rev. 8:8.

² It was turned into rotten and filthy blood, such as is in dead bodies.

16:4 ¹ The history of the third Angel striking the rivers, in this verse who proclaiming the justice of God, commendeth the same by a most grave comparison of the sins of men with the punishment of God: which is common to this place and that which went before. Wherefore also this praising is attributed to the Angel of the waters, a name common to the second and third Angels according as both of them are said to be sent against the waters, albeit, the one of the sea the other of the rivers, in two verses.

6 For they shed the blood of the Saints, and Prophets, and therefore hast thou given them blood to drink: for they are worthy.

7 ¹And I heard another out of the Sanctuary say, Even so, Lord God almighty, true and righteous are thy judgments.

8 ¹And the fourth Angel poured out his vial on the sun, and it was given to him to torment men with heat of fire,

9 And men boiled in great heat, and blasphemed the Name of God, which hath power over these plagues, and they repented not to give him glory.

10 ¹And the fifth Angel poured out his vial upon the throne of the beast, and the kingdom waxed dark, and they gnawed their tongues for sorrow.

11 And blasphemed the God of heaven for their pains, and for their sores, and repented not of their works.

12 ¹And the sixth Angel poured out his vial upon the great river ²Euphrates, and the ³water thereof dried up, ⁴that the way of the Kings of the East should be prepared.

13 And I saw ¹three unclean spirits ²like frogs come out of the mouth of that ³dragon, and out of the mouth of that ⁴beast, and out of the mouth of that ⁵false prophet.

14 For they are the spirits of devils, working miracles, to go unto the kings of the earth, and of the whole world, to gather them to the battle of that great day of God Almighty.

15 ¹(^aBehold I come as a thief. Blessed is he that watcheth, and keepeth his garments, lest he walk naked, and men see his filthiness.)

16 ¹And they gathered them together into a place called in Hebrew, ²Armageddon.

17 ¹And the seventh Angel poured out his vial into the ²air: and there came a loud voice out of the Temple of heaven from ³the throne, saying,

16:7 ¹ A confirmation of the praise before going, out of the sanctuary of God, whether immediately by Christ, or by some of his Angels, for Christ also is called another Angel, Rev. 3:8; 7:2; 12:1.

16:8 ¹ The history of the fourth Angel, who throweth the plague upon the heaven and upon the Sun, of which Luke 21:26 the effects whereof are noted two. The one peculiar, that it shall scorch men with heat, in this verse. The other proceeding accidentally from the former, that their fury shall so much the more be enraged against God in the next verse, when yet (O wonderful mercy and patience of God) all other creatures are first stricken often and grievously by the hand of God before mankind by whom he is provoked: as the things foregoing [do] declare.

16:10 ¹ The story of the first Angel, who striketh the kingdom of the beast with two plagues abroad with darkness, within which biles and colors most grievous, throughout his whole kingdom, that thereby he might wound the conscience of the wicked, and punish that most perverse obstinacy of the idolaters, whereof arose perturbation, and thence a furious indignation and desperate madness, raging against God and hurtful unto itself.

16:12 ¹ The story of the sixth Angel, divided into his act, and the event thereof. The act is, that the Angel did cast out of his mouth the plague of a most glowing heat, wherewith even the greatest floods, and which most were wont to swell and overflow (as Euphrates) were dried up by the counsel of God in this verse. The event is, that the mere madness wherewith the wicked are enraged, that they may scorn the judgments of God, and abuse them furiously to serve their own turn, and to the executing of their own wicked outrage.

² The bound of the spiritual Babylon, and to the fortresses of the same, Rev. 9:14.

³ So the Church of the ungodly, and kingdom of the beast is said to be left naked, all the defenses whereof, in which they put their trust being taken away from it.

⁴ That is, that even they which dwell further off, may with more commodity make haste unto that sacrifice which the Lord hath appointed.

16:13 ¹ That is, every of them bent their whole force, and conspired that by wonders, word and work, they might bring into the same destruction all Kings, Princes and Potentates of the world, cursedly bewitched of them by their spirits, and teachers of the vanity and impurity of the beast that committed fornication with the kings of the earth. And this is a right description of our times.

² Croaking with all importunity, and continually day and night provoking and calling forth to arms, as the trumpets, and furies of wars: as is declared in the next verse.

³ That is, the devil, as Rev. 11:3

⁴ Whereof Rev. 13:1.

⁵ That is, of that other beast, of which Rev. 13:11, for so he is called also Rev. 19:20 and 20:10.

16:15 ¹ A parenthesis for admonition in which God warneth his holy servants who rest in the expectation of Christ, always to address their minds unto his coming, and to look unto themselves, that they be not shamefully made naked and circumvented of these unclean spirits, and so they be miserable unprepared at the coming of their Lord.

16:16 ¹ Namely the Angel, who holily according to the commandment of God was to do sacrifice: notwithstanding that those impure spirits do the same wickedly as servants not unto God, but unto that beast that hath seven heads.

² That is, (to say nothing of other expositions) the mountain itself, or mountain places of Megiddo. Now it is certain by the holy Scripture, that Megiddo is a city and territory in the tribe of Manasseh, bordering upon Issachar and Asher, and was made famous by that lamentable overthrow of king Josiah, whereof 2 Kings 23:30; 2 Chron. 37:22; Zech. 12:11. In this mountain country God saith by figure and type, that the kings of the peoples which serve the beast shall meet together: because the Gentiles did always cast that lamentable overthrow in the teeth of the Church of the Jews unto their great reproach: and therefore were persuaded that that place should be most fortunate unto them (as they speak) and unfortunate unto the godly: but God here pronounceth, that that reproach of the Church, and confidence of the ungodly shall by himself be taken away, in the selfsame places where the nations persuaded themselves, they should mightily exult and triumph against God and his Church.

16:17 ¹ The story of the seventh Angel unto the end of the chapter, in which first is showed by figure and speech, the argument of this plague, in this verse: and then is declared the execution thereof in the verses following.

² From whence he might move the heaven above and the earth beneath.

³ That is, from him that sitteth on the throne, by the figure called Metonymy.

⁴It is done.

18 ¹And there were voices, and thunderings, and lightnings, and there was a great earthquake, such as was not since men were upon the earth, even so mighty an earthquake.

19 ¹And the great city was divided into three parts: and the cities of the nations ²fell: and that great ³Babylon came in remembrance before God, ⁴to give unto her the cup of the wine of the fierceness of his wrath.

20 And every isle fled away, and the mountains ¹were not ²found.

21 ¹And there fell a great hail, like ²talents out of heaven upon the men, and men blasphemed God, because of the plague of the hail: for the plague thereof was exceeding great.

17 ¹ That great whore is described, ² with whom the Kings of the earth committed fornication. ⁶ She is drunken with the blood of Saints. ⁷ The mystery of the woman, and the beast that carried her, expounded. ¹¹ Their destruction. ¹⁴ The Lamb's victory.

^b Jer. 25:15

1 Then ¹there came one of the seven Angels, which had the seven vials, and talked with me, saying unto me, Come: I will show ²thee the ³damnation of the great whore that sitteth upon many waters,

2 With whom have committed fornication the kings of the earth, and the inhabitants of the earth are drunken with the wine of her fornication.

3 ¹So he carried me away into the wilderness in the Spirit, and I saw a woman sit upon a ²scarlet colored beast, full of names of blasphemy, which had seven heads, and ten horns.

4 And ¹the woman was arrayed ²in purple and scarlet, and gilded with gold, and precious stones, and pearls, ³and had a cup of gold in her hand full of abomination, and filthiness of her fornication.

5 ¹And in her forehead was a name written, A mystery, ²that great Babylon that mother of whoredoms, and abominations of the earth.

6 ¹And I saw the woman drunken with the blood of Saints, and with the blood of the Martyrs

16:17 ⁴ That is, Babylon is undone, as is showed verse 16 and in the Chapters following. For the first onset (as I might say) of this denunciation, is described in this Chapter: and the last containing a perfect victory is described in those that follow.

16:18 ¹ Now is declared the execution (as is said in verse 27) and the things that shall last come to pass in heaven and in earth, before the overthrow of the beast of Babylon: both generally, verse 18, and particularly in the cursed city, and such as have any familiarity therewith, in the 3 last verses.

16:19 ¹ That seat or standing place of Antichrist.

² Of all such as cleave unto Antichrist, and fight against Christ.

³ That harlot, of whom in the Chapter next following. Now this phrase to come into remembrance is after the common use of the Hebrew speech, but borrowed from men, attributed unto God.

16:20 ¹ That is, were seen no more, or were no more extant. A borrowed Hebraism.

² Appeared not, which the Hebrews utter after this sort, were not, Gen. 5:24.

16:21 ¹ The manner of the particular execution, most evidently testifying the wrath of God by the original and greatness thereof: the event whereof is the same with that which is, Rev. 9:12, and that which hath been mentioned in this Chapter, from the execution of the fourth Angel hitherto, that is to say, an incorrigible pertinency of the world in their rebellion, and an heart that cannot repent, verses 9 and 11.

² As it were about the weight of a talent was threescore pound, that is, six hundred groats, whereby is signified a marvelous and strange kind of weight.

17:1 ¹ The state of the Church militant being declared, now followeth the state of the Church overcoming and getting victory, as I showed before in the beginning of chapter 10. The state is set forth in 4 chapters. As in the place beforegoing I noted, that in that history the order of time was not always exactly observed, so the same is to be understood in this history, that it is distinguished according to the persons of which it treateth, and that in the several stories of the persons is severally observed in the time thereof. For first is delivered the story of Babylon destroyed, in this and the next chap. (for this Babylon out of all doubt shall perish before the 2 beasts and the Dragon). Secondly is delivered the destruction of both the two beasts, chap. 19. And lastly of the Dragon, chap. 20, in the story of the spiritual Babylon are distinctly set forth the state thereof in this chap. and the overthrow done from God, chap. 18. In this verse and that which followeth is a transition or passage unto the first argument, consisting of a particular calling of the Prophet (as often heretofore) and a general proposition.

² That is the damnable harlot, by a figure of speech called hypallage. For S. John as yet had not seen her. Although another interpretation may be borne, yet I like this better.

³ The sentence that is pronounced against this harlot.

17:3 ¹ Henceforth is propounded the type of Babylon, and the state thereof in 4 verses. After a declaration of the type, in the rest of this chap., in the type are described two things, the beast (of whom chap. 13), in verse 3, and the woman that sitteth upon the beast, verses 4, 5, 6. The beast in process of time hath gotten somewhat more than was expressed in the former vision. First in that it is not read before that he was appareled in scarlet, a robe imperial and of triumph. Secondly, in that this is full of names of blasphemy: the other carried the name of blasphemy only in his head. So God did teach that this beast is much increased in impiety and injustice and doth in this last age, triumph in both these more insolently and proudly than ever before.

² A scarlet color, that is, with a red and purple garment: and surely it was not without cause that the Romish clergy were so much delighted with this color.

17:4 ¹ That harlot, the spiritual Babylon, which is Rome. She is described by her attire, profession and deeds.

² In attire most glorious, triumphant, most rich, and most gorgeous.

³ In profession, the nourisher of all, in this verse, and teaching her mysteries unto all, verse 5, setting forth all things most magnificently: but indeed most pernicious besotting miserable men with her cup, and bringing upon them a deadly giddiness.

17:5 ¹ Deceiving with the title of religion, and public inscription of mystery: which the beast in times past did not bear.

² An exposition: in which S. John declareth what manner of woman this is.

17:6 ¹ In manner of deeds: She is red with blood, and sheddeth it most licentiously, and therefore is colored with the blood of the Saints, as on the contrary part. Christ is set forth imbrued with the blood of his enemies; Isa. 3:1.

of JESUS: and when I saw her, ²I wondered with great marvel.

7 ¹Then the Angel said unto me, Wherefore marvest thou? I will show thee the mystery of that woman, and of that beast that beareth her, which hath seven heads and ten horns.

8 ¹The beast that thou hast seen, ²was and is not, and ³shall ascend out of the bottomless pit, and shall go into perdition, and they that dwell on the earth, shall wonder (whose names are not written in the book of life from the foundation of the world) ⁴when they behold the beast that was, and is not, and yet is.

9 ¹Here is the mind that hath wisdom, The ²seven heads ³are seven mountains, whereon the woman sitteth: ⁴they are also seven Kings.

10 ¹Five are fallen, ²and one is, ³and another is not yet come: and when he cometh, he must continue a short space.

11 ¹And the beast that was, and is not, is even

17:6 ² A passage unto the second part of this chapter, by occasion given of S. John, as the words of the Angel do show, in the next verse.

17:7 ¹ The second part or place, as I said, verse 1. The narration of the vision, promised in this verse, and delivered in the verse following. Now there is delivered first a narration of the beast and his story, unto verse 14. After, of the harlot, unto the end of the chap.

17:8 ¹ The story of the beast hath a triple description of him. The first is a distinction of this beast from all that ever hath been at any time: which distinction is contained in this verse: The second is a delineation or painting out of the beast by things present, by which he might even at that time be known of the godly, and this delineation is according to his heads, verses 2, 10, 11. The third is an historical foretelling of things to come, and to be done by him: and these are ascribed unto his horns, verses 12, 13, 14. This beast is that Empire of Rome, of which I spake, chap. 13:11, according to the mutations and changes whereof which then had already happened, the holy Ghost hath distinguished and set out the same. The Apostle distinguisheth this beast from all others in these words. The beast which thou sawest, was and is not. For so I expound the words of the Apostle for evidence's sake as I will further declare in the notes following.

² The meaning is, that beast which thou sawest before (Rev. 13:1) and which yet thou hast now seen, was, (I say was) even from Julius Caesar in respect of beginning, rising up, station, glory, dominion, manner and stock, from the house of Julius: and yet is not now the same, if thou look unto the house and stock for the dominion of this family was translated unto another, after the death of Nero from the other unto a third, from a third unto a fourth, and so forth was varied and altered by innumerable changes. Finally, the Empire is one, as it were one beast: but exceedingly varied by kindreds, families, and persons. It was therefore (saith S. John) in the kindred or house of Julius: and now it is not in that kindred, but translated unto another.

³ As if he should say, Also the same that is, shall shortly not be: but shall ascend out of the depth, or out of the sea (as was said, Rev. 13:1) that is, shall be a new stock from amongst the nations without difference, and shall in the same state go unto destruction or ruin, and perish: and so shall successively new Princes or Emperors come and go, arise and fall, the body of the beast remaining still, but tossed with so many and often alterations, as no man can but marvel that this beast was able to stand and hold out, in so many mutations. Verily no Empire that ever was tossed with so many changes, and as it were with so many tempests of the sea, ever continued so long.

⁴ That is as many as have not learned the providence of God, according to the faith of the Saints, shall marvel at these grievous and often changes when they shall consider, the selfsame beast, which is the Roman Empire, to have been, not to be, and to be and still molested with perpetual mutation, and yet in the same to stand and continue. This in mine opinion is the most simple exposition of this place, and confirmed by the event of the things themselves. Although by the last change also, by which the Empire, that before was civil became Ecclesiastical, is not obscurely signified by these words: of which two, the first exercised cruelty upon the bodies of the saints: the other also upon their souls: the first by human order and policy, the other under the color of the law of God, and of Religion, raged and imbrued itself with the blood of the godly.

17:9 ¹ An exhortation preparing unto audience, by the same argument, with that of Christ: He that hath ears to hear, let him hear. Wherefore, for mine own part, I had rather read in this place, Let there be here a mind, etc. So the Angel passeth fully unto the second place of this description.

² Very children know what that seven hilled city is, which is so much spoken of, and whereof Virgil thus reporteth, And compasseth seven towers in one wall: that city it is, which when John wrote these things had rule over the kings of the earth: It was and is not, and yet it remaineth this day, but it is declining to destruction.

³ This is the painting out of the beast by things present (as I said before) whereby S. John endeavored to describe the same, that he might both be known of the godly in that age, and be further observed and marked of posterity afterwards. This delineation hath one type, that is, his heads, but a double description or application of the type: one permanent from the nature of itself, the other changeable, by the working of men. The description permanent, is by the seven hills, in this verse, the other that fleeteth, is from the seven kings, verses 10, 11. And here it is worthy to be observed, that one type hath sometimes two or more applications, as seemeth good unto the holy Ghost to express either one thing by divers types, or divers things by one type. So I noted before, of the seven spirits, Rev. 1:4. Now this woman that sitteth upon seven hills, is the city of Rome, called in times past of the Greeks, ... i. of seven tops or crests, and of Varro, septicaps, i. of her seven heads (as here) of seven heads, and of others, septicollis, i. standing upon seven hills.

⁴ The beginning of these Kings or Emperors is almost the same with the beginning of the Church of Christ, which I showed before, Rev. 11:1. Namely from the year 35, after the passion of Christ, what time the Temple and Church of the Jews was overthrown. In which year it came to pass by the providence of God that that saying The beast was and is not, was fulfilled before that the destruction of the Jews immediately following came to pass. That was the year from the building of the city of Rome, 109, from which year S. John both numbered the Emperors which hitherto hath been, when he wrote these things, and foretellet two others next to come: and that with this purpose, that when this particular prediction of foretelling of things to come, should take effect the truth of all other predictions in the Church might be the more confirmed. Which sign God of old mentioned this in the Law, Deut. 18, and Jeremiah confirmeth, Jer. 28:8.

17:10 ¹ Whose names are these: the first, Servius Sulpicius Galba, who was the seventh Emperor of the people of Rome, the second Marcus Salvius Otho, the third Aulus Vitellius, the fourth, Titus Flavius Vespasianus, the fifth, Titus Vespasianus his son of his own name.

² Flavius Domitian son of the first Vespasian. For in the latter end of his days S. John wrote these things, as witnesseth Irenaus, Lib. 5 adversus haereses.

³ Nerua. The Empire being now translated from the family of Flavius. This man reigned only one year, four months, and nine days, as the history writers do tell.

17:11 ¹ This is spoken by the figure synecdoche, as much to say as that head of the beast which was and is not, because it is cut off, and Nerua

²the eighth, and is ³one of the seven, and ⁴all go into destruction.

12 ¹And the ten horns which thou sawest, are ²ten kings, which yet have not received a kingdom, but shall receive power, as Kings ³at one hour with the beast.

13 ¹These have one mind, and shall give their power and authority unto the beast.

14 These shall fight with the ¹Lamb, and the Lamb shall overcome them: ²for he is Lord of Lords, and King of Kings: and they that are on his side, called, and chosen, and faithful.

15 ¹And he said unto me, The waters which thou sawest, where the whore sitteth, ²are people, and multitudes, and nations, and tongues.

16 And the ten ¹horns which thou sawest upon the beast, are they that shall hate the whore, and shall make her desolate, and naked, and shall eat her flesh, and burn her with fire.

CHAPTER 17

^a Rev. 19:16

CHAPTER 18

^a Rev. 14:8
Isa. 21:9
Jer. 51:8

17 ¹For God hath put in their hearts to fulfill his will, and to do with one consent for to give their kingdom unto the beast, until the words of God be fulfilled.

18 And that woman which thou sawest, is that ¹great city which reigned over the kings of the earth.

18 ²The horrible destruction of Babylon set out. 11, 16, 18 The merchants of the earth, who were enriched with the pomp and luxuriousness of it, weep and wail: 20 but all the elect rejoice for that just vengeance of God.

1 ¹And after these things, I saw another ²Angel come down from heaven, having great power, so that the earth was lightened with his glory,

2 And he cried out mightily with a loud voice, ¹saying, ²It is fallen, it is fallen, Babylon that great city, and is become the habitation of devils, and the hold of all foul spirits, and a cage of every unclean and hateful bird.

in so short time extinguished. How many heads there were, so many beasts there seemed to be in one. See the like speech in Rev. 13:3

² Nerua Traianus, who himself in divers respects is called here the seventh and the eighth.

³ Though in number and order of succession he be the eighth, yet he is reckoned together with one of these heads, because Nerua and he were one head. For this man obtained authority together with Nerua, and was Consul with him, when Nerua left his life.

⁴ Namely, to molest with persecutions the Churches of Christ, as the histories do accord, and I have briefly noted, Rev. 2:10.

17:12 ¹ The third place of this description as I said, verse 18, is a prophetic prediction of things to come which the beast should do, as in the words following S. John doth not obscurely signify, saying, which have not yet received the kingdom, etc. For there is an Antithesis or opposition between these kings, and those that went before. And first the persons are described, in this verse, then their deeds in the two verses following.

² That is, arising with their kingdoms out of the Roman beast: at such time as that political Empire began by the craft of the Popes greatly to fall.

³ Namely, with the second beast whom we called before a false prophet, which beast, ascending out of the earth got unto himself all the authority and power of the first beast, and exerciseth the same before his face, as was said, Rev. 14:11, 12. For when the political Empire of the West began to bow downwards, there both arose those ten kings, and the second beast took the opportunity offered to usurp unto himself all the power of the former beast. These kings long ago, many have numbered and described to be ten and a great part of the events plainly testifyeth the same in this our age.

17:13 ¹ That is, by consent and agreement, that they may conspire with the beast, and depend upon his beck. Their story is divided into three parts, counsels, acts, and events. The counselors some of them consist in communicating of judgments and affections: and some in communicating of power, which they are said to have given unto this beast in this verse.

17:14 ¹ With Christ and his Church, as the reason following doth declare, and here are mentioned the facts and the events which followed for Christ's sake, and for the grace of God the Father towards those that are called, elected, and are his faithful ones in Christ.

17:15 ¹ This is the other member of the narration as I said verse 7, belonging unto the harlot, showed in the vision, verse 3. In this history of the harlot, these 3 things are distinctly propounded, what is her magnificence in this verse, what is her fall, and by whom it shall happen unto her, in the two verses following: and lastly, who that harlot is, in the last verse. This place which by order of nature should have been the first, is therefore made the last, because it was more fit to be joined with the next Chap.

² That is, as unconstant and variable as the waters. Upon this foundation sitteth this harlot as Queen, a vain person upon that which is vain.

17:16 ¹ The ten Kings as verse 12. The accomplishment of this fact and event, is daily increased in this our age by the singular providence and most mighty government of God. Wherefore the facts are propounded in this verse, and the cause of them in the verses following.

17:17 ¹ A reason rendered from the chief efficient cause, which is the providence of God, by which alone S. John by inversion of order affirmeth to have come to pass, both that the Kings should execute upon the harlot, that which pleased God, and which he declared in the verse next beforegoing: and also that by one consent and counsel, they should give their kingdom unto the beast, etc., verses 13, 14. For as these being blinded have before depended upon the beck of the beast that lifeth up the harlot, so it is said that afterward it shall come to pass, that they shall turn back, and shall fall away from her when their hearts shall be turned into better state by the grace and mercy of God.

17:18 ¹ That is, Rome that great City, or only City (as Justinian calleth it) the King and head whereof was then the Emperor, but now the Pope, since that the condition of the beast was changed.

18:1 ¹ The second place (as I said before, 17:1) of the history of Babylon, is of the woeful fall and ruin of that whore of Babylon. This historical prediction concerning her, is threefold. The first a plain and simple foretelling of her ruin in three verses, the second a figurative prediction by the circumstances, thence, unto verse 20. The third, a confirmation of the same by sign or wonder, unto the end of the Chapter.

² Either Christ the eternal word of God the Father (as often elsewhere) or a created Angel, and one deputed unto this service: but thoroughly furnished with greatness of power, and with light of glory, as the ensign of power.

18:2 ¹ The prediction or foretelling of her ruin, containing both the fall of Babylon, in this verse, and the cause thereof uttered by way of allegory concerning her spiritual and carnal wickedness, that is, her most great impiety and injustice, in the next verse: her fall is first simply declared of the Angel: and then the greatness thereof is showed here by the events, when he saith it shall be the seat and habitation of devils, of wild beasts and of cursed souls, as of old, Isa. 13:21, and often elsewhere.

3 For all nations have drunken of the wine of the wrath of her fornication, and the kings of the earth have committed fornication with her, and the merchants of the earth are waxed rich of the abundance of her pleasures.

4 ¹And I heard another voice from heaven say, ²Go out of her, my people, that ye be not ³partakers of her sins, and that ye receive not of her plagues:

5 For her sins are ¹come up into heaven, and God hath remembered her iniquities.

6 ¹Reward her, even as she hath rewarded you, and give her double according to her works: and in the cup that she hath filled to you, fill her the double.

7 Inasmuch as she glorified herself, and lived in pleasure, so much give ye to her torment and sorrow: for she saith ¹in her heart, I sit being a queen, and am ²no widow, and shall ³see no mourning.

8 Therefore shall her plagues come at ¹one day, death, and sorrow, and famine, and she shall be burnt with fire: for that God which condemneth her, is a strong Lord,

9 And the ¹kings of the earth shall bewail her, and lament for her, which have committed fornication, and lived in pleasure with her, when they shall see that smoke of that her burning,

10 And shall stand afar off for fear of her torment, saying, Alas, alas, that great city Babylon, that mighty city: for in one hour is thy judgment come.

11 ¹And the merchants of the earth shall weep and wail over her: for no man buyeth their ware anymore.

12 The ware of gold, and silver, and of precious stone, and of pearls, and of fine linen, and of purple, and of silk, and of scarlet, and of all manner of Thynewood, and of all vessels of ivory, and of all vessels of most precious wood, and of brass, and of iron, and of marble, 13 And of cinnamon, and odors, and ointments, and frankincense, and wine, and oil, and fine flour, and wheat, and beasts, and sheep, and horses, and chariots, and servants, and souls of men.

14 (¹And the ²apples that thy soul lusted after, are departed from thee, and all things which were fat and excellent, are departed from thee, and thou shalt find them no more.)

15 The merchants of these things which were waxed rich, shall stand afar off from her, for fear of her torment, weeping and wailing.

16 And saying, Alas, alas, that great city, that was clothed in fine linen and purple, and scarlet, and gilded with gold, and precious stones, and pearls.

17 ¹For in one hour so great riches are come to desolation. And every shipmaster, and all the people that occupy ships and shipmen, and whosoever traffic on the sea, shall stand afar off.

18 And cry, when they see that smoke of that her burning, saying, What city was like unto this great city?

19 And they shall cast dust on their heads, and cry, weeping, and wailing, and say, Alas, alas that great city, wherein were made rich all that had ships on the sea by her coastlines: for in one hour she is made desolate.

20 ¹O heaven, rejoice of her, and ye holy Apostles

18:4 ¹ The second prediction, which is of the circumstances of the ruin of Babylon: of these there are two kinds: one going before it: as that beforehand the godly are delivered unto the ninth verse: the other following upon her ruin, namely the lamentation of the wicked and rejoicing of the godly, unto the twentieth verse.

² Two circumstances going before the ruin, are commanded in this place: one is, that the godly depart out of Babylon: as I mentioned, chapter 12, to have been done in time past, before the destruction of Jerusalem: this charge is given here, and in the next verse. The other is, that every one of them occupy themselves in their own place, in executing the judgment of God, as it was commanded the Levites of old, Exod. 32:27, and that they sanctify their hands unto the Lord, verses 6, 7, 8.

³ Of his commandment there are two causes to avoid the contagion of sin, and to shun the participation of those punishments that belong thereunto.

18:5 ¹ He useth a word which signifieth the following of sins one after another, and rising one another in such sort, that they grew at length to such an heap that they came up even to heaven.

18:6 ¹ The provocation of the godly, and the commandment of executing the judgments of God, stand upon three causes which are here expressed: the unjust wickedness of the whore of Babylon, in this verse her cursed pride opposing itself against God, which is the fountain of all evil actions, verse 7, and her most just damnation by the sentence of God, verse 8.

18:7 ¹ With herself.

² I am full of people and mighty.

³ I shall taste of none.

18:8 ¹ Shortly and at one instant.

18:9 ¹ The circumstances following the fall of Babylon, or the consequences thereof (as I distinguished them, verse 4) are two. Namely the lamentation of the wicked unto verse 19: and the rejoicing of the godly, verse 20. This most sorrowful lamentation, according to the person of them that lament, hath three members, the first whereof is the mourning of the kings and mighty men of the earth, in two verses. The second is the lamentation of the merchants that traffic by land thence unto verse 16. The third is the wailing of those that merchandise by sea, verses 16, 17, 18. In every [one] of these the cause and manner of their mourning is described in order, according to the condition of those [that] mourn, with observation of that which best agreeth unto them.

18:11 ¹ The lamentation of those that trade by land, as I distinguished immediately before.

18:14 ¹ An apostrophe, or turning of the speech by imitation, used for more vehemence, as if those merchants, after the manner of mourners should in passionate speech speak unto Babylon, though now utterly fallen and overthrown. So Isa. 12:9, and in many other places.

² By this is meant that season which is next before the fall of the leaf, at what season fruits ripen, and the word signifieth such fruits as are longed for.

18:17 ¹ The manner of mourning used by them that trade by sea.

18:20 ¹ The other consequent unto the other ruin of Babylon, is the exultation or rejoicing of the godly in heaven and in earth, as was noted, verse 9.

and Prophets: for God hath punished her, to be revenged on her for your sakes.

21 ¹Then a mighty Angel took up a stone, like a great millstone,^b and cast it into the sea, saying, With such violence shall that great city Babylon be cast and shall be found no more.

22 ¹And the voice of harpers, and musicians and of pipers, and trumpeters shall be heard no more in thee, and no craftsman, of whosoever craft he be, shall be found anymore in thee: and the sound of a millstone shall be heard no more in thee.

23 And the light of a candle shall shine no more in thee: and the voice of the bridegroom and of the bride shall be heard no more in thee: for thy merchants were the great men of the earth: and with thine enchantment were deceived all nations.

24 And in her was found the ¹blood of the Prophets ²and of the Saints, and of all that were slain upon the earth.

19 ¹The heavenly company praise God for avenging the blood of his servants on the whore. ⁹They are written blessed, that are called to the Lamb's supper. ¹⁰The Angel will not be worshipped. ¹¹That mighty King of Kings appeareth from heaven. ¹⁹The battle. ²⁰wherein the beast is taken, and cast into the burning lake.

1 And ¹after these things I heard a great voice of a great multitude in heaven, saying, ^{2,3}Hallelujah, salvation, and glory, and honor, and power be to the Lord our God.

2 For true and righteous are his judgments: for he hath condemned the great whore which did corrupt the earth with her fornication, and hath avenged the blood of his servants shed by her hand.

3 And again they said, ¹Hallelujah: and that her smoke rose up for evermore.

4 And the four and twenty Elders, and the four beasts fell down, and worshipped God that sat on the throne, saying, Amen, Hallelujah.

5 ¹Then a voice came out of the ²throne, saying, Praise our God, all ye his servants, and ye that fear him, both small and great.

6 And I heard ¹like a voice of a great multitude, and as the voice of many waters, and as the voice of strong thunderings, saying, Hallelujah: for the Lord that God that Almighty one hath reigned.

7 Let us be glad and rejoice, and give glory to him: for the marriage of the Lamb is come, and his wife hath made ¹herself ready.

8 And to her was granted, that she should be arrayed with ¹pure fine linen and shining, for the fine ²linen is the ³righteousness of Saints.

9 ¹Then he said unto me, Write, Blessed are they which are called unto the Lamb's supper. And he said unto me, These words of God are true.

10 ¹And I fell before his feet, ^bto worship him, but he said unto me, See thou do it not: I am thy fellow servant, and one of thy brethren, which have the 18:21 ¹ The third prediction, as I said verse 1, standing of a sign, and the interpretation thereof: the interpretation thereof is in 2 sorts, first by a simple propounding of the thing itself, in this verse, and then by declaration of the events in the verses following.

18:22 ¹ The events are two, the one of them opposite unto the other for amplification sake. There shall be, saith he, in Babylon no mirth nor joy at all, in this and the next verse, but all heavy and lamentable things from the bloody slaughters of the righteous and the vengeance of God coming upon it for the same.

18:24 ¹ That is shed by bloody massacres, and calling for vengeance.

² That is, proved and found out, as if God had appointed a just inquiry, concerning the impiety, unnaturalness and injustice of those men.

19:1 ¹ This chapter hath in sum two parts, one transitory or of passage unto the things that follow unto verse 10, another historical of the victory of Christ gotten against both the beasts unto the end of the chapter, which I said was the second history of this argument, Rev. 17:1. The transition hath two places, one of praising God for the overthrow done unto Babylon in 4 verses, and another likewise of praise, and Prophetical, for the coming of Christ unto his kingdom, and his most royal marriage with his Church, thence unto the tenth verse. The former praise has three branches, distinguished after the ancient manner of those that sing: ... , that is, an invitation or provokement in 2 verses, ... , a response or answer in the third verse, and ... , a close or joining together in harmony: all which I thought good of purpose to distinguish in this place, lest any man should with Porphyrius, or other like dogs, object to Saint John of the heavenly Church, a childish and idle repetition of speech.

² Praise the Lord.

³ The proposition of praise with exhortation in this verse, and the cause thereof, in the next verse.

19:3 ¹ The song of the Antiphony or response, containing an amplification of the praise of God, from the perpetual and most certain testimony of his divine judgment as was done at Sodom and Gomorrah, Gen. 19.

19:5 ¹ The second place of praise as I said verse 1, which first is commanded from God in this verse: and then is in most ample manner pronounced of the creatures, both because they see that kingdom of Christ to come, which most they desire, verse 6, also because they see that the Church is called forth to be brought home: into the house of her husband by holy marriage unto the fellowship of his kingdom, verses 7, 8. Wherefore S. John is commanded to write in a book the Epiphonema, or acclamation joined with a divine testimony, verse 9.

² Out of the temple from God, as Rev. 11:19.

19:6 ¹ Without the Temple in heaven.

19:7 ¹ Namely unto that holy marriage both herself in person in this verse and also furnished of her spouse with marriage gifts princely and divine is adorned and prepared in the next verse.

19:8 ¹ As an ensign of Kingly and priestly dignity: which dignity Christ bestoweth upon us, Rev. 1:6.

² This is a gift given by the husband for marriage sake and a most choice ornament, which Christ bestoweth upon us, as upon his spouse.

³ Good works which are lively testimonies of faith.

19:9 ¹ Namely the Angel, as appeareth by the next verse.

19:10 ¹ The particular history of this verse is brought in by occasion, and as it were besides the purpose, that Saint John might make a public example of his own infirmity, and of the modest sanctimony of the Angel, who hath renounced for himself the divine honors, and recalled all the servants of God, unto the worship of him alone: as also Rev. 22:8.

²testimony of Jesus, Worship God: for the testimony of ³Jesus is the Spirit of prophecy.

11 ¹And I saw ²heaven open, and behold a white horse, and he that sat upon him was called faithful and true, and he judgeth and fighteth righteously.

12 And his eyes were as a flame of fire, and on his head were many crowns: and he had a name written, that no man knew but himself.

13 And he was clothed with a garment dipped in blood, and his name is called, THE WORD OF GOD.

14 ¹And the hosts which were in heaven, followed him upon white horses, clothed with fine linen white and pure.

15 ¹And out of his mouth went out a sharp sword, that with it he should smite the heathen: for he shall ¹rule them with a rod of iron, for he it is that treadeth the winepress of the fierceness and wrath of Almighty God.

16 ¹And he hath upon his garment, and upon his thigh, a name written, ^dTHE KING OF KINGS AND LORD OF LORDS.

17 ¹And I saw an Angel stand in the ²sun who cried with a loud voice, saying, to all the fowls that did fly by ³the midst of heaven, come, and gather yourselves together unto the supper of the great God,

18 That ye may eat the flesh of kings, and the flesh of high captains, and the flesh of mighty men, and the flesh of horses, and of them that sit on them, and the flesh of all freemen, and bondmen, and of small and great.

19 ¹And I saw the beast, and the kings of the earth, and their hosts gathered together to make battle against him that sat on the horse, and against his army.

20 But the beast ¹was taken, and with him ²that false Prophet that wrought miracles before him, whereby he deceived them that received the beast's mark, and them that worshipped his image. These both were alive cast into a lake of fire burning with brimstone.

21 And the remnant were slain with the sword of him that sitteth upon the horse, which cometh out of his mouth, and all the fowls were filled full with their flesh.

20 ¹ The Angel ² bindeth Satan for a thousand years. ⁸ Being loosed, he stirreth up Gog and Magog, that is, privy and open enemies against the Saints, ¹¹ but the vengeance of the Lord cutting off their insolency. ¹² The books are opened, by which the dead are judged.

1 And ¹I saw an Angel come down from heaven, having the key ²of the bottomless pit, and a great chain in his hand.

2 And he took the dragon that old serpent, which is the devil and Satan, and he bound him ¹a thousand 19:10 ² Which are commanded to bear witness of Jesus.

³ For Jesus is the mark that all the prophecies shoot at.

19:11 ¹ The second place of this Chapter (as I said verse 1) is of the victory gotten by Christ against both the beasts: in which first Christ is described as one ready to fight, unto verse 16, then is showed the battle to be begun, thence unto verse 18: lastly is set forth the victory unto the end of the Chapter. In this place do shine most excellent properties of Christ as our heavenly Judge and revenger, according to his person, company, effects, and names.

² Properties belonging to his person, that he is heavenly, judge, faithful, true, just, in this verse, searching out all things ruling over all, to be searched out of none, verse 12, the trumpet, and the very essential word of God, verse 13.

19:14 ¹ The company or retinue of Christ, holy, innumerable, heavenly, judicial, royal and pure.

19:15 ¹ The effects of Christ prepared unto battle, that with his mouth he striketh the Gentiles, ruleth and destroyeth.

19:16 ¹ The name agreeing unto Christ according to the former properties, expressed after the manner of the Hebrews.

19:17 ¹ The second member as I said, verse 11. A reproachful calling forth of his enemies unto battle: in which not themselves (for why should they be called forth of the king of the world, or provoked being his subjects? for that is not comely) but in their hearing, the birds of the air are called to eat their carcasses.

² That is, openly, and in sight of all, as Num. 25:4 and 2 Sam. 12:11.

³ That is, through this inferior heaven, and which is nearer unto us: a Hebrew phrase.

19:19 ¹ The third member (as was said, verse 11) of the victory obtained by Christ. Unto this appertaineth two things: his bucking with the beast and his forces in this verse: and the event most magnificent, described after the manner of men, in the verses following. All these things are plain.

19:20 ¹ Namely, that beast with seven heads, of which before, Rev. 13:1 and 17:3.

² That is, that beast with two heads, of which Rev. 13:11. See also Rev. 16:14.

20:1 ¹ Now followeth the third place of the prophetic history, which is of the victory whereby Christ overcame the dragon, as I note, Rev. 7:1. This place must necessarily be joined with the end of chapter 12 and be applied unto the just understanding thereof. This chapter hath two parts, one of the dragon overcome, unto verse 10, the other of the resurrection and last judgment unto the end of the chapter. The history of the dragon is double: First of the first victory after which he was bound by Christ unto verse 6. The second is of the last victory, whereby he has thrown down into everlasting punishment, thence unto verse 10. This first history happened in the first time of the Christian Church, when the dragon thrown down from heaven by Christ, went about to molest the new birth of the Church in the earth, Rev. 12:17, 18. For which cause I gave warning, that this story of the Dragon must be annexed unto that place.

² That is of hell, whither God threw down the Angels which had sinned, and bound them in chains of darkness to be kept unto damnation, 2 Pet. 2:4; Jude 6.

20:2 ¹ The first whereof (continuing this history with the end of chapter 12) is the 36 year from the passion of Christ, when the Church of the Jews being overthrown, Satan assayed to invade the Christian Church gathered of the Gentiles, and to destroy part of her seed, Rev. 12:17. The thousandth year falleth precisely upon the times of that wicked Hildebrand, who was called Gregory the seventh a most damnable Necromancer and sorcerer, whom Satan used as an instrument when he was loosed out of bonds, thenceforth to annoy the Saints of God with most cruel persecutions, and the whole world with dissensions, and most bloody wars: as Benno the Cardinal reporteth at large. This is the first victory gotten over the dragon in the earth.

3 And cast him into the bottomless pit, and he shut him up, and sealed the door upon him, that he should deceive the people ¹no more till the thousand years were fulfilled: for after that he must be loosed for ²a little season.

4 ¹And I saw ^{2,3}seats: and they sat upon them, and judgment was given unto them, and I saw the souls of them that were ⁴beheaded for the witness of Jesus, and for the word of God, and which ⁵did not worship the beast, neither his image, neither had taken his mark upon their foreheads or on their hands: and they lived, and reigned with Christ a thousand years.

5 ¹But the rest of the dead men ²shall not live again, until the thousand years be finished: this is the first resurrection.

6 Blessed and holy is he, that hath part in the first resurrection: for on such the ¹second death hath no power: but they shall be the Priests of God and of Christ, ²and shall reign with him a thousand years.

7 ¹And when the ²thousand years are expired, Satan shall be loosed out of his prison,

8 ¹And shall go out to deceive the people, which are in the four quarters of the earth: even ^aGog and Magog, to gather them together to battle, whose number is as the sand of the Sea.

9 And they went up into the ¹plain of the earth, and they compassed the tents of the Saints about, and the beloved city: but ²fire came down from God out of heaven, and devoured them.

10 ¹And the devil that deceived them, was cast into a lake of fire and brimstone, where that beast and that false prophet are, and shall be tormented even day and night for evermore.

11 ¹And I saw a great ²white throne, and one that sat on it, ³from whose face fled away both the earth and heaven, and their place was no more found.

12 And I saw the dead, both great and small stand before ¹God: and the ²books were opened, and ^banother book was opened, which is the book ³of life, and the dead were judged of those things, which were written in the books, according to their works.

13 ¹And the sea gave up her dead, which were in her, and death and hell delivered up the dead, which were in them: and they were judged every man according to their works.

20:3 ¹ Namely, with that public and violent deceit which he attempted before, Chapter 12, and which after a thousand years (alack for woe) he most mightily procured in the Christian world.

² Which being once expired, the second battle and victory shall be, of which verses 7, 8.

20:4 ¹ A description of the common state of the Church of Christ in earth in that space of a thousand years, for which the devil was in bonds: in which first the authority, life, and common honor of the godly, is declared, verse 4. Secondly, newness of life is preached unto others by the Gospel, after that space, verse 5. Finally, he concludeth with promises, verse 6.

² For judgment was committed to them, as to members joined to the head, not [that] Christ's office was given over [to] them.

³ This was a type of the authority of the good and faithful servants of God in the Church, taken from the manner of men.

⁴ Of the Martyrs, which suffered in those first times.

⁵ Of the Martyrs which suffered after that both the beasts were now risen up, Chapter 13, for these three things are expounded.

20:5 ¹ Whoever shall lie dead in sin, and not know the truth of God.

² They shall not be renewed with that newness of the life by the enlightening of the Gospel of the glory of Christ. For this is the first resurrection, by which the souls of the godly do rise from their death. In the second resurrection their bodies shall rise again.

20:6 ¹ That whereby both body and soul, that is, the whole man is addicted and delivered unto eternal death. So Rev. 2:11.

² A return unto the intended history, by resuming the words which are in the end of the fourth verse.

20:7 ¹ The second history, of the latter victory of Christ, as was said verse 1. In which are summarily described the work, overthrow and eternal punishment of Satan.

² Of which I spake, verse 2. Then therefore shall be given unto him liberty to rage against the Church, and to molest the Saints for the sins of men: unto whom the faithful shall have associated themselves more than was meet, tasting with them of their impurity of doctrine and life.

20:8 ¹ The work or act of Satan (which is the first member as I distinguished in the verse foregoing) to deceive the whole world, even unto the uttermost nations thereof: to arm them against the people of God, in this verse, and to besiege and oppress the Church, with his whole strength, in the verse following.

20:9 ¹ As if he said inasmuch that the whole face of the earth, how great soever it is was filled.

² The wrath of God, consuming the adversaries, and overthrowing all their enterprises, Heb. 10:27. And this is the second member mentioned, verse 7, the overthrow of Satan.

20:10 ¹ The third member, eternal destruction against those that are overcome: as I noted in the same place.

20:11 ¹ The second part of this Chapter, in which is described the judge, in this verse, and the last judgment in the verse following.

² That is, a tribunal seat most Princelike and glorious: for so doth the Greek word also signify.

³ That is, Christ, before whom when he cometh unto judgment, heaven and earth shall perish for the greatness of his majesty, 2 Pet. 3:7, 10, etc.

20:12 ¹ That is, Christ the judge, 2 Cor. 5:10.

² As it were, our books of reckoning or accompts: that is, the testimony of our conscience, and of our works, which by no means can be avoided. This is spoken after the manner of men.

³ The book of the eternal decree of God, in which God the Father hath elected in Christ according to the good pleasure of his will, those that shall be heirs of life. This also is spoken according to the manner of men.

20:13 ¹ This is a prevention or an answer to an objection: for happily some man will say, but they are dead, whom the sea, death and the grave hath consumed, how shall they appear before the judge? S. John answereth by resurrection from death, whereunto all things (however repugnant) shall minister and serve at the commandment of God, as Dan. 12.

14 ¹And death, and hell were cast into the lake of fire: this is the second death.

15 And whosoever was not found written in the book of life, was cast into the lake of fire.

21 ² He describeth new Jerusalem descending from heaven, 6 The bride the Lamb's wife, 12 and the glorious building of the city, 19 garnished with precious stones, 22 whose Temple the Lamb is.

1 And ¹I saw ^aa new heaven, and a new earth: for the ^bfirst heaven, and the first earth were passed away, and there was no more sea.

2 ¹And I John saw the holy city new Jerusalem come down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride trimmed for her husband.

3 ¹And I heard a great voice out of heaven, saying, Behold, the Tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them: and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be their God with them.

4 ^cAnd God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes, and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, neither crying, neither shall there be anymore pain: for the first things are passed.

5 ¹And he that sat upon the throne, said, ^dBehold, I make all things new, and he said unto me, Write: for these things are faithful and true.

6 And he said unto me, ^e"It is done, I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end: I will give to him that is athirst, of the well of the water of life freely.

7 He that overcometh, shall inherit all things, and I will be his God, and he shall be my Son.

8 But the fearful and unbelieving, and the abominable and murderers, and whoremongers, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars shall have their ¹part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone, which is the second death.

9 ¹And there came unto me one of the seven Angels, which had the seven vials full of the seven last plagues, and talked with me, saying, Come: I will show thee the bride the Lamb's wife.

10 And he carried me away in the spirit to a great and ¹an high mountain, and he showed me ²that great city, that holy Jerusalem, descending out of heaven from God,

11 Having the glory of God, and her shining was like unto a stone most precious, as a jasper stone clear as crystal,

12 ¹And had a great wall and high, and had ²twelve gates, and at the gates ³twelve Angels, and the names written which are the twelve tribes of the children of Israel.

13 On the East part there were three gates, and on the North side three gates, on the South side three gates, and on the West side three gates.

20:14 ¹ The last enemy which is death shall be abolished by Christ (that he may no more make any attempt against us), 1 Cor. 15:16, and death shall feed upon the reprobate in hell for evermore, according to the righteous judgment of God, in the next verse.

21:1 ¹ Now followeth the second part of the history prophetic (as I said, Rev. 1 and 11:1) of the future estate of the Church in heaven after the last judgment, unto the fifth verse of the next chapter, in this are two things briefly declareth. The station, seat, or place thereof, verse 1. Then her state and condition in the verses following. Before the state of the Church described, is set down the state of the whole world, that there shall be a new heaven, and a new earth, as Isa. 65:17 and 66:12 and 2 Pet. 3:13, and this is the seat or place of the Church, in which righteousness shall dwell.

21:2 ¹ The state of this glorious Church is first described generally, unto verse 8 and then specially and by parts, in the verses following. The general description consisteth in a vision showed afar off, verse 2, and in speech spoken from heaven. In the general these things are common that the Church is holy, new, the workmanship of God, heavenly, most glorious, the spouse of Christ, and partaker of this glory in this verse.

21:3 ¹ The Church is described by the speech first of an Angel, in two verses, then of God himself in 4 verses. The Angel's speech describeth the glory of the Church by the most familiar cohabitation of God therewith, by communication of all manner [of] good things according to the covenant, in this verse: and by removing or putting far away of all evil things in the verse following.

21:5 ¹ In the speech of God himself describing the Church, is first a certain exordium, or entrance, verse 5. Then followeth a magnificent description of the Church, by the present and future good things of the same in 3 verses following. In the exordium God challengeth to himself the restoring of all the creatures of which verse 1 and witnesseth the calling of S. John unto the writing of these things, in this verse.

21:6 ¹ The description of the Church is of three sorts, by the abolishing of old things: by the being of present things in God, that is of things eternal and by the communication of all good things with the godly, verse 6. If so be they shall strive manfully, verse 7. But the reprobate are excluded from thence, verse 8.

21:8 ¹ Their lot, and inheritance as it were.

21:9 ¹ A transition unto the particular describing of the heavenly Church by the express calling of Saint John in this verse, and his rapt up by the Spirit, in confirmation of the truth of God in the verse following.

21:10 ¹ He meaneth the place and stately seat of the Church, shadowed out in a mountain.

² A type of that Church which is one, ample, or Catholic, holy celestial, built of God, in this verse: and glorious in the verse following. This type propounded generally, is after particularly declared, verse 12, etc.

21:12 ¹ A particular description (as I noted, verse 2) of the celestial Church. First, by the essential parts of the same, under the similitude of a city to verse 12. Secondly, from foreign accidents, unto the end of the chapter. Thirdly, by the effects, in the beginning of the next chapter, the essential parts are noted the matter and the form in the whole work: of these the superficies and foundation of the wall are entire parts (as they use to be called) which parts are first described in figure, unto verse 14 and afterward more exactly.

² According to the number of the tribes, of which chap. 7. For here the outward part is attributed unto the old Testament, and the foundation of the new Testament.

³ He meaneth the Prophets, who are the messengers of God, and watchmen of the Church.

14 And the wall of the city had ¹twelve foundations, and in them the names of the Lamb's twelve Apostles.

15 ¹And he that walked with me, had a golden reed, to measure the city withal, and the gates thereof, and the wall thereof.

16 ¹And the city lay ²foursquare, and the length is as large as the breadth of it, and he measured the city with the reed, twelve thousand furlongs: and the length, and the breadth, and the height of it are equal.

17 And he measured the wall thereof an hundred forty and four cubits, by the measure of man, that is, of the ¹Angel.

18 ¹And the building of the wall of it was of jasper: and the city was pure gold, like unto clear glass.

19 And the foundations of the wall of the city were garnished with all manner of precious stones: the first foundation was jasper: the second of Sapphire: the third of a Chalcedony: the fourth of an Emerald:

20 The fifth of a Sardonyx: the sixth of a Sardius: the seventh of a Chrysolite: the eighth of a Beryl: the ninth of a Topaz: the tenth of a Chrysoprase: the eleventh of a Jacinth: the twelfth an Amethyst.

21 And the twelve gates were twelve pearls, and every gate is of one pearl, and the ¹street of the city is pure gold, as shining glass.

22 And I saw no Temple therein: for the Lord God Almighty and the Lamb are the Temple of it.

23 ^{f,1}And their city hath no need of the Sun, neither of the Moon to shine in it: for the glory of God did light it: and the Lamb is the light of it.

24 ^gAnd the people which are saved, shall walk in the light of it: and the kings of the earth shall bring their glory and honor unto it.

CHAPTER 22

^a Isa. 60:19

25 ^bAnd the gates of it shall not be shut by day: for there shall be no night there.

26 And the glory and honor of the Gentiles shall be brought unto it.

27 And there shall enter into it none unclean thing, neither whatsoever worketh abomination or lies: but they which are written in the Lamb's ¹book of life.

22 ¹ The river of water of life is showed, 2 and the tree of life: 6, 7 Then followeth the conclusion of this prophecy, 8 where John declareth, that the things herein contained are most true. 13 And now the third time repeateth these words, All things come from him, who is the beginning and the end.

1 And ¹he showed me a pure river of water of life, clear as crystal, proceeding out of the throne of God, and of the Lamb.

2 In the midst of the street of it, and of either side of the river was the tree of life, which bare twelve manner of fruits, and gave fruit every month: and the leaves of the tree served to heal the nations with.

3 And there shall be no more curse, but the throne of God and of the Lamb shall be in it, and his servants shall serve him.

4 And they shall see his face, and his Name shall be in their foreheads.

5 ^aAnd there shall be no night there, and they need no candle, neither light of the Sun: for the Lord God giveth them light, and they shall reign for evermore.

6 ¹And he said unto me, These words are faithful and true: and the Lord God of the holy Prophets sent his Angel to show unto his servants the things which must shortly be fulfilled.

7 Behold, I come shortly. Blessed is he that keepeth

21:14 ¹ That is, foundation stones, according to the number of the gates, as is showed verse 19.

21:15 ¹ A transition unto a more exquisite description of the parts of the Church, by finding out the measure of the same by the Angel that measured them.

21:16 ¹ The measure and form most equal, in 2 verses.

² A foursquared figure hath equal sides, and outright corners, and therefore the Greeks call by this name those things that are steady, and of continuance and perfect.

21:17 ¹ He addeth this, because the Angel had the shape of a man.

21:18 ¹ The matter most precious and glittering which the presence of God maketh most glorious.

21:21 ¹ By street, he meaneth the broadest place of the city.

21:23 ¹ The second form of particular description (as I said, verse 12) from foreign and outward accidents: which are these, Light from God himself, in this verse, glory from men, verse 24, perfect security from all harm, verse 25. Finally such truth and incorruption of glory (verse 26) as can bear and abide with it, nothing that is inglorious, the last verse.

22:1 ¹ Here is absolved and finished the description of the celestial Church (as I showed before, Rev. 21:12) by the effects in 5 verses, and then this book is concluded in the rest of the chapter. The effects proceeding from God, who dwelleth in the Church are these: the everlasting grace of God in this verse, the eternal living of the godly, as Rev. 2:7, the eternal fruits which the godly bring forth unto God, themselves and others, verse 2, freedom and immunity from all evil, God himself taking pleasure in his servants and they likewise in their God, verse 3. The beholding and sight of God, and sealing of the faithful from all eternity, verse 4, the light of God, and an everlasting kingdom and glory, verse 5.

22:6 ¹ The whole book is concluded and made up by a confirmation, and a salutation. The confirmation hath three places: The words of the Angel unto verse 15, the words of Christ: verses 16, 17, and the obtestation made by S. John from divine authority, thence unto verse 20. By speech of the Angel this prophecy is confirmed unto verse 8 and then he speaketh of the use of this book in the verses following. The prophecy is first confirmed by the Angel from the nature thereof, that it is faithful and true. Secondly from the nature of the efficient cause, both principal which is God, and instrumental, which is the Angel in this verse. Thirdly from the promises of God concerning his coming to effect all these things, and concerning our salvation, verse 7. Fourthly, from the testification of S. John himself, verse 8. The rest of the speech of the angel tending to the same and S. John interrupted or brake off by his unadvised act of worshipping him, in the same verse which the Angel forbidding, teacheth him that adoration must be given not to him, but only to God, as for himself, that he is of such nature and office, as he may not be adored: which thing also was in like manner done, Rev. 16:10.

the words of the prophecy of this book.

8 And I am John, which saw and heard these things: and when I had heard and seen, ^bI fell down to worship before the feet of the Angel which showed me these things.

9 But he said unto me, See thou do it not: for I am thy fellow servant, and of thy brethren the Prophets, and of them which keep the words of this book: worship God.

10 ¹And he said unto me, ²Seal not the words of the prophecy of this book: for the time is at hand.

11 ¹He that is unjust, let him be unjust still: and he which is filthy, let him be filthy still: and he that is righteous, let him be righteous still: and he that is holy, let him be holy still.

12 ¹And behold, I come shortly, and my reward is with me, ²to give to every man according as his work shall be.

13 I am ^dAlpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last.

14 Blessed are they, that do his Commandments, ¹that their right may be in the tree of Life, and may enter in through the gates into the City.

15 For without shall be dogs and enchanterers, and whoremongers, and murderers, and idolaters, and whosoever loveth or maketh lies.

16 ¹I Jesus have sent mine Angel, to testify unto you these things in the Churches: I am the root and the generation of David, and the bright morning star.

17 And the Spirit and the bride say, Come. And let him that heareth say, Come: and let him that is athirst, come: and ¹let whosoever will, take of the water of life freely.

18 ¹For I protest unto every man that heareth the words of the prophecy of this book, If any man shall add unto these things, God shall add unto him the plagues that are written in this book.

19 And if any man shall diminish of the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part out of the book of life, and out of the holy City, and from those things which are written in this book.

20 ¹He which testifieth these things, saith, Surely I come quickly, Amen. Even so, come Lord Jesus.

21 ¹The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all, AMEN.

THE END

22:10 ¹ The Angel returneth unto his former speech: in which he teacheth the use of this book, both towards ourselves, in this and the next verse and in respect of God for declaration of his truth, thence unto verse 15.

² That is, propound this prophecy openly unto all, and conceal no part of it. The contrary whereunto is commanded, Isa. 8:6 and Dan. 8:26.

22:11 ¹ An objection prevented. But there will be some that will abuse this occasion unto evil, and will wrest this Scripture unto their own destruction, as Peter saith. What then saith the Angel, the mysteries of God must not therefore be concealed, which it hath pleased him to communicate unto us. Let them be hurtful unto others, let such be more and more vile in themselves, whom this Scripture doth not please: yet others shall be further conformed thereby unto righteousness and true holiness. The care and reformation of these may not be neglected, because of the voluntary and malicious offense of others.

22:12 ¹ The second place belonging unto the use of this book, as I said, verse 10. Also (saith God by the Angel) though there should be no use of this book unto men: yet it shall be of this use unto me, that it is a witness of my truth unto my glory, who will come shortly to give and execute just judgment, in this verse: who have taught that all these things have their being in me, in verse 13, and have denounced blessedness unto my servants in the Church, verse 14, and reprobation unto the ungodly, verse 15.

22:14 ¹ The blessedness of the godly set down by their title and interest thereunto: and their fruit in the same.

22:16 ¹ The second place of confirmation, as I said, is the speech of Christ, ratifying the vocation of S. John, and the authority of his calling and testimony, both from the condition of his own person being God and man, in whom all the promises of God are Yea and Amen, 2 Cor. 1:20: and also from the testification of other persons, by the acclamation of the holy Ghost, who here is as it were an honorable assistant of the marriage of the Church as the spouse: and of every of the godly as members: and finally from the thing present, that of their own knowledge and accord they are called forth unto the participation of the good things of God, verse 17.

22:18 ¹ The obtestation of Saint John (which is the third place of the confirmation, as was noted, verse 6) joined with a curse of execration, to preserve the truth of this book entire and uncorrupted, in two verses.

22:20 ¹ A divine confirmation or sealing of the obtestation: first from Christ avouching the same, and denouncing his coming against all those that shall put their sacrilegious hands hereunto: then from Saint John himself, who by a most holy prayer calleth Christ to take vengeance of them.

22:21 ¹ The salutation Apostolical, which is the other place of the conclusion, as I said, verse 6, and is the end of almost every Epistle: which we wish unto the Church, and to all the holy and elect members thereof in Christ Jesus our Lord, until his coming to judgment, Come Lord Jesus, and do it. Amen, again, Amen.
